

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

NAA
MONTANA

A GENERAL INDEX
TO THE MONTHLY REVIEW,
FROM ITS COMMENCEMENT,
TO THE
END OF THE SEVENTIETH VOLUME.

By the Rev. S. AYSCOUGH,
Compiler of the Catalogue of undescribed Manuscripts in the BRITISH MUSEUM.

IN TWO VOLUMES.

VOL. II. CONTAINING

An Alphabetical INDEX to all the memorable Passages, many of which relate to Discoveries and Improvements in the Sciences and Arts for near Forty Years past; with Literary Anecdotes, Critical Remarks, &c. &c. contained in the MONTHLY REVIEW during that Period.

Terra salutifera herbas, eademque nocentes,

Nutrit: & urtica proxima saepe rosa est.

OVID.

L O N D O N:
PRINTED FOR R. GRIFFITHS;
And sold by T. BECKET, Pall Mall; and T. LONGMAN, in Pater-noster-row.
MDCCLXXXVI.

Repeals 1990

391/06

NOV 20 1990
JUL 19 1990
MAY 19 1990

A GENERAL INDEX

T O

All the REMARKABLE PASSAGES in the EXTRACTS from, or CRITICISMS on, the PUBLICATIONS taken Notice of in the MONTHLY REVIEW, from its Commencement, in the Year 1749, to the End of the Seventieth Volume, completed in the Year 1784.

N. B. The Roman Numerals refer to the Volume, and the Figures to the Page.

A B E

- A. Before a participle, a vulgarism — xxv. 158
Aaron, reflections on his and his sons consecration to the priesthood — xliii. 178
Abade; see Antinoe
Abat, Father, author of the Amusemens Philosophiques xliii. 533
Abauzit, M. His objections to the Apocalypse of St. John answered lx. 561
Abbé de Paris. Some of his miracles, frauds and impostures, others accounted for by natural causes — x. 464
 — Remarkable things in his life — xiv. 471
Abbreviation of numbers, specimens of — xxxiii. 191
Abbot, Abp. his character — lix. 104
Abdication, how it may destroy hereditary succession xv. 234
 — four examples of regal, in Europe, in one century xliii. 184
Abdomen. On the inflammation of the viscera of xliii. 511
Abdoulrabman (the Arabian governor of Spain). Account of xxxiv. 492
 — (3d Caleph) his grandeur — xxxiv. 494
 — His complaint of unhappiness — xxxiv. 494
Abelard. In what sense a mercenary teacher — xlv. 570
Aberdeen, the great advance of trade and commerce in that town lviii. 186
 Vol. II. B Abgerus,

Abgarus , the epistle said to have been written by him to Christ, spurious	—	—	xxxii. 10
Abich , his machine for proving the compressibility of water	—	—	lxviii. 176
Ability , a necessary qualification of a magistrate	—	—	ii. 11
Abington, Earl of . Character of, by Wilkes	—	—	lvii. 345
— Controverses the opinion of Sir W. Blackstone, relative to the distinction between the crown and person of the king	—	—	lxii. 386
Ablancourt, M. d' . his character as a translator	—	—	viii. 507
Abney , family of	—	—	lxx. 109
Abrahamic covenant explained	—	—	xvii. 345
Abridgments , their uses	—	—	xviii. 176
Abrus , experiments on that plant	—	—	xvii. 332
Abscess , symptoms and treatment	—	—	xxx. 340
— of the kidnies, from a stone in the bladder	—	—	xxxv. 454
— in the liver	—	—	xxxv. 455
— in the œsophagus, cured by quicksilver	—	—	lxii. 513
Absent Man , that character ridiculed	—	—	l. 262
Absolution sacerdotal, contrary to scripture	—	—	xi. 430
— that term as used in the church, objected to	—	—	xxvii. 305
— Church of England form of, liable to censure	—	—	xlvi. 62
Abstinence , wonderful instance of, in the miller of Billericay	—	—	xlvi. 262
— Account of an involuntary	—	—	li. 551
Abstraction , what	—	—	xv. 51
Abussode Mountains , proofs of the deluge	—	—	xv. 486
Abyssi , sudden and tragical one, and its supposed cause	—	—	xii. 456
— Central , hypothesis concerning	—	—	xv. 593
Abyssians too wise and resolute to be converted by the Portuguese missionaries	—	—	xxiv. 37
Academies vindicated	—	—	ii. 75
— In France, in imitation of the English	—	—	xi. 146
— On the advantages of	—	—	xliv. 531—xlvi. 672
Acadia , the ancient boundaries of	—	—	xii. 90
— Claimed by the French	—	—	xii. 184
Acceleration of the Moon . Necessity of making an allowance for, in calculating eclipses	—	—	xi. 248
Accents , propriety and use in preserving the prosaic accent of words in English verse	—	—	xi. 151
— Not marked in the Greek MSS. of 1000 years old or upwards	—	—	xi. 457
— Not generally written till after the 7th century	—	—	xi. 457
— Their use in the Greek language censured	—	—	xi. 458
— Lengthen the syllable	—	—	xi. 459
— Of less use in Greek, than in most other languages	—	—	xi. 461
— Depend partly on the constitution of a language, and partly on the temper of the speakers	—	—	xi. 461
— But one in nature, viz. acute	—	—	xi. 464
— On the use of, among the ancients	—	—	xxvii. 283
— Use of, among the moderns	—	—	xxvii. 284

Ac. ent.

Acids , improperly marked in dictionaries and vocabularies	xxvii. 285
— and quantity, their different nature, use, and application in the English, Latin, and Greek languages	xxviii. 345
— Different from emphasis	xxxii. 292
— How different from quantity	xxxii. 448
— On the Greek	xxxix. 523
— In pronunciation explained	lii. 402
Acceptance with God , what	xvii. 99
Accidents , to which the human frame is liable, explained	xxiv. 319
— Prevention and cure, how obtained	xxiv. 320
Acad, M. Experiments on the electrophorus	lx. 514
— On the earth, which is the basis of the animal and vegetable creation	lx. 516
— His new invented thermometer	lxiii. 501
— On the dephlogistication of phlogisticated air	lxiv. 507
— On calming the agitation of the surface of a fluid by oil	lxiv. 508
— On the weight of different sort of air	lxiv. 509
— On the manner of hatching eggs by electricity	lxiv. 510
— On the colours of vegetables	lxiv. 510
— On measuring the salubrity of the air	lxiv. 512
— On the cause of the asphyxia, and the remedy	lxiv. 512
— Experiments relative to heat, fumes, and electricity	lxv. 512
— On the changes of earths by fire	lxv. 512
— Remedies for the imperfections of meteorology	lxvii. 544
— Electrical experiments	lxvii. 545
— On the vitrification of calcareous earths	lxvii. 546
— His new invented electrometer	lxvii. 632
— Process for making artificial tourmalins	lxviii. 632
— Electrical experiments	lxx. 491
— On artificial emphysema, formed with different sorts of air	lxx. 493
— On the effects of scents on the air	lxx. 494
— The manner in which fire acts upon calcareous earth, mixed with earth of allum and sal amarus, and saline substances	lxx. 497
— On the combination of arsenic with different bodies	lxx. 498
Achilles , how withheld from assaulting Agamemnon	xxvi. 455
Acids , experiments on	xxxviii. 22
— Experiments on the distillation of	xxxix. 357
— Theory of	xl. 284
— Application of, to particular diseases	xl. 285
— Of tartar	xl. 555
— Phosphoric, said to be the primitive universal elementary acid, of which all others are only modifications	lvii. 555
— Marine volatile	lvii. 557
— Mephitic, its power in dissolving stones in the bladder	lix. 154
— Observations on aerial	lxii. 71
— Of sugar	lxii. 76
— Experiments relative to animal	lxiv. 266

Acids , how to procure the phosphoric acid in more than common purity	—	lxv. 137
— Observations on the nitrous	—	lxv. 491
— On the nature and elementary principles of	—	lxvii. 501
— New experiments with	—	lxviii. 321
— Kirwan's experiments on mineral	—	lxx. 23
Acorns . Method of preserving, for a year, without planting	—	xlvi. 191
Acquiescence in our condition , a piece of prudence	—	iv. 535
Acts of Parliament , resolutions on the King's refusing to pass a bill	—	xxviii. 423
Ademad ul Doula , his excellent character	—	xlvi. 453
Adinia sociata and improper, characterized	—	xxii. 517
Ading proper, described	—	xxxix. 422
Adion , advantages of, in the pulpit	—	ix. 58
— How to be regulated in oratory	—	xiv. 53
— A query, relating to action in matter	—	xxiii. 382
— A knowledge of the effects misunderstood for a knowledge of the power itself	—	xxiii. 384
— Its principles the principles of mechanics	—	xxiii. 385
— Indiscriminately applied to God and to created beings	—	xxx. 499
— In vain attempted to be defined by philosophers	—	xxx. 499
— Not essential to matter	—	xxxi. 524
Adions in arms , account of some in Queen Elizabeth's time	—	xlvi. 264
Adions, human , their end considered	—	i. 22
— Their several kinds	—	i. 24
— Considered	—	iv. 523
— Principles of	—	v. 60
— The two great springs of	—	xvi. 317
— Contingent, not certainly foreknown by God	—	xxi. 358
— Their merit and demerit, when most conspicuous	—	xxii. 394
Adions, moral , not connected with their principles	—	xxxii. 166
Ador , requisites to form an	—	ix. 292
— Necessary qualifications of	—	xiii. 4
Adair, Mr. terrible effects of lightning on his house	—	lxvi. 375
Adam , his expulsion from Eden, a kindness	—	xiii. 366
— The forbidden fruit acted as a poison	—	xvi. 115
— In what sense he gave names to every beast, &c.	—	xxix. 208
Adam and Eve , their adventures after their departure from Eden	—	xxvi. 110
— Their reflection on the first instance of death, in a bird	—	xxvi. 111
Adam, Mess. Remarks on their oil cement	—	lx. 72
Adams, Parson. (in Joseph Andrews) remarks on his character, and for whom intended	—	xxvi. 491
Adams, Dr. his controversy with the methodists	—	xlvi. 331. 409
Adanson , his account of the families of plants	—	xxxvii. 165
— Remarks on the orge de miracle	—	xlvi. 498
— On the plant tremella	—	xl. 523
Adanson	—

Adanson on the immutability of the species of plants	xlvi. 555
— Meteorological observations	lxvii. 496
— On the white gum-tree of Senegal	lxvii. 499
Addington, Dr. charged with misbehaviour	xi. 400
— Controversy with Sir James Wright concerning the Lords Bute and Chatham	lix. 374
Addison, Joseph , ridiculously censured	xii. 388
— His jealousy of Pope's poetical merit	xv. 56
— Remarks on his writings	xv. 65
— His account of Lord Somers censured	xix. 564
— His dying words	xx. 506
— His and Swift's geniuses distinguished	xxii. 414
— Hypercriticism on him	li. 285
— His account of Dr. Garth's infidelity manifested in the Doctor's dying moments	lv. 440
— Anecdotes of	lix. 254
— His letters to Swift	lix. 256
— Circumstances relative to his dying moments	lix. 257
— His excellent character	lix. 258
— His poetry criticised	lxv. 101
— Wherein his translations were defective	lxv. 102
— His critical talents	lxv. 103
— Character of his prose compositions	lxv. 104
— His character	lxviii. 502
Addresses to the throne vindicated	xv. 518
— Not unconstitutional or indecent, but necessary	xv. 519
Adelphi Buildings described	xl. 104
Administration , patriotic measures of a late short one	xxxv. 160
— Great imperfections of	xxxvi. 279
— Farther remarks on	xxxvi. 516
Admiralty Office , when first established	xviii. 568
Adolphus William, Prince of Brunswick , eulogy on	liii. 532
Adrian, Emp. his death-bed ode viewed in a new light	xiv. 552
— His character	xxiii. 503
Adrian IV. Pope , his insolent letter to the emperor	xxv. 88
Adrian VI. Pope , his reception at Rome	xix. 624
Adrianople , rural and romantic scenes near	xxviii. 463
Adriatic , observations on the tides in the	lviii. 6
Adultery , the guilt of	vi. 168
— Poetical story of	xxxvi. 329
— Severely punished by a sultan in the East Indies	xl. 234
— Severity of the Anglo-Saxon laws against it	li. 106
— Not less criminal in the husband than in the wife	lii. 515
— The den of, described	lxi. 109
— Ought to be made a capital offence	lxiii. 275
— Its nature defined	lxiii. 276
Adversity , reflections concerning	ii. 440
— An ode to	xxii. 324
Advertisements fallacious, and specious title-pages of new books, advertised on	xl. 74
	Adversum,

Adversus , in ecclesiastical law, explained.	xxxix.	168
Emilianus , his beautiful epigram on a Grecian picture	lix.	281
Emilius , his bravery at the battle of Cannæ, and his death	xv.	665
Æneas , arguments in support of his arrival in Italy	xix.	262
— His flight from Carthage recommended as a fine subject for painters, and the design sketched	xlili.	126
— Defended against the imputation of an unmanly fear of death	xliv.	220
Æolian Islands , see Lipari
Æonian , how to be understood when applied to the kingdom of Christ, &c.	xxvi.	182
Aërostatic Machine , full account of	lxix.	551
— The principal experiments with	lxx.	223, 404
— See Balloon
Æschinus , his excellence as an orator	ix.	73
— His opposition to Demosthenes	xlili.	111
— Extract from one of his orations against Demosthenes	xlili.	112
Æschylus , the father of tragedy	lix.	286
— His works an object of curiosity as well as instruction	lix.	286
— Specimen of Potter's translation	lix.	289
— His dramas characterized	lxi.	510
— The sublimity of his works	lxvii.	245
Æsop , encomium on him and his fables	xxv.	544
Æstel or Stylus , disquisition on the Saxon word	xliv.	181
Æther , the motion of, occasioned by light	vii.	464
— Newton's account of	xv.	466
— Its existence proved	xv.	467
— The same with electricity	xv.	467
— Its properties in chemistry	xix.	366
— Process for preparing	xix.	369
— On the virtues of	xxvii.	101
— Head-ach cured by	xxvii.	101
— Discoveries relative to the production of marine	li.	545
Ætna, Mount , account of an eruption of	xv.	374
— Sir W. Hamilton's journey to, and description of	xlvi.	177
— Its superiority to Vesuvius, in point of magnitude and terror	xlvi.	203
— Conjectures of the age of the world from the lavas	xliv.	28
— Account of the lava	lv.	460
Affection censured	iv.	419
— Desired	xviii.	587
— Described	xxvi.	203
Affections , much influenced by habits	ii.	29
— The effects of conjugal	iv.	499
— Government of, a duty	iv.	534
— The rise and progress of social	viii.	2
— Obedience to natural, hurtful to society	xiii.	168
Affinities (chemical), full account of	xxxiv.	509
— Newly discussed on the principles of Mr. Sage	lx.	537
Affliction , the common remedies for	vi.	409
Affliction ,

Affliction , the advantages of	—	xxi.	558
Afybans , account of that people	—	ix.	175
Africa . Reflections on the trade of	—	xvii.	311
— Importance of the trade, to England	—	xix.	345
— Superstition of the inhabitants	—	xx.	365
— Divisions of	—	xxiv.	33
— The plea of the inhabitants for thieving	—	xxiv.	34
— Their love and marriages	—	xxiv.	42
— Importance of our trade to	—	xlvi.	43
— Trade ill managed by the African committee	—	xlvi.	46
— General history of	—	lii.	529
— Schlosser's history of northern	—	lii.	594
— Several kingdoms of, described	—	lv.	524
— Journey to, from the Cape of Good Hope	lviii. 2—	lix.	58
— State of the British forts there	—	lix.	71
Agag , King. Sarcastic acc. of Samuel's hewing him in pieces.	lvi.		511
Agamemnon , his prayer	—	xxvi.	458
Agaric , entitled to further experience	—	xii.	157
— Experiments on	—	xiii.	419, 430
— Its species determined	—	xiii.	430
— Neither safe nor effectual in stopping hæmorrhages	—	xvi.	456
Age of the patriarchs erroneous	—	vii.	3
— Horrors of the past, and an eulogium on the present	—	xiii.	91
— A display of the present	—	xvii.	337
— Its effects poetically described	—	xxi.	180
— Scheme for making a provision for	—	xl.	316
Agency of evil spirits	—	ii.	392, 424
— Wherein it consists	—	iv.	524
Agésilas . Xenophon's panegyric on	—	xlix.	549
Agis , the story of his leaving his wife's bed for ten months on occasion of an earthquake, fabulous	—	xlvi.	562
Agostini , his collection of ancient gems	—	lxiii.	294
Agricola . Account of	—	xl.	575
Agriculture . See Husbandry .
Agriantum . Siege of, by the Romans	—	xiv.	350
— compared with that of Denain, by the French,	—	xiv.	477
Agrippa , H. Corn. Account of	—	lii.	202
Agrippina . Specimens of the tragedy of	—	liii.	1
Ague , cured by the bark of the willow	—	xxx.	215
— Sydenham's prescription for an Autumnal quartan, with other remedies	—	xxxvii.	127
— On the use of bark in the cure of	—	xxxix.	434
— Observations on those most frequent in London	—	xl.	357
— Remedies for the quotidian	—	xlix.	134
— Lord Monboddo's account of a jumping ague	—	lxi.	197
Agur's prayer . Absurd paraphrastic inversion of	—	xli.	154
Aikin , Mr. On the ligature of arteries	—	xliv.	219
— On the external use of the preparations of lead	—	xliv.	485
Aikin , Miss. Specimens of her poetry	—	xlvi.	55
Air . Its resistance on the motion of projectiles	—	xi.	491

Air. Use and effects of, in vegetation	—	xxvii. 444
— Disquisitions on the nature and properties of	—	xxxv. 290
— The universal bath	—	xxxv. 337
— Various phenomena accounted for by new experiments	—	xxxv. 380
— Franklin's experiment on the properties of	—	xxxv. 385
— Influence of air and situation sometimes over-rated	—	xxxvi. 561
— Its influence in promoting vegetation	—	xlili. 429
— Philosophy of	—	xlili. 536
— Dr. Priestley's discoveries relating to	—	l. 280
— Experiments and observations on the	—	l. 568
— Experiments on the different kinds	—	li. 147
— Discourse on, by Sir John Pringle	—	li. 400
— Its affinity with fire	—	li. 521
— Speculations on, by M. Buffon	—	li. 521
— On the degree of moisture in	—	lii. 562
— On the density of	—	liii. 547
— Observations and experiments on different kinds	liv. 107,	425
— Observations and experiments on, by Mr. Bewley	—	liv. 430
— Experiments on, by Dr. Percival	—	liv. 433
— Experiments on, by Dr. Dobson	—	liv. 434
— Experiments on, by M. Magellan	—	liv. 434
— Researches concerning, by M. Fontana	—	lvi. 220
— Experiments on, by Dr. Priestley	—	lvii. 6
— Experiments on, by M. Fontana	—	lvii. 7
— Experiment on	lx. 409, 444—	lxi. 161, 273
— Owes its origin to water	—	lxii. 158
— The noxious effects of flowers on	—	lxii. 346, 504
— Fontana's observations on air extracted from water	—	lxiii. 375
— The salubrity of, at sea and on shore	—	lxiv. 274
— On measuring the salubrity of	—	lxiv. 508
— The weight of various sorts of	—	lxiv. 509
— Alterations in the quality, on approach of rain	—	lxv. 306
— Experiment on the weight of	—	lxv. 307
— Experiment on the properties of	—	lxv. 338
— Effect of, on metal during calcination,	—	lxv. 482
— Observations on several kinds of	—	lxv. 492
— Experiments and discoveries	—	lxvii. 369
— Various properties of	—	lxvii. 515
— On the different kinds, by M. Tierbal	—	lxvii. 516
— Experiments on the resistance of,	—	lxx. 101
— The effect of scents upon	—	lxx. 194
Air. (Chemistry) Showers of, quicken distillation	—	xiv. 446
Air. (Dephlogistified) On the dephlogistification of phlogistified	—	lxiv. 507
— Discussions concerning	—	lxvii. 514
— On dephlogistified	—	lxviii. 603
— Account of	—	xxxvii. 442
Air. (Fartitious) New species of, with experiments	—	li. 361
Air.	—	—

- Air. (Fixed)* Experiments relative to its combination with water
 — Medical applications of — — — — — xlvii. 229
 — Dr. Macbride's hypothesis controverted — — — — — xlviii. 447
 — Its nature and qualities — — — — — li. 138
 — Experiments on — — — — — liv. 24, 423
 — Singular theory relative to — — — — — lv. 211
 — Observations on, with respect to respiration — — — — — lv. 412
 — Experimental observations on — — — — — lvi. 120
 — Opinions on the nature of — — — — — lvii. 557
 — On the acidity of — — — — — lviii. 68
 — Observations relative to — — — — — lxii. 154
 — Philosophical researches concerning — — — — — lxvii. 514
 — Further researches, by Dr. Priestley — — — — — lxviii. 380
 — On the resistance of — — — — — lxx. 101
- Air. (Inflammable)* Volta's discourses relative to — — — — — lviii. 68
 — Fontana's observations on — — — — — lx. 374
 — Method of procuring, from vitriolic æther — — — — — lxi. 170
 — A new kind of, with experiments and observations — — — — — lxiii. 374
 — Experiments — — — — — lxv. 492, 513
 — New hypothesis of — — — — — lxvii. 513
 — The same with phlogiston, with experiments — — — — — lxviii. 377
- Air. (Medical)*
 — On the non-existence of air in the thorax — — — — — xv. 332
 — Benefit of, in the small-pox — — — — — xxxviii. 433, 443
 — Medicinal uses of fixed air — — — — — xlvii. 230, xlix. 288
 — Cures performed by fixed air in putrid diseases — — — — — liv. 434
 — Effect of air on respiration — — — — — lv. 412
 — On the salubrity of air at sea and on shore — — — — — lxiv. 274
 — On measuring the salubrity of air — — — — — lxiv. 508
- Air. (Natural history)* How to make currents of air, similar to sea breezes — — — — — xxxviii. 301
 — On a diminution of bulk, on a mixture of common with nitrous — — — — — lv. 414
- Air. (Nitrous)* The properties of — — — — — li. 141
 — Observations and experiments relative to — — — — — lviii. 61
- Air Jacket*, defects of — — — — — xl. 123
- Air Pumps*. Experiments on, by M. Nairne — — — — — lviii. 450
- Air. See Balloons, Damps, Vapours*
- Aix la Chapelle*. The difference between the waters of, and that of Bath — — — — — xv. 207
 — The city and country round about described — — — — — xv. 458
 — How distinguished by the ancients — — — — — xxiv. 436
- Aixoon*. Description of the city of — — — — — xviii. 333
- Akenfide*, Dr. extravagantly praised — — — — — xi. 455
 — Observation on cancers — — — — — xxxix. 32
 — On the use of ipecacuanha in asthma — — — — — xxxix. 34
 — Method of treating white swellings of the joints — — — — — xxxix. 34
 — Encomiums on him by Mr. Cooper — — — — — xlvii. 429
- Akenfide,*

Akenfide , Dr. Specimens of his improvements to his poem on the pleasures of imagination	—	—	xlvi. 431
— Account of his life	—	—	xlvi. 436
— Poetic eulogium on him	—	—	xlvi. 148
— Anecdotes of	—	—	lxvi. 120
Alaric , king of the Goths, his conduct in plundering Rome	lxv.		33
Albany , Duke of. Droll story of,	—	—	xli. 532
Albemarle , Lord, his character	—	—	li. 30
Albero d'Oro . The origin of that name	—	—	ix. 92
Alberoni , Cardinal. The occasion of his rise	—	—	ix. 382
— His designs to recover the glory of Spain	—	—	ix. 384
— His notions of England and its inhabitants	—	—	ix. 387
Albini , M. His treatise on play included in the actor	—	—	iii. 190
Albion , Count de, his eulogy on M de Quesnay	—	—	liii. 168
Albuquerque , his first expedition to the East Indies	—	—	vi. 241
— Taken at Goa	—	—	vi. 242
— His and Almeed's characters compared	—	—	vi. 243
— Instance of his severity	—	—	vi. 245
— Expedition to Malacca	—	—	vi. 246
— His death	—	—	vi. 248
Alceus , an account of him and his writings	—	—	xxvii. 247
— His hymn in praise of Harmodius and Aristogiton, with a translation	—	—	xxxvii. 248
Alkali . A prize question on a fixed vegetable alkali, determined, gratis, by the Reviewers	—	—	lvi. 552
— A fixed one made from putrid vegetable and animal substances	—	—	lxiv. 272
Alexander . Poetic tale, by Mafon	—	—	lxvi. 407
Alcausus , his boasting and defeat described	—	—	xxix. 323
Alcin , (the Anglo-Saxon) account of his learning	—	—	l. 423
Alderman , his gateway described	—	—	vi. 111
— His hall and kitchen described	—	—	vi. 112
— His daughter described	—	—	vi. 115
Aldhelm , (the Anglo-Saxon) account of his learning	—	—	l. 422
Aldwinckle . Controversy relating to the living of	—	—	xxxviii. 382,
			390, 465
Ale . How to preserve	—	—	v. 276
Ale-boufes . Evil effects of, in villages	—	—	xlvi. 20
— Scheme for reducing them	—	—	xlvi. 21
Ale-boufe-kuper . Story of one near Islington	—	—	xxii. 42
Alembert , M. d'. His enmity to Rousseau	—	—	xxxiii. 509
— A principal writer in the Encyclopedie	—	—	xl. 29
— His mathematical essays	—	—	xl. 497
— New enquiries concerning optical glasses	—	—	xl. 498
— His encomium on Marfaus' logic	—	—	xli. 565
— Enquiries relating to optical glasses	—	—	xlvi. 678
— Enquiries concerning the motions of a planet, on the hypothesis of dissimilar opinions	—	—	xlvi. 498
— Eulogy on Boffuet	—	—	liii. 254
— Eulogy on Marshal Keith	—	—	lxi. 299
Alembic ,

Almbic. Improvements in, for the distillation of large quantities, lxvi. 138

Alention Isles, discovery of — lxiii. 2

Aleppo. Character of, by the Arabians — xv. 135

— Description of, — xv. 136

— Account of the inhabitants — xv. 142

— Marriage and funeral ceremonies — xv. 145

— Account of the plague there — xxxi. 211

Alexander, his tomb not discovered — xv. 349

— How educated — xix. 100

— Quibbling derivation of his name — xxxvii. 229

— History of his invasion of India very romantic — xxxvi. 8

— Dedicates the temple at Priene to Minerva Cifica — xlii. 373

— Ambitious of the same honour in respect to the temple of Diana at Ephesus, but is refused — xlii. 374

— His character — xliv. 7

— The ancient historian of him critically examined — liv. 395

— Particulars of his victory over Darius — lxvii. 425

— His exemplary modesty after the battle — lxvii. 427

Alexander of Lycopolis, his testimony in favour of christianity — xxxvi. 271

Alexander the 6th, Pope, his cruelties and vices — xii. 202

— Accidentally poisoned — xii. 202

— His character — xli. 203

— Reflections on his death — xii. 204

— Pleasing story relating to him — xxii. 43

— Scandalous anecdote in the history of his family — xxiv. 135

Alexander Severus, Emperor, his character — xxiv. 130

Alexander, Mr. Encomium on his character — xxxiv. 443

— Stricture on his experiments relating to antiseptics — xli. 362

Alexander, Dr. Account of the recovery of a person seemingly killed by a blow on the breast — xlvii. 186

Alexis, son to Czar Peter, his unhappy catastrophe — xxviii. 555

— Causes of his misconduct — xxviii. 555

— Incurs the displeasure of his father — li. 494

— His failings — li. 495

— Escapes to Vienna — li. 497

— Returns to Moscow, and submits to the Czar — li. 497

— Is brought to trial and condemned — li. 498

— His death — li. 498

— His adherents punished — li. 498

Alexandria. Enquiry concerning — xv. 249

— Antient description of — xv. 344

— Curiosities found near — xv. 344

— Whether it sprung from the ruins of Memphis — xv. 347

— Description of modern — xv. 349

— Imposts there on strangers — xv. 350

— By whom inhabited — xv. 351

— Its present ruinous situation — xlviii. 290

Alfred, king. Account of a print of — vii. 282

Alfred,

Alfred, king. His character	—	xv. 583
— His learning	—	xlvi. 379
— Considerations on the presents made by him to some cathedra's	—	xlvi. 181
— Encomium on him as a friend to learning	—	i. 422
Algarotti. Letters to him from the Pope	—	liv. 535
Algebra. Encomium on the study of	—	xv. 101
— Curious problem	—	xxxii. 263
Algelake described	—	lxv. 548
Albafen, (an Arabian) said to have been the author of the history of Tamerlane	—	iii. 45
Alighieri, his character	—	viii. 463
Ali Bey, his estimable character	—	lxviii. 531
Alkali caustic, best method of preparing it	—	xxxix. 35
Alla, Seif, his remarkable story and ill fate	—	xlvi. 455
Allegory, what constitutes one	—	iv. 124
— Defined	—	xxvii. 110
— Distinguished from metaphor	—	xxvii. 110
— On the origin of allegorical imagery	—	xxxii. 297
— Critical observations on	—	xlvi. 219
— The use of	—	lxix. 78
Allen, Mr. The occasion of his erecting an hospital at Dulwich	—	xxiii. 318
Alliance between church and state	—	xiii. 129
Alliances, foreign, insufficiently considered	—	xv. 259
— Consequences of modern, to Great Britain	—	xvi. 106
— Between philosophy and religion	—	lx. 452
Alliteration, (in poetry) frequently used by the Anglo-Saxon poets	—	xi. 116
— The use of it by Greek and Latin classics rather casual than designed	—	xi. 116
— The reason of its agreeable effect	—	xi. 117
— Cautions with regard to the indulgence and restraint of it	—	xi. 117
— Curious specimen of.	—	xxix. 38
Ally Ismael Abu, (the Arabian) his character	—	lxvi. 406
Almanacks. Superstitious regard of the Germans for	—	lii. 543
— Poor Richard's	—	lxii. 198
Almoadan Sultan, his gallant behaviour to Crusaders	—	i. 532
Almond tree. Account of	—	v. 376
— Natural history of	—	lxii. 291
Almorán and Hamet. Their opposite dispositions	—	xxiv. 416
— Their different behaviour on the death of their fathers	—	xxiv. 417
— Hamet's notions of government	—	xxiv. 419
— Character of Almeida	—	xxiii. 423
— Almeida rescued from the fire by Hamet	—	xxiii. 424
— Almeida is decreed by the genius to Almorán	—	xxiii. 426
— Almorán's catastrophe	—	xxii. 433
Aims Knights of Windsor, their history	—	i. 255
Ainwick waters. Experiments on, by Dr. Rutty	—	xxv. 3
— castle. History and description of	—	lv. 200
Alphabet	—

Alphabet writing , origin and progress of	—	xlvi. 494
— Boman or Barman	—	lvi. 221
Alpbins river , described in its present state	—	lv. 436
Alps . Pope's simile of the, vindicated	—	xv. 54
— Whether Pope's thought was not borrowed from Drummond	—	xv. 55
— Collective view of the Alps	—	xxviii. 378
— Poetical sketch of the natural history of	—	xxviii. 378
— Account of the explosion of a great stone from the	—	xxxii. 31
— Gray's journey up the	—	lii. 383
— Excursion into the Alps of Faucigny	—	liv. 402
— M. de Saussure's travels in	—	lxv. 378
— Philosophical observation on the	—	lxv. 379
— Remarkable prospects of, engraved with colours	—	lxx. 598
Albion , (Bp. of Sbrewsbury) Discovery of a curious ring supposed to have belonged to him	—	lvii. 261
Altamont Lord . Improvements on his estates in Ireland	—	lxiii. 39
Altar , observations on an altar with a Greek inscription, found at Corbridge	—	xliv. 183
Altercation, personal , unbecoming men of learning	—	xlii. 307
Alum , used in making salt	—	ii. 171
— Why used in bread	—	xviii. 264
— In bread, pernicious to children in particular	—	xxxiii. 50
— The plumb fort naturally formed in the subterraneous galleries of Milo, and found in some other places	—	lviii. 491
— Account of the mines in Italy	—	lxvi. 500
— Historical account of	—	lxvii. 482
Alva , Duke of, his barbarity	—	xvii. 324
Amabel , his story	—	xlii. 557
Amabella , poem of, with her affecting story	—	xxxvii. 237
Amadeus, Victor . Curious anecdotes of	—	xliv. 82
Amaduzzi, Abb. On the alliance between philosophy and religion	—	lix. 452
Amalasunta, Empress , her catastrophe	—	lxiii. 569
Ambassadors, rival . Their friendship	—	iv. 412
Ambergris . Account of	—	iv. 294
— Nature of, known to the moderns	—	xii. 92
— Neuforn's account of	—	xxxix. 531
— Experiments on	—	xxxix. 532
— Not an animal or vegetable production, but a fossil	—	xxxix. 532
— Origin and production of	—	xl. 558
— Schwediawer's account of	—	lxx. 100
Amber-Varnish for papier-maché	—	xxxiv. 177
Ambition contemned	—	iii. 42
— A caution against	—	xii. 34
— Reflection on	—	xxiii. 233
Amboyua , the cruelties of the Dutch to the English there	—	xlvi. 639
Amelia . Plan of that work	—	v. 513
America , benefit resulting from the colonies	—	xli. 89
— Number of people and shipping	—	xii. 89
America ,

America. Claims of the English to	—	xii. 186
— Claims of the French to	—	xii. 186
— Saved from the general deluge	—	xii. 271
— Ab-original character of the inhabitants	—	xii. 275
— Why Christianity is not likely to have good footing amongst them	—	xii. 276
— The English colonies defenceless	—	xii. 483
— Proposal to prevent disputes	—	xii. 483
— The regulation of the French colonies	—	xiii. 270
— Description of the middle British colonies	—	xiv. 31
— Cautions with respect to	—	xiv. 36
— An attempt to vindicate the conduct of the late ministry respecting	—	xv. 296
— A union of the colonies recommended	—	xvi. 172
— The designs of the French in	—	xvii. 172
— The consequence of the discovery of, and the advantages stated	—	xvii. 208
— The extent of	—	xvii. 539
— By whom now possessed	—	xvii. 539
— Pathetic address to the officers of	—	xxi. 62
— Contrast betwixt the conduct of the English and French	—	xxi. 64
— Conjecture concerning the first peopling of	—	xxv. 17
— Sermons preached in	—	xxix. 17
— Progress of the gospel	—	xxix. 18
— Strictures on the conduct of the missionaries	—	xxix. 19
— How first peopled	—	xxix. 491
— Hints for the improvement of the colonies	—	xxxii. 87
— Account of the stamp act	—	xxxiii. 398
— Reasons for repealing the stamp act	—	xxxiii. 455
— Account of the interior parts	—	xxxiv. 11
— Considerations on taxing	—	xxxiv. 65
— Opposition to the stamp act humourously considered	—	xxxiv. 68
— Plan for medical schools	—	xxxiv. 124
— Connection with the mother country	—	xxxiv. 157
— Their inestimable value	—	xxxiv. 158
— Wise and gentle treatment of them recommended	—	xxxiv. 159
— Dealers in free-thinking	—	xxxv. 281
— Conversion of the savages recommended by the society for propagating the gospel	—	xxxv. 282
— Ministerial regulat. and restrict. of trade condemned	—	xxxv. 445
— View of the social state	—	xxxvi. 345
— Disadvantageous situation, population, &c.	—	xxxvi. 431
— Commodities, produce, &c.	—	xxxvi. 432
— The first peopling enquired into	—	xxxvii. 532
— By what means the animals travelled thither from the ark	—	xxxviii. 540
— Their right of exemption from taxation defended	—	xxxix. 18
— Defended against the Bishop of Llandaff	—	xxxix. 151
— Reasonableness of their paying a share of the expences of the late war	—	xxxix. 393

America. Nature of the disputes	—	xxxix.	495
— Coercive measures condemned	—	xl.	432
— British subjects by their charters	—	xl.	434
— Proposal for ending the disputes	—	xli.	54
— Episcopacy recommended	—	xli.	220
— Reasons against episcopacy	—	xli.	221
— Exemption from taxation disallowed	—	xlii.	149
— Our laws and regulations impeached	—	xlii.	153
— Enquiry into the origin of the inhabitants	—	xlii.	516
— Observations on the discovery of	—	xlii.	518
— Consequences of the discovery to Europe	—	xlii.	519
— Variety of the human species in	—	xlii.	521
— Grandeur of the Incas of Peru exaggerated	—	xlii.	523
— On the colour of the inhabitants and the negroes	—	xlii.	523
— Their pigmies and Patagonian giants	—	xlii.	527
— The genius and disposition of the inhabitants	—	xlii.	531
— Character of the inhabitants	—	xlii.	532
— Strange and ridiculous customs	—	xlii.	534
— First discovered by the Greenlanders	—	xliv.	183
— Extracts from Kalm's tour	—	xliv.	210
— Remarks on the notion of some part of it having been peopled by the Welsh	—	xlvi.	58
— Observations on the present state of	—	xlvi.	201
— Staple commodities and navigation	—	xlvi.	202
— Proposal for new settlements on the Ohio	—	xlvi.	206
— Regulation of our trade and commerce recommended	—	xlvi.	211
— The advancement of useful and scientific learning, with an account of a society, &c. and transactions published by them	—	xlvi.	533
— On the change of climate in the middle colonies	—	xlvi.	347
— Some account of	—	xliv.	20
— Plan for taxing	—	l.	274
— Present measures exploded	—	l.	381
— Account of the Indians, by Sir W. Johnson	—	l.	481
— Another plan of reconciliation	—	l.	485
— Bishop of St. Asaph's sentiments on the controversy with Great Britain	—	li.	70
— Claims of, censured by Dr. Johnson	—	li.	301
— Defended with respect to enslaving the negroes	—	li.	324
— Taxation unjustifiable	—	li.	350
— View of our parliamentary claims of power	—	li.	390
— Southern parts little known to the Europeans	—	li.	409
— Observations on the maps of	—	li.	410
— Description of some parts and productions	—	li.	413
— Their ingratitude to Great Britain	—	li.	441
— Right of representation canvassed	—	li.	476
— British administration of	—	lii.	9
— Mr. Burke's sentiments on	—	lii.	79, 543
— Other opinions	—	lii.	83, 88, 173
			America.

America. Taxation discussed	—	lii. 253, 446
— Remarks on the acts of parliament	—	lii. 519
— General history of	—	lii. 529
— Galloway's plan of accommodation	—	lii. 537
— Remarks on their chartered privileges	—	liii. 64
— Conciliatory measures recommended	—	liii. 73
— Controversy relating to the war	—	liv. 145
— Proceedings of the congress, with their explanation of their differences with Great Britain to the Indians	—	liv. 153
— Injustice and impolicy of the proceedings of Gr. Britain	—	liv. 221
— The Colonies not subjects to Great Britain	—	liv. 225
— The claims of, discussed	liv. 229, 238, 325, 403,	493
— Independence recommended	—	liv. 499
— Their ability to maintain their pretences	—	liv. 500
— Observations favourable to their liberties	—	liv. 571
— The declaration of independency answered	—	lv. 345
— Their happy state before the troubles poetically described	—	lv. 481
— General description of	—	lvi. 453
— Not first peopled by any civilized nation of the ancient continent	—	lvii. 43
— Character when first known to the Europeans	—	lvii. 45
— The virtues and defects of the ab-original inhabitants and their domestic state considered	—	lvii. 47
— Their character as hunters	—	lvii. 52
— War another of their occupations	—	lvii. 120
— Vengeance, their ruling principle	—	lvii. 121
— Resemblance of their military customs to those of the ancient Germans	—	lvii. 122
— Their shocking treatment of prisoners	—	lvii. 123
— Colonies lost to Great Britain	—	lvii. 165
— Their declaration of independence, the consequence of our conduct	—	lvii. 252
— War, against our interests	—	lvii. 253
— Right of taxation asserted, from the practice of Greece and Rome	—	lvii. 292
— Poetical description of the desolations of the war	—	lvii. 424
— Travels in America	—	lviii. 382
— Her revolt from Great Britain dissimilar to that of the united provinces from Spain	—	lviii. 543
— From whence originally peopled	—	lix. 532
— The northern parts little known	—	lx. 90
— French accounts not to be relied on	—	lx. 91
— Exhorted to reconciliation	—	lx. 125
— Poetical lamentation of the war	—	lx. 373
— When first an object of taxation	—	lxii. 465
— An independent power, with reflections on the nature of this change	—	lxiii. 105
— Formidable, from her encreasing population	—	lxiii. 107
— Future grandeur predicted	—	lxiii. 107

merica. On the present state of South, in regard to its European subjection, and not yet ripe for revolt	lxiii.	105
— The inhabitants of the North, chiefly dissenters from the Episcopal church	lxiii.	356
— Persecuted by the Episcopalian party	lxiii.	440
— Dispute with Great Britain set in a striking light	lxvi.	130
— In what respect hurtful to Great Britain	lxvi.	425
— Table of her shipping in 1769	lxvi.	443
— Pleasing exhibition of rural life there in a social view	lxvii.	140
— The unnatural war	lxvii.	247
— Speedy peace recommended	lxvii.	321
— The ruin of England prognosticated by a continuance of the war	lxvii.	323
— The independence, a preliminary for a peace	lxvii.	325
— Earliest proceedings of congress for a redress of grievances	lxvii.	421
— Observations on the trade of Great Britain to	lxix.	37
— Anecdotes concerning the trade	lxix.	378
— Future circumstances of the trade predicted	lxix.	379
— Various ideas relating to the present situation of affairs there	lxx.	232
— See Colonias, Congress.
American Indians. See Indians.
Amethysts. Observations on some antique	liii.	566.
Aminta , an elegy	xlii.	186
— Translation of Tasso's	xlii.	425
Amiot Father , his account of the cold in China	li.	552
— His account of China	lix.	66
— Memorandum relating to China	lxii.	519
— Letters concerning the Chinese	lxx.	554
— Account of the population of China	lxx.	561
Ammon , how represented	vii.	89
Ammoniacal Salts. Observations on, by M. Laffone	lxv.	484
Ammonic earths of Tuscany. Observations on	lx.	310
Ammonites , a kind of fossil shells	iv.	117
Ammonius Saccas , his conciliatory scheme of religious philosophy	xxxiii.	331
— His doctrine consists of much depravity and mysticism	xxxiii.	334
Amphibious bipes , account of one	xxxvii.	443
Amphibious animals , observations on	xxxvii.	444
Amputation of limbs , generally unnecessary	xxx.	569
— General inutility of	xxxi.	346
— Cures performed without	xxxi.	347
— Bilguer's notions of	xxxviii.	243
— Curious observations on	xxxviii.	592
— Method to prevent the protrusion of the bones in amputations above the knees	lv.	119
— Also in the ankle	lv.	2; 6
— New method of amputation of the extremities	lxi.	493
— Bilguer's notions of	lxii.	243
Vol. II.	C	Amputation.

Amputation. Improvements in the amputation of the thigh	lxiii.	122
— Improved method of	—	lxix. 521
Amphitheatre of Titus described	—	lv. 43
— Of Vespasian described	—	lvi. 54
Amsterdam. Extraordinary improvements there	—	xxvii. 351
— Account of the Carillons	—	xlvi. 459
— Success of the society there for the recovery of persons apparently drowned	—	lx. 567
Ana. Account of books, the titles of which end in ana	—	xxx. 327
Anachristis observations of, to Solon	—	xv. 669
Anacrusis. For what subjects his numbers appear improper	—	xiii. 452
— His ode on his dream, translated	—	xix. 95
— Characterized	—	xxiii. 127
— Some of his odes translated	—	xxiii. 128
— Some account of him and his writings	—	xxvii. 146
— His disregard for money	—	xli. 427
— Odes, two and three, translated	—	xli. 428
Anacrusis to a lady	—	li. 95
Analogy between the propagation of animals and vegetables	—	vi. 367
— Between the fluids of animals and vegetables	—	vi. 381
— Between plants and animals	—	vii. 312
Analysis of Seneca, &c.	—	liv. 478
Analytical table of the principal matters in the encyclopedie	—	lxiii. 137
Anatomy , a case described	—	iv. 242
— Proposals for publishing figures of	—	v. 466
— Much studied in England, and the advantages	—	xiii. 359
— Instruction concerning injections	—	xxxiv. 567
— Eulogium on, by Haller	—	xxxix. 540
— Uses of picturesque anatomy to the physician and painter	—	xli. 149
— Anatomists censured for their cruelty to animals	—	xlii. 197
— New species of comparative	—	lii. 623
— Anatomico-physical discourses	—	liv. 401
— Observations, by M. Sabbatier	—	lxv. 488
— Observations, by M. Vicq d'Azar	—	lxv. 489
— Observations, by Professor Wrisberg	—	lxv. 489
— Observations, by M. Bordenaux	—	lxv. 490
— Observations from the Gottingen memoirs	—	lxvii. 488
— Observations from the Paris memoirs	—	lxvii. 496
— Experiments on the pregnant uterus, the tubes, ovaries, &c. of certain animals	—	lxix. 540
— Schools in France for the anatomy of animals	—	lxix. 583
Anaxagoras , his prophecy of the fall of a stone into the river Ægopotamas, as accounted for	—	xxxii. 30
— Some account of his philosophy	—	lx. 122
Anderson Mr. Account of ancient monuments and fortifications in the Highlands of Scotland	—	lxii. 273—lxx. 264
— His success in agriculture, by drill husbandry	—	lxx. 274
Anderson, (Surgeon of the Resolution) his observations relative to natural history in Captain Cook's last voyage	—	lxx. 472
Andrachne

Andrachne , Description of one, in flower in England for the first time	xxxix.	418
André, Major . Letters to his friends	lxix.	374
André, Mr. Microscopic description of the King Crab	lxix.	396
Andreas . One of the Isles of Sky discovered	lxiii.	2
Andrews, Dr. His speech in the Irish Parliament in defence of the peace	xxxviii.	85
Andromache . Comical derivation of her name	xxxiii.	228
Andry, M. His method of cure for the bite of mad animals	lxvii.	557
Anemone, Sea . The natural history of	li.	228
— Account of	lv.	117
— Further discoveries	lviii.	3
Aneurism . Various kinds described by Dr. Hunter	xvi.	556
— New method of treating	xxvii.	195
— Case of	xxxviii.	436
— Attended with some singular circumstances	xli.	513
— Observations on a particular species	xlvi.	15
— Of the axillary artery	lxviii.	501
Angels . Many orders of	ii.	426
— Three states of, according to Ramsay	iv.	453
— A guardian, appointed to every region	xxvii.	161
— Their various powers and abilities	xxviii.	164
— Ignorance of their names, not imputed to us as a sin	xxv.	498
— The notion of angels, derived from the Chaldeans	xxvii.	513
— Whence the notion of fallen angels derived	xxxii.	514
— Baron Swedenborg's conversation with	xl.	581
— Notion of fallen angels, not a scriptural doctrine	xlvi.	191
Anger . A better sign of the head than of the heart	iii.	43
Angina . A dissertation on	xlvi.	545
Angina Mucosa . Account of that disease	lviii.	234
Angle parallaxic . New method of finding it	xi.	38
Angles . An instrument for measuring small ones described	xiii.	327
Anglesea, Earl of . Some account of	viii.	450
Anglo-Saxons , their government	v.	438
— Their spirit of liberty and care for the preservation of it in their constitution and government	xliv.	496
— Their kings not absolute	l.	197
— The difficulty of acquiring learning in their times	l.	200
— The period at which literature began to flourish under them, and by what means	l.	420
— Their great attention to the ladies	li.	106
— Severity of their laws against adultery	li.	106
— Their modesty of behaviour to women	li.	107
Angyna Polypsea . Dr. Michaelin's account of	lxi.	222
Animals . Apology for torturing them in experiments	i.	375
— Their origin deduced from the sea	ii.	47
— On the generation of	iv.	58
— Productions prescribed in the materia medica	v.	380
— On animal and vital principles	v.	403
— How produced	vi.	374

Animals. Ovum of, and its progress	—	vi.	383
— Constituent parts of the solids	—	vi.	50
— Spirits demonstrated	—	vi.	50
— Small ones more strong and active than large ones	—	xi.	493
— Inquiry into the right of mankind to the use of them	—	xiii.	162
— Degeneration of, discussed	—	xxvii.	45
— Observations on noxious	—	xxix.	373
— Their natural impulsive faculties displayed	—	xxxiv.	373
— Cruelly treated by mankind	—	xxxvi.	79
— Fundamental principle of their multiplication	—	xxxvi.	386
— Cruel experiments on	—	xxxix.	573
— On the reproduction of	—	xli.	483
— Observations on the heat of	—	xliv.	301
— Unjustifiable cruelty of torturing them, in making anatomical experiments	—	xliv.	213
— Account of the various systems relating to instinct	—	xliv.	533
— Different classes of instinct	—	xliv.	540
— Conclusions relating to instinct	—	xliv.	546
— Mercy and tenderness to animals recommended from the pulpit	—	xlvi.	491
— On those which give suck	—	liii.	436
— On their death from mephitic exhalations	—	lvii.	484
— On their death from the vapour of the Grotto del Cane	—	lvii.	507
— Wild on the Pyrenees	—	lvii.	538
— the hypothesis of animal heat corrected	—	lxiii.	500
— Matter the only substance in nature that is susceptible of putrefaction	—	lxx.	526
Animalcula in semine, their existence denied	—	iv.	59
— Several species enumerated	—	viii.	18
— Examined by a microscope	—	viii.	270
— Their increase in vegetable and animal infusions	—	xliv.	207
— Natural history of	—	lii.	167
— Of infusion what, with experiments and observations	—	lvi.	222
— Experiments relative to the production of	—	lxviii.	362
Animal Flower described	—	xxxix.	422
Annæ Queen. Her design to cancel the act which limited the succession	—	ix.	391
— Beneficent to her chaplains	—	xiv.	580
— Her behaviour to the Czar on the ambassadors arrest	—	xix.	440
— Iniquity of her government during the last four years of her reign	—	xxviii.	206
— Parallel between the four last years of her reign, and the four first of Geo. III.	—	xxiv.	325
Annæ, Princess. Anecdote of her behaviour on the birth of a pretender	—	xxix.	260
Annet, Peter. His prosecution disapproved	—	xxviii.	168
— His persecution alluded to	—	xxxi.	409
Annibal. His speech to Antiochus	—	v.	349
Anniseed. Description of the starry anniseed tree	—	xlvi.	187
Annistaters on the holy scriptures censured	—	xxx.	44
		Annuitius.

Anaximander. The value of a single life investigated	xiii.	155
— Method of investigating securities on land	xiii.	323
— Scheme to ascertain their value	xv.	370
— Algebraical calculations of	xxi.	411
— Calculation of the expectation of lives, by Dr. Price	xliv.	136
— Observations and calculations relating to	xlv.	304, 317
— Difference between the duration of life in cities, and in the country, with a table	xvii.	98
— Dr. Price's observations on the duration of life in great towns and in villages	li.	122
— A shameful trade in, exposed	lvi.	171
— Their value deduced from general principles	lviii.	464
— Observations on, by Dr. Price.	lxii.	477
— See Price, Societies.
Annulus. Supposed to have been formerly about the earth, and the effects of its fall	ix.	339
Anson, Lady. Poem on her death	xxvi.	362
Anson's voyage, Mr. Walter not the writer of it	xxv.	333
Ants. A poem, by Mrs. Williams	xxxv.	355
— Observations on the natural history of	lxiv.	526
— See Termites.
Anta , a Patagonian deer described	li.	416
Antarctic continent, motives for enlarging our acquaintance with it	xlili.	519
Antidiluvians. Their year the same as at present	ii.	497
— Generations and chronology	ii.	499
— Their food vegetables and milk	ii.	512
Antelope , poetical description of the Indian method of hunting them	i.	311
Antelien. Account of an	xxvii.	330
Anthony of the desert. His story	xxxvii.	550
— (a judaizing christian) His story	xxxvi.	385
— His persecution and death	xxxvi.	386
Anthony, Mark , represented by Virgil under the character of Turnus	ii.	442
— His character	xvii. 40. xxii.	536
— Account of his death	xliv.	131
Anthropology. The study explained	xxxvii.	513
Anthropomorphism spiritual what, and the causes of it	xxx.	499
Antients. Their histories censured	ii.	179
— Their bad reasoning accounted for	iii.	244
— Less plagued with bad books than the moderns	iv.	28
— The best effects of the use of them	xx.	66
— No merit in their being original in their composition	xx.	504
— The possibility of excelling them	xx.	505
— Comparative view of their literary merit with that of the moderns	xxiv.	175
— Their political knowledge in the more early ages examined	xxv.	184
— Their knowledge of the arts and sciences	xxv.	185

Antients. Their commerce, navigation, and war	xxv. 186
— The absurdity of an attachment to their language in preference to the moderns	xxv. 362
— Their commerce and navigation, particularly with England	xxix. 507
— Not ignorant of the great discoveries attributed to the moderns	xxxv. 544
— Their works too highly estimated by the moderns	xlii. 295
— History of the opinions of the ancients	lxi. 55
Antigallican Society. Account of	lix. 78
Antill, Mr. Remarks on the culture of the vine in America	xlvii. 343
— Sober advice to his children	xlvii. 343
Antimony. Millar's process for making the butter of	xi. 307
— Boerhaave's process for the same	xi. 308
— Its emetic quality not known to the antients	xiv. 283
— Its cathartic quality, when discovered	xiv. 284
— Its analysis should be found, to give it with success	xiv. 284
— An instance of an uncommon effect of the wine of	xv. 391
— Observations on the regulus of	xxxiii. 541
— The combination of the acid of tartar with	xlvii. 495
— On the medical use of	xlix. 176
— Dangers attending the use of	li. 397
Antinoë, (now called Abade) Some account of	xv. 485
— Abounds with antiquities	xv. 485
Antinous. Remarks on a famous statue of	xxxvi. 478
Antiochus, his weakness	v. 350
Antiparos. Account of the grotto at	lxi. 482
Antipathy, natural to some animals, with instances	lxviii. 211
Antiquary. Rise and progress of the Society, with an account of the first publication of their transactions	xliii. 357
— Studies and pursuits recommended	xlix. 178
— His researches useful to the historian	lxix. 289
Antiquities, few and obscure, in England	x. 231
— Account of some Phœnician	xiv. 226
— Researches into, useful for promoting other kinds of learning	xix. 513
— Account of some Tartarian	xlix. 257
— Particulars of various vulgar	lvij. 189
— Description of some Moorish antiquities in Spain	lxi. 139
— Account of some antiquities found on the Musquito shore	lxii. 277
— Defence of the study	lxiii. 297
— Advantages from the study	lxix. 14
— Found in the Musquito shores	lxx. 265
Antiseptics, experiments on	v. 326
— What	vi. 47
— Experiments on	xxxix. 201
— Scrictures on Alexander's experiment	xli. 362
	Antiseptic.

Antiseptic. Mesny's memoir concerning	—	lvii. 239
— On the use, of strong wort as an antiseptic	—	lxi. 275
Antoninus, M. A. compared with Epictetus	—	xxxv. 542
— In what manner he injured his health by an over-exertion of the faculties of his mind	—	xli. 251
— Enlogy on, by M. Thomas	—	lii. 438
Antoninus, Emperor. His letter relating to the thundering legion	—	xxxiv. 38
Antoninus Martyr. his account of the opulence of Judea	—	lxii. 570
Auxi, Duke of. His wit and character	—	v. 391
Auxiety, the causes and effects	—	xvii. 525
Aorta. Account of two aneurisms of	—	xxxviii. 432
Apamean medal. The controversy relating to it	—	lvii. 454
Apes. Apelanders a rational people	—	xvi. 26
— Natural history of	—	xxxiv. 529
— Various kinds of apes, and stories of them	—	xxxiv. 529
— A nation of	—	xlvi. 505
Apbernussli-trees described	—	xxcii. 86
Apbides, or plant lice, described	—	xlvi. 116
— Their equivocal generation	—	xlvi. 116
Apboristical way of writing its advantages	—	ii. 433
Apices, dust of, not necessary for the production of fertile seeds	—	xi. 387
Apocalypse, humorously expounded and applied	—	l. 346
— Triumph of the	—	l. 379
— Seriously discussed as to its divine authority	—	l. 378
— The divine nature of its visions asserted	—	lv. 36
— Illustration of, by a painted board	—	lv. 39
Apocryphal books, composed in the early days of christianity	—	xiii. 442
— Confirm the evangelical history	—	xiii. 442
— Their publication much owing to the fame of Christ and of his apostles	—	xiii. 443
Apogee of the moon's motion, conformable to the Newtonian law of attraction	—	xi. 48
Apollo Didymus. History of his temple at Miletus	—	xlvi. 375
— Account of the oracle	—	xlvi. 377
— Account of the ruins of the temple	—	xlvi. 378
— Apollonius his geometrical writings praised	—	xliv. 18
Apologists for christianity. Sum and substance of their defences	—	lv. 389
— Ill-treated, by Mr. Gibbon in his Roman history	—	lv. 462
— Defended	—	lv. 462
Apoplexy. Instance of a fatal one succeeding the effluvia of white lilies	—	xii. 375
Apophthegms of the antients	—	vii. 426
Apostacy of the christian churches, owing to the ministers fondness for human learning	—	xxiii. 495
Apostles constitutions, supposed to be spurious	—	iv. 25
	C 4	Apostles,

Apostles , their creed paraphrased	—	v.	519
— Their inspiration asserted	—	viii.	11
— Their gift of tongues accounted for	—	viii.	16
— The fitness of their illiterate character	—	xxx.	201
Apothecaries . Advice to	—	iv.	365
Apparition . Merry story of one	—	v.	397
Apperception , what, and its influence on the judgment	—	xl.	473
Appetites , natural ones may be innocently gratified	—	xvi.	115
— none implanted	—	xix.	265
Apples , a mixed breed described	—	iv.	55
Application . Maxims relative to	—	iv.	66
— Allegorically personified	—	xlx.	473
Apprehensions . The only measure of happiness	—	iv.	535
Aptenodytes , (a bird) where found	—	lxix.	252
Apuleius . Explication of his transformation	—	xiii.	295
— M. le Beau's remarks on	—	xliv.	586
Aquileia . Siege of, a scene in the play	—	xxii.	222
Aqui Royal . Account of the baths	—	lix.	454
Arabella . Adventures of	—	vii.	249
— Her cruel treatment of her cousin Glenville	—	vi.	251
— Her romantic notions	—	vi.	256
— Her maid Lucy's behaviour	—	vi.	258
— Her treatment of Mr. Selwin	—	vi.	259
Arabians of Algiers, their taste for poetry, and a pastoral life	—	iii.	413
— Account of	—	xii.	37
— In some respects resemble the Jews	—	xii.	38
— Dangerous to curious travellers	—	xv.	257
— Their manner of living, and form of government in Egypt	—	xv.	359
— Their malice and superstition in destroying monuments	—	xv.	492
— Arabian tales, commended	—	xxix.	62
— The conquests in Africa and Spain	—	xxxiv.	490
— Books and MSS. relating to	—	xxxiv.	491
— Arabian tale, from Hariri	—	xxxvii.	23
— Arabian poetry, from Hariri	—	xxxvii.	27
— Remarks on the Arabic languages	—	xlvi.	39, 82
— Granger's travels in Arabia	—	xlvi.	289
— Their character and hospitality	—	xlvi.	583
— Their language	—	xlvi.	585
— Their diseases	—	xlvi.	586
— Their animals	—	xlvi.	587
— Elegy in Arabic, Latin and English	—	li.	22
— A reward offered for making discoveries in Arabia	—	liii.	382
— A description of Arabia	—	liii.	578
— One of the most antient people now existing on the globe	—	lix.	449
— Have preserved their independency	—	lix.	441
— Remarks on their language	—	lix.	442
— Accounts relative to Arabia	—	lx.	303, 311

Arabians.

Arabians. Their skill in astronomy	lx.	528
— Love verses in the Arabic style	lxii.	392
— How first instructed in the sciences	lxiii.	273
— Perfidiousness of the modern	lxiii.	404
— Arabian and Turkish tales commended	lxv.	461
— Account of the Arabic books in the Escorial	lxv.	529
— The genuineness of the Arabian Nights Entertainment	lxx.	255
Arachion , his combat and death at the Olympic games	i.	116
Aratus , his astronomy, published by H. Grotius	x.	83
Aratus , the poet, characterized	lxi.	513
Arbitrary power. Its gradual advances in France from the time of Lewis XIII.	iii.	134
— The difficulty of suiting obedience to it	xxiv.	419
— Speech against	xxviii.	412
Arbutus trees , described	xvii.	513
— Flourishes in Ireland	xvii. 513—xxxvi.	369
Arcadians. Anecdotes relating to their society	xviii.	249
Archangels , infinite descents below the all-perfect Being	ii.	426
Arches. Their theory difficult	xii.	122
— How demonstrable	xii.	122
Archibald the third duke. His character	xxxi.	180
Archimedes , his burning speculum revived	iii.	438
— Account of his burning the fleet of Marcellus, and the structure of his glass	xliii.	421
— Enquiry respecting his cylinder	xiv.	180
— humorous etymology of his name	xxxiii.	229
— The truth of his burning speculum	xxxv.	554
Archipelago, Russian. The discovery of	lxiii.	3
Architecture. Who an original architect	iv.	101
— Curious remains in Asia Minor	ix.	441
— Defined	xxv.	457
— Architects should study in Italy	xxx.	523
— General remarks on the palaces of the nobility	xxxviii.	225
— Schools in Italy	xxxix.	178
— Account of several British architects	xxxix.	180
— On taste in	xl.	56
— Observations on a new order	xl.	57
— Grandeur and decline of, at Rome	xlvi.	372
— Changes and improvements in	xliv.	452
— Explanation of terms in	xliv.	452
— Critical Observations on the nature of	liii.	36
— State of, in ancient Egypt	liii.	375
— Civil	lvii.	234
— The Earl of Burlington's designs	lxiv.	190
— On the genius and spirit of	lxiv.	463
— General observations on	lxviii.	14
— Naval. See Ship Building.
Arcturus. Inquiry into the motion of	i.	352
Arden of Feverham. Story of his murder	xliii.	494
— The tragedy falsely attributed to Shakespeare	xliii.	494
Ardingheli,

Ardingbali, Mad. at sixteen years of age translates Hale's hæmat- tatics into Italian, with remarks	xi.	221
Ardmagh, Abp. of his noble public works in Ireland	lxiii.	99
Arctusa fountain described	lv.	434
Arctusi Cæsars , some account of	xlili.	24
Argent, Marq. d' , not the author of "Man a machine,"	i.	131
— His character	v.	392
— His prodigious memory	v.	393
— His reflections on the French historians	xxix.	521
— Eulogy on	liii.	532
Argillon , his animated speech over the body of Rinaldo	xxix.	256
Argonauts , their expedition determined	xvii.	255
— Learned exposition of their expedition	liii.	337
— Remarks on their expedition	lvii.	59
Arguments , conclusions from, frequently drawn contrary to what they prove	xxiv.	24
Argus bird described	xxxv.	450
Argyle, Earls and Dukes , their history	xxxi.	475
Ariadus , description of a picture of, discovered at Herculaneum	xlvi.	631
— Description of a picture of	xlvi.	632
Arians , remarks on	iv.	18
— Sad effects of that controversy	ix.	356
— A subject of ridicule to the Alexandrians	ix.	457
— More moderate than the consubstantialists	ix.	358
— Their abuse of power	ix.	358
— Their sentiments, and how prevalent	xv.	570
— Great commotions excited by them	xlili.	102
— A tribe of the antient Germans, their manners and singular customs	xliv.	559
Arimaspi and the Griffin ; Pliny's account of	xxii.	318
— Probable resolution of the fable	xxii.	319
Aristo defended against the reflections of Rousseau	viii.	463
— The distinction paid him by a company of banditti, on account of his poetic merit	xx.	572
— An examination of the merits of public opinion, relating to him	xxvi.	42
— The causes to which his Orlando Furioso is indebted for its repu- tation	xlvi.	337
— Orlando Furioso compared with Spenser's fairy queen	xlvi.	340
— Specimens of Hoole's translat. of the Orlando Furioso	xlvi.	341
— See Tasso
Aristarchus the astronomer, his discoveries	lx.	526
Aristides , remarkable anecdote relating to	xiv.	262
Aristomenes ; critical account of the tragedy	ii.	324
Aristophanes , criticised by Brumoy	xxiii.	300.
— His comedies criticised	lxi.	511
Aristotle , his rhetoric characterised	xx.	65
— A conjecture of his controverted	xxix.	11
— His censure of music in its corrupt state	xxix.	89

A R M

27

Aristotle , Forbidden to be written against	xxx.	528
— Now sleeps in peace	xxx.	528
— His definition of tragedy	xxx.	536
— Encomium on his genius	xxxi.	548
— His advice to Alexander how to quell an opposition to his measures	xl.	238
— His dramatic rules controverted	xli.	131
— Injured in his health by too much study	xli.	251
— His letter to Alexander, translated into French	xli.	568
— His art of poetry, in what respect a master-piece	xliv.	557
— Life of	liii.	200
— His poetics translated	liii.	200
— His observations on style	liii.	202
— His philosophy obscure	lx.	123
— The value of his writings estimated	lx.	330
— His rules for tyrannical government	lx.	330
— His ideas of a just government	lx.	332
— Lord Monboddo's admiration of	lxi.	198
— His poetics critically investigated	lxi.	524
— An analysis of his poetics	lxix.	555
Arithmetic universal; why Sir Isaac Newton called algebra by that name	xiv.	3
— Political arithmeticians apt to assume uncertain data	xv.	369
— The foundation of its rules too little attended to	xix.	2
— Seldom acquired in public schools	xix.	2
— Account of arithmetic of infinites	xxxvii.	434
— Curious question in political arithmetic	xlvi.	673
— Observations on arithmetic of impossible quantities	lx.	418
Arius , the character given of him by his opponents	xlvi.	102
Ark of Noah , learned suggestions relative to	liv.	346
Arlandes, Marg. d' , performs an aerial journey	lxix.	556
— His conduct at the highest elevation	lxix.	556
— Note relating to him	lxix.	593
Arm , cure of an extraordinary fracture of	v.	6
— Extraordinary cure of a broken arm	xxv.	10
Armada , history of the Spanish	xxvi.	279
Armadilla , some account of that animal	xxx.	446
Arm-gaunt , in Shakespeare, explained	liii.	396
Armida , her fine speech from Tasso's Jerusalem	xxix.	252
— Beautiful description of her person	xxix.	253
— Her enchanted island	xxix.	326
— Defeated by Rinaldo	xxix.	332
Arminius and Elvira , their affecting story	xl.	105
Arminius and Gomar , their superior contests	xvii.	352
Arminius the German , his victory over the Romans	xxxii.	17
Arms , cautions against bearing false coats of arms	xxx.	440
Arms of England , the supporters originally leopards	xxvi.	247
Army , standing armies an introduction to military government	ii.	167
— Observ. on the mutiny bill	ii.	160
— Considerations on standing	iv.	277
	Army,

Army , Remarks on the officers	—	iv. 278
— Alterations proposed	—	iv. 278
— The danger of calling it to the assistance of the civil power	iv.	499
— The disadvantages of an hospital being far from the camp	vii.	53
— Hospitals considered as sanctuaries	—	vii. 54
— Cavalry and infantry of mutual advantage	—	xv. 405
— Proper officers necessary for success	—	xv. 414
— Advantage of making public examples	—	xv. 415
— Inconvenience attending a great one	—	xviii. 40
— Project for the disposal of the army in America when disbanded	—	xxii. 509
— New scheme for recruiting	—	xxiii. 370
— The first consideration to the forming a good army	xxvi.	60
— Arguments against standing armies	—	li. 351
— Standing armies the great instrument for enslaving a people	li.	353
— Knowledge of the sciences requisite for officers	—	lxiii. 414
— See Military .
Arnall , Mr. account of him	—	xxxix. 369
Arnatta scrub described	—	xl. 203
Arnaud , (a commander at Malta). passages between him and a Turkish captive	—	ix. 261
Arnaud , M. assists in publishing an account of the Duke of Orleans' gems	—	lxiii. 293
— His remarks on Greek prose	—	lxiv. 555
Arns , Dr. ridiculed in a mock elegy	—	xxxii. 46
Arnold , Mr. account of the going of his pocket chronometer	lxiii.	198
— Testimony in favour of his pendulum clock, by Meyer	lxv.	305
— Controversy relative to his time-keepers	—	lxvi. 355
Arquebuse water, Senecio Sarrenicus, the chief ingredient	xliv.	415
Arrack preferred to rum	—	ii. 376
— Its properties and uses, and when to be avoided	—	ii. 376
Arrows , receipt for preparing the Indian poison for	—	xl. 280
Arsenic , remedies against the poison of	—	lviii. 503
— The combination of, with different bodies	—	lxx. 498
Arteries , their motion	—	vi. 192
— Structure of	—	xvii. 123
— Compared to vinegar casks	—	xxiii. 332
— Method of suppressing hæmorrhages of divided arteries	xxix.	179
— Directions for the ligature of	—	xxix. 180
— Of astringents, caustics, &c.	—	xxix. 181
— The cause of their pulsation	—	xli. 518
— On the ligature of	—	xliv. 219
Arthur and his knights , a favourite subject of Milton	—	xxvii. 89
Arthur's seat , extract from that poem	—	li. 349
Artichoke , Jerusalem, recommended as winter food for horses and hogs	—	xlvi. 121
— Proper management of	—	xlvi. 121
Articles , the 39, objected to	—	i. 206
— Why not to be subscribed to	—	iv. 21
— New articles proposed	—	iv. 167

A R T

29

Articles , the 39, their bad effects	iv.	169
— Calvinistical	xxxix.	376
— Hints to petitioners against	xlvi.	483
— Latitude in the interpretation pleaded for	lx.	85
— The 18th interpreted	lx.	85
Articles grammatic , explained	lii.	98
Articulation and pronunciation considered	xxvii.	281
— Utual defects pointed out, with the method to remove them	xxvii.	281
— See Speech .
Artificers , thoughts on their inducements to industry or idleness	xxxii.	283
Artillery , by whom introduced in China	x.	200
— State of, in England, in the reign of Edw. VI.	lxi.	205
— State of, in the reign of Elizabeth	lxi.	206
Artists , how far prejudicial to a state	xxxvi.	564
— Comparative view of their merit, with that of authors, in the estimation of the public	li.	277
Arts , the Romans instructed in the polite arts, from the Greeks	i.	85
— Extirpated by the Goths and Turks, revived in Tuscany, and from thence spread all over Europe	i.	85
— When introduced into Prussia	iv.	212
— Of design	v.	275
— liberal and mechanical, how distinguished from the sciences	xi.	490
— Never flourished in a country where oratory was neglected	xiv.	99
— Tyranny destructive to	xv.	59
— and sciences, the different ages in which they flourished	xvi.	140
— The advantage of promoting the oconomical arts in Britain	xvi.	376
— Why they ought to be publicly known	xix.	349
— Those who are best skilled in the principles are seldom the best practitioners	xxiii.	311
— and sciences, a review of their effects	xxiii.	435
— Polite, rather judged of in conformity to public opinion, than from private feelings	xxv.	94
— Imitation of nature the fundamental principle	xxv.	95
— and sciences, the knowledge of the ancients in	xxv.	185
— Their flourishing state an indication of the flourishing state of a country	xxvi.	244
— Contra-distinguished from the sciences	xxx.	313
— Mechanic, seldom agree in theory and practice	xxxv.	50
— The causes of their flourishing state in ancient Greece	xxxvii.	336
— Rousseau's reflections on the culture of the arts and sciences	xxxix.	214
— Hints for avoiding the errors of academies of arts	xl.	311
— Essay on energy in the fine arts	xlvi.	528
— Advantages arising from academies of arts	xlvi.	531
— W. Shipley founder of the society for	xlvi.	108
— Obs. on the origin and progress of the arts in England	lii.	300

Arts,

Arts, a dictionary of arts and sciences, how far practicable

		lii.	575
— Panegyric on the arts	—	liii.	565
— Historical journal of	—	liv.	397
— State of, in Russia	—	lxx.	564
Arundel, Earl of , sent to the Tower	—	xxix.	416
— Proceedings of the House of Lords on	—	xxix.	416
Asbestos , account of	—	iii.	343
— Its nature explained	—	xxv.	6
— Natural history of	—	xlii.	315
Ascarides expelled by fumigation	—	xxvii.	194
— Account of	—	xxxvii.	442
— Observations on	—	xxxix.	32
— Dr. Heberden's observations on	—	xxxix.	32
Ascent of vapours accounted for	—	xv.	363
Ascetics , from whence derived	—	xxxiii.	335
Asclepiades , chirurgical fragment of	—	xvi.	263
— His various character as exhibited by different writers	—	xxvii.	337
Ascham, Roger , his merit as an author	—	xxxviii.	147
Asby, Sir John , his conduct justified	—	xvii.	492
Asbes , a principal article in bleaching	—	xiv.	429
— Analysis of pearl-asbes	—	xiv.	430
— Method of preparing a succedaneum to	—	xiv.	430
Asbmole, Elias , some account of	—	l.	169
Ashton, Dr.	—	i.	348
Asia , general history of	—	lii.	529
— Histoire de	—	liii.	172
Aspet, M. history of the order of St. Lewis	—	lxiv.	455
Asphaltites, lake , analysis of the water	—	lxvii.	500
Asa-fetida , method of distinguishing the genuine from the adulterated	—	xli.	17
Assemblies , the origin of the nocturnal assemblies of the primitive christians	—	xix.	438
Assena in Egypt , ruins of a temple there	—	xlvi.	288
Asses , the people compared to those patient animals, particularly in matters of religion	—	xxxix.	101
Asses milk , the properties of	—	ii.	308
Associations for preserving the game , oppressive and unconstitutional	—	xxxii.	391
Association , a national one proposed for restoring the constitution	—	liii.	113
Assurance , the nature of this quality	—	viii.	44
— Utility of uniting it with modesty	—	viii.	45
Assurance for lives , the benefit of	—	xxii.	206
— Doctrine of, investigated	—	lix.	55
Assurance of salvation , orthodox account of	—	xxviii.	313
Assyrians , the foundation of the empire	—	vii.	85
— Method of disposing of their virgins in marriage	—	xxv.	177
Asthma , præternatural appearance on opening the body of an asthmatic person	—	xxxiv.	63
Asthma ,

A T H

31

Asthma , nature and cure of, by ipecacoanha	xxxix.	34
— By what different names distinguished	xli.	12
— Described in different stages, and cure	xli.	14
— Chiefly incident to children	xli.	16
— Dr. Rush's account of an asthma	lv.	251
Aston, Judge , his defence of the common law right of literary property	li.	84
— On the perpetuity of literary property	li.	89
Astringents , experiments on	xxxviii.	21
Astrology , a superstition adopted in all ages	x.	201
Astronomy , elements of, by De la Caille	ii.	105
— Discoveries of the antients in	xiv.	177
— Pythagoras's system of	xiv.	178
— Study of, enlarges the mind	xv.	236
— The advantage of taking the mean of a number of observations	xv.	279
— Involved in error from the time of Pythagoras to that of Copernicus	xxiv.	169
— Its use to history and chronology	xxxii.	29
— Objections to the notion of the spherical figure of the earth	xxxvii.	365
— Method of forming and graduating instruments	xxxviii.	260
— Method of perfecting instruments	xlii.	500
— Account of a clock and other instruments	l.	351
— Inquiries by Mr. Hornsby	l.	351
— Observations at California	l.	553
— Scepticism in	li.	319
— Observations by Wollaston	lii.	334
— Observ. by M. Slopi	lii.	443
— Ephemeris, &c.	liv.	401
— History of antient	liv.	479, 520
— Observations	lv.	119, 415
— of the Indians	lvi.	546
— Observations on the instruments used by Capt. Cook	lviii.	9
— Monuments of, in the East Indies	lviii.	458
— History of revolutions and improvements	lx.	526
— Memoirs by several members of the French academy	lxi.	497—
	lxii.	213
— Improvements in instruments	lxiii.	497
— Memoirs	lxv.	59
— Applied to the illustration of the fables of the antients	lxv.	534
— Description of an astrometer	lxviii.	631
— Experiments by B. Wilson	lxix.	208
Asphyxia , the cause and remedy	lxiv.	512
Assanaphan creed objected to	i.	202
— The doctrine of	vii.	340
— Censured by Dr. Wallis	xi.	257
— A known forgery	xvii.	83
— Pathetic remonstrance against	xiv.	134
— Rotheram's defence exploded	xlviii.	476
	Assanaphan ,

Athenians , his testimony of the scriptures	iv.	25
— Censure of	xv.	81
— Account of him	xvii.	84
— Referred to, in respect of Unitarianism	lxix.	232
Atheism , worse in its consequences than superstition	i.	297
— The absurdity of	i.	298
— Not a demonstrable or profitable scheme	i.	300
— Hammon's letter in defence of	lxviii.	129
Atelistan , form of a deed of gift by him	lx.	263
Athenians , their manners and customs described	viii.	177
— Their polity and military discipline	viii.	178
— Their frugality and beneficence, patriotism and public spirit	viii.	180
— Description of the plague at Athens	viii.	183
— Their inattention to affairs	xv.	267
— Their Venality and luxury	xv.	270
— How enslaved	xv.	271
— Their manners in public and private characters	xix.	77
— Poets not permitted to write for the stage until certain ages	xxiii.	301
— Simplicity of manners of the citizens	xxiii.	453
— How flattered by the Grecian dramatic writers	xxiii.	454
— Le Roy and Stuart's accounts of the ruins of Athens, compared	xxviii.	306
— Modern travellers deficient in taste for the polite arts	xxviii.	306
— Antiquities of Athens described	xxviii.	306
— Peculiar defects in their persons	xxxii.	462
— The inscription on their altar, to the unknown God illustrated	xxxiv.	431
— Their violent and capricious disposition always detrimental to the state	xxxv.	500
— State of Athens, in the time of Socrates	xxix.	512
— Present state of Athens	lv.	204
— Spirit of Athens, with respect to her population, colonies, civil liberty, &c.	lvi.	419
— Remarks on the theatre at Athens	lxi.	521
Atel , Duke of, his gardens at Inver, described	xlvi.	143
— His seat at Blair described	xlvi.	144
Athens , Sir Robert, remarks relating to the king's guards	xxix.	247
Atlantic ocean , a large track of it of a white colour	xix.	286
Athanas Platonie	lx.	490
Atlas , what is meant by his supporting the globe on his shoulders	li.	427
Atmosphere , cause of the colour of the clouds at the rising and setting of the sun	xv.	384
— Different states of it to be guarded against	xxii.	104
— The properties of	xlx.	579
— The electricity of	lvi.	375
Attonement , effected only by personal contrition and reformation	xxvi.	114
Attonement ,

Attachment , enquiry into the scripture doctrine of	xxxii. 259
— Opinions relative to the doctrine of	lxix. 91
Atrophy , a milk diet proper for	ii. 309
— Cyder good for it	ii. 380
Attachment , proceedings condemned	xxxix. 501
Attacks in war , cautions relating to	xxi. 559
Attainder, bills of , considered	i. 403
Attendance on great men , the extravagance and slavishness of, amongst the Romans	xii. 5
Attendance in parliament , an indispensable duty	xxviii. 126
Attention , how manifested by behaviour	xxvi. 201
Atterbury, Bp. not concerned in the publication of Clarendon's history	xix. 235
— Anecdote of	lxix. 6
Attornies , proposal for regulating their practice	ii. 118
— Objection to the profession	lxii. 300
Attorney-general , his practice with respect to informations, hurtful to the liberty of the press	xxxi. 455
Attraction , the analogy between it and benevolence	iii. 207
— How accounted for	vi. 439
— What it properly implies	viii. 297
— Of great use in explaining the phenomena of nature	x. 256
— Experiments on the attraction between wood and water	xix. 633
— Generally conceived to be the effect of impulse	xxi. 473
— Expressly considered by Sir Isaac Newton as a mechanical effect	xxvii. 123
— Thoughts on	xxix. 499
— Between comets and the sun	xl. 101
— Assigned as the cause of the phenomena of the ascent of fluids in capillary tubes	xlili. 531
— Curious experiments relative to	liv. 120
— Of mountains	liv. 447
Attributes of the deity , whence deduced	iv. 524
— Incompatible with those of human nature	xxx. 499
Atwood, Mr. theory for astronomical mensurations	lxvii. 444
Auchtermuchty , wife of, modernized	xliv. 45
Auckland-castle , account of	lxi. 284
Audien , account of one in Russia	xli. 457
Auger, M. his discourse on education	lii. 536
Augury , remarks on	xxiv. 258
Augustan age , memoirs of the writers of	lxviii. 163
Augustin, St. his opinion of the scriptures	iv. 73
— His account of, and testimony of the scriptures	ix. 305
— A short-sighted saint	xlili. 522
Augustus , his artful conduct after he had seized the government of Rome	viii. 423
— By what means he obtained the sovereign power	xii. 406
— Age of, corrupted in matters of religion	xiii. 414
— His mausoleum and his obelisk described	xli. 413
— His bad character	xliv. 526
Vol. II.	D
	Augustus ,

Augustus , an instance of his moderation and candour	xlvi.	654
— Memoirs of the writers of the Augustan history	lxviii.	161
— Review of his reign	lxix.	118
Aurelian, Emperor , his character	xxv.	263
Aurora borealis described	v.	4
— Observations on	v.	322
— Frequent in Iceland	xviii.	203
— A remarkable one in America	xxix.	144
— Curious observations on	xl.	396
— Remarks on	li.	375
— Sound emitted by an	li.	552
— Philosophical enquiry into the causes of	lx.	563
— Dr. Franklin's hypothesis of	lxii.	307
— De Mairan's treatise on	lxii.	310
— Van Swinden's plan for a new investigation of	lxii.	310
— A very extraordinary one described	lxvii.	542
Aurum fulminans , new observations on	lxiii.	503
— A very dangerous substance	lxiii.	506
Aurum Mosaicum , experiments and observations on	xlvi.	217
Aurum musicum , a receipt for making	xiv.	422
Aurengzebe , his cruelty to his brother	xlvi.	457
Austin (the first Roman missionary sent to Britain), his conduct and success	xv.	573
Austria , destruction of the house of, foretold	i.	353
— Character of the soldiery	xxxv.	82
— General history of	lii.	350
— Troops of, commended	lvii.	528
— Essay on the history of	lxi.	52
Authority , in matters of faith, subversive of religion	iv.	20
— Inconsistent with christianity	xxvii.	365
— Foundation of parental	xxxvi.	521
Authors , a professed one rallied	ii.	434
— Their duty	ii.	455
— How useful to trade	xii.	484
— Instances of some who excelled in more than one species of writing	xv.	43
— Ought not to depend on a friend's opinion of their works	xv.	84
— Particular ones compared to caterpillars	xx.	605
— Their works seldom in esteem whilst they are living	xxii.	462
— Envy the most incurable disorder of	xxiv.	141
— The wretched resources to which they are driven	xxiv.	141
— Contentions prejudicial to the common cause	xxv.	478
— A caution against	xxvi.	222
— Distinction among	xxvi.	223
— Reputation of, always on the ebb and flow during their lives	xxvii.	74
— Their right to their own works	xxvii.	182
— Greatly injured by translators	xxviii.	277
— Whether the first were in verse or prose	xliv.	557
Authors,

Authors, see Literary Property.

Autumn, why disorders are most frequent at that season xxii. 105

Avarice, a laudable instance of — xxii. 40

— The fear which the Canadians have of being charged with it

xxiii. 422

Avignon, the police of that city — xxxv. 32

Avoirdupois weight, account of — iv. 119

Axford, Henry, his extraordinary case — i. 373

Axis of the earth, the supposed alteration of, discussed xlv. 203

Ayliffe, Sir Joseph, Account of an historical picture at Windsor Castle — liii. 494

— Account of some pictures at Cawdry in Suffex . liii. 496

— Account of the opening of the tomb of Edward I. liii. 501

Axael, the dæmon who presides over the toilet, his office and character

lxix. 415

Azimuth compasses for observing the variation — lviii. 10

Ayin Akbary, description of the Indian empire, translated by Mr. Gladwin — lviii. 342

Azora, superior of a convent of learned ladies in the wilds of Hammore, described — xv. 660

B

Babel, the silence of Moses concerning the religious reasons of the dispersion accounted for — xii. 478

— Singular etymology of that word — xxxi. 430

— Singular deductions from the confusion of tongues at, and dispersion — l. 439, 441

— Researches relative to the building of, and the dispersion of the builders — liv. 350

Baber (monarch of Hindostan), abstract of his history xl. 502

Babes unborn, their petition — v. 516

Baboons, curious employment of, in Lisbon — liii. 106

Babylon, why built — vii. 82

— A triumphant ode upon the fall of, in the 14th chap. of Isaiah, superior to any of the productions of Greece or Rome xii. 40

— The oracle of, a tale — xxi. 247

— More than one place of that name, supposed to be alluded to in the Bible — xliii. 136

— Walls of, poetically described — liii. 451

Bacchanals, ancient, accounted masquerades — iv. 351

Bacchides of Plautus, passages in, criticised — li. 1

Bacchus, temple of, at Teos, its history — xlii. 371

— Ruins of, described — xlii. 371

Baccio, Fra. Barb. the inventor of the painter's layman xliii. 26

Bach, C. P. E. Curious account of — xlix. 221

— Compared with the younger Scarlatti — xlix. 222

Bacon, Anthony, an account of him — ii. 18;

- Bacon, Francis Lord*, divided the sciences into different branches
 — His character — — — — — vii. 67
 — His conduct censured by Judge Foster — — — — — xii. 226
 — Compared to Cicero — — — — — xxvii. 145
 — Enmity between him and Sir Edward Coke — — — — — xxvii. 496
 — He traduces the memory of the great Cecil — — — — — xxvii. 497
 — Sentiments on the use of reason in theological matters — — — — — xxvii. 498
 — His character — — — — — xxix. 248
 — Pulfome speech of his to King James — — — — — xxix. 378
 — Proofs of his corruptions — — — — — xxxv. 412
 — Foresees the British empire of the sea — — — — — xxxv. 413
 — His impeachment — — — — — xxxv. 494
 — Censured as an historian — — — — — xxxvi. 6
 — Account of — — — — — l. 342
Bacon, Roger, acquainted with the nature of gunpowder — — — — — lxviii. 233
Bad company, great danger of — — — — — lxiii. 410
Bad writing, an apology for — — — — — lxi. 210
Bad writing, an apology for — — — — — xviii. 580
Bagavadam, sacred book of the Indians, observations concerning — — — — — lviii. 540
Bagdat, an account of its siege, by Kouli Khan — — — — — ix. 157
Bagot, Mr. his poem on the birth of the Prince of Wales in the Oxford collection, criticised — — — — — xxviii. 18
Bailey, Capt. his unfortunate case in the affair of Greenwich Hospital — — — — — lxii. 230
Baily, Mr. his account of the epochs of the moon's mean motion — — — — — xxxvii. 166
 — His theory of Jupiter's satellites — — — — — xxxvii. 167
 — The cause of the variation in the inclination of the 2d satellite of Jupiter — — — — — xlii. 503
 — On the motion of the nodes, and the variation in the inclination of Jupiter's satellites — — — — — xlii. 503
 — His new methods of improving the theory of Jupiter's satellites — — — — — xlii. 503
 — His memoir concerning the diminutions of the length of the year — — — — — l. 353
 — His observations on Jupiter's satellites — — — — — lxi. 497
 — History of ancient astronomy, &c. — — — — — lii. 628
 — His notion of the local origin of the sciences controverted — — — — — liv. 479
Bailie, Robert, account of — — — — — lvii. 548
 — His writings — — — — — lvii. 367
 — His account of a fast in the last age — — — — — lvii. 369
 — Disapproves the beheading of Charles I. — — — — — lvii. 370
 — His zeal for presbytery — — — — — lvii. 372
Bailments, complete definition of — — — — — lvii. 373, 374
Baine, Mr. his account of his own disorder in the kidneys, and cure — — — — — lxvi. 298
 — — — — — xxvii. 100
Bakers and Butchers possessed of greater power than king or clergy — — — — — xxiv. 78
Baker,

- Baker, Mr.* describes an insect supposed to be the same with the plant Tremella, described by Adanson — xlv. 675
- Baker, Dr. George*, his controversy relating to the Devonshire colic — xxxviii. 17
- Observations on the small-pox — xxxviii. 153
- His enquiry into the poisonous quality of lead — xxxix. 37
- Concerning the colic of Poitou — xxxix. 39
- His recommendation of flos cardamines, as an anti-spasmodic remedy — xxxix. 41
- His cases of extraordinary cures of the dropsy — xlvii. 261
- His account of the wonderful temperance of Thomas Wood — xlvii. 262
- His observations on inoculation — xlvii. 264
- His farther observations on the poison of lead — xlvii. 265
- Baker, Sir Robert*, his account of the immense observatory of the Bramins at Benares — lviii. 458
- Bakker*, a Dutch divine, punished by his brethren for writing against the devil — xxxi. 489
- Balaam*, his surprising adventure explained — ix. 325, 328
- History of, extraordinary in all its parts — xiii. 408
- Explained and vindicated — xiii. 408
- A solution of the difficulties concerning the ass proposed — xiii. 410, 414
- Balambangan*, in the East Indies, some account of — li. 481
- Balance*, Ludlam's new invented — xxxv. 385
- Balance of power*, origin of — vi. 294
- Necessary to be kept up in Europe — xv. 212
- No new project but as old as Queen Elizabeth's time — xv. 214
- Balance of trade* in Spain — v. 162
- What in the reign of Edward III. — xii. 88
- Balbec*, its situation described — xviii. 61
- Its founder unknown — xviii. 61
- Balin* (a monarch of the East Indies), his taste for the polite arts — xl. 239
- Ball, Dr.* a detection of several unacknowledged passages in his practice of physic, taken from Dr. Shaw — xxii. 130
- Ball*, a religious one given by the Christians of Malabar to amuse their Archbishop — xxix. 93
- Ball of fire*, M. le Roy's observations on a ball of fire seen in France — lii. 622
- Ballard, Mr.* his verses on the birth of the Prince of Wales, in the Oxford collection, commended — xxviii. 22
- Ballot*, on the massacre of Paris — xxxvii. 110
- Ballister instrument*, a memoir on — lxx. 499
- Balloon, Air*, Described, with experiments made in France — lxix. 551
- Montgolfier's invention of — lxix. 552
- Experiments with — lxix. 553, 556
- Robert, Mr. joins Mr. Charles in experiments with the air balloons — lxix. 553

- Balloon, Air*, M. P. Rozier's and the Marquis d'Arlandes journey in one — — — — — lxix. 556
- Ascends with him, and they make a voyage of twenty-seven miles — — — — — lxix. 558
- Critical remarks on — — — — — lxix. 561, 593
- Original papers in the Monthly Review on — — — — — lxx. 223, 404
- M. Rozier's voyage — — — — — lxx. 224
- Construction and experiments, by Zimmerman — — — — — lxx. 408
- Account of the ascent of Morveau and Bertrand — — — — — lxx. 414
- Balmerino, Lord*, Tyrannical proceedings of Charles Ist. against him — — — — — xxxii. 225
- Balton, a painter*, remarkable story of — — — — — xliii. 26
- Bandinelli Ubaldino*, remarkable observations of — — — — — li. 116
- Banf John*, account of — — — — — lii. 202
- Banishment of Cicero*, the scene in a tragedy — — — — — xxiv. 396
- Banks*, beneficial institutions — — — — — xviii. 456
- Hurtful to private credit — — — — — xviii. 468
- Proposal for a national one — — — — — xxviii. 179
- Whether beneficial or hurtful to commerce — — — — — l. 442
- and paper circulation, observations on the nature and effects of — — — — — liv. 457
- and paper credit, nature of, with their good and bad effects discussed — — — — — lxii. 558
- Bank of Amsterdam*, account of — — — — — lxii. 559
- Bank of England*, account of — — — — — lxii. 560
- Its original constitution, and annual profits — — — — — viii. 419
- The method of transacting business there — — — — — ix. 119, 121
- Its constitution — — — — — ix. 122
- Why preferable to other banks — — — — — ix. 123
- Reasons for dissolving it — — — — — xxviii. 181
- Its great loss by the national coinage — — — — — xlv. 244
- Banks Sir Joseph*, Embarks with Capt. Cook for discoveries in the South Seas — — — — — xlix. 479
- I in great danger at Terra del Fuego — — — — — xlix. 481
- His transactions at Otaheite — — — — — xlix. 484, 488
- Feigned poetical epistle to, from Queen Oberca — — — — — xlix. 503
- His description of Staffa — — — — — li. 454
- Banking rivers*, use of furze in — — — — — xxvii. 328
- Banks of rivers*, best methods of securing — — — — — lvii. 434
- Bannatyne George*, his ancient Scottish poems — — — — — xlv. 42
- Bannockburn*, battle of, described — — — — — lix. 49
- Banquet of Plato*, characters of the speakers in that dialogue — — — — — xxvi. 196
- Banyans*, Instance of their wives burning themselves, with the circumstances — — — — — lxvii. 418
- Baptism of infants*, church office for censured — — — — — i. 204
- A gross imposition — — — — — iv. 109
- Not to be vindicated by the practice of circumcision — — — — — iv. 111
- Dipping not the only scriptural and primitive manner of — — — — — v. 521
- Baptism*,

Baptism of the Holy Ghost, and of fire, not the true Christian baptism

	xiii.	479
— Instituted by Christ, different from that of John	xvi.	299
— Infants proper subjects of it	xvi.	300
— Its nature and end	xix.	414
— Whether necessary to be administered to dying infants	xxiii.	415
— Infants not proper subjects for it	xxv.	238
— Shandyan	xxix.	474
— Of Jesus Christ, enquiry into the end and design of	xxx.	82
— The duty, circumstances, and benefits of, investigated	xliv.	432
— Farther observations on the subject	xliv.	499
— Benefit of, discussed	xliv.	142
— Opinions relative to	lxix.	96
Barbadoes. Description of its appearance from the sea	xxi.	425
— Computation of the quantity of rain there	xxi.	371
— Disorders most prevalent there	xxi.	372
— Government of, described	xxxix.	14
— Climate, soil, and trade of,	xxxix.	16
Barbarini , the celebrated dancer, her extravagant appointment at the court of Berlin	lxx.	580
Barbarity. Religious, in America	xxii.	207
Barbarossa , his history	iii.	82, 301
Barbary States. Wretched government of	xxiv.	43
Barbauld, Mrs. Poetical compliment to	lxvii.	32
Barber, Mrs. Her account of Mrs. Grierson	viii.	132
Barbers. An oration, recommending the establishment of them into a company	xxiv.	412
Barcelona. Account of the royal academy there	xx.	48
Barclay the quaker , his sentiments of human learning	xxxii.	196
Barclay's ship of fools , character of, with specimens	lix.	321
Bards. Legislative, of ancient Greece	xxix.	82
— The first singers, actors and dancers	xxix.	87
— Gaulish and British bards, account of	xxix.	91
— Two modern ones in Scotland	xxix.	92
— Not legislators, as asserted by Dr. Brown	xxx.	128
— Weighed against a lord	xxxi.	273
— Account of the Irish	xxxviii.	476
— Orders and degrees of the Welsh	lx.	36
Barb-Bones , the apothecary, his distress and scheme for relief	xxvi.	155
— Extracts from his translation of Homer	xxvi.	155
Baroges , virtue of the baths there,	xxxi.	196
— Some particulars in Dr. Meighan's account of that place contradicted	xxxi.	200
— Enquiry into the cures performed by its mineral waters	liii.	432
Baretti , his voyage to discover the N. E. passage	lii.	121
Baretti, Sig. his frustra litteraria , contrasted with his account of Italy	xxxix.	320

Barretti, Sig. The different accounts reconciled	xxxix.	321
— His journey to Lisbon	xlili.	219
— His description of Portugal	xlili.	220
— Sets out for Spain	xlili.	222
— His account of Toledo and of Madrid	xlili.	225
— Of the literature of Spain	xlili.	295
— Of the ladies, and their cortejo's	xlili.	299
— Of the present king, his court, family, amusements, &c.	xlili.	301
— Of their marriages	xlili.	386
— Of their sheep and shepherds	xlili.	387
— Of Barcelona	xlili.	390
Barford, Mr. His verses on the peace, in the Cambridge collection	xxix.	42
Barillon, Mous. His letters to Lewis the XIV. concerning his negotiations in England	xliv.	1
— His conduct suspicious	xliv.	10
Bark, Peruvian. Used in tertians with success	v.	219
— Cure of a suppression of urine, by	xvi.	549
— Recommended in scrophulous cases, by Dr. Fordyce	xvi.	553
— By Dr. Fothergill	xvi.	555
— Description and virtues of	xxv.	485
— How it communicates its properties on infusion in various liquors	xxv.	488
— Cases of the internal use of	xxvii.	103
— The success of, in scrophulous cases	xxvii.	104
— By whom first introduced into practice here, and for what disorders	xxviii.	55
— Experiments relating to the fermentation of	xxxi.	291
— Dr. Lee's experiments on	xxxvii.	374
— Dr. Heberden's remarks on	xxxix.	41
— Use of, in the cure of the ague	xxxix.	434
— Its natural and medical history	xxxix.	531
— The use of in dysenteries, &c.	xlvi.	183
— Decoction of preferred to the simple powder, and the extract, in the cure of fevers	xlvi.	545
— Account of the tree	lviii.	459
— The best remedy for the putrid and ulcerous sore throat	lxi.	30
— Asserted to be a compound of fixed air	lxiv.	532
— Superior efficacy of the red sort	lxvii.	297
Bark of Elm. Medical efficacy of	xlvi.	260
Bark of willow. A cure for the ague	xxxi.	215
Bark in tanning. An expedient for supplying the want of	xxix.	483
Barley. On the small Indian	lxx.	522
Barley ramified. Experiments relating to	xlvi.	498
— Siberian. How introduced into England	xlvi.	396
— Great fecundity	xlvi.	396
— Great advantages of cultivating that kind	lvi.	561
— Experiments relative to the culture of	lxiv.	420
Barman alphabet	lvi.	221
Barnard,

- Barnard, Sir John.* His opinion that the trade of Ireland ought not to be restricted — — — xxxvii. 278
- Barnard, D.* His orbis eruditi literatura, &c. what editions of — — — xxxii. 198
- Method for the removal of ships stranded — — — lxiv. 270
- Barnveldt* (grand pensionary of Holland) his conduct with respect to the Gomarists and Arminians — — — x. 85
- His imprisonment and death on that account — — — x. 87
- Cruelly put to death. — — — xvii. 353
- Barometer.* Cause of its rising and falling — — — xv. 366
- Description of a new — — — xxvii. 425
- Observations on — — — xxxvi. 559
- New experiments on — — — xlvi. 683
- History and description of the various sorts of — — — xlviii. 577
- Great improvements in — — — xlviii. 580
- Researches into the properties of the — — — xlix. 579
- Rules for measuring heights by the — — — li. 377
- On measuring heights by the — — — li. 379
- Observations on the variations of — — — liii. 556—lv. 492
- Previous signs of the rising or falling of — — — lv. 521
- Examination of de Luc's rules for measuring the height of mountains — — — lviii. 456
- Rules for measuring the height — — — lviii. 457
- Sir G. Shuckburgh's rules for measuring heights — — — lxii. 37
- New improvements in — — — lxiii. 498
- Observations on a particular variation of — — — lxiv. 505
- A new kind of — — — lxx. 490
- Barometrical* observations in the mines of Hartz — — — lviii. 455
- Baronius.* His opinion of the scriptures — — — iv. 73
- Barrington, Hon. D.* Account of some fish in Wales — — — xxxix. 421
- Investigation of the difference between the past and present temperature of the air of Italy, &c. — — — xlii. 110
- Mistake of his, rectified — — — xlii. 111
- Observations on the Welsh castles — — — xliii. 358
- Miscellanea sacra, republished — — — xlvii. 441
- Additions to, — — — xlvii. 442
- Character of the author — — — xlvii. 445
- Controversy with Dr. Ducarel, concerning chestnut trees — — — xlviii. 113
- Account of the method of keeping carp alive out of the water — — — xlviii. 118
- Experiment to ascertain the different quantities of rain which fell at the same time, at different heights — — — xlviii. 224
- Two letters on Cæsar's invasion of Britain — — — xlix. 256
- Essay on the periodical appearance of birds — — — l. 283
- On the distinguishing qualities of the rabbit and hare — — — l. 285
- Experiments on the singing of birds — — — li. 226
- Correction of some mistakes in ornithology — — — li. 230
- Account of the gillaroo trout — — — li. 376
- Account of two Welsh musical instruments — — — liii. 414
- Barrington,*

- Barrington, Hon. D.* Of the remains of the ancient Cornish language
 — Exposition of the word Lavant — liii. 497
 — Account of the remains of the Cornish language lxii. 108
 — Explanation of a passage in the book of Genesis lxii. 111
 — Enquiry into the antiquity of clocks — lxii. 281
 — Conjectures relative to certain remains of vitrified walls in Scotland — lxx. 265
Barron, Richard. Edition of the cordial for low spirits iii. 464
 — His zeal for the political writings of Milton, xiv. 334
 — Sketch of his character — xlv. 336
Barrows, amazing ones discovered by the Russians, in a desert
 — — — — — xlix. 258
 — Opened in Derbyshire, &c. — — — liii. 497
Barthelemy, Abbé. Observations on the antiquities of Italy xxix. 518
 — Reflections on the resemblance between the Egyptian, Phœnician, and Greek languages — xxxix. 517
 — Remarks of, on the Athenian theatre — lxi. 527
Bartram, Isaac. His account of the distillation of Perfumers
 — — — — — xlvii. 344
 — Baths, magnificent ones of the Romans described xlvii. 336
Bartram, Moses. Some account of — — — xxxv. 467
 — His observations on wasps — — — xxxi. 208
 — His letter concerning a remarkable Aurora Borealis xxix. 144
 — His observations on the silk worms of America xlvii. 344
Barwell, Mr. his intrigue with Mrs. Thompson lxiii. 125
Basaltes, origin and nature of — — — lii. 619—lxi. 498
 — of the ancients, inquiry concerning — — — lxi. 499
Basaltic columns in Italy described — — — liv. 27
 — Discovered in the Venetian state — — — liv. 28
Basso-relieves, of fictitious alabaster — — — lv. 391
Basfards. Tenderness of the Scottish law concerning them
 — — — — — xxiii. 194
Bastille, dreadful situation of prisoners in, when sick lxx. 44
Batavia, climate of, its malignancy — — — xxxix. 347
 — Their wars with the Romans, — — — xliii. 549
 — Society of arts and sciences established at lxxv. 540
 — Memoirs of the society lxxv. 540
Batchelors, &c. Proposals for a tax upon them xvii. 472
 — Invektive against — — — xlviii. 547
Bates, Mr. His verses in the Cambridge collection on the peace
 — — — — — xxix. 39
Bate, Julius, an adept in the Hutchinsonian philosophy iii. 22
 — Original sin, the fall of Adam accounted for, and a glorious display of divine wisdom and goodness — — — vi. 224
Bath, Earl of. Justification of — — — v. 256
 — His character — — — li. 32, 52
Bath Society, for the encouragement of agriculture, &c. their rules and orders commended — — — lxiii. 70
Bathing. Its good effects — — — ii. 51
Bathing.

Bathing , Warm, justified in gouty cafes	v. 361
— Its power	v. 363
— The ancient use of, in phytic	vi. 319
— Warm, practised by the ancients in critical diseases	xv. 204
— Recommended by some moderns	xv. 204
— Warm, in paralytic cafes recommended	xlii. 350
— Curious account of the method of, in the Turkish bagnios at Scio	liv. 173
Baths , the astonishing use of, in Asia	xl. 588
— The royal Baths of Aquì, described	lix. 454
— of Bath. Prejudicial in a palsy	v. 199
— of Bath their constituent principles	x. 110
— Artificial Bath water, how made	x. 111
— of Bath, and Aix la Chapelle water, the difference between	xv. 207
— of Bath and Bristol, the difference between	xv. 207
— of Bath, alledged contents of the waters	xvii. 164
— Peculiar properties supposed in the salts of	xvii. 164
— Some directions for the use of	xvii. 167
— of Bath, cures effected by	xxix. 346
— of Bath, controversy concerning, between Drs. Lucas and Sutherland	xxxii. 71
— Droll verses relating to	xxxiv. 468, 472
— The bathing there humorously described	xxxiv. 470
— of Bath, recommended in palsies	xlii. 350
— of Bath. Contents of the water chemically ascertained	xliii. 432
— Poetical amusements at Bath	lii. 457
— Waters in common use, observation on, by Dr. Falconer	lv. 61
— Medicinal experiments on	lv. 61
— Peculiar customs of, grievous to the company	lix. 122
— of Cairo, utility of,	lxx. 255
— Roman described	xlvi. 336
— of Titus described	lvi. 222
Batburst , Lord, his humorous advice to Swift	xxxv. 134
— Humorous letter to Dean Swift	xxxix. 546
Batburst , Ralph, his birth and education	xxiv. 406
— Takes orders	xxiv. 406
— Reasons for relinquishing the study of divinity, and applying to phytic	xxiv. 407
— His medical practice and qualifications	xxiv. 407
— Resumes his ministerial function	xxiv. 408
— Is concerned in establishing the Royal Society	xxiv. 409
— His character and death	xxiv. 409
— Entertaining letter of	xxiv. 409
— Character of his remains	xxiv. 411
— His oration for the barbers	xxiv. 412
Battacks , a Russian punishment described	xxiii. 402
Battara , Abbot, his practical agriculture	lix. 454
Battering —

- Battering-ram* used by Sir Christopher Wren in demolishing the old cathedral of St. Paul's — iii. 95
- Battles*. Military observations on several, in modern wars xliv. 273
- Essay on — — — lvi. 388
- Account of trial by — — — lvii. 352
- Of the briefs — — — v. 523
- Of St. Quentin described — — — xxiii. 321
- Burlesque description of — — — l. 535
- Baudeau*. les oeconomies royales de Sully — — — liii. 507
- Bauer*, M. his Memoirs of Walachia — — — lxi. 304
- Baur*, General. Anecdote of his remarkable discovery of his family connections — — — lxvii. 411
- Bawdy houses*, low and mean ones only, to be suppressed xxviii. 405
- Baxter*, Mr. Several of his MSS. published lxii. 58
- Bayeux*, curious piece of historical needlework there xxvii. 195
- Bayle* compiled his dictionary for the sake of the notes xiv. 199
- Bayonet*, inconveniences and defects of, compared with the pike xxi. 326
- Bay Salt*, several ways of making it in England ii. 172
- Bays*, deputy of Amsterdam, character of xvi. 491
- Bazin*, Abbé, his supplement to the philosophical history, defended by his nephew — — — xxxvii. 498
- A fictitious name — — — xxxvi. 566
- Beams of timber*, their strength as the cubes of their depth xi. 492
- May be supposed so large as not to bear their own weight xi. 492
- In what form they will equally resist in all their parts xi. 495
- Bear the cock*, a fable — — — xxiv. 155
- Hunting, ceremonies of, among the Laplanders x. 487
- Superstitious regard paid them — — — x. 488
- Beards*, commotions in France to preserve xx. 460
- Beast*, the last war of, an allegory — — — xviii. 541
- in the Revelations, his number made out xxii. 526
- Beattie*, Dr. his essay on truth attacked xlix. 49—lii. 295
- His controversy with David Hume lvi. 410
- Bean*, never well dressed, and why — — — ix. 467
- Story of a French — — — xxxv. 353
- Beaulerc*, Lady Diana. Her drawings and bas-reliefs praised lxiv. 131, 132
- Beaufort*, Cardi. Hollingshed's account of his death-scene lxx. 16
- Beaumarvais*, M. possessed of Voltaire's original memoirs of his own life — — — lxx. 575
- Beaumont*, Christopher (Archbishop of Paris), his attack of Rousseau, on account of his Emilius — — — xxviii. 224
- Beaumont and Fletcher*, their rank in the dramatic walk lxii. 417
- Compared with Shakespeare — — — lxii. 418
- The several editions of their works lxii. 423
- Beauty*, what — — — vi. 227
- To assert there is no real beauty in nature absurd x. 101
- The fundamental principles of eloquence and beauty x. 101
- Beauty*.

Beauty. Our ideas of, whence derived	—	xvi.	478
— Moral and material, their combinations	—	xix.	538
— Plato's definition of	—	xxi.	425
— Difference in rank, no obstacle to its power	—	xxvi.	421
— Rather to be avoided than covered in matrimony	—	xxviii.	95
— Superiority of the Greeks in this respect	—	xxxii.	457
— Nature of, defined and explained	—	xxxv.	561
— True nature of	—	xl.	512
— Definitions of	—	lxvi.	527
— Of the human face defined and analysed	—	lviii.	445
— In literary composition considered	—	liii.	552
— Moral, what	—	vii.	44
Beauxville, M. His letter to the reviewers	—	lxiv.	320
Beaver, resemblance of that animal to man, in his social capacity	—	xliv.	323
Buccaria, Sig. Anecdotes relating to	—	xl.	167
— Electrical experiments	—	xlvi.	428
— Experiments on phosphorus	—	xlvi.	226
Buccatelli, Panegyrist of Cardinal Pole, account of	—	xxxiv.	296
Beck, David. Singular adventures of	—	xlvi.	26
— Farther account of	—	xlvi.	27
Becket, Thomas. Reflections on his murder	—	xxv.	410
— His character	—	xxxviii.	50
— His worthless character	—	xliv.	569
Beckman, M. His historical account of alum	—	lxvii.	482
— Of a lacca, composed from madder, &c.	—	lxvii.	488
— Experiments on dying cotton	—	lxix.	250
Bede characterised	—	xv.	583
Beds particularly constructed by the ancient physicians for the accommodation of their patients	—	lv.	310, 490
Bech mast oil, recommended to supply the place of the oil of olives	—	xliv.	537
Beef Eaters. Derivation of	—	lx.	259
Beef Tea ; or, infusion of beef, how made	—	xxi.	416
Beer, supposed to be meant in scripture by strong drink	—	xix.	478
Beer's Isle. Its discovery	—	lxiii.	2
Bees. A common error in the management of	—	xiv.	450
— Absurd cruelty of the vulgar method of managing	—	xxviii.	187
— Mr. White's method recommended	—	xxviii.	494
— Hint relating to the situation of their hives,	—	xxxii.	86
— Usual number of, in each hive	—	xxxv.	21
— Best method of managing	—	xxxix.	107
— Mr. Wildman's account of taming them	—	xxxix.	109
— Natural history of the queen of	—	xlvi.	563
— Method of producing queens at pleasure	—	xlvi.	563
— Curious experiments on	—	xlvi.	565
— Virgins, and yet breeders	—	xlvi.	570
— Discoveries relative to the sex and propagation of	—	lviii.	1
— Best methods of cultivating	—	lviii.	54
— Attention to, recommended	—	lviii.	55
— On the management of bee-hives	—	lix.	460

Bees . The nature and oeconomy of	—	lxiv. 528
— Account of the management of, in America		lxvii. 140
— On the minimum of the wax in the cells of		lxx. 499
Bee-hives Egyptian , their structure	—	xxxiv. 269
Bega, Cornelius , (the painter) particulars relating to		xlvi. 27
Beggars, Common . Folly of giving to them	—	i. 457
— Remarkable story of an Algerine	—	iii. 421
— Abomination of	—	xi. 58
— Swift's scheme for badging them	—	xi. 58
— The reproach and ruin of every country		xi. 132
— Sentiments of Erasmus and Seneca upon	xix.	391, 392
— An apology for	—	xxv. 252
— Observations on, and method to prevent begging	xxx.	289
Beggar's Opera . An observation relative to the author of	xvii.	592
Behaviour , a propriety in, how estimated	—	xxi. 16
— Advice on the negligence of	—	i. 261
— Polite, and the contrary exemplified	—	lii. 115
Behmen, Jacob . His life	—	xxxii. 443
— Specimen of the nonsensical jargon of his followers	xliv.	80
— Specimen of his wonderful reveries	—	xlvi. 400
— His wonderful writings	—	lxix. 519
— Memoirs of his life	—	lxiii. 523
— His death	—	lxiii. 525
— Specimen of his pantheistic doctrine	—	lxvii. 347
— Baxter's opinions of his writings	—	lxvii. 348
Belatucader , a local deity of the ancient Britons	—	liii. 416
Belem , (in Portugal) description of	—	xxiv. 120
Belemnita , a critical dissertation on	—	iv. 54
— A new hypothesis of	—	xiii. 429
Belgrade, battle of . Remarkable circumstances attending	—	lxiii. 422
Belhaven, Lord . Anecdote of his returning to life	—	lvii. 373
Belief . Incomprehensibilities not proper subjects of it	—	xviii. 152
Belin, Claude . His voyage to Brussels	—	lxiv. 518
Belisarius, General . His rise and character	—	xlvi. 581
— A slave to his wife	—	xlvi. 581
— His exploits in Italy	—	xlvi. 582
— His military exploits in Italy	—	xlvi. 97
— His wretched subjection to his wife	—	xlvi. 100
— Farther particulars of his history	—	xliv. 101, 103
Bell, Mr . His four letters to Gale, on the horologia of the ancients		lxx. 258
Bella Dona . Fatal effects of eating that plant	—	xxix. 485
Belle Lettres and philosophy. The union between	—	lii. 570
Belleisle , ancient names and distinctions of	—	xxiv. 437
Bells antiquity of their use in churches, &c.	—	liii. 235
Belly-ache . Observations of the dry	—	xxxix. 38
Belus , who	—	vii. 84
Ben-al-betif . His curious oration on the absurdity of mortals in ascribing glory to God	—	xlvi. 534
Bencoolen ,

Bencoolen. Climate of, fatal to the health of the Eng. &c.	xxxix.	344
Bender. Relation of the siege of	xxiv.	6
Bendish, Mrs. Bridget. Her extraordinary character	xlvi.	29
Benedict, Saint. His history	xxxvii.	553
Benefice, Ecclesiastic. The term explained	xxix.	169
Beneficence. Essay on	xlvi.	674
Benevolence. Prudence of cultivating	iv.	535
— Universal, accounted for	v.	139
— A natural disposition	v.	245
— Implanted in the human heart	v.	252
— Whence derived	viii.	2
— The source of true religion	viii.	4
— Its consistence with the pursuit of private happiness	viii.	364
— The disposition which gives the highest approbation	xiii.	103
— To the animal creation recommended	xvi.	337
— Philosophically described	xxxvi.	266
— Advantages of	xli.	121
Bene-seed oil. Manufacture of, in Pennsylvania, recommended.	xlvi.	345
Bengal. Climate of, hurtful to European constitutions	xxxix.	345
— Further accounts of its heat, and unhealthiness	xxxix.	421
— State of the English affairs there when Lord Clive left the East Indies	xxx.	247
— And when Mr. Vansittart became governor of Bengal	xxx.	248
— Fever, account of that which raged there in 1762	xlvi.	602
— Revolutions in that country	xlvi.	355
— Ruinous state of, under the English East India Company	xlvi.	356
— Extent of, and vast number of inhabitants	xlvi.	357
— Plan for restoring it to its former prosperity	xlvi.	358
— Climate and customs of, incompatible with English modes of government	xlvi.	88
— Necessity of our studying the language of	lxii.	342
— An Englishman's day, how commonly spent there	lxvii.	252
— Different account of the same	lxvii.	257
Benjamin. Account of the war between that tribe and the eleven vindicated	ix.	328
Benlow, Mrs. Her history	xiii.	135
Benlowes. His prints of the dresses of gentlemen and ladies in the last century	xli.	214
Bennet, William. His verses in the Cambridge collection in pacem	xxix.	41
Bennet, Mr. His sarcastical remark in the House of Commons, on the royal partiality to a Scotch minister in the reign of Charles II.	xxviii.	193
Benjon, Dr. His new interpretation of 1 Cor. xv. 19. If in this life, &c.	xxxi.	88
Bentley, Richard. Letter concerning Barnes's Homer	xiv.	203
— A rough criticiser of Milton, and no poet	xv.	654
— Account of	lxviii.	143
	Bentley,

- Bentley and Wedgwood*, their curious inventions and improvements in the manufacture of British porcelain, &c. xlviii. 497
- Bentley, Mr.* His masterly sketch of the character of Brindley the celebrated mechanic — lxiii. 94, 96
- Bender.* Fabricius's relation of Charles XII. his siege of xxiv. 6
- Benson, Auditor.* His life — — lxvii. 337
- Beerton Mr.* His account of the ancient hall belonging to the Gatakers of Shropshire — — liii. 416
- His extracts from an ancient MSS. — — liii. 418
- His account of the seal of queen Henrietta Maria lxii. 274
- Bergen-op-zoom.* Account of the siege of xxi. 228
- Bergrap*, in Norway, what — — xii. 452
- Berger, Dr.* His invention of an universal language lxvii. 542
- Bergier, M.* Voltaire's advice to — — xxxix. 574
- Bering, Captain.* His unhappy end — — xxvi. 435
- His voyages to Kamtschatka xxxvi. 512
- Beringer, Mr.* How deceived in regard to some fictitious fossils — — xxxvi. 558
- Unhappy effect of that deception — — xxxvi. 558
- Berith and Elobim.* Dissertation on — — iv. 227
- The Hutchinsonians, not agreed about the radical sense of — — xiii. 201
- Berkeley, Bishop.* Executor to Swift's Vanessa xi. 64
- Memoirs of his life and writings — — xxix. 314
- His amiable character — — xxxiii. 312
- Said to have borrowed his opinion of the non-existence of bodies from the most ancient philosophers xxxv. 545
- Memoirs of his life — — lv. 438
- His dispute with the mathematicians concerning religion — — lv. 440
- His death and excellent character — — lv. 441
- His works — — — — lv. 441
- Berkeley, Sir Wm. Governor of Virginia.* His narrow and biggoted views — — lxiii. 23
- Berlin* enlarged under Frederick William iv. 146
- rapid increase of the populousness in, for the last 60 years xlv. 356
- Royal academy of, begin a new series of memoirs lii. 574
- Ephemeris for 1777 — — liii. 507
- City of, its late great increase both in houses and population lv. 553
- Number of houses and inhabitants — — lv. 554
- Pieces relating to medicine and natural history in the memoirs lix. 459
- Bern.* Persecution raised in that city against the author of a treatise on the abuse of oaths — — xxxiv. 547
- Magistrates of, censured for their cruel persecution of Mr. Herport — — xxxix. 192
- Bernard, M.* His poetry commended — — lii. 639
- Bernard,*

Bernard, Governor , becomes unpopular at Boston, through his great zeal for court measures	—	xli. 398
— His letters to the ministry censured	—	xli. 468
Bernier, M. his philosophy defended	—	xxiii. 20
— His invention of a boat that will not sink	—	liii. 545
Bernini , his statue of David criticised	—	xlii. 479
Berthold, Dom. his account of the public library of the abbey at St. Vincent	—	lxiv. 517
— Concerning the voyage of Claude Belin	—	lxiv. 518
Bertholm's dissertation on the electricity of the human body	—	lxiv. 463
Bertholdsdorf , the first settlement of the Moravians	—	viii. 482
Beriboud, M. particular investigation of his marine clocks	l. 556,	566
— His time-keepers tried at sea	—	lx. 154
— Their accuracy and utility	—	lx. 154
— His time-keepers for the discov. of the longitude	lxiii. 199,	201
Berthoune, F. de la , his works	—	lvii. 476
Bertier, M. his history of the first periods of the world	—	lix. 299
Bisack's collection of dissertations	—	liii. 179
Besseron, Cardinal ; life of	—	lviii. 298
Biblehem , present state of that place	—	xxxiv. 142
— (as mentioned Matt. ii. 6.) critically explained	—	lvi. 195
Bash Thoughtless , character of	—	v. 394
Batesworth, Sergeant , his quarrel with Swift	—	xxxiii. 314
Bating , the highest article of modern pleasure	—	iv. 331
Bazzy, M. his account of plans of education, laws, &c. founded by the Empress of Russia	—	lii. 342
Beaton, M. his method of curing the bite of mad animals	—	lxvii. 560
Bexou, Abbé , his history of Lorrain	—	lvi. 387
Bezon, M. engaged with Mess. Lavoisier and Vandermonde, in thermomet. experiments	—	lxvi. 499
Bezzzi , account of the two brothers of that name	—	xliv. 163
Bianca, grand-duchess of Tuscany , her remarkable story	—	xl. 580
Bible , the necessity of a new translation of	i. 199—ii.	132
— Its excellency	—	ii. 347
— Old and new testament compared to the two Cherubims	—	ii. 347
— The septuagint well known to the Hebrews	—	ii. 388
— Canon of, very early settled	—	iv. 23
— Contemned by free-thinkers	—	iv. 26
— Superstitious additions to the gospels	—	iv. 41
— St. Augustin's opinion of the scriptures	—	iv. 73
— St. Jerome's opinion	—	iv. 73
— Its authenticity asserted	—	iv. 85
— Reflections concerning interpretations	—	iv. 95
— Contains a rational system of theology	—	iv. 348
— The text of St. Paul to the Thessalonians explained	—	v. 404
— Study of the Greek Testament recommended	—	v. 405
— Credibility of the Old Testament established by the New	vi. 286
— The doctrinal parts of the Old Testament more authentic than the historical	—	vi. 286
— Observ. on the general language of the New Testament	vi. 362

Bible, the difference of the chronology of the Hebrew and Septuagint

- Corruptions of the Samaritan Hebrew text vii. 5
- Account of an Hebrew Bible printing at Paris vii. 6
- Lord Bolingbroke endeavours to overturn its authority vii. 110
- The argument of St. Paul's epistle to the Romans vii. 358
- Evidences of its truth and authenticity viii. 413
- Prejudices of Jews and Christians in favour of the present Hebrew copies viii. 116
- MSS. copies of the Hebrew Bible in the Bodleian library collected viii. 247
- Hebrew text vindicated viii. 250
- Proposal to yield the Old Testament to infidels, in order to defend christianity by the New ix. 133
- St. Augustine's account and testimony of the scriptures ix. 242
- Objections against the Divine original of the Old Testament ix. 305
- The whole tenor of the scriptures said to be such as no man can believe their divine original x. 264
- The sublimest passages said to be equalled by Mahometan and Pagan writers x. 267
- Prejudices against the gospel examined x. 268
- The directory and standard of our faith x. 411
- Calculated to promote the civil as well as religious liberties of mankind xi. 253
- The book of Genesis received by inspiration, and written by Moses whilst in the wilderness of Sinai xii. 40
- Canonical books of the New Testament at the Council of Laodicea the same as at present, except the book of Revelations xii. 264
- The books of the New Testament acknowledged by every act of christians as the genuine writings of the apostles xiii. 10
- New Testament considered as the rule and standard of christianity before it received the authority of the church xiii. 10
- Evidences of the truth of the New Testament xiii. 11
- New Testament acknowledged by the ancient enemies of christians xiii. 12
- St. Paul, author of the epistles to the Hebrews xiii. 14
- St. Jerome's opinion of the author of the epistle to the Romans xiii. 226
- Remarks on the double sense frequently ascribed to it xiii. 226
- Comment on 2 Kings xiii. 229
- Masoretical text not always right xiv. 26
- Advantages of studying it xiv. 249
- Highly preferable to the philosophy of Greece and Rome xv. 500
- No books of the New Testament lost xv. 500
- Story concerning Tindal's translation of the New Testament xvii. 405
- The bad effects of doctrines built upon particular texts xix. 393

Bible,

Bible , arguments made use of at the reformation, for and against a new translation	—	xx. 355
— Probable causes of the various readings	—	xxi. 285
— When subdivided into chapters and verses	—	xxi. 287
— Marks of its divine authenticity	—	xxi. 288
— Expediency of correcting the text of the Old Testament	—	xxii. 10
— Samaritan Pentateuch superior to the Hebrew text	—	xxiii. 11
— Chaldee paraphrase examined	—	xxiii. 12
— Hebrew numerals, how expressed	—	xxiii. 13
— Number of letters in the Hebrew Bible estimated	—	xxiii. 15
— Instances of variations in the different versions	—	xxiii. 17, 21
— Authority of the Septuagint translation vindicated	—	xxiii. 139
— Exposition of an obscure text in St. Paul's epistles	—	xxvi. 410
— Injured by too close a translation	—	xxv. 33
— Rules for interpreting it	—	xxv. 191
— Early and frequently corrupted	—	xxv. 298
— Opinions on the antiquity of the Syriac versions	—	xxv. 299
— Style and language of the New Testament defended	—	xxvii. 374
— Defects, no objection to divine inspiration	—	xxvii. 375
— Barbarity of, deemed by Dr. Middleton as a sure mark of imposture	—	xxvii. 375
— Septuagint Greek version erroneous	—	xxviii. 430
— Miscellaneous text uncorrupted	—	xxviii. 441
— Great objections to a just translation of the Old Testament from the Hebrew MSS.	—	xxix. 294
— Specimen of a new translation	—	xxix. 294
— Periodical annotators censured	—	xxx. 44
— Divers passages in the New Testament new translated	—	xxx. 297
— State of the text of the ancient MSS.	—	xxxi. 401
— Originally written without any divisions of chapters and verses	—	xxxi. 401
— When divided into sections	—	xxxi. 402
— When divided into chapters and verses	—	xxxi. 404
— Mr. Wynn's method of dividing and pointing	—	xxxi. 405
— Compilers of the New Testament said to be unknown	—	xxxii. 175
— Divine authority of the New Testament, how far uncertain	—	xxxii. 175
— The moral parts of the New Testament only of concern to mankind	—	xxxii. 178
— Account of Purver's translation	—	xxxii. 200
— Account of Wicliff's translation	—	xxxii. 381
— A popular work	—	xxxiv. 202
— Its unconnected parts united in one plan	—	xxxiv. 203
— Catchpenny commentators severely censured	—	xxxiv. 314
— Critical explanation of 1 Cor. v. 29	—	xxxiv. 448
— New translation of the New Testament	—	xxxviii. 225
— New version of Acts xxvi	—	xxxviii. 219
— New explanation of Sam. vi. 19	—	xxxviii. 283
— Controversy relating to the vulgate translation	—	xxxviii. 295
— The Pope's bull in favour of the vulgate translation	—	xxxviii. 298

Bible , historical account of the several editions in Welch xxxviii.	326
— Debates on freedom of criticism —	xl. 272
— Septuagint version of the Old Testament, corrupted both by Jews and Christians —	xliv. 1
— The original rectitude of the septuagint version —	xliv. 2
— Septuagint version, mentioned by the first preachers of christianity —	xliv. 3
— Septuagint, quoted by St. Matthew —	xliv. 5
— Three other versions mentioned —	xliv. 7
— English version of the septuagint, imperfect —	xliv. 11
— Reasons for a new translation —	xliv. 11
— Specimens of Worsley's translation of the New Testament —	xliv. 13
— Lord Clarendon's observations on some passages —	xliv. 117
— Gross expressions in —	xliv. 529
— Instances of allusions in the New Testament to the customs and usages of nations —	xliv. 248
— Criticisms on some passages in the New Testament —	xlvi. 556
— Method of discovering and removing many corruptions in the Hebrew —	li. 167
— State of Bayley's edition of the Hebrew Bible —	li. 261
— Comment on some passages in 1 Sam. —	li. 270
— Comment on some passages in Hosea —	li. 271
— Specimen of a new version of the Proverbs —	liii. 302
— Illustrated by the knowledge of Eastern manners and customs, with a specimen —	liv. 355
— Kennicott's collation extolled —	lv. 92
— Collection of pieces which throw light on some parts —	lviii. 302
— Gospel of St. John intended as a supplement to the other gospels —	lix. 16
— Exposition of scripture passages alluding to climate, customs, manners, &c. —	lix. 61
— On the genuineness of the revelations to St. John —	lix. 145
— Specimen of the Ambrosian MS. of the Syriac version —	lix. 452
— Rosenmuller's observations on the New Testament —	lix. 458
— Collation of an antient MS. of Genesis —	lx. 76
— Abauzit's objection to the apocalypse answered —	lx. 561
— Philoxenus's Syriac version of the gospels —	lxi. 36
— Greek Testament translated into Syriac, by Polycarp —	lxi. 40
— Account of a valuable MS. of the vulgate —	lxi. 545
— Various passages of our common translation corrected —	lxiv. 87
— Criticisms and illustrations of several texts —	lxiv. 164
— Vindicated against Lord Bolingbroke, &c. —	lxiv. 174
— Corruptions accounted for —	lxiv. 176
— Testimonies in support of —	lxiv. 176, 321
— Specimen of a new translation of 1 Thessalonians —	lxv. 419
— A MS. Greek version of several parts, in St. Mark's library at Venice —	lxv. 510
— Critical conjectures on various passages in the New Testament —	lxvii. 113, 123

Bible. See Gospels. Kennicott, Testament.

- Bibliotheca critica* ————— lviii. 487
Bicetre, prison of; described ————— xxxvi. 109, 198
Bigamy explained ————— lvii. 441
Biggs, Richard, (a gardener at Bath) his attempt to invalidate Warburton's notes on Pope's essay on man ————— xlii. 412
Bigotry, religious, its horrid consequences exemplified in the case of Mr. John Calas ————— xxvii. 388
 — Animated declamation against ————— xxxix. 365
Bigots, void of charity to those who differ from them ————— ii. 4
Bile, the cause and cure of the bilious fever ————— vii. 72
 — Biliary concretions defined ————— xvii. 425
 — Three species of bilious fever at Lausanne, with the indications and method of cure ————— xxiii. 40
 — Experiments on the ————— xlv. 522
 — Enquiries into the nature of ————— xlviii. 554
Bilguer, Monf. Dispute relating to his thesis de membrorum amputatione, &c. ————— xxxviii. 589
 — His notions concerning amputation attacked and defended ————— lxii. 243
Bills of exchange, laws and customs relating to ————— xli. 314
Bill of right, confirmed by Henry II. ————— xxxviii. 49
Bilney, Thomas, converts Mr. Latimer from Popery ————— xiii. 22
 — His good life ————— xlii. 24
Biography, plan of an intended life of Mr. Pope ————— v. 101
 — The use of ————— vii. 24
 — The effect of, on the mind ————— vii. 374
 — Purposes of ————— xvii. 577
 — Unqualified writers of ————— xvii. 578
 — Its great utility ————— xix. 385
 — Defects in, pointed out ————— xix. 386
 — Why the most entertaining part of historical composition ————— xxii. 117
 — Use and importance of biographers ————— xxviii. 30
 — Usual defects of biographers ————— xxviii. 31, 36
 — Hints towards an improved plan for a system of ————— xxviii. 34
 — A new and curious species ————— xxix. 78
 — Narrative of a castrated sheet in the Biographia Britannica ————— xxx. 252
 — Medical ————— lxiii. 380
Birch, Col. his expression in the House of Commons in regard to the Duke of Lauderdale ————— xxviii. 130
 — Palliates the warmth of another member ————— xxviii. 263
 — On King James's abdication ————— xxviii. 415
Birchenslad, Sir John, his speech in the House of Commons on the speaker being a privy counsellor ————— xxviii. 127
Birds, their origin derived from sea animals ————— ii. 48
 — Method of preserving them in cabinets ————— ii. 136
 — Different sorts of them enumerated ————— viii. 19, 20
 — Remarkable in Norway ————— xli. 500
Birds,

Birds , in Iceland, described	xviii.	303
— Some observation on their migration	xx.	323
— A particular method of distinguishing their species	xx.	375
— General remarks on their natural history	xxix.	286
— Account of the lymphatic system in	xlii.	197
— Account of some curious birds in the East Indies	xlii.	219
— The natural planters of trees	xliii.	73
— Curious account of	xliii.	73
— Impossibility of giving a complete natural history of	xliii.	567
— Directions for preserving	xlvi.	185
— Ray's system of the genera of, preferred	xliv.	61
— Mr. Pennant's system explained	xlix.	61
— The periodical appearance of	l.	323
— Observations on the singing of	li.	226
— On some mistakes in the history of	li.	230
— The natural history of	liii.	254
— Memoirs concerning the anatomy of	lxi.	494
— Analogy between their forms and that of the human species	lxi.	494
— Anatomy of	lxv.	141
— Analogy with the human body	lxv.	141
— Their migration	lxv.	301
— Mr. Latham's synopsis of	lxv.	394
— On the anatomy of	lxvii.	492
Births of antediluvian women , at what interval to be reckoned	ii.	504
— Of those immediately after the flood	ii.	506
— An extraordinary birth	lv.	118
Biscari . Prince of, his admirable collection of natural history, &c.	lvi.	383
Discoverers characterized	lxiv.	46
— Pronounced to be the happiest of mankind	lxiv.	48
Bishops flattered by inferior clergymen	iv.	10
— Inexcusable for not removing those offences which create prejudices against christianity	xii.	154
— of London preaches from a horse litter	xv.	520
— Esteemed equal to a king	xv.	581
— Direct the conduct of the judges	xv.	584
— City of London petition against them	xvii.	433
— Waller's speech in their favour	xvii.	433
— Their office, duties, and subordinations	xxix.	261
— Their parliamentary connection and privileges	xxix.	265
— Amazing ignorance and illiterateness of some in the fifteenth century	xxx.	171
— Grandeur of their revenues in former times	xxxi.	217
— Their right to sit in parliament as representatives of the church, asserted	xxxiv.	92
— And as peers of the realm	xxxiv.	98
— Lord Walpole's letter against sending bishops to America	xli.	220
— English, their temporal jurisdiction in former times	xlv.	469
— Their opposition to the dissenters' bill censured	xlix.	89

Bishops, history of their introduct. into the christian church lxix. 101

— See Episcopacy

Bishop of Darian, his cruel policy — iv. 324

Bismuth, flowers of, best method of obtaining — xvii. 394

Bissus of the ancients, account of — liv. 454

Bitaubé, M. His reflections on the marvellous in epic poetry

liii. 543

— His memoirs on national taste — lviii. 529

— His considerations on Homer — lxiv. 504

— On the riches of Sparta — lxx. 505

Bitters, experiments on — xxxviii. 21

Black, various sorts of that colour — xxxiv. 170

— Composition of that produced from iron — xxxiv. 171

— Of black paint with water — xxxiv. 174

— Of Indian ink — xxxiv. 174

— Of dying woollen black — xxxiv. 280

— With galls, logwood, and vitriol — xxxiv. 280

— Dye, with verdigris — xxxiv. 282

— Of dying silk black — xxxiv. 283

— Of linen and cotton — xxxiv. 284

Black, Dr. his experiments on boiling water — liv. 31

Blackburn, Mr. his noble botanic garden — lx. 340

Black-friars bridge, criticism on the inscription on the first stone of

xxiv. 80

Black-lead, its nature and properties, and from whence procured

li. 110

Blacklock, the blind poet, Spence's account of him — xi. 481

— His translation of two discourses from the French of Armand

xxxix. 359

— His observations on the character, offices, &c. of the clergymen

xxxix. 359

Black vomit, account of that disease — iv. 252

Blackmore, Sir Richard, on the miliary fever — iv. 364

— His character as a writer defended — xlviii. 28

— His poetry characterized — lxx. 105

Blackstone, Sir W. vindicates himself from inconsistency — xli. 77

— His prejudice against dissenters — xli. 295

— Animadverted on by Dr. Priestley — xli. 298

— His encomium on the clergy of the established church — xli. 300

— His literary dispute with Sir W. Meredith — xlii. 60

— His objection against a review of our liturgy, drawn from the act of union, answered — xlii. 125

— His encomium on the clergy animadverted on — xlii. 245

— His comment on the act of toleration controverted — xlii. 353

— His notion of heresy disputed — xlii. 355

— His argument against altering the liturgy, drawn from the conditions of the union with Scotland, farther objected to — xlii. 359

— His opinion with respect to the duty and power of juries

xli. 473

Blackstone,

- Blackstone, Sir W.* his opinion in support of the common law-right of literary copies — li. 83
- On the question of perpetuity — li. 88
- His opinion of the sufficiency of the king's revenue li. 347
- His mistake concerning the division of tythings lii. 502
- Memoirs of his life and writings lxviii. 1
- His professional character — lxviii. 10
- Bladder*, account of a humour in the — v. 321
- The motion of — vi. 191
- Urinary disorders incident to — lxviii. 185
- Blagden, Dr.* his experiments in a heated room liv. 25—lv. 121
- His account of the heat of the water in the gulf stream lxviii. 129
- His account of the effects of lightning at Heckingham lxix. 394
- Blair, Dr.* censured for curing a patient i. 314
- Blake, Admiral*, some account of — xviii. 575
- Engages Van Tromp — xviii. 575
- Punishes his brother for bad conduct — xviii. 577
- His death and funeral — xviii. 578
- His person and character described — xviii. 578
- Mr. introduces the art of manufact. Morocco leather into England lii. 557
- Blake, John Bradley*, memoirs of — lxiii. 82
- His extraordinary progress in the pursuit of natural knowledge lxiii. 82
- His lamented death — lxiii. 86
- Blakeney, General*, his conduct at Minorca censured xvii. 246
- Defended — xvii. 247
- Blakeney the soldier*, his severe treatment by his officers xxxviii. 325
- Blair, Dr.* his calculations relative to accidents attending the births of children — lxviii. 130
- Blandford, Marquis of*, complimentary verses to — lxii. 391
- Blank verse*, the defects of — vii. 139
- Preferred to rhyme — lxviii. 145
- Blasphemy and Heresy*, the parliaments ordinance against them in the time of the civil war — xviii. 410
- Statute against, best defender of the Jewish legislator xxviii. 395
- Blanchard, M.* his air-voyages in the aerostatic machine at Paris lxx. 217
- Bleaching*, the whitening grounds at Haerlem described x. 327
- Some observations on — x. 327
- The use of ashes in — xiv. 429
- Bleeding*. See Blood letting.
- Blenheim house* critically described — xxxviii. 223
- Blaton*, his wonderful faculty with respect to the divining rod lxv. 498
- Testimonies of its reality — lxv. 498
- M. Sigaud's testimony — lxv. 503
- Farther account of his natural faculty of discovering springs of water — lxviii. 553

- Blighting of trees*, the cause of — vii. 63
 — Weakly trees most subject to it — — vii. 63
 — Whence proceeding from — — lxii. 356
 — Method of remedying — — lxii. 357
Blindness, poetical complaints of, and reflections on it xi. 483, 484
 — Advice relative to — — lxiv. 457
Blind-worm, bite of, not mortal — — xxix. 140
Blisters, when not useful — — v. 504
 — In what cases improper — — viii. 385
 — Their uses and operations — — xxxviii. 25
 — Observations on the application of them to a particular case xxxviii. 436, 437
Blizard, M. his new method of treating the fistula lachrymalis lxiv. 267
Blomart, his famous print of the resurrection of Lazarus criticised xxxviii. 169
Blomfield, M. Account of his essay towards an history of Norfolk — — lvii. 267
 — His works cut short by his death — — lvii. 269
 — Continued by Mr. Parkin — — lvii. 270
Blond, Abbé le, assists in the description published of the gems in the cabinet of the Duc d'Orleans — — lxiii. 293
Blondel, M. his comparison of Pindar and Horace vamped into English, and published as an original — — xli. 230
Blood, Bristol water good for the acrimony of — — ii. 461
 — The quantity in a human body — — v. 507
 — The effect of vomits on the motion of the — — vii. 314
 — In circulating always changing — — ix. 128
 — Alters greatly when taken from the body — — ix. 128
 — Its circulation through the small vessels, how effected xiv. 331
 — Of a sheep transfused into a human body — — xiv. 423
 — Its globules void of air — — xvii. 124
 — Often change — — xvii. 124
 — Arterial motion of — — xvii. 124
 — The rapidity of its motion from the heart xvii. 125
 — Cause of its motion — — xvii. 126
 — Servetus, the discoverer of the circulation — — xvii. 204
 — How resolved by a chemical analysis — — xxiv. 135
 — Dr. Harvey not the discoverer of the circulation xxxv. 551
 — On the motion of — — xxxvi. 561
 — On the circulation in the liver of a foetus — — xli. 512
 — Its constituent parts — — xlii. 308
 — Hewson's experiments on — — xlii. 422
 — Observations on the lymph — — xlii. 424
 — On stopping of hæmorrhages, &c. — — xlii. 424
 — Observations and discoveries relating to the composition of its globules — — li. 230
 — Hewson's anatomical discoveries — — li. 330
 — Inquiry into the moving powers employed in the circulation of li. 399
Blood,

Blood , Dr. Priestley's observations on the use of the	iv.	413
— Observations and experiments on	lxi.	341, 381
Blood-letting , abuse of	v.	501
— Helmont's argument against	v.	505
— Great caution necessary in the use of	viii.	377- 378
— A plethora not the sole indication	viii.	374
— How far necessary as preparatory to inoculation	x.	121. 123
— Absurd directions for	xv.	423
— Often fatal in lunacy	xvii.	534
— Its advantage in inflammations of membranous parts	xxii.	260
— When beneficial	xxv.	221
— When not beneficial	xxv.	223
— Especially recommended in ardent fevers	xxxiii.	57
— Observations on	xliv.	126
— The lancet more fatal to Englishmen than the sword	xliv.	126
Blood of St. Januarius , the liquefaction of, no bungling trick	xxviii.	219
Blow-pipe , that instrument recommended to the travelling mineralogist	xlvi.	460
— Its use in the examination of mineral substances	lxviii.	175
Boats , curious description of flat-bottomed	xxi.	186
— Invention of one which will not sink	liii.	545
Boback , description of that animal	lxiv.	506
Boccaccio , curious anecdote relating to	xxxix.	557
— Account of his decameron	xxxix.	559
— Apology for	xxxix.	561
Bocage, Madame , her visit to Herculaneum	xlvi.	259
— To Mount Vesuvius	xlvi.	263
Bochart , his Phaleg and Canaan praised	xli.	536
— Strictures on this work	xli.	537
Bocher, Joan , (a zealous fanatic), burnt for her opinions	xxix.	449
Bohary , (the Bible of the Hindoos), account of	xxxix.	380
— Commentary on	xxxix.	381
Body, human , analogy of the uses and structure of	lxv.	139
— Entire 81 years after interment	v.	232
— The close union of body and soul	vi.	472
— A curious abstract of its several parts	ix.	507
— Of its various affections	ix.	510
— Insensible parts of	xiv.	116
— Sensible parts of	xiv.	117
— Unirritable parts of	xiv.	119
— Parts of, seemingly insensible in a natural state, become very sensible when diseased	xiv.	130
— Duration of, in its most perfect state	xiv.	327
— The three surfaces of, explained	xxiii.	144
— Anatomical observ. on the body of his late Majesty	xxvii.	424
— New hypothesis relating to the resurrection of	xxxix.	297
— On the union between body and soul	xi.	570
— Natural history of its divisions and subdivisions	xlii.	308
— On the aeriform emanations from the	lxiv.	494

Bodies, natural, considered, with regard to hardness, smoothness, extension, &c.	—	xxxi.	6
— Organized, their mode of generation	—	xxviii.	524
— Treatise on the properties of	—	lvii.	484
Boerhaave's chemistry defended	—	xi.	307
— His materia medica, why so called	—	xii.	199
— Spurious works attributed to him	—	xii.	200
— His receipts for the rickets	—	xxxvii.	126
— His aphorisms characterized	—	xxxix.	350
— His theory of inflammations	—	xxxix.	350
— Objections to the theory	—	xxxix.	351
— Censured for his recommendations of saffron	—	xlvi.	303
Boetius, his epistle to his wife	—	xxxvii.	292
Bogle, Mr. his embassy to the grand lama of Tartary	—	lviii.	460
Bogs, how to correct	—	xvii.	26
— Theory of the formation of	—	lxiii.	166
— An account of the bogs in Ireland	—	lxiii.	166
Bobemia, general taste for music in that country	—	xliv.	213
— The lowest of the people instructed in this science	—	xliv.	214
— Cruelties exercised in that country by the Catholics on the Protestants	—	lxix.	583
Boileau, Voltaire's character of, applied to Pope	—	xiv.	533
— His art of poetry, the best extant	—	xliv.	558
— Vindicated against Voltaire	—	i.	576
— His merit as a didactic poet	—	lxx.	181
Boiling water, experiments on	—	liv.	38
Bois-le-Duc, some account of the siege of	—	xxi.	227
Bologna, account of the famous institute there	—	xli.	331
— Of the noble public library there	—	xli.	332
Bolar Earth, account of the yellow	—	lxviii.	628
Boleyn, Ann, her behaviour previous to her execution	—	xx.	338
Bolingbroke, Lord, remarkable apostrophe to him, from Gideon, a poem	—	i.	69
— Defended	—	v.	249
— Remarks on his letters so far as they relate to sacred history, the genuineness of the gospel, &c.	—	vi.	399
— Memoirs of	—	vii.	290
— His character as a writer	—	viii.	103, 108
— His dogmatical and declamatory spirit	—	viii.	108
— His attempts to invalidate the scripture history confuted	—	viii.	108, 112
— His reflections on the English constitution since the revolution	—	viii.	113
— His censure on the uncertainty of the Hebrew text refuted	—	viii.	244, 256
— His political character and conduct	—	viii.	448
— His strong attachment to the tory party	—	viii.	450, 451
— His reflections on the clergy, severe and unjust	—	viii.	460
— Remarks on his works	—	x.	185, 189
— Commended as a writer of history or politics	—	x.	185
			Bolingbroke,

Bolingbroke, Lord , Censured for his philosophy and divinity	x.	185
— Appears to have been early prejudiced against revealed religion	x.	185
— His great prejudices against all divines	x.	185
— His attack upon the religion of his country	x.	186
— His zeal for infidelity exceeded his knowledge	x.	186
— Attempts to set men free from human as well as divine laws	x.	186
— Denies a particular Providence and a future state	x.	187
— Absurd consequences of these principles	x.	187
— His God differs little from the god of Epicurus	x.	187
— The absurdity of this notion	x.	188
— The chief design of his essays	x.	188
— His arrogant self-conceit inconsistent with christianity	x.	189
— Does not rest his argument, that the world had a beginning, on a solid foundation	x.	251
— His contempt of Moses as a philosopher, and horror as a divine	x.	251
— His remarks on the history of the commencement of the world, by Moses, as quoted by Tillotson	x.	252. 274
— Censure of these remarks	x.	275
— His notions of human knowledge	x.	343
— Of the human composition of soul and body	x.	344
— His arrogant contempt of learning and philosophy	x.	430
— And yet his affectation of it	x.	430
— Notion of the origin of philosophy	x.	430
— Of the Origin of polytheism and idolatry	x.	431, 433
— Concerning the notion which the heathen had of the unity of God	x.	437
— The origin and progress of theology	x.	438
— Of judicial astrology, horoscopes, witchcraft, &c.	x.	440
— His opinion of Socrates and Plato	x.	442. 443
— His account of Platonic philosophy	x.	444. 448
— Of Descartes, Gassendus, and Mr. Locke	x.	449
— Reflections on his essays	x.	452
— Shews how wrong notions are begot in the mind by authority	xi.	2
— Bad consequences of principles thus begot	xi.	2
— Is of opinion that if men learned less, they would often know more	xi.	3
— All the sons of Adam are guided by vulgar opinions	xi.	3
— In what cases authority is to be relied on	xi.	4
— Compares theology to Pandora's box	xi.	6
— How natural religion contained in the gospel has been corrupted by divines	xi.	7
— Affirms that the gospel of Christ, and the gospel of Paul, are different things	xi.	9
— How necessary to distinguish between real religion and what passes for it	xi.	13

Bolingbroke, Lord , asserts that the notion of two distinct societies in the same society was broached by ecclesiastical ambition	xi.	14
— Insinuates that the salvation of souls is rather the pretence than the end of ecclesiastical policy	—	xi. 16
— Points out the political views of Constantine in the establishment of christianity	—	xi. 16
— Alledges that the soul of man has no affinity with the all-perfect Being	—	xi. 88
— Shews on what ground morality ought to be built	—	xi. 89
— Gives his notion of human nature	—	xi. 90. 91
— Thinks that the first principles of natural religion want neither paraphrase nor commentary	—	xi. 92
— That political societies grew out of natural	—	xi. 93. 97
— That the Jewish and Christian dispensations have not reformed mankind	—	xi. 99. 104
— That the natural effect of the gospel has been defeated by the manner in which it has been propagated	—	xi. 105
— Alledges that reason cannot decide for a future state on principles of natural theology	—	xi. 106
— Abuses Dr. Clarke	—	xi. 107. 108
— Denies the doctrine of particular Providence	—	xi. 110
— His temper fitted to his system	—	xii. 288
— His arts of controversy	—	xii. 288. 289
— Pernicious consequences of his notions concerning Providence	—	xii. 426
— His groundless reflections on the scripture, and St. Paul refuted	—	xiii. 233
— An enemy to natural religion	—	xv. 80
— Censured	—	xv. 175
— His character censured	—	xix. 567
— Artfully varnishes over the peace of Utrecht	—	xxviii. 206
— His character	—	xxxiii. 5
— His dispute with Moses in the shades	—	xxxiv. 49
— His apology for free-thinkers	—	xxxv. 60
— Letter between Lord Hyde and Mrs. Mallet	—	xxxv. 63. 65
— Philosophical sentiments of his lordship	—	xxxv. 140
— His encomium on Pope's moral essays	—	xxxv. 142
— High encomium on, as a genius and a fine writer	—	xlili. 370
— Deductions from this encomium on account of his irreligion	—	xlili. 376
— His character and fine talents	—	l. 369
— His political writings commended	—	l. 462
— His general objection to the scriptures answered	—	lxiv. 174
— Character of	—	lxviii. 504
— His scepticism arraigned	—	lxx. 93
— His conversation with Lady Huntingdon on prayer	—	lxx. 373
Ballistar, pass of , described	—	xlvi. 148
Belsen-ball , some account of	—	lx. 258
Bels, Mr. principles, and views of his book, detected	—	xlviii. 82
Bombast , what	—	xxvi. 426
Bombay ,

Bombay , an account of	xvii.	303
Climate of, less fatal to Europeans than Bengal, &c.	xxxix.	346
Bonamy , Mr. his detection of a remarkable falsehood in Socrates the historian	xxxii.	523
Bone and skin , true foundation of, in the epigram of	xlvi.	168
Bones , an extraordinary instance of their flexibility	xviii.	318
Case of a remarkable extraction, and regeneration of	xxxvii.	376
Experiments relating to the formation of	xxxix.	538
Experiments on the bones of animals	xxxix.	538
Improved method of treating fractures and dislocations	xl.	219.
Account of some filled with lead	lvii.	262
of fowls, discovered at Christ Church, Twynham	lvii.	457
How used, and with what effect as a manure	lx.	471
Gigantic, found in Russia	lxi.	535. 551
fossil, of large animals, found in America; observations on	xlvi.	108
Found in Germany	xliv.	203
Astonishing assemblage of, in Dalmatia	lix.	46
Bonneval , Count, the same with Bashaw Osman	ii.	428
His character	ii.	428
His address, courage, vanity, &c.	ii.	429
His imprudent behaviour to Prince Eugene	ii.	430
His description of Venice	iii.	239
His death	iii.	240
Character of his memoirs	iii.	240
Bonnet , bishop of London; his furious and obstinate temper	xxx.	3
Deprived of his bishoprick and imprisoned	xxx.	3
Restored	xxx.	10
Bonzen , Indian, introduce their superstition into China	x.	204
Their great influence on the vulgar	x.	204
Books for female education	ii.	450
All the Chinese books except those on Physic, agriculture and astrology, ordered to be burnt	vii.	91
Those who endeavoured to conceal their books are burnt with them	vii.	92
without experience, of little avail in surgery	xv.	584
Why indifferent ones are well received	xvi.	420
Inconveniencies attending the increase of book-making	xix.	83
An improvement in that art	xix.	85
new, in what proportion dearer now than in Addison's time	xxxii.	20
Animadversions on fallacious advertisements and specious title pages to new books	xlvi.	74
Introduction to the knowledge of books	lviii.	387—lxi. 303
Book-keeping , a new treatise of	ii.	73
Its design and usefulness	x.	500
Book-sellers , a panegyric on their liberality to authors	xxvi.	298
Booth , Barton, his excellencies as an actor	xiii.	7
A famous song of his commended	xvi.	539

Borax , process of making	xii.	93
— Experiments on	xljii.	517
— New discovery relative to the production of	lxii.	239
Borda, Chevalier de , his experiments on the resistance of fluids	xxxvii. 154—xliv. 520—xli.	678
— His observations on hydraulic machines	xlvi.	500
— His memoir on the curve, described by cannon-balls and bombs, as affected by the resistance of the air	xlvi.	557
Borde, Dr. Andrew , account of	lxiii.	380
Borders of England and Scotland , horrible ravages of, before the union of the two crowns	lviii.	171
— Melancholy vestiges of, still remaining	lviii.	171
Borlly, M. his plan for reforming elementary studies	lv.	469
Borgia, Caesar , resigns his cardinal's hat	xii.	202
— Commences soldier	xii.	202
— Accidentally poisoned	xii.	203
— Recovers and escapes to Naples	xii.	204
— Sent prisoner to Spain	xii.	204
— His death	xii.	204
— Summary of his monstrous crimes	xxvii.	165
Borlase, Mr. his account of the Scilly isles	xi.	243
— His account of an extraordinary agitation of the waters in Mount's Bay	xxix.	138
— Of another remarkable agitation, and of two thunder storms	xxix.	140
— Account of the weather in Cornwall	xxx.	211
Boscawen, Mr. his speech in the House of Commons against arbitrary power	xxviii.	412
Boscowich, Abbé , his Latin verses on the seat and properties of the soul	xxiv.	337
— His account of a new micrometer and megameter	lviii.	458
Bosc, D' (autic Dr.) , his works	lxiv.	458
Bossuet, bishop of Meaux , his letter to the Pope	xxviii.	324
— Character of this prelate	xxviii.	326
— His discourse of mathematics	lii.	441
— Eulogy on, by D'Alembert	liii.	354
— His publication of new experiments on the resistance of fluids	lvii.	309
— His experiments on the resistance of fluids	lvii.	506
— His bigotry	lxviii.	569
Boswell, James , his warm encomium on liberty	xxxix.	43
— His travels to Corsica	xxxix.	46
— His account of Paoli	xxxix.	47
— His history of Corsica	xxxix.	146
Boswell, George , his directions for watering meadows	lxii.	456
Botany , the moderns excel more in the curious than the useful part	xi.	412
— The rise and progress of the study of	xviii.	326
— Capital error in, pointed out	xxiv.	323
		Botany,

- Botany*, botanic garden at Chelsea, a donation of Sir Hans Sloane to the apothecary's company — xxviii. 52
- botanists censured for calling plants, &c. by foreign names — xxix. 514
- Its usefulness — xxxiv. 127
- Elementary demonstrations of, for the use of the royal veterinary academy at Lyons — xxxv. 535
- Sexual system, known to the antients — xxxv. 554
- Encomium on that science — xlv. 131
- Eulogium on — xlv. 257
- Its history — xlv. 257
- Botanical researches, by Rivinus — xlvii. 267
- Sexual system of, explained — xlvii. 270
- Experiment to ascertain the reality of the sexual system — xlvii. 272
- Doctrine of the sexual system not unknown to the antients — xlvii. 272
- Botannical experiments, by M. Tillet — liv. 562
- Murray's researches in — lxvii. 482
- and natural history, progress of — lxx. 2
- Bouchaud, M.* his memoir concerning the Roman publicans liv. 509
- His inquiries concerning the edicts of the Roman magistrates — lxiv. 554
- Bouchaute, M. Van*, his memoir concerning the origin and nature of animal substance — lxx. 526
- His essay on the reproduction of organized beings, and the continuation of each species — lxx. 527
- Boufflers, Marshal de*, his military character — iii. 237
- Bougainville, M.* his policy, with respect to Falkland's Islands — li. 415
- Bongies*, their use in disorders in the urethra — ii. 318
- Boulanger, Mr.* anecdotes of him — xxxiii. 535
- Boulogne*, climate of — xxxiv. 421
- Indelicacy of the inhabitants — xxxiv. 422
- Boulter, Abp.* his benevolence to the poor of Ireland — xlii. 288
- Bounty* upon exported corn prejudicial — xviii. 616
- Public advantages of — li. 113
- Bourbon, Isle of*, some account of — xlix. 526
- Remarkable volcano there — liii. 606
- Bourbonnois, Duke of*, his romantic declaration in — xii. 414. 467
- Bourn, Daniel*, account of his new invented waggon — xxx. 491
- Bourn, Samuel*, his birth, character, and death — xiii. 112. 115
- Bourgelat, Claude*, founder of the veterinarian school — lxix. 583
- Bourgeois, M. missionary*, his account of population in China — lxx. 560
- Bouvierie*, his death and great character — ix. 442
- Bouvet, M.* his discovery of Cape Circumcision investigated — lxv. 494
- Bower, Arch.* his account of the Manicheans disproved — viii. 101
- His account of his escape from Macerata, an improbable and inconsistent tale — xv. 91
- Bower,*

Bower, Arch. the letters said to be written by him to Father Sheldon, denied by him upon oath	xv.	92
— His affidavit sworn in the King's Bench	xv.	190
— An attempt to vindicate his conduct	xv.	311
— His reasons for leaving Italy	xvi.	51
— The dangers attending his escape	xvi.	57
— Left the communion of the church of Rome	xvi.	63
— Answers the objections of his adversaries	xvi.	64
— His history of the Popes, a despicable performance	xvi.	68
— Endeavours to prove the six letters ascribed to him a forgery	xvi.	155
— His defence	xvii.	182
— His escape from Perugia, attested by several witnesses	xviii.	243
— His view of the dispute between him and his antagonists	xxiv.	236
— Charges the reviewers with being hired by the Jesuits to abuse him	xxiv.	237
Boubours, Father , his ridiculous stories about St. Francis Xavier	xlvi.	533
Browssaki, M. the Polish dwarf, his dimensions	xl.	493
Boyard , account of his Orlando Innamorato,	xlviii.	338
Bruyer, Mr. (the learned printer) , anecdotes of his life and publications	lxvii.	272
Byer , the defects of his French dictionary	xxv.	141
Byle , a great maintainer of the mechanical philosophy	xvi.	46
— Account of	lxviii.	234
Byne , battle of, described	lxx.	39
By under ten years of age incapable of being instructed by reasoning with them	xxvii.	346
— Should not be made too docile	xxvii.	346
— Should be subject only to the yoke of necessity	xxvii.	347
— Proper exercises for them	xxvii.	353
— Should learn a mechanical trade	xxvii.	356
— From their twelfth to their fifteenth year the time to fix their attention on scientific objects	xxvii.	356
Bye, Mr. his enthusiasm in electricity	xxxvii.	102
— His curious experiment	xxxvii.	103
Brabant, Lewis , deceptions, by the strange modulations of his voice	xlvi.	514
Bracci, Mr. improvement in the art of copper-plate printing	xli.	567
Bradbury, Rev. Thomas , his receipt to make a thirtieth of January sermon	xxvii.	457
Braddock, General , apology for his conduct in America	xlix.	372
Bradford, Matt. some account of	xxx.	255
Bradley, Mr. his directions for using the micrometer	l.	29
Bradshaw, the poet , specimen of his style	lix.	215
Braiswood, Mess. their skill in teaching the use of language to the deaf and dumb	lxix.	441
— A remarkable instance of their success	lxix.	526
Brain , the use of the.	vii.	61

Braia , comparison between that of a negro and a white	xx.	272
— Bad effects of the over exercise of	xli.	251
Brakenridge, Dr. his letter concerning the term and period of human life	xxvii.	419
— Remarks on his calculations of the number of inhabitants in London	xliv.	138
Bramah , the legislator of India, account of	xxxvi.	8
Bramins of India , some account of	xxviii.	474
— Account of	xxix.	301. 488
— Their notions of the Supreme Being, and of the creation of the world	xxix.	489
— Controversy on Kopilo, or Brama	xxix.	490
— Persecuted for his religion by the Mahometans, and dies a martyr	xl.	502
— Their religious and philosophic principles	l.	522
— Voltaire's account of the	l.	523
— Their knowledge of astronomy	lvi.	547
— Observatory at Benares	lvi.	458
Branchidae , account of them and of their temple	xlili.	375
Branchini, Mr. his discoveries in searching the ruins of the palace of the Cæsars at Rome	xli.	415
— His dangerous adventure there, and death	xli.	415
Brandenburg , Medallic history of the house of	lii.	261
— State of population in	lv.	557
— Revenue of	lv.	557
— Improvements in the country	lv.	557
— School-masters established in	lv.	557
Brandenburg, Frederick William Eldest of , his noble conduct towards the persecuted French Protestants	lxviii.	565
Brauder, Mr. his account of the bones of fowls, discovered in the priory of Christ Church in Hampshire	lvii.	263
Brandon, Charles, Duke of Suffolk , account of	lxviii.	103
Brand. Count , his unfortunate end	lviii.	253
Brandy , its properties, uses, &c.	ii.	374
— The French, whence derives its peculiar colour	xvii.	56
— Method of imitating	xvii.	56
— less wholesome than rum	xlili.	477
— The different strengths of	xlvi.	549
Brandt, Count , particulars relating to him	lii.	13
Branwardin, Archbishop , his book De causa Dei , useful	iii.	248
— An advocate for the Antipelagian doctrine	iii.	248
Brazilians , their singular modes of matrimony, and education of children	xlili.	509
— Their ignorance of religion	xlii.	510
Brass , susceptible of magnetism	xxi.	238
— Wirs , an extraordinary instance and cure of a disorder occasioned by	xxv.	14
Bravery , distinguished from courage	lxi.	201
Braxen Serpent , the story of, ridiculed	x.	354
Bread , how adulterated	xvii.	564

Bread,

Bread , why alum is used in making it	—	xviii.	264
— Alum in, pernicious	—	xxxiii.	50
— New regulation of the assize proposed	—	xxxvii.	43
— The adulteration of, traced to its source, and exposed	—	xlvi.	243
— Importance of having it pure	—	xliv.	403
Breast . Dr. Heberden's account of diseases of the	—	xlvi.	257
Breeding , good, described	—	iv.	417
Breasts , land and sea ones, between the tropics, accounted for	—	xii.	267
— Theory of, periodical, by sea and land, in hot climates	—	xxxvii.	301
Brentford-Town described	—	xxx.	265
Breughny , M. de, on the religion and empire of Mahomet	—	xxxix.	518
— His researches in London relative to the history of France	—	liv.	515
Breton , Mr. his account of the terrible effects of lightning at Eastburn	—	lxvi.	374
Bretbren , evangelical , vindicated against the prior Sextetter	—	lxix.	580
Brewer , Mr. his speech in the House of Commons on the King's negative voice to bills	—	xxviii.	422
Brewing defined	—	xx.	277
— Several extraordinary improvements in	—	xxlii.	242
— Representation of the hardships which brewers labour under	—	xxiii.	325
— The uncertain practice of that art, and how principles are to be established for it	—	xxvi.	121
— The principal agent in	—	xxvi.	122
— Process for brewing porter	—	xxvi.	126
— Directions for	—	xxxiii.	353
Bribery and corruption , proceedings of the House of Commons against	—	x.	279
Bribery , speeches and proceedings against	—	xxviii.	134
— in elections, resolution against, in the House of Commons in the reign of Charles II.	—	xxviii.	194
— Sir W. Coventry's speech on	—	xxviii.	266
— Good story of the punishment of	—	l.	19
— Senatorial, fatal effects of	—	li.	346
Bricks , Roman, their dimensions	—	iv.	382
Bricklayer , necessary education for	—	xxiv.	69
— Apprentice-fee, and journeyman's wages	—	xxiv.	69
Bridewell-hospital , plan for the improvement of	—	xlvi.	505
Bridges , description of ancient bridges in Egypt	—	xv.	257
— On the piers of bridges	—	lxvi.	506
— Receipt for the composition of	—	xxiv.	202
— Those built across the Thames, in London, censured	—	xlvi.	168
— Receipt for making	—	xxiv.	202
— Remarkable one in Wales	—	lxi.	11
— Observations on the piers of	—	lxvi.	506
Bridgewater , Duke of, his rich coal-mines in Lancashire	—	lxiii.	90
— His grand canal, &c. for inland navigation	—	lxiii.	90

Briefs , battle of	—	v.	523
Brimstone bill described	—	xvii.	266
Brindley, John , memoirs of	—	lxiii.	87
— His great genius for mechanics	—	lxiii.	88
— His vast success in canal navigations	—	lxiii.	92
— His death	—	lxiii.	95
Brins, Mr. , charged with maintaining absurdities	—	xi.	477
Brins pits , and rivers of brine, in Worcestershire and Cheshire; particulars of	—	lxv.	260
Bristol, Earl of , his speech for an accommodation with King Charles	—	xvii.	496
— Articles of his impeachment	—	xxxvi.	45
— His letters to Charles I. on the duplicity of his conduct, with regard to the Spanish Princess	—	xxxviii.	398
— (and Bishop) sketch of his character	—	lxvi.	382
Bristol-water , enquiry into its medical virtues	—	ii.	461
— Good for the acrimony of the blood	—	ii.	461
— Good for feminal and uterine weaknesses	—	ii.	462
— and Bath, the difference between	—	xv.	207
Britain, Great , its capital stock in lands, coin, jewels, furniture, goods, &c. computed	—	ii.	247
— Proposal for a union with Ireland	—	iv.	348
— The effect of its constitution on the genius of the people	—	xi.	148
— In what respects she excels Greece and Rome	—	xiv.	103
— Independency of its church on the see of Rome asserted	—	xv.	571
— Seized upon as an appendage	—	xv.	574
— The whole island first peopled from Gaul	—	xvii.	462
— Necessity of her having continental connections	—	xvii.	316
— Troops ought not to serve under foreign commanders, and why	—	xix.	167
— Poetical encomium on its government	—	xxiii.	411
— A nation of politicians	—	xxiii.	379
— Poetically described	—	xxx.	141
— Her flourishing state at the conclusion of the late war	—	xxxix.	389
— Present state of, from the measures pursued since the peace	—	xxxix.	392
— Her political diseases pointed out, and remedies	—	xxxix.	397
— Supposed to be in a declining state	—	xlili.	451
— Indications of it pointed out	—	xlili.	451
— Balance in trade against her in most parts of the world	—	xlili.	453
— Means of retrieving her affairs	—	xlili.	457
— Tendency of the constitution to fall into an absolute monarchy	—	xlvi.	439
— Her great, natural, and commercial advantages, not yet exhausted	—	li.	112
— Great room still left for farther improvement	—	li.	112
— The greatness of her empire a proof of the excellence of her constitution	—	li.	117
See . Commerce, Constitution, England, Parliament, Trade.
Britanny , coast of, expedition against, how disappointed	—	xiv.	293
Britanny ,

- Britanny*, description of, an historical monument in lxx. 268
British Museum, Wilkes's speech for a reformation of lvii. 328
British Teast, memoirs of — — vi. 146
Britons, an account of a print of the conversion of the Britons vii. 281
 — Instances of their improvements in wisdom xviii. 92
 — Ancient, their savage state — — xxxi. 245
 — Manner of life of the ancient — — xlv. 405
 — Their language — — xlv. 410
 — Their horses and dogs described — — xlv. 107
 — Their table provisions — — xlv. 108
 — Their language — — xlv. 109
 — Other particulars — — xlv. 109. 111
 — Less rude and ignorant than generally supposed li. 103
 — In the Saxon times, their criminal laws and civil processes liii. 129
 — Their modes of education — — liii. 131
 — Of their marriage contract — — liii. 131
 — Modes of dress — — liii. 133
 — Language — — liii. 134. 139
 — Rates of provisions in their days — — liii. 232
 — Their deplorable situation under the inroads of the Picts and Scots — — lvii. 100
Britten, Tom, the small-coal man, some account of xxxvii. 391
Brixianus, Marcus Marinus, some account of his writings xv. 22
Broadfoot, Alexander, his trial for murder — — xxvii. 142
Brocklesby, Dr. his account of a poisonous root lately found among the Gentian — — i. 374
 — Case of a lady labouring under a diabetes xxxviii. 441
 — His experiments on the Seltzer water — — xlv. 449
Brock, village of, described — — xlvii. 61
Brownfeld, Mr. his method of performing the ligatures of arteries xlv. 219
 — His experiments on the solanum nigrum — — lxx. 8
Bromley, Mr. his remarks in the House of Commons on the King's negative voice to bills — — xxviii. 423
Bronchocele; see Derby-neck.
Bronchotomy, memoir of, and case — — xl. 209. 212
Brooks, Mr. his account of a Saxon inscription on Kirkdale church lxii. 114
 — Seal of the Fitzwalter family — — lxii. 115
 — Of the great seal of Queen Catherine Parr — — lxii. 272
 — His account of a new electrometer — — lxix. 394
 — His illustration of a Saxon inscription in the church of Aldbrough lxx. 262
Brooks, Henry, specimen of his new tragedy of the Earl of Essex xxiv. 74
 — His poetical character — — lix. 243
 — Specimens of his works — — lix. 244. 357
Broom useful, instead of bark, for tanning leather xxix. 483
 — Said to intoxicate sheep — — lviii. 46
Brotherly

- Brotherly love*, motives to it — — — xxi. 61
Broths made from flesh said to be pernicious in fevers lxii. 571
Brouwer, the painter, account of a remarkable incident relating to him — — — xliii. 27
Brown, Dr. Jemmat, bishop of Cork and Ross, his severe sentence of degradation against Mr. Dallas — — — i. 199
Browne, Isaac Hawkins, extract from his poem on the immortality of the soul — — — xxxviii. 359
 — His verses on his own birth-day — — — xxxviii. 361
 — On a fit of the gout — — — xxxviii. 362
Brown, Mr. animadversions on his three essays on the characteristics — — — vi. 152
Brown, Dr. William, negligent in his arithmetical calculations — — — xv. 35
 — Censured for injustice — — — xv. 344
Brown Dr. John. His account of the rise and progress of poetry and music controverted — — — xxx. 124. 130
 — Inconsistency of his opinions concerning religious liberty — — — xxxii. 167
 — His notion of civil liberty contested — — — xxxii. 168
 — His mode of education exploded — — — xxxii. 172—xxxiii. 194
 — His defence of himself — — — xxxiv. 59
 — His curious method of detecting a thief — — — xlv. 521
 — Some account of — — — xlv. 525
 — Specimens of his poems — — — xlv. 527
Brownlow, Mr. his animated speech in the Irish parliament against addressing the king — — — xxxviii. 82
Bruce, Michael, account of him — — — lxx. 19
 — His poem on his own approaching death — — — lxx. 19
Bruce Robert, his actions the subject of an heroic poem xli. 382
 — That work how executed — — — xli. 388
 — King of Scotland, his spirited contests with the Pope lx. 187
 — His pocket watch found — — — lxii. 281
Bruges, Popish seminaries there for the education of English youth — — — xlii. 252
Bruises, a remedy for — — — xviii. 620
Bryma, the chief God of the Indians — — — iv. 321
Brumoy, his criticism on Aristophanes — — — xxiii. 360
 — His character as a writer on the drama — — — xxii. 452
Brun, Le, Remarks on his manner of painting with respect to the disposition of light and shade — — — lxi. 19
Bruck's collection of fragments of the ancient Greek poets lvii. 239
Brundisium, origin of the name of that city — — — xlviii. 284
Bruni, Dr. his account of the progress of electrical experiments in Italy — — — i. 378
Brunne, Robert de, extracts from his metrical chronicle li. 53. 58
Brunswick dispensatory — — — lix. 459
Brunswick. Origin and succession of that illustrious house xliii. 442
 — State papers — — — lii. 244
Brunswick, W. Adolphus, Prince of, eulogy on — — — liii. 532
Brunswick,

B U D

71

Brunswick, Princess of , pleasant anecdote concerning	lvii.	52 ¹
Brussels , short description of	xlvi.	62
Brutes , principle of life in them	ii.	323
— (does particularly), never mistake their natural fitnesses	xii.	358
— on clemency to	xxiv.	214
— Their existence in a future state maintained	xxxviii.	129
— On the reason of	lx.	48
Brutus, Junius , his speech to the people of Rome on the death of Lucretia	xix.	257
— His character, as affected by the assassination of Caesar	xl.	242
— His famous letter to Cicero	xl.	243
— (an intended epic poem, by Mr. Pope), plan of	xl.	418
Bruyere , his characters characterized	xxvi.	509
Bryant, Elizabeth , bit by a mad dog	ix.	269
— Seized with a hydrophobia	ix.	270
— The method of her cure	ix.	271
Bryant, Mr. his opinion with respect to the famous Apamean medal	lviii.	454
Buache, M. his curious maps of the basin of the Seine, &c.	xlvi.	677
Buat, Chevalier , his principles of hydraulics	lxv.	458
Buboncele , method of performing the operation in it	ii.	313
— Account of an uncommon	xl.	454
Buccaniers of St. Domingo , some account of	xxii.	89
— Their method of hunting	xxii.	91
Buchanan , his history of Scotland praised	lxx.	38
Buchan's correspondence relating to natural history	liii.	433
Buchner, Dr. his method of making deaf persons hear	xlvi.	435
— Instanced in a remarkable narrative	xlvi.	435
Buckingham, Duke of , his character	xii.	226
— Some anecdotes of his life	xxi.	209
— Character of him	xxi.	214
— His character, by Dryden	xxi.	215
— His low and puerile manner of writing letters to James I.	xxvii.	493
— Justifies himself before the House of Commons	xxviii.	131
— Debate thereupon	xxviii.	131
— Enormous list of his titles and officers	xxix.	414
— Articles of impeachment against him in parliament	xxix.	414
— Some account of his rehearsal, a comedy	xxxii.	212
— Pertinent reflection on his assassination	xxxii.	219
— Impeachment	xxxvi.	5. 6
— Letter from, to King James I.	lix.	95
— Letter to the Elector of Hanover	liv.	292
Buckborsé, Lord , his bruising talents described	xxxviii.	150
Bucolic poetry , its origin	xlvi.	81
— Nature and design of	xlvi.	85
— Dramatis personæ of	xlvi.	87
Bucquet, M. his memoir on the manner in which animals are affected by mephitic fluids	lxii.	515
Budgell, Eustace , his great self-sufficiency	ix.	412

- Budgell, Eusebe*, succeeds to his father's estate ix. 413
 — His several promotions in Ireland ix. 413
 — Meets with great obstructions there ix. 414
 — His assiduous and disinterested services in the rebellion in 1715 ix. 414
 — Disobliges the Lord Lieutenant, and loses his place ix. 415
 — His indiscreet conduct after he came to England ix. 415
 — Had collected materials for a history of Ireland ix. 416
 — Loses all interest at court, and goes abroad ix. 416
 — Returns, and is ruined by the South Sea ix. 416
 — Is, by his imprudence, reduced to the utmost distress ix. 417
 — Drowns himself ix. 419
 — A character of him and his writings ix. 420
 — An account of his family ix. 421
Buffale, wild, dangerous to travellers in Africa lv. 525
Buffon, Mr. his natural history applauded xxvii. 41
 — His account of the degeneracy of horses xxvii. 42
 — His hypothesis of the production and destruction of all organized beings xxvii. 46
 — His theory of the earth disputed xxxi. 482
 — His considerations on the nature of quadrupeds xxxi. 548
 — Said to have borrowed his system of generation and nutrition from Anaxagoras, &c. xxxv. 547
 — His natural history of quadrupeds, the work of near twenty years xliii. 566
 — Meets with insurmountable difficulties in his ornithology xliii. 567
 — His notion of instinct xlv. 535
 — His visionary theories in philosophy li, 519. 521
 — His fanciful speculations on air li. 521
 — His experiments to ascertain the progress of heat in bodies li, 522
 — His observations and experiments on Platina li. 524
 — His improvements in the construction of burning glasses li. 527.
 533
 — His oration at the introduction of the Duke de Duras into the French Academy liii. 254
 — His natural history of birds liii. 594
 — Associated with M. de Montbeillard in writing the natural history of birds liii. 594
 — His experiments and conclusions on the weight of heated metals controverted lvi. 378
 — His doctrine of the organical molecules refuted lvi. 382
 — His extraordinary theory of the epochs of nature lx. 531
 — His theory of the central fire, &c. controverted lxiii. 139
 — Remarks on his hypothesis, concerning a central fire or heat of the terrestrial globe lxiv. 454
 — His notions ridiculed lxiv. 485
Buffonery defined xxvi. 200
Buger, Professor, his theory of the machine for driving piles lxii. 383
Building, common method of, described iv. 381
Buildings,

Buildings , proposals for erecting, without timber	xiv.	448
— Recipe for making mortar impenetrable	xliv.	479
— The antiquity of the brick and stone buildings in England	lvii.	262
Bull, Bishop , Reflections on immoral ministers	xi.	447
— Story of his conference with a quaker	xxxii.	196
Bull , a very strong one	xvii.	413
— How cured in the epilepsy	xliv.	134
Bull-running at Tutbury, account of	xliv.	183
Bull frog of America described	xl.	216
— Strange story of	lvi.	253
Bull and Nouth Inn , etymology of that sign	lx.	259
Bullers of Buchan , a natural curiosity in Scotland	xlvi.	147
Bulliard, M. his description and engravings of the plants growing in the environs of Paris	lv.	387
Bullinger's confession of faith	xxxiv.	551
Bullion , judicious observations on the present high price of	xlvi.	246
Bumbo bust , remarkable history thereof	iii.	201
Bunbury, M. H. his humorous etchings commended	lxiv.	131
Bucla, John , his character	xv.	603
— His character as a writer	xxxv.	34
— His description of the company of Harrowgate	xxxv.	39
— His account of a Carthusian monastery	xxxv.	110
— Of the four physicians who attended one of his wives	xxxv.	118
Buonaventuri, Thomas , his remarkable story	xl.	580
Burcott Lodge , the abode of a society of learned ladies, or protestant nunnery, described	xv.	599
Burgage tenure , account of	xxxvi.	32
Burges, Mr. His general antipathy against medical writers	x.	243
— His alleging that none have given an account of inoculation ill-founded	x.	245
— His supposition concerning the origin of the small-pox	x.	246
— Lays down several principles inconsistent with physical phenomena	x.	247
— His cases vaguely told	x.	249
— His contempt for other writers on the subject, arrogant	x.	250
Burgesi, Mary , killed by a poisonous root mixed with gentian	i.	374
Burgess and Citizens , when first summoned to parliament	xii.	415
Burgh-castle , the site of the ancient Garianonum	li.	309
Burgundy, Duke of , his last conversations	lx.	312
— His character	lxvii.	286
— His striking observations on the horrid nature of war	lxvii.	286
Burial Office , in our liturgy, censured	i.	205
Burials in churches, censured	lii.	99
Burigny, M. his reflections on a passage in Plautus	xl.	586
— His three memoirs relative to the ancient Romans	liii.	567
— On national calamities	liii.	568
Burke, Edmund , his character, in form of an epitaph	i.	314
Burke ,

Burke, Edmund , His conduct in parliament discussed	lvii. 256
— His fine compliment to Mr. Howard on account of his inspection of the prisons	lxiv. 103
Burleigh, Lord , a description of his gardens	lxvii. 457
Burlesque , improperly applied	xxx. 244
— Instances in the heathen deities as exhibited in Midas , an English opera	xxx. 244
Burlington, Earl of , some account of his architecture	xxxix. 182
— His excellent taste in architecture	lxiv. 190
— His house at Chiswick criticised	lxiv. 191
— His lordship's other designs	lxiv. 191
Burnet , an excellent plant, method of cultivating	xxxiii. 252
— Remarks on the culture of	xl. 13. 379
Burnet, Bishop , chronological account of his writings	viii. 390
— His exposition of the thirty-nine articles, curious enquiry concerning that work	xxxiv. 335
— Not a work of authority	xxxiv. 337
— His hard saying of some who apply for ordination	xxxix. 375
— Characterised as an historian	lxiii. 34
Burney, Dr. his account of the state of music at Paris	xl. 162
— His visit to the Beozzi at Turin	xl. 165
— Describes the state of music at Milan	xl. 166
— His interview with father Beccaria	xl. 167
— With M. Voltaire	xl. 168
— Proceeds to Venice and Bologna	xl. 339
— His account of the famous Farinelli	xl. 339
— State of music at Rome	xl. 341
— His conversation with Rinaldo di Capua	xl. 342
— His account of the vulgar music of Naples	xl. 343
— Musical tour through Germany, the Netherlands, &c.	xlvi. 457
— Account of the Carillons at Amsterdam and Ghent	xlvi. 459
— Polite reception at the court of Munich	xlvi. 461
— Inconvenient journey to Vienna	xlvi. 465
— Account of the poet Metastasio	xlvi. 467
— Journey from Vienna to Dresden	xlvi. 213
— Account of the ruinous state of that city	xlvi. 214
— Arrives at Berlin	xlvi. 215
— Account of the court of Prussia	xlvi. 217
— Of Hamburg	xlvi. 221
— Of his intended general history of music	xlvi. 223
— His account of an extraordinary genius for music in an infant	lxii. 209
Burning-glasses , observations on Archimedes burning the fleet of Marcellus	lxiii. 421
— M. Trudane's large one	lxiii. 511
— Its power in the fusion of gold	lxiii. 511
— Great powers of a very large one at the Louvre	lxv. 137
Burnt-grain , a dissemper of corn, what	xxxii. 411
— How to prevent it	xxxii. 411
Burning of Land , exhausts it	xvi. 390. 393

Burning of Land , a great improvement of cold rushy grounds	xvii.	19
— Observations on that method of culture	lix.	421
Burning rock , account of one in the East Indies	xxix.	128
Burrampooter-river , account of	lxvi.	366
Burslem , the great potteries there	xliv.	267
Burtenback , Sebastian Schoertlen van , life of	lviii.	302
Burton , Dr. his apology	v.	291
— His account of the authenticity of Lord Clarendon's character of Mr. Hampden	xix.	235
Burwell , dreadful fire at a puppet-show in a barn there in 1727	xliv.	79
Bury St. Edmund's , Mr. King's remarks on the abbey	lii.	498
Busch , Professor , his account of the commercial academy at Ham- burgh	lxii.	238
Busching , M. the plan of his system of geography	xxvi.	117
— His tour in Brandenburg, &c.	lv.	553
Busel , English , its dimensions	iv.	120
Buffy , M. his instructions to Satan	xxvi.	154
— His memorable expedition against the Polygar of Bobilce	lix.	437
Busi , a supposed antique one at Turin, Mr. Needham's opinion of	xxix.	32
— Mr. Montagu's opinion	xxix.	34
— Abbé Winkelman's opinion	xxix.	35
— M. Asseman's opinion	xxix.	35
Butchers , why not permitted to sit in a jury on criminal causes	xxiv.	308
— Carcase, insufferable monopolizers	xxxii.	311
— Described with their marrow-bones and cleavers	xxviii.	142
— Surprisingly and dangerously affected by killing over-driven cattle	xliv.	514
— Other cases of a similar kind	xliv.	515
Bute , Lord , scheme for a union between him and Mr. Pitt	xxvii.	312
— Encomium on both	xxvii.	312. 315
— His administration accused of endeavouring to increase the power of the crown	xxviii.	210
— And to maintain an undue influence over the parliament	xxviii.	210
— Instance in support of the charge	xxviii.	211
— Other charges against him	xxviii.	211
— Not the contriver of Annet's prosecution	xxviii.	237
— Abused in a dedication	xxviii.	241
— High panegyric on him in Dr. Smollet's history	xxviii.	365
— Account of his rise to court favour	xxxiii.	74
— Encomium on his character	xxxiii.	482
— Charged with borrowing his politics from Bolingbroke	li.	479
— His elegant seat in Bedfordshire described	liii.	40
— Account of	lxviii.	312
Bute , Isle of , described	li.	452

Bute. Isle of. its productions	—	—	li. 453
Butler, bishop. his great friendship with bishop Secker	xlii. 462,	465
Butler's Hudibras, &c. appreciated	—	—	lxi. 190
Butler, Mr. His remarkable case and cure	xxxiv. 62
Butter, used in making salt	—	—	ii. 171
— of antimony, Mil'ers and Boerhaave's process	—	—	xi. 307
Butter-burr, its medicinal uses	—	—	xliv. 415
Butterflies, their shining wings imitated to adorn our beaux and belles	—	—	ii. 326
— Account of a non-descript	—	—	li. 551
— Natural history of foreign	—	—	liii. 509
— Observations on a species of, which lay prolific eggs without coition with a male	—	—	liii. 545
Buxton-waters investigated	—	—	lxx. 452
Buxtons. Character of their concordance	—	—	xv. 23
— Errors in, rectified by Mr. Taylor	—	—	xv. 23
Byng, George, Lord Torrington. His life by Dr. Birch	vii. 262
— Admiral. Instructions to	—	—	xv. 297
— Letter from, to the secretary of the admiralty	—	—	xv. 419
— Vindication of	—	—	xv. 422
— Remarks on his unhappy fate	—	—	xxviii. 252
Byron, John. Some account of the genius and writings	xlix. 241
— Specimens of his poetry	—	—	xlix. 242
Byron, commodore, his supposed account of the Patagonians, questioned	—	—	xlii. 527
— His voyage round the world, in the ship Dolphin	xlix. 140
— His description of the island of Tinian, very different from Anson's	—	—	xlix. 143
— His return to England	—	—	xlix. 145

C

Cabbages, their great use in feeding cattle	xlii. 86
— Superior to turnips	—	—	xlii. 87
— Best method of cultivating them	—	—	xlii. 88
— Culture and uses of the several sorts in farming	xlv. 381
Cabbage trees described	—	—	xl. 223
— The anthelmintic virtues of the bark of	—	—	xv. 392
— The bark, a valuable anthelmintic	—	—	lviii. 459
Cabbage turnip, some account of the utility and culture of	xliv. 483
Cabal, a ministry distinguished by that name	xxviii. 129
Cabeysa, (a Spanish soldier) affecting tale of	xlii. 96
Cabinet Councils, debate on, in the House of Commons	xxviii. 420
— Official and efficient	—	—	lxvi. 70
Cable, when lost, to be made good	—	—	xii. 345
Cadenus and Vanessa, its publication shocks the author and Stella	—	—	xi. 63
Cadmus, supposed to have been a Jew	—	—	xix. 518
Cadmus,

- Cadmus* A different personage from what he is generally supposed to have been — — — lli. 484
- Cæsar, Julius.* Speech in Catiline's conspiracy v. 205
- Account of a print of the landing of, in Britain vii. 278
- His character xiv. 230, 233—xxii. 535—xxx. 183
- His conduct with regard to his invasion of Britain censured xxx. 189
- His imaginary debate with Scipio — xxxiii. 366
- Advantageous traits of his character xlv. 6
- His conduct in connection with the deaths of Antony and Cleopatra — — — xlv. 112, 120
- Rise and progress of his contests with Pompey xlv. 171
- His great designs for the glory of the empire xlv. 179
- His untimely death — — — xlv. 180
- His character viewed in a new light — — — xlv. 172
- Invasion of Britain — — — xlix. 256
- Remarks on his assassination, and the real motives of the conspirators l. 267
- His death, the subject of the design embossed on the silver cup presented to Mr. Wilkes by the city of London lvii. 343
- Preferred as a patriot to Cato — — — lix. 276
- Account of his death, with the preceding circumstances lxix. 115
- Cæsar, Octavius,* his character vindicated from the charge of cowardice — — — xlii. 8
- Cæsaratti's* translation of Demosthenes — — — liii. 259
- Cæsares* excellent regulation in their police xxxi. 257
- Cæsarian section.* in child birth, reflection on lx. 60
- Case of an actual operation — — — lx. 74
- Operations. See Midwifery.
- Cæstus,* in the Olympic games described i. 114
- Cæui Minor,* described xviii. 239
- Cabers,* attack of — — — xiv. 568
- Taken by surprize — — — xviii. 626
- Caille, Abbé de la,* his voyage to the Cape of Good Hope xxix. 503
- His account of the manner of tak'ng elephants there xxix. 504
- of the manners and customs of the Hottentots xxix. 505
- His life, learned labours, and excellent character lv. 540, 543
- Cain,* the first profelyte to deism — — — ii. 222
- Said to have been the first freethinker and free mason ix. 318
- Cairo,* situation of — — — xv. 354
- Description of, and curiosities in xv. 355, 358
- Described — — — xxxiv. 132
- Serpents there, how fascinated — — — xxxiv. 133
- The Nilometre described — — — xxxiv. 134
- Account of the grand caravan — — — xxxiv. 135
- Some account of — — — liii. 578
- Caibuss,* pleasing description of some parts of that country lxiv. 114
- Calamities*

Calamities national, causes of, in former times, but which have now ceased	— — —	liii. 568
— Instanced in France,	— — —	liii. 568
Calas, Mark Antony, his canonization	—	xxx. 525
— Mr. His injurious treatment first brought to light by M. de Voltaire	— — —	xxxii. 318
Caluso's concordance, wherein faulty	—	xv. 23
Caluso's representation of the hazards attending an attack on Genoa	— — —	v. 308
Caledonians, their origin investigated	—	xxxviii. 306
California, by whom discovered	—	xx. 497
— Subject to the Jesuits	— — —	xx. 498
— Character of the natives	— — —	xx. 499
— Voyage to, by the Abbé Chappé	—	xlvi. 560
Calimachus, his hymns to Jupiter too cold and unanimated for the subject	— — —	xxvii. 249
Caliphs, Arabian. Anecdotes of several	—	xxxiv. 494
Calistus, his unhappy story	—	xxxviii. 347
Callao, in Peru, account of its dreadful inundation	—	ix. 302
Calucks some account of that people	—	xxii. 320
Caluck Tartars, remarkable revolution among	—	xli. 434
— Some account of their religion	—	xli. 434
Calumel. Method of detecting its adulteration	—	xvii. 393
Calumet Indian described	— — —	xxxiv. 18
Calvin, John, disputes concerning the Trinity with Servetus, whom he teizes and burns	— — —	xvii. 204
— Glories in so doing	— — —	xvii. 205
— His cruel persecution of Servetus	—	xxvii. 413
— And his followers, guilty of persecution	—	xxxvi. 385
— His severe punishment in the other world, for burning Servetus	—	xlvi. 662
Cambray. Treaty of	— — —	xii. 205
Cambray, Bishop of. His will	—	xvii. 203
Cambric manufacture established in Sussex	—	xxviii. 372
Cambridge University. Lusus et gratulationes, specimens of	—	xxiv. 165
— Their scandalous dependence on the court in the reign of Charles I.	—	xxix. 415
— The mode of education there censured	—	xlvi. 419
— Poems on the effects of some graces lately passed	—	lxv. 313
— Explanation of the term	— — —	lxv. 313
— Vindicated	— — —	lxix. 88
Cambridge, Richard Owen purchases Mr. Zolman's library	—	xlx. 440
— His laudable disposition with respect to the use of those books	—	xix. 441
Camden, his annals of Queen Elizabeth, where defective	—	xi. 241
Camden, Lord. On the credibility of witnesses	—	xliv. 346
Camelion. Account of a particular species of	—	xlvi. 193
— Described	— — —	lxix. 531
		Camelopard,

Camelopard , some account of that rare and curious animal	xlvi.	185
Camels , manner of their passing rivers with loads	xv.	496
Camera obscura	vi.	211
— Curious observations on the pictures formed in	xlvi.	671
Camilla , her fine character, from Montesquieu	xxxviii.	240
Cameus , his Lusiad censured	xliv.	182
— Account of this writer	xliv.	183
— Specimens of a new English translation of	xliv.	185
Camp , Roman , description of one	iv.	381
Campbell , Mr. His case relative to the Grenada duty	lii.	89
Campbell , of Loch Goyl , his great merit in improving the fisheries of loch	lxiii.	176
Campbell , Collin his groundless complaint against general Monckton	xxxi.	158
Campbire , Experiments on the doses and effects of	xxxix.	205
— And calomel, effects of, in continual fevers	xlvi.	216
— Recommended in maniacal cases	xlvi.	496
Canaan , or the curse of Noah on	vii.	361
— The justice of that curse founded on divine prescience	vii.	368
— The curse pronounced by Noah upon his descendants vindicated	viii.	255
— That prophecy accomplished in their subjection to the Israelites	viii.	256
Canaan , land of, disquisition concerning	xxxvii.	353
Canada , from whence it takes the name	xiii.	268
— when, and by whom discovered	xiii.	268
— Its trade	xiii.	269
— Navigation	xiii.	270
— Division of	xiii.	271
— Whence that country derives its name	xxii.	83
— English account of its limits, and a description of the country	xxii.	83
— And Guadaloupe: comparative estimate of their worth to Britain	xxii.	433
— Excesses committed by drunken Indians there	xxiii.	421
— Their dexterity at thieving, and how punished	xxiii.	422
— Manner of education there	xxiii.	423
— Their high sense of honour	xxiii.	424
— Their superstitious regard to dreams	xxiii.	425
— Their juggling and divination	xxiii.	425
— Inhabitants of, described	xliv.	218
— Their manners and customs	xliv.	392
— Importance of the conquest of, by the English	xliv.	374
— Account of the contentions there between the protestants and catholics	liii.	46, 55
— Unfortunate measures of the British government relative to	lvii.	468
Canadian Creoles , characterised	xxiii.	420
— Compared with those of the English colonies	xxiii.	420
Canadians their modes of courtship and marriage	xxii.	86

Canal navigation. See Navigation Island.

Canary Islands , account of	—	—	xxxi.	54
— Conquest of, by Betancour	—	—	xxxi.	59
— Manners and customs of the present inhabitants	—	—	xxxi.	63
Cancar (a colony of the Chinese), curious account of	—	—	xli.	262
Cancer , in what case, the cures of them to be attempted by resolution and palliatives	—	—	ix.	343
— Extirpation the only effectual remedy	—	—	ix.	343
— Cured by internal medicines	—	—	xvi.	147
— Cure of, by nightshade	—	—	xvi.	147
— Cured by the solanum lethale	—	—	xvi.	151
— Plunkets remedy for	—	—	xxiv.	324
— The efficacy of hemlock	—	xxv.	293, 350,	352
— Observations on the cure of, by the cicuta	—	—	xxxix.	32
— of the breast. Effects of cicuta upon	—	—	xli.	47
— Cured by arsenic	—	—	lii.	533
— The use of petasite in the	—	—	liii.	42
— Marulla's reflections on the nature and treatment of	—	—	liii.	503
— Marulla's observations on	—	—	liii.	503
— Dr. Peyrilhe's prize, dissertation on the	—	—	lvi.	386
— Remedies for that disorder	—	—	lxiii.	434
— Chirurgical observations relative to	—	—	lxvii.	487
Cancer, Pinnoibris. Defends the pinna moricata against the cuttle	—	—	xxiv.	269
Candour , the noble and elevating effects of	—	—	xxvii.	326
— Poetical altercation with	—	—	xxix.	135
— Disclaimed by Mr. Churchill	—	—	xxix.	136
Canna , battle of, described	—	—	xv.	662
— Account of the town and celebrated plain of	—	—	xlvi.	285
— battle of, described	—	—	lxix.	108
— Scene of action	—	—	lxix.	277
— Traces of the town	—	—	lxix.	278
— Observations on the face of the country and the movements of the armies	—	—	lxix.	279
Cannon , the art of founding them, by whom the Chinese were taught	—	—	x.	200
— Their weight and length not constructed from certain principles	—	—	xviii.	32
— Light pieces more effectual in battery than heavy	—	—	xviii.	33
— Iron, improvements in the casting of	—	—	lii.	614
Cannon Balls , on the curve made by	—	—	xlvi.	557
Canon of the scriptures , how early titled	—	—	iv.	23
— of the New Testament , that which is generally received a good one	—	—	xv.	147, 148
— Observations on it	—	—	xv.	148
Canonization of a Saint at Rome, vast expence of	—	—	xv.	618
Cantharides , have no dissolvent quality	—	—	viii.	388
Canton , city of, described	—	—	xliv.	401
Caongo , country of, described	—	—	lv.	524
— Government of	—	—	lv.	528

Cautebong,

- Cautebrac*, experiments on that vegetable production lxvi. 139
- Capacelli, Mary*, her correspondence with the Abbé Zacchirolì
lxv. 465
- Capacity*, necessary in a magistrate — ii. 12
- legal, for purchases, &c. analysis of, in all its branches.
xxx. 191
- Cape Breton*, entertainments of the savages there described.
xxii. 363
- The eloquent acknowledgments of the guests xxii. 364
- Their method of making war — xxii. 368
- Their courtship and marriages — xxii. 370
- Cape Circumcision*, the discovery of — lxv. 494
- Inquiry concerning its latitude, &c. — lxv. 496
- Cape of Good Hope*, whence it obtained its name xxiii. 477
- Voyage to the — — xxix. 503
- Excellent culture of the land there by the Dutch. xli. 259
- Country of, described — — lv. 546
- Kulbeke's account of, many falsehoods in — — lv. 545
- Governor of, patronizes a caravan travelling into the interior parts of Africa. — — lix. 58
- Cape Nichola*, great progress in trade made by the French there
— — li. 438
- Capell, Mr.* Notes of, on Shakespeare characterised lxix. 484
- History of the life and progress of that work, for 23 years, to its final publication — — lxx. 487
- Capello Bianca*, history of — — lix. 460
- Capillary Tubes*, cause of the ascent of fluids in, assigned xliii. 530
- Curacatura*, its meaning explained — — xix. 318
- Disputed — — xix. 319
- No such word — — xix. 606
- Its meaning ascertained — — xx. 606
- Caracacus*, account of a print of — — vii. 279
- Extracts from Mason's play of — — xx. 509
- Caracalla, Emperor of Rome*. His infamous character xxiv. 124
- He attempts to incorporate the rites of christianity with the worship of the sun and other deities — — xxiv. 125
- Resolves to marry his God — — xxiv. 126
- Violates a vestal virgin — — xxiv. 127
- Delights in assuming the character of a woman — — xxiv. 127
- His preparations for self-destruction — — xxiv. 128
- His scandalous death — — xxiv. 128
- Caracci, Lewis*, his paintings in the cloister of the Olivetan monks of Bologna, engraved and described — — lix. 449
- Caraculus, Emperor of Britain*, disputes among the writers concerning him — — xxvii. 220
- Carbuncles, pestilential*, how cured — — xi. 219
- Cardan*, his rule for resolving the cubic equation, &c. invelligated
— — lxii. 43
- Cardinals*, ceremony observed at the consistory at Rome, at their promotion — — xv. 618
- Vol. II. G Cardinals,

Cardinals . Not in the same estimation now as formerly	xv.	620
Card-playing , in a family way, ill consequences of	xxv.	226
— A refiner of the manners of mankind	xxxviii.	29
— Ill consequences of	xxxviii.	31, 32
Cards , when brought into use	xviii.	398
— Their bad tendency	xxxiv.	79
— An improper amusement for the fair-sex	xxxv.	18
— When invented	xxxvii.	107
— Emblematic devices of, explained	xxxvii.	108
Carew, Sir Nicholas , his shrewd remark, in a debate on the state of the nation	xxvii.	189
— On a breach of privilege	xxviii.	260
— On the seizure of Montagu's papers	xxviii.	264
— Thomas , an elegant sonnet of his composing	xxxii.	247
Cari, Cajetani M. Essay on the weight, &c. of the air	lxv.	307
Caribbee Islands . History of the mission of the evangelical brethren	lviii.	386
Carillons . Account of, at Amsterdam and Ghent	xlvi.	459
Carinthia , odd ceremony in taking possession of that dutchy	xxv.	90
Carinus, Emperor . His magnificent public spectacles described	lv.	42
Carlisle, Lord , Specimens of his poetry	xlvi.	143
Carnival at Florence . Description of,	xv.	461
— at Smyrna , described	xxxiv.	130
— of Spain , described	xlvi.	385
Caroline Baths . Analysis of the water of	xvii.	103
— Extraordinary qualities	xvii.	103
Carolina, South , its soil and natural productions described	xlvi.	485
— Method of making indigo there	xlvi.	487
— Political transactions in that province	l.	208
— Inconsiderate grants of money to the bill of rights	l.	210
— General description of,	liv.	276
— Surprising account of the effects of heat in that climate	liv.	279
— Extraordinary story of certain fanatics there	lxi.	445
— Curious account of a congress held there with the Creek Indians	lxi.	448
Carp , its medicinal virtues	xviii.	630
— How managed in Polish Prussia	xlvi.	117
— Method of keeping them alive out of water	xlvi.	118
Carraccioli, Mr. his life of Pope Clement XIV.	lii.	344
Carrots , advantages of, in rural economy	xlvi.	378
— Remarks on transplanting them	xlvi.	23
Carstairs, Mr. Memoirs of his life	li.	145
— His state papers	lii.	217
Carte, Thomas . His materials for a continuation of his history of England	lii.	243
Carteia , account of that ancient city, &c.	lvii.	381
Carter-lane Meeting . Admonitory address to the gentlemen of	xxii.	78
Carter, Elizabeth . Encomiums on her writings	x.	373, 374
Carter ,

Carter, Eliza. Verses on her poetical works, by Lord Littleton

	xxvi.	104
— Specimens of her poetry	xxvi.	105
— Francis , his account of Gibraltar	lvii.	81
— of Carteia	lvii.	381
— of the Sierra de Ronda, and the city of that name	lvii.	385
— of Malaga	lvii.	386

Carteret, Lord. Remarkable compliment paid him by Swift

	xi.	59
— Account of	lxviii.	311

Carteret, Captain, his account of the Patagonians

	xlvi.	179
--	-------	-----

— of a camelopardalis

	xlvi.	185
--	-------	-----

— Sails in the Swallow, to the South Seas, in company with Capt.

Wallis	xliv.	355
--------	-------	-----

— Miserably fitted out

	xliv.	355
--	-------	-----

— Parts company with the Dolphin, and experiences the most severe hardships	xliv.	359

------------------	-------	-----

— Resolute and spirited behaviour at Macassar

	xliv.	366
--	-------	-----

— Arrives at Batavia

	xliv.	368
--	-------	-----

— Returns to England

	xliv.	369
--	-------	-----

Carter, des. His philosophy founded in nature

	xxxiii.	497
--	---------	-----

— Borrowed his philosophy from Aristotle

	xxxv.	544
--	-------	-----

— And his notion of innate ideas from Plato

	xxxv.	545
--	-------	-----

— His doctrine arbitrary

	xxxvi.	503
--	--------	-----

— His immense knowledge and discoveries

	lx.	532
--	-----	-----

— His correspondence with Charles V.

	lx.	556
--	-----	-----

— Account of the conquest of Mexico

	lx.	557
--	-----	-----

— Description of the court of Montezuma

	lx.	558
--	-----	-----

— of the dreadful and cruel circumstances of the war

	lx.	559
--	-----	-----

— His aversion to the Spanish bishops

	lx.	559
--	-----	-----

Cartesianism. Observations on modern

	li.	346
--	-----	-----

Carthage. Observations on the defects of her police, &c.

	l.	252
--	----	-----

— A great military power

	lxix.	536
--	-------	-----

— Their judicious schemes in forming their marches against the

Roman army	viii.	92, 94
------------	-------	--------

Cartmanus, (the self-flower.) Experiments on, to prove its usefulness in dying cotton	lxix.	256

-------------------------	-------	-----

Cartusian Monks. Some account of their establishment and manner of living	xv.	457

---------------	-----	-----

— Monastery, an account of

	xxxv.	110
--	-------	-----

Cartilages, Bones, &c. Controversy relative to the sensibility of

	liv.	11
--	------	----

Cartons of Raphael. Their present unfortunate situation

	lvii.	340
--	-------	-----

Cartwright, Mr. his verses on the birth of the prince of Wales in the Oxford collection, commended	xxviii.	21

----------------------------------	---------	----

Cartwright, Major, his political debate with Ld. Abingdon

	lxii.	385
--	-------	-----

— His people's barrier defended

	lxiii.	319
--	--------	-----

— His principles of civil government, defended against Dean

Tucker	lxv.	324
--------	------	-----

- Carver, Capt.* His motive for travelling to explore the interior parts of North America — lx. 90
- Difficulties in the undertaking — lx. 91
- His resolution in pursuing the design — lx. 93
- His papers detained at the plantation office — lx. 94
- Casan*, brief view of the face of that country — xli. 435
- Casnovas*. History of the troubles in Poland — lii. 342
- Cajas, B. de la*. Zeal in behalf of the oppressed Indians — iv. 325
- Pleads the cause of the oppressed Indians — iv. 325
- Casse, Dr.* Account of — — lii. 203
- Casimir V. King of Poland*, his speech to the Diet on his abdication of the crown — — xxvi. 163
- Marries a washer-woman — — xxvi. 169
- Casrio, Don*. His descriptive catalogue of Arabic Spanish authors in the library of the Escorial — lxv. 529
- Caspina*, explanation of that name — lviii. 165
- Cassava* shrub described — — xl. 202
- Cassini de Thury*. His attempt to prolong the meridian of Paris eastward as far as Vienna — — xxxviii. 168
- His account of the Abt^e Chappè's astronomical observations in California — — l. 553
- His voyage to Newfoundland — — lx. 71
- His great improvements in astronomy — — lx. 533
- His observations relative to natural history in his travels in Italy — lxvi. 499
- His account of a gentleman who had in his body an electric quality similar to that of the torpedo — lxvi. 499, 500
- His memoirs on determining the obliquity of the ecliptic by observations made at the observatory at Paris — lxvii. 505
- Cassiterides* of the Greeks, our Scilly Isles — xi. 243
- Castilhen, M.* Reflections on the law of nature, &c. — xliii. 538
- His considerations on the causes of the diversity of genius, manners, &c. in different nations — — xliii. 553
- Castillon, M.* His attempt to reconcile Descartes and Locke — lii. 583
- Account of the flutes of the ancients — lv. 490
- His astronomical and mathematical papers in the memoirs of the Berlin academy — — lx. 519
- Problem on the ideas of the divine mind — lxiv. 504
- On the Socratic method of teaching — — lxv. 921
- His dissertation which obtained the gold medal at Haarlem — lxvii. 532
- On the division of geometrical and astronomical instruments — lxvii. 547
- Cassles, ancient*, observations relative to their structure and contrivance, &c. — — lvii. 15
- In the air, a poem — — lxv. 384
- Castleton, in Derbyshire*, its great antiquity — — lxx. 354
- Caster*, account of, and the bags that contain it — v. 382
- Description and analysis of — — xxv. 483
- Caster,*

Characters described	iv.	417.	458
— of the age, not to be drawn from the bulk of the people	xviii.		367
— Moral, not liked and disliked by nature and constitution, but from association and habit	xix.		267
— Ascribed to our Saviour, what intended to signify	xxii.		31
— In genteel life exhibited	xxxv.	287.	347
— Ancient and modern, difference between	lxix.		122
Characteristics , how far commendable	v.		45
— Wherein deficient	v.		46
— Some remarks on that book	x.		168
— Of a great minister	xviii.		367
— Of a political writer	xviii.		372
Charcoal , experiments on	xlvi.		426
— Observations on the noxious vapours of	xliv.		288
— Considered as manure for land	liii.		506
— Treatment of persons affected with the fumes of	lxiii.		373
— Method of recovering persons poisoned by the fumes of	lxiii.		393
— Chemical observations on	lxviii.		345
Charisma , denotes extraordinary gifts	iv.		94
Charity recommended	ii.		425
— Public ones in London recommended	ii.		450
— and universal benevolence, a persuasive to	x.	367.	368
— St. Paul's account of it defended against Bayle	xiii.		404
— In what sense it covers a multitude of sins	xiii.		486
— Why Christians are so defective concerning it	xix.		154
— Ill consequences of public, suggested	xxiv.		131
— Superior to all other Christian graces	xxvii.		403
— Enquiry into the meaning of " charity never faileth "	xxvii.		403
— In controversial writings admirably described	xxxii.		192
— Advice concerning	liii.		272
— Defined	lx.		435
— St. Paul's display of, poetically paraphrased	lx.		469
— Considered as a Christian virtue	lxi.		296
— Houses for, exposed and deserted women, recommended	xix.		598
Charlemagne , his expedient to cure his courtiers of foppery	xxiv.		287
— Conquers all Italy	xxiv.		367
— His character and extensive views	xl.		539
— Character of	lx.		145
— Observations on his reign	lxi.	215.	218
Charlemont , Lord, elegant compliment to	lix.		245
Charles I. of England , his memory why idolized by the clergy	iv.		40
— Character of	v.		447
— Executed with the same quiet and formality of justice as an offender	vii.		121
— His troubles instigated by Cardinal Richlieu	xii.		185
— His character	xvi.		533
— His answer to the parliament's declaration	xvii.		454
— His protestation on setting up his standard	xvii.		501
— His queen voted guilty of high treason by the parliament	xvii.		503
— His character	xvii.		34

Charles

Charles I. His treatment of the parliament's commissioners at Oxford

— His letters fall into the hands of the parliament	xviii. 135. 457
— Is seized by Joice	xviii. 137
— His advice to the Prince of Wales	xviii. 144
— Letter to the Duke of Ormond	xviii. 413
— His execution censured	xviii. 414
— His fidelity to the marriage bed vindicated	xviii. 415
— Constant at religious exercises	xviii. 455
— Charged with superstition	xviii. 456
— His tyrannical disposition	xviii. 460
— Apology for him	xix. 240
— His guilt in regard to Glamorgan, extenuated	xix. 241
— His enemies consistently enemies to Cromwell	xix. 561
— Characterized	xxvi. 98
— His imperious behaviour to the parliament	xxix. 411
— His cabinet council the tools of Buckingham	xxix. 413
— His fatal obstinacy	xxix. 417
— The disorders of his government accounted for	xxix. 417
— Characterized as a bad man	xxxii. 60
— Concessions in his favour	xxxii. 68
— His mis-conduct in several instances	xxxii. 217
— His unadvised speech to parliament concerning tonnage and poundage	xxxii. 218
— Mrs. Macaulay's just remarks on that speech	xxxii. 220
— Farther instances of his arbitrary proceedings	xxxii. 221
— His character, by M. Mehegan	xxxii. 223
— His violation of the freedom of parliament	xxxvi. 542
— The character and views of those who adhered to him	xxxvii. 213
— His letter to Ormond	xxxvii. 219
— His two letters to Lord Glamorgan	xxxvii. 261
— Letter to, from Windebank	xxxvii. 261
— Instance of his early dispensing with the laws	xxxviii. 392
— Of his rapacity	xxxviii. 393
— Letter to, from the Earl of Bristol	xxxviii. 394
— His negotiations with Spain	xxxviii. 398
— In what estimation held by foreign powers	xxxviii. 396
— Letters to him from his secretary Windebank	xxxix. 1
— How much influenced by his queen	xxxix. 2
— Cunning, a part of his character	xxxix. 7
— His instructions to Capt. Bret	xxxix. 7
— Servility of his courtiers	xxxix. 7
— His character, by Mrs. Macaulay	xxxix. 8
— The justice of putting him to death	xl. 361
— Account of his trial and death	xl. 362
— His character delineated	xlvi. 2
— His own account of his attachment to the church	xlvi. 5
— Consults two of the bishops about a temporary allowance of the Presbyterian mode of worship, with the answer of the bishops	l. 137

Cattle , Dr. Layard's account of the distemper among	lxiv.	276
— The contagious distemper among, affirmed to be an eruptive fever of the variolous kind	lxiv.	277
— Farther enquiry concerning	lxiv.	517
— Innoculation of, for the murrain	lxvii.	553
— Owing to the disuse of salt	lxvii.	559
Catullus , his Atys praised	xv.	77
— Imitated by Ariosto	xlvi.	342
Caurmand , Abbé, his French translation of Friere's life of Don Henry of Portugal	lxvii.	490
Causes and Effects , how to be discriminated	xvii.	523
Caustics , corrosives , detergents , &c. excluded from modern surgery	xxiv.	323
Caution and distrust , in what cases peculiarly expedient and necessary	viii.	362
Caution , general, against bleeding, not always just	v.	501
Cautiousness , excessive, censured	iv.	421
Cavallo , Mr. his observations on extraordinary electricity in the atmosphere	lvi.	375
— His new electrical experiments	lviii.	3
— Farther experiments	lviii.	63
— His new experiments in electricity	lxiv.	264
— His thermometrical experiments	lxiv. 277—lxvii.	128
Cavendish , Lord, account of the family of	xxix.	214
— Complaints of bribery and corruption in the House of Commons	xxviii.	134
— Speaks in the wrangling debate on a supply	xxviii.	262
Cavendish , William, Earl of Devonshire, his spirited resistance of the court	xxix.	215
— His great character	xxix.	216
Cavendish , Charles, his exploits	xxxi.	34
— His death	xxxi.	35
Cavendish , Hon. H. his exper. on Rathbone-place water	xxxix.	356
— His investigation of some of the principal phenomena in electricity	xlvi.	224
— Attempts to imitate the effects of the torpedo, by electricity	lv.	409
— His account of a new eudiometer	lxx.	28
Cavendish , Mr. John, kills Wat Tyler	xxxi.	32
Cavendish , Sir John, murdered	xxxi.	32
Caverhill , Mr. his attempt to ascertain the knowledge of the ancients with respect to the East Indies	xl.	98
Caverns , remarkable in Egypt	xv.	486
— Subterraneous in Sicily	xxx.	553
— An extraordinary one converted into a cemetery	xxx.	553
— Superstitious regard paid to, by the ancients	li.	420
— A wonderful one in the isle of Staffa described	li.	456
— A stupendous one in Derbyshire described	lxiii.	26
— Another in Ireland	lxiii.	26
Cawdry in Suffolk , account of the pictures at	liii.	501

Cayenne , some account of the heat, diseases, and remedies peculiar to that climate	lviii.	506
Cayley, Cornelius , his extraordinary fanaticism	xix.	615
— Introduced among the methodists, by Mr. Hervey	xix.	616
— His library	xix.	618
— Turns preacher	xix.	619
— Curious specimen of his spiritual poetry	xxvii.	236
Caylus, Count de , his memoir on the art of encaustic painting	xxix.	517
— His remarks on the temples of ancient Greece	xl.	584
— His birth and education	xlvi.	641
— His great military character	xlvi.	642
— His travels in the Levant	xlvi.	642
— His passion for antiquities	xlvi.	643
— Applies himself wholly to the fine arts	xlvi.	643
— His zeal and activity as an academician	xlvi.	644
— His discovery of encaustic painting	xlvi.	646
— His vast collections of antiques	xlvi.	648
— His death	xlvi.	648
— His tales	liii.	170
— His great merit in the study of antiquities	lxiii.	295
Caymana isles , account of	li.	434
Cazand, M. New method of cultivating the sugar cane	lxii.	222
— His observations on mills for sugar canes	lxiv.	441
Cebes , a great coincidence between some of his sentiments and the scriptures	xi.	566
— His table, a compendium of ethica	xi.	568
— Observations on the tablet of	xxii.	112
— The composition of the picture described in his celebrated dialogue	xxii.	112
Cecil, Earl of Salisbury , an able statesman	iv.	410
— His memory ill-treated by Bacon	xxvii.	498
— Defended by Dr. Birch	xxvii.	499
Cecilia's day , humorous ode on, by Mr. Thornton	xxviii.	479
Celestial bodies , on the motion of	xlili.	524
Celibacy , as practised in the Popish countries, destructive of the public interest	viii.	193
— As imposed on the clergy by the church of Rome, justly exploded	lxvi.	156
Cellini, Benvenuto , his strange character	xl.	148
Celtic nations , remains of their mythology and poetry	xvi.	377
— The universal language of the post-diluvian world	xix.	516
— The universal elementary language of Europe	xxv.	363
— Proposals for the recovery of the language	xl.	80
— Nations, their religion	xlili.	93
— State of population in them	xlili.	97
— Their proverbial maxims	xlili.	100
— Their manner of life, &c.	xliv.	406
— Their enthusiastic love of freedom	xliv.	409
— Their language	xliv.	410

Celsus , Lord's observations on the	—	lxii.	110
— Ancient instruments so called, account of	—	lxii.	110
Cement , that used in the Greek and Roman buildings, re-discovered		li.	185
— Remarks on Adam's	—	lx.	72
— Adam's, the originality of the invention of, questioned	—	lx.	72
— Experiments with regard to the composition of, particularly with respect to buildings	—	lxii.	361
Cenis , a French comedy, some account of it	—	x.	222
Censoriousness , essay on	—	lii.	583
Censors , Roman, their office first in the hands of the consuls	—	iii.	30
Centaurea calcitrapoides , experiments on; to shew the irritability of some flowers	—	xxxvii.	66
Century XIII. inventions and improvements	—	xxx.	166
— XIV. inventions and improvements	—	xxx.	168
— XV. inventions and improvements	—	xxx.	171
— XVI. inventions and improvements	—	xxx.	173
Cepedes , Madam de la , her character	—	xxxi.	160
Cerbus , description of the	—	xxvii.	331
Cerebellum , observations on the	—	lvii.	249
Ceremonies , account of those at the Jubilee at Rome	—	i.	448
Ceres , goddess, explanatory account of	—	lii.	477
— Hymn to, an ancient Greek poem, where discovered	—	lxiii.	482
— By some ascribed to Homer	—	lxiii.	483
— General view of the poem	—	lxiii.	486
— Specimens of	—	lxiii.	490
Cerf , M. le , his improvements in watch-making	—	lxii.	44
— His merit in this respect questioned	—	lxii.	176
Cerinthus , the heretic, his tenets opposed by St. John	—	xxxi.	53
Certainty and probability , philosophical remarks on	—	xxix.	49
Ceseca , grand-daughter of Noah, her flight into Ireland	—	xxxii.	517
Cevadilla , or small Indian barley, some account of	—	lxx.	523
Chabyri , ancient, accounted masqueraders	—	iv.	352
Chabanon , on the phrensy of imitating the English garden	—	lii.	345
Chabert , M. his operations in surveying the coast of the Mediterranean	—	xlvi.	677
Chain , weight of the links of, not sufficient to bring them into contact	—	xv.	470
Chair , surgical, construction of one, by M. Arnaud	—	xlvi.	21
Chalcidius , his testimony to the truth of the Christian religion	—	xxxvi.	270
Chaldee paraphrase of the scriptures, its authority examined into	—	xxiii.	12
Chalk renders sea-water fresh and pleasant	—	xiv.	440
Chalky Soils , how managed	—	xvi.	397
Chalke , strange ornaments in the church-porch there	—	lxix.	368
Challieu , Abbé de , his verses, bidding adieu to Fontenay	—	xliv.	512
— Englished	—	xliv.	512
Chambaud , the method of his dictionary explained	—	xxv.	141
Chamberlayne ,

Chamberlayne, Mr. his letter, giving an account of King James's visit to Cambridge	lix.	13
Chambers, Ephraim , plan of his dictionary approved of by the compilers of the encyclopedie	vii.	69
-- His acc. of the Opisthotonos and Tetanus commended	xvi.	55
Chambers, William , his defence of Dr. Hugh Smith, philosophical enquiries into the laws of animal life	lxiii.	233
Chamelion , description of	xv.	34
-- A native of Africa	xv.	34
-- Curious account of	xxxiv.	267
Chamouffet, M. success in the military hospitals under his direction	lxix.	424
Champchevrier , a French prisoner secretly employed by Henry VI. to negociate his marriage with Margaret of Anjou	xi.	435
Chance Medley , dröil satisfaction offered for, in a particular case	xxiii.	450
Chancery, court of , dilatory in deciding causes	i.	122
Chances , demonstration of some cases in	xix.	570
-- Second rule of the doctrine of	xxxiv.	226
-- The doctrine of	xlili.	524
Chanaler, Sir. his remarks on the Suttonian method of inoculation	xxxvii.	267
Chandler, Dr. R. employed by the Dilettanti society to assist in collecting Ionian antiquities	xliv.	369
Chanaler, Dr. S. cavalierly treated in the controversy about the man after God's own heart	xxvii.	57
-- His opinion how far the dissenters are dangerous to the church of England	xxxiv.	177
-- Some account of his life	xxxix.	44
Changeableness in mankind, no proof of infelicity	xx.	429
-- Not a sign of unhappiness	xxiii.	437
Chaplain , a noted one satirically described	xxx.	157
Chapons, Mrs. Her verses to Stella	liii.	216
Chapue, Abbé , his dangerous journey through Siberia	x.	585
-- His observations on the transit of Venus	xl.	591
-- His account of Russia	xl.	595
-- Leaves Tobolsk	xli.	435
-- Arrives at Casan, and his entertainment there	xli.	436
-- Arrives at Petersburg	xli.	436
-- His oper. for taking the level of the surface of the globe	xli.	435
-- His observations on the mines of Siberia	xli.	438
-- His observations and experiments on natural electricity made in that country	xli.	439
-- His observations made there on the variation of the magnetic needle	xli.	440
-- His account of the effects of thunder	xl.	516
-- Strictures on his journey through Siberia	xlvi.	470
-- His voyage to California, and death there	xlviii.	560
-- Elogy on	xlviii.	510

Characters

Caster. Experiments on the doses and effects of	xxxix.	204
Caster-oil , its medicinal virtues	xxxi.	353
— Particular diseases cured by it	xxxi.	354
Cat, M. le. Account of a double fœtus extracted from a cow	iii.	438
— His account of an extraordinary regeneration of the bone in a man's arm	xxxvii.	376
— His account of a monstrous fœtus	xxxix.	354
— of an hernia and hydrocele	xxxix.	356
Catachresis , critical illustration of	xlvi.	221
Catacombs, of St. Sebastian , described	lv.	111
— in Italy, a lady's fearful adventures in	lv.	111
— A lady's adventures in	lv.	112
— Other, described	lv.	434
Catalepsy , forms of medicines for the cure of	xxxviii.	356
Catalogues , descriptive and critical, of the writings of ancient authors, their great use	lxi.	543
Cataplasia , the use of it recommended in cancerous cases	ix.	343
Cataract. See Eye .
Catarrh , method of cure	xxx.	393
Catarrhal disorder in London in 1762. Account of	xxix.	147
Catches and Glees ,	xxxvii.	58
Catechising , an indispensable duty in a pastor	xiii.	192
— As necessary as preaching	xiii.	192
Catechisms , no rule of faith	ii.	2
— The assembly's, said to have greatly promoted the cause of infidelity	xv.	315
— That usually taught to children, absurd	xviii.	90
— A good one very necessary	xviii.	90
— Reformation of, recommended	xxx.	230
— Of the church of England, history of	ix.	209
— The gardeners	xxxi.	508
Caterpillars. To make paper with the eods of	x.	433
— The black canker kind, destructive to turnips	lxx.	100
Catesby, Robert. (the projector of the gun-power plot,) some account of him	xii.	209
Cathartic medicines , when necessary	viii.	382
Catharina, Czarina. An anecdote of her brother	xxviii.	548
— Falsely charged with poisoning prince Alex.s	xxvii.	553
— Of poisoning her husband	xxviii.	554
— Her great character	xxx.	208
— Her admirable conduct in the campaign on the Pruth	xxx.	209
— Her letter to Voltaire	l.	533
— Her remarkable history	li.	493
* Catholics, Roman. Apology for	xxxviii.	264
— Refuted	xxviii.	265
— Their complaints of hardships under the British government unreasonable	xxxviii.	271
— Of the Gallican church less popish than the Catholics of other countries	xxii.	151

- Cathelips, Roman*, their great influence at Grenada xlii. 403
 — Late act in favour of, vindicated — lxii. 116. 149
 — Their free toleration in Scotland defended lxii. 150
 — The act of parliament farther vindicated lxii. 238. 271
Catholics, English, their conduct with respect to government unexceptionable — lxiv. 401, 408
 — Their numbers, wealth, and influence in this country, all declining — lxiv. 408
 — Apology for, in regard to oaths — lxix. 100
Cathluina, a Galic or Erse poem — lxiii. 341
Casinat, Marshal, Count Bonneval's opinion of him iii. 237
 — Memoirs of — lii. 348
 — Remarkable anecdote relative to — lxiii. 424
Cato, Criticism upon Addison's tragedy of — xv. 66
 — M. Portius, his character — xxx. 182
 — Cæsar's remarkable account of Cato's inebriety xxx. 183
 — Droll dialogue in the moon, between him and Beau Nash xxx. 353
 — His famous speech in Lucan's Pharsalia, translated into French prose — xxxvi. 501
 — Rowe's version of the same — xxxvi. 501
 — Story of his expelling Mantius from the senate for kissing his wife in public, not true — xliii. 562
 — Of his wife's never embracing him but when it thundered, fabulous also — xliii. 562
 — The elder, his ungenerous treatment of his servants, &c. xlv. 4
 — Character of Cicero's work so intitled — xlix. 109
 — Elegantly translated — xlix. 109
 — Addison's, censured — lix. 276
 — Character of the Roman patriot, Cato, compared with that of Cæsar — lix. 277
Cato's Letters, manly observations of that writer in favour of sentimental liberty — xxxii. 163
Cats, held in religious estimation by the Egyptians xlv. 652
 — Story of a Roman who killed a cat in Egypt xlv. 652
Catt, M. de, his memoirs on the true nature of the beautiful xlv. 532
 — His contest with Pernetty concerning physiognomy lii. 573. 584
 — His memoir on beauty, and invention in literary composition liii. 554
Catti, a tribe of ancient Germans, their warlike turn and character xlv. 560
Cattle, cordials for them in cold weather — x. 322
 — When proper to be fatted — xvii. 416
 — Queries on the importation of, from Ireland xxii. 258
 — An extraordinary disorder among, in France xxxviii. 583
 — Cure of — xxxviii. 583
 — Treatise on the methods of curing contagious disorders among them — lvi. 218
 — Directions for managing and feeding — lviii. 100
Castle,

Charles I. , his arbitrary, obstinate, and deceitful character	lvii.	184
— M. Spang's letter on his execution	lvii.	371
— The beheading of, disapproved	lvii.	372
— Letter from, when prince, to his father	lix.	94
— Marquis of Hamilton's letter to	lix.	99
— Account of his imprisonment in Carisbrook Castle	lxvi.	35
— His attempt to escape	lxvi.	37
Charles II. King of England , a papist	iii.	38
— Character of, by Lord Halifax	iii.	38
— Tries his fortune by the Sortes Virgilianæ	iii.	54
— A character of	vii.	127
— His character	xvi.	41. 535
— A great lover of chemistry	xvi.	45
— His reign retarded the progress of polite literature	xvi.	47
— His right to dispose of Dunkirk denied	xxi.	156
— His treatment of the Irish censured	xxiii.	135
— His speech to his parliament on his restoration	xxv.	168
— Story of, and the Widow Oliver	xxvi.	253
— His answer to an address of the Commons, concerning the recall of his subjects from the French King's service	xxviii.	190
— His parliament jealous of him	xxviii.	197
— His mis-government	xxviii.	197
— Corrupted by his residence in France	xxviii.	257
— Infatuation of the people at his restoration	xxviii.	257
— The parliament's jealousy of him justified	xxviii.	263
— A pensioner to France	xxviii.	264. 266
— His regard for the papists	xxviii.	358
— Severely characterized	xxix.	402
— His letter to the Dukes of Orleans	xlvi.	400
— His machinations with France, against the religion and liberties of his subjects	xlvi.	401
— His proclamation against coffee-houses	xliv.	101
— Not father to the Duke of Monmouth	lii.	417
Charles V. Emperor , his unfortunate expeditions against the Algerines	iii.	307
— His compliment to Guicciardini as an historian	x.	404
— Elected emperor	xxiv.	115
— Resigns the empire and his kingdom	xxiv.	116
— His death	xxiv.	116
— His great character and empire	xxxiv.	522
— His birth	xli.	3
— Fortunate events preparative to his vast empire	xli.	3
— His military genius	xli.	4
— His rivalry with Francis I.	xli.	8
— His friendship with Henry VIII.	xli.	10
— Defeats Francis, and takes him prisoner	xli.	85
— Enlarges his ambitious views	xli.	87
— Resolves to resign his crown, and end his days in a monastery	xli.	91
— Portrait of his extraordinary character	xli.	92

- Charles V. Emperor*, curious anecdote of ——— xviii. 97
 — Traits of his character as manifested in his deportment toward an English ambassador ——— lix. 3
 — His warm patronage of Titian the celebrated painter lxvii. 50
 — Anecdotes of ——— lxvi. 51
Charles VI. Emperor, surfeited with eating mushrooms xiv. 105
 — Life of ——— lviii. 301
Charles VII. King of France, invades Italy ——— xi. 20
 — Conquers Naples ——— xi. 23
 — His death ——— xi. 153
Charles IX. King of France, regrets the massacre of Paris xiv. 567
 — His miserable death ——— xiv. 568
Charles XII. King of Sweden, some anecdotes relating to him
 ——— xxii. 41
 — Besieged by the Turks at Bender ——— xxiv. 6
 — His expulsion of the janissaries from their houses xxiv. 8
 — Sallies out, and is taken ——— xxiv. 11
Charles, M. joins M. Robert in forming an air balloon lxix. 553
 — Their first experiment ——— lxix. 554
 — Second experiment ——— lxix. 558
 — aerial voyage by himself ——— lxix. 559
Charlestown, New England, account of the first settlement of
 ——— lxii. 468
Charlock, a weed, not easily distinguished from a turnip xviii. 557
Charr Fish in Wales, some account of ——— xv. 375
Charron, Montaigne's ape ——— xxxvi. 507
Charter, examination of an old one, witnessed by Thomas à Becket
 ——— lxx. 266
Chartreuse, mountain of, described ——— lii. 384
Charts of universal history, account of ——— lix. 113
Charybdis Gulpb, where properly placed ——— xxx. 551
Chastity, held in no esteem among the Greeks xxviii. 535
Chatelet, M. de, her attachment to Voltaire ——— lxx. 575
 — Her literary accomplishments ——— lxx. 576
Chatellur, Mons. de, his advantageous character as a writer and a man
 ——— li. 381
Chatham, account of a hand dug up in the church there lxix. 369
Chatsworth, by whom built ——— xxxix. 182
Chaisteron, account of him and his publications lxvi. 208
 — Further account of him, and of his pretended discovery of Rowley's poems ——— lxvi. 257, 321
 — Thistlethwayte's letter concerning ——— lxvi. 328
Chau, Abbé de la, assists in describing the gems in the cabinet of the Duc d'Orleans ——— lxiii. 293
Chaucer, considered rather as an old than a good poet xi. 119
Chaulnes, Duke de, a new method of perfecting astronomical instruments ——— xlii. 560
 — On the determination of the distance of Arcturus from the upper limb of the sun, at the summer solstice in 1765 xlii. 501
 — His dioptrical experiments ——— xli. 679
Chibannon,

Cebasson, M. his discourse on Pindar and lyric poetry	xxxix.	524
Cbeefe , a physical conjecture of the cause of the antipathy of some people to it	xix.	482
— The Roman Catholics, Church of England, and Presbyterians, typified by three sorts of	xxv.	110
— Humorous debate on	xxxiv.	42
Cbs-Hiang , the Chinese musk animal, some account of	lx.	552
— Method of hunting it	lx.	553
Cbeltenham and Epsom Water , the difference between	xv.	206
Chemistry , its use	v.	226
— Falsely represented both by its admirers and opposers	xi.	299
— Of the greatest use in physics	xi.	300
— Why formerly productive of errors	xi.	300
— Rational theory of	xi.	301
— Difference between operations and processes	xi.	302
— The knowledge of an operation, how acquired	xi.	303
— The practice carried into theory, what	xi.	303
— An operation of, how deduced from processes	xi.	303
— The knowledge of the theory of, in what it consists	xi.	304
— Errors in the furnaces commonly used in it	xvii.	379
— Its theory too little known	xix.	361
— Its importance in the improvement of husbandry	xix.	647
— New institutes of	xxi.	473
— A mistaken opinion among French chemists	xxv.	323
— Account of affinity in	xxxiv.	509
— Distinguished from natural history	xxxix.	135
— Experiments on the distillation of acids	xxxix.	357
— Experiments by M. Margraaf	xl.	555
— A remarkable story of	xli.	556
— M. Margraaf's experiments controverted	xlii.	497
— General principles of	xlix.	565
— Chemical experiments, by M. Jars	l.	551
— Legerdemain tricks performed by	lii.	27
— Curious essays and experiments in	liv.	123
— Elements of the theory and practice of	lvii.	400
— Introduction to	lviii.	385
— Discussion of M. Sage's principles of affinities	lx.	537
— Chemical experiments on lead ore	lxii.	48
— Greatly improved of late	lxiii.	502
— Observations and experiments on air and fire	lxiv.	339
— Chemical essays on land and soils	lxiv.	529
— Various improvements and discoveries in	lxv.	47. 56
— Various observations and experiments relative to	lxvi.	99. 134.
— Improved construction of large alembic	372.	593
— Its general divisions and subdivisions	lxvi.	138
— Cberadin , brother to Barbarousa, chosen king of Algiers	lxix.	461
— Puts his kingdom under the protection of the Ottomans	iii.	304
Cherokee Indians ; attempt to prove them descended from Meshek	xxviii.	164
		Cherokee

Cherokee Indians , prophesied of, by Ezekiel	xxxviii. 164
— Are to subdue the Europeans	xxxviii. 165
— Their country described	xxxiv. 2
— Their manner of living	xxxiv. 5
— Fidelity of their women	xxxiv. 6
— Their proper names explained	xxxiv. 7
— Characterized	xlix. 376
Cherubim , compared to the old and new testament	ii. 347
— The Hutchinsonian interpretation of	xiv. 190
— No where used for a plurality of persons	xiv. 191
— Possibly an old Hebrew word for hieroglyphic	xiv. 193
Cherub , meaning of that word	xv. 28
Cherasci , (ancient Germans,) their character	xliv. 560
Chesnut-tree , the question, whether a native production of this island or not, discussed	xlvi. 113
— Indian, account of	lxiv. 494
Cheshire , Gower's proposals for an history of	xlix. 304
— County palatine of, its famous petition to parliament	liii. 77
— Observations on the population and diseases of Chester	lx. 413
Chessterfield , account of the battle of	xlix. 262
Chessterfield , Earl of, his speech against licensing the stage, where to be met with	xv. 196
— His witty argument against licensing plays	xxxi. 247
— Sketch of his character	l. 258
— General account of his letters to his son	l. 259
— His advice on the subject of negligence of behaviour	l. 261
— His character of an absent man	l. 262
— His cautions against the seductions of pleasure	l. 263
— His invective against laughter	l. 265
— His cautions against historical testimony	l. 266
— His slight opinion of women	l. 361
— His advice with regard to the art of concealing our contempt of others	l. 362
— His remarks on good company	l. 363
— Confesses his own past errors	l. 365
— His character of the great Duke of Marlborough	l. 366
— Of the Chancellor Cowper	l. 368
— Character of Lord Bolingbroke	l. 369
— His licentious counsel relative to an illicit commerce between the sexes	l. 457
— His excellent sermon on sweetness of manners, with firmness of mind	l. 458
— His anecdotes with regard to the art for altering the style	l. 460
— Farther confession of his errors	l. 463
— His observations on the knowledge of the world	l. 464
— His letter to Voltaire	li. 24
— To his son at Berlin, commending him to Voltaire	li. 26
— Another letter to the same, on the same subject	li. 28
— His Lordship's maxims	li. 28
— His character of Lord Albemarle	li. 30

Chesterfield, Earl of , Character of the Duke of Newcastle	li.	31
— Of Sir Wm. Young	li.	31
— Of Mr. Pelham	li.	32
— Of Lord Bath	li.	32
— Of Louis XV.	li.	32
— Of Madame Maintenon	li.	32
— Apology for his letters	li.	33
— His style praised	lv.	27
— His writings excellent, but with exceptions	lv. 28.	29
— Commended as an accomplished gentleman	lv.	30
— Censured for the immorality of his letters	lv.	31
— And for railing at the women	lv.	32
— His character of Mr. Pitt	lvi.	293
— Of other great persons	lvi.	295
— His own character	lvi.	433
— His chagrin on finding his endeavours to polish his son frustrated	lvii.	60
— Apology for his system of education	lvii.	61
— List of his writings	lvii.	63
— His letter to Mr. Faulkner	lvii.	403
— Two letters from, to Master Stanhope	lix.	219
— His political tracts	lix.	224
— Censured on account of letters to his son	lxiii.	444
Cheetah , a kind of leopard, employed by the East Indians in hunting the antelope	l.	312
Chica , a troublesome insect, account of	ix.	297
Chickens , manner of hatching them in ovens in Egypt	iii.	208
— The use of dung for hatching them in hot-beds	iii.	209
— Curious observations on their progressive state during incubation	xxxix.	357
Chicken-pox , symptomatic progress of	xxv.	309
— Dr. Heberden's observations on	xxxix.	40
Chiesma, Bay of , narrative of the great sea-fight between the Russians and Turks there	xlvi.	138
Childers , a famous running horse, his amazing speed	xxx.	342
Children , petition of new-born babes	v.	516
— Duty to parents	vi.	177
— Duty to parents not innate	vii.	99
— On the nursing and education of	vii.	145
— Directions concerning their nursing	ix.	161
— Their diet	ix.	162
— Exercise, clothing, &c.	ix.	163
— Their manners	ix.	164
— Their dispositions	ix.	164
— Milder methods of correction preferred to the severe	ix.	164
— Too much indulgence to be guarded against	ix.	165
— Decency with regard to the sex to be observed	ix.	166
— The exercise of justice, how to be taught them	ix.	167
— Industry and oeconomy to be inculcated	ix.	168

Children , a reformation of the common method of education proposed	ix.	311
— Their diseases too superficially treated of by physicians	xii.	377
— Should be taught charitable habits and benevolence to the animal creation, even in their amusements	xvi.	337
— Their inclination and talents to be previously consulted before they are put to business	xxiv.	68
— How to discover them	xxiv.	68
— The mother of no kin to	xxiv.	113
— Importance of mothers nursing their own	xxvii.	259
— Young, their dress and diet	xxvii.	260
— Should have little or no physic	xxvii.	260
— Should learn to bear sickness	xxvii.	261
— Should not be treated with too much tenderness	xxvii.	263.
— Nor with too much severity	xxvii.	264.
— In what manner they should be taught to read	xxvii.	345
— The morality usually taught them, absurd	xxvii.	345
— Should not be permitted to give alms	xxvii.	349
— Can know but one language	xxvii.	352
— Should not be pressed to learn	xxvii.	353
— History an improper study for them	xxvii.	352
— Fables improper for their instruction	xxvii.	352
— Improperly instructed in the mysteries of religion	xxviii.	558.
— Strange method of managing them in Holland	xxix.	511
— Mr. Ballexferd's dissertation on the physical education of children recommended	xxix.	511
— Not to be argued out of their follies or vices	xxx.	303.
— At what time their moral education ought to commence	xxx.	304
— Important precepts relating to	xxx.	306
— Medical caution in regard to the management of	xxxi.	234
— Story of a sect of fanatics who piously murdered their children	xxxi.	244
— Lady M. W. Montague's sentiments on nursing	xxxvi.	477
— Mothers nursing their own, recommended	xxxviii.	95
— Duty of, to parents, enforced	xl.	133
— Not to be harshly treated in their education	xl.	526
— Their curiosity the best vehicle of instruction	xl.	526
— Their love of society to be improved	xl.	529.
— See Infants .
Child bearing , the effects of imagination in	x.	466
— The force of imagination denied	xxxiii.	28
— Particular instances of imagination controverted	xxxiii.	34
— Influence of imagination in, asserted	xlvi.	542
Child birth , case of Mrs. Souchot	lx.	74
Child , kingdom of, its history, geographical, natural, &c.	lvi.	224
Chillingworth , his religion of protestants applauded	iii.	243
— His character	xxi.	32.
Chilperic , King of France, his short way of converting a Jew l.	214
Chimneys , to prevent their smoaking	lvi.	427
China , account of the Christian church there	ii.	52
	China ,

China , religious tenets of the inhabitants of	iv.	437
→ The tribunals of,	iv.	327
→ Their doctrine of a Saviour	iv.	444
→ Gasbil's account of the geography in	v.	5
→ The antiquity of the Chinese annals	vii.	91
→ All the Chinese books, except those of physio, agriculture and astrology, ordered to be burnt	vii.	91
→ Those who attempted to conceal books were burnt with them	vii.	92
→ No good objection against their chronology	vii.	94
→ Account of the letters of the missionaries	vii.	421
→ A description of the Emperor's palace at Peking	vii.	421
→ Tragedy compared with the Greek	ix.	22
→ Their chronology very ancient	x.	197
→ Country very populous	x.	198
→ Account of the great wall in China	x.	199
→ The fortifications of their towns	x.	199
→ The ordinary revenue of their emperor	x.	199
→ Their geometry and astronomy	x.	201
→ Blended their errors of astrology with celestial observations	x.	201
→ The great obstructions to their improvements in the arts and sciences	x.	202
→ The difficulty of their writings	x.	202
→ Their great regard to morality and the laws	x.	202
→ And to paternal authority	x.	202
→ Their care of the poor, and unaccountable neglect of their children	x.	202
→ Their universal modesty, gentleness, and civility	x.	202
→ The Emperor their high-priest, first philosopher, and first preacher	x.	203
→ Laokium, founder of a sect in China	x.	203
→ Superstitious sects tolerated among them	x.	204
→ Their encouragement for improvements in agriculture	x.	332
→ Great ignorance in matters of religion	x.	409
→ Letter on sundry rarities	xi.	226
→ History of, ill conducted	xii.	489
→ Gazette, how conducted	xii.	492
→ Varnish, how made	xiv.	420
→ Language how constituted and formed	xv.	110
→ Their literary character	xvii.	318
→ A colony of Egyptians	xxi.	520
→ Pronunciation hard to be conveyed by English letters	xxiii.	265
→ Novel account of	xxv.	429
→ Exempt from European criticism	xxv.	431
→ Proverbs, specimens of	xxv.	433
→ Poetry, observations on	xxv.	434
→ Language, number of words in	xxviii.	174
→ Defective of an alphabet	xxviii.	174
→ Their literature comprized in arbitrary characters	xxviii.	174
→ Wholly address to the eye	xxviii.	175

China , high reverence paid by the inhabitants to their literati	xxviii.	175
— Inscription on a supposed antique bust, Needham's remarks on	xxix.	31
— Controverted by Montagu	xxix.	34
— Abbé Winkelman's opinion of	xxix.	35
— Their early and extensive navigation contended for	xxix.	517
— America known to them before the time of Columbus	xxix.	518
— Merchant, curious history of a settlement made by one near the Malaccas,	xli.	262
— One of their sacred books published	xliii.	552
— Number of inhabitants in	xliv.	403
— Language, some remarks on	xliv.	318, 403
— Their knowledge in sciences	xliv.	318, 403
— Their religion	xliv.	318, 403
— Eckeberg, his voyage to	xliv.	404
— Their taste in gardening	xlix.	527
— Their art of war	xlix.	555
— Descendants of the Egyptians	xlix.	562
— Their method of improving their lakes and Meres	li.	16
— Account of the cold in	li.	552
— Their annals examined	liii.	571
— Their literature and history	liii.	571
— Mailla's history of	liv.	394
— Grand annals of, an immense work	liv.	539
— Extraordinary probity of the Chinese historians	liv.	541
— Striking instances of their rigid accuracy and integrity	liv.	542
— History of, now compiling in France, from their materials	liv.	542
— Mistakes in the annals rectified	liv.	540
— The antiquity of their nation disproved	lv.	531
— Not a learned people	lv.	533
— Their historical records all destroyed by authority of government	lv.	534
— General history of, by Grosier	lvii.	236
— By F. De Moriac de Maillac	lvii.	477
— Memoirs concerning their history, sciences, &c.	lvii.	475
— M. de Guignes's account of their learning and philosophy	lviii.	535
— Memoirs relating to their history arts, manners, &c.	lix.	66
— Account of some of its earliest emperors	lix.	521
— Of its ancient philosophers	lix.	522
— Of a learned lady there	lix.	523
— Of the hot-houses in that country	lix.	525
— Of their improvements in the art of engrafting	lix.	527
— Historical account of the several dynasties of their Emperors	lx.	501
— Their high regard to filial piety	lx.	547
— Ill effects of that predominant principle in China	lx.	548
— Other particulars relative to that people	lx.	549
— Calculations of the number of inhabitants in that empire	lx.	505, 548
— Extraordinary high interest of money in that country	lx.	549
— Conjectures relative to the cause of	lx.	550

China,

China , present state of medicine there	—	lx. 550
— Account of the musk animal there	—	lx. 552
— Histoire naturelle du Tonquin	—	lxi. 54
— The wines, fruits, and other products of	—	lxii. 519
— M. Pau's account of the Chinese controverted	—	lxii. 521
— Their chronology not so ancient as pretended by some writers	—	lxii. 506
— Their history extremely defective	—	lxii. 508
— Their empire first established about 1000 years before Christ	—	lxii. 511
— Their music	—	lxii. 521
— Their population	—	lxii. 522
— Their ignorance of astronomy	—	lxii. 523
— Their hospitals for foundlings	—	lxii. 524
— Correspondence between that country and Russia, by land	—	lxiii. 7
— Immense distance between the trading towns of the two empires	—	lxiii. 7
— Researches into the religion of	—	lxiv. 548
— Their peculiar manner of doing public business	—	lxx. 555
— On the writing of	—	lxx. 557
— Their great attention to journalizing the events of the times	—	lxx. 558
— Their grand annals	—	lxx. 558
— Some account of another work of theirs, on government, morals, &c.	—	lxx. 559
— Curious particulars relative to	—	lxx. 555
— State of population in that empire	—	lxx. 560
— Present emperor of, his excellent character	—	lxx. 561
China , manufactory of, its flourishing state at Berlin	—	lv. 554
Chin-cough , Dr. Fothergill's medicine for	—	xxxviii. 444
Chio , in the Levant, described	—	lxii. 517
— Its delicious wines	—	lxii. 518
— Its music	—	lxii. 519
Chirurgical operations, presence of mind, necessary in the performance of	—	xviii. 317
— Pharmacy definition of	—	xxiv. 319
Chiswick-house criticised	—	lxiv. 191
Chittick's drops; or, solvent for the stone, how to prepare	—	xl. 438
Chivalry , sprung from feudal constitution	—	xxvii. 82
— Not an absurd and freakish constitution	—	xxvii. 83
— Favourable to virtue as well as gallantry	—	xxvii. 84
— Analogy between heroes of ancient Greece and the knights errant of Christendom	—	xxvii. 86
— How far necessary for the protection of the ladies	—	xxvii. 87
— Its great influence in former times	—	xl. 331
— Poetically described	—	lxvi. 342
Chocolats , its culture and manufacture	—	xv. 337. 340
— A new kind of, made from the lime-tree	—	liii. 546
Choiſi , a palace of the French king, described	—	xlvi. 64
		Choiſui ,

Cbeifaul, Count de. His account of the isles of Naxos, Tenas, Syra, and Delos	ix.	510
— His description of several parts of Greece	lxii.	517
— His voyage from the Meander to the gulph of Adramytti,	lxx.	566
— His voyage to Ephesus and Smyrna	lxx.	567
— His account of the Maniotes	lxx.	567
— His idea of the ancient spirit of the Greeks, still latently subsisting in their descendents	lxx.	567
Cholera morbus , remedies for	xxxv.	308
Cholic , Japanese method of curing	xxiii.	469
— of Devonshire, Poitou, and the American islands compared	xxxi.	184
— Observations on	xxxi.	185
Chorus , use of, in the old drama	vi.	389
— In the ancient tragedy, its impropriety and absurdity	xix.	559
— The omission of, in modern tragedies justified	xx.	507
— In ancient tragedy explained	xxii.	456
— The advantages of	xxxiii.	4
— The ancient described	xxiii.	293, 373
Chou King , one of the sacred books of the Chinese, some account of	xlili.	552
Christ , criteria of his being the Messiah	ii.	275, 391
— Prophecies relating to him, considered	iv.	181
— Parallel between him and Moses	iv.	184
— Reflections on the death and sufferings of	iv.	271
— On the scripture expressions "the angel of the Lord," and "Jesus Christ"	vi.	240
— The excellency of his character	viii.	24
— Whether the same with Michael	ix.	138, 422
— Whether the care of the Israelites was not assigned to him as the portion of his inheritance	ix.	149
— Noah how said to be the type of	ix.	318
— An argument to prove that he was a perfect man	ix.	424
— The covenant of grace and satisfaction of Christ said to be the basis of christianity	ix.	425
— His true and proper divinity asserted	xi.	51
— In what sense the creation of the world is ascribed to him	xi.	52
— Wherein his incarnation consists	xi.	52, 377
— His co-equality with the Father disproved	xi.	36, 127
— Character of	xiii.	12
— Divinity of, proved from St. John	xiii.	16
— In what cases to be considered as a sacrifice	xiii.	180
— His character	xiv.	152
— The true time of his crucifixion	xv.	241, 244
— His satisfaction defined	xvii.	119
— His divine and human nature in one person	xvii.	119
— His sufferings make a full satisfaction for the sins of the whole world	xvii.	119
— Account of his agony in the garden	xxiii.	35

Christ , not the same with Jehovah	—	—	xxi.	107
— Cause of the diversity of opinions concerning his office and dignity			xxii.	30
— A clear illustration of them	—	—	xxii.	31
— What the characters ascribed to him signify			xxii.	31
— Observations on his behaviour to the thief at his crucifixion			xxiii.	358
— Temptation of Christ	—	—	xxv.	131
— Not a diabolical vision	—	—	xxv.	131
— Divine vision	—	—	xxv.	132
— Exposition of it	—	—	xxv.	133
— Intention of this vision	—	—	xxv.	135
— A concise view of the scheme of salvation by			xxvi.	116
— His kingdom not eternal	—	—	xxvi.	182
— A ransom for all	—	—	xxvi.	183
— Not the son of David in any sense	—	—	xxvii.	62
— Son of God not the immediate object of divine homage			xxvii.	304
— One God only to be worshipped	—	—	xxvii.	305
— His character strangely burlesqued in Spanish comedy			xxviii.	294
— Orthodox account of his nature and offices			xxviii.	313
— His personal example, recommended to intolerants			xxx.	199
— His natural and assumed character	—	—	xxx.	200
— His wonderful excellence as a teacher and reformer			xxx.	200
— Considered as the Saviour of the world	—	—	xxx.	201
— And as the Jewish Messiah	—	—	xxx.	201
— His temptation in the wilderness considered in a new light			xxx.	473
— Reasons for his submitting to the ceremony of baptism			xxxi.	82
— Universal tenour of all his ministry	—	—	xxxi.	82
— Great extent of his knowledge of mankind, &c.			xxxi.	83
— Illustrated in his conversation with Nicodemus			xxxi.	84
— Remarks on his transfiguration	—	—	xxxi.	84
— On his burial	—	—	xxxi.	359
— His supposed conference with Abgarus, a fiction			xxxii.	10
— Wrote nothing	—	—	xxxii.	12
— How far successful in destroying the dominions of Satan			xxxii.	175
— His religion reduced to morality	—	—	xxxii.	183
— This notion controverted	—	—	xxxii.	184
— The transcendency of his character, a proof that his errand was of more importance than to enforce the religion of nature			xxxii.	184
— Death of	—	—	xxxii.	261
— His atonement enquired into	—	—	xxxii.	259
— The excellency of the peculiar sacrifice of his death			xxxvi.	247
— His life, character, &c.	—	—	xxxvii.	418
— The year of his crucifixion ascertained, and the darkness proved to be supernatural			xxxvii.	431
— The certainty of there having been such a person proved			xxxviii.	211

Christ, difficulties relating to his curfing the fig-tree, difcuffed	xli. 101
— His temptation in the wildernefs investigated	xli. 107
— Difficulties relating to	xli. 108
— Compared with Jofeph	xlili. 175
— His temptation in the wildernefs not vifionary	xlili. 181
— The humble circumftances of his birth conducive to the luftre of his character	xlili. 423
— The propriety of his appearing as a worker of miracles	xlili. 424
— Remarks on the genealogy of	xlvi. 62
— Obfervations on his miraculous cure of the leper	xlvi. 128
— On his fending the devils into the fwine	xlvi. 129
— On his miracle of the loaves and fifhes	xlvi. 130
— On the refurrection of Lazarus	xlvi. 131
— On his own refurrection	xlvi. 131
— His prayer commented on	xlvi. 558
— Sundry opinions relating to his divine and human nature canvaffed	xlvi. 559, 564
— Enquiry into the perfon and character of	l. 86, 92
— His peculiar view in the choice of his apoftles	liii. 313
— God's goodnefs in	liii. 510
— The cuftom of praying to indefenfible	lv. 197
— No reference made to him in the word Logos	lv. 198
— Abfurdity of two natures in Chrift the divine and the human	lv. 264
— His pre-exiftence not maintained by St. John	lv. 266
— His humanity afferted	lvi. 16
— Divine worfhip not to be paid to	lvi. 41
— Not to be ftyled Chrift, but The Chrift	lvi. 195
— Various celebrated texts relating to him critically explained	lvi. 199
— Character of the Mefſiah verified	lvi. 217
— The time neceffary for the purpoſe of his miniſtry computed	lviii. 90
— The circumftances attending his refurrection confidered	lviii. 91
— Whether an object of divine worfhip	lx. 77
— His high character as a preacher	lxi. 104
— Critical account of the duration of his miniſtry	lxi. 266
— Obfervations on his difcourſe on the Mount	lxi. 270
— On the tranſactions of the day of his refurrection	lxi. 272
— Death of, confidered in the ſame light with that of Socrates	lxii. 11
— Inquiry into the duration of his public miniſtry	lxiv. 82
— His prayer paraphraſed	lxiv. 165
— In what ſenſe the Son of God	lxiv. 313
— Farther controverſy relative to the duration of his miniſtry	lxiv. 433
— The duration of his miniſtry	lxvi. 16
— Illuſtration of the ſpices brought to embalm the body of	lxvii. 117
— See alſo Mefſiah .

Christianity , doctrine of, considered	—	ii. 485
— The credibility of, considered	—	ii. 493
— Christian life, considered in a progressive state	—	iii. 101
— Account of Christians in the kingdom of Algiers	—	iii. 417
— Superstitious additions to it	—	iv. 173
— Vindicated	iv. 18, 81, 122, 172,	339
— The main evidences of its truth.	—	vi. 432
— The true Christian worship	—	vii. 342
— Its peculiar nature and excellency represented	—	viii. 7
— A scheme of wisdom and righteousness for the sanctification and redemption of mankind	—	viii. 7
— Presumptive arguments of its truth and divine authority, from the general character of Christ	—	viii. 24
— From his character as a teacher of morality	—	viii. 25
— From his thorough knowledge of human nature and duty	—	viii. 25
— The diligent practice of, the most effectual means of establishment in the faith of it	—	viii. 30, 31
— The testimonies of heathen writers to the truth of its history	—	viii. 111, 113
— The external evidences of its truth	—	viii. 117, 120
— The attestations of the ancient fathers	—	viii. 118
— Agreeable to reason	—	viii. 399
— The true method of defending it against unbelievers	—	viii. 399
— Unhappily perverted to bad purposes	—	viii. 399
— A new way of defending it, proposed	—	ix. 241
— Its tendency to inspire magnanimity	—	xii. 10
— Said to have received its worst wounds from its friends	—	xii. 154
— Who to be accounted such	—	xii. 434
— Founded on facts of which every one may judge	—	xii. 9
— Evidences of, acknowledged by its enemies	—	xiii. 185
— The history of, necessary to be studied	—	xiii. 187
— Not likely to make any great progress among the American Indians	—	xiii. 275
— The same arguments used by Hutchinsonians in defence of, as by infidels, to overthrow it	—	xv. 80
— When, and by whom first planted in England	—	xv. 569
— The original of the denomination of Christians	—	xvi. 537
— A serious address to Christians	—	xviii. 315
— Its fundamental points, what	—	xix. 151
— Always flourished or decayed with learning and liberty	—	xix. 415
— The origin of the nocturnal assemblies of Christians	—	xix. 438
— Observations on	—	xxii. 392
— Remarks on the christian character	—	xxv. 215
— Negative and positive definition of	—	xxv. 216
— The primitive Christians, liable to the censure of calumny they cast on the Heathens	—	xxvii. 28
— Disbelief of, where established, why deemed odious	—	xxvii. 32
— Styled true deism	—	xxvii. 36
Christianity .

Christianity. Impudent manner in which it is sometimes defended by the clergy	xxvii.	408
Conversion of the first Christians, owing to the operations of the Holy Spirit	xxvii.	401
Dove changed to a vulture	xxvii.	413
Changed their humility into insolence and tyranny	xxvii.	503
Not to be rejected on account of the immortality of its professors	xxviii.	40
Natural religion	xxviii.	560
Christian tragedies on the coast of Coromandel	xxix.	93
What reformation it has produced in the world	xxx.	197
Suited to the necessities of mankind	xxx.	425
Tends to promote good order in the world	xxx.	431
How corrupted	xxxii.	162
Defended on the principles of reason	xxxii.	179
Not a mere republication of the religion of nature	xxxii.	184
Importance of believing in	xxxii.	254
Primitive causes of the mutual dislike between the Christians and the Romans	xxxiii.	94
Heresies and schisms among Christians, in the first century	xxxiii.	99, 104
Trajan's rescript, a proof of their innocence	xxxiv.	36
State of, under the heathen emperors	xxxiv.	436
The errors and virtues of the three first centuries	xxxiv.	437
Rather declining under christian princes	xxxiv.	438
Cruel methods of propagating, in the time of Charlemagne	xxxv.	173
Evidences for, considered	xxxv.	178, 187
Advantages derived to, from the opposition of infidels	xxxv.	257
Chalcidius's testimony of the truth of	xxxvi.	270
Not fit for a national church	xxxvii.	65
A friend to government	xxxvii.	201
Injured by being legally established	xxxvii.	341
Eulogium on	xxxviii.	429
In what manner it ought to be defended against infidel writers	xxxviii.	598
Its triumph in the reign of Constantine	xl.	34, 103
Censure of those who question its evidences	xl.	130
Not a gloomy scheme	xlvi.	161
Strongly recom. as bearing the contrary complexion	xlvi.	161
Folly of raising objections against	xlvi.	231
Principles and spirit of, grossly misrepresented	xlvi.	559
Its happy influence on mankind	li.	534
An enemy to slavery	li.	537
Objection against on account of the uncertainty of its doctrines, answered	liii.	316
How contemptuously used in Egypt	liii.	579
Remarks on the rise and progress of, among the Romans	lv.	45
Charact. and conduct of the primitive Christ. arraigned with respect to the footing they first obtained in the Roman empire	lv.	46

Christianity , not unfriendly to public virtue	lv.	174
— Primitive, allowed great latitude for people to do business on the sabbath day	lv.	185
— Substance of the defences of the apologists	lv.	389
— Defended	lv.	454
— Their doctrines with regard to a future life	lv.	455
— Miraculous powers ascribed to	lv.	457
— Their virtues	lv.	458
— Apologists ill-treated by Mr. Gibbon	lv.	462
— Apologists defended	lv.	462
— Farther defended	lv.	462
— Translation of Euler's defence	lvii.	483
Christian II. King of Denmark , his horrid character and expulsion from the throne	xxvii.	360
— His bad character	l.	428
Christian IV. His heroic character and wise conduct	l.	429
Christian V. Short account of	l.	434
Christian VI. His great qualities	l.	435
Christian, Frederick Post. Some account of him and his embassy	xx.	547
Christiern, King of Denmark , his usage of Gustavus Ericson, and other Swedish hostages	xxiv.	56
— Is proclaimed king of Sweden	xxiv.	57
— His brutal treatment of Stockholm	xxiv.	60
Christina, Queen of Sweden , Curious particulars relating to her	xlvi.	395, 602
— Anecdote, and character of	lxiv.	133
Christmas-day , improperly celebrated on the 25th of December	liv.	105
Chronical disorders. Observations on	liii.	432
Chronology , plan of a system of	vii.	1
— The antiquity of various systems	vii.	2
— How they differ	vii.	3
— Agreement between Josephus and the Septuagint	vii.	3
— Of the Hebrew bible, erroneous	vii.	4
— Suspected to have been corrupted by the Jews	vii.	5
— Greek chronology, the true	vii.	11
— Table from the Exodus to the beginning of the temple	vii.	19
— No good objection against the Chinese	vii.	94
— Usefulness of	xi.	320
— Account of Blair's tables	xi.	381
— Rudbeck's method of ascertaining	xiii.	192
— Reasons for adhering to Sir Isaac Newton's system of	xiii.	183
— Sir Isaac Newton's method of computing it	xvii.	254
— Reasons for the disagreement of the evangelists in	xvi.	240
— Mr. Kennedy's, unastronomical	xxviii.	434
— The soul of history	xxx.	85
— How far benefited by astronomy	xxxii.	94
— Difficulties in the Mosaic history	xxxiii.	404
	Chronology,

Cibber, Theophilus , his life	xxxii.	301
— His unhappy end	xxxii.	304
— How far concerned in the lives of the poets, published under his name	lxv.	409
Cibet , the missionary, his essay on the writing of the Chinese	lxx.	557
Cicada , of North America, account of that insect	xxxiii.	447
Cicero , his letters illustrate the Roman history	ii.	179
— Represented under the character of Drances	ii.	442, 445
— His method of thinking preferred to that of Seneca	iii.	324
— Somnium Scipionis	v.	86
— Epistles to Atticus	v.	518
— His conduct in exile	vi.	412
— His character and writings	viii.	340
— Apology for his conduct in the affair of the Campanian lands, and defence of Vatinius	viii.	343
— His rank among the ancients as an orator	ix.	73
— A vindication of, from Bolingbroke's censures	x ii.	151
— Compared with Quintilian	xiv.	50
— The best Latin writer either in language or sentiment	xviii.	381
— Erasmus's encomiums on his writings	xix.	524
— Little esteemed by Montaigne	xix.	525
— Difficulty of translating him	xix.	525
— His Tusculan disputations, on what occasion composed	xix.	526
— Miserably translated	xix.	526
— Character of his treatise concerning the orator	xx.	65
— His character	xxii.	536
— Some strictures on his conduct and character	xxx.	181
— Remarkable story of his purchasing a fine house	xxx.	184
— His great reverse of fortune	xxx.	185
— Want of firmness to support it	xxx.	186
— Changes his political conduct	xxx.	187
— His wife and prudent government of Cilicia	xxx.	188
— His opinion in favour of unwritten evidence	xxx.	477
— His treatise on consolation supposed to be spurious	xxxviii.	427
— His ridiculous account of the music of the spheres	xliii.	560
— Brief account of	xlv.	578
— Defended against the Bishop of Gloucester	xli.	658
— Encomium on his essay on old age	xlix.	109
— Elegant translation of, by Melmoth	xlix.	109
— His fine reflections on the happiness of a sature state	xlix.	110
— His vanity apologized for	xlix.	552
— His account of the accomplishments of an orator	lvi.	82
— His views in writing his essay on friendship	lvii.	462
— Advantages of his being trained under Quintus Mucius	lvii.	463
— His character defended against a late translator of his orations	lxiv.	251
— His character as a philosopher defended	lxiv.	557
— Enquiry into the philosophy of	lxiv.	557

Cicibus

Cicilians of Italy , gallants to married ladies in Italy	xi.	200
— Origin of that office	xxxiii.	521
— Account of them	xxxv. 332.	336
— Not criminal	xxxviii.	455
— Universally used at Rome	xl.	576
Cicilians, Spanish , account of	xlvi.	299
Cicuta , Dr. Watson's account of	xxvii.	329
— Account of its success in Ireland	xxxviii.	440
— Observations on the use of, by Dr. Fothergill	xxxviii.	447
Cicutaria , or fool's parsley.	xxix.	174
Cimon , his munificence highly exaggerated	xlvi.	564
Cincona Jamaicensis , seu Caribbeana , described	lviii.	459
— Medical virtues of	lviii.	459
Cipriani , his great merit as a painter	lix.	285
Circles , Landen's theorems	xlii.	327
— Theorems relating to	xlii.	328
Circumcision , a patriarchal institution	xi.	330
— Observations relative to	lxix.	97
Circumcision , Cape, on the situation of	lxvi.	494
— On the longitude of	lxviii.	631
Cistercian Monks , great privileges of that order	lii.	224
Cities , how far advantageous to a country	xxvi.	376
— Great ones the graves of mankind	xlvi.	100
— Difference between the duration of human life in them and in the country	xlvi.	100
City Latin , specimens of	xxiv.	80
Civil Law , why neglected	xx.	325
Civil Liberty , what	xv.	226
— How secured	xv.	227
Civil Magistrate , his power asserted	v.	429
Civil Power , how limited	xv.	221
— Whether a state may deliver up to the enemy one of its innocent members	xv.	230
Civil War , in the reign of Charles I. originally begun upon patriotic principles	xxiii.	405
— of Charles I. picture of that calamitous time	xxii.	411
Civili , the Batavian hero, delivers his country from the tyranny of the Romans.	xlvi.	550
Civilization , natural consequences of	xxix.	8
— Particularly with respect to songs	xxix.	82
— Poetry, how improved in process of time by	xxix.	84
— Method of	xxx.	38
— Advantages of	xl.	281
— Inferences from language, with respect to	xlvi.	528
— Philosophical reflections on the origin of civilization, and the means of correcting its abuses	lxv.	382
— Recherches sur l'origine	lxv.	458
Civita Turbino , subterraneous apartments discovered there	xxxi.	269
Clairon , Mad. de, her dispute with the church	xxxviii.	288
Clare-hall , Cambridge, Mrs. Freeman's bequest to	xlii.	462
	Clarendon,

Clarendon, Earl of, his conduct in the sale of Dunkirk	viii.	32
— Remarks on his history	x.	177
— Authenticity of his history proved by vouchers	xix.	233
— The interpolations of his history contested by E. Smith	xix.	237
— Whence his high notions of prerogative arose	xxi.	25
— Characters of his intimates	xxi.	28
— Excellent advice given him by his father	xxi.	148
— How he gained the favour of King Charles	xxi.	149
— His double dealing with king and parliament	xxi.	152
— His behaviour on his daughter's marriage with the Duke of York	xxi.	153
— His remonstrance to Charles on his ill life	xxi.	160
— His disgrace	xxi.	161
— Biographical account of him	xxix.	194
— Unimportance of his letters	xxix.	194
— His diary recommended	xxix.	194
— Censured	xxix.	196
— Anecdotes from	xxix.	198
— His account of the birth of the Pretender	xxix.	198
— His curious conversation with the Princess Anne on that subject	xxix.	260
— His critical observations on several passages of scripture	xliii.	177
— The style of his history censured	l.	342
— Wrote his history under prejudices and superstition	lii.	135
— His character as an historian, censured	lv.	448
— Story of E. Smith's being employed to alter his history	lxii.	303
— His history of the rebellion not altered by the Oxford editor	lxii.	303
— His history poetically characterised	lxiii.	33
Clarges, Sir Thomas, his speech on the speaker being a courtier	xxviii.	127
— On the Duke of Buckingham's justification	xxviii.	131
— On the greatness of France	xxviii.	196
— On a breach of privilege	xxviii.	260
Clarke Mr. his account of the Patagonians met with by Commodore Byron	xxxix.	417
Clarke; Dr. Samuel, the life of, by Dr. Birch	vii.	272
— Mistaken in his notion of the eternal fitness of things, &c.	xxix.	52
— His history of exceptionable passages in our liturgy	l.	102
— Proposals for the amendment of	l.	102
Classics, not easily translated	iv.	481
Classical Literature, grafted on the gospel	xxv.	419
Classical Knowledge, compared with that of modern writers	xxv.	364
Classical Manners, why still admired and imitated by the poets	xxvii.	97
Clandian, Essay on his life and writings	xi.	573
Claudius, the Gothic, his account of his victory over the Goths	xxv.	262
Claviaria sibilifera, account of	xxxi.	210
Clay; see Husbandry.

Clayton,

Clayton, Bp. of Clogher , the canonical books of scripture owned by the Jews, appealed to by him, for the coming of the Messiah v.	283
— His speech against the Nicene and Athanasian creeds	xxix. 248
— Offer a reward for discoveries in Arabia	liii. 382
Chantres , his divine hymn translated	i. 122
Cleghorn, Dr. his account of a feather swallowed by a young lady	xxxviii. 432
— Case of an aneurism	xxxviii. 436
Clemence, M. his character of the Messiah verified	lvi. 217
Clemency towards enemies, recommended	ii. 441
— to brutes, a lecture proposed to enforce the obligation of	xxiv. 314
— to criminals; sometimes injurious to the public	xxxvi. 404
Clement, Pope , his character	xxiv. 133
— VII. droll story of three ladies who applied to him for fleshly indulgence on fast days	xli. 532
— XIV. his life	lii. 544
— His amiable and excellent character	liv. 532
— Extracts from his letters	liv. 533
Cleomenes, King of Sparta , his conduct in the war against Megalopolis	lxiii. 416
Cleopatra , her character	xvii. 40
— Panegyric on	xxxvi. 485
— Her voyage down the Cydnus, a fine subject for the painter	xliv. 126
— The design sketched	xliv. 126
— Her catastrophe described	xliv. 116
Clergy of England , Lord Halifax's reflections on them	lii. 40
— Exhorted to unite in promoting a reformation of the liturgy	iii. 2
— Their opinions and practice censured	iv. 41
— Their office and qualifications	vi. 181
— The respect due to them	vi. 182
— In what manner to proceed, as to the facts in the Christian religion	vi. 289
— Their lands seized by Edward I.	vii. 436
— The ill-conduct of some of them exposed	vii. 454
— Severe and unjust reflection on them	viii. 460
— The advantages of action in the pulpit	ix. 58
— Their obligation to observe the rubric	ix. 426
— How far bound by other ecclesiastical laws	ix. 427
— Many of them have done great disservice to religion	x. 185
— And others of great use to mankind	x. 185
— Reflections on immoral clergymen	xi. 442
— The treatment due to them	xi. 444
— Scheme for a fund for widows and children of clergymen	xii. 383
— Directions to a student in divinity	xiii. 189
— Proposal for a tax on non-residence	xiv. 364
— Proposal for a tax on pluralists	xiv. 365
— True criterion of sacerdotal merit	xvi. 606

Clergy of England, pluralities in the church defended	xvii.	180
— The reasons of their complying with the reformation	xvii.	210
— A scheme for the relief of their widows and children	xvii.	217
— Their industry not to be wished	xx.	352
— Of the present not to be feared	xx.	352
— Nothing more suited to the character than a grave and abstracted severity	xxi.	17
— On the residence and non-residence of the clergy	xxi.	435
— Reason why they are not more respected	xxii.	558
— Obstructions to residence	xxiii.	252
— Their ambition beyond that of other men	xxiv.	22
— Unable to bear contradiction	xxiv.	22
— Necessitated to promote superstition and hypocrisy in order to maintain the veneration paid to them	xxiv.	23
— Their character defended from these allegations	xxiv.	29
— Business of a minister of the gospel	xxiv.	27
— An apology for pluralists	xxiv.	284
— Their precarious dependence, and the distressed condition of their widows	xxvi.	127
— Project for their relief	xxvi.	128
— Charged with persecution, and defended	xxvii.	430
— Bad ones only averse to impartial examination	xxviii.	210
— Inexpediency of their serving as jurymen in ecclesiastical causes	xxix.	163
— Privileges and restraints of the clergy	xxix.	270
— Terms of ordination of	xxix.	270
— Ordinances relating to their apparel, &c.	xxix.	271
— Pathetic exhortation to	xxix.	429
— Brief sketch of their office and duties	xxix.	430
— Scheme for augmenting the income of indigent, and providing for their widows and orphans	xxx.	330
— How far they ought to take upon them the suppression of bad books	xxxi.	505
— Not to interfere in the province of the civil magistrate	xxxi.	505
— Clergyman and priest, not synonymous terms	xxxii.	80
— Apology for their not keeping within the rules of moderation in controversy	xxxii.	250
— Monstrous increase of their power	xxxiii.	340
— The hardships of curates	xxxiv.	406
— Accusations against	xxxvii.	65
— Display of their character, office, and duty	xxxix.	359
— Strictures on their subscribing to articles, &c.	xxxix.	375
— Observations on the ordination of	xxxix.	375
— Exhorted to call home banished Christianity	xl.	76
— Their extreme ignorance and depravity in Russia	xl.	596
— Their conduct impeached	xlv.	136
— Their submission to creeds and articles canvassed	xlv.	162
— Vindicated with respect to the tythe on madder	xlv.	201
— Worthy character of a rector of a country parish delineated	xlvi.	655

- Clergy of Eng.* pluralities, ecclesiastical, severely censured xlvi. 287
 — Plan for the study of — li. 317
 — Apology for those who retain their livings, although dissatisfied with some of her doctrines — liii. 310
 — Advice to — — liii. 315
 — Benefit of, a similar privilege extended to women lvii. 355
 — Protestant, in Ireland, their disagreeable situation with respect to tithes — lx. 11
 — Their proper character displayed with respect to influence, from example — lx. 485
 — Poetical encomium on rural — lxii. 169
 — Ecclesiastic life most desirable — lxiv. 56
 — Remarks on the propriety of their acting in the commission of the peace — lxiv. 380
 — Divine polemical, &c. ludicrously described lxv. 424
Clergy of Germany, obliged to take concubines — xvii. 203
Clergy of Ireland, Mr. O'Brien's speech on their non-residence in Ireland — xxxviii. 31
 — Mr. Henry's speech on the non-residence of, in Ireland — xxxviii. 89
 — Sir Wm. Osborne's speech on the non-residence of the clergy in Ireland. — xxxviii. 90
 — Mr. Gore's speech on the non-residence in Ireland — xxxviii. 92
Clergy of Poland, censured — iii. 273
Clergy, Romish, advantag. use of the authority of the fathers iii. 242
 — Concubines enjoined to the younger part of them — xxv. 411
Clergy, Russian, their reply to Peter I. in regard to his son Alexis — xxviii. 552
 — Scandalized — — xxviii. 551
 — Attached to their ancient Barbarism — — xxviii. 555
Clergy of Scotland, their profligacy the first cause of the reformation in that kingdom — — xlii. 427
Clark, Dr. his observations on the arthritis anomala — xlvii. 185
Clarks in Public Offices, their inadequate salaries pathetically represented — — xxxvi. 237
Climate, influence of, on the laws and manners of mankind — — xxxvi. 341
 — Signs of unhealthy ones — — xxxix. 348
 — Advice to strangers how to preserve their health in — — xxxix. 429
 — Its influence upon genius — — xlii. 210
 — Its influence on religion — — xlv. 649
 — Doctrine of, controverted — — xlv. 650
 — Various, naturally produce the most wholesome food for the inhabitants appointed to live under them — — l. 438
 — Various, peculiarities of considered, with regard to the introduction and culture of foreign trees, plants, and animals — — lviii. 57
 — Influence of, on the moral character of man — — lxvi. 22
Clitherow, Mr. his life of Judge Blackstone, and edition of his reports — — lxvii. 1

Clavi, Lord , estimate of his princely fortune	xxxvi.	248
— Exhorted to countenance the interests of agriculture	xxxviii.	66
— His disposition of his troops previous to the battle of Plassey	lix.	432
Clivia, Mrs. her life	xxxvii.	335
— Abusive verses on	xxxv.	388
Clock , repeater, a new invented one	xxix.	487
— Work, marine observations on	li.	119
— Mr. Berthoud's improvements in, similar to Mr. Harrison's	li.	120
— First used for the measuring of time	lx.	529
— On the antiquity of	lxii.	281
— Enquiry when first made to strike	lxii.	281
— Perpetual	lxiii.	498
— New method of regulating the motion of	lxv.	25
— Account of Arnold's new pendulum clock	lxv.	27
Clodius , his enmity against Cicero	xxx.	185
— His rencounter with Milo	xxx.	188
Clothes , marks of immodesty	xx.	133
Clouds , whether electrified positively or negatively	xi.	417
— Hypothesis to explain by what means the clouds become negatively electrified	xi.	418
— Material objections to it	xi.	420
— Colours of, accounted for	xv.	384
Clover , to be sown with turnip seed	xii.	66
— Eat with great eagerness by swine	xii.	68
— Very prejudicial to swine	xii.	68
— When the properest time to turn cattle into it	xviii.	552
— A troublesome grass to make into hay	xviii.	553
Clovis, King of France , ill consequences of his dividing his dominions among his four sons	xxiv.	285
— the founder of the French monarchy, remarkable anecdote of	xl.	389
Club , political, member of, how sufficiently qualified	xii.	394
— Rules for one established at Philadelphia	lxix.	205
Cneph , explanation of that word	xv.	455
Coade, Mr. his writings against the Stuarts controverted	xix.	237
Coal , the bad qualities of sea-coal corrected	x.	330
— Fatal effects of the vapour of, exemplified	lxv.	481
— Means of relief in such cases	lxv.	482
— Analysis of	lxvii.	501
Coal Mines , poetical description of	xi.	487
— Account of damp of	xxxvi.	553
— Account of one in France, which has continued burning for a long time past	xli.	512
— Account of the damps in	xlvi.	684
Cobalt , Observations on the ore of	lxx.	491
— Experiments on the ore of	lxx.	491
Cobham College , account of	lxix.	367
Cobler , a poem	xxxix.	478

Coccus nucifera described	—	—	xliv. 399
Corbin , his commendation of a picture of Job, by Guido	—	—	xl. 585
Coccinus , new edition of his Hebrew and Chaldaic dictionary	—	—	lviii. 386
Cochineal , description of	—	—	iv. 290
— Mestique, whence procured, and how prepared	—	—	xv. 623
— Account of the insects	—	—	xxix. 141
Cocks , remonstrance against throwing at	—	—	xxiv. 311
Cockfighting , sermon against	—	—	lii. 95
— Observations on	—	—	liii. 417
Cockburn, Mrs. Account of her life	—	—	v. 102
— Her tragedies and other poems	—	—	v. 104
— Defence of Locke	—	—	v. 106
— Contents of her works	—	—	v. 115
— Advice to her son	—	—	v. 184
— With regard to religion, employment, and women	—	—	v. 189
— Remarks on Mr. Seed's sermon	—	—	v. 193
— Morality the foundation of religion	—	—	v. 354
— Whether moral virtue and obligation have the same foundation	—	—	v. 354
— Moral obligation, what	—	—	v. 356
— Her writings commended	—	—	x. 372
Cockroach , some account of that noisome insect	—	—	lxix. 45
Codfish , how cured in Ireland	—	—	xviii. 202
— Its astonishing fecundity	—	—	xxxix. 421
Cods of caterpillars , experiments to make paper of them	—	—	x. 483
Codicil , wherein it differs from a testament	—	—	xv. 13
Coffee , historical particulars relative to	—	—	l. 497
Coffee-house , a comedy, story of	—	—	xxiii. 237
Coffins, Stones , account of some	—	—	lxii. 271
Coin of Great Britain , computation of it	—	—	ii. 250
— Base, how detected	—	—	xv. 534
— A chronological table of adulteration in	—	—	xix. 33
— Pernicious consequences of debasing	—	—	xix. 34
— Methods commonly practised for adulterating	—	—	xix. 35
— Importance of maintaining the standard of	—	—	xix. 35
— Debasement of, by whom projected	—	—	xix. 36
— Pretences in favour of such debasement	—	—	xix. 37
— Refutation of those pretences	—	—	xix. 38
— Causes of the scarcity of silver	—	—	xx. 310
— Reasons against altering the value of	—	—	xx. 312
— A remedy suggested	—	—	xx. 314
— Observations on the present state of	—	—	xliv. 230. 506
— Fraudulent practices in regard to gold	—	—	lii. 353
— Methods to prevent	—	—	liii. 353
— Account of a noble of Edward III.	—	—	liii. 498
Coin of France . State of, in the year 869	—	—	xlii. 437
— See Money .	—	—	—
Coins , (various) account of some medals of Pescennius Niger	—	—	v. 122

Coins , (various) an ancient piece of	—	vi.	69
— Foreign, why frequently mistaken	—	x.	199
— Gold and silver coins in China most ancient	—	x.	199
— Their use in history	—	xxiii.	116
— Their dates ascertained by the device on the reverse	—	xxiii.	123
— Swinton's account of a Samnite denarius,	—	xxvii.	332
— Their utility to chronologers and historians	—	xxx.	568
— Importance of the study of, in history	—	xxxviii.	57
— Account of the Roman, Saxon, and English coins	—	xxxviii.	55
— Grant's account of a Siberian medal	—	xxxix.	27
— Saxon, Roman, and English account of	—	xxxix.	89
— Swinton's account of a Phœnician medal	—	xl.	98
— Swinton's account of some Punic and Etruscan	—	xlii.	394
— Swinton's elucidation of two Samnite coins	—	xliv.	317
— Swinton's observations on a Greek	—	xlvi.	421
— Swinton's account of some Etruscan coins and weights	—	xlvi.	214
— Swinton's account of a faberated denarius	—	l. 286.	480
— Swinton's account of an ancient quinarus	—	li.	377
— Medallic history of the House of Brandenburg	—	liii.	261
— Observations on some Parthian medals	—	liii.	418
— Observations on a Roman, by Mr. Ashby	—	liii.	418
— Account of a gold coin of Prince Edmund	—	liii.	450
— Observations on a noble, coined by Edward III.	—	liii.	498
— Dictionary of	—	liv.	402
— Account of an Egyptian	—	lv.	491
— Dr. Milles's opinion of the Apamean Medal	—	lvii.	455
— Discovery of some coins of Edward the confessor	—	lvii.	456
— Collections relating to medals	—	lix.	530
— Prodigious collection of	—	lix.	530
— Of a Bactrian king discovered	—	lix.	530
— Account of two medals of Hippone	—	lxi.	528
— Ancient account of some discovered at Fenwick Castle	—	lxii.	113
— And in the Tower of London	—	lxii.	276
— Heyne's observations on ancient	—	lxix.	546
— Account of a Palmyrene	—	lxx.	267
Coke, Sir Edward , of an overbearing disposition	—	xxvii.	498
— Affronts the great Bacon	—	xxvii.	498
— His character	—	xxix.	377
— Strictures on his character	—	xxxv.	415
— His behaviour in the prosecution of one Floid	—	xxxv.	416
Colbert , character of	—	vi.	300
Colchicum autumnale , medicinal use and effects of	—	xxxi.	349
— Remarkable cures by	—	xxxi.	351
Cold in 1754, Mr. Arderon's observations on	—	xlii.	324
— of June and July 1767, observations on	—	xxxix.	41
— Observations on, at Derby in 1767	—	xxxix.	421
— Dr. Huxham's account of the late	—	xxxix.	425
— Observations on the cold of 1740	—	xlii.	113
— Experiments on cold produced by evaporation	—	xlii.	206
— Remarks on the effects of, in February 1771	—	xlviii.	221

Cold , remarks on the effects of, in January 1768	xlvi. 223
— Of the cold in France in 1765, &c.	xlvi. 224
— Observations on the cold at Pekin	li. 552
— of January 1776, observations on	lviii. 226
— Account of, in Russia	lviii. 378
— Extraordinary degree of, at Glasgow, in January 1780	lxiv. 275
— Felt in France 1776	lxv. 487
— Experiments on, by B. Wilson	lxvii. 127
Colden, Cadwallader, Esq. his account of the sore throat in America	xvi. 553
Coleira morbus , in Minorca, how cured	v. 221
Colewort , the silver-like appearance of the drops of dew on the leaves of, accounted for	xv. 382
— How distinguished from rape	xliv. 13
— Culture of this plant	xliv. 14
Colic , useful premonitions against the use of spirituous liquors, and carminatives	xv. 395
— endemial of Devon, not caused by a solution of lead in the cyder	xli. 363
— This disease attributed rather to the roughness and acidity of that liquor	xli. 364
Colica PiBorum , cases of persons afflicted with that disorder	xxxiv. 505
— Symptoms and cure of that dreadful disorder	xlvi. 238
Colic of Poitou and Devonshire , remarks relating to the cause of	lix. 67
Collier's controversy relating to the stage	lxv. 109
Collets , some of those in our liturgy faulty	i. 203
— New one proposed for Trinity Sunday	xxvii. 304
Collego discipline , Whiston's account of the want of it	i. 342
— Law , and remarkable cases relating to	xxix. 267
Colleton, Sir Peter , speech on the sovereign's partiality to foreigners	xxviii. 418
Collins, Mr. the design and absurdity of his writings	x. 172
Collins, William , his fine poetical genius	xxx. 21
— Specimens of his odes	xxx. 21
— Memoirs of his life	xxx. 120
— Sonnets alluding to his unhappy insanity	xxx. 123
— His poetry characterised	lxv. 411
Collinson, Mr. his life	xlvi. 249
— His extensive correspondence	xlvi. 250
— His skill in botany	xlvi. 252
— His advice to the Virginians	xlvi. 253
— His great regularity and remarkable temperance	xlvi. 254
— His laudable character	xlvi. 255
Collision of Bodies , experiments on	lxix. 419
Colman, Mr. his translation of Terence, compared with a later attempt	lii. 322
Columbier's observations on the venereal disease, &c.	lxviii. 556

- Colon*, on a double wound of the — xlii. 543
Colonies, the caution to be observed in settling them xxviii. 403
 — Ought not to be too much subjected to laws against religion xxviii. 403
 — Whether promoted or injured by great strictness in religion xxx. 254
 — Proposal for a special political department for the administration of colonies — xxx. 441
 — Remarks on the laws for regulating the trade of — xxx. 444
 — Trade of, considered — xxx. 464
 — Cautions against too much limitation of — xxx. 465
Colonization, whether islands, or continents, are to be preferred xxv. 154
 — Different principles of, in ancient and modern times lv. 22
 — General advantage of, to Europe — lv. 24
 — Disadvantages of, to England — lv. 24
 — Of the ancient Greeks, system of — lvi. 287
 — Of the Romans — lvii. 289. 293
 — Observations relative to — lix. 207
 — Remarks on the modern spirit of — lxiii. 174
 — The hobby-horse of Europe — lxiii. 174
 — See America,
Colossal figures, description of two found near the Nile xv. 488
Colours, Sir Isaac Newton's doctrine established — x. 461
 — Method of producing, by mixing liquors — xiv. 419
 — Reflected by the clouds at sun-rising and sun-setting, accounted for — xv. 384
 — Ideas of, how far attainable by blind men — xxxi. 9
 — Observations on prismatic — xl. 569
 — in shadows, memoirs of — xlv. 527
 — On the change of, in opaque bodies — lv. 494
 — Experiments on the causes of the changes of, in opaque and coloured bodies — lvii. 221
 — Account of persons who could not distinguish lviii. 8
Colours for painting, how prepared from the excrements of moths ix. 374
 — Colouring, one of the most essential branches of painting xv. 164
 — Requisites for an author, in treating on that subject xv. 164. 282
 — That the ancients painted all their pictures with four only, shewn to be a mistake — xv. 167
 — Variety of earths and minerals used as colours in the time of Theophrastus — xv. 169
 — In painting, defined — xlv. 120
 — Explained — xlv. 123
 — Experm. on a colouring substance from the South Sea liv. 27
 — used in painting, improvement in the preparation of lxix. 421
Columbo root, enquiry into the medical properties of this drug xlix. 287
 — Analytical examination of — lxviii. 557
Columbus,

- Columbus, Christopher*, his first landing on Hispaniola iv. 323
 — Panegyric on — xxxi. 109
Columns, natural, of the Giant's Causeway and Staffa, described li. 454. 458
Combat, remarkable — — — xii. 202
 — Legal and religious disputes decided by, in the days of monkish ignorance — — — xl. 329
 — in London Streets, remarks on, by a foreigner xlvii. 167
Comber, Mr. his criticism on Goldsmith's deserted village xliii. 380
Comedians, characterised — — — xx. 122
Comedy, its origin traced — — — xxii. 295
 — 1 s three different appearances — — — xxiii. 297 — Genteel and sensible, but four instances allowed in Eng. xxiii. 465
 — Middle, its short duration in Athens and England xxvi. 371
 — Spanish, an account of — — — xxviii. 294
 — Its origin and progression in ancient Greece xxix. 89
 — Middle, its origin — — — xxx. 90
 — Its origin — — — xxxii. 361
 — Measure, supposed to be essential to the ancient Greek and Roman comedies — — — xxxii. 362
 — Not neglected by the English dramatic writers xxxii. 362
 — Memoir on — — — lxi. 525
 — in Rhime, account of three, by Mr. Hayley — — lxx. 289
 — This mode defended — — — lxx. 289
 — See Stages.
Comarcini, Madam, her remarkable case and cure, by the extract of Saturn — — — xli. 312
Comets, Mr. Wright's notion concerning them — — — iii. 220 — Tables of their paths — — — iv. 241
 — Observations on — — — v. 4
 — The use — — — vi. 123
 — Account of one expected in 1757 — — — xv. 380
 — Their nature not known to the ancients — — — xvii. 176
 — The astronomy of, imperfect — — — xvii. 176
 — Why that expected in 1758 returns at different periods xvii. 176
 — Causes of the uncertainty of their periods — — — xvii. 176
 — The expected one, a table of its appearances — — — xx. 375
 — Account of one seen at Paris — — — xxix. 145
 — of 1764, table of the places — — — xxxiv. 221
 — Observations on the orbits of two — — — xxxvii. 166
 — Newton's opinion concerning the tails of, controverted xl. 395
 — Ridiculous superstitions concerning — — — xli. 485
 — of 1759, observations on — — — xlv. 676
 — Theory relating to the use of — — — xlvii. 338
 — That which appeared in the summer of 1770, two accounts of — — — xlvii. 340
 — Account of that which appeared in January 1771 — — — xlvii. 341
 — of 1771, Messier's observations on — — — xlvii. 413
 — of 1770, observations on — — — xlviii. 340
 — Curious observations on the nature of — — — lii. 524
Comets,

Comets , hypothesis Copernican	—	lvii.	483
— Dissertations on	—	lviii.	300
— Period of that of 1770	—	lxii.	213
— On the orbits of	—	lxiv.	513
— The tails of, their analogy to the aurora borealis	—	lxiv.	522
— Real electrical bodies	—	lxiv.	523
— of 1771 and 1772, Messier's observations on	—	lxvi.	505
— Account of one discovered March 13, 1781	—	lxvii.	447
— Messier's observations on seventeen	—	lxviii.	631
Commander of an army , qualifications necessary for	—	xvi.	527
Commandment , humorous proposal for revising the fourth	—	x.	427
Commensal, Anna , poetical compliment to her memory	—	lxiii.	31
Comment, Mr. his defence of the individuality of the human mind	—	xxix.	450
Commentator , his employment a toilsome one	—	xxvi.	321
Commerce , sense of the English on	—	i.	401
— and maritime affairs	—	v.	161
— Tendency of	—	vi.	20
— Active and passive	—	vii.	56
— How affected by exportation and importation	—	vii.	56
— The nature of exchange	—	vii.	58
— The advantage of it depends upon exports	—	vii.	205
— How a people may be ruined by it	—	vii.	206
— State of, at Minorca	—	vii.	206
— Companies injurious to	—	xi.	163
— Whence its origin	—	xii.	85
— Of great use in society	—	xii.	85
— Discouraged by the Romans as prejudicial to the state	—	xiii.	396
— The source of most of the modern wars in Europe	—	xiv.	104
— Advantages derived to, from philosophy	—	xiv.	429
— Science well employed in the improvement of	—	xiv.	428
— Whether consistent with the interest of monarchies	—	xvii.	252
— With the pride of gentility	—	xvii.	253
— Defined	—	xix.	294
— When destructive to a state	—	xxi.	526
— Hints for improving our foreign	—	xxviii.	373
— Great requisites for a thorough understanding of	—	xxxii.	114
— Consider. for the advancem. of the Brit. com. abroad	—	xxxii.	287
— Maxims relating to	—	xliv.	17
— Rise and progress of, in England	—	xlvi.	634
— Reflections on the freedom of	—	xlvi.	416
— Elements of	—	xlvi.	364
— Happily assisted by insurances	—	xlvi.	372
— How liable to be abused	—	xlvi.	372
— Councils of commerce recommended	—	xlvi.	373
— Ideas relative to, respecting the interest of the European nations	—	lix.	56
Commerçon, M. his great talents for botany	—	lii.	599
— His voyage round the world	—	lii.	601
— His death	—	lii.	606

Commitments and attachments for contempt of court, judicious reflections on	—	—	xlvi. 289
Commodus , his character	—	—	xxiii. 506
Common-prayer ; see Liturgy .
Common sense , what	—	—	xxxi. 512
— Mankind guided by it in every thing but religion	—	—	xxxi. 513
— How employed at various periods of the English history	—	—	xlvi. 137
— This faculty defined	—	—	xlvi. 454
— The invariable standard of truth	—	—	xlvi. 268
— Curious remarks on	—	—	xlvi. 47
— True idea of, ascertained	—	—	xlvi. 49
Commons, House of , privilege of the	—	—	xii. 416
— How preserved	—	—	xii. 417
— When their legislative power first commenced	—	—	xviii. 362
— Debates generally spurious	—	—	xxviii. 123
— Observations of a noble duke on them	—	—	xxviii. 124
— Jealous of their speaker's being under court influence	—	—	xxviii. 126
— The punishment of absentees recommended	—	—	xxviii. 126
— or body of the people, whence, and on what occasion taken into the constitution of government	—	—	xxviii. 141
— A balance to the lords	—	—	xxviii. 141
— Right of voting derived from property	—	—	xxviii. 142
— Defect of the constitution in excluding the trading interest from the right invested in freeholders	—	—	xxviii. 143
— Debates on the reduction of interest	—	—	xxviii. 251
— Happy effects of their opposition to Charles I.	—	—	xxxii. 218
— Their proceeding concerning Laud, &c.	—	—	xxxii. 222
— In parliament their great influence in preserving the constitution	—	—	xxxiv. 187
— Antiquity of their legislative authority	—	—	xxxiv. 191
— Debates in the, against the importation of corn	—	—	xxxv. 417
— Debates in the parliament of Ireland	—	—	xxxviii. 1. 81
— Liberty of debating, the basis of national liberty	—	—	xxxviii. 93
— Detail of the state and history of	—	—	xlvi. 39. 42
— See Parliament .
Commonwealth , new model of	—	—	vi. 84
— Inconveniences of	—	—	vi. 89
Communion , Christian, who intitled to it	—	—	iv. 108
— Catholic, Christians ought to encourage it	—	—	xii. 78
Compass , violation of, in what respect not destructive of its obligation	—	—	xv. 134. 135
— Original between the governor and governed , the popular notions of, examined	—	—	lv. 330
Companies, exclusive , injurious to commerce	—	—	xi. 163
Company and conversation, reflections on	—	—	ii. 437
— The importance of a judicious choice of	—	—	xxv. 338
Comparisons and similes, considered	—	—	xxvii. 105
— Examples of comparisons	—	—	xxvii. 106
Compass, mariners , how affected by lightning	—	—	iv. 241
— Known to the Chinese, but not its use	—	—	x. 201
Compass ,

Compass , on the construction of a new	—	lxvii. 506
Compassion , its nature examined into	—	ii. 29
— Not born with man	—	vii. 98
Complaisance , excessive, disagreeable	—	ii. 437
Compounding and decomposing , what	—	xv. 51
Compte, M. le , his method of curing ulcers by the burning glass	—	lxii. 514
Conius, the conjuror , his success in the cure of diseases by electricity	—	lxix. 425
Concert , representation of a good poetical one	—	xxii. 262
Conchology , difficulties attending the study of	—	lvi. 92
— Account of the most celebrated authors	—	lvi. 92
Concord , poetical wish for	—	xxiv. 158
Concretions , biliary, defined	—	xvii. 425
— Signs of them	—	xvii. 427
— Their cure	—	xvii. 428
— Terrene in the human body, uncommon instance of	—	liii. 177
Condamine, M. a philosophical traveller	—	xxviii. 215
— His account of the emerald cup at Genoa	—	xxviii. 216
— Of the leaning tower of Pisa	—	xxviii. 216
— The Campagna of Rome	—	xxviii. 217
— System of Volcanos	—	xxviii. 219
— On the blood of St. Januarius	—	xxviii. 219
— On the longitude	—	xxviii. 221
Condé, Prince of , his great natural capacity	—	xxxv. 518
— His generalship at the battle of Rocroi	—	xxxv. 522
— His disinterestedness	—	xxxv. 527
— His personal valour	—	xxxv. 527
— General view of his character	—	xxxv. 528
— Cured of a love fit by phlebotomy	—	xxxv. 529
Confederacy of statesmen, reflections on	—	xxiv. 196
Confession , or self-accusation, necessary to conviction at Rome	—	iii. 344
— Auricular, encouraged among the Roman Catholic slaves at Algiers	—	iii. 420
— Good effects of	—	xlvi. 656
— Abuses of	—	xlvi. 656
— and articles of faith, the advantages of having them in the words of the scripture	—	ix. 357
— of faith, the establishments of by church authority, examined into	—	xxxiv. 333
Confessional , design and tendency of that work animadverted on	—	xxxvii. 199
— Defended	—	xxxvii. 345
— Apology for	—	xli. 166
— Apology of the author	—	xlili. 292
Confirmation , reply to a query concerning it	—	xv. 314
— As practised in our church, tends to cherish false and presumptuous hopes	—	xxv. 315
— The meaning of	—	xv. 238

Conflagrations,

Conflagrations , spontaneous, accounted for	—	xxx. 556
Conformity , universal in religion, a proof of ignorance and barbarity in a people	—	xx. 361
— of disposition, recommended to travellers	—	xxxix. 439
Confucius , the doctrine of	—	vii. 96
— Some account of him	—	x. 203
— Honours paid to himself and his family	—	x. 203
— His life	—	xxiii. 266
— His person described	—	xxiii. 269
Congreve , a third rate poet	—	xiv. 535
— His dramas considered	—	lxv. 109
Congruity and Property , distinct terms	—	xxvii. 13
— This position controverted	—	xxvii. 14
Conjecturing , art of, developed	—	xxxvi. 525
Conic sections , illustrated by figures cut in pasteboard	—	xvi. 245
— Some new properties of	—	xxxiv. 222
— Curves, treatise on the principal properties of	—	lvii. 482
Conjunct expeditions , lists of	—	xxi. 188
— Reflections on	—	xxi. 190
Connexions , peculiar and remarkable laws in	—	xiii. 283
— Political state of, 100 years ago	—	lxiii. 19
— River, description of	—	lxvi. 254
Conquerors , more destructive to mankind than tyrants	—	xxviii. 529
— Not esteemed responsible for those who fall in battle	—	xxviii. 529
— Will always be popular	—	xxviii. 529
Conquests , great ones not practicable by the present powers of Europe	—	xviii. 40
Conscience , magistrates no power over	—	vi. 180
— The authority of it shewn	—	viii. 365
— Its testimony of great importance to the interest of virtue	—	viii. 366. 400
— A tribunal within ourselves	—	xxx. 278
— Verses on	—	xlvi. 67
Consciousness , what	—	xv. 45—xxviii. 527
Conserve , a natural paper formed of its filaments	—	xliv. 206
Considerations on the maxim, "We must not do evil that good may come of it"	—	xiii. 172
Consistory , of whom composed	—	xv. 618
Constantia , her letter to Theodosius	—	xxix. 149
Constantine , his foolish regard for monks and nuns	—	ix. 335
— His kindness to the Christians	—	xv. 570
— His inhuman treatment of the Franks	—	xxv. 494
— Of his eldest son	—	xxv. 495
— His conversion	—	xxv. 496
— The motives to his conversion explained	—	xxv. 496
— On the cross that appeared to him	—	xxxvi. 275
— Did more hurt to Christianity by exalting the priesthood, than Dioclesian did by his persecutions	—	xxxvii. 341
— His history	—	xlvi. 38
— His war with Licinius	—	xlvi. 102
		Constantine,

Constantine , his cruelty	—	—	xliv. 103
— His piety	—	—	xliv. 103
— Great honours paid him by the church	—	—	xliv. 105
— His general character	—	—	xliv. 106
— Baron Bielsfield's contemptible idea of him	—	—	xliv. 128
— His character	—	—	lxiv. 291
— Great and lasting influence of his conversion, victories, and policy, on a considerable part of the globe	—	—	lxiv. 359
Constantinople , number of people in	—	—	xv. 280
— The finest city in the world viewed at a distance	—	—	xxiv. 4
— Its fine situation and peculiar advantages	—	—	lxiv. 289
— Incredible account of the number of streets in that city	—	—	lxv. 461
Constellations , the origin of	—	—	lxv. 532
Constitutions, medical , of the natives of northern climates, how altered by being transported under the heat of a vertical sun	—	—	xiv. 15. 19
— Observations on	—	—	lxiv. 503
Constitution of Great Britain , examined	—	—	iv. 229
— Violated by the death of Charles I.	—	—	xix. 563
— From its first principles	—	—	xxviii. 140
— Defective in not comprehending the trading interest in parliament	—	—	xxviii. 143
— How far endangered by the licentiousness of the people	—	—	xxx. 267
— Racomium on	—	—	xxxi. 302
— Of the English government, how gradually improved	—	—	xxxiv. 186
— Enquiry into the dangers to which it is liable	—	—	xxxiv. 195
— Montesquieu's prophecy of its destruction	—	—	xxxiv. 201
— Dr. Blackstone's idea of it	—	—	xxxiv. 379
— Its foundation and principles derived from the ancient Germans	—	—	xxxix. 448
— Ancient, investigated	—	—	xlvi. 39
— Its excellence displayed	—	—	l. 405
Consummation of all things, two grand events to be expected before it	—	—	xiv. 367
Consumptions , the use of opium in	—	—	ix. 133
— Their origin	—	—	ix. 189
— Cured by cucumbers	—	—	xlii. 243
— Dr. Fothergill's remarks on the cure of	—	—	xlvi. 43—lv. 457
Contagion , prevented by smoking tobacco	—	—	ii. 383
Contemplation , what	—	—	xv. 46
— Poetically personified	—	—	xxx. 137. 218. 222
Contempt of others not to be too freely discovered	—	—	l. 362
Content , poetically described	—	—	xxxiv. 351
— Verses to	—	—	xlvi. 58
Continents , considerations on the Antarctic	—	—	xliii. 519
— Description of the southern	—	—	xliii. 520
— Our connections with, indispensable, as a commercial nation	—	—	xxvii. 486
Continental connections , reasons for	—	—	xlvi. 439
— Declaimed against	—	—	xxviii. 360
			Contrast ,

Contrast , social, what and how maintained	—	xxvii.	453
Contrapunte , or essay on musical composition		xxx.	568
Contrarywa , erroneously prescribed by physicians as a cordial		xlvi.	303
Controversies , religious, the most apt to excite heat and animosity		iii.	17
— Humorous canons of	—	v.	96
— A religious one decided by King Oswy	—	xv.	579
— Religious, how carried on by the different sectaries		xviii.	97
— The disadvantages of heat in	—	xxvi.	206
— Countable hath no business in	—	xxvi.	240
— Censured and defended	—	xxxii.	347
— A profitable species of composition	—	xxxii.	349
Convicts , sentimental declamation against	—	xxxix.	441
Convention , parliament, character of	—	lii.	242
Converging series , essay concerning	—	liv.	484
Conversation , refined and friendly, one of the greatest pleasures a man can propose to himself	—	li.	107
— Agreeable preferred to shining	—	iii.	109
— Account of, at Florence	—	xi.	199
— Religious, the advantages of	—	xxii.	97
— Rules for	—	xxv.	201
— Remarks on	—	xxxiii.	207
— Talents fit for	—	xxxiii.	316
— In genteel life, recited	—	xxxv.	287.
— Moral reflections on	—	liii.	240
— Critically investigated	—	lxi.	47
Conway , General, his dismissal, how far of moment to the public		xxxi.	155
— And to the army	—	xxxi.	156
Convoys , military, hints concerning	—	xxvi.	62
Convulsive diseases , the good effects of music in		xxxviii.	438
Cook , Captain, his account of an eclipse of the sun at Newfoundland, August 5, 1766	—	xl.	101
— His voyage to the southern hemisphere	—	xlx.	479
— Arrives at Otaheite	—	xlx.	483
— Account of that island and its inhabitants		xlx.	490
— His discoveries at New Zealand	—	xlx.	491
— At New South Wales	—	xlx.	494
— His distress at Batavia	—	xlx.	496
— Returns to England	—	xlx.	497
— Receives the honorary medal of the Royal Society		lvi.	36
— Account of his second voyage round the world		lvi.	267.
— His recommendation of Mr. Magellan's new construction of Hadley's quadrant	—	lvi.	549
— His account of the method for preserving the health of seamen		lvii.	1
— Of a singularity in the tides in the South Seas		lvii.	4
— His abilities as a navigator, &c.	—	lvii.	17

- Cook, Captain*, writes the narrative of his second voyage round the world — lvii. 18
- His advantageous character of Omai — lvii. 19
 - His estimate of the naval force of Otaheite — lvi. 20
 - His defence of the ladies of that country — lvii. 22
 - His account of New Zealand — lvii. 23
 - Of a species of sealions — lvii. 23
 - His reasons for supposing the existence of a southern continent — lvii. 28
 - Elegant verses to his memory, by a lady — lxii. 459
 - Defended, with respect to his non-discovery of Cape Circumcision — lxv. 494
 - Ode to the memory of — lxvi. 72
 - His last voyage to the Pacific Ocean — lxx. 461
 - His journal, now existing, in his own hand-writing — lxx. 472
 - Particular embellishments of the printed edition — lxx. 473
 - Its wonderfully rapid sale — lxx. 474
- Cookery*, in the abstract, definition of — xxv. 343
- Cooks*, a tale to illustrate their cleanliness — xxi. 534
- Cookworthy, Mr.* his experiments relative to the Devonshire cyder — xl. 127
- Quoted in support of the virtues of the divining wand — lix. 270
- Cooper, Mr.* his encomium on Dr. Akenáide — xlvii. 429
- His account of an extraordinary aephalous birth. — lv. 218
 - Of the performance of the Cæsarian operation — lv. 254
- Coots, Colonel*, his generalship at the battle of Vandewash — lx. 48
- Copalm-trees*, account of — xxxii. 87
- Copenhagen*, prizes proposed by the literary society there — xliii. 315
- Short description of — xlvii. 32
 - Account of the distribution of prizes by their royal society of sciences there — liv. 584
 - New prize question proposed — liv. 584
- Copernican system*, Garulli's poems on — lvii. 483
- Copernicus*, his system of the world supposed to have been known to the ancients — xxxv. 550
- His astronomical discoveries. — lx. 528, 529
- Copland, Robert*, his knight of the Swanne — xxxii. 250
- Copley, Sir Godfrey*, his honorary medal awarded to Captain Cook for improvements in the methods of preserving the health of seamen — lvi. 396
- Account of the assignments of his honorary medal — lxi. 329
- Copper*, the only modern coin in China — x. 200
- Its value arbitrary — v. 200
 - Vessels, mischiefs of — xii. 148
 - Boilers, used in the navy, one cause of the sea scurvy — xxvii. 98
 - Other ill effects of — xxvii. 100
 - Poison of, observations on — lii. 164
 - Experiments on — liv. 561
 - Enabled to elude volatile alkali. — lix. 561
- Copper,*

Copper , Account of the great quantity produced by the mines in Cornwall	lix.	269
— Fordyce's method of assaying the ore	lxiv.	265
— Vessels, account of the improvement of	lxiv.	536
— Improved method of tinning	lxiv.	537
— On the revivification of	lxv.	484
— Observations on the red mine of	lxvii.	504
— Description of the great mine in the isle of Anglesey	lxix.	469
Copper Island , its discovery	lxiii.	2
Copper-plate printing , improvement in the art of	xli.	567
Coppice wood , method of raising	xvii.	407
Coptic language , an interesting study	lxi.	560
→ Rudiments of, by whom published	lxi.	560
Copts , a remarkable convent of	xv.	486
Coquetry , the uses of	xxv.	257
Corals , essay on	lxv.	304
Corallines , only cases of marine polypes	xii.	181
— The greatest variety, where found	xii.	182
— Methods of preserving them	xii.	182
— Founded on rock oysters	xii.	183
— Description of the Maltese	xiii.	324
— On their animal life	xiii.	422
— A Zoophite,	xxxix.	422
— System of animal nature in	xxxix.	422
Cordeliers , their strange squabble with the Dominicans	xxxi.	219
— Story of two	lviii.	466
Cordier, de St. Firmin, Abbé , his eulogy on Lewis XII.	lix.	558
Cordillera , in South America, some account of	li.	413
Cardova , described	lviii.	27
Cordus, Crenatus , brief account of	xlv.	578
Corelli , his music wherein excellent	xxxiii.	363
— his music commended as models	xlili.	125
Coriat , the famous traveller, some account of	xxxix.	435
— Specimens of his crudities	lv.	230
Corigliano , in Calabria, excellence of its natural productions	xlvi.	282
Corin's complaint , a song	xxxii.	250
— Remarks on	xxxii.	251
Corinth , maid of	lix.	279
— Destruction of by the Romans	lxvii.	430
Corinthian brass , what	lxvii.	430
Cork , history of the county of	v.	265
— Account of the city of	v.	265
— The churches in it	v.	267
— Custom-house, exchange, gates and corn-market	v.	269
— Walks, diversions, number of houses and inhabitants	v.	270
— The high-street	v.	271
— Its quays and trade	v.	272
— Civil history	v.	273
VOL. II.	K	Cork ,

Cork , Natural history of	—	v. 274
Cork Waistcoat , its uses	—	xx. 606
— Experiments on its specific buoyancy in different waters		xxxv. 451
Corn , the advantage of the exportation of		vii. 58
— The quantity grown at Minorca	—	vii. 209
— The exportation of it conducive to the public interest		viii. 235
— Bounties on exportation prejudicial	—	xviii. 616
— Bounty on, for exportation, how far expedient		xxxii. 85
— Bounty on, advantages of	—	xxxiv. 317
— Arguments on the other side of the question		xxxiv. 311
— Moderate bounty recommended	—	xxxiv. 360
— Debates in the House of Commons on the importation of, in the reign of James I.	—	xxxv. 417
— Reflection on that subject	—	xxxv. 418
— Bounty on, for exportation, defended		xxxv. 475, 477
— Advantages of exportation	—	xxxv. 479
— Bounty on, for exportation, controverted		xxxvi. 322
— Defended	—	xxxvi. 391, 418
— The bounty on, for exportation, vindicated		xxxvii. 41
— Engrossing of, not prejudicial to the public		xxxvii. 42
— Bounty on, for exportation, objection to		xxxviii. 75
— Defended	—	xxxviii. 77
— Exportation of, placed in a true light		xl. 141
— The bounty on, for exportation, disapproved		xlii. 229
— Arguments for the bounty	—	xlii. 232
— &c. bounty on, for exportation highly detrimental to the true interest of the state	—	xliii. 452
— An heavy tax on the public	—	xliii. 453
— Observations on the bounty on	—	xliv. 240
— The real scarcity of, one great cause of the dearth of provisions		xlvi. 351
— Exportation of, ought to be encouraged		xlvi. 353
— Growth of, ought to be increased	—	xlvi. 430
— Free trade in; how wisely encouraged in Holland		xlvi. 434
— Culture of. See Husbandry .
Cornaro , his extraordinary account of his own old age		xxxix. 160
Cornbury, Lord , his letter to Mallet concerning Lord Bolingbroke's works	—	xxxv. 63
— His bigotry and misconduct during his government of New York		lxiii. 440
Corneille, P. an account of him and his works		vii. 179
— M. Voltaire's account of his works, published for the benefit of his niece	—	xxx. 532
— His epigram on Cardinal Richlieu	—	xxxv. 520
— His dramas, compared with Shakespeare		xli. 138
— His reputation defended against Voltaire		li. 556
Cornelius, the Centurion , not a Jewish proselyte before his conversion to christianity	—	xvii. 404
Cornelius Cinna , character of	—	v. 337

Cornish , Mr. his account of the winter-sleep of swallows	lv.	117
Cornish Language , remains of	liii. 497—lxii.	108
Cornish MS. account of	lxi.	282
Corns , said to be sprouts of the rheumatism	xliv.	127
Cornucopia circulatorum , description of that plant	xxxiv.	270
Cornutus Annaeus , brief account of	xliv.	578
Cornwall , its air rendered unfit for vegetation	xix.	222
— Its harbours and coasts not sufficiently known	xix.	225
Cornwallis , Archbishop , testimony to the worth of his character	lxviii.	148
Coromandel , coast of, theatrical exhibition there	xxix.	93
Corporations , their effects on trade	xi.	161
— Government, hardships of	xxiii.	324
— Charitable, for the relief of the widows and children of clergymen in America, scheme of	xliv.	30
— Towns, ill effects of their charters	xlvi.	24
Corpulence defined, with a remedy	xxii.	550
— Medical case of	xxii.	550
Correspondence , the term often misapplied	xv.	61
Corregio , character of his paintings	xlvi.	28
— His beauties	lxv.	147
Correspondence with the reviewers ; See the last part page of each month's review.
Corrosive Sublimate , solution of, not better than any other preparation of mercury	xvii.	574
— Ruffel's letter on the use of	xxvii.	99
Corsica . Her struggle for liberty, unfavourably represented	xxxvi.	475
— Travels to her	xxxix. 46,	146
— Her noble struggles for liberty, celebrated	xlvi.	55
— Histoire des révolutions	lv.	228
— History of	lix.	458
— History of the Grecian colony which settled in	lxv.	306
— Mineralogical productions of	lxix.	533
Cortez , Mr. Account of the death of	xxxvi.	445
Cortes , his conquest of Mexico, curiously investigated	lvii.	128
— His bold opposition to the powers of the crown, in the time of Charles V.	lx.	556
Corymbes of Crete , their savage state before the time of Rhadamanthus	xxix.	90
Cos , the oracles of	lv.	223
Cosmology explained	xxxvii.	513
Cosroes , King of Persia, plunders Jerusalem and sells 90,000 Christians captives to the Jews, who murder them	lxii.	568
Cossacks , described	xx.	450
— Method of concluding treaties	xxiv.	132
Cotard , his observations on the ages of Homer and Hesiod	xlii.	322
Cotnam Stones , described	lxiii.	14

Cotillon , objections to the introduction of that mode of dancing in England	lxi.	115
Cotton proposed for making paper	x.	482
— Tree described	xl.	202
— New invention for spinning	xlvii.	197
— Art of dying, both in thread and in the piece	lvi.	218
— Experiments on dying	lxix.	538
Cotton , Mr. his Latin verses on the death of his wife	xxxiv.	166
— Translated	xxxiv.	177
Cotyledon , description, virtues, and different species of	xviii.	329
Cough , the effects of opium in a	ix.	129
— Remedy for	xxxv.	309
— Catarrhus, remedy for	lx.	62
Counsels , general, little difference to be paid to them	ix.	257
— Summoned at Pisa	xiii.	19
— Held by the fathers, &c. curious account of	lvi.	300
— Ill effects of, depending on their authority	lvi.	301
Counsellor , his dialogue with a Jesuit concerning education	xlvi.	663
Countenance , the index of the mind	xviii.	548
Country Manner . At the time of the reformation	lix.	3
Country Squire , characterised	xxiv.	125
— Sarcastic account of	l.	190
Courage and bravery, the difference betwixt	xxv.	283
— The tokens of	xxvi.	203
— Affectation of, how distinguished	xxvi.	203
— Defined	l.	16
— Its affinity with patience	l.	18
— Distinguished from bravery	lxi.	201
Courcy , Barons of Kingsale , their privilege of wearing their hat in the royal presence, whence derived	xii.	349
Courland , Dutchess of , intrigues at her court	viii.	319
Court , fatal tendency of its corrupt influence	li.	345, 350
Courts of conscience , expediency and utility of	xxxix.	463
Courts and courtiers , sarcasms on, by Lord Halifax	iii.	42
Courts Ecclesiastical , our present ones objected to	i.	207
Courts of Honour , recommended	xx.	124
Courts of Justice , Sacheverell's observations on	xxviii.	189
— Enquiry in the House of Commons into abuses in them	xxviii.	198
— Resolution of the House for redressing them	xxviii.	199
— How distinguished	xxxix.	332
— Whence derived	xxxix.	332
— The several species of, enumerated and explained	xxxix.	333, 461
Courts Martial , reflection concerning	iv.	278
— Formed on principles of equity similar to those of civil courts	xli.	424
— Sovereign ones in China	iv.	327
Courtiers , opposed the election of Mr. Lucas as member of Parliament for the city of Dublin, and why	ii.	286
	Courtiers

Courtiers in the House of Commons, ever obsequious to the court	xxviii. 419
— Remarkable instance of their servility	— xxxi. 502
Courtney, Bishop of London , a violent persecutor of Wicliff	xxxii. 378
Courtship , Manner of, in Holland	— xxi. 256
— Between the sexes investigated	— lxi. 421
Coutchouc , what	— xxxvii. 195
Coville, Robert , his adventure with Kitty	— xli. 94
— Has recourse to Rousseau	— xli. 94
Covenants , lawful ones, voluntarily entered into with the worst of men ought to be observed, and why	— xlii. 167
— Divine	— xlvi. 115, 117
Coventry, Countess of , stupid verses to her	— xi. 399
Coventry, Sir John , his behaviour in Parliament on a breach of privilege	— xxviii. 260
Coventry, Mr. William , his character	— xxi. 158
— His speech on the growing greatness of France	— xxviii. 195
— On a breach of privilege	— xxviii. 260
— On bribery	— xxviii. 266
Cow , the best make of	— xvii. 414
— How to be managed about calving time	— xvii. 414
— Instances of negligent and erroneous treatment of them	— xlvii. 22
— Indian, new species of, described	— xlviii. 114
— Case of one killed by eating cabbages, and a cure for that disease	— lx. 26
Cowley , the editor of his works censured	— xlviii. 11
— His wish, a poem,	— xlviii. 15
— His despair	— xlviii. 16
— Other specimens of his poetry	— xlviii. 17
— Remarks on his poetical character	— lxi. 2, 7
Cowper, Lord Chancellor , his oratorical character	— l. 368
— Lord Keeper , letter from, to the Elector of Hanover	— liv. 389
Coxcomb , memoirs of	— v. 385
— The extensive comprehension of that word	— ix. 467
— Women in general fond of that character	— ix. 468
— Genuine picture of a French	— xlv. 67
Coxeter, Mr. account of	— xxxii. 299
Coxwell , account of the parish of	— lxx. 114
Coyer, Abbe , his travels	— liii. 167
— His observations on England	— lxi. 220
Coyelle, Countess of , her story	— xxviii. 390
Crab , (an insect) account of	— xxxiv. 265
Crab, King , microscopic description of	— lxi. 396
Crab Christopher , his humorous speech	— xxxiv. 42
— Answered	— xxxiv. 43
Craig, Carrel , romantic scenery	— lxiv. 113
Cramp , a remedy for	— xviii. 148
Craut , observations on, as dished for the table	— xlix. 256

Cranes (for weighing up goods), shocking accidents owing to the imperfection of those machines	—	xxxviii.	34
— Improvement in	—	xxviii.	35
Cranmer, Archbishop, concerned with Ridley in persecuting the anabaptists	—	xxix.	448
— Anecdotes relating to	—	xxxii.	144
Crausus, Cicero's opposition to him defended	—	viii.	351
— His character	—	xliv.	6
Creation, dissertation on the Mosaic account	—	ii.	157
— Of the world, doctrine of the fathers concerning	—	iv.	76
— Chevalier Ramsay's account of it	—	iv.	342
— Mosaic account vindicated	—	iv.	85
— Objection to the Mosaic account	—	x.	269
— A consultation in the godhead at it	—	xviii.	213
— Order and beauty of	—	xx.	20
— The date of, determined	—	xxviii.	437
— The necessary effects of the nature of God	—	xxxii.	176
— Mosaic account objected to and defended	—	xxxiv.	51
— Curious dialogue concerning, from the Indian Shaffer	—	xxxix.	381
— Various opinions of the ancients concerning the creation of the world, censured	—	lxii.	101
Creatures what powers communicated to them	—	iv.	342
— Created only to be happy	—	iv.	342
Credibility of extraordinary things, rules of judging concerning it	—	ii.	271
— Of the christian doctrine, considered	—	ii.	493
— Of the old testament depends on the new	—	vi.	286
Credit, public, how abused	—	xti.	109
— Animadversion on the present state of public	—	xi.	45
Credulity, its absurd effects among the vulgar	—	xxiv.	313
— Philosophically considered	—	xxxi.	17
— The inseparable companion of imposture	—	xxxii.	365
— Poetically described	—	xxxii.	232
Creed, an extraordinary Catholic one	—	xlvi.	529
— Of a rational christian	—	xxxii.	178, 183
— Their evil effects on principles and morals	—	xliv.	262
Creed, Athanasian and Nicene, contradictions in	—	v.	492
— Why it ought to be left out of the liturgy	—	ix.	221
— Repugnant to the scriptures	—	xi.	255
— Its diction and manner of instruction disapproved	—	xi.	255
— Places the salvation of men upon a wrong foundation	—	xi.	255
— Is inferior in dignity and antiquity to the Nicene creed	—	xi.	255
— A reproach to our church	—	xii.	434
— Ought to be disused	—	xii.	474
— The scripture doctrines of the unity of God subversive of that system	—	xii.	476

Creed , incompatible with reason, and inconsistent with christianity	xiii. 214. 224
Creed Athanasian , absurdities of	xiv. 8
— Its unbenevolent aspect toward mankind	xlviii. 476
— Its horrid absurdity	xlviii. 478
— Said to confound all notions of the deity, and to shock all the feelings of humanity	xlviii. 481
Creed, Apostles , paraphrased	v. 519
Crespi, Duke of , excesses committed at Rome by his servants	vii. 124
— Likely to produce a war	vii. 124
Cretans , why styled slow bellies, &c.	xlviii. 531
Crevier, M. instances of his bigotry	xxv. 494
Crimes , different complexion of, in different times, places and circumstances	xlvi. 653
— Rates of dispensations for various crimes	xlvi. 662
Criminals , clemency to, injurious to the public	xxxvi. 404
Crispus, son of Constantine , his character	lxiv. 294
— His unfortunate end	lxiv. 295, 296
Critic, modern , droll receipt to make one	lii. 92
Criticism , an enquiry whether the study of, has prevented the appearance of any poetical works	xv. 62
— Destructive to learning	xxi. 385
— Critical admirers more honourable to a work than implicit ones	xxii. 119
— Why they should never be answered	xxiv. 142
— Modern method of evading	xxvi. 29
— Defined	xxvi. 413
— Deduced from organic principles	xxvi. 414
— Advantages of studying	xxvi. 416
— The art of conjecturing, or of selecting from a number of lies that which bears the nearest resemblance to truth	xxviii. 19
— On the abuse of, in matters of religion	xxxi. 29
— Observations on	xl. 115
— Art of, not to be rested on the ground of metaphysical speculations but on the powers and principles of the human mind	lvii. 98
— Verbal, vindicated	lx. 375
Crito	vi. 226
Crocadile's tooth , a remedy for love	iv. 281
— The vertebra of an huge one, found in a quarry	lii. 619
Croisades , their influence on the trade of the Levant	liv. 511
— Spirit of the	lxiv. 456
Cromwell, Oliver , character of	v. 448
— An historical play founded on	v. 522
— His character	xvi. 38—534
— His reasons for declaring war with Holland	xvii. 132
— His enthusiasm assumed	xvii. 133
	Cromwell,

Cromwell, Oliver , Curious dialogue between him and Lenthall Fleetwood, &c. on settling the government	xix.	20
— Form of his inauguration	xix.	26
— His character scrutinised	xix.	27
— His arbitrary method of composing his parliament	xxii.	374
— Whitlock's speech on the proposal to make him king	xxii.	376
— Compared with his former sentiments on this point	xxii.	379
— His behaviour in relation to the surrender of Dunkirk	xxii.	381
— Allowed to be sincere in religion until he became an advocate for grace, in contradistinction to virtue	xxiv.	283
— Protector of learning	xxiv.	414
— The ranking all the enemies to Charles I. as his partisans, a mistake	xxvi.	96
— His enthusiasm affected	xxvi.	97
— Characterised by Cowley	xxvi.	98
— His hypocrisy insisted on	xxvi.	100
— His arbitrary government	xxvi.	101
— Comparison between him and Louis XIV.	xxvi.	102
— His letter to Colonel Hammond	xxxii.	38
— A quack	xliv.	531
— His views and character	xlv.	82
— Branded as a fanatic	xlvi.	654
— His grand-daughter's great resemblance to him	xlvi.	29
— Public effects of his exaltation	xlix.	99
— His conduct compared with Cæsar's	xlx.	100
Cromwell, Richard , instance of his want of policy	xxii.	385
— The terms of his resignation	xxii.	385
— His character preferred to that of his father	xlvi.	655
Crook, Judge , noble spirit of his wife	xxxii.	271
Crookedness of the spine , method of preventing	xl.	217
Cross , which Constantine saw over the sun when at the head of his army, what	ix.	351
Croup , a disease so called, account of	xxxiii.	419
— Different stages of	xxxiii.	423
Crow , dissertation on a white	liii.	556
— Description of a new	xxxiv.	220
Crown of Great Britain , nominal power of, how curtailed since the reign of James I.	xxxiv.	389
— Real influence of, how extended of late by the national debt, taxes, and by the officers and collectors of the revenue	xxxiv.	390
— Its undue influence over the whole legislature	xlvi.	439
— Great danger from	xlvi.	580
— How far hereditary among the Anglo-Saxons	l.	196
— Legislative power of, over conquered countries, discussed	lxi.	177
Crown Officers , on the application of their salaries to public uses	xxviii.	418
Crown,

- Crown, John*, his deposition relative to two of the Regicides who took shelter in New England after the death of Charles the first
lxiii. 113
- Croydon*, account of the town, archiepiscopal palace, &c. lxx. 112
- Croyland, Abbey of*, account of the famous boundary stone there
liii. 415
- Remarks relative to — — — lxii. 110
- History and antiquities of — — — lxx. 110
- Crozat, M.* his account of what befel Capt. Marion's crew after the death of that enterprising officer — — — lxix. 351
- Crucibles*, manufactory of, at Truro — — — lix. 274
- Crucifixion*, the true time of our Saviour's, endeavoured to be ascertained — — — xv. 241. 244
- Cruel disposition*, to what owing — — — ii. 372
- Cruelty*, natural propensity to it in mankind — — — xix. 210
- Its several sources — — — xix. 211
- Why found more in Romish ecclesiastics than in other people of a civilized education — — — xix. 213
- The progress of — — — xxiv. 308
- Cruelty of man to inferior animals*, striking picture of lxvii. 83
- Cruelty of the Spaniards to the Indians* — — — iv. 324
- Crusades*, advantages derived to Europe from those romantic expeditions — — — xl. 328
- Obstacles to the improvements of the mind — — — xlv. 568
- Crying the mare*, what — — — iv. 352
- Crystals and Spars*, theory of the formation of xxxix. 427
- A dissertation on — — — lxvii. 458
- Cube-root*, a new method of extracting it — — — ix. 448
- Cubsterf, Mr.* his epistle to Kirkerf — — — xxxi. 542
- Cuckoldom*, curious Indian story of, effected by a stratagem xl. 228
- Cuckoo*, a curious species of, described — — — lviii. 2
- Remarks on some prevailing notions concerning that bird lxv. 264
- Cucumbers*, a consumption cured by — — — xlii. 243
- Cudworth, Dr.* his notion of the Lord's supper disproved xi. 441
- His notion of instinct — — — xlv. 534
- Cullen, Dr.* his lectures on the materia medica, by what means surreptitiously published — — — xlviii. 139
- Great defects in the edition — — — xlviii. 141
- Culpeper, Lord*, his spirited letter to Mr. Ashburnham l. 27
- Cumberland, W. Duke of*, his character and conduct vilified
xxvii. 468
- His statue in Cavendish Square criticised — — — xlix. 108
- Cumbria, genius of*, poetic address to — — — lxix. 258
- Cup*, description of the cup presented to Mr. Wilkes, by the City of London — — — lvii. 342
- Cupels*, their absorbing quality in assaying metals xxxvii. 161
- Cupid* turned ploughman, an epigram — — — xxiii. 132
- Pastime, a poem — — — xxxii. 248
- and Psyche, beautiful allegory of — — — lxiii. 299
- Curatiti,*

Curates , their hardships poetically represented	xxxiv.	406
Curfew , account of	lx.	261
Curiosity , how it operates	xxvi.	427
— Essay on	lviii.	515
Curll, Edmund , curious anecdote of his catch-penny genius	xxxii.	151
Current-wine , American receipt for making	xlvi.	345
Currents at sea , new hypothesis of	xvii.	142
Curve-line , the nature and properties of	xxxvii.	436
Curves , tautochronous	xlili.	524
— Described by cannon-balls and bombs, the determination of, as a prize question	lxvii.	543
Customs , remarkable ones in Athens, Rome, and England	vi.	39
— Not to be pleaded in favour of injustice	xv.	622
— Its influence on moral sentiments	xxi.	14
— The power of	xxv.	340
— Its influence and effects considered	xxvii.	16
Custom duties , what they produced in the time of Queen Elizabeth	xii.	88
— What at present	xii.	88
— The very complicated state of them	xxv.	335
— Substitute for	xxv.	335
— and Custom-house business, regulations of, considered	xxxv.	442
— Farther regulations proposed	xxxv.	443
Customs, Superstitions , practised among the Moravians	viii.	484
Cuttle fish , quality of the ink	xii.	505
— Remarkable birth of their young	xii.	506
— The inveterate enemy of the pinna muricata	xxxiv.	269
Cyclopædia , new edition of, censured, for a particular article	xv.	626
— Of philology, &c.	liii.	436
Cyclopes , explained	li.	430
Cyder , preferred to wine	ii.	379
— Good in an atrophy	ii.	380
— Its good and bad qualities	ii.	380
— and Perry, observations on the making of	xxviii.	352
— of Normandy, account of	xxxvii.	193
— of Devonshire, the cause of the colic, peculiar to that country	xxxviii.	17
— Experiments on, relative to the dispute concerning the Devonshire colic	xl.	127
Cymrodorion-society , their charitable scheme and British zoology	xxix.	478
— Their British zoology completed	xxxv.	237
Cyprus , erroneously called camphire, in our translation of Solomon's song	iii.	442
— Great consumption of that plant in Turkey	iii.	444
Cyrus , agreement between the heathen and sacred writers concerning	xiv.	520
— Address to his sons and nobles	xiv.	521, 524
— Instructions to his eldest son	xiv.	522

- Cyrus*, predicted by Isaiah as the restorer of the temple xxv. 148
 — Compared with Telemachus — xlix. 550
 — Account of a Greek manuscript of a curious romance relative to him — — — lxiv. 557
Exarina, a detail of a conspiracy formed against her xxiii. 148
Exarcepitz, son to Peter the Great, his brutal treatment of his princefs lviii. 382
Exernischeff, Count, his letter concerning the spontaneous inflammation of a mixture of spot and oil — — — lxix. 584

D

- Dacosta*, Emanuel Mendez, account of a production in Scotland similar to the giants causeway in Ireland xxvii. 330
Dagobert I. King of France, his fine collection of laws xlii. 434
Dailama; or Dalaylama, a living idol among the Tartars, great homage paid to it — — — x. 204
Dailé attacks the authority of the fathers — — — iii. 243
D'Alembert, M. his remarks on translation xxxi. 26
 — On elocution — — — xxxi. 38
 — On the abuse of criticism, in matters of religion xxxi. 29
Dallas, Mr. Sentence of degradation — — — i. 199
 — The history of his prosecution by the Bishop of Cork and Ross — — — i. 273
Dalmatia, Introduction to the history of — — — lii. 594
 — Travels into that country — — — lix. 38
 — Wonderful curiosities in natural history there — — — lix. 46
Dalrymple, Sir John, his pleadings before the Lords against literary property — — — li. 205
Dalrymple, Capt. his theory of the origin of the low flat islands in the wide ocean — — — xxxix. 427
 — His plan for extending the commerce of this kingdom to the East Indies — — — xl. 94
Dalston, family of, in Cumberland its prejudices xliv. 361
Damien, his birth — — — xvii. 57
 — His character — — — xvii. 59
 — Robs his master — — — xvii. 59
 — Stabs the king of France — — — xvii. 64
 — Is seized — — — xvii. 65
 — Writes a letter to the king — — — xvii. 66
 — Interrogated — — — xvii. 68, 72
 — How guarded — — — xvii. 68
 — Is tortured — — — xvii. 73
 — Inhumanly executed — — — xvii. 76
 — His family banished — — — xvii. 77
Damnation, not always used in sacred writ to signify the miseries of a future state — — — xxxii. 255
Damned, punishment not eternal — — — iv. 346
Damps, in coal mines, account of — — — xxxvi. 553
 — In mines, curious observations on — — — xlv. 684
Dar,

Dan , the founder of the Danish monarchy	xxvii.	360
Danby , Lord Treasurer, his motive for causing Mr. Montague's papers to be seized	xxviii.	263
— His evil conduct discovered	xxviii.	265
— Pleads the king's pardon	xxviii.	332
— Repentment of the Commons thereupon	xxviii.	332
Dance the painter , his performances praised	lix.	284
Dance , song, and poetry in the savage state of mankind	xxix.	3
— Religious rites performed by singing and dancing	xxix.	12
Dancing , how improved	xv.	109
— Droll association of dancers	xxvi.	349
— And logic, compared	xxvi.	345
— Its antiquity	xxvi.	345
— Negroes extravagantly addicted to	xxvi.	356
— Various kinds of dancing among the Americans	xxvi.	356
— Humorous philosophy of a female dancer	xxvi.	351
— An allowable accomplishment for the fair sex	xxxv.	16
— Strictures on the different modes of	lxi.	115
— Observations on	lxix.	36
Danes , ancient in Britain, their savage and brutal manners	li.	108
Daniel's prophecies , ridiculed	ix.	246
— A new translation of	xx.	37
— Proofs of its authenticity	xx.	150
— Prophecy of the 70 weeks explained	xxxvii.	431
— His predictions enquired into	l.	5
— Chapter x. verse 13, comment on	li.	271
— New explication of his prophecy of 70 weeks	lii.	487
— His prophecies vindicated	lv.	35
— New explanation of his 70 weeks	lv.	114
— Another explanation	lv.	176
Daniel the historian , animadverted on	xlvi.	541
Daniel, John , adventures of	v.	578
Dante , the ingratitude of	vii.	151
— His comedy not understood by Voltaire	xxviii.	339
Daphne , a female character, poetically described by Swift	xxxiii.	317
Dara , the Mogul prince, his unfortunate story	xlvi.	457
Daran , M. his secret for the cure of the suppression of urine	lxiii.	138
Darien , the possibility of cutting through that neck of land, insisted on	xxvi.	429
Darius , the duration and course of his expedition against the Scythians determined	xxii.	316
— Herodotus's account of that expedition censured	xxii.	317
Darkness , account of a remarkable, in America	xxxi.	213
— Cave of, poetically described	xxxiv.	119
Darnel , observations on the poison of	lxvii.	559
Darnley , Lord, Dr. Robertson's account of his death	lxvii.	219
— Dr. Stuart's account of his death	lxvii.	212
Darcbow, Princess , president of the academy of sciences at Petersburg	lxix.	585
Datary , its meaning and uses	xv.	617
Daubenton ,

- Daubenton, M.* concerned with Buffon in the natural history xxxiv. 529
- His share with M. Buffon in the natural history xliiii. 569
- David, King of Israel*, his sin in numbering the people xix. 212
- Conjecture on his being styled the man after God's own heart xix. 213
- His character not thoroughly settled — xxiv. 238
- Rebels against king Saul — xxiv. 241
- His motives for sparing Saul at Engedi xxiv. 242
- His unjust treatment of Nabal — xxiv. 243
- His ill behaviour at Ziklag — xxiv. 244
- Joins the Philistines against king Saul — xxiv. 245
- Comparison between his conduct, and that of the Amalekites xxiv. 246
- His cruelty to the Moabites — xxiv. 247
- To the city of Rabbah — — xxiv. 244
- His contrivance to extirpate the posterity of Saul xxiv. 249
- His behaviour on his death-bed — xxiv. 250
- The impeachment of his character invalidated by citations from Le Clerc — xxiv. 361
- Apology for the history of the man after God's own heart xxiv. 359
- In what sense a man after God's own heart xxvi. 210
- The affair of Nabal — — xxvi. 211
- Conduct to Achish king of Gath — xxvi. 212
- Treatment of the Moabites — xxvi. 213
- Of the Amonites — — xxvi. 216
- His rebellious intention in seizing Heilah xxvii. 58
- His motive for sparing Saul at Engedi and Maon, censured xxvii. 59
- His conduct towards king Achish, and his severity towards the Amalekites, condemned — — xxvii. 61
- His treachery towards Uriah, inexcusable xxvii. 62
- Other enormous crimes insisted on against him xxvii. 63
- His meaning by the expression, "workers of iniquity" xxviii. 268
- His psalms — — xxviii. 109, 110
- Translated by Mr. Green — xxviii. 269, 272
- Meaning of his supposed imprecations against his enemies xxviii. 271
- Criticism on the comparison of the dew, in psal. 110, &c. and on the words, "thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee" xxviii. 273
- His last pathetic words translated — lxviii. 3
- Why styled the man after God's own heart lxviii. 528
- David, King of Scotland*, proposal to his parliament for settling his kingdom on a son of Edward III. of England li. 39
- Davies, Sir John*, some particulars of his life xxi. 556
- His lady a prophets — — xxi. 557
- Davies,*

Davies, Sir John , his poem on affliction	xxi.	558
Dawson, Dr. B. his controversy with Mr. Steff	xxxiii.	417
Day , account of its commencement with the ancient Britons and Saxons	lxx.	269
Day, Mr. conjectures relative to his experiment in the diving vessel	liii.	308
Deane, Forest of , Spanish Armada intended to destroy the timber therein	xii.	472
Dea Matres , obs. on	liii.	416
Deaf , method of making them hear	xliii.	435
— and dumb, instructions for	liv.	478
Deafness , advice relative to	lxiv.	457
Dearth , iniquity of, artificial	xv.	429
Death , not to see, or never taste death, the meaning of that expression	xiv.	408
— No just exemption from censure	xix.	557
— Reflections on	xxiii.	331
— Elegant reflection on	xxv.	330
— Reflection of Adam and Eve on the first instance of death in a bird	xxvi.	111
— No object of fear to good people	xlvi.	235
— Beautifully symbolized in the heathen mythology	lxiii.	298
— Improperly allegorized by the christians	lxiii.	298
Death of Monteith , an ancient Scottish ballad	lxvi.	292
Debauches , anecdote of a young one reclaimed	xxviii.	7
Debtors escaping, examination of the equity of making the jailor accountable for the debts	xxii.	273
— Evil effects of the imprisonment of	xxxii.	535
— Their imprisonment poetically deplored	xlvi.	158
— Defect of the laws respecting	lxx.	189
— Plan for a reform of the laws	lxx.	190
Decency , a dialogue concerning it	iv.	471
Decimals , how they ought to be taught	xvii.	476
— Fractions , theory of	xlii.	396
Decisions human in matters of faith	iv.	20
Declaration , proposed as a more proper term in the church service than absolution	xxvii.	305
— Specimen of a declaration to be used instead of the old form of absolution	xxvii.	306
Declinations of a star, &c. affected by different causes	xvii.	343
Defamation , how far punishable in England	xv.	17
— The ill consequences of	xxiv.	137
Deformity , bodily, its effect on the outward circumstances	ix.	500
— On the mind	ix.	502
— Several things to be guarded against by deformed persons	ix.	503
— The advantages of deformity	ix.	504
Deglutition , history and cure of a difficulty in	xlvi.	259
Deist , Cain said to be the first	ii.	222
— Their self-sufficiency rallied	ii.	129
— Who esteemed such by the clergy	iv.	41

Deist,

- Deist*, he who continues such in a land enlightened by the gospel, said to be wanting either in goodness or reason — xii. 385
- A sensible address to — — xii. 429
- Justly chargeable with unfair management in their quotations — xiv. 470
- Reflections on the conversion of one — xxvi. 480
- Originally an honourable appellation — xxvii. 32
- Abuse of that term calculated to mislead unwary minds — xxvii. 32
- Absurdity of opposing it to Christianity — xxvii. 33
- However aspersed, not far from the kingdom of heaven — xxvii. 33
- The wisest men in the heathen world — xxvii. 35
- Ought to be freely allowed to state their objections against revelation — xxxii. 174
- Invited to state their fullest objections against Christianity — xxxv. 126
- The noblest of all appellations — lxii. 104
- Deism*, causes of its progress — — x. 161
- and idolatry, a comparison between — xxiii. 390
- Considered as only opposed to atheism — xxvii. 33
- to polytheism — xxvii. 34
- Deity*, existence of, how known — — v. 15
- Rules to form a proper notion of — xiii. 445
- Incapable of endowing matter with a power of thinking — xiii. 450
- Proofs of his goodness — — xviii. 310
- Generally understood by the Greeks and Latins in a plural sense — xxix. 513
- Will and power of, whether those terms have distinct meanings — xxxi. 498, 528
- Unity of, zealously asserted by Mohammed — xxxiv. 260
- His goodness, the peculiar attribute of which, above all others, of which it concern us to have just conceptions — xxxiv. 289
- His divine administration vindicated against the doctrine of diabolism — xxxiv. 327
- Rational and pious estimate of his goodness — xli. 109
- Other attributes of — — xli. 240
- His character as creator and governor — — xli. 243
- The knowledge of, discussed — lxii. 97—100
- Problem relative to the infinity of the ideas in the mind of — lxiv. 504
- Delas*, isle of, an account of — — lx. 510
- Delaval*, Sir Ralph, his letter to the earl of Nottingham — xvii. 489
- Delicacy*, that word, how abused — — ix. 465
- Deluge, universal*, a proof of it — — ii. 137
- Its certainty enquired into — — ii. 497
- Increase of mankind before it, computed — — ii. 507
- Number of years from the creation, according to various systems — — vii. 3
- Reflections on the — — vii. 249
- Deluge*,

Deluge , accounted for in a singular manner	ix.	339
— The time of the year when it happened	xiii.	430
— Proved by the Abassode mountains	xv.	486
— The belief of its consequences among mankind	xxxiii.	537
— Not universal	xxxviii.	535
— New theory of	xxxviii.	536
— Dr. King's attempt to account for	xxxix.	417
— Reality of the Mosaic account asserted	liii.	329
— Variety of the allusions to, in the heathen mythology	liii.	334
Demerit philosophically considered	xxix.	50
Demetrius , several pretenders of that name in Russia	xvii.	355
— A dramatic poem, by Metastasio, account of	xxxvii.	90
Democracy , the nature of that species of government delineated	viii.	178
Democritus , his motives for blinding himself	xlili.	560
Demoniacs , reflections concerning	iv.	179
— Two different opinions concerning those spoken of in the New Testament	xix.	106
— Their afflictions, mere bodily distempers	xix.	106
— Objections to this opinion answered	xix.	112
— Persons afflicted with common disorders	xxii.	349
— Controversy concerning	lii.	205
— Disputes concerning	lvii.	390—413
— Scripture controversy relative to	lxii.	178
Demons , the notion of good and evil ones very ancient	x.	438
Demonstration , geometrical, curious obs. on the nature of	xiv.	5
— Common sense not to be made the standard of	xiv.	6
Demopheon , an opera, by Metastasio, account of	xxxvii.	92
Demosthenes his oratory, wherein deficient	ix.	69
— His excellencies	ix.	70
— Some account of him	ix.	317
— his character and conduct	xv.	264, 265
— his oratorical qualifications	xix.	78
— his awe and confusion when about to speak in the presence of Philip	xix.	99
— Extracts from his oration in favour of the Rhodians	xxiv.	302
— His reasoning applied to our aversion to continental engagements	xxiv.	304
— Is accused of accepting bribery	xxiv.	305
— His oratory over-matched by the policy of Philip	xxv.	504
— His contests with Æschines	liii.	111
— His reply to a speech made against him by that orator	xlili.	113
— and Æschines, a French translation of their whole works	lvi.	722
Dendrites , how the arbuscular delineations are formed on	xix.	452
Dendrometer , account of Gleditch's	xlili.	522
Denmark , its form of government characterised	xxvi.	392
— History of, in the modern universal history	xxvii.	359
— Dan the founder of	xxvii.	360
— Account of a strange sect in that country	xxxi.	244
— Remarks on the constitution of the government	xlvi.	31
Denmark,

Denmark , its capital described	—	—	xlvi. 32
— Great revolutions there in the reign of Fred. III.	—	—	l. 433
— Disgusting panegyric on the king of	—	—	liii. 566
— Climate of, not favourable to the Muses	—	—	lv. 310
— Account of the great revolution in that kingdom in 1660	—	—	lviii. 219
— Of the catastrophe of the late Queen	—	—	lviii. 249
Dennis , Mr. his poem on the birth of the prince of Wales, in the Oxford collection, ridiculed	—	—	xxviii. 20
— John , his high conceit of his own importance	—	—	xxkii. 209
Dentition in children, some observations on	—	—	x. 116
— Commencement of	—	—	xiv. 326
Dentrical improvements	—	—	xxvi. 430
Depopulation , causes of	—	—	xxxiii. 47
Derby neck , account of that species of tumour	—	—	xli. 359
— Method of cure	—	—	xli. 360
Derbyshire , mineralogical observations relative to	—	—	lxv. 556
— Atmosphere of the Peak medically and chemically considered	—	—	lxx. 452
Derry , Bishop of, highly panegyricised	—	—	lxii. 553
Desaguliers , his hypothesis of the ascent of vapours	—	—	xv. 363
Desbarrenx , his imitation of a sonnet of Desportes	—	—	xxvii. 494
Des Cartes . See Cartes .
Desertion , reflections on	—	—	xxv. 120
Desert Island , story of that dramatic poem	—	—	xxii. 137
Design , essential to moral actions	—	—	iv. 526, 534
Design in painting , what	—	—	i. 92
— Great utility of the arts dependant on it	—	—	i. 166
— Rules of	—	—	xxxviii. 163
— Defined	—	—	xlv. 120
— Farther explained	—	—	xlv. 122
De Sind , Baron , his celebrated remedy for the glanders	—	—	xxxi. 188
Desires , immoderate, causes of	—	—	xlii. 106
Desolation poetically described	—	—	xxxi. 300
Despair depicted	—	—	xxvi. 208
Desportes , imitation of a sonnet of	—	—	xxxvii. 494
Despotism , what	—	—	xv. 220, 222
— Marks of, in the character of a nation	—	—	xlili. 554
— A striking picture of its enormity	—	—	xlvi. 94
— Origin and progress of	—	—	xlvi. 292
— Less extreme in the oriental parts of the globe than generally imagined	—	—	lxi. 553
— Characterised	—	—	lxvii. 13
Dissau , account of a remarkable institution there for education	—	—	lvii. 310
Dettingen , description of the battle of	—	—	xiv. 108, 110
Deuteronomy , reflections on the general design of that book	—	—	li. 265
Devil , why said to be a murderer from the beginning	—	—	x. 64
— Enquiry into his mode of existence	—	—	xxiii. 318
— or Evil Being, reduced to a personifying figure in rhetoric	—	—	xxx. 473
			Devil ,

- Devil*, the notion of, whence derived — xxxii. 513
Devil, arguments to prove, that the scripture account of him must be understood figuratively — xxxiv. 328
 — The best friend to the clergy — lv. 184
 — who and what — lvii. 395, 413
Devil, an Apothecary, a gamester his patient xxv. 395
Devil, Printer's, droll poetical picture of — li. 65
Devil's Punch Bowl, what so called — xvii. 509
Devienne's Eulogy on Montagne — liii. 504
Devonshire, Duke of, his character by an enemy xxvii. 467
 — Abused for resigning — xxvii. 467
 — Dukes of, history of that noble family — xxix. 214
 — Earls and Dukes of, memoirs of that family xxxi. 32
 — Countess of, her character — xxxi. 34
 — William first Duke of, his notable fray at the French opera xxxi. 36
Devonshire, Cholic, the controversy on xxxviii. 17.—xxxix. 37
 39, 41.—xlvii. 265.
Devonshire Cyder, Impregnation of lead in — xxxviii. 17
 — Observations on the climate and soil of that country, with respect to the cyder fruit-trees — xli. 364
Devotion, the important advantages of it — viii. 337
 — Some degree of passion warrantable in the performing it viii. 338
 — Excellent account of — lvi. 284
Dew, drops of, on the leaves of colewort, not in contact with the plant — xv. 383
Dewitz, Baron, improves the trade and manufactures of his own country, from what he had observed in England xxxviii. 489
Diabetes, Bristol water good for — ii. 462
 — Case of a — xxxviii. 441
 — Experiments on the urine in a — lv. 254
 — Two remarkable cases of — lxxiii. 291
Dialogue between a nymph and her lover going to the wars xx. 454
 — Between two physicians — xx. 456
 — Why the English are less successful than the French in that species of composition — xxii. 409
 — The grand defect of modern, — xxvii. 24
 — Those of Lucian inimitable — xxvii. 25
 — Between a Stoic and the Mogul — xxvii. 26
 — Between Lucian and Mellinius — xxvii. 29
 — On freedom of sentiment — xxi. 510
 — Between a hermit, &c. — xxxi. 553
 — Between Scipio and Cæsar in the shades — xxxiii. 367
 — Between Plato and Diogenes — xxxiii. 369
 — Between Marcus Aurelius and Servius Julius — xxxiii. 370
 — Between Brimha and Narud on the creation, and the nature of God — xxxix. 381, 384
 — Between a father and his daughter — li. 99
 — Of the dead, by Lord Lyttelton — li. 412
 — Between Dame Jenkins and Eugénus — lxi. 96
Dialogue

Dispute between Sophia and Margaret	lxi.	97
— Between John the footman and Clement	lxi.	99
— Between an Englishman and a Frenchman concerning royal prerogative	lxi.	174
— Between a bookseller and a Grub-street writer	lxi.	468
— Between a Frenchman and an Englishman relative to Canada	lxii.	145
Diamonds , weights and terms used in the diamond trade	ii.	335
— Principle for the valuation of all sorts	ii.	336
— Method of manufacturing them	ii.	337
— Experiments concerning the destruction of, by fire	lvi.	543
Diana , an annual offering to her in St. Paul's cathedral, continued in the time of Erasmus	xxiii.	202
— Account of the silver shrines in her temple at Ephesus, mentioned in the New Testament	xl.	251
Diaphragm , Lieutaud's observations on the diseases of	xxxviii.	545
Dickson, M. his letters under the character of a farmer in Pennsylvania	xxxix.	18
Disputes , Pape , what	xxiv.	369
Dictionary of arts and sciences, some improperly so called	x.	51
— What a real dictionary ought to contain	x.	52
— Historical knowledge	x.	52
— Use of Dictionaries not confined to beginners	x.	53
— Method of composing one hinted	xxv.	472
— Biographical, their alphabetical order condemned	xxviii.	33
— The chronological form recommended	xxviii.	34
— Etymological, plan of	xxx.	510
— Of arts and sciences, remarks on the compilement of	xl.	2
Didrot, M. his great civility to Dr. Burney	xl.	339
— His flattering letter to M. Falconet	lvii.	272
— Essay on Seneca	lx.	313
Diet and entertainments of London, remarks on	x.	500
— Vegetable, Dr. Cheney's recommendation of it	xxi.	407
— The flesh of carnivorous animals more apt to generate putridity than herbivorous, or granivorous	xxi.	409
Dietetics , not sufficiently studied	iii.	409
Differential calculus , account of	xxxvii.	434
Diffidence , philosophical, facilitates the progress of real knowledge	xli.	408
Digby, Sir Kenelm , his character	xxi.	29
Digestion , theory of	vi.	322
Dignity and meanness considered	xxvii.	14
Dignity or nobility , &c. how acquired or conferred	xxxiii.	16
Digressions , their uses	xxi.	563
Dilapidation , of church houses, scheme for remedying	xlvi.	495
Diluviani, Society , its rise and design	xlii.	368
— Send to collect Ionian antiquities	xlii.	369
Dimsdale, Baron , his remarks on general inoculation of the small pox	lx.	323

- Dinodote, Baren*, curious anecdote relative to his practice in Russia lxvi. 172
- Dinab*, Jacob's daughter, observations on Shechem's criminal connection with her — — — lxi. 303
- Disarchus*, his oration against Demosthenes — — — xxiv. 305
- Dinner*, some precepts respecting — — — xxiv. 77
- Dioclesian*, averse to persecuting the Christians — — — xxv. 266
- His reply when desired to resume the empire after his abdication — — — xxv. 266
- His notions of government — — — xxv. 267
- Diodorus Siculus*, his account of men in Corsica who lay-in instead of their wives, not true — — — xliii. 563
- Brief account of — — — xlv. 579
- His account of savage nations — — — xlix. 324
- Diogenes*, life of — — — lviii. 385
- His dialogue with Alexander in the shades — — — lxiv. 31
- Dionaea Muscipulas* described. — — — xliii. 209
- Dionysius the Areopagite*, the story of him in regard to Christ's crucifixion not to be regarded — — — xxxiv. 37
- Dionysius of Halicarnassus*, his observations on Socrates's works — — — v. 424
- The first writer of a literary review — — — xiv. 253
- A mere writer of romance, according to Mr. Cooke — — — xix. 187
- His character according to Mr. Spelman — — — xix. 256
- Account of — — — xlv. 579
- Dionysius the Tyrant*, his famous ear-poison described — — — lv. 435
- Dioptrics*, summary of a general theory of — — — xlii. 506
- Dioptrical Glasses*, on the perfection of — — — lii. 561
- Discorides*, account of his botanical researches — — — xlv. 259
- Dysentery*, the source, and remedy for — — — xxiii. 69
- Cause of, poetically described — — — xxxvi. 352
- Popular, of the present times, causes of investigated — — — xlii. 386
- Remedy for — — — xlii. 389
- Cautions with respect to the proposed remedy — — — xlii. 390
- Discord*, fatal consequences of — — — vi. 336
- Discords in Music*, conjecture concerning the nature of — — — xl. 565
- Discretion*, defined — — — xxiv. 102
- Discus or Quoit*, in the Olympic Games, described — — — i. 112
- Diseases*, causes of diseases, ascribed to some excess or deficiency in the fluids — — — v. 409
- Peculiar to long voyages — — — xlix. 173
- History of an extraordinary disease — — — lviii. 517
- See Medical.
- Disinterestedness* defined — — — vii. 45
- Dispensation*, the peculiar design of it pointed out — — — xi. 333
- Dispensing Power in the Crown*, with regard to the laws, exploded — — — xxxv. 474
- Disquisitions*, free and candid, remarks on — — — vi. 62
- Real design of — — — vi. 63
- Their insolent tendency — — — vi. 67
- Disquisitions*,

Disquisitions, free and candid, the authors censured and defended	xxxii. 152
Diffiners, their objections to the church of England answered	ii. 244
— Guilty of schism	ii. 246
— Why persecuted by the Tories	viii. 444
— Regard the principles of the reformation as little as those of the established church	xiv. 358
— Of all denominations, members of, in London	xv. 371
— Hardships of dissenting ministers	xvii. 449
— Their readiness to join in communion with the church on a reformation of the liturgy	xxvii. 308
— A society formed for worshipping God by a new form of common prayer	xxvii. 308
— Furious for moderation	xxvii. 434
— Their deportment in social life described	xxxii. 473
— Not dangerous to the established church of England	xxxiv. 197
— Queries addressed to them concerning liturgic and stated forms of worship	xxxiv. 257
— Their form of worship animadverted on	xxxvii. 111
— Written forms recommended to them	xxxvii. 114
— Necessarily friends to civil liberty	xli. 40
— Advice to their ministers	xli. 42
— Their principles and conduct defended	xlii. 23
— The state benefited by the toleration of	xlii. 29
— Their right to a full and free toleration maintained	xliv. 190, 194
— Their late application to parliament approved in regard to their main purpose, but condemned with respect to their measures	xlviii. 231
— Their toleration bill defended	xliv. 89
— Their late application to parliament defended	l. 214
— Further vindicated	l. 384
— Prejudices against them ascribed to the want of knowing them better	lvii. 494
— Bishop Newton's character of	lxviii. 235
— See Articles, Confessional, Subscription.
Distillation, improvements proposed in	xiv. 446
— The chief art in it, what	xvii. 388
— Pontana's discoveries relating to	lxvii. 369
Distinguishing, in our ideas, what	xv. 51
Dutch, the best method of making	xvii. 226
Dutton, Humphrey, his book on the resurrection, translated into the German tongue	i. 294
Dynamics, experiments on	xxxix. 206
Diversions, the cause of robberies	iv. 231
— Hurtful to industry	xi. 145
Divination, beaten, whether real or not	iv. 180
Divines. See Clergy.
Diving, on the art of, as practised by the ancients	lv. 516
— Academical disquisition on the art of	lxiv. 546
Diving Rod, believed in by the miners in Cornwall	lix. 270

Diving-Red , account of the process of	lix.	271
— Wonderful account of its power and properties	lxv.	497
Diving-Vessel , conjectures on Mr. Day's	liii.	303
Divinity , Polemical, recommended for the subject matter of conversation	iii.	108
— Directions for the study of	xiii.	189
Divorces , permitted both by the Greeks and Romans on slight pretences	xiii.	312
— On what occasion granted by the Prussian law	xxvi.	7
— Analysis of the law of	xxviii.	72
— Effects of	xxviii.	173
— Advantages of rendering it easy to be attained	xxxiv.	263
— Antiquity of	xlvi.	661
— Laws relative to	lvii.	353
Divan , description of	xv.	137
— Meaning of that word	xv.	137
Dobb , Mr., his zeal for the discovery of a N. W. passage from Hudson's Bay	lxx.	463
Docility of mankind , moral uses of	iv.	163
Dock-yards , Royal, great waste of the timber in	xxxiv.	396
— Enormous waste of ship-timber in them	xxxvi.	158
Doctor-making , a proposal for	xvii.	196
Doctors of medicine , an inconvenience attending the nostrum for multiplying them	xxi.	543
Doctrine , none worthy of regard in which the founder appears interested	xix.	120
Doctrines , the characteristics of, fundamental	xxii.	48
Dodd, Rev. Dr. censured for his doctrine of fire and brimstone, and the eternity of hell torments	xxviii.	311
Doddridge, Dr. his genius and learning	xxxiv.	147
— His amazing diligence and activity	xxxiv.	151
— His respectable character	lxx.	54
Dodley, Mr. Robert , his description of Persfield	lviii.	194
— His account of the life and writings Mr. Shenstone	xxx.	378
Dodson , his method of investigating an annuity	xli.	323
Dog , an instance of one that was taught to speak	ix.	370
— Funeral of one described	xi.	498
— Number of them limited in Norway	xii.	502
— Method of curing the rabies canina	xxi.	379
— The terror on account of their madness, ridiculous	xxiv.	455
— Various specifics against the supposed danger from the bite	xxiv.	456
— Instances of disorder from the bite, scarcely known to practitioners	xxiv.	460
— Inconsistency in the reports concerning	xxiv.	460
— Their instinctive dread of those afflicted with canine madness	xxiv.	461
— and cat, a fable	xxvii.	70
— A story concerning an extraordinary species	xxvi.	431
— English, a considerable article in the ancient commerce of this country	xxix.	509
Dog ,

Dog , on the bite of a mad	— — —	xxxviii. 445
— case of a hydrophobia	— — —	xlvi. 256
— Fatal disorders among	— — —	li. 550
— Act of parliament to reduce the number of, recommended	— — —	lii. 18
— account of a fatal hydrophobia	— — —	lv. 258
— Cruelly used in the business of hunting	— — —	lxv. 217
— Remarkable story of	— — —	lxvii. 18
— An account of three which were whelped with the head and beak of a parrot	— — —	lxvii. 552
Dog-fish , described	— — —	xliv. 398
Doge of Venice , a dignity merely honorary	— — —	xxiv. 447
Doglinger , a kind of whale, peculiarity of	— — —	xii. 503
Dolland, John , his instrument for measuring small angles	— — —	xiii. 327
— His improved telescopes	— — —	xxxv. 375
— A famous telescope of his, excelling all others	— — —	xlvi. 679
— Improvement in the use of his micrometer	— — —	xlvi. 414
— His account of an apparatus applied to the equatorial instrument for correcting the errors arising from the refraction, in altitude	— — —	lxiii. 379
Dolphin ship , her voyage to the South Sea, &c.	xlix. 137,	289
Doomsday Book , upon what account written	— — —	xix. 459
— Some account of	— — —	xliv. 379
— Where kept	— — —	xliv. 379
— Project for printing, by what means defeated	— — —	xliv. 380
Domingo, St. essay on the natural history of	— — —	liv. 393
Dominicans , droll account of their quarrel with the Cordeliers	— — —	xxxi. 217
Donati, M. his travels and death	— — —	lv. 551
— False report concerning contradicted	— — —	lv. 551
— His writings and collection of natural curiosities lost	— — —	lv. 551
Doune, Dr. his writings destitute of poetry	— — —	xiv. 535
— A metaphysical poet, with a specimen of his poetry	— — —	lxi. 4
Doer Thundering , reprehended	— — —	lix. 123
Doria, Andrea , restores liberty to the Genoese	— — —	iv. 393
— Account of	— — —	v. 299
— Made perpetual Censor	— — —	v. 302
— His great services to the republic of Genoa	— — —	x. 334
— Their gratitude to him	— — —	x. 335
— His great character	— — —	lxix. 334
Double-minded Man , a character of	— — —	v. 390
Douglas , the pedigree of that family traced for upwards of three thousand years	— — —	xiii. 159
Douglas, Captain , his trial	— — —	xxxvi. 397
Douglas, Mr. his experiment on a blue substance found in a peat-moss	— — —	xlii. 422
Douglas, Mr. his account of attempts to ascertain the temperature of the sea in great depths	— — —	xlvi. 181
Douglas, Dr. his account of the efficacy of hemlock in scirrhus	— — —	lv. 152
... gales and ulcers	— — —	lv. 152

- Douglas, Sir Charles*, his letter to Mr. Thomson lxi. 455
Douglas, Rev. Dr. editor of Captain Cook's last voyage lxx. 461
Dove, of christianity, changed to a vulture xxvii. 413
Dow, Mr. his industry in acquiring an acquaintance with the learning of the East xxxix. 377
Dows of plants, attempt to make paper of them x. 482
Doyen's inquiries concerning the feudal laws lxiv. 55
D'Oyley, Governor, his wife conduct and bravery li. 132
Dragon-fly, observations on — — v. 4
Drains, method of making — — xvii. 224
 — Remedy for the offensive smell of — — xlv. 514
Drake, Mr. his observations on the origin of the word romance lvii. 265
 — His account of two Roman stations in Essex lxii. 112
 — Combats Whitaker's account of the origin of the English language — — lxii. 277
Drake, Sir Francis, some account of — — xviii. 568
 — Takes Nombre de Dios and Vera Cruz xviii. 569
 — Sails round the globe — — xviii. 570
 — Furnishes the town of Plymouth with water xviii. 571
 — His person described — — xviii. 573
Drama. See Stage.
Drams, when useful — — ii. 375, 376
 — a method of making — — xvii. 224
 — Pernicious to nurses and children — — ix. 163
Drapier's letters written by Dean Swift — — v. 422
Draucis, intended by Virgil to represent Cicero ii. 442
Drawing, art of; its great utility — — i. 166
Dreams, a frightful one, recovering a person who had been four years dumb, to the use of his speech i. 373
 — Supposed to prove the agency of evil spirits ii. 427
 — Futility of paying any regard to them xxxvi. 571
 — Explained and distinguished lxvii. 343
 — Incapable of any philosophical explanation lxix. 39
Dreamer, the, supposed to be written by Dr. King xii. 395
Dresden, account of the curiosities in that city viii. 495
 — The ruinous state of — — xlix. 214
Dress, luxury of, censured — — ii. 326
 — The reasonableness in conforming to the fashion in it with caution — — ix. 346
 — The capital article of town effeminacy — — xvi. 431
 — Apology for the frequent change in the fashions of xxv. 204
 — Account of old English — — xxx. 288
 — The various fashions of, in former times xli. 211
 — Description of the dress of a page in Queen Elizabeth's time lxi. 15
 — Of the beaux of this country in the 14th century lxvii. 57
Drill-Blow, that invented by Chalessevent, recommended xxxii. 404
 — Advantages of this instrument — — xxxii. 406
Drill-

Drilling, compared with the broadcast husbandry in several crops
xiv. 382

— See Husbandry.

Drinking, sacred, account of — xxxvi. 358

Droitwich, account of the salt works there lxxv. 259

Droff, sweet oil a cure for xv. 276

— The utility of nightshade in a — xvii. 571

— Dr. Mackenzie's account of a case — xxvii. 193

— Of the pericardium, an account of — xxxvi. 562

— An operation for the hydrops pectoris xxxvii. 376

— Several cases of, and treatment, by Dr. De Haen xxxviii. 544

— In the brain, diagnostic signs of — xxxix. 269

— Cure of, a desideratum in medicine — xxxix. 270

— Of the peritoneum — xxxix. 518

— Early tapping recommended — xlv. 451

— Extraordinary cures — xlvii. 261

— Cured by a surgical operation — lx. 541

— An extraordinary case — lxii. 217

— Cured by a discharge from the tongue lxxvii. 518

Drowned person, method of recovering in Finland xvii. 268

Drowning, wind-belts for the prevention of xxx. 402

— Directions for recovery from — xxxiii. 59

— Dissertations on the means of recovering persons from xxxix. 533

— Account of means used in Holland to recover persons supposed to be drowned — xlix. 309

— Detail of the success attending the establishment at Paris for the recovery of persons supposed to be drowned l. 150

— Extraordinary case of a person's recovery from li. 555

— See. Humane Society.

Drugs, their effects upon human bodies not to be discovered by any chemical process — ix. 128

Druids compared with the Persians — x. 417

— Their several ceremonies of worship — x. 419

— Their regard for magic and witchcraft — x. 420

— Are supposed to have conversed with Pythagoras x. 422

— And to have learned some Egyptian and Jewish rites from the Egyptians — x. 423

— Said to have received the patriarchal religion from the Phœni-
cians — xj. 86

— Monuments of, in Scilly — xi. 244

— Verses of, much resemble the Hebrew proverbs xiv. 253

— Their conduct and influence in religion and politics xv. 568

— Account of some remains — xlv. 142

— Conjectures relative to their temples in Great Britain li. 104

— Defence of, against M. Bailli lvii. 548

— Their resemblance to the ancient Magi lvii. 549

— Their skill in astronomy, asserted — lvii. 549

Druidical remains on Stanton and Hartle Moor, in the Peak lxx. 265

Drum, poetic invective against — lxxvii. 190

Drummond, of Haworthornden, his poetical character xv. 55

Drummond, Alexander, Esq. his conversation with a nun xi. 199

Drummond,

Drummond, Alex. Esq. Describes the ceremony at a young lady's taking the veil	—	—	xi. 202
Drunkennes , reflexions concerning	—	—	iv. 132
— Comparison between the English and Scottish law against	—	—	xxiii. 195
— Ill consequences of	—	—	xxv. 344
— Two excellent schemes against	—	—	xxvi. 431
Dryads , ode to the	—	—	xxx. 30
Dryden, John , some memoirs of him	—	—	iii. 427
— Alexander's feast applauded	—	—	xiv. 547
— Character of his works	—	—	xvi. 47
— Charged with a gross mistake in his translation of Virgil	—	—	xxxviii. 423
— His poetry preferred to Pope's	—	—	xli. 378
— His description of famous places in Italy	—	—	lv. 434
— Observations on his genius as a poet	—	—	lvii. 30
— Compared with Pope	—	—	lvii. 31
— His merit as a prose writer considered	—	—	lxi. 186
— Letter to his sons, published in confirmation of his being addicted to astrology	—	—	lxi. 187
Dry grips , observations on	—	—	xxxi. 184, 187
— Method of cure	—	—	xxi. 377
Duane, Mr. his collection of Brunswick state papers	—	—	lii. 244
Dublin , people of, favour Mr. Lucas	—	—	ii. 282
— Cattle, described	—	—	xlvi. 51
Dublin Society , when and for what purposes instituted	—	—	l. 81
— Beneficial effects of	—	—	l. 81
Ducarrel, Dr. his controversy with Mr. Barrington, relative to chestnut trees	—	—	xlvi. 113
Duchall, Dr. his amiable character	—	—	xxxi. 278
— His indefatigable industry and application	—	—	xxxi. 282
Duché, Rev. Mr. Some account of	—	—	lviii. 165
Ducis, M. his oration in honour of Voltaire	—	—	lxi. 220
Ducket, Mr. his evidence with regard to the interpolations of Clarendon's history disputed	—	—	xix. 234
Ducks , good destroyers of slugs and caterpillars among turnips	—	—	xviii. 557
— In Iceland described	—	—	xviii. 201
— Of great advantage to the inhabitants	—	—	xviii. 201
Dudley , striking reflexions on its rise and fall of the noble family of	—	—	lviii. 209
Duel , an extraordinary one, by the appointment of Gontran king of Burgundy	—	—	xlii. 467
— Another in the time of Philip Duke of Burgundy	—	—	xlii. 469
Duelling , the practice of, in France	—	—	vii. 153
— Canons of	—	—	xlii. 468
— Reflections on	—	—	xlii. 471
Duels , folly and guilt of	—	—	xi. 133, 137
— Why ought to be tolerated	—	—	xi. 76
Duels	—	—

Duels , Thoughts upon	—	xx.	124
— Why not easy to be abolished	—	xxiii.	448
— Exposed	—	l.	11
— Method of abolishing, devised by Gustavus Adolphus	—	l.	15
Dubamel, M. his botanical and meteorological observations		xli.	512
— His observations on the salts extracted from the ashes of vegetables	—	xlv.	520
— His experiment on the several systems of plants	—	xlvi.	272
— His description of several magnetic compasses, &c.	—	lvi.	545
Duff-house described	—	xlvi.	148
Dulaney, Mr. his considerations on taxing the colonies	—	xxxiv.	65
Dulwich hospital , the occasion of building it	—	xxiii.	318
Dumb and deaf persons, account of a language for	—	liv.	478
Dumb-waiters , how used in the palace of the French king	—	xlvi.	64
Dumbarton castle , how taken by the Regent of Scotland	—	xx.	194
Dumoulin's calculation of the quantity of blood in the human body		v.	507
Dumplings , the advantages of eating	—	xxi.	270
Dun and catchpole , description of	—	v.	452
Dune of Dornadilla , described	—	lxii.	271
— Picturesque view of	—	lxiv.	114
Duncomb, Sir John , recommends the punishment of absentees from the House of Commons	—	xxviii.	126
— His moderate sentiments with regard to the Duke of Lauderdale's removal	—	xxviii.	130
Dung , made use of in hot-beds for hatching chickens	—	iii.	209
— How rendered excellent manure	—	xii.	70
— Of no present advantage to land	—	xx.	439
Dungbills , best economy of	—	xix.	631
Dunkers , a religious sect in Pennsylvania, described	—	lvii.	301
		lviii.	165
Dunkin, Dr. his poetical character	—	l.	355
— His humorous verses relative to Mrs. Faulkner	—	l.	356
Dunkirk , Remarks on the sale of	—	viii.	32
Dunn, Mr. his account of several phenomena relating to the sun and moon	—	xxix.	144
— His reasons for a lunar atmosphere	—	xxix.	145
— His account of an eclipse of the sun	—	xxix.	146
— His account of the moon's appulse to the planet Jupiter	—	xxxi.	419
— His refutation of Mr. West's censure on Mercator's chart	—	xxxi.	419
— His observations on the last transit of Venus	—	xlv.	459
Dunse Spaw , Nature of	—	v.	225
— Its constituent parts	—	v.	228
— Its effects	—	v.	231
— Rules previous to the use of it	—	v.	232
Dunstable , whence derived its name	—	lxix.	373
		Dunstable ,

Dunstable, Robert , his literary performances	—	l.	424
Dupuy , his dissertation on the vowels of the Hebrews, &c.	—	liii.	572
Durando M. on a dissolvent for biliary stones	—	lxx.	522
Duration , only a relative idea	—	xxii.	3 4
Durer, Albert , his character	—	xxxvii.	165
— Some account of	—	xlii.	367
Durissal, Count de , his life	—	xix.	492
Durgantti, Queen of Gurrah in the East Indies , her valour and fortitude	—	xl.	507
— Her unfortunate end	—	xl.	508
Dutch vindicated	—	ii.	111
— Their consistency and perseverance in treating with the French ministers in Holland	—	xvi.	495
— Termed the common enemy, by the French King	—	xvi.	507
— Regulations of their common women	—	xix.	471
— Their right of being French carriers in time of war, disproved	—	xx.	56
— Their national character	—	xliii.	341
— Their neatness and oeconomy celebrated	—	xvi.	568
— Remarks on their East India company	—	xvi.	571
— Their saw-mills	—	xvi.	572
— Their herring fishery	—	xvi.	573
— Education of their youth	—	xvi.	574
— Their contests with the English relating to the East India trade and settlements	—	xvi.	638
— Cruelties at Amboyna	—	xvi.	639
— Their wonderful industry	—	xlvii.	62
— At the island of Celebes, their inhospitable and cruel behaviour to Captain Carteret	—	xlix.	366
— Their origin and commercial progress	—	lvii.	551
— Remarkable sea-fight between them and the Spaniards	—	lxix.	60
— See Holland .	—	—	—
Duties , low , beneficial to trade	—	v.	177
Duty of parents to children	—	vi.	171
— Of children to parents not innate	—	vii.	99
Dwarf , account of	—	v.	322
— Description of one kept in the king of Poland's palace	—	xxxvi.	539
— M. Daubenton's description of	—	xxxvi.	540
— Account of an essay on	—	xl.	452
Dydimus of Alexandria , his remarkable sagacity	—	xv.	245
Dyer, Mr. the poet, his account of himself	—	xlviii.	35
— Observations on his writings	—	lxvi.	117
Dying , Francheville's account of the art of	—	xlv.	530
— Discovery in the art of dying silk	—	xlvii.	493
— Account of an Indian root for dying red and yellow	—	l.	288
Dyonysius , his famous grotto described	—	xlviii.	202
Dysentery in Minorca, how cured	—	v.	221
— The use of opium in a	—	ix.	131

Dysentery,

E A R

157

Dysentery , Autumnal, distinguished from diarrhoea	xxiif. 144
— Indication of a cure for it	xxiii. 145
— at London 1762, account of	xxix. 147
— Seldom to be classed among acute diseases	xxx. 389
— Method of cure	xxx. 390
— Usual symptoms, and proper treatment of	xxxiii. 58
— Symptoms and cure of	xxxv. 308
— Epidemic, account of	xlvi. 15
— Curative treatment of	xlvi. 18
— Use of bark in	xlvi. 183
— State of the intestines in	xlvi. 186
Dysphagia , cured by electricity	lix. 194

E

Eacbard, Dr. John , his character	i. 141
— His epitaph	i. 143
Ear , its mechanism	i. 33
— Haygarth's experiments on the wax of	xlv. 454
Earl , that title defined	xix. 461
— The sheriff his deputy	xix. 461
Earth , a chemical theory of	ii. 38
— Destruction of, two ways effected	ii. 46
— Its figure an oblate spheroid	ii. 267
— Its fertility before the flood	ii. 512
— Barrenness of the, the effect of the deluge	ii. 512
— Berrington's argument against the motion of	iii. 225
— Its gradual approach to the sun	iv. 302
— Its three states according to Ramsay	iv. 451
— Pole of, shewn to have five motions	xiii. 321
— And planetary system, motion of, not to be accounted for from projection and attraction	xiv. 181, 183
— New opinion concerning	xiv. 183, 186
— Motion of, illustrated	xv. 237
— Its figure ascertained	xx. 53
— Raspe's theory of	xxxi. 482
— Buffon's theory disputed	xxxi. 482
— Abbé Moro's theory of the	xxxi. 484
— True figure of, several propositions relating to	xxxvii. 364
— Arguments to prove it not spherical	xxxvii. 365
— The phenomenon of its rapid, yet to us insensible motion, accounted for	xxxix. 292
— Level of the surface of the globe taken by the Abbé Chappe, in his journey to Siberia	xli. 437
— Possessed of internal heat, independent of the sun	xli. 504
— Transmutation of, into salt-petre	xli. 550
— Scripture theory of the creation of	xliv. 444
— Curious suggestions concerning the age of	lii. 615
Earth ,

Earth , Its destruction prognosticated from extreme cold	lii. 618
— New theory of its original formation	lx. 38
— Great alterations in the structure and appearances of	lx. 40
— Essay and experiments on that which is the basis of the vegetable and animal creation	lx. 516
— Curious strata of the	lx. 42
— New theory of the formation of	lxi. 559
— Calculation to ascertain its density	lxii. 38
— Held to be wholly derived from water	lxii. 157
— M. de Luc's theory of	lxi. 529
— On the central fire of	lxiii. 139
— Philosophical ideas respecting the changes it has undergone	lxiv. 482
— The changes which it undergoes by fire	lxv. 514
— Fanciful theory of its increase	lxv. 298
— Sejour's memoir on the figure of	lxvii. 504
— Physiologically characterized	xix. 445
— Use of, in vegetation	xxvii. 444
— Effects of fire on several	xlvi. 521
— On the vitrification of calcareous	lxvii. 541
Earth of Ombria , what	liiii. 529
Earthquakes , account of some found in the sea near Whitstable	lxii. 275
— Account of some found on the Musquito shore	lxii. 277
Earthquake , different kinds of	ii. 325
— Description of one	ii. 469
— At York in 1755, some account of	xiii. 327
— Extraordinary and periodical, at Guadaloupe, with the cause	xxi. 236
— Conjectures concerning the cause of	xxv. 5
— At Lisbon, Molloy's account of	xxvii. 331
— Account of one at Madeira	xxvii. 331
— In the West Indies, poetically described	xxxi. 111
— Extract from archbishop Secker's sermon on	xxxiv. 345
— Method of determining the strength and direction of	xlvi. 92
— Lisbon, remarkable anecdote relative to	lix. 412
— Nature of, electrical	lxii. 556
— Discoveries relative to the means of rendering its effects fatal to mankind	lxii. 557
— Account of several in Wales	lxv. 372
— In Wales, a remarkable circumstance relative to	lxvi. 372
— Sir William Hamilton's account of, in Italy	lxx. 102
Earthquakeometer , what	xxxv. 449
Ease , in literary labours, not an easy attainment	xliv. 564
Easter , how to find	v. 42
— A curious question relating to, solved	xlvi. 396
Eater A voracious one	xxi. 339
Eating and sleeping , remarkable change in the stated times for, within the two last centuries	xxxvii. 496
Ebionites , St. Jerom's epistle concerning the	lxix. 212
Eccles , Rev. Mr. Jom's life by his benevolence	lxvii. 254
— Not the author of the Man of Feeling, &c.	lvii. 254
	Ecclesiastes .

Ecclesiastes , various opinions concerning the true meaning of that book	xxvii. 479.
— Supposed to be a discourse on the immortality of the soul	xxvii. 480.
— Reason for this opinion	xxvii. 480.
— Analytical paraphrase on	xxvii. 483
Ecclesiasticus and wisdom of Solomon, by whom written	ix. 305
Echinites , two specimens described	iv. 253
Echoes , remarkable one	xvii. 515
— Not essentially produced by the reflection of sound from a solid body	xlili. 524
Eclésiic Philosophers , account of	xxxiii. 331
Eclipse , first foretold by Thales	xi. 246
— Chlward's calculation of	xi. 246
— Stukley's calculation thereof	xi. 246
— Pllny's error in determining it	xi. 248
— Clemens Alexandrinus's mistaken in setting its time	xi. 248
— And Sir Isaac Newton	xi. 248
— Of the sun, that foretold by Thales terminates a war between the Medes and Lydians	xi. 274
— Geometrical construction of useful	xi. 38
— M. du Sejour's method of calculating	xl. 495
— Sejour's discussion of the doctrine of	xlvi. 676
— Sejour's new method of calculating	lxv. 486, 494—lxvi. 505
— See A'oon, Sun .
Eclogue , a beautiful French	lv. 192
— A Lambeth one	lxii. 408
Edda , an Iceland poem	xvi. 378
Eam, Garden of , what meant by keeping it	xiii. 365
— Expulsion out of it a kindness	xiii. 366
Edict of Nantz , revocation of, beneficial to Prussia	iv. 209
Edinburgh , number of families in	xl. 355
Edinburgh College , on what occasion patronized by K. James I.	ix. 407
— Ridiculous acts of their town council about the dress of women	ix. 408
Edmondes, Sir Thomas , an account of him	ii. 182
Education , too rigid an adherence to the principles of, censured	ii. 3
— Necessity of order in	ii. 16
— Faults of, ironically ridiculed	ii. 371
— Female, a sketch of	ii. 447
— Rational plan of	ii. 456
— Its power in forming the manners	iv. 493
— Foster's thoughts on	vi. 171
— What	vi. 282
— The defects of	vii. 144
— Youth should be sent to Holland to learn temperance and economy	vii. 153
— Reflections on	vii. 449
	Education

Education of the ancients preferable to modern schemes	viii.	257
— The French plan of it, in what respects it may be applauded or censured	viii.	261
— The great importance of it	ix.	310, 456
— The shameful neglect of it	ix.	456
— The insufficiency of the common method, and a different one proposed	ix.	457
— How a copia verborum is to be attained	ix.	459
— The importance of a good education	xiv.	81
— Milton's scheme of	xiv.	83
— Locke's opinion of	xiv.	83
— Wherein ill conducted at present	xiv.	84
— Necessary principles of	xiv.	85
— Mis-judged improvements in	xx.	127
— Some useful hints concerning	xxiv.	68
— Criticism on the present plan of	xxv.	362
— The importance of	xxvii.	213
— The business of parents	xxvii.	259
— Not to gain time, but lose it	xxvii.	347
— Mr. Locke's method of, to be rejected	xxvii.	344
— Strangely personified and poetically celebrated	xxviii.	104
— Rousseau's notions, controverted	xxx.	301
— General directions for	xxx.	306
— Dr. Brown's code, exploded	xxxii.	172
— Montesquieu's remarks on	xxxii.	173
— Rousseau's scheme, attacked	xxxiii.	38
— General remarks on	xxxiii.	192
— Improvements suggested	xxxiv.	193
— Liberty of, asserted	xxxiii.	204
— Dr. Brown's code censured	xxxiv.	194
— Important remarks on	xxxiv.	306
— Rousseau's system of	xxxviii. 1, 14, 81,	96
— Errors in our modes of	xl.	267
— Culture of the passions	xl.	522
— General observations	xl.	524
— Influenced by manners	xl.	530
— Second education, its importance	xl.	532
— On the advantages of academies	xlv. 531—xlv.	672
— Of youth in Holland	xlvi.	574
— Of a prince, an over religious one, not conducive to the happiness of a people	xlvi.	652
— A dialogue on	xlvi.	663
— At Cambridge, censured	xlvi.	449
— Uncommon plan of English	li. 255,	406
— Rural, preferable to that in cities	li.	49
— M. Auger, his discourse on	lii.	536
— Obstacles to intellectual improvement	liii.	561
— Account of an institution for, at Deffau	lvii.	310
— M. Verdier, his course of	lix.	298
— Important observations on	lx.	202

Education , Remarks on	lxv. 1.	13
— Thoughts on	lxvi.	349
— Rousseau's principles of, examined	lxix.	307
Edward I. made Windsor a free borough	i.	252
— His character and conduct as opposed to that of Philip the Hardy	xlvi.	112
— And to Philip the Handsome	xlvi.	113
— Curious account of his corps, on opening his tomb in Westminster Abbey	liii.	501
Edward II. reflections on his unhappy reign	xxvi.	84
— Loses the battle of Bannockburn	lix.	49
Edward III. institutes the order of the garter	i.	259
— And of the poor knights of Windsor	i.	255
— Sketch of his government	xxvi.	86
— His attention to trade and manufactures	xxx.	91
Edward IV. character of	xliv.	97
— His reign, propitious to the wealth of the nation	xliv.	97
Edward VI. his humanity. Unwillingly signs a warrant for burning Joan of Kent; his remarkable speech to Cranmer at doing it	xvii.	112
Edward, the Pretender , the supposed consequences of success in his late attempt	ix.	388
— The absurdity of it	ix.	391
— Impossibility of his future success	ix.	391
— The use made of him by other princes	ix.	392
— A more feasible scheme proposed for him	ix.	392
Edward, William , extraordinary bridge built by him	lxi.	11
Eel , its medicinal virtues	xviii.	630
— Account of the gymnotus electricus	xxxvii.	453
— Curious account of the torporific	xl	206
— M. Schilling's account of the electrical	lii.	577
— Experiments on the gymnotus electricus	liv.	22
— Anatomical account of the gymnotus electricus	lv.	118
Eder, Mr. his complaint of the Royal Society's want of civility	xlviij.	426
— His want of civility to Dr. Darwin	xlviij.	427
— His peculiar notions in philosophy	xlviij.	429
Effeminacy , the source of humanity	xviii.	360
— The source of inhumanity	xviii.	361
— of the times produced in favour of a militia	xviii.	363
Egerton, Mr. his petition to the House of Commons against Lord Bacon	xxxv.	413
Egg , description of	vi.	370
Eggs , the manner of hatching them by electricity	lxiv.	510
Egypt , chickens hatched there by the heat of ovens	iii.	208
— Dynasties	vii.	86
— Hieroglyphics and obelisks	vii.	87
— Osiris and Isis	vii.	87
— Deities	vii.	88
Vol. II.	M	Egypt ,

Egypt, their account of the origin and nature of things concerning

Moses	x.	59
— Never subject to the Israelites	xi.	196
— Some good accounts of, in the Arabic language	xv.	249
— Why a preference due to Norden's account of	xv.	249
— Description of several obelisks	xv.	250
— Advice to travellers in	xv.	353
— Present civil government of	xv.	358
— Europeans, how denominated at Alexandria	xv.	351
— Account of the sepulchral caves or grottos	xv.	256
— Greave's account of the pyramids, controverted	xv.	258
— Why one of the first civilized nations	xix.	329
— Derived scientific knowledge from the Scythians	xix.	516
— The melancholy degeneracy of the country, and of its inhabitants	xxiv.	36
— The first civilized people on earth	xxv.	179
— Their customs respecting marriage	xxv.	180
— Their law proceedings	xxv.	181
— Beautifully described in Mr. Ogilvie's allegorical poem on Providence	xxx.	223
— Abounds with persons of a melancholy complexion	xxxiii.	336
— Enquiry concerning the shepherd-kings there	xxxvii.	352
— Religious veneration for cats	xlvi.	652
— Not that pleasant, healthy, and fertile country which writers have represented it to be	xlvi.	286
— Description of several parts of	xlvi.	288
— Account of their funeral orations	xlvi.	545
— Antiquity of, their knowledge of the polite arts	xlvi.	560
— No national affinity with the Chinese	xlvi.	562
— One of the first or earliest of the great kingdoms of antiquity	li.	181
— State of the sciences there in Homer's time	liii.	375
— Account of modern Egypt	liii.	581
— Ancient, not a learned people	lvii.	451
— Indebted to the Greeks for their scientific knowledge, &c.	lvii.	452
Egyptian bust at Turin, M. Sivry's opinion of	lxi.	306
Egyptian language , when first studied in England	lx.	1
— Cultivated at Oxford	lx.	2
— Grammar and dictionary of	lx.	2
Eichhorn's collection of pieces which throw new light on several passages of the Bible, and several points of oriental literature	lviii.	302
Einar's sketch of the literary history of Iceland	lix.	459
Elastic elements , the mechanical formation of	xxi.	506
Elden hole in the Peake, some account of	xv.	597
Elder , recommended for preserving vegetables from the fly, &c.	l.	286
Elea, true , who are of that number	iv.	145
	Eleation

Election of a Member of Parliament, the behaviour of courtiers on that occasion	—	—	ii.	286
— Original manner of	—	—	xii.	416
— Petitions concerning, how determined	—	—	xii.	417
— Observations on	—	—	lix.	107
— Committees on, utility of preserving their determinations	—	—	lix.	111
— See Parliament .

Electricity , the progress of, in Italy	—	—	i.	378
— Experiments by Dr. Hales	—	—	ii.	470
— The cause of	—	—	vi.	439
— Curious experiments	—	—	ix.	103
— Discoveries by Abbé Nollet	—	—	xi.	221
— Kinnerfley's observations on	—	—	xi.	420
— Experiments by Mr. Canton	—	—	xiii.	248
— Effects of	—	—	xiii.	323
— Professor Richman killed by	—	—	xv.	278
— Difference between the effects of, and lightning	—	—	xv.	278
— Causes the ascent of vapours	—	—	xv.	364
— Lessen's specific gravity	—	—	xv.	366
— Franklyn's experiments	—	—	xv.	379
— The use of pointed rods	—	—	xv.	380
— The same with æther	—	—	xv.	467
— Very different from fire	—	—	xv.	468
— Caution recommended in	—	—	xx.	301
— Passage of the fluid through the pores of conducting bodies, denied	—	—	xxii.	341
— The phenomena explained	—	—	xxii.	342
— Positive and negative defined	—	—	xxiii.	91
— Experiment with black and white stockings	—	—	xxiii.	93
— Delaval's experiments	—	—	xxvii.	426
— Remarks on Delaval's experiments	—	—	xxix.	141
— Franklyn's system confirmed by Fa. Rieger	—	—	xxx.	569
— New experiments, by Kinnerfley	—	—	xxxi.	261
— Gordon's improvements	—	—	xxxvi.	100
— Franklyn's discoveries	—	—	xxxvi.	242
— Wathen's conductor and splints	—	—	xxxvii.	77
— Little known to the ancients	—	—	xxxvii.	3
— Surprising discoveries in the present age	—	—	xxxvii.	93
— History of	—	—	xxxvii.	96
— Gwericke Otto's discoveries	—	—	xxxvii.	96
— Dr. Gilbert, father of modern electricity	—	—	xxxvii.	96
— Hawksbee's discoveries	—	—	xxxvii.	96
— Grey's discoveries	—	—	xxxvii.	97
— M. de Faye's discoveries	—	—	xxxvii.	98
— Wheeler's discoveries	—	—	xxxvii.	98
— Kinnerfley's experiments	—	—	xxxvii.	99
— Allamand's experiments	—	—	xxxvii.	100
— Ludolf's improvement	—	—	xxxvii.	100
— Winkler's experiments	—	—	xxxvii.	101

Electricity , Abbé Nollet's discoveries	xxxvii.	104,	454
— Franklyn's hypothesis of the Leyden phial	xxxvii.		242
— Experiments by Dalibard and Delor	xxxvii.		244
— Experiments with a kite	xxxvii.		244
— Canton's discoveries	xxxvii.		248
— Experiments, by Wilkie and Epinus	xxxvii.		250
— Discoveries by Dr. Watfon	xxxvii.		450
— Symmer's experiments	xxxvii.		454
— Franklyn's diffidence with regard to his theory	xxxvii.		454
— New theory of electric fluids	xxxvii.		455
— Priestley's experiments	xxxvii.		459
— Account of batteries, and their force	xxxvii.		459
— Mortimer's experiments	xxxviii.		99
— The effect of thunder compared	xxxviii.		576
— Experiments in Siberia	xli.		439
— The different fitness of bodies for conductors	xlii.		298
— Priestley's experiments	xlii.		420
— Application of a phenomenon	xliii.		505
— Recuperative, what	xlvi.		555
— Singular application to music	xlvi.		560
— Investigations relative to	xli.		427
— Experiments	xli.		428
— Structures on an enquiry into the influence of the fluid on animal beings	xli.		443
— Franklyn the father of	xlvii.		552
— Observation on some of the phenomena, by H. Cavendish	xlviii.		421
— Franklynian theory, controverted	xlviii.		426
— Henley's experiments	l.	288—li.	373—lii.
— Experiments			l.
— M. le Roy's conductors			l.
— Some improvements in the machine			li.
— Conjectures			li.
— Experiment, by Mr. Nairne			li.
— Whether pointed or blunt rods are to be preferred, with experiments and observations			li.
— Wilson's observations on Henley's experiments			li.
— Amusing experiments			lii.
— New and valuable experiments			lii.
— Le Roi's improvements in the machine			liv.
— A Latin poem on			lv.
— Attempts to imitate the effects of the torpedo with			lv.
— In what manner, operating in the deprivation of human life			lvi.
— Efficacy of rods, questioned and asserted			lvii.
— Experiments			lvii.
— Experiments by Cavallo			lviii.
— Henley's experiments			lviii.
— Influence on human bodies			lviii.

Electricity , applied to a point in husbandry	—	lix. 356
— Wilfon's observation on conductors	—	lx. 415
— Swift's observation on conductors	—	lx. 417
— Experiments by Nairne	—	lxi. 401
— Arguments in favour of Wilfon's experiments	—	lxi. 402
— Experiments, by Wilfon	—	lxi. 407
— Method of lighting a candle by	—	lxi. 407
— Henley's experiments	—	lxi. 410
— Superiority of pointed conductors	—	lxi. 490
— Franklyn's discoveries	—	lxii. 206
— Lord Mahon's experiments	—	lxii. 435
— M. Marat's discoveries	—	lxii. 546
— Experiments	—	lxiii. 376
— Improvements	—	lxiii. 377
— Experiments and observations	—	lxiv. 2
— New hypothesis, and controverted	—	lxiv. 2
— Remarks, on some phænomena	—	lxiv. 7
— New experiments, by Cavallo	—	lxiv. 264
— Effect in shortning wires	—	lxiv. 273
— of the human body	—	lxiv. 463
— Use of, in hatching eggs	—	lxiv. 510
— A modification of the elementary fire	—	lxiv. 520
— Prince Gallitzin's letter on	—	lxiv. 532
— Best form of conductors	—	lxiv. 533
— Various phænomena	—	lxv. 381
— Experiments, by M. Achard	—	lxv. 512
— Compared with heat	—	lxv. 514
— Remarks and experiments	—	lxvi. 175
— New investigations and discoveries	—	lxvii. 483
— Motion and nature of the fluid	—	lxvii. 483
— Experiments, by M. Achard	—	lxvii. 545
— New discoveries	—	lxviii. 382
— Natural lightning produced by	—	lxviii. 600
— Useful remarks	—	lxviii. 601
— New experiments	—	lxix. 459
— Several phænomena, explained	—	lxix. 460
— Hints for improvements in the machine	—	lxx. 283
— Magiotti's machine	—	lxx. 490
— Account of electrical vegetation	—	lxx. 490
— singular effect of	—	lxx. 491
— Experiments, by M. Achard	—	lxx. 491
— How far electrical matter is affected by ringing of bells in thunder storms	—	lxx. 527
— Influence of electrical matter on vegetables	—	lxx. 533
Electricity (medical use of) discovered by the Abbé Nollet	i.	377
— A deaf man cured by	—	i. 378
— A violent head-ach cured	—	i. 379
Electricity , medical, A disorder in the eyes, cured	i.	379
— May cure nervous disorders	—	vi. 440

Electricity, medical, discoveries by the Abbé Nollet	xi.	221
— Professor Richman, killed by	xv.	278
— Use in the art of healing	xv.	562
— Spasm, cured by	xvi.	549
— Ineffectual in parylitic cases	xxi.	232
— Remarkable cure	xxxi.	214
— Application to medical purposes	xxxvii.	450
— Hemiplegia cured by	xxxvii.	450
— Cures performed by De Haen	xxxvii.	452
— A locked jaw, cured	xxxix.	355
— Medicinal effects	xlj.	542
— Effect in palsies	xlj.	542
— Medical use of	liii.	548
— In what manner operating in the deprivation of human life	lv.	511
— Influence on human bodies	lviii.	228
— Efficacy in the cure of a dysphagia	lix.	192
— Cure of muscular contraction by	lx.	414
— Cure of St. Vitus's dance by	lxii.	215
— Mr. Partington's success in	lxii. 309—lxiii.	438
— Efficacious in female disorders	lxii.	308
— Cure of a disorder in the head and eyes	lxiii.	434
— Utility of	lxiii.	437
— Efficacy in female obstructions	lxiv.	356
— Of the human body	lxiv.	463
— Mauduyt's observations on its medical use	lxviii.	557
— Success in France	lxix.	425
Electrometer, M. de la Lande's invention of an	xl.	97
— A new one invented, by M. Achard	lxviii.	632
— Account of a new one	lxix.	394
Electrophorus, experiments on	lx. 514, lxi.	408
Elegiac epistle, capable of great variety and beauty	xxvi.	224
Elegy, in a country church-yard, preferred to the best piece of the kind in Tibullus, &c.	xi.	425
— On the death of a young lady, extract from	xxiv.	394
— Burlesqued	xxxix.	164
— On a very shocking subject	xlii.	186
— Arabian, translation of, in Latin and English	li.	22
Eleudoric wax, its excellence in painting	liii.	531
Elephants, the manner of hunting them at the Cape of Good Hope	xxix.	504
— Skeletons of, found in North America	xlvi.	57
— Bones of, found in Siberia	lxi. 535, 551
— When inhabitants of the northern regions of our globe	lxii.	398
— Their bones found in North America	lxii.	399
Elephant, remarkable instance of the sagacity of that animal	lxix.	532
Elephantiasis, Dr. Heberden's account of	xxxix.	31
	Eleuthis,

Eluths , a nation of Tartars, their migration and settlement in Russia	lv. 538
— Their late return and submission to the Emperor of China	lv. 538
Elfrida , Mason's, extracts from	vi. 11, 392
— Adapted to the stage	xlvi. 486
Elian , his account of the Celts, in regard to their never flying from danger, improbable and ridiculous	xliii. 563
— His story of Philetus fabulous	xliii. 563
Elihu , the person of Christ typified by him	ii. 349
Ecliptic , variations in the obliquity, does not amount to a minute in 100 years	lxi. 497
Epilepsy , Saillant's observations on an essential	lxviii. 561
Elisha , the prophet, his character vindicated	xxvi. 309
Elixir , definition and composition of	xxv. 498
Elizabeth , Queen , Camden's annals of, defective	xi. 241
— Preserves a good understanding with Pope Sixtus V.	xl. 362
— In what sense employed foreigners	xiv. 169
— Intercourse between her and Henry the Great	xv. 209
— Design between them	xv. 214
— Her death a loss to Europe	xv. 214
— Her attachment to images, crucifixes, and popish habits	xvii. 213
— The magnificence in her chapel	xvii. 214
— Reproves the Dean of St. Paul's openly	xvii. 214
— Her cruelty	xvii. 215
— Her arbitrary message to the Commons	xvii. 216
— Description of her person	xvii. 455
— The profound veneration paid her	xvii. 456
— Her character	xx. 11, 204
— Excommunicated by the pope	xx. 194
— Appointment of James to succeed her, doubtful	xx. 252
— The critical situation of affairs at the commencement of her reign	xx. 400
— Instances of her rivalling the person and qualifications of Mary Queen of Scots	xx. 405
— Objections to her marriage with the Duke of Anjou	xxi. 464
— Reality of her zeal for the reformation questioned and defended	xxxviii. 269
— Various fashions of dress in her reign	xli. 211
— Her immense wardrobe	xli. 211
— Particulars of her temper and behaviour	xlii. 55
— Her cruel treatment in the reign of her sister Mary	xlvi. 550
— Her reign, and the age she lived in, favourable to poetry	lxvi. 162
Elcot , Observations on his clock	xxix. 145
Ellis , description of two species of Maltese coralines	xiii. 324
— On the animal life of coralines	xiii. 422
— His account of an Encrinus	xxvii. 332
Ellis , his account of the cochineal insects	xxix. 141
— His account of the nature of sponges	xxxv. 450

Engine , method of lessening the friction of	—	xxxi. 267
Engineers , England, very defective in, and why	—	xvi. 21
England , its constitution must be destroyed, and when	—	i. 250
— Effect of the climate on the constitution	—	i. 391
— Where the constitution is most liable to be attacked	—	i. 404
— Jealous, and not without reason, of its liberties	—	i. 405
— Monarchy essential to the constitution	—	i. 405
— Wherein its liberty consists	—	iv. 398
— History of its parliament	—	v. 435
— Principles of the constitution stated	—	viii. 73
— Attempts to introduce arbitrary power in	—	viii. 74
— Many advantages of trade	—	ix. 123
— Trade compared with that of other nations	—	ix. 125
— Imports from France to its disadvantage	—	ix. 127
— Queen Anne's design to cancel the act of succession	—	ix. 391
— Antiquities of, few and obscure	—	x. 231
— Imposed on, and abused by Angeloni's letters	—	xii. 387
— How to behave when threatened with a French invasion	—	xiv. 170
— Number of inhabitants, and capable of maintaining one-third more	—	xv. 378
— Annual increase of inhabitants	—	xv. 379
— A fee of the papacy	—	xv. 584
— Reformation more favourable to the clergy than in Germany	—	xvii. 206
— Inhabitants characterised by Hentzner	—	xvii. 458
— The language loaded with consonants, &c. scheme for retrenching them	—	xix. 335
— Right of seizing neutral ships carrying the property of their enemies	—	xix. 542
— The inhabitants characterised	—	xx. 130
— Accused of a want of regard to their kings	—	xx. 204
— Errors in the government	—	xxii. 542
— Third king of any name propitious	—	xxiii. 494
— On what its power is founded	—	xxiv. 269
— Commerce increased during the war	—	xxiv. 269
— Sumptuary laws, not possible to be enforced	—	xxiv. 371
— More remarkable for solidity in judgment, than for refinement in taste	—	xxvi. 13
— Why productive of poets more than painters and statuaries	—	xxvi. 19, 74
— Leopards originally the supporters of the arms	—	xxvi. 247
— Free during elections	—	xxvii. 501
— Commerce in the time of Julius Cæsar	—	xxix. 509
— A nation of slaves and beggars before the reformation	—	xxx. 87
— Introduction of arts and commerce	—	xxx. 89
— Literary character	—	xxxi. 25
— Humorous account of the antiquity of the language	—	xxxiii. 227
— Montesquieu's prophecy of the ruin of the constitution	—	xxxiv. 125, 201
— View of the trade, policy, &c.	—	xxxiv. 291

England, Montesquieu's letter on the liberties	xxxiv.	309
— Voltaire's remark on the peculiarities	xxxiv.	310
— Follies of	xxxiv.	507
— Immense maritime force	xxxv.	495
— Trade in danger from her conquests and national debt	xxxv.	496
— Proposal to pay the debt by the African settlements	xxxv.	496
— Dangerous state of	xxxvii.	9
— Inhabitants satirically characterised	xl.	442
— Described 100 years hence by an American	xli.	68
— National character	xlii.	177
— Baron Biefeld's account of	xlii.	282
— Too little respect for royalty and high birth	xliii.	330
— Want a due reverence for the clergy	xliii.	332
— Their temper affected by the change of the atmosphere	xliii.	536
— Ancient constitution	xliv.	469
— From what era the rival of France	xliv.	567
— National pride of	xliv.	485
— Number of inhabitants estimated	xlvi.	103
— Trade and commerce formerly managed by Jews	xlvi.	637
— Exert themselves in the time of Queen Elizabeth	xlvi.	637
— Establish a trade to the East Indies	xlvi.	638
— Contest with the Dutch	xlvi.	638
— A melancholy people	xlvi.	173
— Women, described by a Frenchman	xlvi.	177
— Clergy, literati, and king, described	xlvi.	178
— Favourable to literary controversy	l.	147
— Inhabitants opprobriously characterised	l.	255
— In what military strength ought to consist	l.	257
— Origin and progress of the arts	lii.	300
— Remarkable for integrity in former times	lii.	422
— Manly amusements	lii.	424
— Manners, &c. in former times	lv.	184
— Perlin's strange account of	lxi.	12
— Abbé Coyer's obs. on	lxi.	220
— Origin of the language	lxii.	277
— See Britain, Commerce, Constitution, Parliament, Trade.
Englefield, Sir Henry, his account of Reading abbey	lxx.	263
— His opinion of certain remains of Roman antiquity in York	lxx.	265
— His additions to Mr. King's account of Lincoln castle	lxx.	365
Engraving, its origin and improvement	lxii.	364
Engrossers of cattle, scheme to prevent	xxxv.	147
Engrossers of corn, &c. apology for	xxxv.	178
Enquiry, free, unsafe even in protestant churches	xviii.	155
Esplan in the army, his constant expences	lxiii.	412
Enthusiasm, spirit of, always the same	i.	281
— The fatal effects of it	viii.	486
— Force of	xi.	192
— In sciences as well as in religion	x.v.	1
— Defined	xxvi.	467
Enthusiasm,

Enthusiasm, poetic, essential in ode writing	—	xxvii.	224
— Not the essential characteristic of poetic genius	—	xav.ii.	146
— Poetical analysis of its operations	—	xxviii.	309
— Poetic, effects opposite to those of religious enthusiasm	—	xliv.	266
— Pope deficient in it	—	xliv.	266
Envy, the most incurable disorder of authors	—	xxiv.	141
Eon, Chev. D', quarrel with Mr. De Vergy	—	xxx.	79
— Summary of his quarrel with Count De Guerchy	—	xxx.	432
— Remarkable account of expences attending his embassy	—	xxx.	435
Ephesus, remains of	—	lxx.	567
Ephsema, Russel's account of an	—	xxxviii.	447
Epic poetry preferable to all others	—	v.	48
— Its properties specified	—	xxvi.	44
— Centure on the machinery of	—	xxvi.	424
— Contrasted with, and distinguished from tragic	—	xxvii.	111
— Ancient laws of	—	xxxii.	15
Epictetus, the Stoic, his contempt of the Christians	—	xxxiv.	37
— Compared with the Emperor Antoninus	—	xxxv.	542
— Some account of	—	xl.	579
Epicureans, their philosophy exposed	—	xx.	433
— The absurdity of their notions	—	xxiii.	390
Epicurus, exemplary goodness of his character	—	xxxv.	541
— Morality of his doctrine asserted	—	xxxv.	541
Epidemic disorders, observations on	—	lvii.	238
Epigram, a fine one from the Greek	—	i.	109
— Two	—	xxii.	515
— On a woman's recovery from hanging	—	xxv.	407
— A droll one in Greek	—	xxxvii.	310
— On the Welsh, Scotch, and Irish teaching the English language	—	lii.	74
Epilepsy, remedies for	—	xl.	134
— The trepan recommended	—	xl.	134
— Dissection of an epileptic patient	—	xl.	311
Epiphanius, his testimony to the scripture	—	iv.	25
Episcopacy, plan of that intended for America	—	xxxii.	473
— Objections to the establishment of, in America	—	xxxix.	153
— King James's attempt to force Episcopacy on the Scotch	—	lix.	97
— The idea of it intolerable to the Americans	—	lxiii.	356
Epistle, poetical, from an unfortunate gentleman to a young lady	—	xliv.	188
Epitaph, an elegant Latin one on a wife	—	xix.	160
Epitomes censured	—	xii.	499
Epochs of Nature, Buffon's account of	—	lxi.	531
Epode, of the Greek poets, what	—	i.	41, 119
Esom and Cheltenham water, difference between	—	xv.	206
Equality among mankind, not hithe. to attainable	—	xxiii.	337
— Not intended by nature	—	xxiii.	338
— Encomium on	—	xxxiv.	22
— An imaginary blessing	—	xxxiv.	23
— Philosophically discussed	—	lv.	220
Equations,

Equations , Rowning's machine for finding	xlv. 455
Equatorial instrument , improvements of	lxiii. 377
Equinoxes , variations in their præcessions discovered	ix. 205
— A table of their præcession	ix. 213
— Præcession of, explained	xiii. 322
— Præcession of, determined	xvii. 341
— Problems relative thereto	xvii. 343
— On the præcession of	lxiii. 401
Equilibrium , laws of	xxxi. 265
Equity , the principles of, scarcely known to our forefathers	xxii. 266
— Case in	xxii. 268
— And common law, whether they ought to be adjudged in the same courts	xxii. 268
Erasmus , respectable mention of	xv. 60
— Account of the several authors of his life	xix. 386
— Le Clerk's the best	xix. 386
— Birth and education of Erasmus	xix. 387
— Composes a poem while travelling across the Alps	xx. 390
— His thoughts on begging	xx. 391
— His character and person described	xx. 395
— His writings characterized	xix. 397
— Censured by the council of Trent	xxiii. 197
— His remarks on a text respecting the Trinity	xxii. 203
— His account of an annual pagan rite continued in St. Paul's church	xxiii. 202
Eratosthenes , account of his curious sieve	l. 32
— His astronomical discoveries	lx. 526
Erilla , (the Spanish poet) some account of	lxvii. 435
— Specimen of his Auracan, an epic poem	lxvii. 436
Ergot , a disease so called	xxxv. 447
Erminia , beautiful passages relating to, from Tasso	xxix. 254
Errors of judgment , not so malignant as that of the will	vii. 40
Error in will , whether it depends on error in judgment	xxv. 271
Error , a picture of	xxv. 460
Errors vulgar , often owing to people's ignorance of the meaning of the words they make use of	xxix. 515
Euse poetry , fragments of	xxiii. 203
— Translated	xxii. 210
Erskine , Mr. his humorous letter to Capt. Boswell	xxviii. 477
Erskine's gospel sermons , remarkable extracts from	xxxiv. 168
Erysipelas , chirurgical remarks relative to	lxix. 384
Eschylus , some account of	xxiii. 7
— His improvement in tragedy	xxii. 291
— Character of his writings	xxix. 82
Esses , in Minorca, account of that disease	v. 220
Esoteric , A abic library in	lxv. 529
Esdas , the books of the Old Testament transmitted by him, objected against by Lord Bolingbroke	x. 255
Esoteric and Exoteric , how distinguished	lx. 86
Espaliers ,

Espaliers , preferred to walls, for fruit-trees	—	xxxiii.	345
Esquimaux , Mr. Hearne's account of that people		lxx.	464
— Their extreme wretchedness	—	lxx.	464
Esquire , etymology of	—	liii.	130
Esquire of the king's body , some account of	—	lxix.	16
Esquire of the household , account of	—	lxix.	17
Essex , Earl of , specimen from Brookes's new tragedy of		xxiv.	74
Essex , (Capel) Earl of , account of his life and death		xliii.	120
— A letter from to the Lord Treasurer	—	xliii.	121
Essex , Mr. His discourse on the antiquity and different modes of brick and stone buildings in England	—	lvii.	262
— His obs. on Lincoln cathedral	—	lvii.	266
— His obs. on the antiquity of round churches		lxx.	351
Establisments religious . See Religion .
Estates , method of improving them	—	xii.	59
— Succession to, how limited in England	—	xv.	14
— Landed, model for keeping the accounts of them		xxi.	499
— Entailed, a defect of our constitution	—	xxxii.	388
— Policy of entail	—	xxxii.	466
— Consequences of entails obviated	—	xxxii.	468
Esteem , the natural desire of, produces both the best and worst effects		xxxvi.	318
Estimator , (Dr. Brown) his apology for his life		xviii.	357
— Not to be judged of by his life but by his writing		xviii.	358
— Frequents scenes of pleasure to expose them	—	xviii.	358
Estuaries , his remarks on the conduct of the earl of Clarendon		viii.	32
Etching , invented by Mich. Wohlgemuth	—	xlii.	367
Eternal , Everlasting , &c. unscriptural expressions		xxvi.	182
Eternal punishment , doctrine of, controverted by a late Bishop		lxviii.	236
Eternity , our usual manner of speaking of it ridiculed		lxvii.	91
Etbe , or Mores , among the ancient painters requisite to all profes- sors of that art	—	xv.	163, 164
Etics , advantages of studying	—	xv.	499
— First principles of	—	xxxiv.	109
Etymology , errors in fixing the radicals of words		xxx.	505
— Learned remarks on, particularly with respect to the Greeks		li.	178
— Union of, with history	—	li.	418
Euclid , mutilated by his editors	—	xvi.	231
— Restored by Dr. Simpson	—	xvi.	231
— Account of the porisms of	—	lviii.	389
Eudiometer , account of a new	—	lxx.	28
— Fontana's commended	—	lxx.	28
— The difference between Fontana's and Mr. Cavendish's		lxx.	29
Eudocia , Empress of Constantinople, her treatise violarium , &c.		lxv.	531
Eudoxia , first wife of Czar Peter, her intrigue with Glebo and Doritheus Bishop of Boston	—	xxviii.	556
		Eudoxia ,

Eudoxia , Empress of, Russia imprisoned	—	li. 492
— Threatened with the torture	—	li. 499
— Her miserable situation	—	li. 501
— Releasement and death	—	li. 503
Eugene , prince, his military accomplishments		iii. 238
— An account of	—	vii. 129
— His reception by Queen Anne, and treatment here during the negotiations between France and England		xvi. 592
— His judgment of such negotiations	—	xvi. 593
— Anecdote of an attempt to poison him	—	lxvii. 410
Euler , M. his notion of the centre of gravity		xxxiii. 543
— Of the motions of a globe on a horizontal plane		xxxiii. 544
— On the improvement of the microscope	—	xl. 564
— His conjecture on certain discords in music		xl. 565
— On telescopes which represented objects erect		xl. 569
— His memoir on the different means of moving ships, &c. without the assistance of wind	—	xl. 568
— His summary of a general theory of dioptrics,		xliv. 566
— On the doctrine of chances	—	xliv. 524
— On the vibration of a string	—	xliv. 524
— On the propagation of sound	—	xliv. 524
— On the production of echoes	—	xliv. 524
— On the forces which affect the motions of the celestial bodies in consequence of their not being perfectly spherical		xliv. 524
— On the construction of compound object glasses		xliv. 541
— His method of improving the object glasses of telescopes		xliv. 530
— His solution of a difficult question in the calculation of probabilities	—	lii. 562
— Fontana's translation of Euler's defence of the Christian religion		lvii. 483
— His attempt toward a theory of the resistance which a ship encounters in her motion	—	lxvii. 506
— His great character	—	lxix. 588
Eulinius , stories of his monstrous cruelty, fabulous		xliv. 564
Eunuchs , account of the marriage of one	—	xxxviii. 63
— Their influence in the courts of the Roman Emperors, particularly in the time of Constantius	—	lxiv. 357
Euphorbia peplos , difficulty of investigating this genus of plants		lxx. 11
Euphorbium , extraordinary case of a lady who swallowed some		xxv. 11
Euphrasine , mistress of Prince Alexis of Russia	—	li. 495
Euripides , emendation of the Hippolytus of	—	xiv. 195
— His character as a poet	—	xx. 109
— Some account of	—	xxiii. 8
— Character of	—	xxvi. 408
— Instance of the pathetic in	—	xxvi. 412
— His poetical writings considered in a legislative view		xxix. 83
— Specimens of Mr. Potter's new translation		li. 20
— Orestes, ex recensione J. Barnesii, &c.	—	lx. 312
		Euripides.

Euripides , his dramatic compositions characterised	lxi. 511
— New translation of his tragedies	lxiv. 62
— Specimen of	lxiv. 63
— His excellence as a tragic writer	lxvii. 245
Europe , its first inhabitants ascertained	xix. 514
— Scheme of uniting it as one great republic, for a general and perpetual pacification	xxiv. 403
Eurochydon , wind so called, disquisitions concerning	xxxvii. 347
Eusebius , his testimony to the scriptures	iv. 23
— Some account of his writings	ix. 359
— His testimony relating to the letter from King Abgarus invalidated	xxxii. 10, 15
Estreyve, Marquis of , a remarkable instance of his bravery	xiv. 383
Ethydemus , King of Bactria, a curious medal of	lix. 530
Evangelical demonstration of Christianity , what	iv. 82
Evangelical writings , their success in the conversion of the world too extraordinary to be accounted for from natural causes	xiii. 14
Evangelists , disagreement of, tends to confirm their testimony	xiii. 13
— Their modesty very remarkable	xiv. 42
— Reason of their disagreement in chronology	xxi. 290
— Critical account of the latitude with which they use certain forms of expression	lxi. 264
Evanston, Rev. Mr. prosecuted for omitting the Athanasian parts of the church service	l. 64
Evaporation , observations relative to the theory of	xlv. 395
— Lord Kaimes's observations on	xlvi. 95
— Annual at Liverpool, observations on	lviii. 5
— Considered as a test of the moisture or dryness of the atmosphere	lviii. 5
Evat, Mr. his account of a remarkable monument found in Derbyshire	xxix. 147
Eve , an adept in metaphysical learning	xxxvi. 360
Evelyn, John , his plan for improving our royal forests, &c.	xlvi. 431
— His reputable character	lvii. 428
— Improved edition of his Sylva , by Dr. Hunter	lvii. 429
— His Terra , republished by Dr. A. Hunter, with improvements	lx. 471
Evening sonnet	lxi. 75
Events memorable	lvii. 398
Evidence necessary to prove a miracle	iv. 4
— The theory of, confused	xxv. 151
— Particular circumstance in, discussed	xxv. 152
— Uncertainty of historical	xxvii. 362
— In law, the several sorts of	xxx. 477
Evil , moral, the conduct of providence vindicated with regard to it	i. 365
—, Natural, considered	i. 367
— Origin of, ascribed to the liberty of the will	xiii. 58
— Physical, whether it preponderates in the world, or not	xv. 557
— A new method for accounting for the origin of	xvi. 303

Evil , of imperfection accounted for	—	xvi.	305
— Natural ones, their origin	—	xvi.	305
— Moral ones, their nature and essence	—	xvi.	309
— Whence derived	—	xvi.	311
— Religious ones	—	xvi.	314
— Natural and moral, how reconcileable with the goodness of God	—	xviii.	312
— The origin of, from liberty not necessity	—	xix.	355
— Enquiry into the nature of its existence	—	xxiv.	440
— Voluntary and involuntary, dialogues of Plato's concerning	—	xxv.	273
— Principle, deducible from the reasoning of enquirers after the origin of	—	xxvi.	144
— Various opinions relating to the origin of	—	xxvi.	144
— Origin of, difficulty of accounting for	—	xxxiv.	307
— Ascribed to the agency of malignant spirits	—	xxxiv.	308
— Moral, inquiry concerning	—	xl.	318
Evil counsellors , debates on the removal of	—	xxviii.	129
Evil speaking , ill Effects from the licentiousness of	—	xxii.	478
Ewing, Mr. his improvement in the construction of Hadley's quadrant	—	xlvi.	337
Exalted Stations , their danger	—	xx.	231
Example , too many rather perplex than explain a rule	—	xv.	538
Exchange , the nature of	—	vii.	58
Exchequer , court of, whence derived	—	xx.	99
Exchequer-fees , enormity of	—	xxxii.	59, 70
Exist , its origin and establishment	—	xx.	108
Excitation of the electrical machine , hints for improvements in	—	lxx.	283
Excommunication , Romish form of	—	xxiv.	107
— Its effects in the Romish church	—	xxiv.	458
— M. Gaillard's opinion of	—	xli.	523
Excrecence extirpated out of the womb	—	v.	328
Executions of felons considered	—	iv.	237
— A remarkable one at Amsterdam	—	vii.	151
— Account of, at Vienna	—	xv.	459
Exercise of soldiers, its use	—	iv.	278
— Bodily, an excellent remedy for the gout	—	xli.	169
— Of the mind, bad effects of too much of it	—	xli.	251
— Of the body, earnestly recommended to literary and sedentary persons	—	xli.	250
— What kinds of, most suitable to men of letters	—	xli.	257
Exile , what	—	vi.	410
— Nature and virtue may be enjoyed in it	—	vi.	411
— Cicero's conduct therein accounted for	—	vi.	412
— Inconveniences of exile	—	vi.	414
— Resignation in	—	vi.	415
Existence , in the abstract, not possible to be conceived	—	xxi.	313
— Physical and metaphysical, considered	—	xxix.	55
— Arguments relating to	—	xxix.	222, 458
Exodus , xii. 12. explained	—	ix.	383

Exodus , general hints of instruction to the readers of	li. 264
— Criticisms on some passages in	li. 259
Expeditions , review of those made against the coast of France	xxii. 408
Expeditions conjunct , lists of	xxi. 188
— Reflection on	xxi. 190
Experience , relating to matter of fact, what	xii. 175
Experiment writers , a list of them	ii. 471
Experiments , when more dangerous than hypotheses	xxii. 1
Expiation by sacrifice explained	xiv. 404, 405
Expiration , curious observations relative to	vi. 454
Expression among painters, what	vi. 229
— Poetical, what	xiv. 92
Extravagance , a cause of the decrease of mankind	viii. 197
Eye , structure of, described	ii. 366
— We see with one only at a time	ii. 369
— The nature of a cataract considered	viii. 121
— Mr. O'Hallaran's sentiments of it examined	viii. 123, 124
— Opacity of the cornea and of the chrySTALLINE humour from no venereal causes, cured by a solution of sublimate	xxvii. 102
— Sir H. Sloane's recipe for sore eyes	xxviii. 54
— Haye's account of a diseased	xxxviii. 436
— Mr. Daniel's method of extracting cataracts	xxix. 146
— New instruments for the cure of cataracts of the eye	xxxi. 547
— Cure of an incised tumour on the orbit	xlvi. 47
— Obs. on the different kinds of operation for the cure of cataracts	liii. 293, 472
— On the viens of	lxiv. 193
Eys-glasses , Ramsden's new construction of	lxx. 101, 258
Eyre, Baron , his opinion of the injunctions in Chancery in support of literary property	li. 204
Exour Vedam , translated	lxi. 500
Ezekiel , his prediction concerning Egypt fully attested by the whole series of its history	xii. 41
— His prophecy against Mount Seir humorously applied to the French	xii. 479
Extra accused of forging miracles and prophecies	ix. 146
— Some account of the book of	li. 266
— His reformation of the Jewish religion	lxi. 102
— Curious account of his preaching	lxi. 103
Extra, Aben , mistaken in his application of Psalm CX.	xxvii. 5

F.

Fable , regularity in its construction	vi. 388
— A proper medium for conveying moral instruction	xiii. 240
— Tradition the best ground for	xvii. 228
— Consideration necessary to the composition of	xxiv. 151
— Whether detached morals are necessary to them	xxiv. 152
— Critical observations on	xlvii. 220

Fable,

Fable , observations relating to the nature and antiquity of	xlvi.	530
— The use of, in the education of children, censured	lix.	27
Fable dramatic , remarks relative to	lxii.	186
Fable of the ancients , how to be interpreted by means of astronomy	lxv.	534
Fables , Sun and Wind	xiv.	47
— Of the crow and hare	xxi.	240
— Of the oak and shrub	xxi.	294
— The old lion, from Phœdrus	xxxii.	75
— The French peasant	xxxv.	321
— The Nile and the sea	xxxv.	481
— A maccheronî one	xxxviii.	247
— The grasshopper and glow-worm	xxxix.	166
— The servant beaten by his master	xl.	488
— The profligate and the bastard	xl.	489
— The tiger and sheep	xli.	551
— Against the reviewers	xlj.	132
— By a reviewer	xlj.	132
— On Voltaire and the K. of Prussia	xlj.	133
— On Wilkes	xlj.	134
— The wilding and broom	xliv.	227
— The mistletoe and passion-flower	xliv.	228
— The dove and the ant	xlvi.	58
— The pelican and spiders	xlvi.	282
— The judgment of flowers	xlvi.	184
— Luxury and industry	xlvi.	406
— Atheistical	xlvi.	543
— Of the snail and the grasshopper	xlvi.	573
— Of the two bees	li.	99
— Of the farmer and lawyer	li.	99
Fabricius, Baron , some account of	xxiv.	2
— His great intimacy with Charles of Sweden	xxiv.	2
— The first who gave that king a taste for reading	xxiv.	3
— His relation of the siege of Bender	xxiv.	6
Facini, Pietro , the painter, his life and works	xlj.	29
Faction , that term frequently misapplied, and with what views	xxxvii.	412
Factors , where to be established	v.	16
Facts , rules for determining their probability	ii.	272
Faerno , some account of	lx.	565
Faith , its nature and excellence	i.	143
— On human decisions in matters of	iv.	20
— Authority in, subversive of religion	iv.	20
— The most effectual means of our establishment in it	viii.	30, 31
— The true notion of, and several degrees	x.	412
— and repentance, essential conditions of acceptance	xi.	254, 333
— True nature of it, explained	xii.	476
— The great power and efficacy of	xxi.	133
— and works, the absurdity of separating them	xxiii.	355

Faith and imputed righteousness, an idea of	xxiv.	144
— and works, self examination concerning	—	xxviii. 314
— Operation of, modes of on civil government	xxxii.	222
— How far salvation depends on	—	xxxii. 254
— Enquiry into the true nature of	—	xxxiv. 203
— The reasonableness of justification by	—	xxxvi. 217
— Evil tendency of formal confessions of, imposed by authority.	xxxix.	199
— Free toleration of, asserted	—	xxxix. 217
— Reflections on the uncertainty of historical	xliv.	127
— Its nature and influence	—	xliv. 79
— Considered as a virtue	—	lx. 434
Fakeer, Indian , odd story of	—	xiv. 557
Falconer, Mr. his marine dictionary improved in France	lvi.	557
Falkland, Lord , story of him and K. Charles II.	iii.	54
— His speech for limiting the regal power	—	xxviii. 413
— On the sovereign's attachment to foreigners	—	xxviii. 418
Falkland's Islands , unfavourable account of	—	li. 415
— Sale of, by the French to the King of Spain	—	li. 415
Fall , On the Mosaic account of	—	ii. 299
— Account of, considered	—	ii. 290, 297, 388, 399
— Its effects	—	ii. 486
— Scripture account of, vindicated	—	iv. 15, 23, 496
— An allegory	—	vi. 365
— The account of it given by Moses, literal and not allegorical	—	x. 58
— The account of it in first and second chapters of Genesis considered	—	x. 59
— The reasonableness of the injunction concerning the forbidden fruit, &c.	—	x. 65
Fallowing of land . See Husbandry .
Falstaff , his character defined	—	xli. 137
— His birth poetically described	—	xli. 236
Falutti , a Dominican friar, satirical story of	—	xlii. 557
Fame , a short cut to it often attempted by persons of little genius and few attainments	—	xii. 131
— Its limited extent and short duration	—	xxii. 44
— Envious nature of the candidates for	—	xxvi. 462
Familiarity with friends to be avoided	—	ii. 437
Famine , a poetic description of	—	xx. 18
Fanaticism , wherein it consists	—	viii. 486, 487
— Its character	—	xxvii. 400
— Fatal effects of	—	xxxvii. 144
— Famous epigram on	—	xlvi. 530
Fancy , improperly invoked to bestow self-knowledge	—	xii. 355
— The productions of, whether less powerful than those of nature in moving the passions	—	xv. 65
— Poetical address to	—	xxviii. 377
— Poetically and beautifully personified	—	xxx. 137
— Her exhortation to her votaries	—	xxxiv. 118

- Fans of peacocks feathers*, part of the Pope's paraphernalia at grand ceremonies — xv. 618
- Farina of plants*, the effect of the admixture of different kinds — iv. 55. 383
- Farinelli, Sig.* curious account of — xlv. 339
- Farley, Mr.* his account of the quassi root — xlii. 193
- Farms*, engrossing of, its evil tendency — xxxii. 56
- ill effects of laying farms together farther pointed out — xxxii. 231, 331
- and farm-houses, remarks on the situation for health and convenience — xxxiii. 259
- Monopolizing of, disadvantageous — xxxvi. 321
- Farther thoughts on — xxxvi. 410
- Engrossing of, a most pernicious evil — xxxvii. 42
- On the greater plan, their advantage or disadvantage to the nation, discussed — xxxix. 372
- Proportional one described — xlv. 54, 60
- Directions relating to new — xlv. 52, 205
- The large ones vindicated against the popular objections — xlviii. 346
- Ought to be suited (with respect to size) to the several capitals of the farmers — xlviii. 349
- Large farms more favourable to population than small ones — xlviii. 349
- Remarks on the connection between the size of, and the prices of provisions — xlix. 151
- Opinions relative to the size and rents of — lviii. 101
- Leases of, of what sort to be preferred — lviii. 105
- Pernicious consequences of great farms — lviii. 208
- Observations on engrossing of — lxiv. 257
- Farming.* See Husbandry.
- Farmers*, an apology for — xvii. 10
- Prudential instructions for — xxxvii. 273
- The duties of the farmer's wife enumerated — xxxvii. 270
- Apology for them in regard to the charge of obstinacy — xli. 343
- Allowance to be made for the difference between their ideas, and those of gentlemen who turn their thoughts to agriculture — xli. 344
- What part of his life the most critical time — xliii. 198
- Directions relating to — xliii. 198
- Gentlemen and common, remarkable difference in their manner of relating their experience and practice — lix. 428
- The latter preferred — lix. 428
- American, pleasing description of the life of, before the breach with England — lxvi. 402
- Dutch, their remarkable neatness — xlvii. 568
- Their care of horned cattle — xlvii. 569
- Their high estimation of unimproved land — xlvii. 569
- Farmer, Mr.* his notions of the demoniacs vindicated against Dr. Worthington — lvii. 389

Farrist , the fatality of trusting to ignorant ones	xxiv.	390
Fartbingal , whence derived	xli.	210
Fashion , supplies the place of reason	ii.	355
— In dress, instance of an absurd compliance with	xxi.	370
— Birth and parentage of	xxiii.	60
— Goddess of, her shrine described	lix.	143
Fast on the 30th January disapproved in the House of Commons	xxviii.	415
— How celebrated in the last century	lvii.	370
Fasting , its power and efficacy	xxviii.	314
Fat , memoir on human	lxviii.	559
Fatal curiosity , a tragedy, the true story on which that play was founded	lxix.	79
Fate and predestination considered	xxix.	52
Fathers , in begetting and providing for their offspring, discharge but a third part of their duty	xxvii.	259
Fathers, Christian , how to judge of their real value	iii.	244
— Their opinion concerning the creation and physical system of the world	iv.	76
— Not infallible in expounding the scriptures	iv.	97
— Confirm the canon of the New Testament	xiii.	11
— Want of esteem for them owing to the ignorance of their writings	xiii.	187
— Greatly mistaken in some of their religious opinions	xv.	81
— Charged with many absurdities	xxxii.	26
Fatima , a beautiful Turkish lady, described	xxviii.	470
	xxix.	63
Fatnisi , account of a præternatural instance of	xxxviii.	434
Faulkner, George , verses relative to him	l.	356
— His correspondence with Lord Chesterfield	lviii.	403
— His account of Sacheverel	lxi.	358
Fausta , Empress, her catastrophe	lxiv.	296, 297
Fear , the strong influence of this passion	viii.	205
— The tokens of	xxvi.	202
— Its efficacy in the cure of convulsions	xxxiii.	185
Fearafadach, king of Ireland , wonderful virtues of his gold collar	lx.	105
Feast , curious account of one, with the prices of the provisions in the 14th century	lxvi.	58
Feather , case of a young lady who swallowed one	xxxviii.	432
Febure, M. his method of curing cancers	lii.	533
Feeling , the basis of the other sensations	i.	29
— Account of a man that could distinguish colours by it	i.	30
Fees of office , an enormous grievance	xxxviii.	394
Felonia de se , how considered in common law	xxiii.	444
— In civil law	xxiii.	446
Felony , absurdity of our laws relating to theft	xxxv.	250
Felonies , methods proposed towards putting a stop to murder, robbery, perjury, &c.	vi.	234
	Felonies ,

Female sex , their importance in their single state	xxxiv. 45 ⁴
— Defects of their education	xxxiv. 45 ⁵
— Their importance in wedlock	xxxiv. 45 ⁶
— Considered as mothers	xxxiv. 45 ⁷
— Sobriety of mind recommended to them	xxxiv. 46 ²
Female conduct , rules and observations relative to	lxi. 4 ⁵
— Disorders , the use of opium	ix. 13 ¹
Fencing , various rules to be observed in	lxiv. 9 ²
Fenelon , Archbishop , his Telemachus much approved	vii. 17 ⁸
— His arguments against unlearned persons judging for themselves in religious matters, exploded	xxix. 122
— His Telemachus compared with Xenophon's Cyrus	xlix. 550
Fenton , Elijah , observations on his writings	xv. 74
— His fanciful idea of the periods of intellectual growth and decay	lxi. 9
— His poetry	lxv. 112
Ferber , Mr. account of him and of his travels	lvi. 29
Ferdinand V. conquers Algiers	iii. 82
Ferdinand , King of Arragon , engages in the league of Cambray	xii. 206
Ferdinand , King of Naples , his character	xi. 18
— History of his grandson	xi. 30
— Character	xi. 193
Ferdusi , the celebrated Persian poet, account of	xliv. 283
— Wonderful epic poems	xliv. 284
Ferentum , a discovery of the ruins of that town	xxiii. 101
Ferguson , James , his calculation of the times of Venus's transit over the sun	xxiv. 177
— His account of the transit of Venus expected in 1769	xxx. 418
— Of the eclipse of the sun, April 1, 1764	xxx. 422
— His description of a new crane	xxxiv. 220
— His new hygrometer	xxxiv. 222
— His short method for finding the quantity of time in any number of mean lunations	xxxv. 376
— His account of his own life and studies	xliv. 459
— His account of the quantities of light afforded by the sun to the several planets	li. 319
Ferishta , of Delhi , his hist. of Hindostan translated by Mr. Dow	xxxix. 378
Fermes , Dr. his history of Surinam translated	lxvi. 148
Fermentation of stuffs , cloths, &c. laid in heaps	xxix. 483
Fermentation of alimentary mixtures , observations and experiments on	xxx. 288
Fermentation of liquors , observations on	xxxiii. 350
Fermented liquors , their influence on men's morals and manners	lxvi. 28
Ferny , the seat of M. de Voltaire, celebrated	xxxviii. 138
Ferrers , Earl of , two questions put to the judges at his trial	xxvii. 144
Ferte , Duke of , droll story of	xlvi. 660

Fever , F. D. B. critical history of the philosophical opinions of all ages	lvii.	481
Fête champêtre , introduced at Drury-lane playhouse	li.	466
Feudal system , whence derived	xvii.	144
— Its origin and history	xxxvi.	29
— Principles of, investigated	xl.	322
— Defects of	xl.	324
— Inquiry into	xlvi.	588
— Rights of, founded on compact with the people	xlvi.	588
— This doctrine controverted	xlvi.	589
— Contests relating to, always end in favour of the people	xlvi.	590
— inquiries concerning	lxiv.	305
Fever , hectic, Bristol water good for	ii.	462
— Case of a patient in a slow putrid one	iii.	405
— Hamilton's treatise on the miliary	iv.	364
— Their causes, subdivisions, and cure	v.	504
— The use of opium in	ix.	135
— Hippocrates corrected in his method of treating the continued	xvi.	463
— Account of a singular recovery	xvi.	546
— Symptoms of the inflammatory	xix.	172
— Method of curing the yellow	xxi.	373
— Pernicious consequences of mistaking an epidemic for a highly inflammatory one	xxvii.	101
— Account of a mortal one at Senegal	xxvii.	192
— Usual symptoms and treatment of an ardent	xxxii.	56
— Symptoms of the yellow	xxxiii.	302
— Observations on an infectious	xxxiii.	302
— Fumigations, whether a remedy against	xxxiii.	303
— Dr. Lind's method of cure	xxxiii.	304
— Morbid appearances after death occasioned by a fever	xxxiii.	304
— Cautions to the physicians	xxxiii.	324
— M. Lieutaud's account of	xxxiii.	525
— Lieutaud on the nature of	xxxiii.	528
— Not a disease, but a remedy	xxxiv.	30, 31
— Different notions and treatment of, by four different physicians	xxxv.	113
— Nature and cure of malignant	xxxv.	307
— Remedies for inflammatory	xxxv.	308
— Autumnal	xxxv.	309
— Intermitting	xxxv.	309
— Account of the bilious West Indian	xxxvii.	302
— Description and causes of the milk fever	xxxvii.	324
— Distinctions of, indications of, cure, remedies, &c.	xxxviii.	298
— General account of	xxxviii.	356
— By what means to be suppressed	xxxviii.	496
— Method of treatment of intermitting	xxxviii.	541, 549
— Their immediate cause	xxxix.	255
— Methods of cure	xxxix.	266
— The use of opiates in intermittents	xxxix.	434

Fever,

Fever , history of an epidemic, at Vienna	—	xxxix.	529
— The several kinds of	—	xl.	458
— The treatment of	—	xl.	458
— Miliary, Dr. Johnson's account of	—	xli.	144
— Method of cure	—	xli.	146
— Aphorisms relative to	—	xli.	173
— Cured by the quassi root	—	xlii.	193
— Malignant, cured by the patient's running away	—	xlii.	195
— Observations on those which are most prevalent in London	—	xliv.	358
— of the East Indies, described	—	xliv.	453
— Proper treatment of	—	xliv.	560
— Account of the fever of Barbadoes	—	xlvi.	44
— Account of an epidemic fever in Gloucestershire	—	xlvi.	216
— Effects of camphire and calomel in	—	xlvi.	216
— Important remarks on the puerperal	—	xlvi.	213
— On the nature and cure of the hectic	—	xlvi.	253
— Observations on the nature and treatment of	—	xlvi.	301
— Observations on	—	xlvi.	125
— Of cordials in	—	xlvi.	126
— Of bathing in	—	xlvi.	126
— Intermitting, remedies for	—	xlvi.	133
— Remitting, cure of	—	xlvi.	174
— Miliary (or childbed) remarks on	—	xlvi.	391
— Common fevers divided and classed	—	xlvi.	433
— Malignant, distinguished as factitious and native	—	xlvi.	436
— Remedy for putrid	—	li.	43
— Reflection on the theory of, and on antimonial remedies	—	lii.	91
— Puerperal, produced by different causes, and requiring different methods of cure	—	lii.	185
— Methods to prevent their dangerous increase	—	liii.	249
— Fournier's treatise on	—	liii.	252
— Puerperal	—	liii.	491
— Rush's remarks on biliary	—	lv.	250
— Dr. Griffith's remedy in slow and hectic fevers	—	lvi.	228
— Scarlet, &c. account of those which lately appeared at Birmingham, &c.	—	lx.	224
— Method of treatment	—	lx.	227
— Animal food and broths pernicious in	—	lxii.	571
— Observations on the nature and treatment of	—	lxiv.	9, 222
— Memoir on the miliary	—	lxviii.	561
Fever-sweat , its medicinal virtues	—	xliv.	414
Fever-powder , preparation of it	—	xvii.	394
Le Fevre , story of	—	xxvi.	32
Fiction and science , wherein they differ	—	xviii.	219
Fictions of the ancient heathen poets , encomiums on	—	lxiii.	297
Fielding, Henry , his policie to suppress vice	—	xviii.	267
— The occasion of bringing dramatic performances under the inspection of a licence	—	xxv.	45
— Abstract of his life	—	xxvi.	365

Fielding, Henry, his education	—	xxvi. 367
— Cause of his failure in theatrical composition		xxvi. 368
— Cause of the restriction laid on theatric exhibition		xxvi. 371
— His genius	—	xxvi. 482
— The asperity of his Muse accounted for	—	xxvi. 484
— Anecdote, of his comedy of the Wedding-Day		xxvi. 485
— Wastes his patrimony, and afterwards studies law		xxvi. 487
— His account of some of his own performances		xxvi. 489
— Three epochas of his genius pointed out	—	xxvi. 490
— His voyage to Lisbon	—	xxvii. 52
— His death and character	—	xxvii. 53
— His miscellaneous works	—	xxvii. 55
Fisca, complaints of the Genoese against him		iv. 395
— His plot against Genoa	—	v. 305
— His complaisance and munificence	—	v. 309
— Artful dissimulation	—	v. 310
— Panfa, his tutor, remonstrates	—	v. 312
— Speech to his confederates	—	v. 313
— His wife's intreaties to desist	—	v. 314
— Drowned	—	v. 315
Fishes, in Scotland, briefly described	—	xli. 50
Fig-tree, the evangelists reconciled in their accounts of the miracles relating to it	—	xiv. 141
Fig tree, barren, critical investigation of	—	lxvii. 114
Figure, personal, how far essential to a player		iii. 191
Figures and comparisons, their use	—	x. 353
Figures in writing, observations concerning	—	xx. 73
Filcas, Irish bards, account of	—	xxxviii. 476
Final, some account of that place	—	viii. 307
Finch, Lord, impeached	—	xxxvi. 6
Finch, Mr. his speech on the non-attendance of members		xxviii. 125
Fingal, story of	—	xxvi. 48
— Examination into the propriety of families and allusions in		xxvi. 50
— Unnatural episode in	—	xxvi. 52
— Cuchullin's chariot described	—	xxvi. 55
— The battle	—	xxvi. 56
— Preposterous civility of Cuchullin	—	xxvi. 130
— Critical comparison of an episode in, to the story of the Horatii		xxvi. 131
— Cuchullin routed	—	xxvi. 133
— His character scrutinized	—	xxvi. 134
— Sublime passage noted	—	xxvi. 135
— Arrives	—	xxvi. 136
— Ossian scars the foe by humming a song	—	xxvi. 137
— Combat between Fingal and Swaran	—	xxvi. 138
— Summary remarks on the general conduct of the poem	xxvi.	139
— Cave described	—	li. 456
Finisfa, the Scythian monarch, account of		xxxviii. 478
		Finisfa,

Finisfa , seminaries of learning founded by him in Shinan	xxxviii.	479
Fir-tree , timber, amazing duration of it	—	xii. 459
Fire , the system of elementary	—	vii. 387
— The nature and property of	—	vii. 388
— Does not exist in all places and bodies	—	vii. 388
— Unknown as to its essence	—	xii. 169
— Different from electricity	—	xv. 468
— An attempt to establish its existence as a material element	—	xxii. 3
— Disapproved	—	xxii. 4
— Nothing more than a phenomena resulting from the motion of bodies	—	xxii. 8
— And light, their essential difference	—	xxii. 13
— Not a material body	—	xxvii. 126
— Its use and effect in vegetation	—	xxvii. 443
— Philosophical account of	—	xl. 19
— Nature of, philosophically considered	—	xlii. 299
— Ancient worship of, once almost universal	—	li. 417
— Experiments on the weight of	—	lii. 610
— Its nature different from that of light	—	lxii. 154
— New discoveries relative to	—	lxii. 546
— Inquires concerning	—	lxiv. 300
— The force of it in the higher stages, how measured by a new thermometer	—	lxix. 386
— Description of the instrument	—	lxix. 387
— Experiment on	—	lxix. 388
— Its manner of acting on calcareous earth, &c. ascertained	lxx.	497
Fire-arms , estimate of their execution at the battle of Fontenoy	—	xxi. 324
— Hints for the better ordering of firing	—	xxii. 494
— Variations in the range of, proposed as a prize question by the Berlin Academy	—	lxvii. 543
Fire, ball of , extraordinary one observed in France	—	lii. 622
Fire-eater , humorous account of	—	xxviii. 482
Fire, elementary , new theory of	—	lxiii. 499
— solar , its extensive power in the fusion of gold	—	lxliii. 511
— Insufficient to melt glass	—	lxliii. 511
Fire-flies of America described	—	xl. 205
Fire , natural and morbid of the human body, dissertation on	—	lx. 540
Fire-works , the best exhibited in China	—	x. 200
Fire-places , Pennsylvania, described	—	xlii. 199
Fire in playing , considered	—	iii. 191
Fire, sacred in Persia	—	ii. 135
— of the ancients , account of	—	xl. 533
Fires , method of checking	—	ii. 134
— Dr. Hale's method of stopping the progress of	—	xxix. 483
— Method of giving the alarm in case of	—	xxxviii. 482
— Lord Mahon's method of preserving buildings	—	lxii. 51
		Firmin ,

Firmin, Thomas , his excellent character	—	lxiv. 215
Fish , their various classes pointed out	—	viii. 19
— An instance of fattening and improving them by spaying	ix. 376
— Remarkable in Norway	—	xii. 502, 506
— Schlossus's account of a wonderful	—	xxxiii. 453
— Supplied by land-carriage, remarks on that scheme	xxxix. 373
— On the fecundity of	—	xxxix. 421
— Observations on some in Wales	—	xxxix. 421
— Artificial method of impregnating and increasing the number of	—	xl. 559
— On the lymphatic system in	—	xliv. 212
— Experiments on the hearing of	—	li. 550
— Account of a poisonous	—	lvii. 3
— Account of their organs of hearing	—	lxix. 395
Fisherman , good story of	—	l. 19
Fisheries, British , a letter concerning them	—	ii. 109
— Their prodigious advantage to the nation	—	ii. 237
— The chief branch of trade in Holland	—	v. 177
— The advantage of encouraging and supporting them	viii. 419
— Recommended to Sweden	—	x. 331
Fistula , Ingham's method of cure	—	xxvii. 192
— Prescriptions for the cure of	—	xlvi. 250
— Sabatier's remarks on	—	lxvii. 498
— in ano , how to be treated	—	xxxiii. 425
— lachrymalis , new method of treating	—	lxiv. 267
— Inquiries into the cause of	—	lxvii. 482
Fitzgerald , account of that noble family	—	xii. 343
Fitz Gibbon, Mr. his speeches in the Irish parliament	xxxviii. 6, 15
Fitzmaurice, Mr. Lieutenant-governor of Grenada, accused of too much favouring the Roman Catholics	—	xliv. 67
Fitzwilliam, Dr. his letter to Lady Russell	—	xliv. 59
Flagellations , curious account of voluntary	—	lvi. 300
Flamingo , an uncommon bird described	viii. 20, 21
Flanders , general view of the country	—	xlvi. 575
Flannel , the cause of its sparkling in the dark	—	ii. 467
Flatman , his verses on sickness imitated by Pope	xiv. 552
Flax , soil proper for it	—	x. 489
— Choice of seed	—	x. 490
— Time for sowing, reaping, and management of it	x. 491
Flut , a grand shew of, exhibited by Sir John Norris	xi. 201
— In a storm, management of	—	xxvi. 278
Fleetwood, Mr. (the manager) some account of	xxv. 43
Flesh , to be sparingly used by children	—	ix. 162
— The use of it how to be introduced	—	ix. 162
Fletcher, of Salton , his character	—	lii. 217
Fleury , Cardinal, charged with avarice, &c. with corrupting his prince's morals	—	i. 418
— Some account and character of	—	xiv. 107
Flexman, Mr. his account of Bishop Burnet's writings	viii. 391
Flint glass ,

Flint-glass , the composition of, and the means of giving it an high degree of perfection	—	lxi. 496
Floating batteries , method of constructing	—	xxx. 401
Flodden , battle of, many circumstances of, recorded in an old poem	—	li. 334
— Particularly described	—	lv. 417
Flood , Mr. speech on pensions, &c.	—	xxxvii. 413
— His speeches in the Irish Parliament	—	xxxviii. 12, 88
Florence , revolution at	—	xi. 25
— The terms imposed on that city by the imperialists	—	xxiv. 133
— Royal gallery of, catalogue of the pictures and rarities there	—	lxii. 572
Florentines , their respect for the English	—	xxxiii. 521
Floratta , story of	—	xxxiv. 397
Florida , description of that country	—	xxx. 39
— Character of the native Indians there	—	xxx. 41
— Some account of	—	xxxiv. 12
— An extension of our boundaries there, recommended	—	xlvi. 206
— See America .	—	—
Flour , on the nature of	—	lv. 386
— Trade , considerations on	—	xxxv. 479
Flowers and vegetables, their beauties and uses	—	xv. 477
— Irritability of	—	xxxvii. 66
— Of plants, their noxious effect on the air	—	lxii. 346, 504
Fluents , theorem for computing	—	xiii. 380
Fluid electric , a quantity of, diffused through this globe	—	xi. 418
— Why more of it contained in one sort of matter than another	—	xi. 418
Fluid subtle , its existence, and the laws of its action ascertained	—	viii. 302
Fluids , experiments on the compressibility of	—	xxxii. 455
— Experiments on the resistance of	—	xxxvii. 154
— On the motion of	—	xliv. 520
— On the resistance of	—	xlvi. 678
— Experiments on the resistance of	—	lvii. 309
— Permanently elastic, observations and experiments relating to	—	lviii. 122
— Theory of the motion of	—	lxx. 498
Fluor alkali, volatile , medical virtues of	—	lvii. 507
Flutes , Account of those of the ancients	—	lv. 490
— Observations on	—	lviii. 516
Fluxes , new remedy for, by Dr. Fothergill	—	xvi. 557
Fluxions , Mrs. Simpson's remarks on	—	iv. 129
— Applied to the Jewish and Christian religion	—	vi. 59
— What	—	xiv. 286
— The principles whereis founded	—	xiv. 286
— May be easily and conspicuously delivered	—	xiv. 287
— Saunderson's account of	—	xv. 245
— New and useful theorems in	—	xlvi. 415
— Robins's discourse on	—	lv. 440
— History of discoveries and improvements in that science	—	lix. 83
Fly ,	—	—

Fly , method of preserving plants from	—	xx. 442
— Vegetable , account of	—	xxxi. 210
Fetus , a double one extracted from a cow	—	iii. 438
— How nourished	—	v. 288
— Its formation	—	v. 288
— Description of a monstrous	—	v. 322
— How nourished	—	xv. 378
— Account of a uterine	—	xxvii. 195
— The circulation of the blood in a	—	xxxiii. 444
— Account of an extra uterine	—	xxxviii. 433, 445
— Account of a monstrous	—	xxxix. 354
— Account of an imperfect	—	xxxix. 355
— On the organs of the circulation of the blood in a	—	lxv. 138
Foggini, M. Remains of the Roman fasti, collected from marbles lately dug up at Præneste	—	lxv. 307
Folard, Chevalier , applauded for his commentary on Polybius	—	xiv. 341
— His observations on maintaining a strong marine force	—	xv. 658
— Remarks on the Roman custom of satirizing their generals	—	xv. 659
— Censure of the Duke Marlborough for his avarice	—	xv. 659
Folkes, Martin , his character	—	xxiii. 305
Follies , prevalent in France, some account of	—	xvii. 275
Folly , often worse than cruelty	—	iii. 43
— Disquisition concerning	—	xlvii. 532
Fomentations , judicious hints respecting	—	xxiv. 325
Fons, M. de la , description of an apparatus for experimental philosophy	—	liii. 505
Fontaine , vindicated against Voltaire	—	l. 575
Fontana's philosophical inquiries	—	liii. 259
— His researches concerning the nature of nitrous air, and air deprived of its phlogiston	—	lvi. 220
— His experiments relating to air	—	lvii. 7
— Translation of Euler's defence of the christian religion	—	lvii. 483
— His experiments and observation on inflammable air	—	lxiii. 374
— Account of the airs extracted from different kinds of water	—	lxiii. 375
— His essay on the Ticunas	—	lxiv. 267
— His discoveries relative to air and distillation	—	lxvii. 369
— His eudiometer commended	—	lxx. 28
— Difference between that instrument and the eudiometer invented by Mr. Cavendish	—	lxx. 29
Fontenelle, M. de , his character	—	xvii. 243
— His kind regard for M. Marivaux	—	xli. 549
— Water analysed	—	xlvi. 522
Fontenoy , description of the battle of	—	xiv. 112
— Short account of the battle at	—	xxii. 232
Food , of the antediluvians, only vegetables, fruits and milk	—	ii. 512
— Observations on nutritive vegetables which, in times of scarcity, may supply the place of ordinary food	—	lxv. 460
Food , animal, and broths pernicious in fevers	—	lxii. 571

Fools , reconciliation with them not easily obtained	ii.	434
— Five orders of them	iii.	43
— Ex officio, in former times at the courts of princes, &c. some account of	xxxvii.	497
— Humorous saying of one	xxxvii.	498
Foote, Samuel , his character as a mimic and writer, ascertained	xxvi.	476
— Memoirs of	xxxii.	336
— Taken off	xlii.	140
Fop , that absurd character described	ix.	468
— Why not in their power to marry	ix.	468
Foramen ovale , memoir on, by M. Wolff	lvi.	527
Forbes, Duncan , his reflections on incredulity	ii.	325
— His character and piety	ii.	326
— Accuses the ancient philosophers, falsely, of impiety and atheism	ii.	329
Forbidden fruit , the cause of man's mortality by acting as a poison	xvi.	115
Fordyce, Dr. his dialogue concerning preaching	vi.	416
— His account of the farsaparilla	xvi.	551
— His method of curing the malignant sore throat	l.	42
— His account of the light produced by inflammation	lvi.	376
— His new method of assaying copper ore	lxiv.	265
Foreknowledge , of God, how it affects moral actions	iv.	527
Forcigners , not able to give a satisfactory account of a people with whom they resided but a short time	xxv.	428
Forests , an historical account of them	iv.	306
— Proposals for selling them	xxviii.	178
— Mr. Evelyn's plan for their improvement	xlvi.	431
— and chafes, royal, proposal for inclosing and parcelling out into farms, with the method of doing it	xlvi.	431
Forests, East Indian , fine description of	xlii.	220
Forgery , the distinction between it and fraud	xviii.	234
Forlaix, Marq. of , Memoirs of	xliii.	362
— Extract from the memoirs of	xliv.	48
Formality of worship, to what owing	ii.	373
Formey, M. his eulogy of M. Sulzer	lxv.	510
Formosa , women there, at what age permitted to breed	xxxiii.	540
Fornication , apostolic sense of	xxv.	426
— Considered	xxxiv.	87
— Disadvantages of in civil life	xxxv.	8
— Consideration on the criminality of	liii.	527
Forster, George , undertakes the continuation of Martin's universal dictionary of natural history	lix.	461
— His complaint of ill treatment from the Lords of the admiralty	lix.	464
— His letter to M. Vosmaer	lix.	560
Forster, J. R. observations on noxious animals	xxix.	139
— Specimens of his history of the country on each side of the river Volga	xxxix.	422
Forster,

- Foster, J. R.* his account of the management of carp xliii. 117
 — His observations on some tumuli, discovered in Tartary xlix. 258
 — His account of an Indian root for dying red and yellow l. 288
 — His observations on some Parthian medals liii. 418
 — Messrs. their account of natural productions in the southern hemisphere — — — — — lv. 479
 — His motives for publishing an account of Captain Cook's second voyage round the world — — — — — lvi. 267
 — Refutation of several particulars in his account of Cook's voyage — — — — — lviii. 127
 — His observations relating to lightning lix. 403
 — To the island of St. Helena — — — — — lix. 403
 — To the hot springs in the island of Tanna lix. 404
 — His account of the new species of animals and vegetables at new Zealand — — — — — lix. 404
 — Of the varieties of people in the southern hemisphere lix. 405
 — Description of the tyger cat of the Cape of Good Hope lxvi. 365
 — History of the Aptenodytes — — — — — lxix. 252
 — Account of the successors of Ptolemy, &c. lix. 257
Fort, le, favorite of Peter the Great, foments the difference between his master and the Empress Eudoxia — — — — — li. 492
Forth, an irregular tide in the river of — — — — — v. 321
Fortifications. See Military.
Fortitude, an attribute of the will, not of the understanding ii. 231
Fortune, that word how to be understood in love affairs ix. 466
Fortune-tellers, greatly encouraged in England xxvi. 313
Fossils, the arrangement of — — — — — vii. 438
 — On some factitious — — — — — xxxvi. 558
 — Found in the neighbourhood of Paris xxxviii. 584
 — The origin of — — — — — lxiv. 530
 — In the district of Tournay — — — — — lxiv. 533
Foster, Judge, his reports, commended — — — — — xxvii. 140
 — His censure of the Lord Chancellor Bacon's conduct xxvii. 145
Foster, Lord Chief Baron, his great improvement upon his estates in Ireland — — — — — lxviii. 97
Foster, James, his works in general commended l. 196
 — His amiable view of the Deity, compared with the idea given of him by the rigid Calvinists — — — — — i. 436
 — His solemn declaration with regard to himself as a christian, and a preacher — — — — — i. 442
 — His defence of his sermon on catholic communion vi. 153
 — Discourses on natural religion — — — — — vi. 161, 331
 — Education of children — — — — — vi. 171
 — Religious education — — — — — vi. 172
 — Proper model for — — — — — vi. 174
 — Instructions should be plain and gradual vi. 174, 175
 — Duty of children to parents — — — — — vi. 177
Foster,

Foster, James , duty of masters and servants	—	vi.	177
— Magistrates and subjects	—	vi.	178
— Tyranny, how odious	—	vi.	178
— Christianity repugnant to tyranny	—	vi.	179
— The magistrates have no power over conscience	—	vi.	180
— Ministers of the gospel, their office and qualifications	—	vi.	181
— Respect due from the people to them	—	vi.	182
— His general prayer	—	vi.	341
— His account of mystery	—	xxix.	436
— His sentiments on religious establishments, controverted	—	xliv.	192
— His fame rescued from the attack of Bishop Warburton	—	lviii.	167
Fothergill, Dr. John , his medicine for the chin-cough	—	xxxviii.	444
— His observations on the use of the cicuta	—	xxxviii.	447
— His remembrance on the hydrocephalus internus	—	xlv.	450
— On the cure of the sciatica	—	xlv.	450
— On early tapping in dropsies	—	xlv.	451
— His remarks on the cure of consumptions	—	xlvi.	43
— Account of the law-suit between him and the late Dr. Leeds	—	xlix.	320
— His conduct with regard to Dr. Leeds impeached	—	l.	78
— Defended	—	l.	239
— Reply to the defence	—	l.	334
— Note on the reply	—	l.	416
— His account of a painful affection of the face, cured by hemlock	—	lv.	252
— Of the management proper at the cessation of the menses	—	lv.	253
— Of an hydrophobia	—	lv.	253
— Of the angina pectoris	—	lv.	254
— On the treatment of consumptions	—	lv.	257
— On disorders incident to painters in water colours	—	lv.	257
— His description of Dr. Knight's magnetical machines	—	lvii.	5
— His opinion of the human bones filled with lead, discovered in Suffolk	—	lvii.	262
Foundling Hospital , to whom most obliged for children	—	xvi.	566
— Faults in the present establishment of	—	xxii.	209
— Distinction between ours and those abroad	—	xxii.	211
— Ought to be for town children only	—	xxii.	214
— Propositions for the improvement of	—	xxii.	217
Fountains , a fairy tale	—	xxxiv.	357
Fouras fort , its situation described	—	xviii.	90
— The possibility of attacking it argued	—	xviii.	91
Fournier, Bernard , appeals from the Dean of Jersey to the Bishop of Winchester	—	xviii.	227
— Forces the Bishop into a correspondence	—	xviii.	227
— Arrests the Dean of Jersey	—	xviii.	227
— Forges a note on the bishop of Winchester	—	xviii.	227
— Has duplicates of it	—	xviii.	231
Fowler, Miss , Ode to	—	xxx.	30

Fox, Charles-James , his oratorical abilities estimated	lviii.	398
— Poetically characterized	lix.	144
— His journey to the Moon	lxix.	405
Fox, Sir Stephen , a dispenser of secret service-money	xxviii.	322
— Proceedings relative to, in the House of Commons	xxviii.	333
— His remarks, on the necessity of government	xxviii.	417
Fox-chase , poetically described	xxxvi.	354
— described	lxv.	212
Fox-Islands , their discovery	lxiii.	2
— Inhabitants of, described	lxiii.	5
Foxes , mentioned in Psal. lviii. v. 10. and other places supposed to be jackalls	xl.	375
Fractions , analytical researches concerning continued fractions	lvi.	525
Fracture , case of an arm	v.	6
— Of limbs, important innovations in the art of reducing and retaining	xlili.	141
— Controversy on Pott's method of treating	xlili.	141
Framery, M. his memoirs of the Marquis de St. Forlaix	xlili.	362
France , in general, described	i.	413
— Christianity soon corrupted in	i.	414
— The advances of arbitrary power from the time of Lewis XIII.	iii.	134
— Decency of the assemblies of the academies	iv.	187
— Poverty of the common people, owing to the climate	vi.	21
— Account of the armies	vii.	117
— Her commerce neglected	vii.	118
— Harassed by faction and civil war	vii.	118
— Astrologers consulted and credited	vii.	119
— Benefits of travelling thither	xi.	142
— Method to seduce other countries to follow her fashions	xi.	143
— Her academies an awkward imitation of the English	xi.	146
— High interest of money, a disadvantage to trade	xi.	147
— Has no claim to Nova Scotia	xii.	90
— Rivals England in her fisheries	xii.	90
— Owes her power at sea to the Newfoundland fishery	xii.	91
— Claims of, in America	xii.	186
— The treatment of the Indians by	xii.	483
— Occasion of their invading the English Colonies	xii.	480
— As great a loser by the capture of her ships as Great Britain by the loss of Minorca	xv.	409
— Character of the inhabitants	xv.	458
— Cautions against	xv.	459
— Scheme to depress Great Britain	xvi.	107
— Superior commercial advantages	xvi.	110
— Great distress of, before the peace of Utrecht	xvi.	417, 490
— Endeavours to detach the Dutch from the grand alliance	xvi.	419, 490
— Manners of the inhabitants	xvi.	439
— Views in America	xvii.	172

France,

France , aggressor in the war	—	xix.	545
— Her depraved taste in literature	—	xxii.	413
— To be opposed wherever she turns her arms	—	xxvii.	486
— Instances of vanity	—	xxiv.	254
— Productions of luxury, the natural commodities	—	xxiv.	270
— Succession of kings from Clovis	—	xxiv.	285
— When and by whom the monarchy was founded	—	xxiv.	285
— Critical observations on the language	—	xxv.	143
— The manners of the inhabitants criticized	—	xxv.	199
— Their knowledge general, but superficial	—	xxv.	200
— From what sources they derive their opinions	—	xxv.	201
— Their ladies characterized	—	xxv.	203
— Chicanery in their negotiations with Great Britain	—	xxv.	374
— Debate in the Parliament of Great Britain on the growing greatness of	—	xxviii.	195
— History of, said to have been composed by the Dauphin	—	xxviii.	325
— Police of, and regulations for preventing robberies	—	xxviii.	425
— Treachery of, to the Natchez	—	xxviii.	428
— Reflections on the historians of	—	xxix.	521
— Alterations in the manner of publishing their history	—	xxx.	556
— Susceptible of the oppression of their governors	—	xxx.	566
— Satirically characterized	—	xxxi.	203
— Poetically described	—	xxxii.	53
— Ill-treatment of strangers in	—	xxxiv.	421
— Indelicacy at their meals	—	xxxiv.	422
— Disagreeable view of the country	—	xxxiv.	429
— Directions for travelling in	—	xxxv.	51
— Cautions against sending children there for education	—	xxxv.	33
— Why more ready than the English to publish treatises of the mechanic arts	—	xxxv.	49
— Military character	—	xxxv.	81
— Account of, in the last century	—	xxxvi.	443
— Account of some part of	—	xxxvi.	443
— The language foretold to become universal	—	xxxvii.	111
— Losses in the late war, how compensated for	—	xxxix.	390
— Impolitic branches of commerce of Great Britain with	—	xl.	43
— Her splendour owing to improvements in education	—	xl.	266
— Slaves to forms and customs	—	xli.	451
— Equally attached to pleasure and business	—	xli.	452
— Great followers of fashion	—	xli.	453
— Ruined state of	—	xlii.	221
— National credit lost	—	xlii.	225
— Destitute of resources	—	xlii.	226
— State of agriculture in	—	xlii.	227
— Cruel and despotic arrests, &c.	—	xlii.	228
— The age of learning, genius, and taste, ascertained	—	xlii.	256
— Particulars which first strike an Englishman in	—	xliii.	256
— General character of	—	xliii.	257, 314
— Inhabitants associate more than the English	—	xliii.	285

France , remarkable for infidelity	—	xliv. 533
— The rival of England from the time of William the conqueror		xliv. 567
— National pride of the inhabitants	—	xliv. 488
— Anecdotes of the king	—	xlvi. 64
— Encomium on the country and inhabitants,		xlvi. 65
— Corruption of the language	—	lii. 347
— Three ages of the monarchy	—	lii. 523
— Coronation of the kings	—	liii. 432
— Researches in London, relative to the history of		liv. 515
— Too cunning for the Dutch, in trade	—	liv. 562
— Unfavourable description of some parts	lv. 105, 190
— Observations on the treasurers and directors of the finances		lvi. 385
— Dialogue between a Frenchman and an Englishman on the power of the crown to make laws for conquered countries		lxii. 145
— Plan of inland navigations in	—	lxiv. 456
— Natural history of the Southern parts of		lxvii. 521
— Account of extinguished volcanoes in		lxvii. 523
— Character of the inhabitants of the mountains		lxvii. 525
France, Isle of , manners and customs of the inhabitants		xliv. 517
— Manners of the Indians and negroes, and their wretched slavery		xliv. 519
— Tour round the island	—	xliv. 524
Francis I. king of France , taken prisoner	—	xix. 624
— Story of	—	xxiv. 112
— Contests the imperial diadem with Charles V.		xli. 8
— Seeks the friendship of Henry VIII.	—	xli. 10
— Grand interview between these two princes		xli. 11
— Defeated by Charles, and taken prisoner		xli. 85
— Regains his liberty	—	xli. 88
— His death	—	xli. 89
— His great character	—	xli. 90
Francis Maria, Great Duke of Tuscany , remarkable story of		xl. 581
Franciscans , humorous account of their variance with the Dominicans	—	xxxi. 219
Frankland's annals , tragical story extracted from		lxix. 80
Franklin , the printer, his revenge on David Mallet		xxviii. 167
Franklin, Dr. Benjamin , his electrical experiments		xv. 379
— His experiments on the properties of air and water		xxxv. 385
— His great discoveries in electricity	—	xxxvii. 242
— His remarkable diffidence with regard to his theory		xxxvii. 454
— His observations on the dry belly-ach		xxxix. 38
— New invented Pennsylvanian fire-places		xlii. 199
— Apparatus in preserving buildings from lightning		xlii. 200
— Experiments on the cold produced by evaporation		xlii. 206
— Account of a philosophical instrument		xlii. 207
— Of the different fitness of natural bodies to be conductors of the electrical fluid	—	xlii. 298
		Franklin,

Franklin, Dr. On the nature of fire	—	xlii.	209
— On animal heat	—	xlii.	301
— On various other philosophical subjects	—	xlii.	306
— Elegant compliment paid to that gentleman, at the father of electricity	— — —	xlvii.	552
— Encomiums on	— — —	li.	384
— His experiment on the effect of oil in smoothing the surface of agitated waters	—	lii.	325
— Vindicated against the Dean of Gloucester	—	lvi.	145
— Not the translator of Cicero's Cato Major	—	lix.	467
— His parable against persecution	—	lxii.	196
— His poor Richard's almanack	—	lxii.	198
— His desire for peace with America	—	lxii.	202
— Shamefully abused by Mr. Wedderburne	—	lxii.	204
— His electrical discoveries	—	lxii.	206
— His hypothesis of the Aurora Borealis	—	lxii.	207
Frasinus , botanical and medical account of	—	xliii.	347
Fratteaux, Marquis de , history of his cruel persecution by his own father	— — —	xii.	232
Fraula, Count de , his theory of language	—	lxiv.	539
Frederician code of laws, its imperfections pointed out	—	xxvi.	2
— Conjugal duty enforced by it	—	xxvi.	6
Fraseric, Duke of Saxony , his great character	—	xli.	8
Frederick , III. King of Denmark , effects a great revolution in the form of government	— — —	l.	432
Free, Dr. charge of ingratitude against the government	—	xxvii.	237
Free agency , considered	— — —	i.	13, 21
— Detended	— — —	xxiii.	230
— Doctrine of, considered	—	lxx.	507, 521
Free and candid disquisitions, queries proposed by the authors of	—	v.	83
Free enquiry the only means to promote religious knowledge	—	xix.	415
— Ought to be encouraged	—	xxxiii.	199
Free, Martin , account of	— — —	lxii.	221
Free masons , derive their origin from the Chabyrans	—	iv.	352
— Cain the first	—	ix.	318
Freethinkers , a dialogue between the gallows and a freethinker	—	ii.	9
— Their narrowness of thinking	—	ii.	425
— Their contemptible opinion of the scriptures	—	iv.	26
— Cain the first freethinker	—	ix.	318
— Seldom persevere in their principles	—	xiv.	305
— Christianity indebted to, for its establishment	—	xxxi.	511
Free-will , the objections against it answered	—	xviii.	211
— Arminian doctrine of, absurd and of immoral tendency	—	xxvii.	435
— Considered	— — —	xxix.	48, 56
Freedom , moral, of man, wherein it consists	—	l.	447
— Necessary in enquiries after truth	—	xiii.	360
			Freedom,

Freedom , natural to the heart of man	—	xxxii. 165
— Relation between his freedom as an independent being and as a member of society	—	xxxii. 162
— Religion absolutely dependent on, for its very being	—	xxxii. 167
— National, rarely understood	—	xxxviii. 38
Freeman , Mr. his bequest to Clare Hall in Cambridge	—	xiii. 462
Freighting , a considerable branch of trade among the Hollanders	—	v. 175
French , Mr. his ingenious allegory of the family of the Jobbs	—	xxxviii. 2
— His account of the revenue of Ireland	—	xxxviii. 3
— His speech on the military establishment	—	xxxviii. 8
French strollers , narrative of their unfortunate exhibition at the Hay-market	—	xxv. 45
Fribble , an account of that ridiculous character	—	ix. 469, 470
Friktion of engines , method of lessening	—	xxxi. 269
Friendship , reflections concerning it	—	ii. 436
— What	—	vi. 476
— Definition of	—	vi. 477
— May subsist between different dispositions	—	vi. 477
— Only between persons of the same rank	—	vi. 478
— Subsists longest on sense and virtue	—	vi. 479
— Its origin shewn	—	viii. 4
— Most cultivated in youth	—	xxxii. 28
— Poetical apostrophe to	—	xli. 58
— Encomiums on	—	lii. 45
— The temple of, described	—	lxi. 109
— The silence of the gospel with respect to, explained	—	lxix. 401
Friendship with God , its nature explained, on scripture principles	—	xlviii. 478
Frifi , Father, his memoirs of Galilei	—	liv. 552
— His physical and mathematical system of cosmography	—	lv. 307
Frisius , Gemma, the first who proposed to find the longitude by watches	—	lxiii. 198
Frogs , bull, of America, described	—	xliv. 216
— Strange story of	—	lxvi. 253
Frontinus , some account of	—	xliv. 579
Frost remarkable effects of	—	xiii. 324
— Method of accounting for sudden thaws	—	xiii. 325
Frustrification of plants, how performed	—	iv. 55, 291
— Of a tree or plant	—	vi. 375
Frugality , recommended	—	iv. 67
Fruits , how to gather and preserve	—	xiii. 344, 347
— how to preserve, after gathered from the trees	—	xxxiii. 348
Fruit trees , directions for the choice of	—	xiii. 336
— For pruning	—	xiii. 337, 342
— How to prevent the ill effects of frosts on	—	xiii. 343
— Espaliers preferred to walls for	—	xxxiii. 345
Fuslin's catalogue of the insects of Switzerland	—	liv. 400
Fulminating	—

Pulminating Gold , a dissertation on	—	lxvii. 464
Fulham , Mr. his verses in the Cambridge collection	in pacem	xxix. 39
Fuller's earth , a particular sort of, near Aleppo, its uses	—	xv. 142
Fumigations , in places infected, recommended	—	xxxi. 303, 324
Funa, sinking , its effects considered	—	xi. 166
Funding , or borrowing money upon interest for state exigences, introduced by Philip of Macedon	—	xvi. 321
— Modern practice of, in this country highly detrimental to its true interest	—	xlvi. 451
— Origin of that mode of raising money for public services	—	lviii. 290
— Ill effects of	—	lviii. 291
Funds, public , how raised and fallen	—	xviii. 417
Fungi , the noxious effects of some	—	xlvi. 260
Furnesi , ancient history of	—	lii. 222
Furrow , in agriculture, etymology and various significations of that term	—	lx. 255
Furze , use of, in banking rivers	—	xxvii. 328
Future state , the part we have to act as expectants thereof	—	iii. 169
— Believed by the ancient Jews	—	iv. 406
— Denied by Lord Bolingbroke	—	x. 187
— Not disbelieved by the Jews	—	xiv. 157
— The belief of it not a popular doctrine among the ancient Jews	—	xv. 127, 122
— No clear expressions of it before the coming of Christ	—	xxii. 26
— Ignorance of the heathen nations concerning	—	xxx. 429
Fyrs , cataracts at, described	—	xlvi. 151
Fynny , Mr. his account of the extraction of a foreign substance from an abscess in the groin	—	lviii. 459

G

Gainborough , Mr. His pictures celebrated	—	lix. 284
Gadus , a celebrated river in Magna Græcia, now reduced to a small brook	—	xlvi. 283
Galic language , many manuscripts in, where to be found	—	lxiii. 265
— Dictionary of	—	lxiii. 512
Galilei , Forisi's memoirs of	—	liv. 552
— Eulogy of that great man	—	liv. 552
— Many of his works lost through the bigotry of his wife	—	liv. 557
— His astronomical discoveries	—	lx. 532
Gall bladder , wanting	—	iv. 242
Gallandat , M. his method of curing diseases by an artificial emphysema	—	liii. 545
Gallantry , romantic and true, wherein they consist	—	iv. 538
Gallaspy , a surprising Irishman,	—	xxxv. 40
Galley , described	—	xviii. 448
— Method of rowing	—	xviii. 449
	O 4	Gallicism ,

Gallicism and Latinism , investigation of	—	xxiii. 311
Gallienus , memoirs concerning the family of	—	xxxix. 517
Gallipoli , in Italy, account of	—	xlvi. 284
Gallissoniere , Admiral , academical eulogium on	—	xxix. 487
Gallitzin , Prince , his letter concerning electricity	—	lxiv. 532
Galloway , Joseph , account of him, and his evidence respecting American affairs	—	lxi. 71
— Sir William Howe's account of him	—	lxiii. 307
Galloway , the subject of an elegy in Gray's manner	—	xxxix. 164
Galtier , a chain of mountains in Ireland, described	—	lxiii. 44
Gambroon , endemic distempers there	—	xvi. 548
Game laws , absurd and cruel, and associations for oppression	—	xxxii. 391
Gaming , the cause of robberies	—	iv. 133
— The folly and wickedness of	—	viii. 356
— A passion for, particularly detrimental to a minister of state	—	xv. 105
— The constant attention of the legislature to suppress it	—	xxiv. 220
— In the power of justices utterly to put an end to it	—	xxiv. 221
— Passion for, justly exploded	—	lii. 536
— Warm and just invective against	—	lvi. 169
— Proposals for better laws against	—	lvi. 171
— Less prevalent in warm than in cold climates	—	lxvi. 27
Gaming-table , slight view of	—	xxii. 134
Ganganelli , Pope . See Clement XIV.	—	—
Ganges , River , account of	—	lxvi. 366
Ganglions of the nerves , theory of	—	xxxiv. 63
Gangrene , how extirpated	—	iv. 121
— Nitre to be joined to bark in the cure of	—	xi. 319
Gardens , Lord Burleigh's, described	—	xvii. 457
— A botanical one recommended	—	xx. 576
— General directions concerning	—	xxxiii. 343
— Several royal ones poetically described	—	xxxvii. 40
— The poet's rules and instructions for planning and laying out pleasure grounds	—	xxxvi. 41
— Observations on	—	xliv. 346
— How to lay out, agreeably to the modern taste in gardening	—	xliv. 346
— How to dispose of lakes, rivers, &c. in	—	xliv. 350
— English, taste in, greatly improved in the present century	—	xlvi. 219
— Nature chiefly consulted	—	xlvi. 221
— False taste in, exemplified	—	xlvi. 222, 224
— European, severely animadverted on	—	xlvi. 137
— Vindicated	—	xlvi. 138
— Those of the Chinese praised and described	—	xlvi. 140
— English, imitated in France	—	lii. 345
— The common plans of kalendars, how defective	—	lv. 228
— Historical account of the art of gardening	—	lxiv. 193
— Great defects of the ancient pleasure-gardens	—	lxiv. 194
Gardenia , a plant so called, account of	—	xxix. 141
Gardenston ,	—	—

Gardenston, Lord , his improvements at Laurencekirk	lxiii.	145
Gardiner, Mr. his verses in the Cambridge collection in pacem	xxix.	40
Gardiner, Colonel , how he came to be called the Curfed Gardiner	i.	318
Gargut , a disease incident to animals full of milk	xii.	69
— How cured — — —	xii.	69
Garianonum , a Roman station. where situated	li.	309
Garments English , of former times, some account of	xxx.	288
Garnet, the Jesuit , his concealment at Henlip, and discovery	lxv.	261
Garretter poet , his misery — — —	iv.	332
Garrick, David , memoirs of — — —	xxxii.	339
— List of his writings — — —	xxxii.	344
— Remarkable dedication to him — — —	xxxvii.	67
— Vindicated against the aspersions of Mrs. Brooke	lvii.	141
— Testimonies of authors in his favour — — —	lvii.	143
— Encomium on his character — — —	lx.	58
— His prologue to Fielding's comedy, the Fathers	lx.	58
— Memoirs of his life — — —	lxiii.	107
— His generosity — — —	lxiii.	107
— Bred to business — — —	lxiii.	207
— Engages in the dramatic profession — — —	lxiii.	211
— His epigram on Quin — — —	lxiii.	213
— His great success as an actor — — —	lxiii.	214
— Becomes joint manager with Lacey — — —	lxiii.	366
— His journey to Italy — — —	lxiii.	366
— Sole patentee and manager — — —	lxiii.	367
— Quits the stage with prodigious eclat — — —	lxiii.	368
— His death and pompous funeral — — —	lxiii.	368
— Mr. Walmesley's letters in his favour — — —	lxiii.	208
— Poetic encomium upon — — —	lxvii.	32
Garraway, Mr. his speech on the recal of British subjects in the French service — — —	xxviii.	190
— On the growing greatness of France — — —	xxviii.	196
— His free expression — — —	xxviii.	197
— Qualifies the behaviour of Titus Oates — — —	xxviii.	332
— On King James's abdication, and for limiting the power of his successor — — —	xxviii.	411, 414
Garter , order of, its institution — — —	i.	259
— Vulgar traditions of it refuted — — —	i.	260
Garter and George , the origin of these ensigns — — —	ix.	293
Garth, Sir Samuel , his life, by Dr. Birch — — —	vii.	269
— His infidelity occasions the Berkleyan controversy with the mathematicians — — —	lv.	440
Garulli's two Latin poems on the Copernican system, &c. — — —	lvii.	483
Gascoen style , reflections concerning it — — —	iv.	300
Gasterotomy , for the cure of the volvulus, enquiry concerning — — —	xxxix.	252
Gathelus , son of Cecrops, said to be the founder of the Scottish nation — — —	xiii.	159
Gathelus ,

- Gastulus*, his history — xiii. 160
 — One of his sons gave the name of Hibernia to Ireland xiii. 160
Gaubius, Professor, his oration in praise of the university of Leyden lii. 598
Gaul, ancient State of letters in — liv. 180
Gavel-kind, account of that custom — xxxvi. 34
Gay, John, great success of his poetical writings xvii. 580
 — Taken into the protection of the Duke of Queensberry xvii. 595
 — Grows melancholy — xvii. 596
 — Writes his own epitaph, and defends its propriety xvii. 597
 — His funeral — xvii. 598
 — His posthumous plays — xvii. 599
 — Account of his Polly, an opera — xxxii. 212
 — His elegiac epistle to a friend — xlix. 338
Gazette, Chinese, how conducted — xii. 492
Gellert, Mr. declaration of his happiness from religion xlvii. 511
Gelon, medals of — l. 573
Gems in the cabinet of the Duc D'Orleans — lxiii. 293
 — Account of Baron Sloch's collection — lxiii. 294
 — History of those who are most famous for publications from ancient gems — lxiii. 294
 — Defence of the study of antiques, &c. — lxiii. 297
 — On the earth of — lxvii. 462
Genealogy, antediluvian, an account of — ii. 501
Genealogies of Matthew and Luke's Gospel harmonized lxi. 263
General, summary of the qualifications of a — xxv. 282
 — qualifications of a complete one — lxi. 202
Generation of animals, new system of — iv. 58
 — of vegetables — iv. 55, 294
 — How produced — vi. 368
 — Beyond the reach of human enquiry — xxxiv. 497
 — M. Plantado's notion of the homunculus in semine masculino xxxv. 553
Generosity defined — xxii. 39
Genesis, notes and observations on the three first chapters ix. 330
 — A strange meaning put upon the 8th and 9th verses of the second chapter — ix. 331
 — Received by inspiration from God, and written by Moses in the wilderness of Sinai — xii. 264
 — Chap. i. ver. 29, 30. new version of — xxix. 295
 — Annotations on — xxix. 296
 — Chap. ii. ver. 36. new interpretation of — xxix. 297
 — Ver. 19. new translation of, and paraphrase on — xxix. 298
 — Chap. xlix. 8—10. new translation of, with notes — xxx. 162
 — Chap. i. exposition of several verses of — xliii. 174
 — Chap. xxvii. several verses of, explained — xliii. 177
 — Chap. iv. and v. new transl. of, with critic. illustrations xlvii. 2—7
 — Summary view of the book of — li. 264
 — Criticism on some passages in — li. 269
 — See Bible.

Geneva and its lake , described	xxiv.	207
— Cause of the disputes between the Republic and the Dukes of Savoy	xxiv.	208
— The government of that city described	xxiv.	209
— The regulations of its religious laws	xxiv.	212
— Its sumptuary laws	xxiv.	213
— Regulations of the Academy	xxiv.	214
— Laws relating to marriage	xxiv.	215
— To succession	xxiv.	215
— The inhabitants characterised	xxv.	254
— History of, in the modern Universal History	xxvii.	413
— Fanaticism reigning there	xxvii.	413
— Magistrates of, censured for the persecution of Rousseau	xxxix.	218
— Remarks on the religion and churches there	xli.	329
— Catalogue of the library there	lxi.	543
— Intertelling description of that city	lxv.	545
— Eminent literati there	lxv.	546
Genii and Fairies , the machinery of northern poetry formerly, as the Grecian mythology of ours now	xvi.	378
Genius , said to be the effect of acquisition in general	xii.	83
— True, its privileges	xviii.	583
— Defined negatively and positively	xxv.	96
— Observations on	xxv.	283
— Its excursions not always to be measured by critical rules	xxvi.	41
— Definition of, and its objects	xxvi.	282, 474
— Taste and Wit, their different properties	xxvi.	290
— Considered	xxvii.	259
— Unfavourable to friendship	xxxiii.	357
— Its characteristic indications	xxxvi.	436
— Displayed in the early periods of society	xxxvi.	439
— Its influence on religion	xl.	550
— Fine allegorical description of	xlx.	473
— Nature of	lii.	1
— General sources of	lii.	3
— Diversity of	lii.	5
— Observations on	lvii.	206
— Distinguished from bright parts	lxi.	202
— A wonderful production of	lxv.	150
— Causes of the diversity of	lxix.	37
Genoa , account of Andrew Doria	iv.	393—v. 299
— Dispute between the nobles and people of	iv.	395
— Revolutions of	v.	296
— Form of government	v.	300
— Attack on, baffled	v.	304
— The original history of that republic	x.	334
— Its government	x.	335
— Union feast	x.	335
— Commerce and manufactories	x.	336
— The famous emerald cup shewn there, an imposition	xxviii.	216

- Gentian*, a poisonous root sometimes mixt with it i. 374
Gentil, Mr. his voyage into the Indian Sea — lii. 626
 — His arguments to prove, that a voyage from France to California by a north-east passage, would be nearly as long as that by the Cape — — — liv. 563
 — His account of the astronomy of the Indians — — — lvi. 546
 — His voyage to the Indian Seas in 1761 — — — lxx. 455
 — His correspondence with M. Nux — — — lxx. 458
Gentleman, a characteristic that ought to be united to the Christian and scholar — — — lii. 110
 — Character pointed out negatively and positively xxiv. 119
 — His proper employments — — — xxiv. 120
Gentlemen of the country, their disregard of independency lamented — — — xlv. 507
Gentleness, account of that amiable quality — — — lvi. 283
Gentoos, account of their Shaster .xxxiii. 269.—xxxvi. 8
 — Origin of the custom of their wives burning themselves on the funeral piles of their husbands — — — xxxvi. 11
 — Remarkable story of a wife — — — xxxvi. 14
 — Apology for this custom — — — xxxvi. 16
 — Extracts from the Shaster — — — xxxix. 381
 — Voltaire's account of — — — l. 522
 — Code of laws — — — lvi. 368
Geography, knowledge of among the Chinese v. 5
 — Its use — — — xiv. 29
 — Why not easily attained — — — xiv. 30
 — Why maps are often erroneous — — — xiv. 30
 — The ignorance of mankind in relation to, pleasantly exposed — — — xlvii. 533
 — Hubner's book of, exploded — — — xlvii. 533
 — Researches in — — — lx. 311
Geometry, use of — — — vi. 285
 — Little improved by the Chinese — — — x. 201
 — The study of necessary for an orator — — — xx. 69
 — Investigation relative to — — — lv. 119, 120
 — Obs. on, and some problems analysed — — — xlv. 22
George, St. the patron saint of England, the personal existence of, disputed — — — lxii. 106
George I. King of England, instrumental in the promotion of a certain Cardinal — — — xv. 620
 — Insolence of his German attendants, owing to the servility of the English courtiers — — — xxxi. 502
 — Progress of corruption under his reign — — — lix. 125
 — Traits in his character — — — lix. 125
George II. anatomical obs. on the death of — — — xxvii. 423
 — Noble declaration against persecution — — — xxvii. 433
 — His character — — — xxviii. 362
 — Principal events of his reign — — — xxviii. 363
 — Poetical traits of his character — — — xxix. 25
 — Historical portraits of — — — xxix. 299, 237
George II.

George II. abusively portrayed as a King of Japan	xl.	443
— Short character of	xlvi.	475
George III. Odes by Mr. Jervoise	xxiv.	159
— By Mr. Roynon Jones	xxiv.	160
— By Mr. Jenkinson	xxiv.	162
— By Mr. Forster	xxiv.	163
— By Lord Palmerston	xxiv.	166
— By Mr. Richardson	xxiv.	166
— By Mr. Cullum	xxiv.	167
— By Mr. Chamberlayne	xxiv.	167
— By Mr. Cowper	xxiv.	168
— Parallel between the four first years of his reign, and the four last of Queen Anne	xxxiv.	325
— His reign poetically celebrated for its benignity to the arts, &c.	lxix.	283
Georgia , well situated for producing silk	xviii.	52
— Extreme heat of the weather there	xxi.	234
Georgic , no poem of that kind yet produced by the French	iii.	184
— Mr. Phillip's (cyder) extolled and censured	iii.	184
Georgium Sidus , diameter and magnitude of	lxx.	258
Gerardin, Count , his ideas and taste in pleasure grounds	lviii.	561
— His remarkable friendship for Rousseau	lx.	140
— Erects a monument to his memory	lx.	143
Germany , Germans, ancient, huntsmen through necessity, and warriors by inclination	iv.	203
— Account of their modern theatre	iv.	214
— Their punctuality in trade	vii.	153
— A specimen of their ridiculous credulity	xvi.	586
— Odd custom at Kerspach	xvi.	590
— Their national character	xxv.	86
— A view of its constitution and government	xxv.	82
— The three councils, the colleges, and diets	xxv.	83
— Ceremony of the coronation of Otho the Great	xxv.	87
— A blessed and happy country	xxvi.	436
— Its learning	xxvi.	437
— Commerce	xxvi.	441
— Specimens of German pastoral	xxvii.	129, 133
— Account of the reformation in, from popery	xxxvi.	544
— Their national character	xlvi.	339
— Their abhorrence of idleness	xlvi.	539
— Their peculiar incitements to valour	xlvi.	541
— Ancient, their manners, &c.	xliv.	412
— Their spirit of independency	xliv.	469
— Distinct characters of their different tribes	xliv.	559
— How far remarkable for national pride	xliv.	488
— Remarks on the farming and husbandry in that country	xlvi.	575
— Absurdity of our making it the seat of war with France	xlvi.	576
— Miserable travelling in that country	xliv.	215
— German dictionary	liii.	531

Germany , progress and great improvement in literature	lii.	359
— Superstitious regard to the predictions of almanacs	liii.	543
— Particulars relative to their manners and customs	lvii.	526
— Ancient customs and manners of	lx.	15
— Martial spirit of their women	lx.	16
— History of the German Empire	lxi.	39
— Progress of despotism in that country	lxv.	467
— The literary reputation of, defended	lxv.	505
— Celebrated authors of that country	lxv.	506
Ghosts , why admissible on the stage, and wizards not	xxx.	535
Giailolino , discovery of that substance	xliii.	517
Giants , of the Old Testament, critical remarks on	xlvii.	5
Giants Causeway , account of a similar production in Scotland	xxvii.	330
— In Ireland, paralleled by the Hebrides	li.	454
Gibbon , a curious species of ape, description of	xxxiv.	531
Gibbon , Mr. poetical compliment to, as an historian	lxiii.	37
— His irreligious spirit reprov'd	lxiii.	38
— His character, by a Bishop	lxviii.	150
— Criticised	lxviii.	487
Gibbosus of the sternum, to what owing	iv.	243
Gibbs , James, some account of	xxxix.	182
Gibraltar , observations on the tides of	xxix.	139
— Account of a solid piece of rock of, blown up	xlvi.	184
Gibson , Bishop of London, some canons in his codex relating to marriage	xii.	444
Gillard , Henry, story of the manner of his being instrumental towards the bill for licensing plays	xxxii.	216
Gilbert , Dr. the father of modern electricity	xxxvii.	96
Gil Blas , anecdote relating to that work	xxxvii.	497
Gildas , explanation of a passage in	lxii.	274
Gillaroo Trout , account of	li.	376
Gills , a famous ventriloquist, his curious exploits	xlvi.	512
Gilpin , Bernard, a character of	vii.	25
— The father of the poor	vii.	27
— Called the Northern Apostle	vii.	28
— Extract from his sermon before Edward VI.	vii.	29
Ginger , method of cultivating and curing	xv.	332
— Botanical characters of	xv.	336
Giphantia , description of that imaginary island	xxiv.	222
Girardus , Dr. his expression on the uva ursi	lxii.	546
Girl , a savage one, curious account of	xxxix.	159
Gisle , Mr. the first who undertook the cure of a fractured limb in a flexed position	xli.	400
Glaciers , of Savoy, curious description of	liii.	143
Glamorgan , Lord, letters to, from K. Ch. I.	xxxvii.	261
Glanders , Baron de Lind's remedy for the	xxxi.	188
Glands , fluxions on them of fatal consequences	ix.	189
— The origin of the diseases	ix.	190
		Glands ,

Glands , the different kinds of these diseases, and how to be treated	ix.	191
Glandulæ ciliaries , and their diseases	l.	47
Glasgow described	xlvi.	154
— Estimate of the trade of	lviii.	69
— Proposal for the improvement of, by the introduction of woollen and other manufactures	lviii.	70
Glass drops, how made	iv.	254
— In China, more ancient, but not so fine as in Europe	x.	200
— grinding, art of, not unknown to the ancients	xiv.	208
— The various operations performed upon	xlvi.	537
— New apparatus for blowing	xlvi.	538
— Curious furnace, &c. for making prisms, mirrors, &c.	xlvi.	538
— The solubility of, in water, proved by experiments	l.	546
— On the refractive and dispersive powers of	l.	554
— Buffon's invention for bending and forming it into concave mirrors, by pressure	li.	531
— Flint, on the composition of	lxi.	495
— Red, experiments relative to	lxv.	512
— for anatomical preparations	iv.	112
Glass , Mr. his account of the Canaries	xxxi.	54
— Journey up the Peake of Teneriffe	xxxi.	57
— Affronted by an insolent friar	xxxi.	69
Glauber's salts , a ready method of chrySTALLIZING	xviii.	387
Glabow , M. accused of intriguing with the Empress Eudoxia	li.	496
— His heroic behaviour under the torture	li.	499
— His honourable execution, and memorable saying to the Emperor in his last moments	li.	499
Gleditsch , his enquiry into the hypochitis of the ancients	xl.	558
— His method of impregnating trout and salmon	xl.	559
— His dendrometer	xlvi.	522
— His account of the artificial fecundation of a female palm-tree	xlvi.	525
— His account of red-grafs	xlvi.	670
— His account of a saline earth	lii.	575
— His observations on Moses	lii.	534
— His observations on the græmen effragum Norwegicum	lxx.	497
Glees and catches , defined and explained	xxxvii.	59
— Specimen of some favourite catches	xxxvii.	59
Glee from the Duenna	liii.	518
Globes , by Mr. Senex, recommended	iv.	387
— Improvements in	vii.	230
— A very large astronomical one of brass, at Nanquin, in China	x.	201
— Improvements in the construction of	li.	527, 535
— A moving one invented by M. Catel, which represents the motion of the earth	lxv.	417
Glocester , Duke of, (brother to Charles II.) his character	lii.	248
Glocester , Earl of, opponent of K. Stephen, his prudent conduct, and amiable character	xxxvii.	406

Glory , remarkable strictures on the use of that term, as applied to the Supreme Being	—	—	xlvi. 534
Gloucestershire , Rudder's new history of	—	—	lxiii. 10
Glover , Mr. his representation of the case of the West India planters, &c.	—	—	lii. 450
— His general opinion of the present state of our linen trade	l.	487
— His representation of the state of the linen trade in Scotland controverted	—	—	li. 152
Glow-worm , curious observations relative to	—	—	lxx. 522
Glyn , a romantic one	—	—	xvii. 516
Gnat , account of swarms of, seen at Oxford	—	—	xxxix. 418
Gnostics , account of their heretical opinions	—	—	xxxiii. 100
— Divisions among them	—	—	xxxiii. 102
Goat's milk , its properties, and for whom good	—	—	ii. 308
Goats , wonderful herds of, in the country near the Cape of Good Hope	—	—	xlx. 526
Gobet's , ancient mineralogists of France	—	—	lxi. 221
God , omnipotence of, considered	—	—	i. 224
— Spirituality of God defined	—	—	i. 304
— Immensity of, defined	—	—	i. 305
— Omnipotence of, defined and proved	—	—	i. 305
— Wisdom of, considered	—	—	i. 353
— A demonstration of his Being, from mere abstract notions and principles, scarce possible	—	—	i. 355
— His goodness considered	—	—	i. 360
— No other perfection of the Deity so amiable	—	—	i. 361
— Placability of, considered	—	—	i. 428
— His character, as drawn by the rigid Calvinists, and by Dr. Forster, compared	—	—	i. 435
— Men too apt to form their notions of him from what they are in themselves	—	—	i. 438
— His wisdom and goodness proved from the constitution of man	—	—	ii. 73
— Justified in permitting the fall	—	—	ii. 486
— His goodness vindicated with regard to everlasting punishments	—	—	ii. 489
— Our relation to him, what employment of our time it suggests to us	—	—	iii. 168
— His excellency, and man's duty explained	—	—	iv. 68
— Reflections concerning his omnipresence	—	—	iv. 161
— His attributes, according to Chevalier Ramsay	—	—	iv. 341
— What worship due to him	—	—	iv. 343
— His manner of acting in regard to the creatures	—	—	iv. 343
— Doctrine of the Chinese concerning him	—	—	iv. 437
— A poem on his immensity	—	—	iv. 508
— His attributes deduced	—	—	iv. 524
— His foreknowledge affects moral actions	—	—	iv. 527
— Our general obligation to him	—	—	iv. 531
— Will of, necessarily under the obligations of truth and right	—	—	iv. 531

God, the only foundation of happiness	iv.	531
— Love of, wherein it consists	iv.	533
— His displeasure at our guilt	iv.	536
— His moral perfections	vi.	302
— Importance of worthy notions concerning	vi.	305
— The power of, over human affairs	vii.	201
— The Supreme God	viii.	4
— The Most High, or One, whether the sole Creator of the world, or three different distinct co-ordinate Creators of it	ix	143
— Whether three Creators imply not the notion of two Christs	ix.	144
— "Executing judgment against all the gods of Egypt," the meaning of that expression	ix.	323
— Of his righteousness in the redemption of mankind	x.	9
— The true God said to be unknown to Moses	xl.	90, 273
— His unity not taught by sacred or profane writings	x.	431
— Our knowledge of him, how far extended	x.	441
— The worship of one God not the religion of the Israelites only	x.	450
— His moral attributes, in what manner to be ascertained	xi.	266
— The father, the one and only true God	xi.	556
— Alone, self-existent, and independent	xi.	55—129
— Fear and love of God described	xi.	335
— His unity proved	xii.	17
— His unity subversive of the Athanasian system	xii.	475
— Sovereignty of, wherein it consists	xiii.	446
— A placable Being, and believed to be so by the heathens	xiv.	401
— Doubt of the omnipresence of	xv.	248
— The different notions of mankind as to the terms given to him	xx.	9
— Wisdom of, wherein it consists	xxii.	17
— The end it seems to have in view	xxii.	17
— His apparent intentions in the constitution of the world, and the several parts of it	xxii.	20
— Natural definition of	xxvi.	443
— Love of, how it operates	xxvi.	443
— A belief in, a strong incentive to morality	xxvi.	445
— Warmth of affection towards him, recommended	xxvi.	467
— Great difficulties in the consideration of his goodness	xxvii.	363
— Strong arguments in proof of	xxvii.	363
— Goodness of, proved by the connection between virtue and happi- ness, vice and misery	xxvii.	363
— Represented as a dreadful and revengeful Being	xxviii.	311
— Unity of the Supreme Being, no word expressive of among the Greeks and Latins	xxix.	513
— Incapable of suffering	xxix.	557
— In what sense he could be said to have begotten a Son	xxx.	192
— Spirit of God	xxx.	192

God, his interposition for the salvation of man, how to be understood

	xxx.	194
— The being and attributes of	xxx.	498
— Not intelligent, good, nor holy	xxx.	502
— His government of his creatures, not to be compared to governors of this world	xxxii.	176
— The happiness of his creatures, his sole view	xxxii.	177
— Definition of, by divines and philosophers, their absurdity	xxxv.	539
— His equity deduced and illustrated	xl.	11
— His incomprehensibility	xl.	11
— His justice	xl.	12
— Not an unconcerned spectator of what passes in the world	xl.	217
— What kind of arguments most effectual to prove the being of	xl.	525
— The existence of, a truth too obvious for rational investigation	xl.	50
— His particular providential dispensations asserted	xl.	52
— His moral government of the world	xl.	53
— His friendship with man explained	xl.	477
— Of Judea, prophanely represented	xl.	559
— Explication of an Eternal Being	li.	582
— The goodness of, in Christ	li.	510
— His existence demonstrated by geometrical theorems	lviii.	298
— One, and one only, the common faith of Christians	lxx.	55
Gods of ancient pagan times , their apotheosis ascribed to their merit as singers and dancers	xxix.	7
Goddard, Chevalier , censured as a translator	xxiv.	135
Godfrey , his noble speech to his army, from Tasso's Jerusalem	xxix.	333
Godinot, the Griper , story of	xxii.	40
Godiva, Lady , her story poetically narrated	xxxvii.	19
— The same in prose	xxxvii.	21
Godolphin, Lord , his secret attachment to the Stuart family	liv.	36
— His general character	liv.	39
Goertz, Baron , justification of	lv.	227
Goesman, M. his poetical essays	lv.	474
Gold , method of refining and adulterating by the negroes	xxiv.	40
— No preparation of it miscible with the juices of the body	xxv.	481
— Analysis of	xxv.	481
— The gravity and ductility of	xxix.	205
— and silver, inquiry whether the increase of, in Europe, has not been prejudicial	lix.	57
— Actually undergoes a partial vitrification under the intense heat of the burning glass	lxiii.	511
— On the standard of	lxv.	490
— New method of effecting the parting in an assay of	lxvii.	503
— Method of obtaining, from vegetable earth and ashes	lxvii.	504

Gold-

- Gold-making*, the vanity of such a pursuit xiii. 388
Gold Coin, not a standard coin, but a merchandise in China x. 199
 — Valuation of, accurately investigated — xlv. 245
Gold coinage, obs. on the late act relating to l. 295
Gold fish, increase of, for the table, recommended xxxi. 556
 — Solution and effects of — xxxix. 237
 — On the decomposition of — lxx. 484
Gold Laces, &c. methods of restoring their lustre when tarnished xxix. 204
Golden Ramp, a dramatic piece never performed xxxii. 215
 — Occasioned the licensing act for plays, &c. xxxij. 216
Goldoni, the Italian dramatist, his character xxxix. 59
Goldsmith's Deserted Village, criticised by Mr. Comber xliii. 380
Goldsmith, Dr. remarkable inaccuracies in his life of Lord Bolingbroke xlv. 109
 — How far benefited or hurt by the fever powder in his last illness l. 404
 — Preferred as a poet to Gray and Mason — lviii. 140
Gollogher, an extraordinary Irishman — xxxv. 42
Gomara and Arminius, their furious contests — xvii. 532
Gonsalvus, his generosity to a poor but brave man lxiii. 423
Goock, Mr. his account of the remarkable separation of the scarf skin — xlv. 213
Good, the general idea of it ascertained — i. 362
 — Enquiry whether it preponderates in the world xv. 551
 — and Evil, abstract, denied — xx. 11
 — Moral objects of perception — xxvi. 376
 — Scripture motives to — xxvi. 176
Goodness and happiness is a prince contra-distinguished xxx. 74
Good Company, common idea of, exploded — l. 363
Good-Hope, Cape of, first discovered by the Portuguese vi. 198
Good Manners, Swift's definition of — xi. 75
 — Rules for the preservation of it in the House of Commons lxxviii. 193
Good Name, more desirable than beauty — viii. 460
Good Nature, the first ingredient in conversation iii. 109
 — A term peculiar to the English language — xxiv. 310
 — With respect to religion, considered — xxviii. 42
Good Sense, the principal foundation of good manners xi. 76
Goodall, Mr. author of an introduction to the history of Scotland xli. 301
Gordon, Alexander (author of the history of Peter the Great) 268 as Lieut. Gen. under the Earl of Mar 1715, but escapes being attainted by a misnomer in the act xiii. 348, 349
Gore, Mr. his speech in the Irish parl. on the non-residence of the clergy — xxxviii. 92
Goris, account of the taking that island — xxi. 494
Gorgonia, supposed to be an animal of the polype kind lv. 416

Gospel , not designed for the advancement of some, and the slavery of others	iv.	45
— Arguments in favour of	iv.	81
— When first received	viii.	117
— Arguments against, examined	x.	411
— Arguments in proof of its credibility	xiv.	41
— The three first could not be composed till after or about the year sixty	xv.	148
— Its signification	xxii.	24
— Believed in, previous to the coming of Christ	xxii.	24
— The foundation on which it is built	xxii.	49
— Promises, on what conditions made	xxiii.	274
— Defined by Mr. Romaine	xxiii.	307
— Treated with no more respect than Pagan writers	xxv.	418
— Righteousness, defined	xxvii.	233
— Evidences in support of	xxx.	191
— Sentiments in, none improbable	xxx.	202
— Precepts of, worthy the Son of God	xxx.	202
— Actions in, not improbable	xxx.	203
— Miracles in, not improbable	xxx.	204
— Their composition as books of history, considered	xxx.	204
— The most capital circumstances of the matters recorded in them viewed in a striking light	xxx.	205
— When and in what order penned or published	xxxi.	50
— That of St. John not merely historical, but also a polemic tract	xxxi.	53
— How and wherein liable to be misrepresented as a wicked book	xxxi.	493
— Date of St. Matthew's gospel settled	xxxiv.	402
— Illustrated by the knowledge of Eastern manners and customs, with a specimen	liv.	355
— of St. John, intended as a supplement to the other gospels	lix.	16
— Exposition of passages alluding to climate and manners, &c.	lix.	61
— Harmonies of, their utility	lxi.	259
— See Bible .
Gossiping, female , an apology for	xx.	129
Goths , their poetry considered	xxvii.	58
— Illustrated by the Gothic method of design in gardening	xxvii.	91
— Their origin, and incursions into the empire	xxxiv.	534
— Their early connexion with the Greeks	xxxviii.	341
— Their war with the Greeks in Italy	xlili.	583
— Their poetry	l.	293
Göttingen , royal society at, by whom first projected	xvi.	373
— When established	xvi.	373
— Plan and regulations of	xvi.	373
— Premiums what, and how disposed of	xvi.	374
Googenat , his criticism on a picture of Job, by Guido	xl.	584

Gough, Mr. his account of Roger's tomb in Salisbury cathedral	xlix. 257
— His observations on the deæ matres	liii. 416
— On some Roman altars	liii. 416
Goulard, Mr. his doctrine in respect to the Saturnine application in surgery, &c. contested	xliv. 486
Goursaud, M. his remarks on the different causes of strangulation in hernias	xxxix. 253
Gout, fit of, what	v. 362
— Dangerous from improper bathing	v. 361
— Hot bathing, a general solvent	v. 365
— An uncommon crisis of	xvi. 547
— Who most subject to it	xxii. 399
— In what the disorder consists	xxii. 399
— Causes of the difficulty in curing it	xxii. 402
— Regimen for	xxii. 403
— Receipts for	xxii. 405
— Theory of the matter of which this disease is formed	xxxviii. 341
— Of relief by opiates	xxxviii. 371
— New theory of the causes of	xli. 168
— Method of cure	xli. 169
— Exercise, the chief remedy	xli. 169
— Primary causes of	xliv. 124
— Method of cure	xliv. 127
— Temperance, a remedy for the	xliv. 128
— Why rarely seen in Turkey	xliv. 128
— Observations on the arthritic anomaly	xlvi. 185
— Communicable by particular modes of contact	lv. 374
— Successfully treated by blistering	lxi. 296
— Efficacy of the fountains in the island of St. Miguel for curing the gout	lxii. 50
— Rules to be observed in the treatment and cure of	lxiii. 61
Government, military, to be dreaded	ii. 160
— True principles of	ii. 288
— The great art of governing	ii. 440
— A general head in the history of man	ii. 453
— Effect of military, on the manners	iv. 218
— Of China, described	iv. 326
— The origin of	vi. 268
— The best form	vi. 271
— Picture of the republican, from Voltaire	xiii. 286
— Best form of	xv. 221
— True motive of submission to	xxii. 275
— The dangers of an expensive one	xxii. 418
— The first rule of	xxii. 541
— Apology for the offer of a new system of	xxiii. 340
— The intention of	xxiv. 205
— Examination of Mr. Pope's two celebrated lines concerning	xxiv. 206

- Government*, that the most perfect mode which reduces mankind the nearest to an equality — xxiv. 206
- Naturally tends towards despotism — xxvii. 469—xxviii. 210
- Ought not to have power over men's minds in religion — xxix. 131
- Nor to punish free thinking on writing — xxix. 131
- Not exempt from the scrutiny of reason, nor to be blindly submitted to — — — xxxii. 168
- Considerations on several kinds of — — — xxxiv. 380
- Constitutional of England, dependent in the ultimate resort on the sense and feeling of the people — — — xxxiv. 387
- Executive power of — — — xxxiv. 389
- How to be employed — — — xxxiv. 543
- End of, assigned — — — xxxvi. 366
- How far influenced by the spirit of a people — — — xxxvi. 367
- Constitution of; what the most simple — — — xxxvi. 563
- Of England, true constitution of — — — xlv. 417
- Divine right and passive obedience justly exploded — — — xlv. 418
- The contrary doctrine absurdly maintained — — — xlv. 419
- Voltaire's remarks on the English — — — xlvii. 536
- The forms of, in what respects borrowed from the French — — — xlvii. 537
- Mode of, impossible to be introduced into the East Indies — — — xlviii. 83
- That of Bengal naturally suited to its climate — — — xlviii. 84
- Great error in our East India Company's management there — — — xlviii. 92
- General view of the nature and effects of — — — xlviii. 102
- Incapable of duly discharging the sovereign trust — — — xlviii. 105
- Proposal for remedying — — — xlviii. 107
- Melancholy prospectus — — — xlviii. 110
- Origin of — — — xlix. 538
- Ideas relating to the origin and first forms of — — — l. 449
- Origin and design of — — — liv. 493
- British, constitution of — — — liv. 493
- Monarchy and hereditary succession, exploded — — — liv. 496
- Mutual obligation of prince and people with respect to — — — lv. 330
- Virtue the great instrument of a good one — — — lv. 518
- Morality, the great foundation of all law — — — lv. 519
- Aristotle's rules for a tyrannical — — — lx. 330
- Aristotle's idea of a just — — — lx. 332
- And law, principles of, discussed — — — lxvi. 191
- Governors*, provincial, their natural inclination towards tyranny — — — li. 130
- Graver the poet*, specimens of his style — — — lix. 129
- Goxan, a knight of Rhodes*, a remarkable anecdote of — — — xxiv. 93
- Gaxxi*, the Italian dramatic writer, his great success — — — xxxix. 61
- Grabe*, his collation of an ancient MS. of Genesis — — — lx. 76
- Grabow, Madame de*, some account of that accomplished lady — — — xxxviii. 484
- Gracchus*,

Gracchus, Tiberius , his character vindicated	viii.	433
Grace , what	vi.	229
— Irrefragible, destitute of scriptural foundation	xx.	32
— Divine, oeconomy of	xxvii.	370
— Counterfeit pretensions to grace unmasked	xxv.i.	407
— Origin of the doctrine of	lxix.	94
Grace, in painting and statuary , what	xxxii.	465
Grace, Mrs. story of	xxxv.	348
Graces , triumph of the	liv.	396
Grafting , curious conjectures relative to improvement in	lxiii.	549
Grain , experiments relating to the fermentation of	xxxi.	292
Gramen ossifragum Norwegicum , observations on	lxx.	497
Grammar , a philosophical enquiry concerning an universal	vi.	129
— Grammatical quality, from whence derived	xv.	110
— Writing, compared to working in the mines	xix.	520
— English, study of, generally neglected	xxvii.	38
— Usefulness of this study	xxvii.	39
— Remarks on	xlv.	88
— How violated by good English writers	xlv.	91
— Natural principles of	xlvi.	391
— Universal scheme of, by M. de Gebelin	li.	510
— On universal	lii.	564
— Observations on	lv.	506
Grammont and Hamilton , story of	xli.	306
— Not a fiction	xli.	488
Gran, Archbishop of , his vast opulence and power	lx.	562
Granada , its flourishing state under the Moors	xxiv.	116
— Former flourishing state of that province	xxxvi.	551
Grandmother , argument in justification of a man lying with his	xxiv.	115
Grand Signor , the impossibility of entering his haram	xxiv.	5
Granaries for corn , public ones to be discountenanced	xxxii.	86
— Private ones recommended	xxxii.	86
Granate , found in uncommonly large masses in Egypt	xv.	252, 345
Grange, M. le , his theory of the liberation of the moon, &c.	lxvii.	546
— On tautochronous curves	xlvi.	524
— His demonstration of a difficult arithmetical theorem	lii.	579
— His memoirs on astronomical refractions	liii.	541
— His new solution of a curious problem	liii.	559
— Of certain geometrical problems	liii.	559
— His papers in the memoirs of the Berlin academy	lx.	519
— His memoirs concerning the orbits of comets and the theory of telescopes	lxiv.	513
— His new theory of the motions of the nodes and the variations in the inclinations of the orbs of the planets, &c.	lxv.	149
— His memoirs concerning the construction of geographical maps	lxv.	416
— A self-taught geometrician	lxviii.	589
— His theory of the motion of fluids	lxx.	499

- Grange, M. le*, of the secular variations of the elements of the planets lxx. 499
- Granger*, his travels into Egypt ——— xlvi. 288
- In Arabia ——— xlvi. 289
- Granville, Cardinal*, his letter to Claude Belin lxiv. 518
- Granville Lord Lansdown*, his literary character lxv. 107
- Granville, Colonel*, his motion for a temporary tax on place-men xxviii. 417
- Graphic arts*, in a more improved state at present than formerly xv. 162
- Of advantage to manufacture ——— xv. 163
- Deficiency in them, not owing to want of genius in our country-men ——— xv. 163
- Grasshoppers*, the excommunication of, abolished xxx. 528
- Of Spain, curious account of ——— lix. 546
- Grasses*. See Husbandry.
- Gratian*, his character and conduct ——— lxv. 29
- S'Gravesande, professor*, an account of his life xxi. 440
- Grave*, Ramsay's doctrine concerning it ——— iv. 455
- Gravitation* of the moon, considered ——— ii. 339
- Gravity*, specific, remarks on some tables of ——— ii. 470
- Of bodies, how accounted for ——— vi. 440
- The laws of it discovered by Sir Isaac Newton viii. 295
- Reflections upon ——— xv. 238
- Specific, lessened by electricity ——— xv. 366
- An idea of ——— xxi. 399
- How distinguished ——— xxvi. 200
- Euler's notions of the centre of ——— xxxiii. 543
- Kepler's theory of ——— lxvi. 182
- Other notions of ——— lxvi. 183
- Kirwan's experiments on specific lxvi. 372—lxviii. 377
- On the centre of gravity of the solar system lxx. 501
- Gray, Lady Jane*, letters by, preserved in the public library at Zurich lxx. 445
- Gray, Mr.* his proposal for completing the navigation between the Forth and Clyde xxxix. 187
- Gray, Mr.* the poet, his birth and family connexions lii. 378
- His letter to West, expressing his dislike of a college life lii. 378
- His letter to Walpole, describing the manner of his passing his time in the country lii. 379
- His Sapphic ode in Latin, the first productions of his muse lii. 380
- His description of Versailles ——— lii. 382
- Of the amusement at Rheims ——— lii. 382
- Of the confluence of the Rhone and Saône lii. 383
- Of his journey up the Alps ——— lii. 383
- Of the grand Chartreuse ——— lii. 384
- His late ode written there ——— lii. 385
- Description of the Duke of Modena's palace lii. 385
- Gray,*

Gray, Mr. his account of a ball at a Roman villa	lii.	387
— Specimens of his abilities for tragedy	liii.	1
— For philosophic poetry	liii.	4
— For other kinds of verse	liii.	6, 8
— Letter to Dr. Wharton, on the death of his Son	liii.	9
— His description of Holm Craig	liii.	10
— His character and studies	liii.	97
— His poetical genius	liii.	102
— His poetry, censured	lviii.	139
— His writings criticised	lxvi.	122
Great men , reflections concerning them	ii.	439, 476
— Their favour, how acquired	ii.	476
— Their foibles to be shunned	iv.	135
— Generally mercenary	xiv.	307
— Their peculiar duties enforced	xlii.	269
— Humanity from them to the people, inculcated	xlii.	270
— Haughtiness in them, often a cloak to cover their weaknesses and defects	xlii.	270
— Their peculiar distempers	xlii.	565
Great upon little , account of that curiosity	lxx.	263
Greaves, Mr. his account of the Egyptian pyramids, controverted	xv.	258
Greece and Greeks , explanation of a Greek inscription	v.	322
— Models of Greek literature recommended	vi.	144
— Language taught early in the English schools	xi.	392
— Use of Greek accents in the English language	xi.	458
— The learning of the Greeks	xv.	281
— Greek grammar published at Naples	xvii.	262
— On the loss of her liberty when conquered by Philip	xix.	102
— The drama adhered to in modern compositions to supply wit	xxiii.	373
— A proposal for making discoveries in	xxiv.	258
— Considerations on the music of	xxv.	16
— Their taste in sculpture, whence derived	xxii.	457
— Imitations of their works advised	xxxii.	463
— Excellence of the arts in antient	xxxvii.	333
— Encomiums on the writers of	xxxviii.	234
— How to attain the language	xxxviii.	234
— Rise and progress of the alphabet	xxxviii.	236
— Early connection with the Goths	xxxviii.	341
— On the accents	xxxix.	523
— Modern, still resemble their ancestors in the love of their country	xliv.	505
— Adherence to their old customs	xliv.	513
— Manners of the ladies	xliv.	513
— Principles of their music explained	xlv.	549
— Remarks on the temples	xlv.	584
— Refutation of ridiculous stories in the Grecian church	xlvi.	136
— Famous for superstition, idolatry, &c.	xlvi.	666
— National character of the modern	xlvi.	223

Greece, manners and customs of modern, compared with ancient xlvi. 223

— Salutary custom with respect to panegyrics on deceased heroes
xlix. 546

— Fragments of the poets — — — lvii. 239

— Inquiries concerning modern — — — lviii. 533

— Philosophy of antient, characterized — — — lx. 120

— Poetry characterized — — — lx. 123

— Poetry philosophically investigated — — — lxi. 510, 523

— Several parts of, described — — — lxii. 517

— Antient historical writings widely different from the Persians
lxiii. 110

— Chronology irreconcilable with the scriptures
lxiii. 112

— General history of — — — lxiv. 302

— Their ancient cavalry — — — lxiv. 554

— Their prose writings — — — lxiv. 555

— Account of some MS. — — — lxiv. 557

— Their tragic writers vindicated — — — lxvii. 245

— Proposal for enabling them to recover the freedom of their ancestors — — — lxx. 569

Green, instances of the benefit resulting from that colour to the eye
i. 138

Greenland, a part of the terra firma of America
xlii. 526

— Inference from the circumstance, with regard to the first discovery of America — — — xlii. 526

— Poetic encomiums on the missionaries there
lxvii. 265

Greenwich hospital, account of the paintings there
x. 454, 455

— Enquiry into the management of — — — lxii. 233

Gregory, VII. Pope, his character — — — xvi. 6

Grenada, affairs of that colony
xlii. 67, 69, 157, 402, 403

— Litigations relating to the four and a half per cent. on exports
li. 89

Grenville, Mr. strictures on several parts of his ministerial conduct
xxxv. 440, 446

— His administration severely reprehended
xxxvi. 143, 150

— Poetic encomiums on — — — xxxvi. 331

— His administration vindicated — — — xxxvi. 75

Gretry, Mr. his music praised — — — li. 384

Crey, Lord, his letter to King James II. with his confession concerning the Rye house plot, and Monmouth's rebellion
ix. 511

Grey, Lady Jane, Extracts from an epistle from her to Lord Guilford Dudley — — — xxvi. 227

— Affecting account of her behaviour at her execution
xxxii. 143

Grey, Stephen, verses on his death — — — xxxiv. 357

Grierison, Constance, her character and accomplishments
viii. 132, 134

Grief, how expressed — — — xxvi. 201

Griffith, Dr. his remedy in hectic and slow fevers, &c.
lvi. 228

— Discovery of some coins of Edward the Confessor, &c.
lvii. 456

Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. joint novel-writers
xli. 232

Griffith,
Griffith,

Griffith, John , his ridiculous fanaticism	—	lxi. 372
Gronovius censured	—	xv. 222
— His edition of Herodotus censured	—	xxxi. 462
Grose, Mr. his description of antiquities in Hampshire	—	lxii. 272
Grosier, Abbé , some account of his great undertaking of a new general history of China	—	liv. 539
— Mistake of his concerning the grand annals, rectified	—	liv. 540
Grotius, Hugo , his great character	—	x. 81
— Publishes the astronomy of Aratus	—	x. 83
— His reputation as a poet	—	x. 83
— And preferment as a lawyer	—	x. 84
— Is made pensionary of Rotterdam	—	x. 84
— His conduct with respect to the Gomarists and Armenians	—	x. 85
— Ordered to perpetual imprisonment	—	x. 87
— Escapes	—	x. 88
— Sent ambassador from Sweden to France	—	x. 88
— Great respect shewn him by Christina, Queen of Sweden	—	x. 91
— His behaviour in his last moments	—	x. 92
— A key to his epistles	—	xxx. 570
— Epitaph intended for him	—	xxxviii. 483
— His character	—	xlvi. 484
— His law of nature, &c. examined	—	lviii. 488
— Examination of his works	—	lviii. 488
Ground nuts , account of the American oil of	—	xliv. 206
Grove, Mr. his method of studying moral philosophy, disapproved	—	iii. 64
Grove, Joseph , his ridiculous zeal for the memory of Cardinal Wolfey	—	xix. 204
Gruenarig , king of Hispaniola, his kind reception of the Spaniards	—	iv. 328
Guadaloupe , barbarous treatment of the natives, by the French	—	xxii. 93
— Remarkable distress and escape of two French captains there	—	xxii. 95
— and Canada, comparative view of their worth to Brit.	—	xxii. 430
Gualtier , a Popish priest, the first agent employed by Queen Anne's ministry towards the treaty of Utrecht	—	xvi. 499
— Character and extraordinary declaration to the French minister	—	xvi. 499
Guasco, Marquis , his ancient inscriptions of the collection kept in the capitol	—	lvi. 225
— His account of the ancient inscriptions in the museum capitolineum	—	lvii. 482
Guercy, Count de , his misunderstanding with M. D' Eon	—	xxx. 432
Guettard M. His account of the absorption of the river Meuse	—	xxxvi. 556
— His account of fossils found in the neighbourhood of Paris	—	xxxviii. 584
— Notes on Pliny	—	lxix. 70

Guenée, Abbé , author of the work entitled letters of certain Jews to M. de Voltaire	lv. 510—lxvi. 544
Guglielmina , St. her remarkable history	ix. 94
Gutana , geographical account of	xl. 199
— Soil and climate	xl. 199
— Vegetable productions	xl. 202
— Animals	xl. 205
— People	xl. 276
— Their arrow poison	xl. 280
— Short account of that province	lviii. 507
Guibert , his eulogy on the chancellor de l'Hospital	lvii. 497
Guicciardini, Francis , His account of himself	x. 400
— Is sent ambassador to Spain, and discharges that trust with great applause	x. 402
— Preferred by the Pope	x. 402
— Made governor of Modena and Reggio	x. 402
— Quells an insurrection at Florence	x. 403
— Made governor of Bologna	x. 403
— Honoured by the Emperor	x. 404
— Reports of his death	x. 405
— His person, character and writings	x. 406
— The authenticity of his history	x. 406
— His knowledge of mankind	xi. 37
— Distinguished for describing characters	xi. 194
— A castrated passage in his works, restored	xxiv. 135
— His reflections on papal authority	xxiv. 136
— His genuine original history of Italy	lv. 471
Guidi's philosophical conversation concerning religion	lxiv. 303
Guido , contrary opinions of two connoisseurs on a picture of his	xl. 584
— His want of skill in adapting his subjects to his power	xlvi. 454
Guignes, M. de , his memoirs concerning the Chinese	xxix. 517
— Publishes Gaubil's translation of one of the sacred books of the Chinese	xlvi. 552
— His construction of the epitaph on Sardanapalus	xlvi. 535
— His system of the Egyptian origin of the Chinese, refuted	xlvi. 559
— His dissertation on the oriental languages	liii. 570
— On the Chinese annals and literature	liii. 571
— On the influence of the Croisades on the trade of France in the Levant	liv. 511
— His notion of the local origin of the sciences controverted	lvii. 548
— His essay on the study of philosophy among the ancient Chinese	lviii. 535
— His reflections on the Bagavadam	lviii. 540
— His observations concerning certain points relative to the religion of the Egyptians and Chinese	lxiv. 547
— His researches concerning the Indian religion in China	lxiv. 540
Guillon, Claude , beheaded for eating flesh on a fish-day	xxxvi. 386
Guilty ,

Chilly , why not punished immediately	—	iv. 536
Guinea, New , some account of that country	—	liv. 546
— Wonderful rivulet of boiling water there	—	liv. 547
Guise, Duke of , deserts the league, and makes his peace with Henry the Great	—	xv. 101
— Their first interview afterwards	—	xv. 102
— His character	—	liii. 22
— Narrative of his assassination	—	lxx. 419
Guise, Dutches of , her character	—	xv. 101
Gule of August , account of	—	xliv. 179
— What	—	lvii. 190
Gulph , on the heat of water in the	—	lxvii. 129
Gum Arabic , experiments on, by Dr. Fothergill	—	xvi. 557
Gum copal , Litman's account of	—	xxxiii. 542
Gum elimi , strangely described by Mr. Hughes	—	iii. 201
Gum lac , used as an electric, with great success in electricity	—	lvii. 513
Gum red , account of a beautiful	—	liii. 532
Gum tree, the white of Senegal , observations on	—	lxvii. 499
Gummer, M. his dissertation on the recovery of drowned persons	—	xxxix. 533
Gunnery , memoirs relating to	—	xlvi. 557
— Philosophical observations relative to	—	lv. 343
— Experiments with regard to cannon shot	—	lv. 343
— Principles of, investigated	—	lviii. 330
— Experiments relative to	—	lxii. 122
Gunpowder , long known in China	—	x. 200
— Used only in fireworks there	—	x. 200
— To make the best	—	xiv. 423
— Experiment on the strength of old, compared with the new	—	xliv. 513
— Experiments on the force of	—	lx. 417
— New theory of	—	lxiii. 375
— Invention of, traced to its source	—	lxiii. 410
— The nature of it known to Roger Bacon	—	lxiii. 410
— New experiments on the force of	—	lxvii. 123
— How augmented by other substances	—	lxvii. 126
Gun-shot wounds , the treatment of	—	xxxviii. 588
— M. le Vacher's memoirs on	—	xxxviii. 591
— Account of a mortal wound by	—	xlvi. 422
Guayaquil , its disagreeable circumstances in regard to weather and situation	—	xix. 288
Gurghin Kan , how out-witted by Mirvais	—	ix. 176
— He and all his retinue killed	—	ix. 177
Gustavus Adolphus , an examination of his motives for invading Germany	—	xx. 446
— His treatments of two duellists	—	xx. 451
— His death at the battle of Lutzen	—	xx. 516
— History of	—	lviii. 488

Gustavus

Gustavus Ericson, king of Sweden, his extraordinary character

— His birth	—	—	xxiv. 54
— His military exploits	—	—	xxiv. 56
— Treacherously taken prisoner by the King of Denmark			xxiv. 56
— Makes his escape	—	—	xxiv. 58
— His narrow escape from a false friend	—		xxiv. 61
— Raises forces to deliver his country	—		xxiv. 63
— His death and character	—		xxiv. 64
Gustrow, inhabitants of, good husbandmen			xxxviii. 484
Gutbrie, Mr. his performances, hasty productions			xii. 97
— Contradictory passages from them	—		xii. 97
— His character of George II.	—		xxix. 209
— Of the late Prince of Wales	—		xxix. 210
— His account of the noble family of Cavendish			xxix. 214
Gutbrie, Dr. his account of the means by which the Russians are preserved from the scurvy			lxi. 279, 410
— of the manner in which the Russians treat persons affected by the fumes of burning charcoal and other noxious effluvia			lxiii. 373
Guts, the motion of	—	—	vi. 191
Guy, Earl of Warwick, his expedition into the Soldan's camp: from the old metrical chronicle	—	—	li. 58
Gwin, Mr. answers Voltaire's panegyric on the reign of Lewis XIV.			i. 87
Gypsies, a species of vagrants not to be tolerated			li. 47
— Poetical account of	—	—	li. 48
— Their pernicious arts and impositions	—	—	li. 48
— Their origin	—	—	lx. 260
Gyraldus, Cambrensis, his great learning	—		l. 425
— His description of the Abbey of Lantony			l. 425

H

Habeas Corpus act, account of	—	—	xxxiii. 559
Habits of thought, and habits of thinking, difference between			xxxii. 173
Hackney writers, characterized	—		xviii. 415
Haddon-bouffe, in Derbyshire, some account of			lxx. 355
Hading, king of Denmark, his extraordinary compact with Hunding king of Sweden, with the fatal consequence thereof			xxvii. 361
Hadley's quadrant, improved by Mr. Ewing	—		xlvi. 337
— New construction and improvements of	—		lvi. 548
— Further improvements of	—		lxiii. 497
Hadley's Sextants, observations on, in a voyage towards the south pole			lviii. 9
Hæfflin and Medikus, Messrs. their contributions to literature and science, &c.	—	—	lxv. 305
Hafen, the Persian poet, specimen of his works			xliv. 427
			Hair,

- Hair*, association in New England against wearing long hair xxxviii. 187
- Various modes of dressing, in the two last centuries xli. 213, 215
- And beard of the ancients, observations on lxiv. 546
- Account of an unnatural appetite for — lxvii. 558
- Hair-dressers*, their hurtful practices with regard to the ladies heads lxi. 63
- Hakham, Caliph*, story of — — xxxiv. 495
- Haldefreund, M.* cases of physic — lvi. 225
- Hale, Lord Chief Justice*, some notions of his repugnant to revolution principles, corrected — xxvii. 146
- Misfortune of his writings, not being published till after his death — xxx. 289
- Opinion on the office and power of juries xlvi. 372
- Hales, Dr.* his method for stopping the progress of fire xxix. 483
- Used with success at Constantinople — xxix. 484
- Halifax, Lord*, his political thoughts — iii. 38
- His moral thoughts — iii. 42
- Miscellaneous thoughts — iii. 44
- His impeachment — — xxxvi. 7
- His poetry depreciated — lxi. 189
- His defence of Dr. Ogden's sermons against Mr. Mainwaring lxiv. 100
- Answered — — lxiv. 101
- Halifax, parish of*, it great extent — liii. 105
- Hall, Bp.* memoirs of — — vii. 351
- Hall, Wesley*, some account of that strange man lxx. 233
- Haller, Dr.* observations on the seminal vessels — v. 6
- His account of an epidemical disorder in Switzerland xxxvi. 560
- His experiment on the evaporation of salt water xxxviii. 581
- Detail of the process of incubation — xxxix. 536
- His observations on the formation of bones xxxix. 537
- His eulogium on anatomy — xxxix. 540
- His cruel experiments on animals — xxxix. 573
- His letter to Voltaire — xlii. 460
- His Ufong, censured — — xlviii. 161
- Vindicated — — xlviii. 248
- The censure, defended — — xlviii. 248
- His account of an extraordinary pregnancy lxi. 492
- Memoirs of, and eulogium on — lxvi. 508
- Exemplary manner of his death — lxvi. 512
- Portrait of his mind — lxx. 141
- Halley, Dr.* an instance of his sincerity i. 341
- Use of his chart of variation xii. 147—xiii. 433
- His observations on Mercury's transit over the sun xxiv. 172
- Hints for observing the transit of Venus — xxiv. 172
- Where, when, and how it will be visible xxiv. 173
- The good purposes of observing it — xxiv. 175
- A mistake committed by him, corrected by Fergusson xxiv. 177
- Halley,*

- Halley*, predicts another transit of Venus — xxiv. 189
- Ham the son of Noah*, remarkable operation of the curse denounced against him and his family — xli. 270
- Hambleton, Miss*, some account of her intrigues and execution in Russia — viii. 496
- Hamburg*, excellent method of giving the alarm there in case of fire xxxviii. 482
- Other particulars of that city — xxxviii. 482
- Some account of — — xlv. 577
- An account of — — xlix. 217
- Account of a commercial academy at — lxii. 238
- Hamel, M. du*, his account of the damp in coal mines xxxvi. 553
- His observations on the barometer — xxxvi. 559
- His botanical and meteorological observations xxxviii. 583
- His experiments on the strength of timber xlv. 687
- Hamilton, Sir William*, his happy imitation of Horace xxxvii. 2
- His account of the last eruption of Vesuvius xxxix. 418
- His curious collection of Etruscan, Greek, and Roman antiquities — — xli. 557
- Account of the eruption of Vesuvius in 1767 xlii. 105
- His account of a late eruption of Vesuvius xlv. 201
- His journey to mount Ætna — xlv. 177
- His relation of a thunder storm at Naples li. 224
- Remarks and delineations of Vesuvius, &c. lvi. 380
- His account of the ruins of Pompeii lvii. 449
- His account of the late great eruption of Vesuvius lxiv. 268
- His account of the late earthquakes in Italy lxx. 102
- Hamilton, Marquis of*, letter from, to King Charles I. lix. 99
- Hamlet of Shakspeare*, his character philosophically analysed li. 16
- Hammon, William*, his letter to Dr. Priestley in defence of atheism lxviii. 129
- Hammond, the poet*, vindicated against Dr. Johnson lxvii. 146
- Hampden, Mr.* the authenticity of Lord Clarendon's character of xix. 235
- His speech in the House of Commons, on king James's abdication — — xxviii. 415
- Hampshire*, antiquities in — — lxii. 272
- Hampton, Rev. Mr.* a Presbyterian minister persecuted by the episcopals at New York lxiii. 440
- Hampton court gardens*, poetically described — xxxvii. 140
- Hamster, or German Marmot*, natural history of lxvii. 366
- Hanbury, Rev. Mr.* his nursery of trees and plants xix. 535
- Handel, Mr.* account of the first manifestations of his propensity to music — — xxii. 472
- Hammer, Mr.* account of — — xiii. 219
- His quarrel with Mr. Warburton — xxx. 252
- Hannibal*, reality of his dissolving the rocks on the Alps with vinegar, asserted — — xli. 554
- His conduct at the battle of Cannæ — lxix. 108
- Hanover*, our behaviour towards censured — v. 249
- Hanover,*

Hanover , the possibility and advantages of its becoming a maritime power	xvi.	107
— Some remarks on, by an English traveller	xlvi.	576
Hanseatic league , origin and progress of	xli.	180
— Decline of	xli.	182
Happiness , enquiry into it	i.	5
— Attainable by all men	i.	6
— Of a community, when ruled by philosophers	iii.	12
— Sense of, not the foundation of morality	iv.	529
— Of communities, how connected with religion	iv.	532
— Of mankind, what	iv.	535
— Of a lover, what	iv.	538
— The great foundation of moral beauty	v.	57
— The foundation of moral beauty	vii.	43
— Of heaven, not to be obtained but by a life of holiness	viii.	287
— Wherein true happiness consists	viii.	288
— Perfection the proper foundation of	viii.	288
— The end and object of every man's pursuit	viii.	364
— Consistent with benevolence	viii.	364
— Domestic, described in a letter from an Indian lady to the ladies of New York	x.	291
— Unsocial and contracted system of	xi.	310
— Remarkable question concerning	xii.	4
— Wherein that of man consists	xiii.	448
— Not easy to be conceived in any situation of life	xix.	551
— Whether attainable or not	xx.	9
— Reason a foe to	xx.	575
— Poem on rural	xxx.	448
— Not the particular lot of any country	xxxii.	49
— States and individuals differently circumstanced in this respect	xxxii.	50
— Social and political distinguished	xxxiii.	529
— Philosophical, disquisition concerning	xxxvi.	265
— Of mankind reflections on	xlvi.	21
— Public, how far affected by the revolution of states and empires	xlvi.	665
— Inquiry concerning	liv.	478
Haram, Turkish , described	xxix.	63
Harbord, Mr. W. his reflections on the Speaker of the House of Commons	xxviii.	128
— Employed in the enquiry concerning Montague's papers	xxviii.	264
— His speech on bribery	xxviii.	266
— On king James's abdication	xxviii.	415
— Accused of intriguing with the agent of France	xlxi.	7
Harcourt, Mrs. account of, by John Bunce	xiii.	218
Harcourt, Sir Philip , his warm remark in the House of Commons on a breach of privilege	xxviii.	260
Hardwick, Lord , his adjudication in the cause between Janssen and Spencer	xxxiii.	109
Vol. II.	Q	Hart,

- Hars*, account of the Russian — — xxxvi. 595
 — In some countries a solitary animal, in others gregarious xlix. 323
 — And rabbit, their distinguishing qualities — — l. 285
 — Five kinds of, heretofore unknown — — lxiii. 141
Hars lip, on the cure of — — xxxix. 256
Hars, Bishop, his hypothesis concerning the Hebrew metre xii. 485
 — Remarks on the uncertainty of that hypothesis xii. 489
 — His scheme of Hebrew metre, refused — — xiv. 250
 — Translation of his principal rules — — xiv. 252
Hariri, the Arab, his moral conversations — — xxxvii. 22
Harlatan, a singular African wind, described lxvi. 365
Harlem, some account of the whitening grounds there x. 327
 — Prize questions by the literary society there liii. 367
 — Transactions of the literary society there, vol. xvi. liii. 508
Harley, Mr. his speech for a frequent renewal of parliament xxviii. 422
 — His letter to Caristres — — lii. 219
Harmony, a necessary consideration in poetry xiv. 92
 — Whether the English inferior in, to other languages xiv. 93
 — Musical, disquisitions on the principles and power of xlv. 371, 477
Harold, his claim to the crown of England, and competition with William of Normandy, stated — — xxxvii. 136
 — Curious piece of needlework relating to xxxvii. 195
Harpis, a college of priests — — lii. 477
 — Supposed to have been pirates — — lxvii. 62
Harpocrates, how represented — — vii. 90
Harrington, Sir John, ignorant of the real nature of liberty i. 250
 — His Oceana, recommended — — xv. 218
 — Letters from him to prince Henry, &c. — — xliii. 52
 — His sonnet on Isabella Mackhame — — xlii. 58
Harrington, Mr. his arguments in favour of a large metropolis xviii. 361
Harrington, Mrs. her proposal for teaching geography, &c. xlv. 262
Harris, James, his Hermes applauded — — xxvii. 37
 — He furnishes some notes to Mrs. Fielding's translation of Xenophon's memorabilia xxvii. 176
 — Author of Spring, a dramatic pastoral — — xxvii. 395
 — His comment on Lillo's fatal curiosity — — lxix. 79
Harrison, John, letter to the reviewers — — xxii. 554
 — Character of — — xxxv. 51
 — His ingenious improvement in clock-work li. 127
 — A publication of them recommended as due to his country li. 127
 — Parallel between his character and that of Mr. Hooke li. 127
 — His conduct with respect to the publication of his improvements in the mechanism of time-keepers — — liii. 320
 — Receives 20,000*l.* from the public for his discoveries liii. 323
 — Harrison,

- Harrison, John*, his scale of music — liii. 324
 — Account of his life — lvi. 181
 — His machines for measuring time — lvi. 182
 — History of his approaches towards a discovery of the longitude by his time-keepers — lxiii. 201
 — Claims the reward appointed by parliament for that discovery — lxiii. 202
 — And receives it — lxiii. 203, 205
 — Observations on his time-keepers — l. 556
Harrison, Capt. horrid distress of him and his crew at sea xxxv. 73
Harrowes, the forts, described — xviii. 43
Harrowgate, description of the company at — xxxv. 39
Hartley, Dr. his expostulation with Dr. Mead on Mrs. Stephen's medicine for the stone — v. 292
 — His improvements therein, in seven different methods — v. 293
 — The regimen necessary in taking those medicines — v. 295
 — His candour — — v. 296
 — Difficulties and discouragements in the prosecution of his discoveries — — — xxxvii. 29
 — His observations on man, commended — — xlv. 509
 — Account of his life and writings — — liii. 106
 — Dr. Priestley's edition of his theory examined — liii. 380
 — Some obs. on his famous theory of the human mind — liv. 45
 — His theory of the human mind, its dangerous tendency — lvi. 82
Hartshorn, spirit of, fictitious, of what made — — xvii. 390
 — If sophisticated with lime, how to prove — xvii. 390
Harvard college in New England, address from, to George III. — — — xxix. 23
 — Poetical gratulation from thence on the king's accession — — — xxix. 24
Harvest moon, method for solving the phenomena of — xxxvii. 430
Harvey, Dr. not the discoverer of the circulation of the blood — — — xxxv. 551
Harward, Mr. Speech on the use and importance of lawyers — — — xxxvii. 417
 — His humorous speech in the Irish Parliament — xxxviii. 87
Harwood, Mr. proposes a test to acquit the Members of the House of Commons of the charge of bribery and corruption — — — xxviii. 134
Hasselquist, Dr. his travels in the Levant — — — xxxiv. 127
 — His character — — — xxxiv. 128
 — His adventure at grand Cairo — — — xxxiv. 136
 — Arrives in the Holy Land — — — xxxiv. 137
 — His account of various animals, insects, and plants, in the Levant — — — xxxiv. 265, 270
Hastings, Governor, endeavours to obtain a knowledge of the Gentoo laws — — — lvi. 369
Havana, retrospective view of the conquest of — — — xlix. 575
 — Hardships endured by the English in the siege — — — xlix. 575
Hawaii, Mr. manner of his becoming possessed of the rectory of Aldwinckle — — — xxxvii. 383, 390
Hawth.

Harweiss, Mr. Serious remonstrances to	xxxvii.	466
— Pamphlets relating to the controversy on this subject	xxxviii.	63
Hawkwusod, Sir John , account of	lxviii.	322
Hay , best method of making	lv.	180
— Improved methods of making	lx.	22
Hay, Mr. commended as a painter	x.	453
Hayles in Gloucestershire , popish miracles performed there	lxiii.	11
Hayley, Mr. his elegant verses on the death of Mr. Thornton	lxii.	462
— His pathetic conclusion of the fourth epistle of his essay on epic poetry	lxvii.	355
Hayward, Rev. Mr. story of his posthumous letter	xx.	191
Head , chirurgical cases of wounds in	xxiii.	276
— Account of an extraordinary large	xlvi.	196
Head-ach , removed by æther	xxvii.	101
— Cured by vervain, or traveller's joy	xxix.	172
Healtb , an ode to	xviii.	533
— Precepts for preserving	xxiv.	145
— Salt and sugar to be totally rejected	xxiv.	145
— Honey, milk, butter and cheese to be avoided	xxiv.	146
— Oil, vinegar, and mushrooms, cucumbers, pickles, soups, broths jellies prohibited	xxiv.	146
— Pastry and confectionary condemned	xxiv.	147
— How to preserve it in the East Indies	xxxix.	430
— Pious ejaculation to	lxi.	116
Healtbs , origin of the custom of drinking	li.	107
Hearing , considered	i.	32
— Method proposed to restore	xv.	375
— The organs of hearing learnedly discussed	lviii.	492
— Curious experiments relative to	lxii.	52
Hearne, Mr. his journey over land from Hudson's Bay to survey the copper-mine river	lxx.	463
— Extreme hardships endured by him in that enterprize	lxx.	468
— Curious extracts from his journal	lxx.	474
Hearne, Thomas , epigram on him	xxvii.	495
Hearsty, Mr. killed in his bed by a thunder storm	l.	479
Hearts , theories about its motion	vi.	186
— Boerhaave's theory rejected	vi.	186
— As also de Gorter's	vi.	187
— Dr Whytt's theory	vi.	188
— Of some animals, why it moves after being cut out	vi.	464
— On the action of the	vii.	60
— The most irritable organ in the human body	xiv.	123
— Not particularly affected by opium	xiv.	125
— Enlarged to an enormous size	xxvii.	425
— Of the circulation of the blood through the	xliv.	384
— Seneca's treatise on the	lvii.	476
Heat , why less intense at the bottom of a vessel while it boils than it is soon after it leaves off boiling	ix.	365
Heat ,

- Heat, causes of heat and cold* — xv. 478
- Why they do not increase and decrease regularly as the sun approaches or departs — xv. 479
- Whether that of the sun is most intense at the equator or at the tropics — xv. 480
- Of weather, poetical picture of — xxiii. 70
- Its proportion to the height of situation — xxxv. 451
- The degrees which men and animals are capable of supporting xxxviii. 578
- Proved to be inherent in the earth, independent of the sun xli. 503
- General effects of, enumerated — xlii. 155
- Experiment to ascertain the comparative degrees of, in bodies li. 522
- Duration of, in bodies — lii. 610
- Attempt to render the principle of, visible lxiv. 301
- Of London and Edinburgh, compared — liv. 453
- Experiments relative to — lxv. 512
- Compared with electricity — lxv. 514
- New method of measuring — lxvi. 568
- Heat, Animal, philosophically considered* — xlii. 301
- Opinions relative to the cause of — lx. 385
- Animal and vegetable, account of — lx. 418
- Curious experiments and observations on — lxi. 378
- Heated room, experiments in* — liv. 29—lv. 120
- Heatbroke, Mr. his patriotism* — xxvii. 384
- Heavenly divinities, interpreted* — xxii. 117
- Deified dead men — xxx. 419
- Their ignorance of a future state of rewards or punishments xxx. 429
- Heaven open to all men, badly refuted* — ii. 9
- Examined — vi. 313
- In what its glory and excellence consists — xviii. 211
- Heberden, Dr. T. his account of an earthquake in the island of Madeira* — xxvii. 331
- His account of a salt found on the pic of Teneriffe xxxv. 450
- Of the proportion of heat to height of situation xxxv. 451
- His account of the elephantiasis — xxxix. 31
- Of the increase and mortality at Madeira xxxix. 426
- Heberden, Dr. W. his remarks on the pump-water of London* — xxxix. 30
- On ascarides — xxxix. 32
- On the nyctalopia — xxxix. 32
- On the chicken-pox — xxxix. 40
- On the epidemic cold in June and July 1767 xxxix. 41
- His queries relating to the Peruvian bark xxxix. 41
- His observations on the number of inhabitants in Madeira xlii. 139
- On the different quantities of rain which appear to fall at different heights on the same ground — xlii. 331
- Heberden,*

Herberden, Dr. W. His observations on the nature and cure of the hectic fever	—	—	xlvi. 253
— His account of a disorder of the breast	—	—	xlvi. 257
— Of the diseases of the liver	—	—	xlvi. 260
— Of the nettle rash	—	—	xlvi. 260
— Of the noxious effects of some fungi	—	—	xlvi. 260
— His medical queries	—	—	xlvi. 265
Hebrew , the language spoken in paradise			vii. 233
— The advantage of points	—	—	vii. 234
— Beauties of the poetry	—	—	viii. 401
— Bishop Hare's hypothesis of the metre	—	—	xii. 485
— Bishop Hare's hypothesis, refuted	—	—	xiv. 250
— Observations on the metre	—	—	xiv. 250
— Antiquities of the language and character	—	—	xiv. 295
— Language, copious and rich	—	—	xix. 619
— The contrary opinion	—	—	xix. 610
— Its origin from God	—	—	xix. 610
— The contrary opinion	—	—	xix. 611
— Question concerning the vowels	—	—	xix. 611
— Some words better explained by comparing them with the Arabic			xv. 23
— and Greek poetry, analogy between	—	—	xxiv. 317
— Ancient state of melody and song	—	—	xxix. 93
— New paradigms of the verbs	—	—	xxx. 296
— Roots, the elements of all languages	—	—	xxx. 506
— The paucity of them	—	—	xxx. 507
— To be found in the French and all other languages	—	—	xxx. 510
— Antiquity of the characters, asserted	—	—	xxxii. 197
— High antiquity of the letters	—	—	xxxvi. 136
— Use of points exploded	—	—	xxxvi. 355
— Genuine antiquity of the points defended	—	—	xliv. 341
— On the vowels	—	—	liii. 572
— Poetry critically explained	—	—	lx. 132
Hebrides , Mr. Pennant's account of	—	—	li. 452
Heckla , mount, described	—	—	lxiii. 193
— The eruption of	—	—	lxiii. 193
Hedges , the planting and management of	—	—	xlvi. 24
— Good remarks on the method of clipping	—	—	liv. 17
— Improved methods of referred and training white thorn	—	—	lvii. 433
Hemskirk , his engagement with the Spanish fleet	—	—	lxix. 60
Hegeffopus , his testimony referred to in the dispute relative to the Ebionites	—	—	lxix. 223, 240
Heiderheim , account of the academy there	—	—	lix. 148
Heights , rules for measuring heights by the barometer	—	—	li. 377
— Sir G. Shuckburgh's rules for measuring heights by the barometer	—	—	lxii. 37
Heinsius , pensionary of Holland, character of	—	—	xvi. 422
Heister , his prescriptions censured	—	—	xvii. 197
— John of Gaddeſden in one respect ſimilar to him	—	—	xvii. 197
Helena

Helena , St. obs. on the island of	—	lix.	403
Hell , its punishments not eternal	—	iv.	346, 424
— Sore guide to a work so entitled, mistakenly classed with books of bad tendency	—	xi.	466
— The devout path to it	—	xvii.	200
— Where placed by the ancients	—	lx.	496
Hell-torments , the doctrine of not fully revealed	—	ix.	201
— That of their eternity confuted	—	ix.	202
— The contrary asserted	—	ix.	224
— Pious dealers in, rebuked	—	xxviii.	311
— Doctrine of the eternity of, discussed	—	lxi.	120
— Exploded	—	lxi.	122
Helladians , obs. on them and other Grecian writers	—	li.	179
Hellandicks , presidents of the Olympian games	—	i.	99
— Their great dignity	—	i.	102
Hellenismus , on the nature and origin of	—	lviii.	541
Helmont , his strange argument against bleeding	—	v.	505
Helmo , St. his fire, what	—	xi.	224
Helvetius , Mr. a tract falsely ascribed to him	—	xxxvi.	234
Hemiplegia , cured by electricity	—	xxxvii.	450
— Case of, attended with uncommon circumstances	—	xlv.	451
Hemlock , its virtues enumerated	—	xxiii.	285
— Its efficacy in cancerous cases uncertain	—	xxv.	293
— Why it may operate differently in different countries	—	xxv.	296
— The species of it used in cancerous disorders	—	xxv.	350
— Efficacy in cancerous, schirrhous, and ulcerous cases	—	xxv.	350
— Miscellaneous cases	—	xxv.	354
— Its qualities specified	—	xxv.	357
— Its efficacy in the cure of schirrhous tumours of the breast	—	xxix.	170
— Of an asthma and dropsy	—	xxix.	171
— Baths	—	xxix.	171
— Five persons poisoned by eating this plant	—	xxix.	173
— Remarks on	—	xxix.	173
— Its medicinal virtue tried at Vienna without success	—	xxxi.	550
— Its use in disorders of the bowels	—	xxxiii.	182
— Extract of	—	xxxiv.	63
— Dr. Morris's experiments with	—	xxxiv.	69
— Efficacy for the chincough	—	l.	45
— Improperly used in cancerous disorders	—	liii.	41
— Method of using the Vienna sort	—	liii.	43
— Cure of a pain in the face by	—	lv.	252
Hemp , how useful in making paper	—	x.	482
Hemp-seed of China , experiments with	—	lxviii.	387
Herauld , on the nature and utility of historical abridgments	—	xxix.	520
— Several excellent abridgments recommended as models	—	xxix.	520
Hera-bans , uncommon effects of its seed	—	xv.	389
— Its medicinal use	—	xxviii.	451
Heuckell , Dr. abstract of his life	—	xviii.	173

- Henley, Orator*, an ecclesiastical mountebank — i. 346
- Henrip*, account of the secretion of Garnet the Jesuit there lxx. 261
- Heunenberg*, the dutchy of, essay towards the mineralogical description of — — — liv. 398
- Hennert, Professor*, his dissertations relative to natural philosophy and mathematics — — — lviii. 487
- Hennuyer, Bishop of Lixieux*, his life — — — xlix. 43
- Voltaire's tragedy of — — — xlix. 44
- Henriad*, some particulars concerning that poem — — — xviii. 647
- Considered as a sermon — — — xxxiv. 341
- "raised — — — — — li. 26
- Henry I. of England*, his speech to the great men called together by royal mandate — — — vii. 431
- His auspicious ascent to the throne, and commendable character — — — xxxvii. 288
- His original compact with his people, the foundation of Magna Charta — — — xxxvii. 290
- State of the constitution under — — — xxxvii. 401
- Great errors in his government — — — xxxvii. 403
- Parallel between his character and that of Henry II. — — — xli. 522
- Henry II. of England*, his history particularly instructive — — — xxxvii. 135
- His wise and spirited administration — — — xxxviii. 41
- Superstitious turn of the English in his reign — — — xxxviii. 43
- Abstract of the principal events of his reign — — — xlv. 441
- Subdues Ireland without bloodshed — — — xlviii. 473
- Forms the design of conquering Ireland — — — xlix. 210
- His intrigues with the pope to that end — — — xlix. 210
- Arrival in that kingdom, and great success — — — xlix. 341
- Henry III. of England*, a character of — — — v. 439
- His pedigree — — — xix. 456
- Contest between him and his nobles — — — xxvi. 82
- A great encourager of the arts — — — xxvi. 247
- Undertakes and achieves the conquest of Ireland — — — xli. 411
- His reconciliation with the court of Rome — — — xli. 412
- Flourishing state of his affairs — — — xli. 413
- Great reverse of — — — xli. 413
- His pilgrimage to Becket's tomb — — — xli. 414
- His joy at the defeat and captivity of the King of Scotland — — — xli. 517
- His merciful disposition strongly exemplified — — — xli. 518
- Scotland wholly submits to him — — — xli. 518
- Terms of the submission — — — xli. 519
- Censure of this measure — — — xli. 519
- Parallel of his character with that of Henry II. — — — xli. 522
- Henry IV. of England*, reflections concerning — — — xxvi. 87
- The dissoluteness and reformation of his son P. Henry — — — xxvi. 88
- Political intrigues of his cabinet, &c. — — — lxii. 554
- Henry V. of England*, characterised — — — xvi. 224
- Favourable traits of his character — — — xli. 652
- Misled by the churchmen — — — xli. 652

Henry VI. of England , Misfortunes of his Queen and son	xxvi.	92
Henry VII. of England , instance of his avarice	xi.	22
— The founder of English liberty	xx.	345
— His character	xx.	347
— His laws against retainers	xx.	350
— The work of princes	xxxi.	454
— His measures for reforming the state	xlix.	464
— His character traced in his will	lii.	252
Henry VIII. of England , characterised, and the arbitrariness of his government accounted for	xvi.	583
— His vices more beneficial to mankind than the virtues of other princes	xx.	172
— His character	xx.	359
— His friendship with the K. of France	xx.	360
— His mistaken policy in order to make the crown absolute	xxxiv.	189
— His character with regard to matrimony vindicated	xl.	125
— Ascends the throne with peculiar advantages	xli.	9
— Courtied by Francis I. and Charles V. of France	xli.	9
— His character	xli.	10
— His grand interview with Francis	xli.	12
— Reformation of religion carried into Ireland	xlix.	468
— Historic picture of his interview with the K. of France	liii.	494
— His quarrel with James V. of Scotland	lv.	417
— His talent for poetry	lxvi.	85
Henry Prince of Wales , his character	xii.	226
— Questions discussed at his being admitted a member of the university of Oxford	xxii.	179
— His person described, and character	xxii.	181
— Anecdotes of him	xxii.	181
Henry III. of France , murdered	xiv.	572
— Instability of his conduct	xl.	111
— Account of his assassination	liii.	23
Henry IV. of France , his scheme	iv.	409
— The surprising effect of bad news on him	x.	465
— Character of	xiv.	564
— His marriage	xiv.	564
— How treated in the massacre of Paris	xiv.	566
— Compelled to go to mass	xiv.	567
— His behaviour at the attack of Cohars	xiv.	568
— Succeeds to the throne of France	xiv.	572
— Precautions which he took for his security	xiv.	572
— His accession	xv.	97
— Changes his religion	xv.	98
— Twice in danger of being assassinated	xv.	99, 102
— Stabbed by Ravillac	xv.	215
— His character	xv.	215
— His charac. compared with Philip of Macedon	xxxiv.	554—xlv. 567
— Remarkable story of	liii.	532
Henry, Duq. Prince of Portugal , his application to the arts and sciences	lxvii.	492
		Henry,

- Henry, Don, Prince of Portugal*, his great qualities lxvii. 493
Henry and Catherine, an old ballad, with a Latin transl. xxxv. 1
Henry, Mr. his speech in the Irish parliament on the non-residence of the clergy — xxxviii. 89
Henry, Dr. his approved method of preparing magnesia xlvi. 261
Hepatitis, account of an — xxxvii. 374
Heraldry, caution against bearing false coats of arms xxx. 440
— Its origin — lxvii. 215
— Sprung from the feudal system — lxviii. 220
Herbelot Bibliothéque Orientale, new edition proposed, with a supplement — lv. 312
Herbert, Lord, first formed deism into a system x. 162
— His objection against revelation considered x. 163
— A remarkable incident concerning his book De Veritate x. 164
— Difference between this incident and the appearance to St. Paul x. 166
— His extraordinary character — xliii. 409
— Remarkable instance of his courage and spirit xliii. 412
— His visit to the nun of Murano — xliii. 414
— Adventures in his travels — xliii. 415
— A freethinker, yet not free from superstition xliii. 417
Herbert, Sir Henry, his speech on the non-attendance of members in the House of Commons xxviii. 126
Herculaneum, paintings found in the ruins of iv. 113
— Paderni's, account of the antiquities of — xi. 213
— Discoveries at — xiii. 431
— A mistake relative to, rectified — xiv. 239
— Nixon's additional obs. on some antiquities there xxvii. 333
— Poetical reflections on the fate of — xlii. 99
— An account of — xliii. 260
— Account of the antiquities discovered there xlvi. 629
— Destruction of, by an eruption of Vesuvius xlviii. 173
— Account of the antiquities discovered there xlviii. 175
— Account of statues, &c. discovered there — lii. 629
— Comments on, by the Neapolitan Academicians lii. 630
Hercules, critical remarks on the Farnesian statue xxxv. 335
— His real character investigated — l. 506
— The stories of his heroism allegorical — l. 506
— His exploits relate to agriculture — l. 509
— Idolized under various names — l. 511
— The Hercules Musagetes, explained — l. 512
— Explanatory circumstances in the history of — lii. 480
— Labours of, illustrated by astronomy — lxv. 535
— Labours of, how to be interpreted — lxvii. 62
— Musagetes, memoirs concerning — lxix. 248
Hereford, the declaration from that county in the time of Charles I. xvii. 500
Heressy, persecution for, reprehended — xxxvi. 383
— The scripture meaning of, ascertained xlv. 7, 158
— Sketch of the history of — xlvii. 328

Heressy.

Hereſy , Explanation of that word in its original meaning	lxiv.	34
Heretic , a term of reproach, how applied	—	xxviii. 154
— St. Paul's meaning with reſpect to	—	lxi. 123
— Ancient reſcued from the calumnies with which they were loaded by the orthodox bigots	—	lxiv. 37
Herman. Profeſſor , account of his famous cypher	xxxiii.	544
Hermaphrodites , the exiſtence of, denied	iv.	287
— M. Cruger's obſervations on	—	xxix. 484
— Curious account of	—	xlii. 17
— Hiſtory of	—	xlii. 18
— Inquiry into the real ſex of	—	xlv. 519
— Account of the Free Martin	—	lxii. 221
Hermes , his diſſertation on that word	—	iii. 262
— How repreſented	—	vii. 89
Hermione , critical diſquiſition relating to the manner of her cutting her hair	—	xxvi. 409
Hermit , a fable	—	xxiv. 155
Hermit of Warkworth , cataſtrophe of	—	xlv. 99
Hernia , account of	—	ii. 313
— Fatal inſtance of the treatment of one by a quack	xvi.	465
— congenita, controverſy on the diſcovery of	xxxii.	109
— Cure of	xxxiv.	62
— Account of an uncommon	xxxvii.	376
— inteſtinalis, account of	xxxviii.	434
— humoralis, Dr. Vaughan's account of	xxxviii.	437
— Of the inteſtine, the bladder, &c. various obſervations on	xxxix.	251
— Cauſes of ſtrangulation in	—	xxxix. 253
— Reflections on an	—	xxxix. 253
— Account of an	—	xxxix. 350
— congenitas, an account of	xlii.	14
— Inconveniencies ariſing from, with reſpect to Romiſh prieſts	xlii.	14
— of the omentum	xlii.	19
— Extraordinary caſe of	xlii.	29
— Crural hernia	xlii.	21
— Division of hernias, with an account of a new ſpecies of ventral hernias	xlii.	546
— Caſe of one which proved fatal	xlii.	46
— Extraordinary caſe of one, and the cure	liii.	295
Hero , her ſpeech to Leander tranſlated	xxviii.	132
Herodian , his remarks on the little regard paid to truth by hiſtorians	xxvii.	358
Herod's cruelty , critical remarks on	—	xlv. 296
Herod , the ſeveral perſons of that name in the New Teſtament identified	—	lvi. 195
Herodotus , his ſtyle, how reſembling that of Homer	ix.	75
— Compared with Demotheues and Thucydides	ix.	77
— Cicero's character of him and Longinus	ix.	76
— His account of Darius's expedition cenſured	xxii.	312
Herodotus ,

Herodotus , the first who received public honours for his writings, in public contests	xxix.	88
— Gronovius's edition censured	xxxi.	462
— Observations on his history	xxxviii.	525
— A reformer of ancient history	lxi.	523
— Compared with Homer	lxi.	524
— His account of the Androguni considered	lxvii.	484
Heroes , ancient and modern, how distinguished	xxiii.	456
— Deified	xxx.	419
Heroine , account of an illustrious one in the E. Indies	xl.	507
Heronville , Count de , a writer in the Encyclopedie	xl.	29
Harport , Mr. persecuted for the freedom of his writings	xxxiv.	547
— His persecution for his book on the abuse of oaths	xxxix.	192
— Encomiums on him	xxxix.	201
Herrings , an account of their progress from the North Seas	x.	331
— An astonishing draught of them	xii.	504
Herring-fishery in Holland , an account of	xlvi.	573
Herring , Archbishop , Mr. Whiston's letter to him	i.	349
— His answer to Mr. Whiston	i.	351
— His life	xxviii.	297
— A hater of persecution	xxviii.	297
— Description of his travels in Wales	xlvi.	32, 33
Herschel , Mr. his obs. on the periodical star in the whale's neck	lxiv.	441
— On the mountains in the moon	lxiv.	441
— His astronomical obs. on the rotation of the planets round their axes, made with a view to determine whether the earth's diurnal motion is perfectly equable	lxvi.	374
— His account of a comet discovered March 13, 1781	lxvii.	447
— Obs. on a new planet	lxviii.	630
— On the parallax of the fixed stars	lxix.	211
— On a lamp micrometer	lxix.	214
— On the magnifying powers	lxix.	214
— His reasons for naming his newly discovered star Georgium Sidus	lxx.	257
— That name disapproved	lxx.	258
Hertzberg , Baron de , on the revolution of states	lxx.	502
Hervey , Hon. Augustus , his matrimonial engagements with Miss Chudleigh	lvii.	442
Hervey , Lady Caroline , her panegyric	xxxi.	205
Hervey , James , his notion of the imputed righteousness of Christ	xii.	385
— A methodist	xix.	616
— His character	xxiii.	377
— Verses on his pictures	xxiii.	379
— Objections to some of his doctrines	xxxiii.	159
— Unites the flowers of poetry with the thistles of theology	lxi.	95
— His writings characterised	lxii.	424
Hervey , invocation of	xxviii.	283
Hesiod ,

- Hesiod*, obs. on the age of — — xliii. 322
 — His theogony expounded — — lxvii. 490
Hesperides, conjecture concerning the golden apples in the gardens of — — xxv. 498
Hewson, Mr. his account of the lymphatic system in birds xlii. 197
 — His account of the lymphatic system in fish, &c. xlii. 212
 — His experiments on the blood — — xlii. 422
 — Observations on the lymph, &c. — — xlii. 424
 — On the stopping of hæmorrhages, &c. — — xlii. 424
 — His anatomical discoveries respecting the blood li. 330
Hextal, Rev. Mr. ill treated by his congregation liii. 92
Hey, Mr. his account of a rupture of the bladder in a pregnant woman — — xlv. 450
 — His letter to the Reviewers — — lxii. 253
Heylin, Dr. character of — — xxv. 38
Hynes, Professor, his memorial concerning those men who, in consequence of a singular disorder, considered themselves as women — — lxvii. 484
 — On the theogony of Hesiod — — lxvii. 490
 — His considerations on the use of allegory — — lxix. 78
 Observations on Hercules Musagetes — — lxix. 248
 — On mummies — — lxix. 254
 — On the K. of Denmark's mummy — — lxix. 542
 — On ancient coins — — lxix. 546
Hexagias, the orator, story of his audience killing themselves, not true — — xliii. 552
Hias, a celebrated prince and mathematician, in China x. 197
Hiel, account of that fanatic, and his writings lxv. 317
Hierarchy, English, their assumed titles and powers objected to xlii. 25
Hiero, King of Syracuse, defeated by the Romans xiv. 345
 — Elegy of — — xiv. 347
 — His treaty with the Romans — — xiv. 350
Hierro, Islands of, account of the water-tree there xxxi. 62
Hierocles, the husband of the Emperor Caracalla xxiv. 127
Hieroglyphics in the Jewish law — — iv. 125
 — Great fires laid by Mr. Hutchinson on those used by the heathens in their idolatrous worship — — xiv. 192
 — Whence — — xv. 112
 — Observations on an Egyptian — — xv. 263
 — The several species of — — xix. 329
 — Who the inventor of — — xxii. 66
 — Used before the invention of letters — — lv. 363
Higgins, Dr. his dispute with Dr. Priestley — — liv. 411
High Life, a description of — — xx. 380
Highlands of Scotland. See Scotland.
High places appropriated by the ancients for public worship li. 421
Highways, Remarks on statute-labour — — xxxii. 310
 — Remarks on roads — — xxxviii. 279
 — General act for the amendment of, digested xlix. 498
Hill,

Hill , the learned Taylor, some account of	—	xx. 218
Hill , Aaron , his birth, education, and travels	—	x. 17
— Account of his history of Turkey	—	x. 18
— Made secretary to the Earl of Peterborough	—	x. 18
— Master of Drury-lane theatre	—	x. 19
— And of the Opera-house in the Haymarket	—	x. 19
— Writes Elfrid , or the Fair Inconstant, his first tragedy, in a short time	—	x. 19
— His generosity with respect to his writings	—	x. 19
— His application to several branches of sciences	—	x. 20
— His person and disposition	—	x. 21
— His journey to Scotland	—	x. 22
— His genteel and severe reprimand to Mr. Pope	—	x. 24
— Epitaph on his wife	—	x. 26
— Remarkable circumstance of his death	—	x. 29
— His character	—	x. 30—xxi. 546
— His birth	—	xxi. 547
— Description of his person	—	xxi. 549
— Receives a golden medal, bequeathed him by the Czar Peter	—	xxi. 550
— Satirizes Mr. Pope	—	xxi. 551
— His death	—	xxi. 555
Hill , Abraham , anecdotes of his life	—	xxxvi. 442
Hill , Dr. John , instances of his modesty	—	xvii. 330
— His claim, as to the first publication of the modern theory of evaporation, controverted	—	xlvi. 176
— His quackery	—	liii. 42
Hillary , Dr. some important physical discoveries by	—	xxvi. 265
— Instances of his knowledge in Arabic	—	xxvi. 268
Hills , on the attraction of	—	liv. 447
— Method of measuring	—	lxiii. 537
Hindoos , some account of	—	xxxiii. 267
— Fruitless attempt to root out their superstition	—	xlvi. 456
Hindestan , remarks on the English laws being introduced into the eastern provinces of	—	lxii. 147
— Politic circumstances of that country with respect to British claims and intrigues	—	lxvii. 250
Hinckley , some account of	—	lxix. 369
— Of the stocking manufactory there	—	lxix. 369
Hints from an honest man	—	xxiv. 193
Hippa , goddess , explanatory account of	—	lii. 476
Hipparchus , the ancient astronomer, his discoveries	—	lx. 523
Hippocrates , Coacæ prænotiones	—	v. 433
— Character of	—	v. 434
— The study of that author recommended	—	v. 434
— Specimen of his manner of relating cases	—	lxiv. 218
— His notions of physiognomy	—	lxiv. 219
— His account of the Androguni, or men, who from a certain disorder, considered themselves as women	—	lxvii. 484
Hippus , medals of	—	lxi. 528

Hippopotamus,

Hippopotamus , description of that animal	—	xxxiv. 266
Hirst , Mr. account of his voyage to Madeira and Madagascar		xlvi. 36
— Perishes in the Aurora	—	xlvi. 37
Hispaniola , the first landing of Columbus there		iv. 323
— Account of	—	xvii. 541
Historians , mutually support each other	—	xiii. 183
— Their duty and privilege	—	xiv. 302, 304
— Necessary qualities of	—	xiv. 334
— Must divest themselves of all private affections	—	xiv. 349
— Their duty	—	xvi. 530
— Their qualifications	—	xvi. 536
— Their duty	—	xviii. 289
— Seldom impartially judged	—	xviii. 452
— Ought to resemble an epic poet	—	xviii. 519
— Uncertainty of their testimony	—	xxvii. 362
— Importance of their province	—	xxviii. 30
— Their disadvantages in recording recent events	—	xxviii. 250
— Their practice of prefacing their account of a man's actions, by giving his character, censured	—	xxx. 111
— Great dealers in fables	—	xxxii. 506, 515
— Their credibility, in general, questionable, and why	—	xlvi. 127
— Those who relate prodigies particularly so	—	xlvi. 127
— English, poetically characterized	—	lxiii. 33
— Modern, remarks on	—	lxx. 36
History , original letters, papers, &c. the true source of it		ii. 179
— Bolingbroke's letters on the study and use of	—	vi. 279
— The several forms of the readers of	—	vi. 280
— Its use and advantage	—	vi. 281
— Its philosophy	—	vi. 284
— Its use to divines	—	vi. 287
— Abuse of, by the divines	—	vi. 288
— Its use to society, and statesmen in particular	—	vi. 292
— How to be studied	—	vi. 295
— The periods of history since the resurrection of letters	—	vi. 296
— The partiality of writers frequently make them misrepresent climates, &c.	—	vii. 223
— The effect of, on the mind	—	vii. 373
— The design and usefulness of	—	viii. 385
— Remarks on its authenticity by Lord Bolingbroke	—	x. 254
— Definition of, and utility	—	xi. 195
— Proper objects of	—	xii. 490
— Ancient and modern, advantages of being well acquainted with	—	xv. 501
— How we ought to form our judgment concerning	—	xv. 565
— A remarkable definition of	—	xvi. 119
— Difficulty of succeeding in	—	xvi. 577
— The requisites of a good	—	xx. 163
— Composition, reflections on	—	xxii. 115

History , the composition of should resemble an epic poem	xxii.	i 15
— Of what parts it ought to consist	—	xxiii. 235
— The defects of, in general	—	xxiii. 489
— The infinite advantages derived from	—	xxiv. 374
— The difference between that of kingdoms and states, and that of arts and sciences	—	xxvi. 241
— Of kings and kingdoms, little better than romances	xxvii.	362
— Uncertainty of its evidence	—	xxviii. 10, 249
— The most ancient, written in verse	—	xxix. 8
— Should be read with great caution	—	xxxii. 523
— The use of astronomy in	—	xxxii. 29
— The chronological plan of, arraigned and defended	xxxv.	507
— Observations on the style of history	—	xxxv. 512
— Its great utility to philosophers, and the different ways of writing	—	xxxvi. 442
— New way of teaching	—	xxxvi. 534
— Ancient in reality very modern	—	xxxviii. 524
— Uncertainty of	—	xxxviii. 524
— That of the Roman empire, most worthy of attention	—	xxxviii. 527
— Of the style and manner of writing history	xxxviii.	530
— Account of several impostures in	—	xlvi. 559
— Fabulous nature of ancient	—	xlvi. 659
— Remarks on the certainty of	—	xlvi. 539
— On the uncertainty of	—	xlvi. 540
— On the style and manner of	—	xlvi. 541
— Its testimony very precarious	—	l. 266
— That of the ancient gods and heroes universally misunderstood	—	l. 471
— The philosophy of	—	lii. 584
— Abbé Mably on the study of	—	lix. 377
— The chief defects of, whence derived	—	lxiii. 35
— On the philosophy of	—	lxviii. 162
— Observations on the manner of writing	—	lxx. 32
— The necessity of order in writing	—	lxx. 33
— Universal, authors of, censured for too close an adherence to Livy	—	xiv. 345
Headly, Dr. Benjamin , reflections on his conduct	i.	345
— His notion of the subjects right of resistance	xxxiv.	194
— His notion of self-defence in matters of religion, controverted	—	xxxvii. 201
— Encomiums on	—	li. 195
— His opinion of Berkeley and his minute philosopher	—	li. 198
— His whole works collected	—	li. 199
— Akenfide's ode to the bishop	—	li. 200
Hob or Nob , explained	—	liii. 396
Hobbes, Mr. some account of his principles	—	x. 187
— and Bolingbroke, compared	—	xii. 482
— The purest English writer in the reign of Charles II.	xv.	57
— This assertion controverted	—	xv. 57

Hobbes,

- Hobbes*, censured by Lord Shaftesbury, for the immorality of his principles — xxviii. 41, 42
- Difference between his manner of attacking christianity and that of other infidels — xxxiv. 89
- Hobby-horse*, every man entitled to his own — xxi. 562
- Hæmoptists*, an uncommon instance of, and cure xxv. 9
- Hæmorrhages*, from acrimony of the blood, Bristol water good for ii. 461
- Uterine, observations with respect to — lv. 124
- Hoffman, M.* story of him — xi. 77
- Hogarth*, the celebrated painter, his contempt of copiers xv. 285
- Story of his quarrel with Churchill — xxix. 135
- Character of his works — xxxviii. 167
- His takes progress delineated and criticised xxxviii. 170
- Story of his contests with Wilkes — xli. 380
- His pictures critically displayed — lxiv. 184
- Mr. Walpole's account of his Sigismonda, corrected lxiv. 188
- Abstract of his life — lxv. 444
- His merit as an engraver, appreciated lxv. 451
- Hogenderp, M.* his description of the island of Timor lxv. 543
- Hogs*, improved methods of rearing and feeding xli. 70
- Holbein*, historical picture by him, in Windsor castle, described liii. 494
- Holbery, Baron*, account of his writings — xiii. 183
- Holidays*, number of, in France, destructive to commerce xi. 145
- Their origin in Italy — xxxix. 52
- Abolition of, proposed by Benedict XIV. xxxix. 52
- Pernicious to the poor — xlv. 657
- Holiness*, general definition of — li. 270
- Holkam-house*, praised — xxxviii. 226
- Holland*, account of the commerce of — v. 174
- Advantages arising from its small extent of land v. 261
- Its riches, to what owing — v. 261
- The flourishing state of, occasioned by toleration vii. 114
- The revenue of the Stadtholder — xii. 481
- Foundation of that republic xvii. 321
- Instances of their primitive simplicity xvii. 329, 350
- Salutary effects of toleration in religion — xvii. 351
- Why the Calvinistical persuasion suited best there xvii. 351
- States general, after their mediation between King Charles and the parliament — xviii. 130
- Ceremony appointed for admitting their ambassadors to an audience — xviii. 130
- Characterized — xxv. 275
- An idea of the states general — xxv. 277
- The origin and power of the Stadtholder — xxv. 279
- Observations on — xlvii. 62
- Sketch of the general history of — lvii. 402
- Account of the present state of the trade of — lviii. 215

Holland , Abridgment of the history of	—	lviii. 225
— Observations on the present state of affairs with England	—	lx. 388
— Their glorious struggle for freedom	—	lxii. 373
— Their wonderful success	—	lxii. 374
— Arguments used in their debates for and against a peace with Spain	—	lxii. 375
Hollar , his view of St. James's, &c. from the village of Charing	—	lx. 13
Holles , Lord, character of his memoirs	—	x. 178
Hollis , Thomas, his edition of Sydney on government	—	xxix. 243
— His peculiar but excellent character	—	lxiv. 41
— Memoirs of his life	—	lxiv. 42
— His death	—	lxiv. 44
— His magnificent literary monument	—	lxiv. 45
Holly , different sexes of	—	xiii. 420
Holt , Lord Chief Justice, his great character	—	xxx. 97
— Memoirs of his life	—	xxx. 98
— A remarkable dictum of his	—	xxx. 101
— A mistake in the account of him rectified	—	xxx. 416
Holwell , Mr. his apology for his tracts on East India affairs	—	xxxi. 77
— His seasonable hint to the East India company	—	xxxi. 270
Holy Ghost , gift of, to the apostles and first christians, a greater miracle than if Christ had come down from the cross	—	i. 459
— Its office and operations	—	viii. 16, 17
— Its divinity endeavoured to be proved	—	xii. 19
— Its office and operations	—	xxvii. 370
— Extraordinarily manifested in the gift of tongues	—	xxvii. 371
— In the inspiration of the scriptures	—	xxvii. 373
— Idea of the comforter	—	xxvii. 399
— Instantaneously changes the dispositions of those it had enlightened	—	xxvii. 399
— These effects ascribed to fanaticism and superstition	—	xxvii. 400
— Opinion obviated	—	xxvii. 401
— Duration of the gifts of the holy spirit, considered	—	xxvii. 403
Holyhead , account of	—	lxx. 110
Holy land , described	—	xxxiv. 137
Holywell , town of, described	—	lx. 194
— Account of St. Winifred's well there	—	lx. 194
Homer , comparison between him and Virgil	—	ii. 441
— His excellencies	—	ii. 442
— Vindicated from a charge of contempt of the Deity	—	ix. 97
— His fables not allegories	—	ix. 97
— His character as a poet above censure	—	ix. 102
— Difficult to translate him very poetically in a very brief manner	—	xii. 356
— Observation on the age of	—	xiii. 322
— Beutley's letter on Barnes's edition of Homer	—	xiv. 202
Homer ,

- Homer*, emendation of — — — xiv. 203
- Many passages in, have nothing but harmony of numbers to recommend them — — — xiv. 530
- Harsh imputations cast on all objectors to his poems xxii. 120
- His poetical Gods out of fashion — — — xxii. 120
- Just distinction to be made between him and his works xxii. 121
- Criticisms on — — — xxii. 122
- An address to — — — xxiv. 400
- Rules of epic poetry established from the Iliad, not formed by them — — — xxvi. 41
- His sublime description of Jupiter — — — xxvii. 249
- Prophecies discoverable in his hymns — — — xxxiv. 398
- A preacher — — — xxxiv. 540
- The beauties of his poem derived from the character of the times and the country in which he lived — — — xxxvi. 504
- His poetical merit too highly estimated — — — xlii. 295
- His country — — — liii. 370
- His travels — — — liii. 371
- The manners of his heroes — — — liii. 376
- Cunick's translation of, into Latin verse — — — lvi. 384
- Where buried — — — lix. 518
- Whimsical hypothesis relative to — — — lxj. 483
- A fabulous being — — — lxi. 483
- His writings symbolized — — — lxi. 483
- Supposed to have been the author of an ancient Greek hymn to Ceres, lately discovered — — — lxiii. 483
- His claim to that work, controverted — — — lxiii. 484
- General view of the poem — — — lxiii. 486
- Considerations on — — — lxiv. 504
- The question concerning his learning, discussed — — — lxiv. 504
- His hymn to Ceres, translated — — — lxv. 113
- Critical notes on — — — lxv. 115
- Curious manuscript of his Iliad, found in the library of St. Mark at Venice — — — lxv. 509
- Homicide a se defendendo*, when manslaughter is so esteemed — — — xxiii. 450
- Homily*, that mode of preaching recommended — — — xxxv. 196
- Homo Sylvestris*, description of — — — xxxiv. 529
- Homœousian doctrine*, inconsistent with primitive christianity lvi. 298
- Styled an heap of inconsistency — — — lvi. 301
- Honest man*, to be regarded as a jewel — — — iv. 67
- Honey*, its great value before the use of sugar — — — xxxix. 105
- Best method of taking it from the hive — — — xxxix. 107
- Honey-guide*, described — — — lviii. 2
- Honour*, sense of, appears very early in life — — — xiii. 105
- Fashionable, an imaginary being — — — xiv. 257
- and respect, due to the opulent in certain circumstances — — — xxii. 533
- and riches, destructive to genius and learning — — — xxiii. 490
- Thy father, &c. remark on that precept — — — xlviii. 527

Hooke, Colonel , preface to his negotiations in Scotland	xxii.	293
— His conference with the Scotch nobility	xxii.	296
Hooke, Mr. no stranger to gravitation, the centripetal and centrifugal forces	xiv.	424
— His mechanical character and conduct compared with Mr. Harrison's	li.	127
— His dispute with Huygens, concerning the invention of the watch pendulum spring	lxiii.	198
— His microscopical observations	lxiii.	388
Hooke, Mr. the Roman historian , his opinion with regard to the character of Scipio Africanus, controverted	lvii.	461
Hooper, Bishop of Gloucester , his dispute de re vestaria with Bishop Ridley	xxx.	6
Hooping cough , Strandberg's short method of curing it	xix.	143
— Effects of castor and bark	xxxviii.	442
— Method of cure	xli.	17
— Nature and cause of	l.	45
— Hemlock a specific for	l.	45
— Method of exhibiting hemlock	l.	45
— The cure of, by hemlock	l.	46
— Dr. Burton's method of cure	h.	44, 45
— Dr. Butler's theory of, animadverted on	li.	398
Hope , an invocation of	xxv.	150
Hope , Dr. cultivates the true rhubarb in Scotland	xxxv.	450
Hopeton-house , described	xlvi.	155
Hop , Mr. his travels into Africa	lix.	58
Hops , a method to prevent the bad effects of mildew	x.	322
— Their culture and management	xxxiii.	349
Horace , his ars poetica , the nature of it	i.	278
— Ode j. book i. translated	vii.	370
— His character and accomplishments as a friend and a writer	viii.	422
— A passage in one of his odes explained	xiv.	244
— His taste of poetry recommended	xiv.	438
— Remarks on his imperfections and excellencies	xv.	57
— The advantages of making him literally understood	xvi.	34
— Examples of Dr. Duncomb's translation compared with that of Mr. Francis	xviii.	46
— Imitation of one of his odes	xix.	407
— A passage in, applied to the King of Prussia	xix.	588
— A misunderstanding of a passage in, rectified	xxi.	198
— His genius characterized	xxi.	198
— Imitation of	xxi.	200
— His neglect of order in composition	xxvi.	419
— An imitator of Alcæus and Pindar	xxvii.	249
— Ode ad Phœœum	xxxix.	27
— Pleases us more in his epistles than in his odes	xxxvi.	530
— Hamilton's imitation of	xxxvii.	2
— Ode viii. B. iv. imitated	xl.	352

Horace,

Horace , an ode of his compared with the Persian	xliv. 248
— His art of poetry the code of reason	xliv. 557
— His ode, ad Pyrrham , translated into French	xlv. 590
— Ad Barinam , in French and English	xlv. 591
— Criticism on a passage in	li. 284
— Translation of his ode to Asteria	lviii. 270
— His art of poetry restored to its true order, and translated into Italian	lviii. 300
— His real design in the Epistola ad Pisones	lxix. 145
— Specimens of Mr. Colman's translation	lxix. 201
— Critical notes on	lxix. 204
Horatii & Curiatii , their celebrated combat described	xli. 288
Horn, Cape , the best time for doubling it	ix. 295
Horns , Mr. his plan for a more equal parliamentary representation	lxvii. 137
Hornets , of North America, account of	lxvii. 142
Horus , various uses of in ancient times	liii. 413
— in the cathedral of Carlisle described	lxi. 279
Horses their diseases and faults	iv. 138
— Absurdity of leaving them to the care of common farriers	xii. 329
— Goodness of, principally depends on the choice of the dam	xiv. 361
— Why subject to many diseases	xviii. 409
— Which sort most healthy	xvii. 409
— The green food proper for them	xvii. 411
— Advice relating to the management of them under the contagious disorder	xxii. 363
— Temper of, greatly depending on that of the rider	xxiv. 388
— Methods of correcting	xxiv. 388
— Their cunning in opposing a rider	xxiv. 389
— Remedies against plunging, rearing, and starting	xxiv. 389
— Proper forms for shoes	xxiv. 391
— Recipe for broken wind	xxiv. 392
— Recipe for broken knees	xxiv. 393
— Tendency to degenerate	xxvii. 42
— Error of those riders who make too much use of the bridle	xxvii. 315
— British, their nature and properties	xxx. 341
— Their extreme swiftness	xxx. 342
— Sketch of the natural history of the horse	xxx. 343
— The respect due from man to that noble animal	xxxi. 189
— Censure of a late flagitious horse-race	xxxi. 189
— Preservative electuary against the glanders	xxxvi. 160
— Anatomy of	xxxvi. 160
— Increase of, raises the price of provisions	xxxvi. 390
— Evil consequence of the too general use of, in this country	xxxvii. 44
— Inferior to oxen for ploughing	xxxvii. 270
— First introduced in a poetical simile	xl. 139
— The qualities of those bred in Arabia	xlv. 463

Horses , their nobility of blood	—	—	xliv. 465
— Care taken of their breed	—	—	xliv. 465
— The species raised and refined by the Arabs	—	—	xliv. 468
— The excessive number detrimental to a country	—	—	xlvi. 83
— A social animal	—	—	xliv. 323
— On the antiquity of shoeing	—	—	liii. 415
— of the Sybarites, ridiculous story of their musical education	—	—	lxii. 577
Horse Academy founded in France	—	—	lxix. 584
Horsemanship , maxims relating to	—	—	xxiv. 387
— of the Arabs, strictures on	—	—	xliv. 464
— Principles of	—	—	xlvi. 22
— Of breaking colts to bit and saddle	—	—	xlvi. 25
— Of the snaffle	—	—	xlvi. 27
Horsley , Dr. his observations at sea, for finding the longitude by the moon	—	—	xxxiv. 226
— His obs. on the Newtonian theory of light	—	—	xlvi. 430
— His account of the sieve of Eratosthenes	—	—	l. 32
— On measuring heights by the barometer	—	—	li. 379
— His method of constructing meteorological journals	—	—	liv. 453
— His exertions with respect to the late discussions in the Royal Society	—	—	lxx. 299
Hortus ficus , instructions for	—	—	iv. 282
Hospital , Lord Chancellor, his great character	—	—	lvii. 497, 506
— Principal events of his life	—	—	lvii. 506
Hospitals , their great advantage	—	—	ii. 31
— of London described	—	—	ii. 32
— The disadvantages of their being far from a camp	—	—	vii. 53
— Considered as sanctuaries	—	—	vii. 54
— Regulation of the Hotel Dieu , commended	—	—	xv. 456
— An extraordinary proposal for the improvement of	—	—	xvii. 166
— of St. Croix, an account of	—	—	xix. 50
— Comparison between those of St. Thomas and St. George	—	—	xxii. 160
— Erroneous construction and ill management of	—	—	xlvi. 605
— Proposal for the improvement of, in their construction	—	—	lxix. 421
Hospitable Oak , a poem from Harrington's papers	—	—	xlvi. 57
Hospitality , English, some reflections on	—	—	xliii. 46
— Why more or less of it in different nations	—	—	xliii. 46
— Singular kinds of it among the Asiatics	—	—	xxvi. 433
Hot-house plants , method of guarding them against insects	—	—	lxii. 356
Hottentots , their manners and customs	—	—	xxix. 505
— Particularities of their manners and customs	—	—	lv. 544
Houses , proposals for a tax on	—	—	xiv. 455
— Ill construction of, or bad situation, conducive to ill health	—	—	xxxiii. 49
House of Commons , some spirited resolutions of the	—	—	xxviii. 334
— Resolutions on the abdication	—	—	xxviii. 410
— Resolutions on the King's refusing to pass a bill	—	—	xxviii. 423

- House of Commons*, expulsion of members deemed illegal and incompatible with the constitution — xli. 397
- See Parliament.
- The abolition of that power recommended xli. 464
- House of feasting*, description of — xxii. 426
- Hawen-Castle*, methods of relieving — xli. 124
- Howard, Mr.* celebrated by Mr. Hayley in verse lxiv. 103
- By Mr. Burke in prose — lxiv. 103
- Howard, G. Edmond*, anecdote of — lxix. 478
- Character of his writings — lxix. 483
- Howe, Mr.* his opinion in parliament on placemen and pensioners xxviii. 417
- Howe, Lord*, his conduct in America impeached lxiii. 65
- Howe, Sir William*, his conduct in America impeached lxiii. 65
- His narrative and defence of his conduct — lxiii. 307
- Howell, Miss*, her early progress in literature xiii. 210
- Hozannas* of the multitude following Mr. Whitefield i. 283
- Hubert de St. Clare*, his generous affection to his prince xxxviii. 42
- Hubner*, his geography laughed at, by Voltaire xlv i. 533
- Hudibras*, bad effects produced by that satire — lxiii. 542
- Hudson's Bay*, observations in a voyage to — xli. 184
- Company, origin of their charter — xli. 45
- Abuse of — xli. 46
- How to be remedied — xli. 47
- Ought to be rescinded — xli. 48
- Their conduct with respect to a discovery of a N. W. passage lxx. 461
- Hudson, Henry*, his voyage to discover a passage by the north pole to China — lii. 121
- Huguenots*, how treated by Lewis XIV. — xvii. 446
- Though heretofore fantastical and cruel, of late much refined xxx. 527
- Hull's water*, described — xlii. 263
- Humason, Sultan of India*, his extraordinary adventures xl. 505
- His death by an accident — xl. 506
- Human nature*, its three states, according to Ramsay iv. 448
- The only foundation of the laws that govern their actions v. 134
- In a state of wildness, described — xv. 107
- Its structure remarked upon — xv. 217
- General characteristics discussed — xxxvi. 221, 237
- Human species*, strange book relating to the formation of xxxviii. 494
- Varieties observable in — xlii. 521
- Humane Society*, Gummer's account of the recovery of drowned persons xxxix. 533
- Method to recover persons apparently drowned lx. 566
- Hoffman's experiments, &c. — lx. 566
- The success of, at Amsterdam — lx. 567
- J. Hunter's proposals for recovering, &c. — lvii. 2
- See Drowning.

Hume, David , his arguments against miracles answered	v.	358
— Extracts from his treatise on morals	vi.	1
— His enq. concerning the princip. of morals examined	viii.	394, 400
— His doctrine concerning cause and effect examined	xij.	172, 173
— A general character of his works	xvi.	122
— His striking remarks on the clergy	xxiv.	22
— Examination of his arguments against miracles	xxvi.	500
— His favourable notions of the heathen mythology	xxvi.	501
— His treatise on human nature controverted	xxx.	370
— His defamation of Luther refuted	xxxiii.	432
— His quarrel with Rousseau	xxxv.	390
— Encomium on his historical abilities	xxxv.	513
— His objections to the doctrine of miracles answered	xxxvi.	187
— Some mistakes in his history respecting ranks and degrees among the Anglo-Saxons	lii.	504
— Censured for the partial account given in his history of the Irish massacre	lv.	449
— His own account of his life and writings	lvi.	207
— Dr. Smith's account of his death	lvi.	210
— His character	lvi.	213
— His history of England charged with the want of fidelity and impartiality	lix.	19
— No friend to the freedom of the constitution	lix.	20, 25
— His notion of the consequences arising from the increase of gold and silver in Europe, controverted	lix.	57
— His literary fame attacked by Lord Monboddo	lxi.	195
— Extracts from his dialogues on natural religion	lxi.	343
— Censure of that work	lxi.	354
— His history of England poetically depicted	lxiii.	34
Humility , false notions of	vi.	338
— Wherein it consists	vi.	339
— Admirably portrayed	xi.	130
Hummel, M. his new library of scarce books	lv.	471
Humming bird , description of	xv.	343
— described	xl.	205
Humphrey, Duke , a singular promoter of literature	lix.	135
Humphreys the painter, commended	lix.	285
Hunding, King of Sweden , compact between him and Hadding King of Denmark	xxvii.	361
— Fatal consequences thereof	xxvii.	361
Hungary, Queen of , her courage in distress	xiv.	105
— Her speech to the Hungarians	xiv.	106
— Defence of herself against the King of Prussia	xvi.	273
— General history of, from the first invasion of the Huns to the present time	lviii.	384
— Great opulence and power of the superior clergy there	lx.	562
Hungerford, Sir George , his opposition to the demand of a supply	xxviii.	261
— Begs pardon of the House	xxviii.	263
Huns , some account of that people	xxiv.	535
Hunts ,

- Hunte, Mr. le*, his speech in the Irish parliament xxxviii. 9
- Hunter, Dr. A.* his edition of Evelyn's discourse of forest-trees lvii. 428
- Hunter, John*, his obs. on the digestive power of the stomach after death — l. 280
- His anatomical account of the Gymnotus Electricus lv. 118
- Experiments on animals and vegetables with respect to the power of producing heat — lv. 120
- His proposals for recovering persons apparently drowned lvii. 2
- His account of a species of hermaphrodite among the horned cattle, called the Free Martin — lxii. 221
- His account of a fetus which seemed to have received the small-pox from its mother — lxiv. 267
- An extraordinary pheasant — lxiv. 276
- On the organ of hearing in fish — lxi. 395
- Hunter, Will.* cure of an emphysema, of a monstrous size xxvii. 99
- Of a diseased tibia — xxvii. 194
- Case of a separation of the ossa pubis — xxvii. 194
- His farther observations on a species of aneurism xxvii. 196
- On the hernia congenita, translated into French xlii. 14
- On a particular species of aneurism — xlii. 16
- His obs. on the large fossil bones found in America xlii. 108
- His obs. on a retroverted uterus — xli. 46
- His description of the nyl-ghau — xlviii. 114
- Charged with ill-treating Dr. Rowley — li. 395
- His account of cases of the retroverted uterus successfully treated by reposition — lv. 251
- His reflections on the Cæsarian section, &c. — lx. 60
- On the heat of animals and vegetables — lx. 418
- His new method of employing the screw lxvi. 373
- Hunting-scene* — xxxiii. 325
- Hunting*, the great occupation of savage life — lvii. 52
- Observations relative to the principles of — lxx. 212
- Pleasures of, displayed — lxvii. 19
- Vindicated from the charge of cruelty — lxvii. 21
- Huntingdon, Countess of*, convers Dr. Oliver from infidelity lxx. 373
- Her conversation with Lord Bolingbroke on the subject of prayer lxx. 373
- Hurd, Dr.* his criticism on the Chinese drama, where preserved xxviii. 177
- His commentary on Horace praised — xli. 558
- Censured for the liberties taken by him in his edition of Cowley xlviii. 11
- His method of composition characterised lxiii. 544
- Hurdy-gurdy*, verses adapted to — xxviii. 481
- Huron Indians*, their expertness in thieving, and how punished xxiii. 422
- Hurricane* in the West Indies, poetically described xxxi. 110
- Husband*, a lady's definition of one — ix. 468
- Ought to be subordinate to their wives — xviii. 80
- Justified by history — xviii. 81
- Husband*

Husband and wife, their lawful rights	—	xx. 600
— In what cases the act of, legally binds the wife	—	xxxi. 192
— In what not binding on the wife	—	xxxi. 193
— In what the husband bound by the act of the wife	—	xxxi. 193
— Wherein not	—	xxxi. 194
— Duties of a good one	—	xxxiii. 187
— In several countries lye-in for their wives	—	xxxiii. 540
— Their authority over their wives, how to be enforced	—	xxxiv. 545
Husband, Mr. remarks on his collections	—	x. 177
Husbandry, importance of tillage	—	v. 259
— The influx of Irish labourers keeps down the price of harvest work	—	vii. 116
— The effects of lime on land	—	ix. 181
— Plan for a society for the improvement of husbandry and trade	—	x. 149
— Use of menstruums for steeping corn	—	x. 234
— The use of the plant numaria to destroy the white worms in corn	—	x. 323
— Anatomical description, and the vegetation, of corn	—	x. 324
— Directions for the growing and management of flax	—	x. 489
— Authors on, write much from hypothesis	—	xii. 57
— Theories, fall short in experiment	—	xii. 57
— A delightful study	—	xii. 58
— Observations on manures	—	xii. 58
— Corn ought to be thrown before steeping	—	xii. 58
— Usefulness of marl	—	xii. 60
— Quantity of marl for an acre of ground	—	xii. 61
— Expence of sowing wheat, with remarks	—	xii. 62
— Swine hurt by feeding on clover	—	xii. 68
— How the dung of swine may be rendered useful	—	xii. 70
— The profit arising from pigs	—	xii. 71
— List of articles of use in	—	xii. 72
— Stercorary for the reception of dung, what	—	xii. 74
— Use of salt to meliorate soils	—	xiii. 334
— How to form the best mould	—	xvi. 388
— The nature of soil discovered by its situation and surface, by its common produce, by the growth of trees	—	xvi. 388, 389
— The best kind of soils formed of mixtures	—	xvi. 390
— Clayey soils in general, how managed	—	xvi. 390
— Ploughing deep recommended	—	xvi. 391
— Management of red, yellow, white, and black clays	—	xvi. 392
— Obs. on loamy soils, and the best of any	—	xvi. 395, 399
— Improvement and management of sandy, gravelly, and stony soils	—	xvi. 396
— Stones beneficial to some soils	—	xvi. 397
— Clayey gravels	—	xvi. 397
— Mellow earth, more proper for pasturing than for corn	—	xvi. 398
— Description and use of various sorts of manures	—	xvii. 1
— Symptoms and cure of the contagious distemper among cattle	—	xvii. 36
Husbandry,

Husbandry , method of finding the lowest parts of meadows	xvii.	225
— Best method of sorting horses in a team	xvii.	410
— Best way of breeding mules	xvii.	418
— Ground greatly impoverished by oats	xviii.	3
— Infertility of soils accounted for, and how to fertilize them	xviii.	4
— Operation of manure explained	xviii.	10
— Plowing, insufficient without manure	xviii.	11
— Various plows described	xviii.	13
— Best directions for ridges in plowing	xviii.	16
— Proper method of manuring ridges in plowing	xviii.	18
— Estimate of the expence of tillage, and income of crops for four years	xviii.	21
— Various sorts of harrows described	xviii.	23
— Observations relative to sowing	xviii.	421
— The plenty of weeds in some fresh ground accounted for	xviii.	422
— Experiments in horse-hoeing	xviii.	424
— Horse-hoeing, compared with drill husbandry	xviii.	426
— Method of preserving turnips from the fly	xviii.	427
— The management of thetches or vetches	xviii.	435
— Account of artificial grasses	xviii.	547
— Hume's prize dissertation on	xix.	625
— Why this study is less cultivated than the arts	xix.	626
— Nature of the soil with the best compost and experiments	xix.	629
— Best œconomy of dunghills	xix.	631
— Remarks on different kinds of grasses	xx.	325
— Dung no present advantage to land	xx.	439
— Method of preserving plants from the fly	xx.	444
— Method of improving mossy ground	xx.	579
— Fertility more increased by tillage than by manure	xxi.	141
— Advantages of the new method	xxi.	146
— Experimental comparison of the old and new	xxi.	192
— No soil too bad for improvement and vegetation	xxiii.	508
— Happy consequences of attention to	xxiii.	509
— Hints relating to grass seeds	xxiv.	159
— The proper improvers of land	xxiv.	346
— Maxims relating to tillage	xxiv.	384
— Method of improving worn-out land	xxiv.	385
— General errors in systematic writers	xxviii.	120
— Hints for the improvement of	xxviii.	372
— Account of artificial pastures	xxxi.	41
— Account of the various manures	xxxi.	41
— Improvement in the posture of mowers	xxxi.	43, 45
— Mowing of wheat recommended	xxxi.	45
— Advantages of the new	xxxi.	45
— The culture of lucerne	xxxi.	47
— Method of recruiting worn-out land	xxxi.	99
— The most effectual method of destroying weeds	xxxi.	97
— Account of the Semi-Virgilian husbandry	xxxi.	100

Husbandry, A preservative electuary against the glanders in horses

	xxxii.	189
— New-invented ploughs described	xxxii.	42, 45, 404
— Many advantages of agriculture	—	xxxii. 82
— Present state of, with hints for improvement	—	xxxii. 84
— Public granaries discountenanced	—	xxxii. 86
— Private granaries recommended	—	xxxii. 86
— The culture and profit of lucerne	—	xxxii. 89, 90
— The new method recommended	—	xxxii. 89, 401
— Hints relating to manures	—	xxxii. 94, 327, 401
— Means suggested for the encouragement of cultivation of land	—	xxxii. 281
— Improvements in, by the Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans	—	xxxii. 321
— The grand basis of population	—	xxxii. 323
— Means of improving various kinds of soils	xxxii.	324, 409
— Observations on the various kinds of manures	—	xxxii. 327
— Experiments for the improvement of waste land	—	xxxii. 329
— Frequent ploughings recommended	—	xxxii. 331
— Experiments and advice concerning sowing	—	xxxii. 332
— Advantages of horse-hoeing	—	xxxii. 401
— Method of preparing land for horse-hoeing	—	xxxii. 402
— The culture of corn	—	xxxii. 402
— Advantages of the drill-plough	—	xxxii. 401
— Experiments on the culture of wheat	—	xxxii. 406
— The various distempers of corn	—	xxxii. 410
— Method of preventing the smut	—	xxxii. 410
— Account of the distemper of burnt grain	—	xxxii. 411
— Cause and effects of the spur disease in corn	—	xxxii. 411
— Neglect of agriculture, a cause of depopulation	—	xxxii. 28
— Method of preserving corn from the time of sowing to threshing	—	xxxii. 250
— The old and new, compared	—	xxxiii. 254
— Obs. on the several sorts of grasses, with their culture	—	xxxiii. 255
— Directions relative to pasture	—	xxxiii. 256
— The improper postures of mowers rectified	—	xxxv. 256
— Scheme to prevent the engrossing of cattle	—	xxxv. 147
— Apology for engrossers of corn	—	xxxv. 478
— Account of a Veterinarian Academy	—	xxxv. 534
— Effects of, on population	—	xxxvi. 370
— Premiums considered	—	xxxvi. 410
— Instructions, translated from Xenophon	—	xxxvii. 269
— Horses for ploughing inferior to oxen	—	xxxvii. 270
— Encouragement of, recommended to Lord Clive	—	xxxviii. 66
— Remarks on the cropping of land	xxxviii.	233, 276
— Observations on the manuring of land	—	xxxviii. 277
— Observations on tillage	—	xxxviii. 277
— The use of oxen	—	xxxviii. 278
— Encomium on	—	xxxviii. 403
— Turnip-rooted cabbage recommended	—	21, 152

Husbandry,

Husbandry , method of securing turnips from the fly	xl. 152
— Proper manures for various kinds of land	xl. 473
— Recipe for a new compost	xl. 475
— Method of rearing hogs	xli. 70
— Influences of the happy effects of	xli. 262
— Observations on, and directions for ploughing	xli. 347
— Remarks and directions for the sowing of corn	xli. 349
— Horse-hoeing known to some of the ancients	xli. 351
— Improvements in by Mr. Crowe	xlii. 83
— Improved method of fallowing	xlii. 84, 90
— Hoeing of turnips recommended	xlii. 87
— Experiments on the sowing of wheat	xlii. 192
— State of, in France	xlii. 226
— Nature and uses of various clays	xlii. 313
— Improvements in rural economy	xliii. 380
— Experiments in	xliv. 162, 167
— Character of the various writers on	xliv. 231
— Advantages of fallowing	xliv. 257
— List of manures	xliv. 258
— Experiments on the culture of wheat	xliv. 303
— Comparison of the profit of the old and new husbandry of wheat	xliv. 378
— Remedy for the smut in corn	xliv. 14
— Diseases of corn in Italy	xliv. 16
— The uses of Timothy grass	xliv. 17
— Account of the murrain, and remedies for it	xliv. 18
— Method of preserving turnips from the fly	xliv. 284
— The culture and profit of lucerne	xliv. 287, 380
— Drill and broad-cast husbandry compared	xliv. 382
— Culture of the Siberian barley	xliv. 396
— Drill culture of turnips recommended	xliv. 397
— Averages of profit and loss in husbandry	xliv. 470
— Observations on the draught horses	xliv. 472
— Estimates of the various kinds of manures	xliv. 474
— Different kinds of turnips recommended	xlvi. 119
— Method of preserving turnips from the fly	xlvi. 119
— Culture of turnips for cattle	xlvi. 120
— Turnip-rooted cabbage condemned	xlvi. 120
— Directions for winter-fallowing	xlvi. 120
— Jerusalem artichokes recommended as a winter food for horses and hogs, with their culture	xlvi. 121
— Remarks on the several kinds of wheat, and its culture	xlvi. 121
— Method of relieving cattle which are hoven	xlvi. 124
— Utility of various ploughs	xlvi. 124
— Remarks on, in Germany	xlvi. 575
— A Veterinarian school in Prussia	xlvi. 670
— The planting and management of hedges	xlvi. 24
— Landlords advised to reside on their estates	xlvi. 37
— Advantages to commerce	xlvi. 85
— Advantage of converting waste lands into farms	xlvi. 87
— Advantages to, from canals	xlvi. 87

Husbandry , advantages of shallow ploughing	—	xlvii. 94
— Harmony with manufacturers and commerce	—	xlvii. 188
— Method of destroying wild garlic	—	xlvii. 345
— Observations on housing sheep in winter	—	xlvii. 496
— Improvements recommended	—	xlviii. 23
— Interests of, connected with manufactures and commerce	—	xlviii. 354, 430
— Scheme for cultivating moor-land	—	xlviii. 432
— Observations on trench ploughing	—	lii. 13
— Observations on the agriculture of the ancients	—	lii. 443
— Improvements by public institutions recommended	—	liii. 31
— Advantages from a council of agriculture	—	liii. 33
— Different manures considered	—	liii. 478
— Directions for clipping hedges	—	liv. 17
— On the universal knowledge of grain	—	liv. 395
— Observations on housing sheep in winter	—	liv. 558
— The most proper soil for experiments	—	lv. 129
— Directions for making hay	—	lv. 180
— Cure for contagious disorders of cattle	—	lvi. 218
— Directions for rearing and training white thorn hedges	—	lvii. 433
— State of agriculture in Sicily	—	lvii. 484
— Best method of destroying weeds	—	lviii. 47
— Directions for ploughing in ridges	—	lviii. 97
— The best method of sowing grass seeds	—	lviii. 98
— Directions for cutting grass for feeding cattle	—	lviii. 100
— Directions for sowing and eating turnips	—	lviii. 98
— Rules for a proper rotation of corn	—	lviii. 99
— Not repugnant to the culture of manufact. and com.	—	lviii. 185
— Extracts from the Shepherd's Calendar	—	lix. 217
— Experiments in	—	lix. 424
— Utensils and machines in	—	lx. 18
— Improved method of making hay	—	lx. 22
— Remarks on meliorations of soil	—	lx. 27
— Proposal for registering experiments	—	lx. 29
— Importance of self-attendance	—	lx. 169
— Hazard of farming	—	lx. 172
— The management of servants	—	lx. 180
— Imperfectly known in England	—	lxi. 127
— Experiments recommended	—	lxi. 128
— Difficulties in the study and improvement of	—	lxi. 128
— Advantages of experimental knowledge	—	lxi. 133
— Plan for a Georgical society	—	lxi. 137
— Publication of improvements recommended	—	lxi. 135
— Model for recording experiments	—	lxi. 243
— Observations on scientific agriculture	—	lxi. 246
— Directions for watering meadows	—	lxii. 456
— Improvements in Lord Altham's estates in Ireland	—	lxiii. 39
— Various grasses recommended by the Bath Society	—	lxiii. 70
— State of, in Ireland	—	lxiii. 97
— Observations on drawing oxen by the horns	—	lxiii. 100
		Husbandry ,

Husbandry , mode of setting wheat in Norfolk	—	lxiv. 418
— A peculiar species of grass in Wiltshire	—	lxiv. 439
— Culture of Siberian barley	—	lxiv. 424
— Strictures on societies for	—	lxiv. 427
— Scheme for a Veterinarian Academy	—	lxiv. 427
— Present state of	—	lxiv. 455
— State of, in Batavia	—	lxv. 542
— Account of the rot in sheep	—	lxvi. 80
— Method of improving the breed of sheep	—	lxvi. 502
— Success of inoculation, and other remedies for the mortality among cattle	—	lxvii. 553
— Use of salt in preserving the health of cattle	—	lxvii. 559
— Observations and experiments in	—	lxviii. 212
— Observations on ploughing	—	lxix. 544
— Account of the Veterinarian School at Maissonville	—	lxix. 583
— Account of the caterpillars which destroy turnips in Norfolk	—	lxx. 100
— Observations on the principles of vegetation	—	lxx. 270
— Success of the drill husbandry	—	lxx. 274
— Improvement in the increase of grain	—	lxx. 275
— On the separate culture of grasses	—	lxx. 276
— Means of improving in the Austrian Netherlands	—	lxx. 532
— See Barley, Cattle, Corn, Farms, Horses, Hogs.
Huss, John , the great reformer, his execution	—	xxxii. 427
— and Jerome of Prague , their burning, the most magnificent of all human sacrifices	—	l. 528.
Hussain Shah, King of Persia , by what means raised to the throne	—	ix. 174
— Is defeated by the Afghans	—	ix. 180
— Cruel slaughter of his children	—	ix. 183
— Is himself murdered	—	ix. 255
Hutchinson, Mr. his scheme for paying the public debts	—	vi. 37
— Natural death of public credit, what	—	vi. 38
— Violent death	—	vi. 38
— Remarkable customs in Athens, Rome, and England	—	vi. 39
— The existence of English liberty, to what owing	—	vi. 42
— Thoughts on pressing seamen	—	vi. 42
Hutchinson, John , his philosophy defended	—	viii. 299
Hutchinson, Francis , account of his life, method of his studies, character and death	—	xiii. 62, 77
Hutchinsonians , their character	—	xiv. 392
— Enemies to human reason	—	xiv. 499, 503
— Their strange notion of the earth's distance from the sun and the fixt stars	—	xiv. 501
— No mathematicians	—	xiv. 502
— Revilers of Sir Isaac Newton	—	xiv. 503, 504
— Their account of a vacuum, compared with what Sir Isaac has said of it	—	xiv. 506
— Characterized by the Bishop of Clogher	—	xviii. 160
— Abuse learned men	—	xxxvi. 357
Hutchinsonians ,

- Hutchinsonians*, their zeal for the doctrine of the Trinity xxxvi. 358
- Hutton, Mr.* his experiments on the force of gun-powder lx. 417
- His account of calculations made to ascertain the mean density of the earth — — — lxi. 38
- His calculations to determine at what point on the side of a hill its attraction will be greatest — — — lxiv. 439
- His paper on cubic equations, &c. — — — lxiv. 441
- His certificate in favour of Mr. Thomson's improvement in the construction of a frigate — — — lxvi. 455
- Huxham, Dr.* remarks that the dietetic part of medicine is not so much studied as it deserves — — — iii. 409
- His method of treating the fore throat at Plymouth, &c. — — — xvi. 326
- A comparison between some passages in his Latin treatise de Aere, and the English translation — — — xxii. 103
- His letter relating to two remarkable cases in surgery xxix. 146
- His account of emphysematous swellings xxxviii. 432
- His account of the late cold weather xxxix. 425
- Huxxaing*, its efficacy in battle — — — xvii. 181
- Hybla, mount*, how planted with sugar canes xxx. 555
- Hybrides*, or mull plants, some account of lvi. 529
- Hydatides*, Dr. Ruffel's account of, discharged by urine xxxviii. 437
- Discharged by coughing — — — xlvii. 265
- Hyde, Dr.* his account of his writings — — — xxxviii. 470
- His religio veterum Persarum, censured — — — lxiii. 109
- Hyde, Sir Edward*, his remarkable letter to his lady l. 140
- Hyde Spa water*, experiments on — — — v. 526
- Hydraulic machines*, new improvements in — — — xxxviii. 36
- Observations on — — — — — xlvii. 500
- Essay on — — — — — lviii. 227
- Principles of — — — — — lxiv. 458
- Hydrocele*, account of an — — — — — xxxix. 356
- Of the tunica vaginalis testis, new process for the cure of xliii. 139
- Hydrocephalus internus*, Dr. Fothergill's remarks on xlv. 450
- Dr. Watson's appendix to Dr. Fothergill's remarks xlvii. 45
- Singular case of — — — — — lv. 252
- M. Odier remarks on — — — — — lxviii. 560
- Hydromel*, a powerful cleanser of the lungs — — — ii. 311
- Hydrometer*, observations on the construction of xlv. 687
- A new one invented — — — — — xlviii. 225
- Proposed improvement in the construction of — — — l. 549
- Hydrophobia*, formerly judged incurable — — — ix. 268
- An instance of the contrary — — — ix. 269
- A new hypothesis concerning it, proposed and supported by argument — — — ix. 272
- Indications of — — — — — xxiv. 462
- Particular instances of — — — — — xxiv. 462
- Dr. James's remedy for — — — — — xxiv. 465
- Several cases of — — — — — xlvii. 256
- Hydrophobia*,

Hydrophobia , fatal case of, when the Ormskirk antidote failed	lv.	253
— A similar case	lv.	258
— Cases of, in which the Ormskirk medicine failed	lviii.	334
— See Dog .
Hydrostatic machines , improvements of	xxxviii.	36
Hydrostatics , some curious phenomena in	xliv.	518
Hygia , ode on the descent of, to the earth	xxxviii.	245
Hygrometer , Ferguson's new one, described	xxxiv.	222
— Account of a new	li.	224
Hygrometry , essay on	lii.	562
Hymn , fine one of Cleanthes, translated	i.	122
Hypochondriac affections , enquiries into the causes of	lxiii.	136
Hypocrisy , the consequence of persecution	iv.	531
Hyssop , a dramatic poem, by Metastasio, account of	xxxvii.	87
Hyssop , account of	v.	375
Hysteric convulsions , how to be cured	xxxv.	345
Hysterics , new theory of	lvii.	167
Haygens , Mr. his celebrated musical theorem	xl.	377
— Proposal for an experiment relative to it	xl.	377
— Further trials on that subject	xl.	477

I

I , the letter, epigram concerning	xx.	382
Jabin , king of Hazor, the overthrow of him and his confederates, by the Israelites, vindicated	ix.	328
Jackall , some account of that animal	x.	284
Jacob , his blessing directed to Judah by divine inspiration	xviii.	214
— His blessing related to spiritual not earthly things	xviii.	214
— His famous prophesy explained and illustrated	xix.	429
Jacob , Mr. on universal jurisprudence	lxi.	222
— His opinion of the Roman earthen ware found in the sea, off the isle of Thanet	lxx.	267
Jacobites , the motives which influenced the Tories to become such	viii.	449
— Of great service in the policy of France	ix.	389
— Their circumstances different from those of the faction of the H. of Lancaster when they set Henry VII. on the throne	ix.	390
Jaculator , or shooting fish, described	xxxiii.	453
— Fish, some account of	xxxvii.	443
Jamaica , quantity of improvable land in	xv.	32
— Exports from	xv.	34
— Imports thither, and from whence	xv.	36
— Revenues	xv.	41
— Salary of the governor	xv.	42
— Inhabitants of, characterised	xv.	42
— The remarkable expence of lawsuits in that island	xix.	132
— An estimate of the annual supplies from Great Britain	xix.	135
— Its riches and value	xix.	137
VOL. II.	S	Jamaica ,

Jamaica , capable of supplying all Europe with sugars	xxv.	153
— Advice to those who reside there for their health	xxxix.	431
— Curious particulars relative to	li.	129, 431
— Trade of, how to be improved	li.	439
Jamblicus , judgment to be formed upon his Egyptian mysteries	lxix.	544
James the Apostle , new interpretation of a passage in his writings	xi.	322
James I. of England , disputation before him, in the castle of Stirling	ix.	406
— His actions and character	xii.	224
— His character	xvi.	532
— An instance of his baseness and treachery	xviii.	574
— His undutiful treatment of his mother	xx.	199
— His ignorance in history	xx.	203
— Why Latin was much used in his time	xx.	206
— His advice to his son, justified	xx.	446
— His notions of monarchy	xxv.	169
— Compares kings to God	xxv.	170
— His objections to the common law of England	xxv.	180
— A beastly monarch	xxvii.	493
— Conceives a particular liking to a speckled sow	xxvii.	493
— His pedantic character	xxix.	374
— His love of flattery	xxix.	376
— Familiarity between him and Buckingham	xxix.	381
— His policy to render the crown absolute	xxxiv.	190
— Remarkable speech of his to Parliament	xxxv.	410
— His contemptible character	lvii.	185
— His visit to the university of Cambridge	lix.	13
— His foolish letter to his son, &c.	lix.	93
James II. of England , his abdication	v.	436
— A character of	vii.	127
— Capital error of his reign	ix.	387
— Remains unburied, and why	xv.	456
— His character	xvi.	43—xvii. 139
— Sir W. Jones's speech for excluding the D. of York	xxviii.	336
— His answer to an address of the Commons	xxviii.	337
— Speeches in the House of Com. on his abdication	xxviii.	411
— Sacheverell's observations on the abdication	xxviii.	413
— Anecdotes of his behaviour on the birth of the Pretender	xxix.	199
— Summons of the Peers on that occasion	xxix.	199
— The opposition to, at the revolution, considered	xxxiv.	392
— Strictures on his character	xlv.	40
— His memoirs relative to his own reign	lii.	244
— His account of the connexion of the patriots with the French ambassador	lii.	411
— Of the sea-fight with the Dutch	lii.	415
— Of the Duae of Moonmouth	lii.	417
— His conduct in the affair of Magdalen college	liii.	56

James II. particulars of his flight	liii.	58
— His character	liii.	60
— His apology for his conduct in Ireland	liii.	116
— For his retreat to France	liii.	118
— His account of his reception there	liii.	119
— Disavows the design of assassinating William	liii.	120
— Rejects a proposal for securing the throne of England to his posterity	liii.	121
— Particulars relating to the death of that prince	liv.	284
James IV. of Scotland , his quarrel with Henry VIII.	lv.	417
— Loses the battle of Flodden	lv.	425
James VI. king of Scots , his arbitrary warrant for a capital punishment	li.	40
James, Dr. his fever-powder, two unsuccessful exhibitions of	xxi.	70
— His remedy for the bite of a mad dog	xxiv.	465
— Succedaneum for his fever-powder	xxv.	222
Jameson , the Vandyke of Scotland, some account of	xxxvii.	390
Janissary , remarkable story of a	xv.	352
Janßen and Spencer , their suit in Chancery	xxxiii.	109
Janßenists , attacked by M. d'Alembert	xxxviii.	553
Januarius, St. remarks on the liquefaction of his blood	xxxv.	338
January 30th , a discourse relative to it	ii.	263
Japanese , powder their tea	ii.	300
— Method of curing a peculiar species of cholic	xxiii.	469
— Their method of curing the small-pox	xxii.	471
— Cruel treatment of some that were shipwrecked at Kamptschatka	xxvi.	433
— (England) its late monarch and ministers satirically characterized	xl.	443
— Thumberg's Journal of a voyage to	lxiv.	270
— Extreme jealousy of the government there as to Custom-house duties, &c.	lxiv.	271
— Philosophical enquiries concerning that country	lxiv.	305
Jars, M. his metallurgical travels	lii.	348
— His subterraneous geometry	lxiv.	454
Jasber , book of, not genuine	v.	520
Jaw, locked , case of, and cure, by Dr. Sylvester	xvi.	543
— Another case of the same kind, by Dr. Clephane	xvi.	544
— Dr. Macauley's account of	xxvii.	100
— Successful treatment of	xxvii.	196
— The efficacy of opium and musk	xxxviii.	444
— Cured by electricity	xxxix.	355
— Dr. Farr's account of	xl.	451
— Account of a	xlvi.	26
Ibbatson, Dr. his defence of civil establishments in religion, controverted	xxxvii.	343
Ice , experiments for supplying the want of it in warm countries	xxix.	481
— Several phenomena of	lix.	513

Iceland, its roads, dangerous	xviii.	195
— Volcanoes	xviii.	196
— Hot springs	xviii.	198
— Agriculture not practised there	xviii.	200
— Inhabitants, described	xviii.	203
— Chronicle of the weather in	xlii.	346
— ancient, their strong attachment to liberty	xliv.	177
— Their regulations of government, &c.	xliv.	177
— Particulars relative to the ancient history of	liii.	590
— Specimen of the poetry of the Icelanders	liii.	593
— Sketch of a literary history of	lix.	459
— General description of	lxiii.	187
— Inhabitants when first christianized	lxiii.	189
— Their literature	lxiii.	189
— Their volcanos	lxiii.	190
— Intense cold	lxiii.	190
— Manners of the people	lxiii.	191
— Mount Hecla, described	lxiii.	193
— Hot spring	lxiii.	194
— Water spouts	lxiii.	195
— Eruptions of Hecla	lxiii.	196
— Account of the Icelanders	lxiii.	197
— Different stages of science there	lxiii.	197
Ideas, origin of	vi.	130
— Process of	vi.	137
— Knowledge, how acquired by them	x.	345
— Of fantastical ideas	x.	359
— Our ideas of souls and spirits, whence	x.	365
— A new scheme of forming	xiv.	54
— Objections to it	xiv.	55
— Another hypothesis concerning	xiv.	56
— Moral, their original	xviii.	514
— Simple, how distinguished from sentiment	xxiii.	512
— How divisible	xxv.	70
— Philosophy of, pleasantly represented	xxx.	371
— Obscure, that term defined	xlvi.	673
Identity, personal, Mr. Locke's notion of, controverted	xl.	314
— Locke, defended	xl.	318
Idioms, Syriac and Hebrew, in the original Greek of the new testament, no objections to the divine infusion of that language on the day of Pentecost	xxvii.	376
Idleness, the parent of want	iv.	66
— A discourse concerning	xxv.	34
— The vice of hot climates	lxvi.	26
Idol of Paris, what	lxv.	228
Idolatry, the origin of	vii.	184
— Originally hero-worship	vii.	187
— Enquiry into the origin of	xv.	330
— Advantage attending it	xvi.	126
— An attempt to account for the different modes of it from the different climates and situations of countries	xviii.	63
	Idolatry,

Idolatry, necessary to govern mankind in the early ages of the world

— Whether punished by the patriarchs	xxx. ii.	176,	392
Idris , a Persian tale	—	—	xiii. 51
Idyllium , an elegant one, written at nineteen	—	—	xl. 306
— To a lady	—	—	li. 95
Jealousy , Stella's verses on	—	—	xi. 63
— Analysed	—	—	xxiii. 396
— Poetically described	—	—	xxxviii. 407
— Less prevalent in northern than in southern climates	lxvi.	24.
Jealous Wife , whence the plan of that comedy was derived	—	—	xxiv. 181
— The name unhappily chosen	—	—	xxiv. 183
— Scene in	—	—	xxiv. 186
— Another scene	—	—	xxiv. 188
Jobb , Rev. John, his apology for his lectures	—	—	xliv. 82
— His reasons for resigning his church preferments	—	—	liv. 68
Jeffreys , Judge, anecdote relative to	—	—	lxi. 10
Jeffery Hudson (the dwarf) history of	—	—	xxvi. 251
Jehander , an Indian Prince, story of	—	—	xl. 224
Jehangire , Grand Mogul, splendor of his camp described	—	—	xlvi. 452
— His singular character	—	—	xlvi. 453
— His rigid administration of justice	—	—	xlvi. 455
Jehovah , he who appeared to men under that name, not the supreme God	—	—	xvi. 1
— Was the Messiah	—	—	xvi. 2, 118
— To whom this name is applied in the scriptures	—	—	xviii. 161
Jemmy fellow , the dress and conversation of one described	—	—	iv. 329
Jenny Salisbury , her story	—	—	xxxi. 475
Jenyns , Soame, specimen of his translation of Browne's poems on the immortality of the soul	—	—	xxxviii. 360
— Remarks on his thoughts on the high price of provisions	—	—	xxxviii. 255
Jephthah's daughter , story of	—	—	lxviii. 152
— Not sacrificed	—	—	lxviii. 154
Jericho , present deserted state of that place	—	—	xxxiv. 141
Jeremiah , critical comment on several passages in	—	—	li. 271
Jerkins , their resemblance to the human mind	—	—	xxiv. 105
Jerningham , Mr. verses by himself, alluding to his poetic character	—	—	l. 504
Jerom , St. his opinion of the scriptures	—	—	iv. 73
— His character	—	—	ix. 303
— His division of the Jewish sacred books	—	—	ix. 304
— His account of the books of the New Testament	—	—	ix. 304
— His high notion of virginity	—	—	ix. 355
— His opinion concerning the author of the Epistle to the Hebrews	—	—	xiii. 226
— Censure of	—	—	xv. 81
— His epistle to Austin concerning the Ebionites	—	—	lxix. 216
			Jerónimo ,

Jerónimo , an old tragedy, some account of	lxx.	18
Jerry , last story of	lxiv.	121, 128
Jersey Islanders , their oppressive government	xlvi.	112
Jerusalem , account of the miracles which prevented Julian from rebuilding the temple	iii.	78
— Prophecies of its destruction illustrated	iv.	179
— Our Saviour's prophecies relating to the destruction of, explained	xx.	153
— Easter-ceremonies at	xxi.	260
— Christ's prediction, commonly applied to the destruction of, extended to later times	xlvi.	131
— Flourishing state of, in the time of Constantine	lxii.	567
Jervas , the painter, his performances censured	lxiv.	134
Jesse , Mr. his letter to the Reviewers	lxviii.	95
Jesso , land of, known to the ancient Chinese	xxix.	518
Jessop's-well , accounted for by Dr. Hales	v.	321
Jesting philosophically investigated	xxx.	433
Jesuits , their method of insinuating themselves into the affections of the Chinese	ii.	53
— Their vast riches	ix.	300
— Their great trade in Spanish America	ix.	302
— Accused of a plot against the life of Henry the Great	xv.	1
— Banished the kingdom of France, but re-established there at the instance of the Pope	xv.	163
— Great traders and forestallers	xxiii.	45
— The notoriety of their traffic	xxiii.	47
— Sell cheese by the pennyworth	xxiii.	48
— A fraudulent failure of their bank at Seville	xxiii.	49
— Their missionaries opposers to Christianity	xxiii.	50
— Other orders suppressed by them	xxiii.	51
— Pomp of a festival of theirs at Rome	xxiii.	54
— Polite manner of recording their own history	xxiii.	56
— Instances of their enormities	xxvi.	64
— Advocates for toleration in religion	xxviii.	542
— Instances of abominable doctrine held by them	xxviii.	546
— Hardly dealt by in France	xxviii.	539
— Their skill in casuistry	xxviii.	540
— Hold dangerous tenets	xxviii.	540
— Rise and progress of that society	xxii.	490
— Their maxim to govern the world by religion	xxxii.	491
— Their superiority to other orders	xxxii.	494
— Their great success	xxxii.	495
— Their policy in China	xxxii.	496
— Causes of their late decline and ruin	xxxii.	448
— Deficient in science and literary merit	xxxii.	500
— Their suppression in France and Portugal	xxxii.	502
— Their destruction in France, the forerunner of the like fate to most other orders in that kingdom	xxxii.	504
— Proposed as examples to protestant missionaries	xxxv.	281
— Fraudulent spirit of	xxxviii.	552

Jesuits , cause of their enmity to the Encyclopedie	xxxviii. 553
— Their institutions	xxxix. 577
— The accusations brought against them moderated	xxxix. 579
— Characteristics of their constitution	xxxix. 580
— Their fortitude and perseverance in civilizing the Indians at Paraguay	xl. 543
— Dialogue between one and a counsellor	xlvi. 663
— College of, at Tournay, remarkable story of an affair there	lxvii. 411
Jesus , variety of mystical meanings in that name	xxxvi. 411
— See Christ .
Jewels , of Great Britain, computation of their value	ii. 251
Jeweller , short view of that business	xxiv. 70
Jews , their restoration foretold	i. 353
— The evidence sufficient to prove to them that Christ is the Messiah	ii. 391
— Their wretched manner of living at Algiers	iii. 413
— The truth of their history, as contained in the Bible, vindicated	iv. 81
— The nature of their laws considered	iv. 27
— A present to them	iv. 339
— Their opinion of the Holy Spirit	v. 491
— The destruction of their temple solved	vi. 58
— Their religion could not co-exist with the Christian	vi. 60
— Their prejudices in favour of the present Hebrew copies of the Bible	viii. 247
— Their conversion to Christianity, how to be expected	ix. 363
— Their characteristics, according to Lord Bolingbroke	x. 261
— Learned, their notion of the soul's immortality	x. 263
— That they were the only worshippers of the true God, absurd	x. 450
— Believed in a future state in the time of Moses	xiv. 157
— and Gentiles, difference between them	xiv. 403
— A remark concerning their traditional books	xv. 181
— Never called the children of wrath, an appellation bestowed on the Gentiles only	xvi. 114
— The grounds upon which they reject the Messiah	xvii. 115
— Never to become a nation	xix. 116
— A peculiar circumstance in their case, which must exclude their claim to naturalization among us	xix. 327
— Causes of the difference in their chronology, between the Hebrew text and the Septuagint version	xxi. 79
— Their naturalization, a counter-action of the decrees of God	xxi. 222
— The sentence denounced against them, wherein it consists	xxi. 225
— Their expectations relating to the Messiah, examined into	xxv. 138
— The intension of Christ's temptation relating to this point	xxv. 140
— Some reasons suggested why they do not subscribe to Christianity	xxv. 146

Jews , plundered in the time of Henry III.	—	xxvi. 83
— Severe law against marriages with them	—	xxvi. 83
— Their testimonies to the truth of the Christian religion	xxxii. 3
— Borrowed their learning from other nations	xxxii. 510
— Borrowed their notions of angels from the Chaldeans and Persians	xxxii. 513
— Their improvements on this notion	—	xxxii. 514
— Their state, civil and religious, at the time of Christ's birth	xxxiii. 92
— Voltaire's notion of them controverted	—	xxxiii. 131
— Josephus's account of their antiquities defended	xxxiii. 136
— Great number still dwelling at Jerusalem	xxxiv. 138
— By their legislation, necessarily the enemies of all other nations	xli. 550
— Certain promises to them, said to have never been fulfilled	xli. 550
— The conversion and restoration of, contended for	xlili. 134
— Predictions applied to the	—	xlili. 134
— Will again fall into idolatry after their restoration to their own country	—	xlili. 135
— Their notions of a resurrection	—	xlili. 307
— Habituated to the evidence of miracles	—	xlili. 425
— Writers, in the Old Testament, not scrupulous in regard to decency of language	—	xlili. 529
— Apology for	—	xlili. 529
— Conformity of their customs with those of the negroes	xliv. 550.
— Their conversion and restoration to their own land, a scripture doctrine	—	xliv. 361
— How punished at Oxford, in the reign of Henry III. for the folly of one of their brethren	—	xliv. 185
— How contemptuously treated by the Mahometans at Cairo	liiii. 579
— Said to have offered human sacrifices	—	lvi. 511
— Said to have purchased 90,000 Christian captives of Cosroes King of Persia, that they might have the pleasure of cutting their throats	—	lxii. 568
Jews-barp , verses adapted to	—	xxviii. 480
Ignatius , remarks on his martyrdom	—	xxxi. 244
Ignatius , St. controversy relative to a passage in, concerning the divinity of Christ	—	lxix. 321
Ignited bodies , experiments on	—	lvi. 378
Ignorance , what a proof of	—	ii. 434
Ignorance and illiteracy in fashion among the nobility of France in the 7th century	—	xl. 537
Iliad , account of a fatal	—	xliv. 455
Iliac passion , indications for the cure of	—	xvii. 574
— Uncommon case of	—	xxx. 276
— Reflection thereon	—	xxx. 277
— Treatment of	—	xxxviii. 543
Illinois , their country and government described	—	xliv. 10
Ill-nature , extracts from an ode to	—	vii. 134
Illumination

Illumination , pretensions to, subversive of true religion	xxv.	122
Images and image-worship , the aversion of the Magi and Druids	x.	419
Image-worship , how occasioned	xvi.	7
Imagination , works of, should be built on a plan of the author's own	ii.	326
— On the power of	x.	466
— What	xv.	46
— The nature of	xxiii.	366
— Its influence on taste	xxxvi.	437
— Observations on the pleasures of	lvii.	90
Imagination in pregnant women , the surprising effects of	x.	466
— The supposed force of, denied	xxxiii.	28
— Particular instances of, controverted	xxxiii.	34
Imbecility of mind , deeds executed by persons so circumstanced, void in equity	xxii.	276
Imitation , not plagiarism	iv.	100
— What the proper subject of	ix.	19
— The common principle on which poetry, music, painting, &c. are founded	xiv.	99
— In writing, probable marks to discover	xviii.	114
— Instances of in Pope	xviii.	116, 120, 123
— In Milton	xviii.	121
— Of the ancients, great advantages of	xx.	66
— The subject and manner of	xx.	482
— The source of taste	xxiv.	96
— The great share it has in forming the man	xxv.	338
— The extensiveness of its influence	xxv.	339
— Poetical remarks on	xl.	119
— Inquiries on ancient and modern	lxiv.	303
— of an author's manner, remarkable story of, in relation to the style of Lady Wortley Montague	lxx.	575
Imitation of God , what	vi.	301
Imitators and original writers , distinguished	xx.	502
Immortality of the soul . See Soul .
Impeachment of Peers , manner of	xxxvi.	1
Importation , considerations on	iv.	388
Imposthume , extraordinary one in the stomach	v.	321
Imposture , a remarkable one found out at the dissolution of the monasteries	xx.	355
Impostures , in ancient profane history	xliii.	559
Improvements , its effects	v.	277
Imprecation , judicial, use and abuse of	xxxix.	194
Impregnation of plants , how effected	vi.	377
Impregnation in vegetables and animals , how performed	vi.	377
Impulsion , thoughts on	xxix.	499
Incarnation involves no contradiction	ii.	493
Incarville, Father , his letter to C. Mortimer concerning sundry Chinese rarities	xi.	226
Inclasures of land , their advantages and disadvantages	xvii.	220
Inclasures ,

Inclosures of land, observations relative to	—	xxxiii. 258
— Of common fields, arguments for and against		xxxiv. 361
— Of waste lands, recommended	—	xxxvi. 393
— Of land, vindicated	—	xxxvii. 42
— Of open fields, objections to	—	xxxviii. 73
Insensancy , maxims concerning it	—	iv. 132
Incubation , account of the process of	—	xxxix. 536
Incubus , or night-mare , account of that disorder	—	xxxiii. 122
Independence , negatively defined	—	xxxi. 271
— Finely personified	—	xlix. 500
Indians , West and American, their religion	—	iv. 322
— Humanity	—	iv. 323
— Cruelly used by the Spaniards	—	iv. 325
— Zeal of De Las Casas in behalf of the oppressed	—	iv. 325
— of the Six Nations, importance of their friendship	—	vi. 150
— in Peru, miserably oppressed	—	ix. 289
— Speech of one against the immoderate use of spirituous liquors		x. 286
— Some remarkable passages in it	—	x. 287
— Remarks on the character, genius, and customs of the Indians		x. 289
— Their great humanity to their prisoners		x. 290
— Reasons for cultivating a good understanding with, and farther reformation of them	—	x. 291
— American, better treated by the French than the English	xiii. 483
— Badly instructed by the Jesuits	—	xiii. 461
— In America, abandoned by the English to the resentment of their enemies	—	xiv. 36
— The difference between the conduct of the French and English towards them	—	xvii. 310
— Reason for commencing hostilities before a declaration of war		xxii. 369
— of Florida, description of	—	xxx. 41
— of Quito, live almost in a state of nature	—	xxxiii. 41
— of North America, the Five Nations of, described	xxxiv. 14, 18
— Their religion and policy asserted	—	xxxviii. 520
— Their philosophers not indebted to the Egyptians for their doctrines	—	xxxviii. 521
— Their happy ignorance of the arts of civilization	—	xl. 282
— Those of Paraguay, wonderfully civilized by the Jesuits	—	xl. 544
— of North America, their manners and customs	xlv. 390, 394
— Their ceremonies at the adoption of strangers	—	xlvi. 58
— Other particulars concerning them	—	xlvi. 59
— State of, at the time of our first settlements there	—	xlix. 19
— Iroquois, some account of	—	xlix. 21
— Cherokees characterized	—	xlix. 376
— Reflections on the moral character of the Indians in general		xlix. 377
— Obs. on the North American, by Sir W. Johnson	—	l. 481
— of North America, some account of their manners, &c.	liv. 263
Indians ,

Indians , their horrid cruelty to their prisoners	liv.	263
— Their husbandry	liv.	265
— Of America, account of a nation of, yet unsubdued by the Europeans	lx.	283
— Curious juggling trick, performed by an Indian priest	lx.	284
— Character of the people	lx.	287
— Creek, noble speech of, at a congress held at Charlestown	lxi.	449
— Northern, remarkable instance of their cruel enmity against the Esquimaux	lxx.	464
— See America .
Indies, East , the disadvantages in the trade to	vii.	57
— The prodigious loss by that trade to the nation, as at present managed	x.	370
— Why the trade more successful to France than to England	xii.	153
— The means whereby the French established themselves there	xvii.	22
— By whom carried there	xvii.	25
— First discovered by the Portuguese	xvii.	22, 29
— What places they possess there	xvii.	30
— The Dutch most powerful after China and Japan	xvii.	30
— A view of our situation there	xvii.	31
— Of the Danes	xvii.	32
— Of the Swedes	xvii.	33
— Of the Prussians	xvii.	34
— Of the Italians	xvii.	34
— Of the Spaniards	xvii.	34
— Of the Russians	xvii.	35
— Empires, destitute of nobility	xvii.	321
— Company French, the dependance of, on their African trade	xix.	346
— The trade carried on there from Europe, vindicated	xxiii.	422
— Antiquity of that trade traced	xxiii.	476
— Some account of	xxviii.	473
— The four principal tribes of the Indians	xxviii.	473
— The Hallachores	xxviii.	475
— Extent and boundaries of	xxix.	300
— Inhabitants of ancient and modern	xxix.	300
— Their Deities	xxix.	301
— Their Bramins	xxix.	301
— Their casts or tribes	xxix.	302
— Their abhorrence of shedding blood	xxix.	303
— Their manual ingenuity	xxix.	304
— Diseases incident to Europeans in	xxxix.	314
— Literature of the East, little known in Europe	xxxix.	377
— Their Shaffer explained	xxxix.	381
— Curious dialogue from	xxxix.	381
— Advice to the Europeans how to preserve their health, in the settlements there	xxxix.	430

Indies, East , reasons for an open trade to	xxxviii.	501
— Plan for extending the commerce to the	xl.	94
— Importance of our trade and connexion there	xlvi.	322
— The trade of, advantageous to Great Britain	xlvi.	455
— Has saved the nation from bankruptcy	xlvi.	455
— Its slender beginning	xlvi.	236
— Its constitution	xlvi.	238
— Its deviation	xlvi.	239
— Evil consequence of that deviation	xlvi.	242
— Remarks on the Dutch East India Company	xlvi.	571
— Company when first formed	xlvi.	637
— Its original fund	xlvi.	638
— Their first establishment in India merely mercantile	xlvi.	638
— Their struggle with the Dutch	xlvi.	639
— Contest between the Dutch and English on the East India trade	xlvi.	638
— The climate favourable to despotic government	xlvi.	352
— That form, less grievous there than elsewhere	xlvi.	354
— Splendor of the Mogul's camps	xlvi.	452
— Present state of the British interests there	xlvi.	99
— Vast importance of our commerce with	xlvi.	100
— Imminent danger of losing it	xlvi.	101
— Diseases peculiar to	xlvi.	174
— Remedies for	xlvi.	175
— Account of the meeting of the officers in that part of the world	xlvi.	314
— Company, mismanagement of their shipping	l.	65
— Charged with the most criminal rapacity	l.	253
— State of their shipping	l.	276
— Observations on their private trade	l.	278
— British settlements in, the most probable method of improving them	li.	116, 481
— Company, general view of its present situation	li.	156
— Skill of the natives in astronomy	lii.	627
— Transactions of the English there	lv.	273, 286
— Ill aspect of	lv.	286
— Enormous sums and revenues wrung from the Nabobs by the Company	lv.	286
— Their directors charged with gross partiality to particular commanders and officers in their service	lvi.	398
— Great patience of the natives, and their neatness in regard to their manufactures	lvii.	243
— Particular detail of	lvii.	243
— A particular nation of, described	lx.	266
— Those of Surat, some account of	lx.	305
— Particulars relative to the affairs of the English there	lx.	292
— Curious account of their sacred books and different sects of Brahmins, &c.	lxi.	509
— Account of the possessions of the Dutch Company	lxv.	541

- Indies, East*, Historical and political sketches relative to English translations there — — — lxvii. 101
- Poetical display of the horrid famine there artificially produced by the English — — — lxvii. 185
- Remarks relative to our possessions there — — — lxix. 27
- Commercial and political observations relative to the present state of British affairs in that country lxx. 74, 152, 233, 305
- Indies, West*, first discovered by Madoc — — — xviii. 567
- Cause of the planters — — — lii. 450
- Indifference*, political, invective against — — — xlv. 537
- Indigo*, method of making, in South Carolina — — — xliii. 487
- Indolence*, its bad effects — — — iv. 66
- and effeminacy in men, how punished by the ancient Germans — — — xliii. 539
- One of the primary causes of the gout — — — xlv. 124
- Its effects described — — — xlv. 124
- Indulgentius papal*, curious specimen of — — — lx. 262
- Industry*, the attribute of, too often misapplied — — — xxi. 342
- A definition of — — — xxii. 249
- The advantages of — — — xxv. 37
- Recommended from the pulpit — — — xlix. 413
- National, useful observations on the means of promoting — — — lviii. 177
- Different modes in which it ought to be exerted — — — lviii. 185
- Inebriation*, its cause — — — v. 500
- Inequality* of condition, no proof of inequality of enjoyment — — — xxvi. 146
- Two species of — — — xxvi. 332
- Resulting originally from inequality of talents and bodily abilities — — — xxvi. 333
- Inertia*, of manner, considered — — — ii. 394
- Infants*, tea a bad diet for them — — — ii. 306
- Frequently suffer from bad nurses — — — iv. 244
- Under what circumstances to be considered as objects of charity — — — xxii. 217
- Diseases incident and fatal to — — — xxxvii. 274
- Proper method of weaning — — — xxxviii. 95
- Of bringing them up by hand — — — xxxviii. 97
- Milk of women and animals considered as food — — — xxxviii. 98
- Strange and cruel methods of disposing of them among some barbarous people in the East Indies — — — xl. 237
- Anatomical observations with respect to — — — lii. 623
- Whose mothers have died in pregnancy, saved by the Cæsarian operation — — — lxxv. 501
- Observations on the bones of the skull of — — — lxviii. 563
- See Children.
- Inference* arising from the limited number of excellent poets at the same place and period — — — xii. 370
- Infidelity*, its origin — — — ii. 220
- The common people as well as the better sort are infected with — — — xv. 483
- Infidelity*,

Infidelity , Medical, specimens of	—	—	xxv. 455
— Better than persecution	—	—	xxvi. 22
— Abounds in France	—	—	xliv. 533, 536
Infirmaries , their advantages	—	—	il. 31
Inflammations , hypothesis concerning	—	—	xiv. 333
— Of the breast, symptoms of, described	—	—	xxxiii. 52
— Different theories of	—	—	xxxix. 351
— Blisters one of the most powerful remedies for	—	—	xxxix. 353
— Chirurgical observations relative to	—	—	lxix. 383
Inflammatory disorders , reformed method of treating them	—	—	xxxiii. 249
Informations filed by the attorney-general, account of	—	—	xxxi. 455
— Judge Hales's opinion, as to their legality	—	—	xxxi. 455
— Their oppressive tendency	—	—	xxxi. 455
— Dreadful to bookfellers and printers	—	—	xxxi. 435
— Proceedings by, in prosecutions, condemned	—	—	xxxix. 500
Informers , the ill-consequences of decreeing to them half the penalty levied upon offenders	—	—	xxiv. 218
Ingratitude , of a Jew recovered after execution	—	—	vii. 151
— Of Dante	—	—	vii. 151
Inhaler , a machine used in curing the catarrhus cough	—	—	lx. 62
Inheritance , illustration of the rule which denies a lineal ascent of	—	—	xxxii. 35
— Mahommedan law of	—	—	xxxiv. 264
— Remarks on	—	—	xl. 37
— The Athenian and Roman laws, relating to	—	—	xl. 38
Injection , in anatomical preparations, instructions concerning	—	—	xxxiv. 567
Initiations , origin of	—	—	lxiv. 303
Injuries , analysis of, with respect to civil law	—	—	lii. 200
Ink , composition of Indian	—	—	xxxiv. 174
— Of printers ink	—	—	xxxiv. 179
— Rolling press	—	—	xxxiv. 180
— Common writing	—	—	xxxiv. 278
— A more durable sort of writing	—	—	xxxiv. 279
— Sympathetic, conjuring tricks performed by it	—	—	lii. 26
Inn-keepers , chargeable with the goods of their guests	—	—	xv. 17
Innes , wretched ones in Portugal and Spain	—	—	xliii. 221
Innate principles , existence of, proved	—	—	lx. 333
Inverkeithing , curious proclamation by the town crier there	—	—	lviii. 391
Inoculation of the small-pox , the Chinese method of	—	—	iv. 318
— Should be in the lower extremities	—	—	vi. 309
— Rise, date and first introduction in Europe	—	—	x. 46
— Who were the first subjects of it in Great Britain	—	—	x. 47
— Whether a security from a second infection	—	—	x. 47
— Various methods of	—	—	x. 48
— The first intimation of its taking effect	—	—	x. 50
— The most proper time for	—	—	x. 111
— Morbid dispositions which discourage the practice of	—	—	x. 119
— The necessary preparation for	—	—	x. 120

Inoculation,

Inoculation, the appearance and conduct of the disease	x. 124
— The direction and oeconomy of	x. 125
— Not practised by the Turks	xv. 281
— From whence derived	xv. 281
— Answer to an objection	xv. 396
— Reflections on some attempts for a chirurgical monopoly of	xv. 541
— Reasons for preferring inoculation	xix. 87
— A more agreeable name hinted at	xxix. 514
— Dr. Rush's account refuted	xxxii. 112
— Practice of, in Scotland	xxxiii. 125
— Defence of, by Count Hedern	xxxiii. 542
— Satan said to be the first inventor	xxxiii. 542
— Mr. Sutton's method	xxxv. 188
— Practice of, in America	xxxv. 448
— Secret for the modern practice	xxxvi. 413
— Reflexions on by M. d'Alembert's method	xxxvi. 529
— Remarks on the Suttonian method	xxxvii. 267
— Dr. Laughton's hypothesis exploded	xxxviii. 152
— Opinions of several physicians	xxxviii. 152
— Practice of, in the East Indies	xxxviii. 152
— Success of, in France	xxxviii. 366
— Observations on by Dr. Gatto	xxxviii. 366
— Experiments by Dr. Watson	xxxviii. 384
— Advantages of early inoculation	xxxviii. 443
— Practice of, in Arabia	xlii. 194
— Practice of, in Barbary and Bengal	xlii. 194
— Cause of the increase of inhabitants	xliv. 15
— Remarkable case under the Suttonian treatment	xlv. 71
— Improvement in the practice of	xlvi. 253
— Practice of, in Jamaica	xlvii. 264
— The secret of	xlvii. 546
— Proved to be idolatry	l. 71
— Dr. Rush's objections obviated	li. 43
— Of the royal family of France	lii. 624
— Remarks on, by Dr. Rush	lv. 250
— Circumstances under which success may be influenced	lvii. 246
— New remarks on	lx. 149
— Remarks on general	lx. 313
— State of, in Batavia	lxv. 541
— The opposition to, in Java	lxv. 541
— Baron Dimisdale's method	lxvi. 173
— See Small-pox .
Inoculation of horned cattle, its efficacy disputed	xxi. 233
Inquisition, how first introduced into Castile	xxxvi. 551
— Character of that infernal court	xxxvi. 551
— Origin, and horrid effects of, in Spain	lvi. 242
Injanity, different kinds of	lxvii. 25
Inscriptions, account of some subterranean	xxxi. 269
— Obs. on some ancient, by Mr. Tyrwhytt	liii. 495
	Index

Insects , the warts on some trees supposed to be	vii.	62
— In water, prey on each other	vii.	65
— Peculiar to Norway	xii.	499
— Destroyed by salt	xiii.	344
— Description of a remarkable species	xxxix.	417
— Account of the marechal , a luminous insect	xliii.	510
— Fuestlin's catalogue of those of Switzerland	liv.	400
— Noxious	lv.	303
— Description of a sea insect	lvi.	545
— Infesting hot-house plants, their sorts enumerated	lxii.	355
— Methods of guarding against their depredations	lxii.	355
— Natural subordination observable in their economy	lxv.	300
— Various dissertations on	lxv.	303
— Remarks on their powers of hearing, smelling, &c.	lxvii.	65
— Circumstances relative to the nat. hist. of exotic	lxix.	44
Insensibility , its causes and effects	xvii.	525
Inspector , his letters to a lady	vi.	145
Inspiration , accounted for	vi.	453
— Thoughts on inspired writings	vii.	359
— Of the sacred writers, explained and justified	viii.	16, 116
— Owing to the influence of the Holy Spirit	viii.	15, 17
— Not merely partial or occasional	viii.	116
— The notion of it ridiculed	x.	355, 356
— Cannot be proved either à priori or à posteriori	x.	357
— of the New Testament, Bishop of Gloucester's notion thereof	xxvii.	373
Insinua , beautiful thoughts concerning it	ii.	326
— What	xv.	49
— Dr. Cadworth's notion of	xlv.	534
— Descartes's notion of	xlv.	534
— Buffon's notion of	xlv.	535
— of animals, three different classes of	xlv.	540, 542
— Method of dividing	lxvii.	547
Insults , personal, by whom to be revenged	xxviii.	13
Insurances , trade and commerce greatly promoted them	xii.	335
— When ships run foul of each other	xii.	339
— What value for things lost	xii.	341
— Plan recommended for instituting a court of merchants, &c. for determining difficult cases in	lxi.	423
— of enemies ships, ill policy of	xvii.	314
— Arguments for and against	lxv.	206
Intelligence , subordination of	vi.	140
— The only moral sense in all rational beings	xx.	519
Intemperance , one great cause of the gout	xlv.	125
— Its effects described	xlv.	125
Intention , essential to all actions	iv.	526
Intercourse , a general head of the knowledge of men	ii.	453
Interest , of money, defence of the reduction of	xxviii.	251
— Compound, investigated	xlv.	459
Interjections , what	vi.	137

Intermediate

Intermediate-state , controverted	—	xvi. 403, 511
— No mention of it in scripture	—	xxii. 16
Intolerance , religious, its absurdity	—	xxx. 549
Intuition , the power of	—	vii. 469
Invasions , policy of carrying them on with humanity	—	xxviii. 254
— A French commander praised on this account	—	xxviii. 254
Inventions of the thirteenth century	—	xxx. 166
— of the fourteenth century	—	xxx. 168
— of the fifteenth century	—	xxx. 171
— of the sixteenth century	—	xxx. 173
Inverness , the poverty of its inhabitants	—	xi. 343
Invocation of saints, the origin of that superstition	—	ix. 352
— to the ghost of Trenmor, an admirable passage in Temora	—	xxviii. 279
— of Hervour Crous, the Runic	—	xxviii. 283
Jo , the manner of her appearance on the ancient stage conjectured	—	xxvi. 324
Joan D'Arc , history of	—	xxvi. 90
Joan of Kent , burned by Cranmer	—	xvii. 212
Joan, Peps , her birth and adventures	—	xx. 332
— Her story contrasted	—	xx. 338
Job , book of, an enquiry into its scope and design	ii. 219, 347
— A sacred poem	—	iv. 402
— The design and antiquity of the book of	—	vii. 197
— To vindicate the power of God	—	vii. 198
— An Arabian	—	vii. 200
— Lived in the patriarchal age	—	vii. 200
— the book of, its design	—	xiv. 156
— Arguments for and against its antiquity	—	xiv. 158
— Some account of his country, age, and friends	—	xiv. 240
— His daughters, whence named	—	xiv. 244
— Book of, Bishop of London's dissertation upon it considered	—	xxv. 123, 125
— Poetical version of his resignation, &c.	—	xxii. 245
— A picture of, by Guido	—	xl. 585
— Reality of the person of, maintained	—	xlvi. 69
— book of, one of the oldest in the world	—	xlvi. 373
— In what sense allowed to be dramatic	—	xlvi. 373
— Its beauty and sublimity	—	xlvi. 374
— Specimen of Mr. Scott's version of	—	xlvi. 375
— Critical remarks on various passages of	—	xlvi. 121
— Critical remarks relating to a passage in	—	xlvi. 547
Job, the African , his remark on the supposed colour of Adam	—	xxxviii. 541
Jobb , an odious monosyllable	—	xxxviii. 1
— Allegorical account of	—	xxxviii. 2
Jobber of cattle , ill consequences of suppressing	—	xlvi. 351
Jodubn , dissertation on the idol	—	xxxiii. 549
Joel prophesies the effusion of the spirit on the day of Pentecost	—	xxvii. 10

- Joel*, meaning of his expression "Day of the Lord," ascertained xxvii. 10
- John the Baptist*, and Jesus Christ, mutual testifiers of each other xxiv. 45
- The truth of their mission deduced from hence xxiv. 46
- The connection between them indissoluble xxiv. 48
- Absurdities attending the supposition of their being impostors xxiv. 50
- Critical remarks on his baptism — lvi. 196
- John, St. the Evangelist*, a story told of — vi. 363
- Gospel, iii. 5. hath no reference to baptism or the Lord's supper xii. 78
- His gospel written as a supplement to the other three xxiii. 16
- Expressly asserts the divinity of Christ against Ebion and Cerinthus — xiii. 16
- Design of his gospel and his personal character xv. 159
- New version of chapter i. — xxxviii. 219
- His first epistle ad Spartos, meaning of — lxi. 546
- His gospel intended as a supplement to the other gospels lix. 16
- John, King of Denmark*, his dying charge to his son xxvii. 359
- His amiable character — l. 428
- John, King of England*, brief view of his disputes with the Pope xxv. 411
- His character — — — xxv. 412
- Why taken for an atheist — — — xxv. 413
- His contests with Philip of France, &c. — xliv. 575
- With his English Barons — — — xliv. 576
- With the Pope — — — xliv. 576
- His bad character — — — xliv. 577
- Inquiry concerning his death — — — lvii. 261
- John the Footman*, his conference with Mr. Clement on religion lxi. 99
- John of Gaddesden*, in what respect similar to Heister xvii. 197
- John of Ghent, D. of Lancaster*, his hatred of the clergy xxxii. 375
- Patronizes Wickliff — — — xxxii. 375
- Declines in his power, and abandons that reformer xxxii. 382
- Johnson, Mrs. (Swift's Stella)* her death, and wherein peculiarly unhappy for the Dean — — — xi. 68
- Her life and character — — — xxxiii. 219, 226
- Johnson, John*, his collection of laws and canons referred to xii. 448
- Johnson, Dr. Samuel*, author of the Rambler, poetically exhibited xxxiv. 323
- His writings charged with evil tendencies xxxix. 210
- His saying on Mallet's publication of Bolingbroke's philosophical writings — — — xlii. 37
- Attacks Junius — — — xliv. 330
- Compared, as a traveller, with Mr. Pennant lii. 57
- His journey in Scotland — — — lii. 58
- Sketches out the landscape of the desert — — — lii. 62
- Describes the manners of the Highlanders — — — lii. 63
- Johnson,*

Johnson, Dr. Samuel, his prejudices against the presbyterians

- His opinion of the Erse language — lii. 65
- Inclines to believe in the second sight — lii. 158
- His political pamphlets attacked lii. 184, 253, 446
- His malignity towards Milton animadverted on lxii. 480
- Said to have composed Dr. Dodd's speech at his trial lxii. 483
- His first appearance in the learned world lxiii. 208
- Sets out as a school-master — lxiii. 208
- His early friendship with David Garrick — lxiii. 208
- Remarks on a sentiment of his unfavourable to liberty lxvi. 121

Johnson, Sir William, his observations on the N. American Indians l. 481

Jokes, how commonly spoiled by dull story-tellers xxviii. 325

Jökler and Jökell, description of two remarkable phenomena in Iceland, so termed — xviii. 195

Jonab, curious exposition of that name — liii. 332

Jones, Colonel, his curious laconic epistle to Lord Ormond l. 53

Jones, Mr. his poem on the birth of a Prince of Wales xxviii. 20

Jones, Serjeant, his speech in the House of Commons on an address for removing the Duke of Lauderdale — xxviii. 193

Jones, Arthur Nevill, entrusted by the House of Commons in Ireland with 25,000 l. for repairing the barracks x. 209

— His conduct in that affair examined by them — x. 209

— Several votes passed against him — x. 210

— Is expelled in consequence of them — x. 211

Jones, Mr. Hugh, his Welsh poems on the birth of the Prince of Wales — xxviii. 18

Jones, Inigo, his life — xxxix. 180

Jones, Sir William, his speech on the bill for excluding the Duke of York — xxviii. 336

Jones, William, his account of his own studies xlix. 286

— His commentaries on the Asiatic poetry commended li. 21

— Specimens of his translations of, into Latin — li. 22

— English version of — li. 23

— Author of the pretended libel for which the Dean of St. Asaph was prosecuted — lxix. 349

Ionia, the rival of Attica in regard to the splendor of its edifices xlii. 368

— Antiquities, collected there by the Dilettanti Society xlii. 369

— Account of some ancient temples there xlii. 370, 377

Jenson, Ben, his character — xxi. 28

Jordan river, and its shores, described — xxxiv. 141

Jortin, Dr. his aversion to popery and fanaticism xlvii. 247

— His censure of Zinzendorf and his followers xlvii. 248

— Encomium on — xlviii. 488

— Anecdotes from his remarks on ecclesiastical history xlix. 189

Joseph, Emperor of Germany, his annals — xiii. 82

Joseph, the patriarch, his well in Egypt described xv. 354

— His granary described — xv. 355

Joseph , a tale for children	—	lxx. 132
Joseph Andrews , remarks on the plan of that novel	—	xxvi. 490
Joseph, Ben Gorion , some account of that writer	—	xxxii. 9. 10
Josephus , the Jewish historian, the agreement of his chronology with the septuagint	— —	vii. 3
— The chronology of	—	vii. 17
— His supposed account of Jesus Christ not genuine	—	xxxii. 3
— Character of that writer	—	xxxii. 4
— His silence concerning the Christians, no objection to Christianity	—	xxxii. 6
— Not an unbeliever in miracles	—	xxxiii. 134
— His Jewish antiquities defended by Warburton	—	xxxiii. 135
— The paragraph in his history concerning Christ, not genuine	—	xxxiv. 31
— His supposed silence with respect to Christ, enquired into	—	lvii. 349
— The authenticity of	— —	lxv. 429
Joy , excessive, its effects	— —	iv. 264
— General expressions of	—	xxvi. 200
Spicacuanba , recommended in small doses by Dr. Pye	—	xvi. 554
— Use of, in asthma	—	xxxix. 34
Ireland able to supply the navy with hemp	—	ii. 356
— The poverty of the natives	—	ii. 357
— The inhabitants think themselves ill-used by the English	—	iv. 475
— Not a fourth part peopled	—	v. 259
— State of the linen and woollen manufactures	—	v. 260
— Prejudiced by absentees	—	v. 277
— Source of the divisions in the House of Commons	—	x. 209
— Proceedings on the national debt	—	x. 213
— Declamation in favour of their dependance on England	—	x. 215
— Societies for the advancement of their trade commended	—	xi. 149
— How the Irish corrupt each other when in London	—	xi. 317
— Affecting description of the Irish massacre	—	xii. 216
— Advantages from a union with England	—	xiii. 80
— The name of Hibernia given to it by one of the sons of Gaelus	—	xiii. 160
— Number of inhabitants	—	xv. 378
— Capable of maintaining three times the number	—	xv. 378
— Well furnished with medicinal springs	—	xvii. 102
— The House of Lords led by the Bishops, and they by the crown	—	xvii. 151
— Why the House of Commons is liable to bribery	—	xvii. 151
— Condition of its land-holders	—	xvii. 153
— Necessity of a union with Great Britain	—	xvii. 309
— Better treatment from England recommended	—	xvii. 561
— The language understood by the mountaineers of Biscay	—	xix. 515
— Queries relating to the exportation of cattle	—	xxii. 258
— Plea in favour of the Roman Catholics	—	xxii. 136
Ireland ,

Ireland , proportion of the Papists and Protestants in	xxix. 176
— Influence of the Popish clergy over the common people, with hints for reforming them	xxix. 176
— Inconveniency of pluralities in	xxix. 176
— Persons and manner of living, described	xxix. 177
— Their laziness and poverty	xxix. 177
— Difference between the gentry and common people	xxix. 178
— The revenue of	xxix. 289
— Pensions granted by the crown, illegal	xxix. 290
— Gross abuse of the pensions	xxix. 292
— The flight of Cefaca, grand-daughter of Noah, into Ireland	xxii. 517
— The histories of the rebellion and civil war should be read with caution	xxxvii. 30
— Narrative of the rebellion	xxxvii. 32, 255
— Odium of the rebellion removed from the Papists	xxxvii. 138
— Number of protestants destroyed in the rebellion	xxxvii. 258
— Trade and importance of	xxxvii. 277
— Trade ought not to be restricted	xxxvii. 278
— Political hardships of the Irish	xxxvii. 280
— A tour of Ireland recommended to travellers	xxxvii. 281
— Society for maintaining the orphans of soldiers	xxxvii. 392
— Debates in the parliament	xxxviii. 1, 81
— The revenue of	xxxviii. 3
— Mr. Henry's speech on the non-residence of the clergy	xxxviii. 89
— Mr. Gore's speech on the non-residence of the clergy	xxxviii. 92
— The inhabitants of Caledonian descent	xxxviii. 308
— Account of the Irish bards	xxxviii. 476
— Military establishment very burthenfome	xxxviii. 503
— Reasons against augmenting the military establishment	xxxviii. 503
— National character of the inhabitants	xl. 179
— Want of cultivation in	xl. 65
— Proposals for the improvement of	xl. 66
— Savageness of the inhabitants in former times	xlvi. 409
— Patience in enduring hardships	xlvi. 410
— Treatment of the children	xlvi. 410
— Conquered by Henry II. for the purpose of reforming them	xlvi. 411
— Remarks on the antiquity of the history	xl. 194
— High encomiums on	xl. 197
— Their conversion to christianity	xl. 207
— Introduction of the English	xl. 211
— Account of a sepulchral monument	xl. 261
— Military achievements	xl. 340
— King Henry's arrival and success	xl. 342
— Great charter obtained from Henry III.	xl. 344
— History of, to the time of Richard II.	xl. 352
— Involved in the contests of York and Lancaster	xl. 464

Ireland , Sir E. Poyning appointed vicegerent	xliv.	464
— By whom, and whence first propred	xliv.	469
— Greatly ravaged by the Danes	xliv.	471
— History of; to the reign of Elizabeth	xliv.	471
— History at the time of the great rebellion	l.	56
— Natural productions	l.	82
— Causes of their adherence to the Roman Catholic religion	liii.	17
— Means for reforming the Irish	liii.	19
— Account of some antiquities in	liii.	500
— Antient history of	lx.	3, 95
— Early cultivation of learning there	lx.	7
— Philosophical survey of the southern parts	lx.	9
— Origin of the howl	lx.	10
— Origin of the white boys	lx.	11
— Origin of the oak-boys and steel-boys	lx.	12
— Invaded by the sons of Milesius	lx.	95
— Completely conquered	lx.	99
— Formerly connected with the Carthaginians	lx.	102
— Poverty of the lower inhabitants	lx.	193
— Whether void of serpents	lxii.	113
— Her commercial restraints considered	lxii.	162
— Political connexion with England	lxii.	306, 359
— Sir W. Blackstone's doctrine of the power of the English Parliament objected to	lxii.	359
— Remarks and anecdotes	lxiii.	39
— State of agriculture	lxiii.	40, 102
— Customs of the natives	lxiii.	102, 161
— Mountains and lakes described	lxiii.	44
— State of the tenantry of	lxiii.	161
— Provisions and subsistence	lxiii.	162
— Deplorable situation of the poor	lxiii.	164
— On the formation of the bogs	lxiii.	166
— State of manufactures	lxiii.	169
— Various characters of the inhabitants	lxiii.	169
— Political strictures respecting	lxiv.	200, 306
— On the present struggles with England	lxx.	41, 43, 307
Irenæus , partial to the montanists	lix.	146
— His authority in support of the Revelations invalidated	lix.	146
Irtton, General , his letter to Col. Hammond	xxxii.	36
Iris , the Persian superstition concerning it	x.	421
Irish lady , how much beef and butter she consumes	ii.	356
Irish translator , marks for knowing	xxiv.	6
Iron , account of a mountain of iron ore	xv.	273
— Solubility of, in water, by the intervention of fixed air	xliv.	323
— Its inherent combination with platina	li.	526
— Different methods of combining it with mercury	li.	547
— Native, and malleable found in Siberia	lii.	334

Iron , discoveries with regard to the smelting of the ore	lii.	614
— Account of a large mass of	lvii.	4
— White ores of	lxv.ii.	171
— Of the scoria from iron works	lxviii.	382
— Curious essay on	lxx.	595
Iron Chair of Pindar , account of	i.	38
Irreligion of the present times accounted for	xix.	322
Irresolution , fatal in government	xviii.	404
Irritability , an essential property of animal bodies	xiv.	115
— Definition of	xiv.	115
— Different from sensibility	xiv.	119
— Not proportioned to sensibility	xiv.	119
— Experiments concerning	xiv. 119,	125
— Particular feat of	xiv.	124
— How lessened or destroyed	xiv.	125
— Said to be a new discovery	xiv.	125
— Proceeds from, or is closely connected with, sensibility	xiv.	138
Irritability of flowers , new discovery of	xxxvii.	66
Irwin , Mr. his eastern eclogues commended	lxii.	451
— His tender and elegant compliment to his wife	lxii.	453
Isabella , queen of Castile, her character	xxxvi.	550
Isæus , the orator, some account of	lx.	455
— Compared with Lysias	lx.	456
Isaiah , his prediction of the reign of the Messiah verified	xxv.	147
— Of Cyrus	xxv.	148
— Why styled the evangelical prophet	xxvii.	2
— Four different opinions concerning his celebrated prophecy (Chap. vii. 13, 16.)	xxxiv.	300
— Kennicott's explication of	xxxiv.	301
— Chap. vii. 13, 16, explained	xxxvi.	493
— Chap. xxi. 11, 12, explained	xlili.	180
— Book of, critical observations on some parts of	lj.	267
— Chap. vii. 13, &c. new translation and critical remarks on	lv.	79
— His prophecies originally written in verse	lx.	131
— Critical remarks and explication of	-lx.	215
Isinglass , its importance as a commercial article	xxxiii.	427
— British, method of proving whether equal to foreign	xxxiii.	428
— The manner of making	l.	473
Iss , how represented	vii.	88
Islands , theory of the formation of	xxxi.	481
— New ones, whence produced	xxxi.	482
— Account of two new ones in the gulph of Santorin	xxvii.	505
— The theory of low, flat islands in the wide ocean	xxxix.	427
— Natural situation of, why preferable to that of a continent	li.	15
Islanders , slower than the inhabitants of a continent in the arts of refinement and civilization	xlvi.	634
Isles , Scottish , our national inattention to them, censured	li.	18
— Their natural importance to Great Britain	li.	19

Umeno, the enchanter , his adjurations and enchantment of the forest, in Tasso	— — —	xxix. 321
Isocrates , his orations	— — —	v. 424
— Character of, by Dionysius Halicarnassus	— — —	v. 424
— Oration to persuade Philip of Macedon to make war against Persia	— — —	v. 425
— Commendation of his father	— — —	v. 430
— Hercules, author of Philip's race	— — —	v. 422
— Commended as an orator	— — —	ix. 73
— Compared with Herodotus	— — —	ix. 77
Isocronism , that term explained	— — —	xxxv. 51
Iso-perimetrical problems , general rules for solving	— — —	xv. 272
— General rules for solving	— — —	xxi. 124
Isof , an eunuch of Algiers, his remarkable story	— — —	iii. 309
Israelites , their manner of living, marriages, education of children, religion, &c.	— — —	xv. 323, 329
Israel, an Indian prince , basely treated by the Spaniards	— — —	lxviii. 608
Iffus and Setons, the use of them recommended	— — —	ix. 178, 179
Iffus , Battle of, described	— — —	lxvii. 425
Italy , remarks on	— — —	v. 327
— Character of the inhabitants	— — —	vii. 154
— Defence of their poetry against Voltaire	— — —	vii. 462
— Account of the plays and operas	— — —	xvi. 585
— The courtship of the Italians	— — —	xxi. 257
— Not so bigoted in their devotion as the Spaniards	— — —	xxi. 258
— When the ancient form of government was abolished	— — —	xxiv. 365
— Origin of the siefs in	— — —	xxiv. 366
— State of, under Charlemagne and his descendants	— — —	xxiv. 367
— State of, under the German Emperors	— — —	xxiv. 368
— Stigmatized by the Emperor Otho	— — —	xxiv. 445
— Brief history of their poetry	— — —	xxvii. 94
— History of, in the modern universal history	— — —	xxvii. 413
— Observations on the antiquities in	— — —	xxix. 518
— Satirically characterized	— — —	xxxi. 203
— The degeneracy of the inhabitants	— — —	xxxii. 51
— Modern, characterized	— — —	xxxiii. 514
— Their aversion to labour	— — —	xxxiii. 516
— Origin of the Cicisbeos	— — —	xxxiii. 521
— Nastiness of the inns in	— — —	xxxv. 334
— Unfavourable account of the climate, soil, &c.	— — —	xxxv. 335
— State of the drama	— — —	xxxv. 338
— Sharp's account of, controverted	— — —	xxxviii. 448
— The inhabitants vindicated in regard to alleged assassinations	— — —	xxxviii. 453
— Cicisbeism not reckoned criminal	— — —	xxxviii. 455
— Reasons for, and against abolishing holidays	— — —	xxxix. 52
— The populousness of	— — —	xxxix. 55
— The state of the theatre	— — —	xxxix. 56
— The great school of architecture	— — —	xxxix. 178
— Directions for the tour of	— — —	xl. 577
— Various parts described	— — —	xli. 328, 335

- Julian*, Emperor his partiality for Paris — lxiv. 358
 — Beautiful situation of that place in its infant state lxiv. 358
 — His extraordinary character — lxiv. 443
 — His reformation of the imperial court — lxiv. 444
 — His sincere attachment to the Gods of Athens and Rome lxiv. 446
 — His literary talents — — lxiv. 447
Julius II. Pope, a party in the treaty of Cambray xii. 205
 — His intrigues and obstinacy — — xiii. 18
 — Death and character — — xiii. 19
Julius Africanus, his Cesti, some account of that work liv. 583
Julius of Medici, elected to the papacy — xix. 624
Jumpers, a new sect of methodists — lv. 164
 — Account of their freaks — — lv. 165
Juno, her expostulation with Jupiter — xxv. 457
 — Lacinia, famous temple of, in Calabria, account of its ruins xlviii. 281
Jupiter and the ape and her young ones, fable of, applied xiii. 309
 — His character of Juno — — xxvi. 456
 — Homer's description of — — xxvii. 249
 — Olympus, famous temple of, in Sicily account of its ruins xlviii. 200
Jupiter, (the planet,) of the motions of the satellites xxvii. 422
 — Theory of the satellites — — xxxvii. 167
 — Eclipses of the satellites — — xxxvii. 171
 — Immersions and emersions of the second and third satellites xlii. 503
 — The motion of the nodes, and the variation in the inclination of the satellites — — xliv. 523
 — Eclipses of the first and second satellites xlv. 674
 — The variation in the inclination in the second satellites xlvii. 496
 — New methods of improving his satellites, proposed l. 353
 — Observations on the inequalities of the light of the satellites lii. 628
 — Observations on the satellites — — lxvi. 505
 — Observations on the inclination of the third satellite lxviii. 630
Juries, the reasonableness of their judging in capital cases i. 235
 — what damages are recoverable against a juror who receives a bribe for a verdict — — xv. 18
Jury, trials by, rise and progress of — — xxxi. 454
 — Among the Greeks and Romans, enquiry into the use and practice of — — xl. 364
 — Trials by, the great bulwark of the English constitution xliv. 134
 — The duty and power of — — xlv. 473
 — The grand question, Whether they are judges of the law as well as the fact discussed? — — xlv. 471
 — Determined in the affirmative — — xlv. 474
 — Not the same with the lawmen of our Saxon ancestors l. 195
Jurists,

Jarvis , the contrary opinion	—	—	l. 196
— British, trial by the noblest form of policy that ever was invented			l. 454
— Establishment of, in England, derived from the Danes	li.	109
Jarin , Dr. his observations on the problems of Molyneux	liii.	537
Jus , in the Roman law, equivocal term	xiii.	392
Justamend , Mr. finishes Dr. Maty's memoirs of Lord Chesterfield	lvii.	61
Justice , what	—	—	vi. 331
— The nature and excellence of this virtue	viii.	369
— Steady administration of, in several instances	xi.	278
Justice of God , what	—	—	iv. 344
— The natural evidence of	—	—	xxii. 21
— An enquiry into the dispensation of it in this world	xxii.	27
Justices of the peace , not safely to be intrusted with too much power	xxiv.	220
— When first appointed	—	—	l. 189
— Summary of their qualifications	—	—	l. 191
— First appointment of, poetically recited	—	—	li. 45
— Ancient justice's hall, described	—	—	li. 46
— Moral character of a country justice	—	—	li. 47
— Remarks relative to their office	—	—	lxvi. 45
Justiciary , courts of, in Scotland	—	—	lx. 355
Justification , explained	—	—	xiv. 409
— By imputed righteousness, does not weaken the obligations to holiness of life	—	—	xvi. 184
— Two kinds of, mentioned in scripture	—	—	xix. 163
— Reconciliation of the seeming contrary accounts of it given by St. Paul and St. James	—	—	xxiii. 356
Justin , Martyr, his notion of the Trinity inconsistent with the Athanasian scheme	—	—	x. 374
— Referred to, in the dispute concerning the humanity of Christ	—	—	lxix. 229
— Controversy relative to, farther prosecuted	—	—	lxix. 309, 319
Justinian , Emperor, his base alliance with his Empress Theodora	—	—	xlili. 579
— His war with Theodotus	—	—	xlili. 582
— His useful design of reforming the ancient Roman legislation	—	—	lxvi. 205
Justs and tournaments , ceremonies used at	—	—	xlvi. 263
Juvenal , specimens of a new French translation of	—	—	xl. 548

K

Kable , M. his composition for painting in wax	lxv.	94
Kaempfer , an edition of his history of Japan, from the original MS.	—	—
	lxi.	145
Kaestner , M. on the lunar disk	—	—
— On the teeth of wheels	—	—
	lxix.	253
	lxix.	542
	Kaestner ,

Kasner, Professor , censured	—	xxxiii. 499
Kaims, Lord , his observations on evaporation	—	xlvi. 95
— His arguments against literary property	—	ll. 93
Kalm, Professor , his tour in North America	—	xl. 210
— His description of the black snake	—	xl. 213
— Of the bull frog	—	xl. 216
— Of the inhabitants of Montreal and Quebec	—	xl. 217
Kalender , the civil, religious and allegorical history of	—	lvi. 337
Kalmucks , description of	—	lxvii. 417
Kambi, an Emperor of China , how cured of his inclination to strong liquors	—	x. 299
Kamtschadales , the ignorance and depravity of that people	—	xli. 441
— Their modes of courtship and marriages	—	xli. 441
— Their uncouth language	—	xli. 443
Kamtschatka , known to the ancient Chinese	—	xxix. 518
— Description of, and its inhabitants	—	xxx. 282
— Voyages to	—	xxxvi. 511
— Account of	—	xli. 440
— Steller's description of	—	lii. 592
— Discoveries relating to	—	lii. 593
— Inhabitants described	—	lii. 593
Kang Hsi, Emperor of China , his literary works	—	lx. 552
— His instructions to his sons	—	lxx. 557
Kanor , a political allegory	—	iii. 52
Kantmar, Prince , his literary productions	—	lxx. 563
Karpis , the Gardener, his catechism	—	xxxi. 508
Katherine de Medicis, Queen of France , some account of	—	xxiv. 289
Katherine, St. collegiate church of, near the Tower of London, account of	—	lxviii. 323
Keate, Mr. account of his various writings	—	lxi. 117
— His opinion of the Roman earthen ware found in the sea, on the Kentish coast	—	lxx. 267
Kedleston , the seat of Lord Scarfdale, described	—	lviii. 210
Keil's calculation of the quantity of blood in a human body	—	v. 507
Keith, George , Lord Marshal of Scotland, his eulogy	—	lxi. 300
Kelly, Dr. his dispute with Dr. Smith	—	xxxiv. 75
— His account of an extra uterine foetus	—	xxxviii. 433
Kelly, Mr. ungenerously treated with respect to his comedy, A Word to the Wife	—	xlvi. 150
Kelp , observations relative to, made in France	—	lii. 621
— On the noxious qualities of	—	lii. 621
Kenet, Dr. his curious agreement for the cure of a patient	—	lviii. 174
Kenmore, Lord , his improvements at Killarney	—	xxxvi. 307
Kennedy, Ba. bara , her case	—	xxix. 351
— Cured by a sea voyage	—	xxix. 351
Kennicot, Dr. his collation of Hebrew manuscripts recommended	—	xxiv. 203
— Warburton's reflections on his collating the Hebrew MSS	—	xxxiv. 301
		Kennicot,

- Kennicot, Dr.* his animadversions on the Bishop of Gloucester's reflections — xxxiv. 301
 — Notable dilemma in favour of his collation of the Hebrew MSS. — xxxiv. 303
 — Strictures on his collating scheme — xxxvi. 134
 — His new interpretation of the slaughter of the men of Bethshemeth — xxxviii. 283
 — State of his great undertaking — xliii. 57
 — His collation of the scripture manuscripts attacked xlvii. 245
 — Attacked, with regard to his collation of the Hebrew Bible xlix. 18
Kenrick, Mr. reproved for his attack on Dr. Johnson's Shakespeare xxxiii. 457, 467
 — His illustration of several passages in that author xxxiii. 460
Kensington Gardens, poetically described — xxxvii. 141
Kent, men of, whimsical reason why they ought to be exempt from paying any duties on brandy — xiv. 456
Kent, kingdom of, how converted to Christianity xv. 537
 — Relapses from Christianity — xv. 575
Kent, the architect, account of — xxxix. 183
 — His excellence in designing — lxiv. 192
 — His improvement in laying out pleasure grounds. lxiv. 195
Kepler's problem, what — xv. 386
 — Account of him and his discoveries — lx. 530
Keraskof, a Russian poet of that name — lxx. 564
Keren-Happuch, the meaning of that name xiv. 244
Kereschich, M. his introduction to the history of Dalmatia, &c. lii. 594
Kerguelen's voyages to the South Seas — lxviii. 636
Kermis, insect, described — iv. 288
Kerr, Mr. his account of the tree producing the Terra Japonica lv. 253
 — Of the culture of the white poppy, and preparation of opium in the East Indies — lv. 255
Kerroux, Mr. his history of Holland — lviii. 225
Kerry, description of the high mountains and beautiful lakes in that county — xvii. 508
Kesfiah, enquiry into the meaning thereof — iii. 262
 — The true meaning of — xiv. 244
Ketel, (a Dutch painter) his whimsical methods of painting xxvi. 251
Ket's Coty-house, account of that antiquity xlix. 225, 381
Kettlewell, Mr. the editors of his works censured x. 330
Keyser, John-George, his birth and education xv. 604
 — His travels — xv. 604
 — Honours paid him in England — xv. 605
 — Account of his writings — xv. 606
 — Further anecdotes concerning him — xv. 608
Keyser, testimonies of his remedy for the venereal disease xxiii. 169
 — Preparations of his sugar plumbs, and observations of xxiv. 327
 — His and other pills for the ven. dis. remark on xxxiii. 372
Keyser,

Keyser , his dispute with Mr. Wathen	—	xxxiv. 163
— Conjecture on the process of his pills	—	li. 548
Khan , the meaning of that word	—	ix. 176
Kiang-tse , the Chinese merchant, curious story of	—	xli. 262
Kidney , the disorders and cures	—	xxvii. 100
Kien Lung , present Emperor of China, his historical poem	—	lv. 537
Kildare, Earl of , account of that family	—	xii. 343
— Anecdote concerning his wedding gloves	—	xxiv. 20
Killarney , lake of, described	xvii. 508.—xxxvi. 306, 313
— Its beautiful and romantic appearance	—	xxxvii. 281
— Poetically celebrated	—	xlvi. 216
— Stag-hunting there described	—	xlvi. 216
Killila Dumma , a remarkable book of the Hindoos	—	xl. 236
Kimber, Mr. account of his life and writings	—	xvii. 448
Kimpton, Mr. story of his presenting Mr. Haweis to the rectory of Aldwinckle	—	xxxvii. 383
— Accused of misbehaviour in an affair of executorship	—	xxxvii. 390
— See Haweis .
Kings , the most essential virtue of	—	ii. 440
— and Queens, betake themselves to monasteries	—	xv. 580
— Why	—	xv. 583
— Become generals of religious orders	—	xv. 584
— Asserted to be the devil's children	—	xx. 204
— Ill consequences of a king's trusting the administration to another	—	xxiv. 421
— Whether elective or hereditary succession of, be preferable	—	xxvi. 165
— Made for mankind, not mankind for Kings	—	xxvii. 450
— of Great Britain, Third of any name propitious to England	—	xxiii. 494
— May appoint their own servants	—	xxviii. 132
— Not obliged, however, to regard the artful clamours of a party against their ministers	—	xxviii. 132
— of England, sufficiently guarded by the love of their subjects, and no other guard legal	—	xxix. 247
— Their power greatly limited in the feudal times	—	xlvi. 39
— Their gradual encroachments on the rights of the people	—	xlvi. 39
— Seasonable hint to, against the abuse of royal mercy	—	xliv. 104
King's-evil , no proper evidence in support of the royal touch	—	iv. 5
King, Archibald , his system of ethics objected to by Mrs. Maccaulay-Graham	—	lxx. 91
— His origin of evil, attacked by the same	—	lxx. 96
King, Dr. William , his oration	—	ii. 69
— Remarks on it	—	ii. 229
— Translation of it	—	ii. 235
— Censured for it	—	ii. 343
— Supposed to be the author of the dreamer	—	xii. 395
King, Mr. his description of a remarkable insect	—	xxxix. 417
— His attempt to account for the deluge	—	xxxix. 426

King,

- King, Mr.* his attempt to account for the formation of spars, &c. xxxix. 427
- His remarks on the Abbey of Bury St. Edmunds liii. 498
- His account of a curious antique seal — lvii. 264
- His account of a curious piece of ordnance fished out of the sea lxii. 112
- Of petrifications found in East Lothian — lxii. 219
- Of antiquities dug up in Mersey island, &c. lxii. 271
- His sequel to his obs. on ancient castles — lxx. 353
- Kingborough, Lord*, his improvements on his estates in Ireland lxiii. 41
- Kingston, Dutchess of*, her trial — lvii. 442
- Kippis, Dr.* his letter to the Reviewers concerning Mr. Madan's Thelyphthora — lxiii. 479
- Kiprian*, a Russian historian — lxx. 563
- Kircher*, his plan for constructing a burning machine xiii. 421
- Kirkdale*, church of, a Saxon inscription on, illustrated lxii. 114
- Kirkland, Mr.* his account of a curious medical case xxvii. 192
- Kirwan, Mr.* his experiments on the specific gravities and attractive powers of saline substances — lxvi. 372
- His continuation of the experiments and observations on the specific gravities, &c. — lxviii. 377
- His experiments, &c. on mineral acids lxx. 23
- Kisser*, the different kinds of — xviii. 82
- Venus's composition of, poetically described xxiv. 401
- 2d and 6th from Secundus, with a translation lii. 388
- Kite*, electric, experiments with — xxxvii. 244
- Kittiwakes*, (sea birds) humorous anecdote relating to xlv. 147
- Klopstock*, parallel betwixt his death of Adam, and the Oedipus of Sophocles — — xxix. 95
- Knave*, how made honest — — ii. 430
- Knee*, a crooked one, how to be cured — xxxv. 343
- Account of an extraneous body cut from the joint lv. 257
- Knight Errantry, Spiritual*, institution of — xi. 416
- Knights of Malta*, statutes of that order — xxiv. 90
- Oath on admission to the order — xxiv. 92
- Present to them, by the pope — xxiv. 95
- Knights of the Shire*, when first summoned to parliament xii. 415
- Knight, Dr.* his account of a singular recovery from a fever xvi. 546
- His method of making artificial magnets lxii. 221
- Kuiter, Dr.* an advocate for the genuineness of the book of Revelation ascribed to St. John — lix. 145
- Knocking loud at doors*, rudeness of, censured lix. 123
- Kroll, M.* his account of the beds of the ancients for sick persons lv. 490
- Knot*, explanation of that punishment — xxiii. 149
- A cruel mode of punishment in Russia — xl. 599
- Story of Madem. la Pouchin, on whom it was inflicted xl. 599
- Knowledge of God*, the peculiar felicity of man — i. 296
- of mankind, the foundation of morality — ii. 452
- Knowledge*

Knowledge of God, how it affects moral actions	iv. 52
— Human, how acquired and improved	x. 34
— Manner in which it is acquired	xv. 56
— Particular, previously necessary to general	xx. 36
— Ought to be communicated gradually to the mind.	xxiii. 34
— How to be attained	xxiii. 36
— Relating to any being resolvable into a knowledge of its effects	xxiii. 38
— Scientific and literary, their inseparability	xxiv. 37
— Practical, not transferable	xxvi. 122
— Natural, peculiarly beneficial persons of a sedentary disposition	xxix. 341
— Human, obstacles to the progress of	xxxvi. 523
— Not always productive of happiness	xlii. 291
— of the world, study of, recommended	l. 464
Knowalls, account of the family of	xli. 248
Knowles, Admiral, vindication of his conduct	xviii. 621
Knox, John, the Scotch reformer, his character	xx. 196
— His rude treatment of Mary, Queen of Scots	xx. 403
Knuphis, temple of, described	xv. 415
— Explanation of the word	xv. 415
Koelruter, Mr. his account of a new plant of the Mule kind	lvi. 529
Koenig, M. his subterraneous geometry	lxiv. 454
Kolben, his account of the Cape of Good Hope, fabulous	lv. 545
— His character as a faithful relater of his travels, vindicated against Abbé de la Caille	lvi. 458
Konningstein Fort, description of	xvi. 589
Kopilo, or Brama, the God incarnate of the Bramins, controversy concerning	xxix. 490
Koran, style of, correspondent with that of the Hebrew poetry	xiv. 253
— Extracts from it, political and moral	xxxiv. 261
— History of	lii. 531
— French translation	lxviii. 635
Korriß, the noblest of the Arabic dialects	lxiii. 109
Kouls Nadir, his origin	ix. 253
— Is carried, while young, into slavery by the Tartars	ix. 253
— Makes his escape, and commences robber	ix. 253
— Advances to the command of the Persian army	ix. 254
— Deposits his prince, and sets an infant on the throne	ix. 256
— Declares war against the Turks	ix. 256
— Is elected king	ix. 263
— A comparison between him and Alexander	ix. 263
— Commits great cruelties in India	ix. 264
— His life attempted by his son, whose eyes he orders to be put out	ix. 264
— His bloody purpose against his Persian soldiers	ix. 264
— Is murdered by them	ix. 266
Kracheninikow, M. his account of Kamtschatka	xli. 440
Kraft, Mr. his memoir on the force of oars	lvi. 526
Kraken,

- Lake*, a colour, the preparation of from Brazil wood xix. 271
Lake, remarkable instance of an unfathomable one disappearing xxii. 311
 — How to dispose lakes, rivers, &c. in the great plans of garden xlv. 350
Lakes and meres, methods suggested for the improvement of li. 16
Lama, Grand, of Tartary, account of — lvi. 460
Lamas and Tjennas, the virulence of the poison of ix. 44
 — Antidote against it — — ix. 45
 — Effects on various animals — — ix. 47
Lamberg's journal of a man of pleasure — liii. 174
Lambert, M. his account of a new method of treating an aneurism xxvii. 195
 — His experiment on the magnet — xlv. 538
 — His memoir on the figure of the ocean — xlv. 526
 — His memoir on the velocity of sound — xlv. 570
 — On the proper gradation of light and colours in painting xlv. 671
 — His essay on measuring the degree of moisture in the air lii. 562
 — On taxometry — lii. 583—liii. 563
 — His new recommendations of improvements in meteorology liii. 534
 — On the influence of the moon over the weight of the atmosphere liii. 535
 — On spying-glasses — — liii. 536
 — On a superstitious regard to almanacks — — liii. 543
 — On the fluidity of sand, &c. — — liii. 547
 — On the density of the air — — liii. 547
 — On a satellite of Venus — — liii. 560
 — His remarks on the temperaments of music lv. 492
 — On aerial perspective — — lv. 492
 — His observations on flutes — — lviii. 516
 — On mills — — lviii. 516
 — His treatise on pyrometry, or the method of measuring fire and heat — — lxiii. 240
Lambert, Mr. the painter, his works appreciated lxiv. 183
 — Account of — — lxiv. 506
Lamech, reflections on his speech to his two wives lxviii. 3
Lana penna, account of that curious shell — xlviii. 283
Lancaster, account of some Roman antiquities at — lxii. 109
Lancaster, Dr. some account of — lviii. 193
Land of Great Britain, its value computed — ii. 252
 — A scheme to lower the rents of — xvii. 308
 — Property, how alienated — — xvii. 148
 — The advantages of property in that, superior to monied property xxii. 62
 — The disadvantages of parcelling it out into large farms xxii. 63
 — Duty of the landholder to his tenants — xxii. 64
 — Hints for regulating the rights of property in — xlv. 564
Land

Lands gained from the sea on the coast of Languedoc, how accounted for	lxv. 486
— See Husbandry .
Land-tax , reduction of it considered	ii. 143
— Remarks on the reduction of	ii. 247
— Land-holders, not agrieved by, at 4s. in the pound	xxxi. 75
— Just remarks on the inequality of the	lviii. 172
Landlord and landlady , a German feast described	xxiv. 127
Land-crab , the breed of, cultivated in the West Indies for provision	lxix. 47
Landø, M. de la , his apology in regard to what he had said of Sir Isaac Newton	xxvii. 226
— His account of a comet seen at Paris	xxix. 145
— His letter to Mr. Maskelyne concerning the longitude	xxix. 145
— His obs. on the eclipses of Jupiter's satellites	xxxvii. 171
— On triangles	xxxvii. 172
— His invention of an electrometer	xl. 97
— His obs. on the spots and libration of the moon	xl. 494
— His directions for making the tour of Italy	xl. 577
— His memoir on a singular irregularity observed in the motion of Saturn	xliv. 499
— On the immersions and emersions of Jupiter's second satellite	xliv. 503
— On the change in the inclination of the third satellite of Jupiter	xliv. 503
— His explication of the phenomena of the ascent of fluids in the capillary tubes	xliv. 531
— A zealous champion for the doctrine of attraction	xliv. 531
— His memoir on the theory of the planet Mercury	xliv. 521
— His third memoir on the theory of Mercury	xlvi. 677
— His memoir on the orbit of Saturn	xlvi. 497
— On the diameter of the sun, and on the protuberance observed on its disk during the transit of Venus	l. 552
— On the parallax of the Sun	l. 553
— His eulogy on M. Commerçon	liii. 599
— On the flux and reflux of the sea	liv. 557
— Memoirs by, on astronomical subjects	lxv. 485, 486, 492
— His notion of the course of the tides	lxv. 533
— His second mem. concerning the spots on the sun	lxvii. 505
— On the planet of Herschel	lxviii. 630
— On the inclination of the third satellite of Jupiter	lxviii. 630
— On the theory of Venus	lxviii. 630
— His objections to the notion, that the solar spots are excavations in the luminous matter of the sun	lxx. 260
— His hypothesis concerning the centre of gravity of the solar system controverted	lxx. 501
Landø, John , his theorems relating to the circle	lxiii. 327
— His letter to the Reviewers	xxi. 164
— His specimen of a new method of comparing curvilinear arcs	xliv. 396
	Landø,

Lapland, Language	—	—	x. 489
— Account of the inhabitants	—	—	lvii. 509
Lapchin, Abraham , brother to the Empress Eudoxia, his disgrace	—	—	li. 498
— Is condemned	—	—	li. 499
— His horrid punishment	—	—	li. 499
Larceny , what, and how punishable in England	—	—	xv. 15
Larch-tree , account of	—	—	xxxii. 87
Lardner, Dr. his literary character	—	—	xxxii. 1
— His literary correspondence	—	—	xlii. 159
Lassus, M. de , his experiments on the combination of the acid of tartar with antimony	—	—	xvii. 495
— His obs. relative to natural history	—	—	lii. 619
— His account of the inoculation of the royal family of France	—	—	lii. 624
— His observations on zinc	—	—	liv. 559
— His new observations on the analysis of crystals, of verdegris, and salt of lead, &c.	—	—	lxi. 495
— On some new phenomena produced by different saline mixtures	—	—	lxi. 496
— His mem. on accidents occasioned by animal putrefaction	—	—	lxii. 514
— On a method of improving the tartar emetic	—	—	lxii. 516
— His observations on the properties, &c. of zinc	—	—	lxv. 483, 491
— On ammoniacal salts	—	—	lxv. 484
— On several kinds of air	—	—	lxv. 492
— On the accidents attending the small-pox and measles of a malignant sort	—	—	lxviii. 559
Late hours , an apology for	—	—	xxv. 451
— Pernicious effects of	—	—	lxiii. 369
Latham, Mr. his account of an extraordinary dropical case	—	—	lxii. 217
Latimer, Bishop of Worcester , from being a zealous papist becomes a protestant	—	—	xlii. 22
— The effects of his good humour and eloquence on the students at Cambridge	—	—	xlii. 24
— Was a very popular preacher	—	—	xlii. 24
— His present to the King	—	—	xlii. 27
— Sent to the Tower	—	—	xlii. 28
— Set at liberty	—	—	xlii. 28
— Character of his sermons	—	—	xlii. 29
— Sent again to the Tower	—	—	xlii. 33
— Goes through his last sufferings with great composure and firmness of mind	—	—	xlii. 34
— Extract from a merry sermon of his concerning money	—	—	xix. 34
— His martyrdom and heroic behaviour	—	—	xxx. 15
— Curious passage from one of his sermons before Edward VI.	—	—	xli. 268
Latin , the injudicious method of teaching	—	—	vii. 144
— A proper method of initiating a child in it	—	—	ix. 457

Latin, differently pronounced by the English and other nations

- Who the first Englishman that wrote in that language xii. 200
- Grammars, in Latin, censured — xv. 581
- Latinism and Gallicism, investigation of — xxviii. 375
- Language, observations on the arrangement of — xxiii. 311
- Critical instances of — — — xxiii. 312
- Reflections on the use and disuse of, in the language of our law — — — xxiii. 313

Latitude, value of a degree in — — — xxxix. 465

- The length of a degree in Maryland, and Pennsylvania xlii. 417
- Measurement of three degrees at Vienna — — — xlii. 420

— Mr. Pigot's astronom. obl. on that of particular places lxvii. 444

Latona, famous chapel of, still existing — — — xlvi. 289

Latapie, M. his description of a manufacture of basso-relievs of factitious alabaster. — — — lv. 391

Laud, Archbishop, his character — — — xii. 227

— Reflections on the severity of his punishment — — — xl. 357

— His character — — — l. 165

— His strange diary — — — l. 165

Laudanum, in what cases preferable to opium — — — ix. 132

Lauder, William, convicted of forgery — — — iv. 97

— His virulence against Milton justly retorted upon himself — — — x. 146

— His life — — — lxvii. 337

— His villanous attack on Milton, his detection, and his obscure end — — — lxvii. 337

Lauderdale, Duke of, debates relating to his evil administration — — — xxviii. 129, 192

Laughter, invective against — — — l. 265

— Philosophical observations on — — — lvii. 108

Lanna tree, described — — — xl. 203

Launay, Mr. his inquiry into the origin of accidental fossils in the Belgic provinces — — — lxiv. 530

— His memoir concerning the oricalcum of the antients lxiv. 540

Lauragnais, Count, his experiments relative to the obtaining gold from vegetable earths and ashes — — — lxvii. 504

Laurence, St. miraculous account of his thigh-bone — — — xxiii. 322

Lawrencekirk, village of, improved and made a burgh of barony — — — lxiii. 145

Lautrech, a French General, character and death of — — — xxiv. 131

Laura Cesarea, on the poison of — — — lxx. 592

Lava of Mount Aetna, an account of — — — lv. 460

Lavater, M. his physiognomical portrait of himself — — — lxx. 442

— Some account of his character for learning and abilities lxx. 445

Law, Edmund, Bishop of Carlisle, assists in a new edition of Locke's works — — — lvii. 459

Law, John, (author of the Mississippi Bubble) account of lxv. 283, 295

— Singular turns of his fortune — — — xliii. 183

Law, William, a great promoter of despotism — — — i. 407

Law, William , his enmity toward reason	—	lx.	241
— His last words, and inscription on his tomb	—	lxvi.	155
Law, Mr. His verses on the peace in the Cambridge collection	—	xxix.	45
Law , division of	—	ii.	58
— The principles of	—	vi.	268
— Definition of	—	xi.	294
— The necessity of studying it, to men of property	—	xix.	488
— Scheme of registering reports of cases	—	xx.	490
— Arguments for and against studying the old books of	—	xx.	596
— Criticisms on the language of	—	xxiii.	238
— Origin and progress of law, arts, and science	—	xxv.	175
— Few and brief, a precarious security for property	—	xxvi.	1
— Against irreligion, pernicious to colonies, and to society in general	—	xxviii.	403
— Peculiar terms formerly used in law	—	xxx.	286
— Remarks on the profession of	—	xxxi.	459
— Right of breaking, if a man chuses to suffer the punishment	—	xxxi.	504
— Why deemed an inelegant and an uncouth study	—	xxxiv.	107
— Definition of	—	xxxiv.	109
— Three grand divisions of	—	xxxiv.	379
— In general considered	—	xxxiv.	379
— Study of the civil, recommended	—	xxxv.	69
— The great object in the security of property	—	xxxvi.	518
— Ought to be in a dead language	—	xxxix.	467
— Cruelty and injustice of laws in terrorem	—	xliv.	188
— For the direction of commerce tyrannical	—	l.	215
— Whether the profession admits of eloquence	—	l.	340
— Usefulness of law to history	—	l.	341
— Elements of	—	liii.	434
Law of England , animadversions on	—	ii.	148
— Study of, recommended	—	xvi.	224
— Account of Viner's institution of	—	xix.	486
— Cause of the imperfections of	—	xxiii.	394
— Rude and imperfect state in the earlier periods of history	—	xxviii.	62
— Whether the obsolete statutes ought to be annihilated	—	xxviii.	63
— Inconvenience of the multiplicity of the penal laws	—	xxviii.	64
— Indiscriminate severity complained of	—	xxviii.	64
— Rudis indigestaque moles	—	xxviii.	169
— Hints for a digest of	—	xxviii.	170
— Ought to be confined to matters purely civil	—	xxix.	129
— Jealousy between the civil and ecclesiastical law	—	xxix.	161
— Definition and acc. of the civil law of Engl.	—	xxix.	100, 164
— England formerly governed by it	—	xxix.	166
— The origin of the canon law	—	xxix.	167
— Considered	—	xxxiv.	383
— Bulk and confusion, a reproach to it	—	xxv.	66
— Able to maintain its authority without military aid	—	xxxix.	86

Law of England, on the use of Latin in the laws	xxxix.	465
— Account of the criminal jurisprudence	xli.	293
— Necessity of moderating the penal laws	xlvi.	470
— Defect of, in the prosecution of felons	xlvi.	474
— Disproportion of the criminal to the degrees of guilt	xliv.	103
— General idea of	l.	453
— Excellence of the criminal	l.	454
— Necessity of a strict execution of the penal	lv.	309, 341
Law, feudal, enquiry into the origin of	xlvi.	585
— Progress of	xlvi.	587
— Account of	xlvi.	39
Law of France, notable laws in the reign of Dagobert I.	xlvi.	435
Law, Frederician code, imperfections of	xxvi.	2
Law, Jewish, Bishop of London's account of the end and design of, considered	xv.	125
— Provision for preventing idolatry	xix.	424
Law, martial, formed on principles of equity similar to those of civil courts	xli.	424
Law, municipal, defined	xxxiv.	379
Law of nations, often misunderstood	xxiii.	104
— Little respected by managers of national concerns	xxiii.	114
— Remarks on	xxiii.	538
— Summary of	liv.	397
Law of nature, had no place in paradise	ii.	298
— The law of the devil	ii.	345
— Defined	xvii.	120
— In proportion to the capacities of men	xvii.	121
— Often misunderstood	xxiii.	104
— First understood by Wolfius	xxiii.	106
— The intricacy of, accounted for	xxiii.	114
— Defined	xxiii.	186
— Remarks on	xxiii.	538
Law, Roman, character of	xiii.	390
Law of Scotland, the criminal preferable to that of England	xxi.	303
Laws of Moses, one of Voltaire's best tragedies	l.	525
Lawrence, Archbishop of Canterbury, flogged by St. Peter	xv.	576
Lawrence, Mr. his verses on the birth of the Prince of Wales	xxviii.	20
Lawson, Dr. a poetical sketch of his character	xxii.	175
Lawson, Dr. John, extract from his sermon on the evil tendency of false shame	xxii.	268
Lawyers, a proposal for the reformation of	ii.	118, 129
— A smart reflection on them	iii.	41
— Character of a good lawyer	xxi.	302
— The principal men in parliament on constitutional debates	xxxi.	459
— Mr. Harward's speech on the use and importance of	xxvii.	417
Lepard, Dr. his account of the Somersham water	xxvii.	373
— His account of the distemper among the horned cattle	lxiv.	276
Leyman,

Layman , the writings of in defence of Christianity, an honour to our country	xiv.	155
Layman , his pecoliar theory of religion	xxx.	226
Layman , a machine used by painters, by whom invented	xlvi.	26
Laxness , the guilt and malignity of, insisted on	xxv.	34
Lead , noxious impregnation of, in Devonshire cyder	xxxviii.	17
— This opinion controverted	xxxviii.	18
— Its poisonous quality	xxxix.	37
— The cause of the West Indian dry belly-ach	xxxix.	38
— Medicinal uses of certain preparations of	xli.	311
— The internal use of preparations of lead	xliv.	485
— Observations on the poison of	lii.	163
— Ray's essays concerning	lvii.	479
— Analysis of the crystals of the salt of	lxi.	496
— Chemical experiments on the ore	lxii.	48
— The poisoning qualities of	lxiv.	536
— Improvements in the smelting of the ore proposed	lxviii.	349
League , the famous one in France, strange temper of the times in which it was formed	xxxviii.	559
Leaping , in the Olympic Games, described	i.	112
Lear , King , extract from an old play on which Shakespeare founded his tragedy	lxi.	296
Learned , why not remarkable for social virtues	ii.	459
Learning , why it has not farther advanced morality	ii.	458
— Polite, its advantages	iv.	176
— Its influence on revelation	xi.	439
— Promoted by the study of antiquities	xix.	513
— The history of	xxii.	395
— Advantages of	xxii.	420
— That branch of, considered by as as the principal which has been the object of our study	xxiii.	1
— Not rejected by Christianity	xxix.	69
— Its assistances to a clergyman	xxix.	69
— Necessary to enable men to judge in religious matters	xxix.	122
— State of, in the time of Trajan	xxxiii.	329
— In the fifth century	xxxiii.	386
— Its defects and uncertainty pointed out	xl.	159
Leather , premiums offered for the discovery of a new material for tanning	xiv.	428
— An improved method of tanning	lx.	419
Leaves of plants, their importance	xxi.	141
— Observations on	xl.	557
Lechery of ears, what	xxv.	415
Lecturers and professors , their office and qualifications	xxix.	14
Lectureships , curious account of the mode of soliciting for them	xxxviii.	404
Lee , Nat. his shrewd answer to a question when in bedlam	v.	468
Lee , Sir Thomas , his speech in the House of Commons on the non-attendance of members	xxviii.	125
Lee ,

Lee, Sir Thomas , on bribery and corruption	—	xxviii. 134
— His remark on the state of the navy	—	xxviii. 189.
— His motion on some disorderly proceedings at a grand committee		xxviii. 192
— His motion relating to polygamy	—	xxviii. 195
— Remark on a breach of privilege	—	xxviii. 260
— On the abdication of James II.	—	xxviii. 415
Lee, Sol. Gen. his speech on Atkinson's trial		lxix. 348
Leids, Dutchess of , ode to	—	xxiv. 139
Left-handed marriage , what	—	xxv. 412
Legacies , Mahometan law relating to	—	xxxiv. 261
Legend, Sir Digby , his account of the drill husbandry criticised		xliv. 480
— His comparison of the drill and broad-cast husbandry	xlv. 9
— Improvements in husbandry	—	xlv. 198, 204
Legates , whether his testimony can be admitted concerning a will		xv. 12
Legs , fore, method of treating	—	xlvi. 46
Leibnitz , his philosophy founded in nature	—	xxxiii. 498
— His controversy with Locke	—	xxxiii. 499, 501
— His notion of innate ideas	—	xxxiii. 503
— Of the nature of the soul	—	xxxiii. 504
— Borrowed his physics from Pythagoras	—	xxxv. 546
— His doctrine of the Monades	—	lii. 567
— Attempt to reconcile his notion of space and vacuum with the ideas of Newton	—	lii. 568
— His letter to F. Orban	—	lx. 542
— His littleness in soliciting profitable appointments from the Emperor of Germany	—	lx. 543
Leicester, Earl of , his admonitory letter to his son Alg. Sydney		xxix. 249
— Letter to the Lords of Council on his administration in the Low Countries	—	lix. 11
Leigh, Thomas , his letter to Lord Cromwell, a picture of country manners about the time of the reformation		lix. 3
Leiningen Academy , an account of	—	lix. 148
Leprosy , revision of Schillingius on the	—	lviii. 488
Leipfic , academical dissertation concerning the literature of	lx. 60
Leith, Sir Alexander , his trial for felony	—	lxi. 393
Leland, Dr. description of charity with regard to literary disputes		xxxii. 192
Leman, Sir Tanfeld , his analysis of the marriage controversy	xii. 438
Leinx , in Norway, a kind of boom	—	xii. 455
— Bad consequences of their giving way	—	xii. 455
Leo X. Pope , conspiracy against his life	—	xix. 623
— His death and character	—	xix. 624
— A voluptuary	—	xliv. 560
— More worthy of a crown than a mitre	—	lxi. 528
Leo Africanus , his account of savage nations		xliv. 327
Leefling , the botanist, some account of	—	xlvi. 61
		Lepanto,

Lepanto , famous naval engagement there	—	xxiv. 448
Lepor , Mrs. the poetess, character of	—	v. 23
Leprosy , remedy for	—	li. 43
Leprosy , described	—	xvi. 553
Lescbuitz , General, anecdote relative to him	—	lvii. 523
Lesse , professor, extract of a letter from	—	lxx. 600
Lesley , a monarchical bigot, his extraordinary letter to James Harrington	—	xliv. 56
Lesse , Sir John, his extraordinary epistle to Sir Thomas Riddle	—	lxi. 16
Léves , Abbé, his curious instructions for the deaf and dumb	—	liv. 478
Lefloc , Count and Countess, their cruel treatment by the Empress of Russia	—	xli. 431
Leti , Gregorio, his life of Sextus the V. translated, and censured by Mr. Farnsworth	—	xl. 269
— Wrote a life of queen Elizabeth	—	xi. 371
Letters , the invention of	—	vii. 87
— How invented	—	xv. 112
— Their invention ascribed to God	—	xix. 518
— Restoration of, in the sixteenth century, public advantages from	—	xxxiii. 439
Letters instructive, of several learned Spaniards	—	liv. 402
— Curious one from a Scotch warrior	—	lxi. 16
Levant , Hasselquist's travels in the	—	xxxiv. 127
— Travels into, by Count Caylus	—	xlvii. 643
Leviticus , chap. xix. ver. 2. comment on	—	li. 270
Levity , the characteristic of the present age	—	xxxii. 105
Luas present state of	—	xxxviii. 252
Lewis , the Saint, his superstitious weakness with regard to his embarking in the crusades	—	l. 532
— History of	—	liv. 479
Lewis VI. rivalry between him and Henry of England	—	xliv. 568
Lewis , VII. King of France, his contests with Henry king of England	—	xliv. 569
— Reflections on his character	—	xliv. 570
Lewis VIII. King of France, his quarrel with the English	—	xliv. 578
Lewis IX. His artifice for increasing the number of persons of condition to engage in the crusade	—	xlii. 439
— His character	—	xliv. 578
— His character considered as the rival of Henry III. of England	—	xlv. 112
Lewis XI. Particulars of his character	—	xlv. 365
— Remarkable account of his death	—	lvi. 114
Lewis XII. Of France, his journey to Genoa	—	iv. 395
— A party in the league of Cambray	—	xii. 205
— S. Cordier's elegy on	—	lix. 558
Lewis XIII. his character	—	xxxviii. 568
Lewis XIV. A vain-glorious prince	—	i. 169
— Indebted to Colbert for his fame as a patron of the arts and sciences	—	i. 161

Lewis, XIV. Panegyric on him	i.	415
— Severe invective against him	i.	416
— His character	vi.	299
— Made little progress in his studies in his youth	vii.	161
— Exerts himself in dissolving the parliament	vii.	162
— Rejoicings at his marriage	vii.	162
— His passion for M. de la Valliere	vii.	163
— The grandeur and munificence of his mind	vii.	166
— His marriage of Mad. de Maintenon	vii.	171
— His death	vii.	172
— Advice to his son	vii.	172
— Compared with Augustus	vii.	176
— Limier's history of, censured	xiv.	349
— Ill used in his education	xvi.	153
— Abused by Cardinal Mazarine	xvi.	154
— Translated part of Cæsar's commentaries	xvi.	35
— His generosity, an atonement for many errors of his reign	xvi.	45
— His instructions to his grandson Philip V. of Spain	xvii.	161
— Why not to be pitied in his distress	xviii.	296
— Effects of the reign of	xxiv.	393
— Anecdotes relating to his behaviour at his death	xxxvi.	548
— Account of his ladies	xlii.	520
— Story of him and Mad. de Montespan	xliv.	61
— Flourishing state of science and letters in his reign	xlv.	368
Lewis, XV. His queen, a great devotee	i.	420
— Prevailed on to absent herself from the king's bed	i.	421
— Sees her error, and retrieves it	i.	422
— Takes three sisters successively as mistresses	i.	422
— Extravagant lamentation for his illness	xiv.	111
— Epigram on	xxii.	515
— Description of, by Mad. Pompadour	xxxv.	267
— Pompous panegyric on his reign	xxxvi.	513
— Chesterfield's account of his character	li.	32
— Anecdotes of his private life in his younger days	lxv.	242
— In his more advanced years	lxv.	244
— Farther view of his character	lxv.	250
— More anecdotes	lxv.	252, 257
Lewis, Prince, son to Philip king of France, his expedition to England, and design upon the crown	xliv.	577
— Besieged in London	xliv.	577
Lewis, Dr. his experiment on Platina	xlii.	423
— His philosophical commerce of the arts recommended	xxxvii.	157
Lexicographers, their error in fixing on the radicals, and deducing the etymologies of words	xxx.	505, 510.
Leyden, Gaubin's oration in praise of the university of	lii.	598
— University of, its providential establishment asserted	lii.	598
— Prize questions, by the literary society there	lii.	368, 437
Leyden.

Leyden , Interesting narrative of its memorable siege	lvi.	345
— Extreme misery of its inhabitants	lvi.	348
— Providential interposition in their favour	lvi.	350
Leyden Phial , Dr. Franklyn's hypothesis	xxxvi.	242
— Results of, new electrical experiments with it	lvi.	491
Li , a Chinese measure, what	xxix.	518
Libanius , the sophist, some account of	xxxvi.	278
Libels , juries judges of, both as to law and fact	xxxi.	456
— case of, respecting members of parliament	xxxi.	457
— remarks on our laws against	xxxv.	61
Libellers , described	xx.	555
Libelling , theory of	liii.	165
Libella , of Pennsylvania	v.	4
Liberty , political, defined	i.	233
— Moral, enquired into	i.	442
— Lord Halifax's notion of it	iii.	41
— Justly defined by a Frenchman	iii.	135
— English, wherein it consists	iv.	498
— Of action, what	v.	149
— A feeling of this liberty, though we are necessary agents in fact	v.	150
— To what its existence is owing	vi.	42
— Human, and moral agency, their importance	ix.	218
— The great advantages of, to trade	x.	333
— Voltaire's verses in praise of	xiii.	285
— Its preserv. a consolation for the loss of Ch. I.'s pictures	xvii.	279
— How to be used	xviii.	343
— That of the constitution, and of the citizen, distinguished	xxii.	165
— Its influence on taste	xxvi.	17
— Unalienable	xxvii.	450
— Never so much in danger as when no danger is suspected	xxvii.	469
— Can never be too watchfully guarded	xxvii.	469
— Our loss of, predicted to be near at hand	xxvii.	471
— Of the people, in most danger in times of the greatest security	xxviii.	210
— Defended	xxviii.	115
— Of the people	xxviii.	117
— Goddess of	xxviii.	510
— Cap of, manner of giving it to Roman slaves	xxviii.	513
— Physical, not incompatible with the plan of an over-ruling providence	xxix.	48
— The natural right of all mankind	xxx.	516
— Enquiry into the foundation of	xxxii.	163, 165, 168
— Its nature not generally understood	xxxviii.	38
— A noble and generous principle	xxxviii.	38
— Eulogium on, by a Scotchman	xxxix.	43
— Excellent remarks on liberty	xxxix.	469
— Personal observations on the restrictions of	xl.	35
Liberty ,

Liberty , warm sentiments in favour of, by a Frenchman	xli.	259
— Strong attachment of the ancient inhabitants of the north of Europe to it	xliv.	177
— The Anglo-Saxon spirit of	xliv.	496
— The natural birth-right of mankind	xlvi.	579
— Estimate of the nations which do not enjoy it	xlvi.	579
— The greatest part of mankind, slaves	xlvi.	580
— Equivocal liberty	xlvi.	581
— Detestable abuse by party writers and libellers, strongly reprehended by the author of letters to Lord Mansfield	xlix.	102
— Love of, the ancient national virtue of the English	l.	201
— Civil, observations on the nature of	liv.	141
— Dr. Price's notion of, controverted	lv.	152
— True nature of, defined	lv.	218
— Subject farther discussed	lv.	258
— Goodrich's observations on Price's theory of liberty	lv.	239
— Learnedly, discussed	lxx.	508, 521
— Moral, prize dissertation on	lxx.	508
Liberty of conscience , what	v.	255
Liberty of the press , a British constitutional liberty	xiii.	24
Liberty Religious , its unbounded extent	xxxiii.	554
— Legal provisions in favour of	xxxiii.	555
— Spirited remarks on	lxi.	101
Liberty of the will , the real source of moral evil	xiii.	58
— Some plain questions in relation to it	xiii.	402
Liberty and necessity , what	v.	142
Library , Dr. King's speech at dedicating the Ratcliff	ii.	69
— At Geneva	lxi.	543
— Of the Abbey of St. Vincent	lxiv.	517
— Poetically described	lxv.	423
— Of the King of France, account of the number and value of the books and MSS.	lxvii.	508
Licentious pleasures , their destructive tendency	i.	144
Licentious writings , dangerous consequences of	xxix.	555
Licentiousness , the outcry against, often set up by the enemies of liberty	xxxii.	161
— Not justly chargeable on the present age	xxxii.	169
Licentia , the conventual, droll story concerning him	xxiii.	198
Licinius , his war with Constantine	xlvi.	101
Liesaud , his synopsis, proposals for a translation of, into English	xliv.	496
Life , principles of, in bodies	ii.	329
— Human, stages of	ii.	499
— Vegetable, absurdity of arguing from the date of it to the duration of human life	xii.	56
— The term and period of	xxvii.	419
— Requisites for continuing it beyond its usual extent	xxxiv.	497
— Duration of, in cities and the country	xlvi.	100
— Moral reflections on	xlvi.	390

Life , Philosophical estimate of	—	xliv. 112
— Principle of, whimsical theories of	—	lv. 370, 372
— Duration of. See Annuities , Mortality Bills of	—
Life, baby , the absolute necessity of it to the happiness of heaven	—	viii. 287
Life, Moral , its description and consequence	—	xi. 503
— The difficulty and beatitude of attaining	—	xi. 506
— Its pleasures and pains, how proportioned	—	xx. 220
— Importance of laying down a certain plan for the conduct of	—	xxx. 312
— In its simple, natural state, poetically contrasted with the vices and miseries of polished life	—	xlii. 442
— Poetical picture of the miseries of	—	lxii. 393
Life, true of , supposed to be the only real panacea	—	xix. 477
Light , how propagated	—	x. 459
— The difference of the refrangibility of the rays of, accounted for	—	xiii. 427
— and colours, Melvil's observations on	—	xv. 382
— The only cause of the change of position in the leaves of plants	—	xvii. 332
— Its manner of acting on them	—	xvii. 332
— How refracted in different circumstances	—	xxi. 121
— The agent which gives motion to the planets	—	xxi. 399
— Its power of action absolutely unknown	—	xxvii. 384
— On the observation of the rays of	—	xxvii. 419
— Difficulty in the Newtonian theory considered	—	xlvi. 430
— Produced by inflammation, observations on	—	lvi. 376
— Dr. Higgin's notion of	—	lvii. 421
— Its affinity to phlogiston	—	lvii. 546
— Dissertation on	—	lviii. 300
— Obs. on some new properties of, by B. Wilson	—	lx. 513
— Its effects on water, evinced by experiments	—	lxi. 168
— Philosophically investigated	—	lxii. 153
— Its nature, contrary to that of fire	—	lxii. 154
— New experiments and discoveries relative to, in opposition to Newton, &c.	—	lxvii. 293
— Considered as the transparency of space	—	lxix. 332
— Different effects of, in a landscape	—	lxix. 362
Lightbousers , remarks on the construction of	—	lviii. 431
Lightning , its effects on the mariner's compass	—	iv. 246
— Method of preventing, or weakening the stroke of	—	xv. 380
— Affecting accident by	—	xvii. 588
— Cold fusion of metals by it, denied	—	xxii. 102
— Method to prevent ships from receiving damage by	—	xxix. 142
— Methods of preserving buildings from	—	xxii. 200
— Strange negligence of the parishioners of St. Bride's, London, in regard to the preservation of their fine steeple	—	xlii. 204
— Humorous representation of	—	xlii. 205
— Effects of, on conductors	—	xlii. 202

Lightning , damage done to St. Bride's steeple by	xl. 204
— The damage done to St. Bride's steeple, and how to prevent it in future	xl. 247
— Methods for securing churches, &c. from damage by	xliv. 330
— Experiments on	xlvi. 429
— Medical effects of	xlvi. 562
— Henley's account of a storm of	l. 287
— Observations on	l. 386
— Form of conductors for, contested	l. 387
— Caution with respect to	l. 387
— Some peculiar effects of	l. 477
— Remarkable storm of	lii. 332
— Theory of	liii. 393
— Account of the effects of, in a house furnished with an electrical conductor	liv. 450
— Forster's observations on	lix. 403
— Experiments on conductors, by B. Wilson	lx. 415
— The effects of, on board a ship	lxii. 222
— Effects of, at East Burn	lxvi. 374
— Effects of, on Mr. Adair's house	lxvi. 375
— Effects of, at Heckingham	lxix. 394
Ligorius's manuscripts, account of	xiv. 382
Ligonier, Lord , anecdotes of	xxxv. 312
Lillo, George , account of him and his writings	lii. 54
— His use of the Cornish story on which his tragedy of Fatal Curiosity is founded	lxix. 79
Lilly , a botanical description of the various sorts of	vii. 444
— white, an apoplexy occasioned by the effluvia of	xii. 375
— Poetically described	xvii. 460
Lilly, Mr. the astrologer, some account of	l. 168
Lima , city of, described	ix. 296
Lime , proved to contain a true salt or vitriolic acid	iii. 154
— Its effects on land, of how long continuance	ix. 181
— The qualities of quick-lime	ix. 181
— Premiums offered for improving	xiv. 428
— A considerable quantity of, in the composition of the Russian and Swedish pot-ash	xiv. 430
— Quick, experiments on	xv. 376
— Scroop's account of its burning, controverted	xlvi. 60
— and lime-water, experiments on	li. 378
— and mortar, how prepared by the ancient Romans	lvii. 235
— Lortt's account of, controverted	lvii. 473
— Philosophical analysis of quick-lime	lvii. 435
— As a manure, experiments relative to	lix. 424
— Water, various experiments on its use for dissolving the stone in human bodies	vii. 402
— Directions for the use of it	vii. 406
— How made	ix. 181
— Its good effect on a stone in the bladder	ix. 283
— Its other virtues	ix. 283

Lime , different opinions concerning the nature of it	ix.	284
— Its success in acute fevers	ix.	286
— Instances of the efficacy of, in the cure of dysenteries	xv.	391
Limes , recommended in scorbutic pains in the legs and spots of the skin	xiv.	24
— A remedy amongst the negroes for pains in the bones	xiv.	24
Lime-trees , experiments on	liii.	546
— Chocolate, prepared from the	liii.	546
Lincoln, Bishop , sonnet to	lviii.	46
Lincoln , additions to Mr. King's account of the castle	lxx.	365
— Cathedral church of, said to be the noblest Gothic structure in England	lvii.	266
Lind, Dr. his invention of the thunder-house	xliii.	216
— His description of a portable wind-gage	liv.	452
Linden's dissertation on Hyde Spa water	v.	526
Line of draught in carriages , ascertained	xvii.	410
Linsed oil , Morel's account of	xlvii.	345
Linens manufactory , state of, in Ireland	v.	261
— Cloth, how whitened at Haerlem	x.	327
— Trade, present state of, in Scotland	l.	487
— Trade, its decline in Scotland	li.	152
— Causes of	li.	153
— Remedies proposed	li.	153
Linguet, Mr. his paradoxes	lii.	589
— Theorie du libelle	liii.	165
— Some account of that author	lxx.	46
Linnaeus , slighted by the Royal Society of London	iii.	205
— Better used by Dr. Lawfon	iii.	205
— The editor of Hasselquist's travels	xvi.	366
— His method of classing vegetables	xxiii.	213
— Explanation of sundry botanical terms in his system	xxx.	272
— His letter on an amphibious bipes	xxxvii.	443
— His botanic system illustrated	xlvii.	270
— Order observed in the establishment of	xlvii.	273
— His system criticised	lxv.	267
— His dissertation on the increase of the habitable earth	lxv.	298
— On insects	lxv.	303
— General view of his writings	lxv.	374
— Honours paid to his memory	lxv.	375
— His memoir on the Cyca	lxv.	485
— Anecdotes relative to, and encomiums on him	lxvii.	557
Linnet , a fable	lii.	431
Lindsey, Rev. Mr. his account of his religious doubts and scruples	l.	57
— Of giving up his benefice	l.	61
— His notion of the Trinity	l.	101
— A strong unitarian	l.	102
— His farewell address to his parishioners	l.	159
Linum, flax , characteristic examination of, according to the Linnaean system	xxxv.	536

Lies , not to be met with in Palestine	—	xxxiv. 270
— Query from this circumstance concerning the bible accounts of that animal	—	xxxiv. 271
— armies of, in Africa	—	xliv. 527
Lipari Islands , volcanoes in	—	xxx. 551
— Voyage to	—	xliv. 426
— Their volcanoes	—	xliv. 426
— Their emissions and lava, different from those of Ætna and Vesuvius	—	lxix. 427
Liquor , fermented, its influence on the morals, manners and health of men	—	lxvi. 28
Liquors , on the refracting powers of	—	lxvi. 500
Lisbon described	—	lviii. 36
— See Earthquakes .
L'Isle, Abbé de , his poem on rural life	—	lii. 344
Literary property , defended	—	xxvii. 117
— The great question discussed	—	xxvii. 177, 191
— Thoughts on the insecurity of	—	xlvi. 51
— Law questions on	—	li. 82
— Arguments on the statute of 8 Anne	—	li. 83, 263
— The opinions of judges Willes , Blackstone , Aston , Yates and Lord Mansfield	—	li. 83
— Lords Kaimes and Monboddo's opinions	—	li. 90
— Arguments against the perpetuity of	—	li. 93
— Lords Kaimes's , Coaston's , and Arniston's opinions	—	li. 93
— Pleadings of the counsel before the Lords	—	li. 202
— Thurlo's opinion against the common law right	—	li. 204
— Baron Eyre's , Judge Perrot's , Lord Camden's , Mr. Dunning's Mr. Wedderburne's and Lord Lyttelton's opinions	—	li. 204
— Mrs. Macaulay's plea in defence of	—	li. 272
— Dr. Enfield's arguments in defence of	—	li. 357
Literature , a general head of the history of man	—	ii. 453
— Failings in men of literature	—	ii. 458
— Not known till about the time of Moses	—	xii. 264
— State of, in Turkey	—	xv. 281
— The right of attacking literary reputation	—	xxviii. 503
— Strange character of, in the time of Francis I. of France	—	xl. 369
— Too close application, fatal to health, with a remedy	—	xli. 250
— Exercise recommended	—	xli. 250
— State of, in France , in the 12th century	—	xliv. 566
— Ease, not easily to be obtained	—	xliv. 564
— State of, under the Anglo-Saxon kings	—	l. 200, 420
— Present state of, in France	—	l. 579
— Observations on the diseases of literary persons	—	lvii. 485
— On beauty and invention in compositions	—	liii. 554
— State of, in Ireland	—	lx. 189
Little, John , the quaker, proceedings against him for non-payment of tythes	—	x. 424

Littleton, Sir Thomas, his speech in the House of Commons, on the
Speaker's being a courtier	—	xxviii. 126
— On the supply	—	xxviii. 262
Liturgy, the use of forms of prayer	—	vii. 418
— The expediency of forms of prayer	—	xxv. 286
— Specimen of a new, for a congregation at Liverpool	—	xxx. 215
— Used at Margaret-street chapel	—	lv. 133
Liturgy of the church of England, Sunday lessons ill-chosen and im- properly divided	—	i. 202
— Some of the collects objected to	—	i. 203
— Censured	—	i. 204
— The burial office censured	—	i. 205
— A reformation recommended	—	ii. 139
— History of	—	ii. 139
— Scheme for reforming it	—	ii. 264
— Necessity of a reform with an address to the clergy	—	iii. 2
— Beauty and holiness of	—	vi. 240
— A review necessary, and why	—	ix. 447
— Scheme for a reform	—	xxvii. 298
— Necessity of a reform	—	xxvii. 299
— Applauded	—	xxvii. 303
— Specimen of a new form	—	xxvii. 303
— New collect for Trinity Sunday	—	xxvii. 304
— The nobility exhorted to adopt a reform in their chapels	—	xxvii. 307
— Severely censured	—	xxx. 217
— Objections to the review, answered	—	xlii. 125, 359
— Scheme for a new one on liberal and rational principles	—	xlvi. 128
— Alterations proposed	—	l. 500
— Controversy on	—	li. 294
Liver, a large angular worm in the human	—	xvi. 549
— Inflammation of, discussed	—	xlvi. 512
— How to examine the state of, in a living subject	—	xlvi. 512
— Whether void of feeling or not	—	xlvi. 513
— Account of a dreadful disorder incident to, in hot climates	—	xlvi. 134
— Cause and cure of	—	xlvi. 135
— Dr. Heberden's observations on the diseases of	—	xlvi. 260
— Observations on, by M. Portal	—	lxi. 491—lxvi. 502
— Observations on the situation of, in its natural state	—	lxi. 491
— The growth of, not proportionable to the other parts of the body	—	lxi. 492
— Changes its situation in different attitudes	—	lxi. 492
Liverpool, a congregation of protestant dissenters there, on a new plan	—	xxx. 214
— Specimens of their liturgy	—	xxx. 215
— History of, planned by Mr. Perry, completed by Mr. Enfield	—	li. 231
— Town of, its vast increase within the last 200 years	—	li. 232

comparative state of its inhabitants with those of some towns	—	—	li. 232
commerce in	—	—	li. 233
for the encouragement of painting, &c. verses in	—	—	li. 482
humorous swop of, proposed by two Irish parsons	—	—	xxii. 254
notorious historian	—	—	xiv. 344
of the victory which Camillus gained over the Gauls,	—	—	xiv. 344
by other writers	—	—	xiv. 344
of a fragment of his history discovered in the Vatican	—	—	xliv. 146
some account of	—	—	xlvi. 185
analysis and virtues of the medical waters there	—	—	xiii. 382, 383
specimen of his Welsh poetry	—	—	lv. 432
see Magnet .	—	—
observations on	—	—	xvi. 395, 399
his diary humorously considered	—	—	xxxvi. 244
uncommon ones in Norway	—	—	xii. 508
his sentiments of taxes	—	—	ii. 145
ied	—	—	v. 253
es of proof, and the evidence of the Messiah's coming	—	—	v. 285
broke's encomiums on his essay	—	—	x. 449
re of his other writings	—	—	x. 450
inent for his regard to scripture as for his philosophical	—	—	xiv. 155
aded against Condillac	—	—	xv. 113
ntage of studying his essay on the human understanding	—	—	xv. 499
first who clearly delineated the human mind	—	—	xxvii. 202
controversy with Leibnitz	—	—	xxxiii. 499, 501, 504
easy to be reconciled	—	—	xxxiii. 505
idea of the supreme power, as vested in the people	—	—	xxxiv. 385
debted to the ancients for his doctrine of ideas	—	—	xxxv. 545
arch's imaginary interview with him, in the vehicular state	—	—	xli. 247
his philosophical writings extolled	—	—	xliv. 280
his hypothesis with respect to the manner in which we acquire	—	—	lii. 581
our ideas of extension and figure	—	—	lii. 581
Reconciled with Descartes on the origin of our ideas	—	—	lii. 583
Account of the additions and improvements in a new edition of	—	—	lvii. 459
his works	—	—	lvii. 460
little respect paid to his memory lamented	—	—	lvii. 460
principles of civil government defended against the Dean	—	—	lxv. 271, 321, 330
Gloucester	—	—	lxvii. 131
political principles defended against the Dean	—	—	lxviii. 234
ount of	—	—

Locke, John , remarks on the style of his writings	lxviii. 504
Lockman, and Risto , a pastoral dialogue between them	xxix. 407
Locusts , some account of	iv. 116
— Account of	xxxiv. 268
Lode , vast quantity of, raised annually from the Cornish mines	lix. 273
Logarithms , a concise and easy way of making them	x. 339, 349
Logarithmic curve , a pillar in the form of, equally strong in all its parts	xi. 495
Log-line , remarks on	xxxviii. 104
Logic , the usefulness of	vii. 467
— The four operations of, on the human mind	vii. 468
— The study of, necessary to an orator	xx. 69
— and dancing compared	xxvi. 345
— Greatest defect of a Logician, next to his proving nothing at all, is proving too much	xxx. 556
— Observations on	xliv. 282
— Curious investigation of	lv. 288, 380
Logographical printing , the merit of that invention considered	lxx. 221
Loges , who	v. 490
Λογος , true sense of that word, 1 Pet. 3.	xiv. 393
— Critical dissertation on	xxxiii. 413
Lombards , Guillard's memoir on	xxxix. 517
Lomonosof , a Russian poet, his literary accomplishments	lxx. 564
London , a parallel betwixt it and Nineveh	ii. 28
— Commended for its public charities	fi. 30
— Hospital, its rise, progress, and state	ii. 32
— Remarks on the diet and entertainments	x. 500
— How many inhabitants in	xiii. 428
— Have gradually decreased since 1743	xiii. 428
— Sir W. Petty mistaken with regard to the population	xiii. 428
— Lord Wharton's wager concerning the number of inhabitants of	xv. 613
— Estimate of the number of inhabitants in 1716	xv. 613
— Of the number of cattle killed in that city for provisions in one year	xv. 614
— City of, fewer houses in it than heretofore	xvi. 567
— All kinds of provisions adulterated there	xxiv. 78
— and Paris, compared	xxvi. 14
— Common-council of London, how far privileged to interfere in the conduct of the city's representatives in parl.	xxx. 326
— Styled heaven-born lawyers	xxx. 327
— Its amazing extension considered	xxxv. 200
— Hints for its improvements	xxxv. 201
— Shopkeeper, droll account of his travels	xxxix. 436
— Account of the court and city of	xlii. 277
— The number of inhabitants	xliv. 141
— Calculations of the number of the inhabitants	xliv. 137
— Critical obs. on the public buildings of	xliv. 280
London ,

London , diseases peculiar to, according to the seasons of the year, and the proper treatment	—	xliv. 565
— Various remarks on, by M. Grosley	—	xlvi. 166
— Humanity of its inhabitants commended	—	xlvi. 169
— Compared with ancient Rome	—	xliv. 41
— Its populoufness	—	xliv. 28
— Public buildings in, described	—	xliv. 104
— Humoroufly described in a fong	—	liii. 442
— Description of the cup prefented to Mr. Wilkes	—	lvii. 342
— (old) views of, in curious ancient drawings	—	lxi. 13
— Poetical foresight of the ruins of	—	lxii. 128
Longevity , impoffible to be extended beyond the Pfalmift's limits	—	xix. 485
— Remarkable instance of, and how obtained	—	lii. 47
Longinus , praises the fublime in the Fiat of Light	—	ii. 388
— His opinion of plagiarism	—	iv. 100
— The obfervations of, too general	—	xv. 59
— Differtation on his life and writings	—	lv. 469
— Mr. Toup's edition of his works commended	—	lx. 377
— Strictures on the ftyle and fentiments of Longinus	—	lx. 380
Longitude , how to determine	—	vi. 123
— Different methods for finding	—	vi. 123
— Discoverable by the eclipfes of Jupiter's fmallites	—	vi. 124
— By pendulums, clocks, and watches	—	vi. 125
— By the appulfes of the moon to the meridian	—	vi. 126
— Errors corrected by obferving a ftar's culmination	—	vi. 127
— Objections to this method	—	vi. 128
— How folved	—	vi. 128
— To be found by a correct theory of the lunar motions	—	xi. 38
— An attempt to difcover it	—	xii. 147
— Why it cannot be often found from obfervation	—	xiv. 30
— New fcheme for the finding	—	xxiii. 164
— Obfervations on the	—	xxviii. 221
— Dr. Maskelyne's method of finding the	—	xxviii. 406
— M. de Lande's letter on	—	xxix. 145
— Short's account of Mafon's obf. on Mr. Ellicot's clock	—	xxix. 145
— Methods of finding	—	xxix. 308
— Real difference of, between Greenwich and Paris	—	xxxi. 422
— The difference between the obfervations of Greenwich and Paris	—	xxxi. 422, 425
— Account of attempts for the difcovery of	—	xxxiii. 64
— Parliamentary reward for	—	xxxiii. 64
— Harrifon's invention	—	xxxiii. 65
— Proceedings of the Commiffioners relative thereto	—	xxxiii. 169
— Method of finding it by the moon	—	xxxiv. 226
— Dr. Maskelyne's opinion of Mr. Harrifon's time-keeper	—	xxxvi. 396
— Nature of the attempt to afcertain it by clock-work explained	—	xxxvii. 148
— Propofals for meafuring degrees of, on parallels of the equator	—	xxxvii. 378
		Longitude,

Longitude , history of the investigation of	xviii.	270
— Account of the Lunar method for discovering	xlviii.	271
— Account of Mr. Sully's time-keeper	l.	557
— Project for the discovery of	liii.	321
— Act of Queen Anne, appointing a reward for the discovery of	liii.	321
— Defect of it	liii.	321
— Mr. Harrison's claim to that reward	liii.	322
— New act for the same purpose	liii.	329
— M. le Roy's clock tried	lx.	71, 154
— Practical history of the various attempts for the discovery of	lxiii.	198
— First proposed to be discovered by watches, by Gemma Frisius	lxiii.	198
— Mr. Sully's attempt to discover, by time-keepers	lxiii.	199
— Controversy relating to Arnold's time-keepers	lxvi.	355
— Mr. Pigot's astronomical obs. on the longitude of particular places	lxvii.	444
— Of Cambridge in New England	lxvii.	445
— See Harrison .
Longus , a new edition proposed	lviii.	513
Looms for weaving, poetical description of	xvi.	338
Looking-glass , surprising story of a retentive one	xxiii.	407
Lord , satirical description of one	xxxi.	273
— Weighed against a bard	xxxi.	273
Lord's prayer , too often repeated in the church service	i.	202
— Paraphrase on, by Dr. Priestley	lxiv.	165
Lord's supper , two things to be considered in order to form an exact idea of	xi.	432
— Design of its institution, according to St. Paul	xi.	433
— Important consequence of having a precise idea of it	xi.	434
— Specific nature of, said to be taken away by the author of the, plain account of it	xi.	434
— Prostituted to civil purposes	xi.	435
— The true nature shewn	xi.	442
— Not a feast, but a sacrifice	xi.	442
— Indecencies attending the administration of it in the church of Scotland	xxi.	57
— The Bishop of Gloucester's notion of it	xxiv.	142
— Mistaken notions of	xxxviii.	290
— True scriptural idea of	xxxviii.	291
— Mr. Flemming's account and explanation of	xxix.	368
— A typical sacrifice	xxxv.	24
— The custom of preparation for, censured	xlili.	40
— Scripture principles of	lxiii.	450
— Conclusion from	lxiii.	452
— Opinions relative to	lxix.	96
Loretto , owes its grandeur to an ass	xxxi.	219
Loretto , Lady of , superstitious veneration of the papists for	xlvi.	654
— Shocking instance	xlvi.	654
		Loretto ,

Lerato, chapel of, its travels and adventures	—	lxiv. 142
Lorimer, Dr. his letter on the similarity between the east side of the old continent, and the east side of the new, in vegetable productions, &c.	—	xlvi. 346
Lorrain, Duke of, odd remarks on	—	xii. 390
Lorrain, history of	—	lvi. 387
Lorrain, Cardinal, Voltaire's dream concerning him	—	xlvi. 662
Lorrain, Claude, some account of	—	xlvi. 28
Lort, Mr. communicates to the Antiquarian Society, a curious treatise written by Dr. Woodward	—	lvii. 451
— His observations on Celts	—	lxii. 110
Lottery, a literary one	—	xii. 4
— Tuscan, remarkable plan of	—	xliv. 85
— Curious calculations relating to one	—	lii. 563
Loticinus Secundus, a Latin poet of Germany, anecdotes of his life, and an account of his writings	—	xvi. 246
Lough-neagh, its petrifying quality rejected	—	iv. 292
Lough-nefs, described	—	xlvi. 150. 151
Lough Au, described	—	xlvi. 152
Lough-Lomond, described	—	xlvi. 153
Louisiana, described	—	xix. 297
Love, reflections concerning it	—	ii. 436
— Crocodile's tooth a remedy for	—	iv. 281
— That between the sexes, what	—	iv. 538
— Wherein its happiness consists	—	iv. 538
— The necessity of caution and prudence in conducting its affairs	—	viii. 361
— The difference between honest and dishonest love	—	viii. 363
— Contributes to a refinement of manners	—	xiii. 51
— That passion not naturally treated by the poets	—	xv. 477
— Why ridiculed by those who do not feel it	—	xxi. 8
— Brotherly, motives to	—	xxi. 61
— Its power poetically celebrated	—	xxiv. 316
— An apology for its indiscretions	—	xxv. 194
— Its privileges lost among the Parisians	—	xxv. 209
— The various species of, distinguished	—	xxvi. 197
— Hath the greatest connection with the fancy	—	xxvi. 293
— The essence of true religion, and hatred the practice of religious parties	—	xxviii. 44
— The violence of, in the story of a Canarian lady	—	xxxi. 67
— Affecting story of an unfortunate pair of lovers	—	xxxi. 112
— Voltaire's account of Socratic, controverted	—	xxxiii. 278
— Philosophically considered	—	xxxvi. 259
— Poetically described	—	xxxviii. 407
— Rules for preserving	—	xxxviii. 407
— and jealousy, philosophically considered	—	xlvi. 386
— Symptoms of, poetically described	—	xlvi. 134
— of our country, in what respects truly laudable	—	li. 16
— The philosophy of love	—	li. 311
— and joy, tale of	—	xliv. 477

- Love*, beautifully and feelingly described by Homer lvi. 51
 — That description finely imitated by De la Motte lvii. 51
 — Unimpassioned poetry in praise of, ridiculed lix. 143
 — Poem on the power of Love — lix. 307
 — Sickness, cause and remedy of — lxiii. 380, 381
 — Remarkable instance in the brute creation — lxvii. 18
Love of our country, Rousseau's reflections on xxxix. 215
Love of God, wherein it consists — iv. 533
 — In what it consists — lxix. 397
Love in a riddle, (a play) on what occasion wrote xvii. 594
Lowst, Mr. his ridiculous pretensions to science and literature lii. 335
Lowendbal, Count, anecdote relative to — lx. 545
Lowth, Bishop, his excellent notions concerning religious liberty xix. 415
 — Controversy between him and Dr. Warburton xxxiii. 176, 389
 — His ironical encomium on the divine legation, &c. xxxiii. 391
 — His notes and remarks on the second part of an epistolary correspondence — xxxiv. 365
 — His controversy with Bishop Hare — xxxv. 5
 — Poetical compliment to — lxi. 334
 — His new translation of Isaiah, specimen of — lxii. 285
 — Verses by, addressed to a young lady — lxviii. 47
Lowther, Sir John, his speech on the seizure of Montagu's papers xxviii. 264
 — On placemen in parliament — xxviii. 417
 — On the mal-administration of public affairs xxviii. 421
Loyola, Ignatius, his birth and family — xi. 446
 — The occasion of his commencing spiritual knight-errant xi. 446
 — Interrupted in his studies by the devil — xi. 446
 — Establishes the order of the Jesuits — xi. 453
 — Death of — xi. 453
 — Some account of — xxxvii. 555
Lucan, character of, as a poet — xxxvi. 497
 — Criticism on Marmontel's translation of his Pharsalia xxxvi. 498
Lucan, Lady, her paintings commended — lxiv. 131
Lucas, Dr. his hard treatment — ii. 281
 — A great favourite of the people of Dublin, and why ii. 281
 — His greeting to the Irish electors — xxiv. 199
 — His speech for limiting the duration of parliaments xxxvii. 414
 — His remarks on parliamentary jobbing, first called to order, with his defence — xxxviii. 3
 — His motions for reducing the pensions xxxv. 10
 — His speech on addressing the King — xxxvii. 11
Lucerne, proper culture of — xxxi. 47
 — Its culture, uses, and profit — xxxii. 89, 92
 — Obs. on the culture of — xliv. 178—xlv. 287—xlv. 126
 — Average estimate — xlv. 380
Lucian, Observations on his arts — xlv. 586
 — One of his dialogues — xlix. 161
Lucian,

Lucian, his dialogue with Lord Lyttelton in the Elysian Field^s

— Character of Lucian as a writer	lxiv.	23
— Specimen of a new translation of his dialogues	lxiv.	32
Lucilia , her unfortunate marriage	—	xxvi. 67
Lucinda , her moving letter to Calistus	—	xxxviii. 351
Lucius , the first christian King of Britain, corresponds with the Bishop of Rome	—	xv. 570
Lucius of Patra , some account of his writings	xlvi.	585
Lucombe's Oak , interesting account of	—	l. 285
Lucy , Sir Kingmill , his speech on the address for removing the Duke of Lauderdale	—	xxviii. 192
Lucy , Sir Thomas , supposed to be the person alluded to by Shakespeare under the character of Justice Shallow	lxii.	258
Ludecke's exposition of scripture passages alluding to climate, custom, manner, &c.	—	lix. 61
Ludicrous , in literary composition, discussed	lvii.	108
— The ancients excelled by the moderns in that species of writing	lvii.	117
Ludlam , Mr. his new-invented balance for weighing thread, &c.	—	xxxv. 385
— His demonstration of the properties of the engine for turning ovals	—	lxiv. 441
Ludlam's hole, or grotto , in Surry, account of	xlix.	381
Ludlow , General, the design and character of his memoirs	x.	178
Ludlow , description of	—	li. 444
— Controversy relative to the election of representatives	lxvii.	473
Luke , St. his style not less chargeable with Syriac idioms than other evangelists	—	xiii. 16
— Published his gospel before any of the rest wrote theirs	xiv.	40
— Account of his gospel	—	xv. 150
— His gospel, to what pernicious ends peculiarly adapted	—	lix. 15
Lullin Amadeus , some account of that eminent divine	lxi.	545
Lunacy , remarkable case of, legally considered	xxiii.	451
Lunation , mean, exact length of	—	xxviii. 435
Lungs , medicines arriving at them through the circulation, less changed than at most of the other viscera	—	xxi. 406
— Account of an extraneous body forced into	xxxv.	447
— Irritability of	—	lxviii. 562
Luther , Martin, his reflection on unscriptural phrases in representing the doctrine of the Trinity	—	xi. 259
— His character	—	xix. 393
— His unfavourable idea of foreign princes	—	xix. 393
— Invidious representation of his character	—	xxxi. 135
— His character	—	xxxi. 135—xxxiii. 431
— Calumnies invented against him refuted,	—	xxxiii. 432
— Hume's defamation of, refuted	—	xxxiii. 432
— Account of, by a Roman Catholic	—	xxxvi. 544
Luther ,

Luther , strictures on his character and conduct, by a French Roman Catholic	—	—	xli. 525
— How far his conduct at the Reformation was of advantage to the church of Rome	—	—	xli. 527
— His motives and conduct in the Reformation scrutinized	—	—	l. 266
— His life	—	—	lvi. 183
Luton , or Luton-He , some account of	—	—	lxix. 371
Luttrell , Mr. accused of ill-treating Miss Bolton	—	—	xlii. 251
— And Dr. Kelly	—	—	xlii. 251
Lutzen , battle of, and death of Gustavus Adolphus King of Sweden	—	—	xx. 516
Luxated thigh , account of the reduction of one	—	—	xxv. 13
Luxdorph , M. his Latin poetry censured	—	—	lv. 310
Luxembourg , Duke of, his principles of humanity	—	—	xxii. 326
Luxury of dress, furniture, &c. censured	—	—	ii. 326
— How far virtuous and vicious	—	—	vi. 22
— A cause of the decrease of mankind	—	—	viii. 197
— In dress and in eating, &c. bad consequences of	—	—	xi. 137
— of Persia in the time of Xerxes	—	—	xix. 104
— Its effects on the English form of government enquired into	—	—	xxiii. 25
— A display of the present excesses in	—	—	xxv. 342
— of the fourteenth century	—	—	xxx. 168
— A cause of depopulation	—	—	xxxiii. 48
— Defined	—	—	xxxvi. 371
— Its connection with wealth explained	—	—	xxxvi. 469, 518
— A great cause of the dearth of provisions	—	—	xxxvii. 472
— Necessity of, to render a country rich and powerful	—	—	xlvi. 508
— One great cause of the rise of provisions	—	—	xlvi. 351
— Curious dialogue on, between a Dutchman and a Norwegian	—	—	xlvi. 522
— Theory of	—	—	liv. 480
— Carried to the highest degrees in hot climates	—	—	lxvi. 26
— Definition of	—	—	lxix. 139
Lutwidge , Captain, his voyage to the northward	—	—	lii. 123
— His description of Mofen island	—	—	lii. 125
Lycæus , John, a writer in defence of polygamy	—	—	lxiii. 323
Lychui , Cucubalus , account of	—	—	lvi. 530
Lycoperdon , recommended as a styptic	—	—	xv. 277
Lycophron , the poet, characterised	—	—	lxi. 513
Lycurgus , observations on his laws	—	—	xv. 545, 548
— Several particulars relating to him, and his regulations at Sparta	—	—	xx. 290, 425
Lydgate , the poet, his tomb	—	—	lvii. 264
— Specimens of his style, &c.	—	—	lix. 137
Lying-in , ancient accounts of men who lay-in instead of their wives, not true	—	—	xliii. 563
Lylibæum , siege of	—	—	xiv. 484
Lymphatics , doctrine of the	—	—	vii. 286
— The existence of the lymphatic arteries questioned	—	—	x ii. 250

Lymphatics

M A C

317

Lymphatics , account of the extravasation and absorption of	xlii.	309
— Of the urethra and neck of the bladder	xliv.	213
— System of	liv.	14
Lyon, Israel , his inaccuracy in ascertaining the gain of the pendulum in Capt. Phipps's voyage	lii.	131
Lyon, Mr. his description of a Roman bath discovered at Dover	lxii.	279
Lyre , description of that ancient musical instrument	xxvii.	243
Lyric poetry , considered	xxvii.	240
Lyfias , his oration in praise of the Athenians who fell in assisting the Corinthians	lviii.	274
— Compared with Isæus	lx.	456
— His peculiar excellencies	lxix.	335
Lysens, Dr. his account of an extraordinary case of a girl who had swallowed three pins	xliv.	210
Lyttelton, Lord , verses on the birth of the Prince of Wales	xxviii.	20
— Poetical compliment to his memory	xlix.	317
— His great character	li.	442, 451
— Poetical encomium on, as an historian	lxiii.	35
— Stricture on his poetry	lxvi.	121
Lyttelton , the late Lord, not the author of the letters in a book, entitled, The Correspondence	lv.	168

M

Mably, Abbé de , his treatise on the Romans	v.	328
— His remarks on our conduct in the late war	xviii.	41
— On the study of history	lix.	377
— Account of his writings	lxix.	69
Macalister, Mr. his adventures in France	xxxvi.	106
— His account of the Bicetre	xxxvi.	109
— What passed between him and a prisoner there	xxxvi.	200
— Discoverer's the Pretender's machinations	xxxvi.	210
— Arrives in England	xxxvi.	213
Macaroni , satirical picture of	lvii.	410
Macaulay, Mrs. her ardent zeal for liberty	xxix.	374
— Reflections on the death of Prince Henry	xxix.	381
— Poetical compliment to	xxxviii.	410
— Ceremony at a celebration of her birth-day	lvii.	145
Macbride, Dr. his hypothesis relating to fixed air controverted	xlvi.	447
— His letter on the reviviscence of snails	lii.	327
— Two extraordinary cases in midwifery	lv.	251
— Method for preserving the health of seamen by sweet wort	lvii.	1
— His account of an improved method of tanning leather	lx.	419
— Remarks on the efficacy of wort as a remedy for the scurvy	lxi.	276
Maccabees , the design of those two apocryphal books explained	viii.	47, 49
		Maccabees ,

- Maccabeus*, objections against the facts and doctrines contained in them stated and considered — viii. 49, 52
- Mac Carthy, Mrs.* her censure of St. Paul and the Methodists xl. 73
- Macclesfield, Lord*, his remarks on the solar and lunar years v. 40
- Macdermot*, an Irish Chief, some account of — lxiii. 103
- Macdonald, Æneas*, rebel, his case — xxvii. 141
- Macerata*, no such inquisitor there, as pretended by Archibald Bower xviii. 242
- Macgwire, Lord*, the share he had in the Irish rebellion, with his narrative thereof — xxxvii. 33
- Machiavel*, his name assumed by a catch-penny scribbler ii. 167
- Strictures upon his political principles — xxii. 416
- His politics condemned — xxiii. 73
- His political principles displayed and condemned xxvii. 162
- A sincere advocate for tyranny and inhumanity xxvii. 165
- Instanced in his apology for Cæsar Borgia xxvii. 165
- His inconsistencies — xxvii. 166
- Horrible maxims extracted from his Prince xxvii. 168
- Merit of his works allowed where due — xxvii. 170
- Machine*, a steam engine — xi. 155
- Machines*, two principal problems necessary to explain the doctrine of — xi. 469
- Useful observations on — xi. 469
- Improvements in several kinds of xxix. 486—xxxviii. 34, 37
- Used in cotton manufactories, new improvement in xlvi. 197
- To shorten labour, their utility — lxii. 225
- Mackenzie, Rev. Mr.* persecuted by the episcopalian party in North America — lxiii. 440
- Maclaurin, Mr. Colin*, some objections of his with regard to Newton's philosophical discourses, answered — ii. 394
- MacLaine, Dr.* his account and defence of Archbishop Wake's correspondence with the doctors of the Sorbonne xli. 163
- Answered — xli. 165
- His prize dissertation on moral liberty — lxx. 508
- Macklin, Chas.* account of his Farce "Love à la Mode" xxxii. 211
- Nacknight, Dr.* his account of Christ's burial, controverted xxxi. 399
- Mackrell*, that fish known to attack a man, overpower him by their numbers, and kill him — xii. 503
- Macnamarab, Daniel*, his remarkable case xxxv. 327
- Macpherson, Mr.* his introduction to the history of England refuted xlv. 416
- Abusive attack of this writer censured — xlv. 460
- Macquer, M.* of the effects of fire on several earths, &c. xlv. 521
- His memoir on the elastic resin of Cayenne xlv. 689
- A capital discovery in the art of dying silk xlvii. 493
- His inquiries concerning the composition of flint-glass lxi. 496
- Great improvement in his dictionary of chemistry lxiii. 507
- Mad Dog*, observations on the bite of — v. 328
- Cure of the bite of a — ix. 271.—xxi. 379
- Method of curing the rabies canina — xxi. 379
- Mad*

Mad Dog , probable method of preventing the fatal effects of the bite of a	xxvii.	149
— Symptoms of madness in dogs	xxxiii.	53
— Effects of the bite	xxxii.	53
— Directions for the cure	xxxiii.	54
— Cure for dogs	xxxiii.	55
— M. Andry's method of cure	xxxiii.	228
— Use of opium in the bite	xxxviii.	445
— Bite cured by sea salt	xli.	313
— Different remedies for the bite	xlvi.	238
— Several cases of madness	xlvi.	256
— Incurable by the popular remedies	lix.	303
— Instance of the communication of madness from the bite	lxvii.	559
— Efficacy of vinegar	lxvii.	560
— Efficacious remedy for the bite	lxix.	584
— See Dog , Hydrophobia .
Madagascar , encomiums on that island	liii.	604
— Some account of	lxv.	457
— Newest account of	lxviii.	611
Madan, Martin , his controversy with Kimpton, concerning the living of Aldwincle	xxxvii.	382, 390
— His conduct examined	xxxvii.	465
— His disingenuous conduct with regard to the memory of Dr. Clark	xli.	161
— His Thelyphthora criticised	lxiii. 273, 321, 479—	lxiv. 196
— Investives against	lxiv.	221, 230
— More seriously attacked	lxiv.	234
— His Thelyphthora criticised	lxv.	57, 64
— Farther strictures on	lxv.	162, 182
— His controversy with his opponents relative to Thelyphthora	lxvii.	104
Madder , an important article of our commerce	xix.	621
— Advantages derived from it by the Dutch	xix.	621
— Encouragement offered for the cultivation of it in England	xix.	622
— How used in anatomical experiments on animals	xxxix.	538
— Tythe of, arraigned and defended	xl.	291
— Average profit on the culture of	xl.	379
— A preparation of Lacca from	lxvii.	488
Madeira , the number of inhabitants there	xliv.	139
— The increase and mortality at Madeira	xxxix.	426
Madness , definition of	xvii.	521
— Its cause	xvii.	526
— Its species	xvii.	526
— The Diagnostic signs and cure	xvii.	538
— A singular method of curing	xix.	226
— Abuses in the management of mad-houses	xxviii.	242
— Anatomical and philosophical enquiry into the causes of	xl.	562
— Poem on	liii.	140
— New treatise concerning the nature and cure of	lxii.	564

- Madoc*, the first discoverer of the West Indies xviii. 567
Madras, the most healthy of the English settlements in the East Indies — — — xxxix. 346
Madrid, Baret's account of, and manner of passing his time there xliii. 226, 301
 — City of, and court, described — — — lviii. 30
Madrucci, a German bishop, his remarkable exclamation at the council of Trent — — — viii. 249
Mad Tom's sermon — — — xlii. 182
Madura, kings and nobility of, derive their descent from a superior breed of asses — — — lxix. 529
Magdalen house, scheme of, commended — — — xix. 467
 — Institutions of the like nature in other countries described xix. 471
 — Cautions to be observed concerning them xix. 474
 — Penitent prostitutes, so called in France and Italy xix. 472
 — Penitents, ought to be treated with decorum xix. 512
 — Charity, state of — — — xxv. 29
 — Plan of their proceedings — — — xxv. 30
 — Hospital, elegiac verses on the penitents xxviii. 113
 — Charity, account of the success of — — — xxx. 72
Magdalen, Mary, erroneously supposed to have been an harlot xix. 510
 — Her memory insulted, by calling penitent prostitutes by her name — — — xix. 511
 — P'll consequences thereof — — — xix. 512
Magdeburg, cruel massacre at the taking of — — — xx. 452
Magellan, Mr. his experiments on air — — — liv. 434
 — His new construction of Hadley's quadrant recommended by Captain Cook — — — lvi. 459
 — His success in the improvements of mathematical and philosophical instruments — — — lxiii. 497
Magi, the ancient Persian, some account of — — — x. 417
 — Their image worship — — — x. 419
 — Whether Jews or Heathens — — — lvi. 195
 — Their visit to the holy family, critical account of — — — lxi. 263
Magic, natural, the effects of, how easily mistaken for miracles xxxi. 500
 — Defence of — — — lii. 591
Magistracy, shamefully abused under the specious name of mercy xlix. 103
Magistrates, necessary qualifications of — — — ii. 11
 — Their power asserted — — — v. 524
 — No right to inflict penalties upon men for not agreeing to the opinions he thinks just — — — xiii. 175
 — How far his power over conscience — — — xxviii. 507
 — In what case not to be obeyed — — — xxviii. 508
 — How far he ought to interfere in suppressing bad books, and in what manner — — — xxxi. 504
 — Not to interfere in the province of the clergy xxxi. 505
 — Frequent imbecility of — — — xlix. 103
Magus,

Magna Charta , granted	vii.	432
— Its origin traced	xxi.	482
— Question, with respect to its origination, discussed	xlvi.	44
Magnesia , process for preparing	xv.	387
— Medical qualities of	xv.	388
— Characters of	xxxviii.	250
— Good effects of, in severe vomiting	xxxviii.	444
— Henry's method of preparing	xlvi.	261
— Examination of several sorts of	xliv.	334
— Controversy concerning the different preparations of, by Glafe and by Henry	li.	286
— Margraaf's observations on	liii.	556
Magnesia , in Turkey, miserable inns there	xxxiv.	131
Magnets , method of making artificial	ii.	417
— Account of the poles of	ii.	417
— The theory of	vii.	391
— Method of making artificial	vii.	392
— Observations on the variation	vii.	393
— Attraction and direction accounted for	viii.	439
— Theory of the variation	xii.	147
— Proposals to ascertain the variation, and advantages of a periodic review of the variations of the needle	xliii.	433
— Observations, on the diurnal variations	xxiii.	95
— Causes of the variations asserted	xxiii.	96
— Hypothesis of a central loadstone, explained	xxv.	55
— A perpetual motion constructed at Barbadoes on the principle of a central loadstone, with the cause of its failure in England	xxv.	57
— Law of	xxv.	57
— Observations on the dipping of	xxv.	57
— Observations on the variation in Siberia	xli.	440
— Observations on the curvature of magnetic currents	xliv.	538
— Observations on the annual variation	i.	548
— Conjuring tricks with	lii.	25
— Observations on the variation	lii.	622
— Magnetic compasses described	lvi.	545
— Description of Dr. Knight's magnets	lvii.	5
— Connection of, with electricity	lvii.	358
— Experiments relative to	lvii.	359
— Observations on magnetic affinities	lvii.	533
— Cures performed by magnetism	lviii. 513—lix.	61
— Wilson's observations on Dr. Knight's artificial magnets	lxii.	221
— New method of suspending needles	lxiii.	377
— Observations on the variation	lxv.	137
— Observations on the inclination	lxvi.	499
— Use of, in medicine	lxviii.	563
— How affected by the electricity of the atmosphere, with the means of preventing it	lxx.	528
— Variations of, in China	lxx.	554
Vol. II.	Y.	Magnitude,

- Magnitude*, of a quantity, what mathematicians mean by the finding of ———— xiv. 288
- Of external objects, remarks on the reality of ———— xxix. 500
- Magog* the founder of the first Scythian monarchy ———— xxxviii. 478
- Mahomet*, the Tartar conqueror, reproved by an old woman ———— xvii. 320
- Mahogany*, natural history of ———— ———— xv. 337
- Mahomet's* fleece ———— ———— xxxi. 512
- Condition of the Roman empire when he appeared ———— xxiii. 259
- The Turkish prophet, a zealous asserter of the unity of God ———— xxxiv. 260
- His system preferable to popery ———— xxxiv. 260
- On the religion and empire of ———— xxxix. 518
- Not a person of obscure descent or mean rank ———— xxxix. 518
- Turns his thoughts to the reformation of religion ———— xxxix. 520
- His zeal against idolatry ———— xxxix. 520
- Gives himself to a reclusive and contemplative life ———— xxxix. 521
- Composes his Koran ———— xxxix. 522
- His real character and surprising success in his pretended divine mission ———— xxxix. 523
- A quack ———— ———— xlv. 531
- Curious Latin poem in honour of ———— lxi. 547
- Mahomet Emir*, his notable saying concerning death ———— xxxiv. 495
- Mahometists*, various sects of in Arabia and the East Indies, described ———— lx. 305
- Mabon, Lord*, his invention for securing buildings from fire ———— lxii. 51
- Mabon, Mr.* A parliamentary jobber ———— xxxviii. 1
- Maid of the oaks*, extracts from the comedy of ———— li. 465
- Maid of Orleans*, history of ———— ———— xxvi. 90
- Maidenheads*, great estimation of, and skill in, among the Turks ———— xxiv. 5
- Mailla, Father de*, extracts from his history of China ———— liv. 394
- That author mistaken in his opinion of the Chinese chronology ———— lxii. 506
- Maillebois, M.* History of his campaigns in Italy ———— lxi. 255
- Maimatschin*, a frontier town between Russia and China, described ———— lxiii. 7
- No women there ———— ———— lxiii. 7
- Main, Mr.* affecting story of him and his sweet-heart ———— xxiv. 261
- Maintenon, Mad. de*, an account of ———— ———— vii. 169
- Her advice to the Dukes of Burgundy ———— xx. 465
- Account of her theatrical exhibitions at St. Cyr ———— xlv. 62
- Her character ———— ———— li. 32
- Her duplicity of conduct with regard to her confessor, and to her private connection with the king ———— li. 33
- Mainvilliers, Chev. de*, his hist. and character not a fictitious one v. 385
- Majorca*, history of ———— ———— lviii. 308
- Mairan, M. de*, his letter relating to an engraved cornelian xl. 497
- His enquiry into the general cause of heat in summer, and cold in winter ———— ———— xli. 503
- Maire*,

- Maire, M. le*, and his wife, suffocated by the vapour of a coal fire
lxv. 481
- Mainzroy, M. de*, his treatise on the sieges and military machines of the ancients — — — — — lix. 62
- His memoirs on war considered as a science — — — — — lxiv. 553
- His state of the Grecian cavalry — — — — — lxiv. 554
- Makaronj fable* — — — — — xxxviii. 247
- Malacca*, the laws and customs of, similar to those of the ancient inhabitants of Europe — — — — — xli. 260
- Curious particulars of — — — — — xli. 261
- Malachi*, the prophet, observations with respect to the time of li. 267
- Prophecies of, concerning John the Baptist and Christ xxvii. 2
- Malachy*, an Irish monarch, his stratagem to destroy Turgeisus
xlvi. 472
- Maladies*, popular, usual causes of — — — — — xxxiii. 49
- Malagrida, Father*, principal points alleged against him from his life of St. Anne — — — — — xxvi. 23
- His sentence — — — — — xxvi. 27
- Malbranche*, a follower of Descartes — — — — — xxxvi. 508
- Malcolm's seer*, enquiry into its authenticity — — — — — xlii. 428
- Malstrom*, a dependous vortex in Norway, description and probable cause of it — — — — — xii. 454
- Malvolence*, inconsistent with the Deity — — — — — xiii. 107
- Causes of — — — — — xiii. 108
- Malice*, an attendant upon a bigoted zeal — — — — — ii. 6
- A legal definition of — — — — — xxiii. 447
- Mallet, Mr.* moves for a bill formaking polygamy felony xxviii. 194
- On the growing greatness of France — — — — — xxviii. 197
- On a breach of privilege — — — — — xxviii. 260
- Mallet, Mr.* of Geneva, his obs. on the transit of Venus xlv. 462
- His character — — — — — lvi. 118
- Mallet, David*, supposed to be the author of a severe pamphlet on Warburton — — — — — i. 238
- His friendship with Thompson — — — — — ix. 482
- A remarkable dedication to — — — — — x. 388
- His poem of the hermit vindicated — — — — — xv. 55
- His ballad of William and Margaret, criticised — — — — — xxxii. 257
- His letter to Lord Cornbury concerning Lord Bolingbroke's works — — — — — xxxv. 65
- Malplaquet*, battle of, ludicrous story relative to — — — — — lxvii. 410
- Mals*, directions for managing — — — — — xx. 441
- The best mills for grinding — — — — — xxiv. 386
- Male liquors*, directions for the choice and use of them, at what time of life, and at what seasons of the year most proper — — — — — iii. 65
- Care for, when ropy — — — — — xxxiii. 355
- Method of fining — — — — — xxxiii. 429
- Stubbornness of, how to remedy — — — — — xxxiii. 429
- Malta, Island of*, enquiry relating to — — — — — xxxvii. 349
- Malta*, deriv. of the military order of the knights there — — — — — xxiv. 90
- Statutes of the order — — — — — xxiv. 90

Malta , Present to, from the Pope	—	xxiv. 95
— Grand master of, his establishment of an observatory	—	lxx. 401
Mamathsfa , what	—	xxxix. 354
Mamraan , what	—	xxxix. 354
Mammillarians , an account of	—	xv. 549
Mamood , Sultan of the Indies, his history	—	xl. 233
— Remarkable instance of his justice	—	xl. 235
Man , not the master-piece of the creation	—	ii. 426
— Reflections concerning	—	ii. 441
— Knowledge of, the foundation of morality	—	ii. 452
— General heads of the history of	—	ii. 453
— Their increase before the deluge	—	ii. 507
— Reflections concerning	—	iv. 268
— Enjoys no immediate intercourse with the Deity	—	iv. 344
— A moral agent	—	iv. 528
— Their nature, circumstances, and relations considered	—	iv. 535
— Are taught opinions by rote	—	vi. 407
— Reflections on the origin of	—	vii. 247
— Created by a supreme Being	—	vii. 249
— Increase in different ages and countries	—	viii. 191
— More numerous in past ages than at present, with a view of the causes from the policy, manners and customs	viii. 191, 198
— The necessity of holiness, from his nature	viii. 287
— In what sense created in the image of God	x. 63
— Why man ought not, and woman ought to have, her head covered	x. 64
— Their right to the use of things inanimate and the lower animals, considered	—	xiii. 162
— Not wicked by constitution in consequence of the fall	xvi. 114
— The important ends of rich and poor	—	xvii. 116
— The dignity of his creation asserted	—	xix. 122
— Absurdity of stigmatizing the whole for the vices of a few	—	xxii. 476
— His reasonable, sociable, and religious character	—	xxvi. 306
— Picture of, in a state of nature	—	xxvi. 334
— Comparison between a savage and civilized	—	xxvi. 335
— Whether naturally void of fear?	—	xxvi. 336
— Civilized, a mischievous being	—	xxvi. 378
— In a savage state, considered	—	xxix. 1
— Considered as a physical being	—	xxix. 56
— Greatly civilized in modern times	—	xxix. 497
— Assisted in religion by revelation	—	xxx. 419
— Whether a sinner only from ignorance or natural frailty?	—	xxxii. 177
— On what principle an object of punishment	—	xxxii. 177
— Faculties of, compared with other animals	—	xxxiii. 356
— Character of a religious and virtuous	—	xxxiv. 55
— Disquisition on the nature and faculties of	—	xxxiv. 373
— Specific weight of, in water	—	xxxv. 451
— Weakness of the mental powers	—	xxxv. 538
— Directions for the conduct of youth	—	xxxvi. 46

M A N

325

Man , Extravagance in dress reprehended	xxxvi. 48
— Instinctive propensities in	xxxvi. 257
— Passions and affections excited and nourished by society	xxxvi. 262
— Intellectual powers of	xxxvi. 263
— Manners of, influenced by climate	xxxvi. 349
— Observations on the multiplication of	xxxvi. 368
— Observations on the distribution of, in towns and villages	xxxvi. 373
— Philosophical history of	xxxvi. 506
— Said to enjoy three kinds of life	xxxix. 224
— Spiritual life, curiously explained	xxxix. 301
— The generality of, incapable of reasoning on religious subjects	xlvii. 488
— Considered in a savage state	xlix. 324
— Various species of	xlix. 325
— Different kinds of, fitted to the climate	l. 438
— Directed to matrimony by nature	l. 444
— Fitted to inhabit different parts of the globe	l. 469
— On the knowledge of	lii. 536
— Considered in his nature and relations	lii. 536
— Considered as a moral agent	lii. 570
— Physiological reflections on	lii. 570
— The perfection to which he may attain	lii. 432
— Debate on man, in the state of nature	lv. 259
— The nature of, in health and sickness	lv. 386
— Observations on the knowledge of	lxii. 401
— Organization and vital principle	lxii. 401
— Plan for a complete history of	lxii. 526
— Naturally malignant	lxvii. 83
— On the pre-existence of	lxvii. 84
— Sensations and ideas of the first man on his coming into existence	lxvii. 358
Man of consequence , receipt for compounding one	xxiii. 66
Man of fashion , characterized	xxiv. 124
Man after God's own heart , how to be understood	xxvi. 208
Man in the iron mask , conjectures on	lxiv. 96
— Voltaire's account of him	lxiv. 96
Man of nature , Adventures of an Huron, so called	xxxvii. 521
Man of pleasure , journal of	liii. 174
Man of trade , apology for	xxiv. 169
Man of war , a little hell	xvii. 286
Man of wood , described	xxxiv. 529
Man, Isle of , the inhabitants enemies to the interests of Great Britain	xiv. 447
Manchester , experiments on the pump waters in that town	xl. 60
— Formerly a Roman station	xli. 29
— Antiquities discovered there	xli. 30
— Rise and original construction of	xli. 35

Mancheſter , revolutions of	—	—	xlvi. 111
— Observations on the population of	—	—	lv. 122
Manchinelle apple , its poisonous quality	—	—	xxi. 230
Mandrakes , account of	—	—	xxxiv. 443
Mauro's dynaſties , ſucceſſive, not collateral	—	—	xi. 196
Manganefe , account of a mine of native	—	—	lvii. 553
Mangoſtan , deſcription of that wonderful tree	—	—	liv. 77
Mangoſt tree , its excellent qualities	—	—	lv. 129
Manheim , letter from the electoral academy there, to the academy of Berlin, relative to the improvement of meteorology	—	—	lxx. 489
Maniacal caſes , camphire recommended in	—	—	xlvi. 496
Manicheans , their peculiar principles and practices repreſented	—	—	viii. 101
Maniſeſto of the courts of Ruſſia, Vienna, and Berlin, examined and exploded	—	—	xlvi. 447
Manilla , the Montpelier of the European ſettlements in the Eaſt Indies	—	—	xxxix. 946
— Some account of	—	—	lxv. 456
Maniotes , the deſcendants of the ancient Spartans, inheritors of the ſpirit of their anceſtors	—	—	lxx. 567
— Propoſal for enabling them to recover their freedom	—	—	lxx. 568
Manlius , contemptuous character of	—	—	xl. 579
Mann, Mr. his inveſtigation of rivers and canals	—	—	lxiii. 462
— Reſult of his experiments	—	—	lxiii. 464
Manna , manner of gathering it, near Naples	—	—	v. 322
Manna tree , account of	—	—	xlvi. 127
Manners of the preſent age	—	—	vi. 443
— of this age and nation, characteriſed	—	—	xvi. 431
— Their natural effects on fleets and armies	—	—	xvi. 436
— Their ſources	—	—	xvi. 440
— A contrariety between thoſe of ancient and modern times accounted for	—	—	xix. 455
— of the ſexes, their influence on each other	—	—	xx. 130
— Thoſe of the ancients not applicable to modern times	—	—	xx. 424
— Hint for the amendment of	—	—	xxii. 481
— The progreſs of, among mankind	—	—	xxii. 531
— Proper meaſures to civilize and improve a people	—	—	xxii. 542
— of men, not reformed by preaching	—	—	xxxiv. 538, 546
— National, great influence of, upon education	—	—	xl. 530
— of the heroic ages	—	—	lii. 573
— and cuſtoms of different nations	—	—	lv. 474
— Critical remarks on dramatic	—	—	lxii. 187
Manningham, Biſhop , anecdote concerning	—	—	xiv. 580
Manometer , a new contrivance for aſcertaining the differences in the density of the air	—	—	lii. 122
Manſfield, Lord , high encomiums on, in Biſhop Warburton's dedication	—	—	xxxiii. 127
— Free expoſtulation with	—	—	xliv. 35
— His ſpirited ſpeech in defence of toleration and religious liberty	—	—	xliv. 190
Manſfield	—	—	Manſfield

- Mansfield, Lord*, his opinion in favour of literary property li. 87
 — His elegant seat near Highgate, described liii. 39
 — His opinion with respect to the power of the crown over conquered countries, discussed — lxi. 177
 — His opinion controverted concerning the King's legislative authority over conquered countries — lxii. 139
 — Some account of, paralleled with Lord Chatham lxviii. 148
Mansfield, Countess, remarkable story of — xli. 182
Manslet, lake of, in Egypt, its prodigious and curious fishery xlviii. 289
Mantegna, Andrea, (a painter and engraver) some account of xlii. 367
Manual of spiritual exercises, a popish book, its abominable tendency xxvii. 474
 — Gross impurities in it — xxvii. 476
Manufactures, when and how introduced into Prussia iv. 209
 — Home and foreign, reflexions on — iv. 388
 — Proceedings in parliament relative to — viii. 215
 — and commerce, the importance of supporting them viii. 215
 — Greatest improvements in, by men of learning xiv. 428
 — of this kingdom, present disadvantages of xxviii. 371
 — Hints for improving — xxviii. 371
 — Proper situations for, investigated xlvii. 198
 — The country recommended in preference to great cities xlvii. 199
Manufacturers, British, their dissoluteness — xlv. 14
Manures. See Husbandry.
Manuscripts, general account of, in the library of Geneva lxi. 543
 — In St. Mark's library at Venice — lxxv. 531
Maps and surveys in the county of Waterford v. 263
 — Geographical, why often erroneous — xiv. 30
 — Original ones, few in the Turkish dominions xv. 228
 — Projected upon a plane, how erroneous; and a new construction recommended — xxi. 113
 — On the construction of geographical — lxxv. 416
Mar-lodge, in Scotland, described — lxiv. 112
Marat, Dr. his philosophical inquiries concerning fire lxiv. 300
 — An opposer of the Newtonian doctrine of light lxvii. 293
Marat, Clement, his poetical character — lxvi. 86
 — His version of the Psalms — lxvi. 86
 — Brings psalm-singing into fashion at the court of France lxvi. 87
 — His version of the Psalms, use made of, by Calvin lxvi. 88
Maratti, Carlo, his pictures criticised — xlv. 480
Marble, proposals for prints of the various species of lv. 309
Marcellinus, Ammianus, his account of the miraculous interruption of Julian's attempt to rebuild the temple — iii. 74
 — His testimony corroborated by other historians iii. 75
 — His advantageous account of the fertility of Judea lxii. 569
Marcello, Benedetto, the Italian musician, some account of xx. 341
Marchand, Prosper, some account of — xviii. 476
Marchand,

Marchand, Prosper , the extraordinary manner in which he com- piled his dictionary	—	xviii. 477
Marcis, Marie le , a celebrated hermaphrodite, history of	—	xlii. 18
Marcus, Aurelius , his character of Titus Antonius	—	xxiii. 504
— His reign characterised	—	xxiii. 506
Mare's milk , its properties	—	ii. 306
Margaret of Valois, histoire de	—	lvii. 237
Margraaf, M. his chemical experiments controverted by M. Machy	—	xlii. 497
Maria , affecting story of	—	xxxvi. 100
Mariette, M. his treatise on engraving precious stones	—	lxiii. 295
Martini clocks , Berthoud's	—	l. 516
Marine dictionary improved in France	—	lvi. 557
Marine productions , Ray's division of	—	xii. 183
Marine Society , Tyburn, a poem, to the	—	xx. 472
Mariner's compass , description of	—	v. 322
— Improvements on	—	v. 322
— Its invention	—	xxx. 168
— Its great benefit in navigation	—	xxx. 168
Marion du Fresne , his voyage to the South Sea	—	lxix. 549
— His tragical death, similar to the fate of Capt. Cooke	—	lxix. 550
Marius's speech in the Jugurthine war	—	v. 209
— His Character	—	v. 332
— Created tribune of the people	—	v. 333
— Consul	—	v. 333
— Competition between Marius and Sylla	—	v. 334
— His remarkable story	—	xxx. 114
Marivaux, M. his birth and education	—	xli. 543
— Writes for the stage	—	xli. 544
— His novels	—	xli. 545
— His French Spectator	—	xli. 545
— His family connections	—	xli. 546
— His extraordinary benevolence and laziness	—	xli. 547
— His death	—	xli. 549
Mark, St. his gospel not written in Latin, as some have pretended, but in Greek	—	xiii. 16
— Account of his gospel	—	xv. 150
— At what place supposed to have been written	—	lix. 15
— Gives many explications of places in St. Matthew	—	lix. 15
— Said to have wrote under the direction of St. Peter	—	lix. 16
Markland, Dr. critical illustration of St. Mark's account of the barren fig-tree	—	lxvii. 114
— of the spices brought to embalm the body of Jesus	—	lxvii. 117
Marlborough, Duke of , great character of him given by Count Bonnaval	—	iii. 238
— A character of	—	vii. 130
— Escape at the battle of Ramilies, by the assistance of Captain Molesworth	—	xii. 346
— The Chev. Talard's censure of	—	xv. 659
— His interview with M. Torcy at the Hague	—	xvi. 425
Marlborough,

M A R

349

Marlborough, Duke of , reflections on his dismissal	xyi.	592
— His real character	l.	366
Marlborough, Duchess of , her character censured	xix.	597
Marle , the marks to distinguish it by	xxi.	143
— Different kinds of, and their uses in agriculture	xxxii.	325
— Observations and experiments relative to	lix.	355, 422
— Its use in husbandry. See Husbandry .
Marmontel, M. de , a tragedy by him	ii.	324
— His Belisarius, censured	xxxvi.	590
— His excellent character	li.	384
— His Incas, or destruction of Peru	lvi.	216
Marriage , the duties of	vi.	166
— Thirty years of age, proper for	vii.	145
— Account of a grand one at Venice	xi.	200
— Definition of	xi.	298
— Unlawful in the collateral line	xi.	298
— Of a mixed nature	xi.	440
— A song in praise of	xi.	456
— Review of the laws of	xii.	116
— Analysis of the controversy on	xii.	438
— Clandestine, condemned by the ancient church	xii.	443
— Canon relating to	xii.	444
— Parent's consent, how far necessary	xiii.	93
— Plato's scheme, not adapted to nature	xiii.	174
— Why prohibited within certain degrees of affinity	xiii.	174
— May be annulled by the civil power	xiii.	306
— Prohibitions of the Romans and canonists condemned	xiii.	394
— Consanguinity considered	xiii.	395
— Manner of being validly contracted by the laws of England	xv.	10
— Recommended	xv.	174
— What sorts are forbidden in scripture	xv.	183
— How affected by civil law	xv.	225
— Present system of marriage and education unfavourable to propagation	xvi.	370
— Contracts should continue in force only for five years	xvi.	371
— Unmarried men, dangerous persons	xviii.	85
— Public and private advantages of	xviii.	85
— Advice relating to	xviii.	87
— Of near kindred considered	xx.	353
— Inconveniency of celibacy	xx.	434
— A critical case in	xx.	461
— Laws of, at Geneva	xxiv.	215
— Manner of bestowing virgins in Assyria	xxv.	177
— Ceremony among the Romans	xxv.	268
— On what accounts dissoluble among the Romans	xxv.	270
— Left-handed, what	xxv.	412
— Specimen of Oxford and Cambridge verses on	xxv.	437
— Poetical persuasive to	xxvi.	66
— Legal constitution anylised	xxix.	269
Marriage ,

- Marriage*, ecclesiastical laws relating to concubinage xxix. 269
- More criminal than concubinage in the Roman church xxix. 270
 - Hints for a reformation of the laws — xxx. 246
 - Scheme for the encouragement of — xxxi. 79
 - Ceremony among the Jews of Barbary — xxxi. 163
 - Disadvantages of the indissolubility of — xxxiv. 263
 - Divorces on fit occasions, recommended xxxiv. 264
 - Scheme for paying the national debt by repealing, or altering the rite of — xxxvi. 249
 - Odd custom, in France, relating to — xxxvii. 106
 - Clandestine, considered — xli. 36
 - Clandestine, not detrimental to the public — xli. 38
 - Causes of the present stagnation of — xlii. 616
 - Philosophically considered — xlviii. 547
 - Natural to man — l. 444
 - Both sexes impelled to it — l. 445
 - Ceremonies in Russia — liii. 211
 - See Polygamy.
- Marriage-act*, the annulling clauses examined — xli. 111
- The annulling clauses defended — xli. 438
 - Impolicy and inhumanity of — xxxii. 233
 - Absurd nature, and pernicious tendency — xl. 426
- Marriage-act, the royal*, inconsistent with the thirty-nine articles xlvii. 300
- Marrow*, sensibility of, owing to the containing membranes xiv. 128
- Marrow-bones and cleavers*, verses humorously adapted to xxviii. 480
- Mars*, orbit of, elliptical — xv. 386
- His orbit ascertained, and from thence that of the rest of the planets — xxv. 459
 - Quibbling derivation of his name — xxxiii. 228
- Marsden*, Mr. his remarks on the Sumatran languages lxx. 349
- Marsball*, Mr. (author of the travels through Holland, &c.) account of him, and the authenticity of his work asserted xlvii. 252
- His account of the caterpillar which destroyed the turnips in Norfolk in 1782 — lxx. 100
- Martial*, criticism on a passage in — li. 284
- Two of his epigrams translated — lxvii. 379
- Martianus*, where born — v. 434
- Schomberg's edition mutilated of its accents — v. 434
- Martin*, Honest Tom, his objection to the profession of an attorney lxii. 300
- His history of Thetford — lxii. 300
- Martin*, Dr. George, some account of his life and writings xiv. 1—3
- Martin*, Mr. his account of the heat of the climate of Bengal xxxix. 421
- Martinico*, the temper, manners, and habits of the inhabitants described — xxix. 528
- Martinelli*, Signior, satirized — xli. 18
- Martini*, Ab. some account of — xlv. 338
- His observations on the modern Greek music — xlv. 339
- Martini's*

Martini's universal dictionary of natural history	lix. 461
Martinius Scribbarus , his droll version of the Arabic verses in the Cambridge collection on the peace	xxix. 37
— His comments on Stukeley's palæographia sacra	xxix. 538
Martyn, John , his remarks on the sex of Holy	xiii. 420
Martyr , account of a very young Portuguese martyred at Algiers	iii. 415
Martyrs , the superstitious regard for them, whence	ix. 352
— Primitive, very few	xxx. 529
Marvel, Andrew , extraordinary instance of his integrity	x. 479
— Justly celebrated by Mr. Mason	xiv. 438
— The last member of Parliament who received a stipend from his constituents	xxviii. 125
— His works	lv. 354
— His great character	lv. 357
— His death	lv. 358
— His epitaph	lv. 359
Marvellous , ought never to exceed the probable	ii. 38
— In Horace and Pindar, by Cibber	iv. 221
— In epic poetry, remarks on	liii. 543
Mary, Princess , her bigotry and angry behaviour towards Bishop Ridley	xxx. 9
— Her cruel revenge against him, at her accession to the throne	xxx. 10
Mary, Queen of England , her bigotry	xxxii. 140
— Her remarkable letter to Cardinal Pole	xxxii. 141
— Her cruel persecution of her sister Elizabeth	xlvi. 550
— Conjectures as to some secret cause of	xlvi. 550
Mary, Queen of William III. her political conduct during the king's absence, applauded	liii. 63
Mary of Medicis , her entry into England	lxi. 12
Mary, Queen of Scotland , reflections on her	x. 301
— Her letter to Queen Elizabeth	xx. 176
— Her reply to the refusal of leave to return from France through England	xx. 401
— Rudely treated by Knox, the reformer	xx. 403
— Ill treated by her son James	xx. 199
— Her trial, execution, and character	xx. 200—410
— Her malicious letter to Queen Elizabeth	xxi. 466
— How the letters which furnished the accusation were found	xxiii. 33
— Reasons for concluding them to be forged	xxiii. 33
— Unfair treatment of her, by Queen Elizabeth	xxiii. 35
— Reply to Hume and Robertson relating to them	xxiii. 38
— Affecting narrative of what passed at her execution	xliii. 460
— Her political love-letter to the Duke of Norfolk	lix. 10
— Lively and interesting portrait of	lxvii. 282
Marygold , French, botanically described	xxxvii. 189
Maseras, Baron , his view of the ancient constitution of the English parliament	xlx. 262

- Majores, Baron*, his method of finding the value of an infinite series of decreasing quantities of a certain form, &c. lviii. 7
- His arguments in opposition to Lord Mansfield's opinion relative to the power of the crown in Canada lxi. 172, 180
- His method of finding a mean value of the very slowly converging infinite series, &c. — lxii. 42
- His method of extending Cardan's rule for resolving a new case of a cubic equation, &c. — lxii. 42
- His paper on the extension of Cardan's rule to the irreducible case of cubic equations — lxiv. 439
- His conjecture concerning the method by which Cardan's rules of resolving cubic equations were discovered lxiv. 440
- Masillon, Bishop of Clermont*, eulogium on, as a preacher xlii. 269
- Extracts from his sermons on the duties of the Great xlii. 270
- Maske, Sock, and Buskin*, of the ancients, described xx. 318
- Maskeiyne, Dr.* his letter relating to the moon's parallax xxvii. 332
- On the aberration of the rays of light — xxvii. 419
- His method for finding the longitude — xxviii. 406
- His observations on the tides at St. Helena xxix. 140
- On Mr. Shelton's clock — xxix. 144
- On the distance of the moon from the sun and fixed stars xxix. 145
- His rules for computing the effects of refraction and parallax, &c. xxxiv. 223
- His remarks on the equation of time xxxiv. 226, 230
- His nautical almanack — xxxvi. 379
- His opinion of Mr. Harrison's time-keeper xxxvi. 396
- His observations on the transit of Venus, &c. xlii. 397
- His account of the observations made by Messrs. Mason and Dixon, to ascertain the value of a degree of latitude in Maryland, &c. — xlii. 417
- His account of a method of measuring differences of right ascension and declination, with Dolland's micrometer xlvii. 414
- His proposal for measuring the attraction of hills liv. 447
- His observation on the mountain Schehallien liv. 448
- His account of the prismatic micrometer — lviii. 458
- Mason and Dixon*, their observations on the celestial bodies, made in Pennsylvania — xlii. 400
- Their observations for determining the length of a degree of latitude in Maryland and Pennsylvania xlii. 417
- Mason, Mr. A.* of an agitation of the waters in Barbadoes xxix. 140
- His observations on Mr. Elliott's clock — xxix. 145
- Mason, John*, account of — lli. 203
- Mason, W.* his elegies compared to Young's night-thoughts xxvii. 489
- Some of them praised — xxvii. 490
- Structure on the style of his poetry — lviii. 140
- Mason spider*, an indecript insect, curious account of xxx. 559
- Masora*, what — xxiii. 14
- Masoretical text*, not always right — xiv. 249
- Masoretic Hebrew text*, uncorrupted — xxviii. 441
- Masoret*,

Maforett , how far concerned in pointing the Hebrew Bible	xxxvi. 134
Masquerades , account of ancient	iv. 352
Masi , popish, summary of arguments against	xxxix. 75
Massachusetts's , colony of, its rise	xxxviii. 185
— Bigotry of the first settlers there	xxxviii. 187
— Peculiar customs of	xxxviii. 188
— State of trade there	xxxviii. 197
Massacre of Paris , a ballad on	xxxvii. 110
Massinger , character of that old dramatic writer	xxiv. 201
Masson , Mr. His account of the island of St. Miguel	lxii. 49
Materia medica , history of	v. 371
— Division of metals in the	v. 372
— Animadversion on the exuberance of	xv. 204
— How experiments in it should be conducted	xvii. 93
— Several substances in it of divers names, nearly the same in their nature	xvii. 389
— Method of considering it	xxv. 322
— Causes of errors in	xxv. 323
Materialism , remarks on the controversy relating to	lxiv. 59
— Doctrine of, ridiculed	lxv. 421
Mathematics , the easiest exercise of reason	iii. 274
— Habituate the mind to think closely	iii. 274
— Their great use in ascertaining effects, and calculating proportions	viii. 295
— The disadvantages of teaching the practice without the theory	ix. 449
— Attainable without the sense of sight	xv. 245
— Their proper and improper application to medical subjects considered	xxii. 451
— Knowledge, the pride of the human mind	xxiii. 363
— Why late cultivated	xxiv. 374
— Discoveries in	lii. 441
— The study of, how far profitable in a course of liberal education	lxiii. 543
— Acc. of the different methods of dividing instruments	lxvii. 547
Matilda , Empress, forms a party in England, to depose King Stephen	xxxvii. 405
— Her progress	xxxvii. 406, 408
Matrimony . See Marriage .
Matter , possessed of a vegetable power	iv. 60
— The principles of action in	vii. 459
— An error in the principles of action in it discovered	ix. 203
— The notion of its being inert, objected to	ix. 462
— Whether capable of thinking	x. 344, 363
— Its vis inertiz explained	xiv. 276
— The same in the composition of all bodies	xxi. 489
— The principles of action in, asserted	xxi. 398
— Controverted	xxi. 500
— Its properties debated	xxiii. 229
Matter ,

- Matter*, its capability examined into ————— xxiii. 368
 — Curious theory of the nature and properties of ————— xlvii. 315
 — Its infinite divisibility controverted ————— xli. 116
 — Its inert and its active principle, investigated ————— lii. 567
 — Enquiry into the nature and essential properties of ————— lviii. 347
Matthew, St. his gospel probably wrote both in Hebrew and Greek ————— xiii. 15
 — Account of his gospel ————— xv. 149
 — Chap. xiii. ver. 58, explained ————— xliii. 181
 — Authenticity of the first and second chapters of his gospel, disputed ————— xlv. 293
 — Various passages critically explained ————— lvi. 195
 — His gospel, when written ————— lix. 15
 — Chap. x. ver. 34, explained ————— lxix. 400
Matthews, Mr. his remarkable antipathy to spiders ————— lxviii. 211
Maty, Dr. his elegy on Dr. Mead ————— xii. 389
 — On inoculation in France ————— xxxviii. 366
 — Account of a palsy by a fall ————— xxxviii. 441
 — On the advantage of inoculation ————— xxxviii. 443
Maubert, his partial representation of facts in his Political Mercury ————— xxii. 192
Mauportuis, M. Lord Chesterfield's favourable opinion of ————— li. 27
 — His quarrel with Voltaire ————— lvi. 107
 — Ludicrous account of his flight from the battle of Molwitz ————— lxx. 578
 — His mathematical dispute with Koenig ————— lxx. 582
Mausoleum, a comedy in rhyme, by Hayley, specimen of ————— lxx. 290
Maxims, theological ————— v. 366
Maximus Tyrius, various editions of his works ————— xxxii. 529
 — Tenets of that philosopher ————— xxxii. 529
May, a description of, from Gawin Douglas, Bishop of Dunkeld, in the original Scottish, and modernized by Mr. Fawkes ————— vi. 262
 — Description of the morning ————— vi. 262
 — Sun-rising ————— vi. 263
 — Meadows and cornfields ————— vi. 263
 — Effects of the spring on animals ————— vi. 264
 — Miss Whateley's ode to ————— xxx. 446
May, Thomas, his character ————— xxi. 30
Mayenne, Duke of, his character ————— liii. 23
Mayer, Mr. his account of the transit of Venus ————— xxxiv. 222
 — Tables of the moon's motions, &c. ————— xlii. 214, 284, 290
 — Observations on the moon with Mayer's tables ————— liii. 559
 — On the satellites of the fixed stars ————— lxiii. 140
 — His testimony in favour of Mr. Arnold's pendulum clock ————— lxx. 395
 — His mistakes on that subject ————— lxx. 349
Mayerne, Sir Theod. his credulity and superstition ————— lxiii. 383
Mayerstach, the German doctor, his miserable quackery ————— lv. 315, 474
 — Defended ————— lv. 474
Maynard, Serj. his speech on the abdication of James II. ————— xxviii. 412
Mays,

- Mayne, Sir William*, his speech in the Irish parliament in defence of the peace ——— xxxviii. 86
- Mayne, Mr.* his account of the effects of a violent flash of lightning on his conducting apparatus ——— xlii. 202
- Mayo, Mr.* the author of the disputations concerning the Messiah xi. 315
- Maxarini, Card.* a character of ——— vii. 121
- The ministration of ——— vii. 123
- Maxerian*, experiments on the roots of xxxviii. 439
- Maxteri, M. de la*, his obs. on the poison of Darnel lxvii. 559
- Mead*, a very wholesome liquor ——— ii. 311
- Mead, Dr.* his opinion of Dr. Blair's hard treatment in a medical controversy ——— i. 314
- His singular ingenuity ——— v. 198
- Dr. Maty's elegy on ——— xii. 389
- Reasons for believing he left no unpublished works xvi. 583
- His character ——— xxiii. 304
- Representation of his moral and scientific character xxvii. 271
- His prohibition of warm bathing in paralytic cases controverted xlii. 350
- His collection of drawings inaccessible to the public xlvi. 630
- Meanness*, personified, and poetically characterised xxxi. 202
- Measles*, inoculation of them described ——— xxi. 73
- Reflections on such inoculation ——— xxi. 74
- Cautions in the management of ——— xxiii. 281
- Convertible into the small-pox ——— xxxi. 446
- Account of the putrid ——— xlv. 453
- Defence of Sydenham's method of treating the measles xlvi. 44
- Accidents of the malignant ——— lxviii. 559
- Measuris*, English, an account of ——— iv. 119
- The necessity of having one established standard of, elucidated xix. 41
- Proportion to those of Paris ——— xlii. 507
- See Weights.
- Meats*, exposition of the apostolic restrictions relating to the use of xxv. 425
- Mechanics*, phenomena of the universe explained by the laws of viii. 299
- The English superior to the French in xvi. 110
- Curious remarks in ——— xxxi. 222
- Demonstration of the powers of ——— xxxi. 265
- Experimental tricks in ——— lii. 21
- Mecklenburgh*, family of, its connection with the throne of Russia xxxi. 309
- Schwerin, some account of the court of xxxviii. 492
- Strelitz, dutchy of, described xxxviii. 483
- Duke of, his virtues xxxviii. 488
- Character of the Princess Christiana ——— xxxviii. 489
- Trade there, by what means improved xxxviii. 489
- Revenues of the Duke ——— xxxviii. 490
- Mecklenburg*.

Macklinburgh-Strelitz, manners and customs of the people
xxxviii. 491

Medals. See Coins.

Medea, her motives to the murder of her children discussed xxv. 464

— Corneille's tragedy of, defective — xxx. 532

— Yet much better than the preceding dramas on the French stage

Mediator, how necessary — — — xxx. 534

Medicine, the dietetic part not much studied — — — iii. 409

— Hypothesis of medical enquiries exposed — — — v. 403

— Wherein the knowledge of, consists — — — v. 507

— Directions for the study of physic — — — v. 508

— On mechanic theories in — — — vii. 288

— The effect of drugs on the body, not to be discovered by any chymical process — — — ix. 128

— Many of the writers on, disingenuous — — — ix. 137

— The folly of pretending to cure diseases by prayers — — — ix. 380

— Useless, if mankind were virtuous — — — xi. 240

— The moderns better versed in, than the antients — — — xi. 505

— History of cases, like the votive tables suspended in the temple of Neptune — — — xii. 374

— The disadvantages of — — — xiii. 359

— New opinions, not to be either lightly received or rejected xiv. 115

— Present state of, in the East — — — xv. 281

— History of — — — xvi. 97

— Cautions in the naming of new diseases — — — xvi. 328

— Governed by fashion — — — xvi. 583

— Understood to be taught in six months — — — xvii. 169

— Numerous prescriptions unnecessary — — — xix. 84

— A remarkable prescription — — — xix. 85

— Dangers from prescriptions in treatises not strictly dispensatories

— — — — — xxii. 132

— The vagueness of the knowledge — — — xxiii. 362

— Method of enlarging the knowledge — — — xxiii. 381

— Folly and danger of too many receipts — — — xxiv. 321

— Nostrums and empirical medicines ought to be published

— — — — — xxiv. 331

— Modes of, as fluctuating as dress — — — xxv. 321

— Experiments on animals, not always analogous to human nature

— — — — — xxv. 325

— Circumstances necessary to make cases useful — — — xxvii. 121

— A curious case — — — — — xxvii. 192

— The art destructive to mankind — — — xxvii. 261

— Professors ill used by officious managers of public hospitals

— — — — — xxviii. 247

— Method of establishing a nostrum — — — xxviii. 401

— The efficacy of thorn-apple, monks-hood, hen-bane, wolf's-bane, &c. — — — — — xxviii. 499

— Medical oeconomy of embarked troops — — — xxix. 547

— Requisites for a profound skill in — — — xxxi. 551

Medicus,

Medicine , advice to students in	—	xxx. 551
— Causes of popular maladies	—	xxxiii. 49
— The means by which diseases are aggravated	—	xxxiii. 50
— Rules for the mitigation of diseases	—	xxxiii. 51
— Observations on nervous and hypochondriac diseases	xxxiii. 116
— Cautions in visiting patients afflicted with infectious disorders	xxxiii. 324
— Systematic, the scourge of mankind	—	xxxvi. 526
— Experiments by Mr. Hewson	—	xxxviii. 445
— Should not be suspected of leading to impiety	xli. 407
— Incomplete manner of teaching it in the universities	xli. 410
— Diseases peculiar to London, and their treatment	xlvi. 357, 561
— The efficacy of fixed air in	—	xlvi. 229
— Some uncommon cases	—	xlvi. 264
— Queries by Dr. Heberden	—	xlvi. 265
— Theory and practice arranged	—	xlvi. 376
— Experiments respecting putrid distempers	xlvi. 443
— Dialogue between a princess and physician	xlvi. 523
— Theory decried	—	xlvi. 125
— The great instruments of	—	xlvi. 125
— Memoirs of ancient and modern physic	—	lii. 534
— Efficacy of fixed air in putrid diseases	—	liv. 434
— The assistant of nature	—	liv. 483
— State of, in 1776	—	lv. 223
— Plan for correcting abuses in	—	lv. 234
— Obs. on the beds used by the ancients for sick persons	lv. 490
— Cases in the practice of physic, by M. Holdefreund	lvi. 225
— Dissertations, by a society at Hamburg	lvi. 226
— Prognostics in acute diseases	—	lvi. 387
— Wretched state of the art of medicine in the eleventh and twelfth centuries	—	lvii. 106
— Efficacy of fixed air in several diseases	—	lviii. 439
— Modern discoveries	—	lix. 61
— Institution of a royal society in France for medicine, with a history of it	—	lxii. 511
— The use of the loadstone in	—	lxviii. 563
— Efficacy of electricity in diseases. See Electricity .
— See Physic .
Medici , Cardinal de, elected Pope, and assumes the name of Leo X.	xiii. 20
Medici , Catherine de, her celebrated feast before the Bartholomew massacre, described	—	xxxvii. 109
Meditations , advantages of religious	—	xxx. 468
— Beautiful one, in verse, in a summer's evening	xlvi. 136
Mediterranean , operations in surveying the coast of the	—	xlvi. 677
Medmenham Abbey , some account of	—	xli. 374
— Levitic: lately practised there, under the name of Eleusinian mysteries	—	xli. 374
Meekness , observations on	—	lvii. 203
Megameter , a new instrument for marine surveying	—	lii. 128

- Megameter*, account of a new ——— lxviii. 458
Meiner's essay on the religion of ancient nations ——— liii. 176
Melancholy, the use of opium in ——— ix. 133
—— Characterised ——— xxvi. 201
Melancthon, his amiable character ——— xxxiii. 437
Melazzo, (the ancient Myleſa) ruins of the Roman temple there ——— lxviii. 263
Melchisedec, ludicrously mentioned by Warburton ——— xxxiii. 177, 393
Melmoth, Mr. his philosophical estimate of human life ——— xlix. 112
Melody, dance and ſong of ancient Greece ——— xxix. 6
—— Previous to verſe ——— xxix. 8
—— Conſidered as a relative, founded in the peculiar aſſociations and habits of different nations, &c. ——— xxix. 82
—— Dance and ſong, eſſential in the education of children in Greece ——— xxix. 83
—— Regulate each other ——— xxix. 84
—— And produce tragedy ——— xxix. 85
—— Savage ſtate of, in Crete ——— xxix. 90
—— Natural union and progreſſion of, in China; Peru, and India ——— xxix. 92
Melvil, Mr. Gov. of Grenada, his conduct ——— xlii. 69
—— Strongly impeached ——— xlii. 151
—— Account of proceedings againſt him before the Lords of the Council ——— xlii. 402
—— His return to his government ——— xlii. 402
Membranes, on the continuation of ——— xlii. 544
Memnon, of the city, and famous ſtatue of ——— xv. 489
—— Opinion of its vocal power exploded ——— xv. 490
Memorial, ſubſtance of the Saxon, to the States of Holland, relative to the Pruſſian invasion of that electorate ——— xv. 635
—— Pruſſian, in answer ——— xv. 636
—— Another, in vindication of the King of Pruſſia's conduct ——— xv. 641
—— A third, deſcribing the dangerous deſigns of the courts of Vienna and Saxony againſt Pruſſia ——— xv. 643, 651
Memory, what ——— xv. 46
Mendex, Moſes, his poems collected ——— xxxviii. 71
Mengen, Baron de, a famous ventriloque ——— xlvii. 518
—— His curious deceptions ——— xlvii. 519
Mengs, the painter, anecdotes of ——— lxii. 564
—— His treatiſe on the fine arts, &c. ——— lxv. 143
—— His life ——— lxv. 523
—— Liſt of his paintings ——— lxv. 528
—— His obſcure explication of beauty ——— lxvi. 527
Meaſuring, the method of meaſuring timber ——— xi. 42
Meſurations, theory of aſtronomical ——— lxvii. 444
Menzikoff, Alex. becomes the favourite of the Czar Peter the Great ——— li. 493
—— Procures his maſter a new miſtreſs in the perſon of Catherine Alexiewna ——— li. 493
—— Fomentſ differences between his maſter and the Czarewitz ——— li. 494
Menzikoff,

Menzikoff, Alex. is appointed regent in Peter's absence from Russia	li. 496
— His devotion to the Empress Catherine	li. 500
— His views to raise his family to the throne	li. 501
— Is reconciled to the unfortunate Eudoxia, and delivers her from prison	li. 502
— His extraordinary rise from the lowest origin	lxvii. 412
Mephitic exhalations , fatal effects of	lxv. 481
Mercator , whether he published as his own, Mr. Wright's invention of a true sea chart	x. 341
— Dunns's refutation of West's censure of Mercator's chart	xxxi. 419
Mercer , qualifications for	xxiv. 70
— Apprenticeship-fee and journeymen's wages	xxiv. 70
Merchants , of the greatest importance to a state	xi. 423
— All men are merchants	xi. 423
— Contempt of, a false and pernicious principle	xi. 424
— Should be represented in parliament as well as landholders	xxviii. 143
— See Commerce .
Mercury , account of its nature	v. 372
— Medical experiments on	xxxvii. 49
— Method of preparing it	xxxvii. 51
— Formulæ, in administering	xxxvii. 52
— Operation of, in different diseases and constitutions	xxxix. 35
— Generally unfavourable to the nerves	xxxix. 249
— Pernicious effects of, externally applied	xxxix. 250
— Its operation on the blood	xxxix. 535
— The use of, in convulsive disorders	xlvi. 187
— Enquiry into its operation in the venereal disease	xlvi. 467
— Different methods of combining it with iron, and of rendering it soluble in water	li. 547
— Experiments on the congelation of	lvii. 560
Mercury , the planet, observations on its transit over the sun	xxiv. 174
— Theory of	xliv. 521—xlvi. 677
— Observations on the transit of, by M. Winthorp	xlvi. 413
Mercy , what	vi. 333
Moribab , a particular description of its rock	viii. 415
Mermaid and Merman , their existence in the Danube and the Norwegian Sea, with their description	xiii. 36
Merrick , who the author of the notes on his psalms	xl. 380
Mersey Island , antiquities of	lxii. 271
Merton and Sandford , story of	lxx. 127
Mesny, Mr. his memoirs concerning antiseptics	lvii. 239
Messala , the Consul, memoirs of his life	xlvi. 564
Messana , battle of, observations on	xiv. 346
Messenger , mentioned by Malachi, who, ascertained	xxvii. 2
Messiah , prophecies concerning, explained	iv. 339
— The two Messiahs reconciled	v. 284
— The benefits of his coming to extend to all mankind	v. 284
— A character which properly belongs to our Saviour	xi. 314. 315

Messiah , the evidence of this from miracles and prophecy	xi.	315
— His reign verified from Isaiah	—	xxv. 147
— In what sense the prophecies are accomplished in him	xxvi.	311
— His birth-place predicted by the Prophet Micah	xxvi.	312
— True doctrine of the New Testament concerning	xxxviii.	126
— Characters of, verified in Jesus	—	lvi. 217
— Prophecies relating to, explained	—	lxiii. 57
Messier , M. table of the places of the comet of 1764, discovered at the observatory of Paris	—	xxxiv. 221
— Observations on the comet of January 1771	—	xlvi. 413
— Account of the sound emitted by an aurora borealis	li.	552
— Catalogue of nebulæ, and clusters of stars seen from the horizon of Paris	—	lii. 625
— Observations on the occultation of Saturn by the moon	lxv.	485
— On the cold felt in France, &c. in 1776	lxv.	487
— Observations of a prodigious quantity of small globules passing before the sun's disk	—	lxvi. 498
— On the comets of 1771 and 1772	—	lxvi. 505
— On the seventeen comets	—	lxviii. 630
— On an eclipse of the sun	—	lxviii. 631
Messina , some account of the decayed state of	—	xlviii. 204
Metals , cause of the expansion of heated metals	xxii.	9
— The agreement between their gravities and colours	xxxv.	374
— Experiments on the transmutation of	—	xxxvii. 162
— On the dissolution of	—	liii. 255
— On their weight in calcination	—	liv. 123
— Observations on the alloy of	—	lv. 492
— Essential composition of	—	lvii. 558
— The effect of air on, during calcination	—	lxv. 482
Metallurgical travels , by M. Jars	—	lii. 348
Metaphors , in moral writers, productive of great error	v.	59
— Wherein different from similies and allegories	xxvii.	110
— Should never be hunted down	—	xxvii. 352
Metaphysics , metaphysico-mathematico-theological spinners, who	—	ii. 224
— Of little utility to theology,	—	iii. 177
— Ridiculed	—	x. 352
— Why in no repute	—	xxiii. 363
— Reasoning, undeservedly cast aside by experimental philosophy	—	xxv. 68
— How treated by the Newtonians	—	xxv. 72
— How answered	—	xxv. 74
— Dissuasive from making them a part of university education	—	xxvi. 234
— Unjustly decried	—	xxvi. 503
— Attributes, negative	—	xxx. 539
— Beings, objects of the understanding	—	xxx. 540
— The elements of matter, and germina of plants, &c.	—	xxx. 542
— Their criterion and essence	—	xxx. 547
— Their energy or action	—	xxx. 545

Metaphysics , definition of	—	xxxvii. 511
— General division of the science into its main branches	—	xxxvii. 512
— Eulogium on	—	xlili. 526
— The incomparability of, with common sense	—	lxvii. 547
Metafisico , a good guide for the study of poetry to be set to music	—	xiv. 238
— Character of his operas	—	xxxix. 58
— An account of	—	xlvi. 467
Metelin , the ancient Lesbos, described	—	lxii. 517
Meteor , account of an extraordinary one	—	xxiii. 102
— Swinton's account of a	—	xxxiii. 330
— Swinton's description of a meteor seen at Oxford	—	xxxix. 418
— Philosophy of	—	xlili. 534
— Account of a fiery	—	l. 478
Meteorograph , perpetual, a new piece of mechanism	—	lxiii. 499
Meteorology , observations on by Mr. Pigot	—	xlvi. 224
— Observations	—	lii. 562
— Improvements in	—	liii. 534
— Horsley's method of constructing journals	—	liv. 455
— Hints towards a complete theory of	—	lix. 513
— Conjectures on, by M. Pignotti	—	lxv. 305
— Observations on, by M. Adanson	—	lxvii. 496
— Invention to remedy the imperfection of	—	lxvii. 544
— Meteorological history of the year 1782	lxix. 423—	lxx. 523
Method , utility of, in written compositions	—	xliii. 267
Methodism , candidly censured	—	xxiv. 282
— Religious quackery	—	xxv. 416
— Bishop of Gloucester's account of its birth	—	xxviii. 395
Methodists , the historians of their own extravagancies	—	i. 281
— Some account of their notions	—	iv. 33
— Letter in defence of	—	vi. 80
— Their preaching censured by Dr. Warner	—	xv. 483
— The notions of, coincide with many of the rankest heresies	—	xxi. 357
— Religious mountebanks	—	xxiii. 199
— Not to be reasoned with	—	xxix. 69
— Their manner of preaching humourously ridiculed	—	xxxiv. 81
— Burlesquers of the scriptures by their absurd hymns, &c.	—	xxxviii. 51
— Mrs. Mac Carthy's censure of	—	xl. 73
— Controversy with Dr. Adams	—	xlii. 331, 409
— Their teachers charged with deceit and craft	—	xlili. 327
— A new sect of, in Wales	—	lv. 165
Metropolis , arguments in favour of a large	—	xviii. 361
Mettam , Mr. letter on a phenomenon in the Derbyshire mines	—	lx. 46
Metzotinto , Prince Rupert's method	—	xii. 390
— By whom invented	—	xlii. 366
Mense river , in France, account of its disappearance near Basville	—	xxxvi. 556
— Mineralogical observations on	—	xxxvi. 557

- Mexico*, inquiry into its inhabitants, and ancient magnificence xxxvii. 533
- The conquest of, investigated — lvii. 128
- Conquest of, by the Spaniards — lvii. 132
- Instance of patriotic virtue in two Mexican youths lvii. 132
- Curious historical particulars concerning — lxx. 463
- Mexican prophecy — lxxvii. 189
- See Pera.
- Meyers*, (the painter) encomiums on — lix. 285
- His letters concerning Russia — lxi. 58
- Micah* and his mother defended from the charge of impiety xl. 384
- Micaiah*, the prophet, his honest and spirited conduct xlii. 334
- Mice*, case of persons said to have been devoured by liii. 535
- Micha*, a corporal, his great bravery — xiv. 384
- Michael* and Christ, whether one and the same persons ix. 138
- Arguments against his being Christ — ix. 423
- The guardian angel of the children of Israel xviii. 162
- The same person as Christ — xviii. 165
- Michaelis*, Dr. his supplement to Bochart — xli. 537
- His exposition of Daniel's Seventy Weeks xlix. 263
- His controversy with Dr. Kennicot — lviii. 80
- His account of the angyna polyposa — lxi. 222
- Mitchel*, Mr. his particular application of Hadley's quadrant xxxv. 378
- His proposal for measuring degrees of longitude, or parallels of the equator — xxxvii. 378
- His enquiry into the probable parallax and magnitude of the fixed stars, from the quantity of light which they afford us, and the particular circumstances of their situation xl. 102
- Micbelot*, Christiana, her extraordinary case xxix. 485
- Micromegas*, an account of — vii. 377
- His journey to Saturn, and other planets — vii. 378
- He, and his companions, land on the earth — vii. 379
- He takes a ship into his hand, which the mariners mistake for an island — vii. 380
- His intercourse with men — vii. 381
- Micrometer*, improvements in the use of — xlvii. 414
- Directions for using — l. 29
- Account of a new — lviii. 458
- Description of two new ones — lxiii. 398
- Curious one in the cabinet of the D. de Chaulnes lxx. 544
- On a lamp — lxix. 214
- Microscope*, a new creation discovered by — vii. 62
- Not necessary for the happiness of mankind — vii. 62
- Discoveries and observations made by a critical use of viii. 265
- The advantages of it with respect to philosophy viii. 270
- New and curious, invented at Naples — xxxv. 452
- Father de Torre's glasses — xxxvii. 441
- Improvements of the microscope — xl. 564
- Observations by Mr. Hooke — lxiii. 388

Microscopical

- Microscopical* observation: on the semen masculinum of animals
lxvii. 361
- Middlesex*, county, general description of — xxx. 265
- Middleton*, the fine country about it, described — xlii. 261
- Middleton, Conyers*, two questions previous to his free enquiry
ii. 240, 270
- A supplement to it proposed — ii. 278
- His examination of the Bishop of London's discourses ii. 289, seq.
- Pamphlets in answer to his examination, considered ii. 386, seq.
- His arrogance censured — ii. 388
- His notion of miracles — ii. 494
- Called an intrepid chief of a party — iii. 19
- Vindicated from the charge of apostacy — iii. 21
- Vindicated against the Doctors Church and Stebbing iv. 1
- His vindication of his free inquiry — iv. 92
- Complains that his antagonists have mistaken the question
iv. 94
- Queries to his friends — iv. 192
- Two questions previous to his free inquiry, impartially considered
vi. 326
- Dispute between St. Peter and St. Paul — vi. 354
- Apostles not constantly inspired — vi. 356
- All applications of prophecies not infallible — vi. 358
- Some account of him — viii. 311
- His notions of miracles and miraculous powers censured
x. 469
- His opinion concerning the gift of tongues xxvii. 372
- His notion of the inspired language of the New Testament, examined — xxvii. 374
- He foretells the destruction of the New Testament writings from the barbarity of their style — xxvii. 376
- Answered — xxvii. 378
- Mistaken in his ideas of the perfection requisite to inspired writings — xxvii. 380
- His observation on the state of Rome when in the zenith of her power, criticised — xxx. 108
- His system of the miraculous powers censured xxxviii. 388
- Account of — lxviii. 144
- Middleton, Capt. Christopher*, his uncommon bravery lx. 260
- Employed in the discovery of a north-west passage
lxx. 469
- Dies in penury and distress — lxx. 469
- Midshipman*, his office, circumstances, and situation on board
xl. 483
- Midwifery*, essay on — v. 286
- How to assist preternatural labours — v. 289
- Discoveries in — v. 290
- Mr. Pugh's method to prevent the opening a child's head in the birth — x. 242

Midwifery , how children apparently still-born are sometimes re- covered	—	xiii. 245
— As practised by women, scheme for improving	—	xxxii. 73
— Impropriety of midwives being licensed by bishops	—	xxxii. 74
— Milk-fever in women, description and causes of	—	xxxvii. 324
— Often complicated with other kinds of fever	—	xxxvii. 332
— Some directions concerning	—	xxxviii. 156
— Account of a monstrous twin birth	—	xlii. 543
— Two cases in	—	lv. 251
— Account of an acephalous birth	—	lv. 118
— Account of a Cæsarian operation	—	lv. 254
— Reflections on the Cæsarian-section, &c.	—	lx. 60
— M. le Roy's account of the symphysis of the pubes	—	lx. 74
— Henckel's account of the Cæsarian section	—	lxiv. 495
— On the necessity of the Cæsarian operation	—	lxvi. 501
— Observations relative to	—	lxx. 205, 375 597
Midwifery , man , vindication of	—	vi. 318
— Exploded	—	xxxii. 72
— Detended	—	xxxii. 73
Midwives , vulgar prejudices against, exploded	—	xlvi. 321
Miguel , St. island, hot fountains there, described	—	lxii. 49
— Their efficacy, in the cure of the gout	—	lxii. 50
Mildew on hops, method to prevent	—	x. 322
— Seger's treatise on	—	lvi. 218
— Treatise explaining its mischievous effects, with the remedies	—	lvi. 219
Military government to be dreaded	—	ii. 160
— Effects of milit. govern. on the manners of a people	—	iv. 218
— Considerations on standing armies	—	iv. 277
— The use of the exercise of soldiers	—	iv. 278
— Danger of calling the army to the assistance of the civil power	—	iv. 299
— The disadvantages of the hospital being too far from the camp	—	vii. 53
— Hospitals considered as sanctuaries	—	vii. 54
— When the Chinese were first instructed in the use of artillery	—	x. 200
— Arrangements of the King of Prussia	—	xi. 138
— Direct. for building a fortress, with cautions to engineers	—	xii. 121
— Long recitals of exploits, censured	—	xii. 490
— Examples and emulation, the best incentives to a military genius	—	xlii. 356
— Discipline necessary in peace as well as war	—	xiv. 486
— Observations on discipline	—	xv. 404
— The mutual assistance of infantry and cavalry	—	xv. 405
— A standing army, not to be trusted	—	xvi. 164
— New regulations for troops	—	xvi. 367
— The efficacy of huzzaing in battle	—	xvii. 181
— The exercise of the Prussian hussars	—	xvii. 361
— Regulations of the Prussian cavalry and infantry	—	xvii. 362

M I L

Military, the inconveniencies of great armies	xviii.	49
— The origin and intent of manual exercise	xxi.	340
— Rules for military exercise	xxi.	341
— Exercise of the Norfolk exercise	xxi.	343
— Maxims in fortification	xxii.	229
— Directions for making salient angles the strongest parts of fortifications	xxii.	230
— Instructions for militia men in the day of battle	xxii.	496
— The preference of redoubts to lines of circumvallation	xxiii.	152
— New scheme for recruiting the army	xxiii.	370
— Fortifications useless to a brave people	xxiv.	99
— Directions for marching detachments to ports	xxv.	20
— Gallant behaviour of a French officer in Corsica	xxv.	24
— In what discipline consists, with examples	xxv.	113
— Turkish discipline	xxv.	117
— Strictness of discipline in the troops of Charles XII.	xxv.	118
— Reflections on the punishments of the ancients	xxv.	118
— The importance of attention	xxv.	232
— Qualifications of a general	xxv.	282
— Life destructive to morals	xxv.	348
— First considerations for forming a good army	xxvi.	60
— Best method of forming magazines	xxvi.	60
— The reason why there are more books on that subject in France than in England	xxvi.	276
— On carrying on invasions with humanity	xxviii.	254
— Medical œconomy of embarked troops	xxix.	547
— Method of constructing floating batteries	xxx.	401
— Invention of rolling breast works	xxx.	404
— Speech of Mr. French on the Irish military establishment	xxxviii.	8
— Discouragements, incidental to British engineers	xxxviii.	331
— Establishment of Ireland very burthensome	xl.	65
— Account of some actions of arms in the time of Queen Elizabeth	xlvi.	264
— Anecdote of the forcible effect of discipline on the Chinese	xl.	555
— Arguments against standing armies	li.	353
— Principles of fortification of towns	liii.	167
— On perpendicular fortifications	lv.	473
— Machines of the ancients	lix.	62
— Account of remains of fortifications in America	lx.	282
— Anecdotes of the skill of French generals in the attack of fortified places	lx.	545
— Qualifications of a complete general	lxi.	202
— State of artillery in the reign of Edward VI. and Queen Elizabeth	lxi.	205
— Discussions	lxiii.	416
— Observations on war as a science	lxiv.	553
— State of the Grecian cavalry	lxiv.	554
— Eclogues	lxv.	306
	Militia,

Militia , memoirs on fortification and gunnery	—	—	lxix. 293
— Plan of a national	—	—	vi. 91
— Plan for a select and standing	—	—	vi. 92
— Thoughts on	—	—	vi. 95
— Injurious to a commercial people	—	—	xiv. 171
— Objections to the late bill	—	—	xv. 415
— Another plan for a militia	—	—	xv. 416
— Pathetically recommended	—	—	xvi. 93
— Not to be trusted	—	—	xvi. 164
— Proposal for a military force instead of	—	—	xvi. 165
— Reasons for disciplining a	—	—	xvii. 282
— Substitutes condemned	—	—	xvii. 284
— Metaphorically characterized	—	—	xvii. 600
— Proposal for its amendment	—	—	xvii. 601
— Substitutes allowed	—	—	xvii. 602
— Exercise of the Norfolk militia	—	—	xxi. 343
— The reason why officers are armed with a fuzee, rather than an esponton	—	—	xxi. 346
— Instructions for militia on the day of battle	—	—	xxii. 496
Milk , different kinds, properties, &c. of it	—	—	ii. 308
— Diet, the best for shattered constitutions	—	—	ii. 309
— What sort the best for nourishment	—	—	ii. 309
— The bad effects of boiling it	—	—	ii. 309
— Of animals and of women, considered as food for infants	—	—	xxxviii. 98
— Of nurses, reformation of, medical controversy concerning	—	—	liii. 177
Millennium , foretold	—	—	i. 353
— The common notions of it inconsistent with christianity	—	—	ix. 363
— Doctrine of, asserted	—	—	xl. 361
— State of the earlier controversies relating to	—	—	xlvi. 329
— Rational hypothesis of	—	—	xlvi. 329
— Lord Barrington's opinion	—	—	xlvi. 443
Millepedes , account of	—	—	v. 380
Milles , Dr. his disquisition on the present sent by King Alfred to some cathedrals	—	—	-xl. 181
— Account of an ancient seal-ring	—	—	lvii. 450
— His opinion with respect to the Apamean medal	—	—	lvii. 455
— His account of two aurei, found by digging in the Tower of London	—	—	lxii. 276, 282
Milliner , necessary qualifications for	—	—	xxiv. 72
— Apprentice fee	—	—	xxiv. 72
— Useful cautions to the apprentice	—	—	xxiv. 72
— Journey-women's wages	—	—	xxiv. 73
Mills , observations on	—	—	lviii. 516
Milly , Count de, his memoir concerning the aeriform emanations from the human body	—	—	lxiv. 494—lxvi. 504
Milner , Rev. Mr. on the communication of motion by impact and gravity	—	—	lx. 418
— His memoir on the precession of the equinoxes produced by the sun's attraction	—	—	lxiii. 462

Mile, or Melos, subterraneous galleries there	lviii.	491
Miltitz, M. his endeavours to reconcile Luther with the church of Rome	xxxiii.	435
Milton, his life and writings	ii.	193
— His imitations of the moderns	ii.	239
— Passages in his paradise lost, defective in point of poetry	xiv.	532
— Copies of his particular writings, said to have been bought for the pleasure of burning them	xv.	192
— Bentley, a rough criticizer of	xv.	654
— Character of his works	xvi.	40
— Superior to Homer in regard to the characters introduced in his Paradise Lost	xxxii.	16
— Defended against professor Gottschied	xxxii.	16
— His encomium on the English	xxxii.	306
— A noble and sublime preacher	xxxiv.	541
— Paradise Lost, translated into French by Racine	xxxviii.	518
— Celebrated by Mr. Gray as the friend of freedom	xli.	159
— His political writings extolled	xliv.	335
— Lord Chesterfield's censure of	li.	26
— Particulars of his life	lxi.	81
— His education	lxi.	82
— Commences teacher of the classics, &c.	lxi.	83
— His political character	lxi.	86
— His poetry	lxi.	87
— His religion	lxi.	89
— Critical remarks on his poems	lxi.	90
— The malignity of Dr. Johnson towards	lxii.	479
Mimosa nilotica, some account of that plant	xxxiv.	270
Mind, human, instability of	vi.	471
— The four operations of	vii.	468
— Philosophy of, fruitful in creating doubts but unhappy in resolving them	xxx.	363
— The various operations of, considered	xxxi.	1, 21
— Its progress in the sciences	xxxiv.	516
— Its faculties distinguished	xli.	22
— Its ideas philosophically investigated	xli.	24
— Its motives to actions considered	xli.	26
— Passions and habits of	xli.	28
— Enquiry into the constitution of the mind	xli.	113
— Mode of existence	xli.	117
— The same with what we call spirit	xli.	118
— Influence of the mind on the body	xli.	250
— Bad effects of immoderate application to study	xli.	251
— To other employments	xli.	254
— Due relaxation of, recommended in such cases	xli.	256
— Great progress of, in the present age	xlili.	184
— The powers of, not enlightened in those climates that are most exposed to the action of the sun	xlix.	457
Mind,

Mind, human, progress of the	—	lii. 438
— Dissertation on the human	—	lviii. 299
— Lord Monboddo's strange hypothesis relating to	—	lxi. 192
— The influence of natural causes on	—	lxi. 508
Minden, battle of, saves a school-boy from a whipping	—	xl. 302
Mineral waters, enquiry into their supposed sulphureous principle	—	xlvi. 465
— A parallel of	—	lvii. 237
— The art of imitating	—	lxiv. 305
Mineralogist, his traveling apparatus described	—	xlvi. 460
— Instructions for	—	xlvi. 461
Minerals, the knowledge of the Saxons of	—	viii. 497
— The several classes of	—	xli. 312
— Ferber's observations on	—	lv. 549
— Experiments on the nature of	—	lvi. 379
— On the true arrangement of	—	lvii. 307
— Monnet's system of	—	lxi. 219
— Experiments on	—	lxii. 217
— Observations made by Dr. Gualandris in his travels	—	lxv. 547
Minerva, temple of, at Priene, account of	—	xlii. 372
— Ruins of, described	—	xlii. 374
Mines, complete treatise of	—	vi. 395
— Observations on the mines of Siberia	—	xxii. 519
— Of Spain, some account of	—	xxxvii. 448
— On the circulation of air in	—	xlvi. 684
— Account of the mines in Silesia	—	liii. 536
— Particulars relative to the copper and tin mines in Cornwall	—	lix. 268, 274
— Treatise on the working of	—	lix. 300
— in Derbyshire, strata of the earth in	—	lx. 44
— in Derbyshire, curious accounts of	—	lx. 45
— On a phenomenon in the Derbyshire	—	lx. 46
— Accounts of those in France	—	lxi. 221
— See Damps.	—	—
Ministers of state, portrait of a good one	—	xv. 104
— Utility of trussing a minister up every fifty or a hundred years	—	xv. 415
— Vindication of	—	xv. 294
— The late supposed plan of, at the commencement of the war	—	xv. 408
— Justified in their choice of admiral Byng	—	xv. 410
— More compliments to	—	xv. 418
— Their conduct subject to censure	—	xvii. 291
— Not to be personally insulted	—	xvii. 291
— The consequences of so doing	—	xvii. 291
— and privy counsellors, their right to meddle with affairs out of their proper districts, denied	—	xxii. 164
— Opposition to the present, said to be formed, and by whom	—	xxvii. 466
		Minister's

Minisshi's dictionary of the Persian language, new edition of, recommended	xlvi. 89
Minorca , account of its natives and their customs	v. 215
— Character of the inhabitants	vii. 156
— The situation of	vii. 157
— Partiality to their old laws	vii. 159
— For want of exports could not exist without the money sent to support the troops	vii. 206
— The value of the exports	vii. 206
— Their imports	vii. 207
— Improvements which might be made there in trade	vii. 208
— The quantity of corn and wine produced there	vii. 209
— The inhabitants naturally listless	vii. 211
— Formerly a brave people	vii. 211
— Their schools	vii. 213
— Method of making love	vii. 213
— Their priests	vii. 214
— The carnival	vii. 214
— Their races	vii. 215
— Their dancing	vii. 215
— Dexterity in shooting	vii. 216
— Their dress	vii. 217
— Their method of living	vii. 218
— Funerals	vii. 220
— Number of inhabitants	vii. 220
— Method of living of the officers of the army	vii. 222
Minors , Dr. Stebbing's opinion on the marriage of	xii. 110
— Remarks on his opinion, &c.	xii. 112, 114, 440, 445
Minotaur , application of that fable to inoculation	xiii. 142
Minstrel , remarkable appearance of one in Queen Elizabeth's time	xxxii. 242
— Suppression of that class of vagrants	xxxii. 243
— Mr. Pegge's observations on Dr. Percy's account of	xliv. 253
— Extracts from that poem	li. 190
Mira's lamentation for the death of Leander	xliv. 185
Mirabeau , Marquis of, said to be the author of the " Lettres de cachet "	lxvii. 539
Miracles , of christian fathers, their expediency	ii. 84
— Vindicated	ii. 85
— Their credibility in general considered	ii. 271
— Of the gospel, grounds of their credibility	ii. 275
— How far evidences of a doctrine	ii. 493
— Account of that which prevented Julian from building the temple	iii. 78
— Fables of monks ridiculed	iii. 79
— The evidence necessary to prove a	iv. 4
— Which credible, and which not	iv. 3
— After the time of the apostles, reflections concerning	iv. 94
— Dr. Middleton's notion of	iv. 258
— Ascension, the first thing needful	v. 183
Miracles ,

Miracles , Hume's arguments against, answered	v. 358
— Hume's arguments against, answered	vi. 72
— Remarks on an essay concerning	vi. 313
— What	vi. 73
— Of our Saviour, both prophecies and emblems	vi. 430
— Post-apostolical, account of	vi. 434
— Powers in the three first centuries, false	vi. 107
— Why the fathers asserted them	vi. 108
— Denying them does not affect protestantism or christianity	vi. 109
— Of our Saviour, proved by the authenticity of the New Testament	vii. 59
— Arguments against	vii. 346
— Of the old testament disclaimed	ix. 244
— Possibility of them maintained	ix. 322
— Those done by Moses in Egypt, defended	ix. 323
— Those of the fourth and fifth centuries, with what view said to be done	ix. 356
— Defended	x. 463
— Evidences of the realities of those of our Saviour and his apostles	x. 467
— The objection that we have no rule to judge of miracles by, considered	x. 468
— Proofs of the truth of our Saviour's miracles	x. 468
— Of the Abbé de Paris, a fraud	x. 464
— Difference between those recorded in the gospels, and those ascribed to the Abbé de Paris	xii. 179
— In the church after the time of the apostles	xiii. 15
— Ceased at the establishment of the christian religion	xiii. 115
— Can be a proof of nothing against virtue and the good of mankind	xiii. 115
— A difficulty removed concerning the two blind men	xiv. 140
— That of the loaves in the gospel, an account of	xiv. 148, 151
— Alone, cannot long establish the divinity of the gospel	xvi. 202
— Sufficient evidence of a divine commission	xvii. 116
— But not in all cases	xvii. 117
— Reflections concerning	xx. 490
— Hume's arguments against, examined	xxvi. 500
— Rousseau's opinion of	xxxi. 498
— Their reality not to be determined by the human capacity	xxxi. 499
— Various ways of performing pretended miracles or magic	xxxi. 499
— Not required to enforce the religion of nature	xxxii. 184
— Hume's objections to them answered	xxxvi. 87
— Definition of	xxxvii. 345
— Nature, design, and character of, explained	xxxvii. 156
— Observations on	xxxvii. 345
— The propriety and use of those wrought by Christ, asserted	xliii. 425
	Miracles,

Miracles , nature of	—	—	xliv. 20
— How produced	—	—	xliv. 21
— Not repugnant to our ideas of God's attributes	—	—	xliv. 22
— The peculiar works of God alone	—	—	xliv. 292
— Claims of the heathen divinities to miraculous powers, considered	—	—	xliv. 293
— Of magicians, &c.	—	—	xliv. 296
— No real miracles performed by the devil	—	—	xliv. 301
— The credibility of, defended against Hume	—	—	xliv. 387
— Popish, performed at Hayles, in Gloucestershire	—	—	lxiii. 1
Mir-mahmud , kills his uncle, and succeeds his father	—	—	ix. 178
— Overcomes the Persians in battle	—	—	ix. 180
— Their empire resigned to him	—	—	ix. 181
— His barbarity	—	—	ix. 182
— His miserable death	—	—	ix. 184
Mirepoix , Bishop of, persecutes Voltaire, and obliges him to take refuge at the court of Berlin	—	—	lxx. 579
Mirrors , burning, and lenses, curious improvement in the construction and use of	—	—	li. 528
Mirzais , his artful character	—	—	ix. 175
— Takes Kandahar by surprise	—	—	ix. 178
— His establishment in the kingdom, and death	—	—	ix. 178
Mirza , Mahadi , his history of Nader Shah, translated	—	—	xliv. 280
— Account of this writer	—	—	xliv. 281
Mirza , Riza Kouli , son of Nadir Kouli his attempt on his father's life	—	—	ix. 165
— His fierce answer to him, on his being discovered	—	—	ix. 165
Misanthropy of Swift and Voltaire, arising from like causes	—	—	xxi. 84
Misers , riches useless to them	—	—	ii. 439
— Their consolation amidst hisses and contempt	—	—	xxvi. 233
Misletes , the superstition of the Persians concerning	—	—	x. 420
Missionaries , English, in the American colonies not rightly disposed of	—	—	xiii. 277
— Their difficulty in making American converts	—	—	xxiii. 420
— Popish, their zeal commended	—	—	xxxv. 283
Missions , protestant, to the American Indians, improperly conducted	—	—	xxxvii. 318
Mississippi , why not proper for inland navigation	—	—	xiv. 36
— River by whom discovered	—	—	xix. 297
— The proposals for a new settlement on the banks of, considered and approved	—	—	xlvi. 206
— Bubble, rise and progress of	—	—	lxv. 183
Missy , M. de , his fables	—	—	xl. 487
Mistaken lover , a poem	—	—	ii. 16
Mitchel , Mr. Joseph , his censure on Mr. Thomson's Winter	—	—	ix. 486
— Thomson's severe answer	—	—	ix. 487
Mitcheltown , prodigiously improved	—	—	lxiii. 42
			Mitbras ,

Mitbras , an ancient sculpture explained	iv.	383
— Represents the sun	iv.	383
Mithridates , king of Pontus, his extraordinary education	xxx.	112
— His misfortunes and unhappy end	xxx.	179
— His character	xxx.	181
Mock heroic poem , what	v.	117
Mock patriot , satirically displayed	xxviii.	214
Modena , Duke of. Gray's description of his palace	lii.	385
Moderation , taught by the common principles of equity	iv.	22
— Recommended	iv.	176
— Character of a moderate man	v.	320
— Striking arguments for	xxx.	543
Moderns , the folly of their adhering to the rules of the ancients	xxiii.	372
Modesty , the advantages of it, when united to assurance	viii.	44
— Thoughts on female	xx.	131
— How evinced in behaviour	xxvi.	201
Modification , what	v.	136
Mæcenas , his character in private life	xxxv.	91
— Deemed a thorough courtier	xxxv.	97
— Some account of his character	xlv.	579
Mænfen , Anne, becomes mistress to Peter the Great	li.	490
— Refuses to marry him, and he abandons her	li.	492
Moffen island , description of	lii.	125
Mogul , the great, a curious representation of his throne.	viii.	497
— Their tyranny over the Indians	lxii.	543
Mohawk Indians , account of that nation	xxxiv.	14
Moketab , its mountains described	viii.	414. 416
Molasses , recommended as a prophylactic against the scurvy	xiv.	23
Moleworth , Viscount Richard, his military merit and preferment	xii.	346
— Remarkable story of him	xii.	346
Moliere , a character of	vii.	182
— A great encourager of Racine	xxxix.	557
— Discourse on	lii.	572
Molyneux , Mr. his famous problem	lii.	581
— His celebrated problem discussed	lxv.	520
Mompesson , Sir G. impeached	xxxvi.	6
Monades of Leibnitz , curious account of the nature of	xliv.	446
Monarchy , essential to the constitution of England	i.	495
— Arrives at perfection in arts by slower degrees than a republic	iv.	219
— Why favourable to trade	xxx.	17
Monasteries , what they originally were in England	xv.	581
— In England, specious account of the national advantages accruing from them	xxxi.	139
— Extravagant representation of the national misfortunes, and guilt incurred by dissolving them	xxxi.	140
Monastic ,

Monastic life , poetical description of	xxvi.	359
Mombodo, Ld. his arguments in defence of literary property	li.	91
— His singular hypothesis of the mind	lxi.	192
— His unhandsome attack of the literary fame of David Hume	lxi.	195
— His account of the jumping ague	lxi.	197
— His extravagant admiration of Aristotle and ancient metaphysics	lxi.	198
Money , how to be considered	ii.	355
— Of France, some account of it.	v.	495
— Cannot be heaped beyond its proper level	vi.	29
— The value sunk by banks, funds, and paper credit	vi.	29
— In a country increased by the exports exceeding the imports	vii.	57
— Nature and origin of	vii.	57
— The value first fixed by the weight	vii.	57
— Afterwards coined by public authority	vii.	57
— Public regulations proposed for the disposal of	xiii.	117
— How much necessary for circulation	xvi.	108
— Definition of	xvii.	112
— Origin, intention, and uses of	xvii.	112
— Too great a quantity of, in circulation, mischievous	xvii.	113
— Complaints of the want of, generally unjust	xvii.	113
— Its original use	xxiii.	120
— The ancient and present standard of, in England	xxiii.	160
— Altering the nominal value of, whether detrimental to commerce	xxiii.	161
— Its value and use	xxxii.	288
— Defined	xxxvi.	371
— Its connexion with agriculture	xxxvi.	371
— And coin, politically considered	xxxvii.	117
— Principles of, as applied to trade, investigated	xxxvii.	117
— Judicious observations on	xlvi.	243
— On the value of, the ancient Greek and Roman	xlvi.	217
— See Coin .
Mongez, Abbt. his enquiries concerning Bleton's faculty of discovering water springs	lxvii.	554
Monitor , inconsistency in that paper cited	xvii.	293
Monglas, Marq. de , his interesting history	xlvi.	8
Monk, General , a good soldier, but slow in understanding	xvii.	133
— The sincerity of his royalty problematical	xxii.	387
— His conduct at the restoration, censured	xlvi.	100
Monks , their miraculous fables, ridiculed	iii.	79
— Their origin	ix.	354
— Their actions and sayings greatly exaggerated	ix.	356
— And nuns of Egypt vastly numerous in the fourteenth century	ix.	356
— Were composed of a strange medley	ix.	356
— One of the causes of the desolation of, in Spain	ix.	386

Monks, the golden reign of	—	—	xv. 384
— Sanctity of, called in question	—	—	xv. 384
— Characteristical description of	—	—	xxvi. 461
— Enemies to the human species	—	—	xxxvii. 144
— Curious account of the origin of	—	—	xxxvii. 550
— Severe reflections on their order	—	—	xxxix. 127
— Their quarrel with Boccace	—	—	xxxix. 561
— Their usefulness to society in the seventh and eighth centuries	—	—	xli. 531
— Their literary merit	—	—	xli. 531
Monk-stone in Northumberland, extraordinary story concerning	—	—	lxiv. 55
Monkey, account of a very singular kind of	—	—	xliv. 207
Monkshood, its medicinal use	—	—	xxviii. 434
Monmouth, Duke of, Lord Grey's letter and confession concerning his rebellion	—	—	ix. 511
— Not the son of Charles II.	—	—	lii. 417
— Particulars of his rebellion	—	—	lii. 419
Monochromata, the ancient way of painting	—	—	xv. 168
— Practice of Zeuxis	—	—	xv. 168
— Examples of this kind found at Herculaneum	—	—	xv. 168
— Still practised	—	—	xv. 168
— Instanted in the stair-case of the British Museum	—	—	xv. 168
Monopolists, destructive to the interest of trade and manufactures	—	—	viii. 215
— Proceedings in parliament relative to	—	—	viii. 219
— And exclusive charters, ill effects of	—	xxxii. 286, 287
— by patent, illegal use of, in former reigns	—	—	xxxiv. 183
— Just observations on	—	—	lxx. 331
Monro, Dr. his account of some neutral salts	—	—	xxxix. 357
— Account of the quassi root	—	—	xlii. 195
— Experiments on the effects of opium, &c. on the nerves of animals	—	—	xlvi. 98
— Account of the Lisbon diet drink in venereal cases,	—	—	xlvi. 185
— On the state of the intestines in old dysenteries	—	—	xlvi. 186
— On the use of mercury in convulsive disorders	—	—	xlvi. 187
— Account of some uncommon cases	—	—	xlvi. 264
— Account of natron	—	—	xlvi. 219
Monsoons philosophically explained	—	—	lxix. 128
— Theory of	—	—	lxx. 192
Montague, Lady Mary Wortley, her children the first that were inculcated in Britain	—	—	x. 47
— Her account of a visit to the Vizier's Lady	—	—	xxviii. 469
— To the Kahya's Lady	—	—	xxviii. 470
— The letters published under her name genuine	—	—	xxviii. 386
— Her description of Vienna	—	—	xxviii. 387
— Account of a nun there	—	—	xxviii. 389
— Of the Countess Cozelle	—	—	xxviii. 390
— Her journey to Adrianople	—	—	xxviii. 391
— Accounts of the ladies baths there	—	—	xxviii. 392

Montagu, Lady M. Wortley , her account of the ladies at Adrianople	xxviii.	393
— Account of the Mahometan religion	xxviii.	461
— Of the Arnouts	xxviii.	462
— Of the Turkish gardeners	xxviii.	464
— Of the Turkish poetry	xxviii.	466
— Her original papers, where lodged	xxxiv.	396
— Sentiments on nursing children	xxxvi.	477
— On the Venus de Medicis	xxxvi.	478
— Account of the Turkish women	xxxvii.	45
— Quarrel with Mr. Pope	xxxvii.	45
— Her satire on Mr. Pope	xxxvii.	46
— Secret history of her letters	lxx.	575
— The fourth volume of, not genuine	lxx.	575
Montagu, Mrs. poetical encomiums on	li.	390
Montague, A. r. his papers seized	xxviii.	263
— His relation of that affair in the House of Commons	xxviii.	264
Montague, Edward Wortley , his observations on the supposed Chinese inscription at Turin	xxix.	34
— His singular manner of travelling through the Holy Land	xxxv.	331
— His account of his journey from Cairo to the mountains of Sinai	xxxvii.	379
— His observations on the Red Sea	xxxvii.	381
— Two elegies on	liii.	504
— Curious account of	lvi.	534
— His manner of living at Venice	lxiv.	139
— Account of Pompey's pillar in Egypt	xl.	98
Montaigne , his want of regard for Cicero's writings, a reflection on himself	xix.	525
— Sketch of the character of his essays	xxxvi.	507
— His characters	li.	504
— His journal of his travels into Italy	li.	506
Montalimbert, Mr. his account of the Russian hares	xxxvi.	555
— His treatise on perpendicular fortification	lv.	473
Montanus , a celebrated maxim of his	lxiii.	136
Montbailard, M. de , associated with M. de Buffon, in writing the natural history of birds	liii.	594
— His natural history of the raven	liii.	594
Monte Rosso , observations relative to the natural history of	lxv.	557
Montespan, Mad. de , story of her parting from Louis XIV.	xliv.	61
Montesquieu , panegyricized by M. de Maupertuis	xiv.	161
— Character	xiv.	161
— Where born	xiv.	162
— Account of his writings	xiv.	162
— A letter from	xiv.	165
— Of his person	xiv.	166
— Behaviour in his last illness	xiv.	167
— His family	xiv.	167

- Montesquieu*, an account of — xvii. 163
 — His prophecy of the destruction of the English constitution — xxxiv. 125, 201
 — Letter ascribed to him on the liberties of England — xxxiv. 309
Montevideo, wonderful fertility and plenty there — liii. 602
Montezuma, Emperor of Mexico, sketch of his character — lvii. 133
 — The causes of his ruin traced — — lvii. 134
Montgolfier, Messrs. invent the aerostatic machine — lxix. 552
 — Their experiment at Annonay — — lxix. 553
 — Second experiment at Paris — — lxix. 555
 — Third experiment — — lxix. 556
 — Their flight in an air balloon, at Lyons — — lxx. 224
Montmollin, Professer, the great adversary of Mr. Rousseau — xxxiii. 507, 512
 — His very unfavourable character — — xxxiii. 550
 — His baseness and treachery — — xxxiii. 551
Montserrat, that wonderful mountain described — lvii. 209
Monuments, in Westminster abbey, badly disposed — i. 83
 — A poetical reflection on — — xiii. 376
 — Ancient, in Egypt, proper time for visiting — — xv. 257
 — A remarkable one found in Derbyshire — — xxix. 147
Moody, Susanna, cured by electricity, of a remarkable disorder in the head and eyes — — lxiii. 434
Moon, her gravitation considered — — ii. 399
 — Her theory made perfect — — vi. 123
 — Sir Isaac Newton's theory defended — — xi. 40
 — Her motion in the apogee, consistent with the law of attraction — — xi. 40
 — Her motion in the apogee, conformable to the Newtonian law of attraction — — xi. 48
 — An allowance to be made for her acceleration in calculating eclipses — — xi. 248
 — Why her light is not accompanied with heat — — xii. 3
 — Parallaxes of, how computed — — xv. 385
 — New discoveries in — — — xx. 522
 — Her rays not capable of affecting a thermometer placed in the focus of a speculum — — — xxii. 12
 — Maskelyne's letter on the parallax — — — xxvii. 332
 — Short's observations on an eclipse of the — — — xxix. 145
 — Reasons for a lunar atmosphere — — — xxix. 145
 — On the distance of, from the sun and fixed stars — — — xxix. 145
 — Her appulse to the planet Jupiter — — — xxxi. 419
 — Method of discovering her distance and parallax — — — xxxiv. 220
 — Method of discovering the longitude by the — — — xxxiv. 226
 — Valley of, a poem — — — xxxiv. 356
 — Account of the epochs of her mean motion — — — xxxvii. 166
 — On the parallax of — — — xl. 494
 — Observations on the spots and libration — — — xl. 494
 — and sun, connexion between the parallaxes — — — xlii. 396
 — Mayer's tables of her motions — — — xlv. 214, 284, 290

Moon , experiments to try whether it emits heat or cold to the earth	li. 532
— Its past existence, and future duration suggested	lii. 615
— Influence on the weight of the atmosphere	liii. 535
— Count Maggi's observations on the influence of	lvii. 484
— On the mountains in the	lxiv. 441
— Jeurat's observations on the	lxvi. 505
— On the libration of	lxvii. 546
— The notion of its putrefactive quality of moonshine	lxix. 281
— Observations on its lunar disk	lxix. 542
— On the attractive powers of the rays of	lxx. 490
Moore, Bishop , instances of his kindness to Mr. Whiston	i. 339
Moore, Sir Henry , Governor of Jamaica, sketch of his history and character	li. 131
Moor-ild , scintillation of the sea, so called in Norway, attempt to account for it	xii. 454
Moor-land , directions for the improvement of	xlvi. 52
— Extraordinary advantages of	xlvi. 56—64
— Scheme for cultivating under government patronage	xlvi. 432
Moor Park , described	xliv. 346
Moors , of Algiers, their simplicity in dress	iii. 441
— Strange instance of their care in saving their clothes	iii. 441
— Their expulsion from Spain	xvii. 348
— Their dominion in Spain	xxxiv. 490
— Books and manuscripts relating to	xxxiv. 491
— Tunisian, brutal behaviour of one to M. Chabert	xlvi. 677
— Ribera, Patriarch of Antioch, his memorial to persuade Philip of Spain to exterminate the Moors	lxix. 63
Moradi , an Arabian Poet, taken for a Sorcerer, and drowned in the Nile	xv. 356
Moral approbation and disapprobation , not to be perverted	xxi. 14
Moral beings , a mixed species, or compound of physical and metaphysical existences	xxx. 541
— Their essence and energy distinguished and ascertained	xxx. 549
Moral entities , considered	iv. 524
Moral instinct , the opinion of, controverted	xxvi. 377
Moral sense , what	v. 137
— Disquisition on	xxxiii. 544
Morales , (the painter) anecdote relative to	lxvii. 53
Morality , its study and practice recommended	ii. 451
— A system of	v. 129
— Nothing in the Old or New Testament classes therewith	v. 242
— Its foundation and obligations not sufficiently settled	v. 357
— Hume's notion of	vi. 1
— The true grounds of	vi. 162
— Universal benevolence	vi. 163
— Man's social character, natural	vi. 164
— Importance of a strict discharge of relative duty	vi. 165
— The matrimonial duties	vi. 166
— Guilt of adultery	vi. 168
— Duty of parents to children	vi. 171

- Morality*, the fundamental principles of, delineated viii. 364, 371
- The authority of conscience, a strong principle of it viii. 368
 - Religion necessary to complete its nature, and perfect its obligation viii. 371
 - The evangelical, vindicated against the objections of Mr. Hume xiv. 474
 - Eternal and immutable — — xviii. 520
 - Founded in self-interest — — xx. 523
 - The necessity of enlivening its precepts to render them agreeable xxiv. 415
 - State of, in the heathen world — — xxx. 426
 - That taught by the heathen philosophers, not a sufficient guide to virtue — — xxx. 427
 - The stoical system — — xxx. 428
 - Not incompatible with pleasure — — xxx. 34
 - Its connection with politics — — xxx. 573
 - Well understood by the ancients — — xxxv. 563
 - The most perfect of all the sciences — — xxxvi. 524
 - Universal theory of — — lv. 141
- Morals*, an enquiry concerning the principles of vi. 1
- Two questions to be considered in treating the principles of xxi. 17
 - Military life destructive to — — xxv. 348
- Moravians*, the first settlement of — — viii. 482
- Their origin and principles described — — viii. 482
 - Marriages subject to the determination of their elders viii. 482
 - Their worship childish and superstitious — — viii. 484
 - Many of their customs absurd and antichristian viii. 484
 - Charged with obscenities — — x. 240
 - Abstract of his Majesty's edict against them xii. 105
 - Their doctrine contrary to common sense and good morals lii. 476
 - Specimen of their absurd poetry — — liii. 477
 - Candid account of — — lxiv. 207
 - Vindicated from the charge of immorality — — lxiv. 208
 - Sketch of the history of the Moravian brethren lxiv. 212
 - Answer to Sexpetter's invective against — — lxix. 579
 - or Hershutters, their amiable character lxix. 581
- Moray, or Murray*, province of, its climate — — lv. 53
- Productions and natural curiosities of — — lv. 54
 - Manners of the inhabitants — — lv. 56
 - Military history of — — lv. 57
 - Ancient customs — — lv. 58
- Moray, Earl of*, his negotiations at the papal court lx. 186
- Morbus Niger*, observations on — — xxxix. 529
- Mors, Sir Thomas*, his speech on his entering on the office of Chancellor — — xix. 67
- Account of his Eutopia — — xix. 68
 - Remarks on his character — — lx. 196
 - His remark on a thin House of Commons xxviii. 126
- Mors,*

Mort, Sir Thomas , his speech on the removal of evil counsellors	xxviii.	129
Mort, Mr. his observations on the tides in the Straits of Gibraltar	xxix.	139
— His account of scoria from iron works	lxviii.	382
Morcl, Mr. his account of linseed oil	xlvi.	345
Morgan, Dr. gains the prize medal at Philadelphia	xxxvi.	24
Morgan, Sir Henry , Governor of Jamaica, sketch of his life and administration	li.	132
Morgagni , the medical Nestor of the age	xlvi.	692
Moriachians , manners and customs of, described	lix.	40
Mors, Abbé , his theory of the earth	xxxi.	484
Morris, Mr. his fine situation near Chepstow, described	xxxviii.	226
Morris, Joseph , memoirs of his life	xvii.	451
Morrison, Sir Richard , his letter to the Lords of Council, respecting his embassy to the Emperor Charles V.	lix.	3
Mortality, bills of , account of	ii.	359
— Those of London defective, and why	ii.	360
— Their use in physic	ii.	361
— None kept among the Turks	xv.	280
— in London, why defective	xv.	365
— Good registers of the health and numbers of the people	xvi.	566
— Their first commencement	xxi.	66
— Their deficiencies	xxj.	67
— Observations on the London bills of	xxvii.	420
— Bill of mortality of Prime Ministers	xxviii.	160
— Observations on the bills of, at York	lxviii.	387
Mortar , recipe for making it impenetrable	xliv.	479
— Roman, M. de la Faye's treatise on	lvii.	235
Mortification , application of opium in a	liii.	295
Mortimer, Dr. his electrical experiments	xxxvii.	99
— His rules in husbandry not always consonant to practice	xii.	58
Mortimer, Thomas , in what manner deprived of his vice-consulship, at Ostend	xliv.	251
Mortimer, Mr. his pictures poetically commended	lix.	284
Mortmain , statute of, first passed in 1279	vii.	434
Morton, Earl of , behaviour at his execution	xx.	198
Morveau and Bertrand , their ascent in the Dijon air-balloon, with their observations	lxx.	414
Mosaic work , Italian, how performed	lv.	550
Moscow , city of, described	xlvi.	36
Moses , dissertation on his history of the creation	ii.	157
— Of the fall	ii.	299
— Of the deluge, and its truth enquired into	ii.	497
— Le Cat's account of	iv.	70
— His history of the creation, &c. vindicated	iv.	85
— A parallel between him and Christ	ix.	184
— An attempt to discredit his history and miracles	ix.	244

- Moses*, charged with borrowing from the Egyptians, Chaldeans, and Greek philosophers — x. 263
- And with not believing the immortality of the soul — x. 263
- Objections against the perfection of his law — x. 264, 265
- And against his account of the creation — x. 269
- His notions of the Supreme Being said to be confused, &c. x. 279
- His account of the unity of God, inconsistent — x. 431
- His prophecy of a prophet like unto himself, how to be understood — xii. 39
- The doctrines established by all the Eastern nations, and by the Greek philosophers, derived from him — xii. 168
- Supposed to have received the first letters from God — xix. 518
- Chronological difficulties in his history — xxxiii. 494
- His account of the creation objected to, and defended — xxxiv. 51
- His petition, “to be blotted out of the book of God,” explained — xxxvi. 493
- Mosheim, Dr.* his great character — xxxiii. 443
- A mistake of his concerning Mr. King corrected — xxxiv. 41
- His obs. on the cross appearing to Constantine — xxxvi. 275
- Mosquito-shore*, country and inhabitants of, described — lxi. 473
- Curious earthen vases found there — lxii. 277
- Antique earthen-ware figures dug up there — lxx. 265
- Moss*, a good soil, if judiciously cultivated — xx. 578
- Method how to improve it — xx. 579
- Mosses*, a probable theory of the formation of those in Lancashire, &c. — xlvii. 108
- Their bursting accounted for — xlvii. 109
- Analogy between the propagation of, and that of some animals — lii. 597
- Observations relating to the natural history of — liii. 534
- Mother* ought to suckle her own child — ix. 161
- Of no kin to her child — xxiv. 113
- Importance of her nursing her own child — xxvii. 259
- Influence of the passions and imaginations of, over the fœtus, asserted — xlvii. 542
- Mother-tongue*, her hardships in trade, universities, and in the schools — xxv. 362
- Moths*, their excrement used in painting — ix. 347
- The mischief done by them, how to be prevented — ix. 371
- How rendered useful — ix. 374
- The efficacy of turpentine oil in destroying — ix. 372
- Destroyed by tobacco smoke — ix. 373
- Astonishing number of the species of — lii. 519
- Motion*, the laws of it explained — viii. 295
- Objections against it in a plenum, answered — viii. 299
- Enquiries into the laws of — xxxi. 522
- The laws of, could not be otherwise than Sir Isaac Newton hath shewn them to be — xxx. 543
- of bodies, necessarily takes up time, and why — xxx. 544
- Motion,*

- Motion* not thought, although thought is motion xxx. 546
 — Laws of — — — xxxi. 265
 — Whether they could have been made different from what they are — — — xxxi. 523
 — Deducible from one simple principle established by Newton — — — xxxi. 524
 — On the communication of, by gravity — — — lx. 418
 — Principles of, progressive and rotatory — — — lxiv. 442
 — Beauty and awkwardness of, considered — — — lxix. 33
Motion, animal, after decollation, accounted for ix. 461
 — Voluntary, accounted for — — — vi. 55
 — Voluntary animal, must proceed from an immaterial principle — — — xiv. 274
Motions, vital and involuntary — — — vi. 449
 — In sleep, reasons of their continuance — — — vi. 462
Motives of human actions, what — — — iv. 525
Motto, the conveniency of a handsome one — — — xi. 155
 — An Hebrew one — — — xi. 155
Moukden, a Chinese poem, by the present Emperor, account of — — — xlii. 554
Mould, observations on the green mould on fire-wood — — — v. 6
 — The best formed by a mixture of various terrene substances — — — xvi. 388
Moulin. Mr. du, account of — — — xxxiii. 397
Mount St. Michael, in France, description of — — — lvi. 115
 — Knights of — — — lvi. 116
 — Remarkable prison of — — — lvi. 116
Mountains, M. le Cat's system of, objected to and defended iii. 375
 — Le Cat's system of, vindicated — — — iv. 70
 — Their formation — — — iv. 70
 — In America, endless, why so called — — — xiv. 34
 — No hypothesis sufficient to account for — — — xv. 275
 — of the Chain, in Egypt, whence so called, and tradition concerning them — — — xv. 491
 — Produced by volcanoes — — — xlv. 201
 — The attractions of — — — liv. 447
 — Letters physical and moral on — — — lviii. 380, 456
 — Examination of M. De Luc's rules for measuring their height by the barometer — — — lviii. 456
 — in Switzerland, described — — — lx. 343
 — New theory of the original formation of — — — lxi. 550
 — of Switzerland, &c. fine engravings of, with colours lxx. 598
Mountebanks, great mischief done by them among the common people — — — xxxiii. 60
Mounters, explanation of that Old Bailey term — — — xlix. 313
Mountmorras, Lord, his affecting letter to the E. of Strafford l. 25
Mourning, frivolous rules of, in France — — — xlv. 561
Mowets of grass, an improvement in the posture of, recommended — — — xxxi. 43
Mucrafs-house, description of — — — xvii. 517
Mucus,

- Mucus*, its distinction from pus, and the necessity of that distinction xix. 151
- How distinguished from pus — lxiii. 288
- Mudge, Mr.* his discovery of an excellent composition for the metals of reflecting telescopes, &c. — lviii. 8
- Mulberry-tree*, cultivated in Prussia for the silk manufactory lv. 553
- Mule*, cannot produce another, and why — vi. 379
- The best way of breeding them — xvii. 413
- Their address in descending the precipices from Guayaquil to Quito — xix. 289
- Capable of propagating their species — xlviii. 552
- Instances proved — xlviii. 553
- Experiments in regard to the production of, and procuring a progeny from the intermixture — lxvii. 363
- Instances of mules producing young ones — lxvii. 364
- Muller*, his experiments concerning the strength of timber xii. 122
- His account of a non-descript-butterfly — li. 551
- Muller, John*, the inventor of the ephemerides — lx. 529
- Account of Russian discoveries — lxiii. 1
- Mundungus*, the proud traveller, described — xxxviii. 176
- Mummies*, description of one found in Auvergne — xxxvi. 537
- Dissection of a — xxxvi. 538
- Christian enquiry concerning — lxix. 253
- On the antient Egyptian mummies — lxix. 254
- Experiments on — lxix. 537
- Observations on the King of Denmark's — lxix. 542
- Dissertation on Christian — lxix. 543
- Mummius*, the Roman general, his conduct at the burning of Corinth lxvii. 430
- His honest soldierly want of taste — lxvii. 431
- Munich, Eleazar of*, his skill in music — xlviii. 461
- Muratori*, his great character — xlviii. 539
- His treatise on public happiness — xlviii. 539
- Murder*, the price of, in Poland — xxx. 516
- Ordinary events, and little noticed at Rome — xl. 575
- and manslaughter distinguished — l. 9
- Voltaire's censure of the laws against — lviii. 547
- Murray*, account of, and remedies for — xlv. 18
- Murray, Earl of*, his death and character well described lxvii. 280
- Murray, Professor*, his botanical researches — lxvii. 482
- His explanation of rare plants in the King's botanic garden at Gottingen — lxix. 250
- His account of some plants little known — lxix. 538
- Mus jaculus*, that animal described — xxxiv. 266
- Muscles*, (of the body) the cause of the contraction vi. 183
- Muscular contraction from a stimulus, why — vi. 456
- From an active sentient principle — vi. 456
- Objections answered — vi. 458
- The state of the — vii. 60
- Account of an ossification of — xxvii. 422
- Muscles*,

Muscles , on dividing the apocurosis in a painful lacerated wound	xlvi. 45.
Muscles , (A shell fish) a mistake concerning their beards	iv. 280
— Observations the pernicious effects of	lxiv. 527
— The best method of cooking them	lxiv. 528
Muscle-fishery , account of at Taranto	lxix. 280
Muse , ode to	xiv. 560
Muse , infant, like other infants, the better for correction	xxvi. 231
Muses , address to the	xxiii. 526
— Why their origin derived from Jove	xxvi. 458
— Offended by poetical simony	xxvii. 426
Museum , British, founded by Sir Hans Sloane	xxviii. 55
— Sum raised by act of parliament for purchasing his rarities, and the Harleian MSS.	xxviii. 55
— Account of the rarities, &c. deposited there	xlx. 105
— Defects of	lvii. 339
— Proposals for remedying	lvii. 339
Museus , the ancient Greek poet, some account of him and his writings	xxvii. 243
Musgrave , Sir Christopher, his speech on King James's abdication	xxviii. 416
— Against placemen in parliament	xxviii. 417
Musbroome-house , what	xix. 584
Musick , theory of, capable of mathematical demonstration	i. 211
— Difficulty of obtaining perfection in	iv. 370
— Conformity between it, and painting	vi. 346
— In the church, theatre, and chamber, considered	vi. 349
— Some extraordinary cures performed by it	ix. 367
— By what degrees it arrived at perfection	xv. 111
— State of, at Aleppo	xv. 144
— Poetical display of the effects of	xxiii. 65
— Little understood, though generally professed	xxiv. 293
— Sketch of the history of	xxiv. 294
— Derivation of the monosyllables applied to the gamut	xxiv. 295
— Considerations of the Grecian	xxv. 16
— and song, coeveal with society	xxviii. 145
— Generation of, in the early ages	xxix. 4
— Wonderful effects of, among the Greeks	xxix. 83
— The corruption of	xxix. 87
— Essay on composition	xxx. 567
— Philosophically considered	xxxiii. 358
— Taste in, founded in nature	xxxiii. 365
— Use of, in curing diseases	xxxiv. 515
— Reflections on, by Rousseau	xxxix. 216
— Analogy of, with poetry	xxxix. 525
— Advantages derived to it from the poems of Pindar	xxxix. 526
— Conjectures on certain disorders in	xl. 565
— Its correspondence with poetry	xli. 321
— The manner in which it acts on the passions	xli. 322
Musick ,

Music, laws of, universal in their influence	—	xli.	325
— Sentimental intercourse between the sister arts	—	xlii.	326
— Mechanical refinements in, censured	—	xliii.	125
— Theory of time	—	xliv.	121
— Enquiry into the theory of	—	xliv.	551
— Poetically applied to illustrate the oeconomy of the passions	—	xlv.	4
— Still in its infancy in France	—	xlv.	162
— State of, at Paris	—	xlv.	162
— Instances of the bad taste of French	—	xlv.	163
— The superiority of the Italians	—	xlv.	165
— State of, at Milan	—	xlv.	166
— Flourishing state of in Padua, Venice, Bologna, and Rome	—	xlv.	338
— Observations on the modern Greek	—	xlv.	339
— State of, at Rome	—	xlv.	341
— State of, at Naples	—	xlv.	343
— On the principles and powers of	—	xlv.	371
— Theorem of, by Mr. Huygens	—	xlv.	377
— Principles of the music of the ancients	—	xlv.	549
— Principles of Grecian, explained	—	xlv.	550
— Invention of the electrical music	—	xlv.	560
— State of, in Germany	—	xlvi.	457
— State of, at Vienna	—	xlix.	213
— Connection of, with poetry	—	li.	306
— Union of, with poetry in France	—	li.	384
— System of the scale of, with Mr. Harrison's notion of it	—	liii.	324
— State of, in Turkey	—	liii.	580
— Of the ancient Greeks	—	liv.	203
— Of Abyssinia	—	liv.	438
— Of the Romans	—	liv.	445
— On the temperament of	—	lv.	492
— Specimen of the music of New Zealand	—	lvi.	463
— Not altogether an imitative art	—	lvii.	39
— State of, in Greece about the middle of the fourth century before the Christian æra	—	lviii.	384
— Establishments in Wales	—	lx.	35
— Observations on French and Italian music	—	lx.	151
— Extraordinary genius for, in a child	—	lxii.	209
— Philosophically considered	—	lxii.	571
— Of the ancient Greeks	—	lxii.	577
— Use of, in dramatic exhibition	—	lxiv.	282
— Robberies committed by the Italians	—	lxiv.	465
— Extravagant expences of some princes for	—	lxiv.	465
— Ancient, deficient in harmony	—	lxiv.	554
— Observations on the symphony of the ancients	—	lxiv.	554
— First introduction of, into the church	—	lxvii.	179
— Modern, much indebted to Guido	—	lxvii.	181
— Ingenious remarks on	—	lxviii.	392
Musical instruments of Wales, described	—	liii.	414

Musical instruments of the southern parts of the globe, described	liv.	2
— Mr. Steel's account of some	liv.	28
Musical verses adapted to the salt-box	xxvii.	480
Musicians , the first legislators	xxix.	86
— Assistants to the magistrates.	xxix.	87
Musk , remarkable instance of its medical efficacy	xv.	390
— Good effects of, in convulsive diseases	xxviii.	438
— and cinnabar, one of the best medicines for the bite of a mad dog	xxxi.	472
Musquet , its insufficiency for attack and defence	xxi.	323
— Reasons of its defects.	xxi.	325
Mutiny bill , observations on	ii.	160
— Alterations in it for the better	iv.	278
Myrrh , experiments on	vi.	46
Mysteries , in what sense to be taken	ii.	493
— The institution of	vii.	190
— No reasonable objection against the gospel	x.	410
— Not real in nature	x.	410
— Cannot themselves be believed, though their existence may	xviii.	152
— Abuse of that term	xxix.	433
— Orthodox definition of	xxix.	434
— Forster's account of	xxix.	436
— Christian, the common subjects of stage-plays in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries	xxxi.	217
— Droll anecdotes of	xxxi.	218
— Not allowed to be genuine parts of the Christian religion	xxxii.	178
— Ill effects of	xxxiii.	538
— Pagan, explication of	xxxiv.	247
— Instances of the veneration paid to mystery among ignorant barbarous people	xl.	599
— A species of the old English drama, described	xlvi.	389
Mythic writings , character of	v.	255
Mythicism , in religion, ridiculed	lxvi.	556
Mythology , pagan, mythical interpretation of	xxiii.	140
— Hume's notions of	xxvi.	501
— of the ancients, learned explications of	li.	179, 418
— of the ancients, explained	lii.	475
— Illustrations of, by astronomy	lxv.	532

N

Nabi Effendi , a Turkish poet, his sensible observations on poetry	xliv.	429
— His excellent verses on the spring	xliv.	430
Nabob of Bengal , account of	xxx.	247
Nabobs , English, scheme for establishing, in the E. Indies	xxxiii.	271
Nabobs ,

Nabobs , English, real and reputed	—	lxix.	29
— Mushroom	—	lxix.	30
Nadir Shaw , his regard for a famous actor at Delhi	—	xl.	309
— History of	—	xlx.	280
Nairne , Mr. account of a curious philosophical instrument constructed by him	—	xiii.	208
— His invention of an electrical machine	—	li.	372
— Experiments on sea water	—	lv.	414
— His experiments on air-pumps	—	lviii.	450
— His experiments on electricity	—	lxi.	401
— His account of the effects of electricity in shortening wires	—	lxiv.	273
Nakedness , a modest dress	—	xx.	133
Nelson , Dr. some account of his collections	—	x	177
Names , proper, absurdity of torturing them to the idiom of different tongues	—	xvii.	454
— of mankind, their influence over their lives and characters	—	xxi.	564
— of persons, English, whence derived	—	xxx.	439
— Radical, from whence those in the ancient mythology were compounded	—	li.	170, 418, 430
Naples , the deplorable bigotry prevailing there	—	x.	298
— Reduced by the French	—	xi.	28
— Recovered	—	xi.	34
— Partition of, between Louis of France and Ferdinand of Spain, and ceded entirely to the latter	—	xii.	201
— Siege of, by the French, some anecdotes relating to	—	xxiv.	131
— Citizens of, their character	—	xxxiii.	518
— Absurdity of their religious deportment	—	xxxiii.	519
— Bigotry to St. Januarius	—	xxxiii.	519
— Ridiculous superstition of the lower people there	—	xxxv.	339
— Strange festival there	—	xxxv.	432
— Vast numbers of lawyers in that city	—	xxxv.	433
— Familiar style of preachers	—	xxxv.	434
— Droll story of a priest and a mountebank	—	xxxv.	435
— Described	—	xli.	420
— Blemishes in the architecture of the public buildings	—	xli.	421
— Excellency of the music	—	xli.	422
— Splendor of the operas	—	xli.	422
— Tomb of Virgil	—	xli.	423
— Terror of the inhabitants on account of the last eruption of Vesuvius	—	xlii.	106
— Their superstitious recourse to St. Januarius	—	xlii.	107
— Siege of, by Belisarius	—	xliii.	582
— Account of the vulgar music there	—	xliv.	343
— Air of, inconstant and unhealthy	—	xliv.	23
— Manners of the natives	—	xliv.	24
— Beautiful bay of, described	—	xliv.	26
— Sketch of what is most worthy of observation there	—	lv.	298
Naples ,

Naples , remarks on the hereditary jurisdiction of the nobles there, and in Sicily over their vassals	—	lxiv. 367
— Account of	—	lxviii. 584
— Account of the popular music there	—	lxix. 274
— Dancing	—	lxix. 274
— Women very riotous	—	lxix. 275
— Fishermen remarkably handsome	—	lxix. 276
— Other particulars	—	lxix. 276
Naples , King of, opposes an English translation of the ruins of Herculaneum	—	xlvi. 170
Naptha , of the ancients, what	—	xxxiii. 543
Nardus Indica , account of	—	xv. 378
Narration and description , considered	—	xxvii. 110
Narsetes , the famous eunuch and warrior, his rise at court, and progress in the armies of the Emperor Justinian	—	xliv. 103
Nascent and evanescent quantities , defined	—	xix. 530
Nesb, Beau , bon mots of his	—	xxviii. 325
— Droll dialogues in the moon between him and Cato	—	xxx. 335
Natchez , account of them	—	xxviii. 445
Nations , have peculiar ideas, which become the genius of their language	—	vi. 140
— Illustrated in the English, the Eastern Nations, Romans, and Greeks	—	vi. 141
— Character of, marked by poetry and eloquence	—	xiii. 86
— The possibility of a nation's being united against its own interest	—	xxiii. 29
— Characteristics of a powerful one	—	xxiii. 75
— Sign of its decay	—	xxiii. 76
— Independent, and natural equality asserted	—	xxii. 107
— Like children, tractable in their infancy	—	xxvii. 452
— and incorrigible as they grow old	—	xxvii. 452
— Origin of, most accounts fabulous	—	xxxii. 516
— English, their claims of high antiquity	—	xxxii. 516
— Scots and Irish, equally absurd in this respect	—	xxxii. 517
— History of, in their rude state	—	xxxvi. 341, 348
— By what methods they may arrive at the greatest possible grandeur	—	xxxvi. 565
— How far influenced by the laws of nature	—	xxxvi. 567
National calamities , memoirs on	—	liii. 568
National debt , present state of	—	ii. 146
— Makes only a small part of the national capital	—	ii. 248
— A scheme for paying it off	—	ii. 254
— Hurchinson's scheme for paying it off	—	vi. 37
— The taxes and duties applied towards the reduction of it, ineffectual	—	xvi. 83
— Increasing every war	—	xvi. 83
— Scheme for reducing it	—	xvi. 83
— Proposal to pay it	—	xviii. 472
— Origin of	—	xxv. 61
— What it is like	—	xxv. 162

National debt , ill consequence likely to ensue on the discharge of it	xxv.	474
— An alarming subject	xxviii.	178
— A judicious proposal for discharging it	xxviii.	178
— Easy method of discharging	xxix.	233
— Project to pay off, by means of the gold mines in Africa	xxxv.	496
— No national grievance	xl.	41
— Great evil of, displayed	xl.	344
— Remarks on the ruinous tendency of	xl.	345
— Different schemes for paying off	xl.	347, 355
— Dr. Price's observations on	xlvi.	402
— Mr. Wimpey's remarks on	xlvi.	530
— Plan proposed to parliament for paying off, in 1772	xlvi.	122
— Remarks on	xlvi.	122
— Its capital defect	xlvi.	123
— Farther remarks	xlvi.	123
— Ought to be discharged in compassion to the poor	xlvi.	541
— Inconveniencies and advantages arising from	li.	39
— The nature of	li.	89
— The pernicious effects of evil court policy	lix.	126
Native country , thoughts on men's attachment to	xlvi.	526
Natron , Dr. Monro's account of	xlvi.	219
Natural history , what learning and talents are necessary to form a good natural historian	iii.	203
— The vast extent of the naturalists researches	iv.	80
— Chief aim of naturalists	v.	275
— The analogy between the propagation of animals and vegetables	vi.	367
— Analogy between the fluids of animals and vegetables	vi.	381
— Analogy between plants and animals	vii.	312
— Quadrupeds ranged under their proper classes	viii.	20
— Remarkable quadrupeds in Norway	xii.	494, 499
— Apology for the study of	xxiv.	257
— Distinguished from chemistry	xxxix.	135
— England fruitful in subjects of	xxi.	335
— Compared with Sweden in that respect	xxi.	335
— Zoology the noblest part of	xxi.	339
— Characteristic properties of quadrupeds	xxx.	348
— Divisions and families of vegetables	xxxvii.	133
— Adanson's family likenesses of vegetables	xxxvii.	165
— Hall's division and subdivision into classes	xxxvii.	168
— Method of preserving specimens of, in spirits	xlvi.	346
— On vegeto-animal combinations	xlvi.	549
— On the immutability of the species of plants	xlvi.	555
— Its late great progress in this country	xl.	224
— Little attention paid to it among our countrymen residing in distant climates	xl.	225
— Study of, recommended	li.	250
— Method of	li.	250

Natural history , authors distinguished on this subject	li.	253
— Universal history of the vegetable world	lii.	440
— Of testaceous animals	lii.	533
— Laffone's observations	lii.	619
— On the natural productions of the southern hemisphere	lv.	479
— The pursuits of, strongly tend to religion	lvi.	91
— An acquaintance with, necessary to excellence in poetry	lvi.	343
— Universal dictionary of, begun by M. Martini, and finishing by Mr. George Forster	lix.	461
— New species of quadrupeds of the class of the glia	lxiii.	141
— On the use of	lxv.	297
— Elementary instructions	lxvi.	466
— Difficulties when travelling in search of curiosities	lxix.	44
— On the influence of the vegetable on the animal creation	lxix.	391
Natural philosophy , encomium on	xxv.	26
— Rozier's collections relative to	liii. 252, 433, 599.—liv.	119.
	320, 396.—lv.	391
Naturalization , of foreign protestants, reflections on	v.	523
— As, the inconveniencies attending on	vii.	113
— of the Jews, considered in a religious light	xxi.	222
— Universal, proposed	xxiii.	154
— See Jews .
Nature , law of, puzzling rather than informing	ii.	223
— What is meant by it	iv.	524
— The birth and regeneration of, the properties of	vii.	50
— Its sufficiency in matters of religion	x.	408
— The evidence from the histories of Greece and Rome, and of the Chinese	x.	409
— Advantages of studying	xi.	154
— The perfection of.	xiii.	109
— Objections to its frailties answered	xiii.	109
— Whether more powerful than fancy	xv.	65
— A mystical definition of	xv.	424
— The study of, difficult	xviii.	236
— The study of, important to mankind	xx.	321
— Its use not always immediately discovered	xx.	322
— Humane, generous, and friendly	xxii.	476
— The imitation of, the fundamental principle of the polite arts	xxv.	95
— The real state of	xxvi.	338
— External, considered	xli.	244
— of things, notion of, as subsisting eternally, combated	xliv.	10
— M. Mirabaud's system of	xlvi.	542
— Observations on, by Voltaire	xlvi.	545
— Reflections on the law of	xliv.	538
— The study of, in points of taste, advised	xliv.	4
— Art of observing	lii.	350
— Theory of the epochas of	lx.	531
— Natural causes, their influence on the mind of man	lxi.	508
— Wonderful changes of, in the earliest ages of the world	lxi.	532

Nature , philosophical inquiries into the unities of	lxiv.	513
— Observations on the police of, or the subordination discernible in her productions	lxv.	303
Nautilus Græcorum , why found fossil, and not on our shores	ii.	137
Navarre , King of, excommunicated by the pope	xi.	360
— His resolute reply	xi.	361
— People of, have preserved their laws and liberties	xxiv.	122
Navarre , Queen of, her story of the two Cordeliers	lviii.	466
Nave , etymology of	lii.	237
Navier , Mr. his memoirs on the different methods of combining mercury with iron	li.	547
Navigation , on making boats sail against the current of rivers	lviii.	513
— Several important observations relative to, by Messrs. de Borda, Pingre, and De Verdun	lxi.	498
Navigation , inland, great advantages from, to the public	xxxiii.	469
— Scheme for one between Liverpool and Hull recommended	xxxiii.	469
— The advantages of	xxxvi.	378
— Gray's proposal for completing the navigation between the Forth and Clyde	xxxix.	187
— Their utility	xlvi.	84
— Singular kind of, in Germany, down the Iser and Danube	xlvi.	465
— Canal of Languedoc, described	lv.	190
— Experiments made by the French academicians for the improvement of	lvii.	310
— Canal of Languedoc, by whom, and by what means first constructed	lix.	535
— Its length, and other dimensions	lix.	537
— Expence and profits of	lix.	537
— Immense utility of	lix.	538
— Canals, navigable, their great importance to a country	lxi.	387
— Defects in the English system of, and the remedy of, pointed out	lxi.	388
— Plan with respect to the inland navigations in France	lxiv.	456
— On the forms of sluices	lxx.	523
Navy , Ireland able to supply the navy with hemp	ii.	356
— Some animadversions on the present state of	xv.	299
— Observations on a strong	xv.	658
— State of, in Elizabeth's time	xviii.	565
— The present state of	xviii.	566
— The importance of a system of naval evolutions	xxvi.	276
— Management of a fleet in a storm	xxvi.	278
— Superiority of the French in retreat	xl.	486
— A new invention of a vessel incapable of sinking	liii.	545
— Naval architecture	lxvi.	444
— Mr. Thomson's improvements of a frigate	lxvi.	455
— Certificate in favour of Mr. Thomson's proposed frigate	lxvi.	456
— Account of, in remote times	lxx.	352

- Naxos*, antient and present state of — lx. 509
Naxareth, present state of that place — xxxiv. 143
Nebulosity, explanatory account of those celestial appearances —
 lii. 625
Necessity, a definition of — — — iv. 524
 — Philosophical, discussed — — — lviii. 354
 — Remarks relative to — — — lx. 208
 — Attacked and defended — — — lxii. 29
 — Dr. Price's notions of — — — lxii. 35
 — Remarks on — — — lxv. 67
Necessity scheme, discussed — — — lxx. 507—521
Neck of the humerus, observations on the fracture of — xl. 218
Necker, M. de, his natural history of the tuffilago and petavites —
 lxi. 306
Neckham, Alex. specimens of his Latin poetry — l. 426
Needham, Abbé, writings not yet published — lix. 516
Needham, Turberville, his account of the generation of animals —
 iv. 58
Needham, Mr. system relating to microscopical animalcules in vegetable and animal infusions — xlv. 208
 — His conjectures on a supposed connection between the hierogly-phical writing of the ancient Egyptians, and the characteristic writing of the Chinese — xlv. 318
 — His hypothesis concerning the generation of organized bodies combated — — — lvi. 222
 — Vindicated against the charge of favouring materialism lvi. 512
 — Account of the contagious disorder among the horned cattle —
 lxiv. 517
 — His natural history of the ant — lxiv. 526
 — His inquiries concerning the nature and œconomy of bees —
 lxiv. 528
 — Account of his life and character — lxx. 524
 — His investigation of the question, whether the ringing of bells, in thunder storms, occasions an explosion by drawing down the lightning on steeples, &c. — lxx. 527
 — His inquiry into the method of preventing the disorder occasioned in the natural direction of the magnetic needle, by the electricity of the atmosphere — lxx. 528
Needles, a considerable manufactory of, in Worcestershire lxvii. 339
 — Number of hands employed in making one needle lxvii. 340
Needle work, curious piece relative to William the Conqueror — xxxvii. 195
Needle, magnetic. See Magnet.
Negative, a sign in algebra, definition of — xxi. 390
 — Answer to the objections against — xxi. 393
Negligence in behaviour, advice against — l. 261
Negotiation, between France and Great Britain, view of xxv. 370
 — Memorial between them xxv. 370, 372, 377, 379, 381, 383
 — Ministerial, account of a late famous one — xxxv. 152
Negroes, wild, in Jâmaica, treaty with — xv. 31
 B b 2 Negros,

Negroes , number of, annually imported in Jamaica	xv.	37
— A funeral entertainment among them described	xx.	366
— Extraordinary change in the colour of one to white	xxiii.	103
— Their manner of finding, and cunning in adulterating gold	xxiv.	40
— Recommended to compassion	xxiv.	160
— Proposal for setting them at liberty, and employing them by hire	xxviii.	403
— Poetical intercession in their behalf	xxxi.	116
— Their dances described	xxxi.	117
— Dr. Parson's account of a white negro	xxxv.	449
— Question relating to their origin, and their colour	xxxviii.	541
— Not subject to slavery in England	xli.	32
— Not a distinct species of mankind	xlii.	524
— Their customs compared with those of the Jews	xliv.	550
— Rise and progress of the slave trade	xlvi.	425
— Wesley's letter on the negro trade	li.	488
— of Laongo, &c. described	lv.	526
— An harmless people	lv.	526
— Their religion	lv.	529
— Farther characterised	lv.	548
— of the plantations, less a slave with respect to work, than a London labourer	lviii.	143
— Has his hours of rest and amusement, and is happy	lviii.	144
— Description of a white negroe	lxv.	543
— Severity of their treatment in South Carolina	lxvii.	274
— Their happier lot in Pennsylvania, among the quakers	lxvii.	276
Nemean Games , inquiries concerning	lviii.	533
Nephritis , the use of opium in	ix.	131
Nereis , destructive to ships	xv.	340
— How to prevent its mischievous qualities	xv.	340
Nerva , Emperor, his character	xxiii.	498
— Instances of his mildness	xxiii.	499
— Observations on a coin of	liii.	418
Nerves , nature of the fluids demonstrated by Dr. Fleming, and arguments for its secretion	vi.	50
— Of what composed	vi.	53
— Difference between vital and animal	vi.	463
— Nature or causes of their disorders little known	ix.	133
— The use of opium in disorders of	ix.	134
— Not being discoverable to the eye, no proof of the insensibility of particular parts	xiv.	129
— In order to their sensibility, must be in a certain degree of flexibility and tension	xiv.	130
— Observations on	xviii.	146
— Why Dr. Sydenham never wrote concerning them	xxiv.	268
— Structure and use of	xxxiii.	113
— Sympathies in the body by means of	xxxiii.	114
— Nervous diseases, general account of	xxxiii.	116, 180
— Dr. Johnston's theory of the ganglions	xxxiv.	63

Nerves, their rectitude and obliquity, whimsical doctrine of

- Mercury, an enemy to — xxxix. 223
- A singular instance, however, to the contrary xxxix. 249
- Symptoms of the diseases — xxxix. 304
- Other nervous disorders — xxxix. 305
- Diseases of, more frequent and various than formerly xli. 254
- Dr. Johnston's doctrine of the ganglions — xlv. 422
- On the second and third cervical pair of — lvi. 501
- System of, analysed — lxix. 464
- Nesse*, or Nase, derivation of — lxv. 58
- Netherlands*. See Holland.
- Netley abbey*, description of — lxi. 14
- Nettle*, thread made of, at Leipzig — x. 329
- Nettle-rush*, observations on — xlvii. 260
- Neutral nations*, how far they have a right to protect the property of our enemies — xix. 542
- Neutrality*, of individuals, during civil discords, criminal xx. 419
- Nevile*, Mr. his verses, in the Cambridge collection, on the peace — xxix. 44
- Neville*, Henry, anecdotes of his history — xxix. 243
- Author of Plato Redivivus — xxix. 245
- Newcastle*, Duke of, invective display of his character xxvii. 466
- His character — li. 31—lxviii. 311
- Newcastle*, Earl of, his letter to Secretary Windebank l. 23
- New England*, laws and government of — xlv. 388
- Account of the farms and plantations there xlix. 20
- Manners of the inhabitants in the time of Charles II. lxiii. 15—21
- Newfoundland*, the manner of determining disputes among the fishermen there — xiii. 276
- Quantity of cod fish annually shipped from thence xiii. 276
- Voyage to — lx. 71
- Newhaven*, in Connecticut, code of laws established there lxv. 255
- Newman*, Rev. Thomas, extract from a posthumous paper of his xx. 95
- Newman*, Mr. account of the death of Mr. Courteene xxxvi. 445
- New Orleans*, the strange method of saluting their kings there xx. 527
- Newspapers*, advantages of — liii. 463
- Apology for their licentiousness — lx. 464
- Benefits to the public resulting from, and overbalancing this evil lx. 465
- New Testament*. See Bible.
- Newton*, Bishop, his edition of Milton's Paradise Lost ii. 188
- General review of his character — lxviii. 136
- His life — lxviii. 137—141
- Newton*, Sir Isaac, a vindication of — ii. 365
- His rule for explaining the phenomena of nature x. 456
- His theory of the moon defended — xi. 40
- All his equations necessary — xi. 40

- Newton, Sir Isaac*, his chronology confirmed by the duration of the reigns of the Emperors — xiii. 84
- The rectitude and utility of his chronology confirmed xiii. 182
- As eminent for his regard to scripture, as for his philosophical discoveries — xiv. 185
- Difficulties in the study of his Principia — xv. 246
- His censure of himself for attending to the moderns rather than the ancients — xvi. 206
- His chronology defended against F. Souciet xvii. 256
- Story relating to him — xxii. 311
- Objections of the Newtonians to metaphysics xxv. 72
- Metaphysician's reply — xxv. 74
- Plan of a new edition of his Arithmetica Universalis xxvi. 508
- Defended by Mr. Roper — xxvii. 426
- His physical elements equally imaginary with those of Leibnitz and Des Cartes — xxxiii. 408
- Commentary on some parts of his Principia xxxiii. 205
- His principal discoveries said to have been known to the ancients xxxv. 548
- His universal arithmetic illustrated — xlii. 248
- Physical principles reconciled with the metaphysics of Leibnitz xliv. 545
- Some parts of his Principia defended against Bernouilli and Euler xlv. 228
- Anecdotes relating to his family — xlvii. 117, 332
- His notions of space and vacuum, how far reconciled with the ideas of Leibnitz — lii. 568
- Quotation from a MS. of his, on vision — liii. 297
- His obs. on the formation of matter — lvii. 224
- His obs. on colours, &c. — lvii. 227
- His theory of tides, confirmed by the tides in the Adriatic lviii. 6
- His obs. on the difficulty of computing the value of an infinite series of decreasing qualities, &c. by the common way lviii. 7
- A vindication of — lix. 85
- Panegyrical display of his immense discoveries in philosophy lx. 533
- Opposition to his doctrine of light by M. Marat lxxvii. 293
- Account of him — lxxviii. 234
- New South Wales*, Capt. Cooke's discoveries at — xli. 494
- New Zealand*, Capt. Cooke's discoveries relative to xlix. 491, 494
- Music of — lvi. 463
- Nibbeus*, an American vegetable, described — xl. 204
- Nicander*, the poet, characterised — lxi. 513
- Nice*, the country of, described — xxxiv. 424
- Nice, Lady*, her character and adventures — xxvi. 387
- Nicen: Fathers*, their opinions relating to the Trinity, incompatible with modern orthodoxy — xi. 126, 373
- Nicholls,*

- Nicholls, Dr.* his anatomical observations on the death of George II. xxvii. 423
- Nicholas, Phillip*, a writer in the Biographia Britannica, his narrative of a remarkable castrated sheet in that work xxx. 252
- Nickel*, difficulty of obtaining — lxviii. 171
- Nicola, Mr.* his method of preserving subjects in spirits xlvii. 346
- Night*, verses on — — xxvi. 152
- Night blindness*, remarks on — — xxxix. 32
- Nightly-watch*, necessity of a well-regulated — vi. 234
- Nightshade*, effects of, in several morbid cases xvii. 93
- Directions for administering xvii. 95, 576
- Not a specific — — xvii. 576
- The garden kind preferred to the deadly — xvii. 576
- Instances of its utility in paralytic and hydropical complaints xvii. 571
- The use of, condemned — — xvii. 573
- (Solanum nigrum), medicinal uses — lxx. 17
- Nile*, festival of opening, how celebrated — xv. 354
- Overflowing of, not sufficient to fertilize the earth without labour xv. 357
- River, observations on the periodical swelling of xlviii. 287
- Pleasant sailing on — — liii. 578
- Nile and the Sea*, a fable — — xxxv. 481
- Nimrod*, fabulous tradition concerning him among the Turks ix. 247
- Nineveh*, a parallel betwixt it and London — — ii. 28
- Remains of — — lx. 310
- Ninias, King of Assyria*, vindicated — xxv. 179
- Ninus*, history of, not relative to an individual, but to a nation lii. 482
- Nio*, the inhabitants of, their zeal for Homer — — lix. 518
- Erect a sepulchral monument for him — — lix. 518
- No remains of it discovered — — lix. 518
- Nissa*, plains of, their extraordinary fertility xxviii. 392
- Nitchman, Hannab*, an eldress of the Moravians, some account of her — — viii. 485
- Nitre*, recommended to be joined with the bark in the cure of gangrenes — — xi. 319
- How produced — — xv. 378
- Experiments on the doses and effects of xxxix. 204
- Nixon, Mr.* his additional observations on some antiquities found at Herculaneum — — xxvii. 333
- Noah*, how said to be the type of Christ — — ix. 318
- Remarkable prophecies fulfilled, in regard to his family xli. 270
- In high veneration among the ancients, on account of his preservation in the ark — — lii. 330
- Celebrated under various names by various nations and writers liii. 330
- Noah's Flood*, objections to the scriptural account of the universality of — — lxv. 268
- Nobility*,

Nobility , some reflexions on	—	—	ii. 476
— By virtue, preferable to that by inheritance			ix. 248
— Primary origin of	—	—	xi. 422
— Several kinds of	—	—	xi. 422
— Literary, grown into contempt	—	—	xi. 422
— Mercantile, considered	—	—	xi. 423
— The advantages of, stated	—	—	xxv. 194
— Prejudicial to a country	—	—	xxv. 197
— Ancient, of England, characterized	—	—	xxvi. 249
— and gentry, English, in what sense said to be on the parish li.			349
— and gentry, exhorted to begin a reformation of the liturgy in their domestic chapels	—	—	xxvii. 307
Nobility of France , in the seventh century, fashionably illiterate			xl. 537
Nobility of Genoa , their contests with the Commons			iv. 395
Nobility in Poland , their prerogative	—		xxx. 518
— Their vanity injurious to their interests			xxx. 519
Noel, Miss , account of	—		xv. 504, 509
Non, Abbé St. his travels represented in a series of engravings			lxvi. 465
Nonagesimal degree , not necessary in investigating the parallactic angle	—	—	xi. 38
Noëtiluca Marina , account of	—		lv. 529
Nonjuror , reasons given by one for not taking the oath to King William	—		xliv. 59
Non-natural , an absurd term	—	—	xix. 483
Nonsuch , palace and gardens of, poetically described			xxxvii. 140
— House, &c. some account of	—		lxii. 281
Norberg, Mr. his account of the Czar Peter's campaign on the Pruth, contested	—	—	xxx. 210
— Of the religion of the Sabæans	—		lxix. 257, 544
Norden, Mr. not expert in Arabic characters			xv. 488
— Did not understand Greek	—		xv. 489
Norfolk , history of	—		lviii. 267
Norfolk, Duke of , his letter to Queen Elizabeth			xxi. 463
— Articles of his impeachment	—		xxxvi. 4
Normans , a valiant exploit performed by a body of, in Italy			xxiv. 451
— Grow formidable there	—	—	xxiv. 452
Norman conquest , an account of a print of the			vii. 283
Norman laws , rather borrowed from England than ours from them			xix. 460
Normandy described	—	—	xxxvii. 192
Norris, Mr. his dissertations on the cubical contents of the Roman congius and amphora	—	—	lxx. 352
North, Lord , account of	—	—	lxviii. 312
North, Mr. Attorney-general , his opinion in debate on impressing seamen	—	—	xxviii. 132
North-Briton , continuation of, who the writer of that paper			xxix. 392
Northampton ,

Northampton, Earl of , proceedings in regard to his divorce	xxix. 446
Northern lights , observations on	v. 322
— Ingenious attempt to account for them	xii. 449
North Sea , natural history of	lxiv. 523
— Its fisheries, and the means of improving them	lxiv. 524
North East passage to the East Indies discovered by the Russians	xxvi. 429
— Series of voyages for the discovery of	lii. 120, 130
— To the Pacific Ocean, practicable	liv. 487
— From France to California not more advantageous than by the Cape of Good Hope	liv. 563
— Reasonings and conjectures relative to	lxiii. 8, 10
North west passage , concurring proofs of	xvii. 548
— Method of prosecuting future attempts for the discovery of	lxv. 264
North Pole , account of several voyages towards	liii. 126
— Probability of a passage by	liii. 127
— Utility of such a discovery	liii. 127
Northumberland, kingdom of , converted to christianity	xv. 577
— Account of the soil and products of that country	xli. 338
— Number of, inhabitants	xli. 338
— State of agriculture there	xli. 339
— Natural history of	xli. 340
Norway , remarkable quadrupeds in	xii. 494, 499
Norwegians , general description of their manners, &c.	xiii. 45
Noſe , its mechanism described	i. 38
Noſology , an abstract of	ix. 506
Nations , how divisible	xxv. 70
Nottingham , letter from the gentry of, to their representatives	xvii. 498
Nourishment , what milk best for	ii. 309
Nouvellistes , of Paris, satirically described	lxv. 231
Nova Scotia , consequence of	xii. 90
— Account of	xvii. 544
Nova Zembla , on the longitude of	lxviii. 631
Novels , reflexions concerning them	iv. 355
— Advantages of	v. 8
— Cautions to be used in	v. 10
— Obligations to virtue in	v. 58
— The effect of, on the mind	vii. 375
— An examination into the merits of	xxiii. 163
— Remarks on their general effect on the minds of young readers	xlvi. 96
Novelty , remarks on the universal passion for	xlvi. 525
Nowell, Dr. his high-church principles	xlvi. 453
Nuiz, Abbé , his reflections on the humanity of the Spaniards in the West Indies	lxv. 308
Numa , his quackery applauded	xliv. 531
Nummaria plant , its use to destroy the white worms in corn	x. 323
Numbers ,

Numbers , trigonal, their structure and uses	—	xxviii. 231
Nun , conversation with	—	xi. 199
— Ceremony of taking the veil	—	xi. 202
— Characterized	—	xv. 582
— Poetical description of one receiving the veil	—	xxii. 148
— At Vienna, affecting account of	—	xxviii. 389
— Poetical and pathetic account of the melancholy situation of one, and the miseries of a conventual life	—	xxx. 118
— Their musical performances in Italy	—	xliv. 166
Nunnery , a protestant, description of	—	xiii. 218
Nunneries in France, abuses in	—	xxxv. 274
Nurses , accused of maltreating infants	—	iv. 244
— Remarkable instance of the continued affection of one for a person whom she had reared in infancy	—	lxiv. 383
Nursing , time of, among the antediluvians	—	ii. 504
— Immediately after the flood	—	ii. 506
Rotation of the earth's axis , how found	—	xvii. 343
Nutrition , how performed	—	vi. 52
— Or repair from apposition, mechanico-physical idea of it	—	xxi. 411
Nyctalopia , cured by Dr. Pye	—	xvi. 550
— Dr. Heberden's observations on the	—	xxxix. 38
Nyl-ghau , an Indian animal described	—	xlvi. 115

O

Oak , new and valuable species of	—	i. 285
Oakly park , remarks on its situation	—	li. 444
Oaks , of a new kind	—	lvi. 526
Oates , Titus, abused by Sir Edward Sackville	—	xxviii. 330
— A daring and intrepid informer	—	xxviii. 330
— Anecdotes of him	—	xxviii. 330
— His behaviour to the House of Commons	—	xxviii. 331
Oaths , inconsiderate, their fatal consequences	—	xi. 397
— Rhetorical, a collection of	—	xviii. 581
— Inconsistent with christianity, and their abuse displayed	—	xxxiv. 547
— Form of that invented by the council of Toledo	—	xxxiv. 548
— Of a sovereign, form of, recommended	—	xxxiv. 550
— Obligations of, highly regarded by the old Romans	—	xxxv. 492
— For what purpose contrived	—	xxxix. 192
— Enormous abuse of	—	xxxix. 193
— Imposed by authority, not forbidden in scripture	—	lvi. 197
Oats , great impoverishers of ground	—	xviii. 3
— and oatmeal, condemned	—	xlvi. 83
Obelisks , Egyptian, description of several	—	xv. 250
Oberon , Queen of Otaheite, description of her person, &c.	—	xliv. 298
— Her attention to the English	—	xliv. 299
— Mutual civilities between her and Capt. Wallis	—	xliv. 300

Obera, Queen of Otahite , her grief at the departure of the Dolphin	xlix.	301
— Equally attentive to Captain Cook, Mr. Banks, &c.	x'ix.	484
— Further particulars relative to this lady	xlix.	485
— Feigned poetical epistle from, to Mr. Banks	xlix.	503
Objea-glasser , on the construction of compound	xliv.	541
Objections , unseasonable not to be started	iv.	2
Obligation , what is meant by it	iv.	524
— Moral, not founded in a moral sense	iv.	530
O'Brien, Mr. his speech on the loan-bill in the Irish Parliament	xxxviii.	12
— On the non residence of the clergy	xxxviii.	91
Obscenity , an apology for	xxvi.	452
— In writing, charged upon some of the inspired books	xlvi.	529
— Apology for	xlvi.	529
Obscurity , an address to	xxiii.	58
Observatory of the Bramins at Benares	lviii.	458
Observing , the art of	lvi.	493
Obsolete words , the use of, censured	iv.	520
Obstinacy , to what owing	ii.	372
Occupations , their number ought to be increased	iv.	390
Ocellus Lucanus , his book on the first principles of things, accounted for	xxxii.	519
— Specimens of this ancient piece of literature	xxxii.	529
Ocbinus, Bernard , a writer in defence of polygamy	lxiii.	322
— His history	lxiii.	322
O'Connell , a profligate, first discovered the design of the Irish rebellion and massacre	xii.	217
O'Connor , a descendant of the ancient Irish kings account of	lxii.	103
OBavia , her character	xvii.	43
Oculus Mundi , properties of, and where found	lx.	519
— Experiments on the	lx.	519
Odes, English , new-modelled	ii.	87
— Irregular stanza, and licentious metre of them, not warranted by Pindar	xi.	385
— Two sources of the contrary, and the erroneous supposition in modern versifiers	xi.	386
— The most sublime species of poetry	xiii.	434
— To a taper	xxi.	295
— The nature of that species of poetry, considered	xxvii.	244
— Owes its chief excellence to enthusiasm	xxvii.	245, 252
— Persian, translated	xliv.	427
— On the military preparations in 1779	lxv.	15
— Alluding to the end of the world	lxv.	426
Oeconomy, animal , laws of, explained	xli.	252
Oeconomy, moral , the idea of, illustrated by music	xlv.	5
Oeconomy, national , may be ill-timed	xxviii.	215
Oeconomy, political , explained	xxxvi.	289
— Systems of, discussed	lv.	16, 81, 442
Oeconomy ,

- Oeconomy, public*, new institution for teaching the science of xli. 175
 — Discourse on this subject — — xli. 175
Oenanthe crocata, a cure for scorbutic disorders l. 282
Oesophagus, a dangerous affliction of, how cured xxxix. 36
Offaly, Baron of, surnamed the ape, remarkable story of him xii. 344
Office-fits, letter on the increase of — — xxxviii. 594
Office, men in, reflexions on — — ii. 440
Officers of the army. See Army.
Officers, great, better regulated in France, than in Great Britain xii. 153
Offices of state, the great ones, importance of keeping them in due subordination to the crown — — xi. 426
 — Salaries of, too enormous — — li. 348
 — Ill effects of — — li. 348
 — Ought to be merely honorary, and served without pecuniary emolument — — li. 349
Ogden, Dr. memoirs of — — lxiv. 99
 — His sermons vindicated by Dr. Halifax — — lxiv. 100
 — Mainwaring's reply to Dr. Halifax — — lxiv. 101.
Ohio, scheme for new settlements on the banks of, examined and recommended — — xlvii. 210
 — Particulars relating to, where to be met with — — xlvii. 239
Oil, sweet, a cure for the dropsy — — xv. 276
 — Of wine, its great use — — xvii. 55
 — Remarks on its influence in clock work, &c. — — xxxv. 54
 — Lessens the friction, but adds to the cohesion — — xxxv. 55
 — Made from American ground-nuts, some account of — — xlv. 206
 — From beech-mast — — xlv. 537
 — Its powerful effect on the surface of agitated water — — lii. 325
 — Its use in calming the agitation of the sea, &c. — — lxiv. 508
 — Effects and phenomena of — — lxiv. 526
 — Its mechanical effect of calming the agitation of water, denied — — lxvii. 483
 — That it illuminates the water, asserted — — lxvii. 483
Oil cement, remarks on Adam's — — lx. 72
Oil cement, history of — — lxv. 90
Oisters, a mistake concerning them — — iv. 286
Olave, king of man, his exploits — — lxv. 95
Old age, poetical description of — — xxii. 218
Oldcastle, Sir John, Lord Cobham, his life — — xxxii. 414
 — Takes part with the reformers from popery — — xxxii. 415, 416
 — Put to death — — xxxii. 426
 — His great character — — xxxii. 426
Old Testament. See Bible.
Oleum asphalti, how to prepare and administer, in the cure of ulcers of the intestines, &c. — — xli. 228
Olindo and Sophronia, affecting story of, from Tasso — — xxix. 187
Oliwa, Abbe, some account of — — xix. 494
Oliver,

- Oliver, Dr. of Barb*, converted from his infidelity, on his death-bed, by Lady Huntington — lxx. 373
- Olivet, Abbé d'*, his collection of Cicero's thoughts applauded iii. 321
- He undertakes that work principally for the service of schools iii. 323
- English translation recommended to the ladies, and to foreigners who are learning English — iii. 329
- O'opuen*, his monument, said to be a pious fraud x. 205
- Olympiad*, Scaliger's discovery of the true source of this period i. 96
- Necessity of understanding it in chronological inquiries i. 98
- A dramatic poem, by Metastasio, account of xxxvii. 83
- Olympic games*, dissertation on — i. 46
- Sir Isaac Newton's opinion of their origin i. 47
- Advantage accruing to the Eleans from them i. 94
- The stadium, or foot-race, described — i. 106
- Wrestling described — — — i. 109
- Of the Italian — — — vii. 148
- Omai (Omiab)* the Otaheitean some account of lvi. 269
- Manner of his equipment for his return to his own country lvi. 270
- Character of — — — lvii. 19
- O Neale, Sir Pbelim*, contriver of the Irish rebellion and massacre xii. 217
- His share in the Irish massacre, &c: xxxvii. 36, 39
- Ongly, Mr.* his verses in the Cambridge collection on the peace xxix. 43
- Ontology*, explained — — — xxxvii. 512
- Onslow, Arthur*, his laudable character — lxxviii. 195
- Opab Guiniensium*, where described — v. 322
- Operas*, good ones, may be produced in the English language xv. 153
- Modern, condemned — — — xxi. 94
- Italian, vindication of — — — xxii. 458
- The absurdity of — — — xxiv. 376
- Nature and defects of the English — — — xxxi. 386
- Observations on comic — — — lxiv. 282
- Opiates*, their use in the small-pox — — — x. 125
- In the gout — — — xxxviii. 372
- In intermittents — — — xxxix. 434
- Opinions*, our right to our own, defended xxiv. 110
- Their influence on languages — — — xxix. 512
- Private, how far cognizable by the civil magistrate xxxii. 163
- Not inseparably connected with manners or actions xxxii. 166
- Opium*, effects of — — — vi. 465
- Its effects in curing a cough — — — ix. 129
- In a diarrhæa and vomiting — — — ix. 129
- In a dysentery — — — ix. 131
- Opium*,

Oriental literature, poetry of the eastern nations recommended

- Specimen of, translated — xlv. 509
- On the advantages of studying the languages liii. 504
- Dissertation on the languages — liii. 571
- Oriental MSS.* an established institution at Cambridge, for the translation of, recommended — lxiii. 372
- Oriental tales*, general machinery of — xxvi. 254
- Origen*, his hexapla, a plan to secure the scriptures from corruption — xxiii. 17
- A Syriac version of, at Milan — lix. 452
- His hexaplar edition of the Septuagint into Syriac lx. 79
- Originals, literary*, rare productions — lxi. 117
- The seasons of Thomson, an original — lxi. 118
- Origin of nations*, attempts to trace them, ridiculed — xxiii. 399
- Original sin*, account of — xxviii. 313
- Rise and progress of that doctrine — lxix. 94
- Original writers*, and imitators, distinguished — xx. 502
- Orkneys*, observations on the tides of the — iv. 253
- Orlando Innamorato*, account of that poem — xlviii. 339
- The precursor of the Orlando Furioso — xlviii. 339
- Orleans, Maid of*, her history — xxvi. 90
- Orleans, Philip Duke of*, his character — lx. 151
- His cabinet of gems, described — lxiii. 293
- Orleans, Father*, defects of his history of the revolutions of England — lxx. 37
- Ormond Duke of*, the justice of his fate, debated — xviii. 296
- His character — xxxiii. 5
- His conduct in the time of the Irish rebellion — xxxvii. 260
- King Charles's letter to him — xxxvii. 261
- Ornance and Julia*, story of — — xlv. 48
- Ornano, Marshall de*, his shrewd saying on his being bribed to change his religion — — li. 347
- Ornitology*, methodical system of — — lv. 307
- Orientes*, the only river in Syria — — xv. 140
- Oresius*, the historian, account of — — xlviii. 378
- His work translated by king Alfred — — xlviii. 379
- Oriphius*, some account of him and his writings — xxvii. 242
- A name characteristic both of a deity and of his votaries — — lii. 483
- Orrery*, a new invented one, described — — xlvii. 336
- Orrery, Lord*, suggestion that his intelligence relating to Swift did not come from the best quarter — — xi. 56
- Mistaken as to the Dean's character, pointed out — — xi. 59
- His affectionate letter to Mr. Swift, relating to the last unhappy illness of his uncle Dean Swift — — xxxix. 459
- Orthodoxy*, tests of, considered — — xxxviii. 203
- Humorous distinction of, — — xlvii. 294
- Difficulties in which the present system of, has involved Christianity — — lvi. 297

Orthography,

Orthography , a new mode of	xiii.	471
— It regulated by pronunciation	xiii.	472
Orton, John , his hermitage and skeleton discovered in the wilds of Stanmore	xv.	601
— His skull kept by Mr. Buncle for a memento mori	xv.	601
Orus , how represented	vii.	89
Oseck, Mr. an attentive observer in his travels	xliv.	397
Osborne, Mr. Wm. his speech in the Irish Parliament on the non-residence of the clergy	xxxviii.	90
Osiris how represented	vii.	88
— Explanatory account of that hero	lii.	478
Osman Bassara , the same with Count Bonneval	ii.	428
Osman Topal , his brave answer to Nadir Kouli's insulting message	ix.	257
— His stratagem to bring him to an engagement	ix.	258
— Defeats him	ix.	259
— Is defeated and killed	ix.	260
— His excellent character	ix.	260
— A remarkable anecdote concerning him	ix.	262
Oswin , the negro trumpeter, his woeful tale, from Swinney's battle of Minden	xli.	474
Osnaburgh , bishopric of, number of people in	lxiii.	141
Ossa pubis , case of a separation	xxvii.	194
— Reflections on the division of, as a substitute for the Cæsarian section	lx.	60
— Instance of an operation	lx.	74
Ossay, Cardinal d' , his character	xlv.	587
Ossian , the ancient Scottish bard, the different merits of his compositions and those of Homer, accounted for	xxvi.	43
— Specimen of one of his poems in English verse	xxvii.	157
— His merit established by the rules of criticism	xxviii.	144
— Doubts as to the authenticity of his writings	xxviii.	151
— The authenticity of his poems doubted	xxxi.	23
— Poetical picture of	xxxiv.	122
— The rudeness of his poetry owing to the times in which he lived	xl.	117
— Specimen of a Latin version of his poems	xli.	477
— Their antiquity disputed	lii.	160
— Authenticity of his poems, asserted	lxii.	264
— Harp of, its melody why not pleasing	lxv.	17
— Ode on, recommended	lxv.	17
— Authenticity of the poems printed under his name, disputed	lxv.	412
— Controversy relative to	lxvi.	48
Ossified man , an account of	v.	280
— His dissection	v.	282
Ossicella , the bone-binder, natural history of	xlvi.	345
— Medical account of	xlvi.	346
Oswald, Dr. grossly attacked by Dr. Priestley	lii.	202
Oswego , its importance estimated	xx.	185

Orabete , account of the inhabitants of	—	xlvi. 205
— Their religion	—	xlvi. 206
— Their women	—	xlvi. 207
— Manufactures	—	xlvi. 210
— Account of the inhabitants of	—	xlvi. 296
— Capt. Wallis's account of	—	xlvi. 294
— Capt. Cook's account	—	xlvi. 484
— Farther account of	—	xlvi. 490
— Pleasing description of	—	lvi. 459
— Inhabitants of, a friendly and amiable people	—	lvi. 461
— The naval force of	—	lvii. 20
— Account of the beautiful women there	—	lix. 405
Orbello , passage in, criticised	—	xxvii. 20
Orbman Lillus Ancquitanus , his epic poem in praise of Mahomet	—	lxi. 547
Otter hunting , described	—	xxviii. 631
Otterburn , the battle there, commonly called Cheviot Chase	—	xvii. 466
Osway , his poetry censured	—	lxi. 189
Ouvre , its meaning	—	xix. 318
Oval orifice , or foramen ovale , memoirs concerning its use in directing the motion of the heart	—	lvi. 527
Ovals , Ludlam's engine for turning	—	lxiv. 441
Overal , Mr. his prayers for fast days better than those provided by authority	—	i. 349
Ovid's fasti , undeservedly neglected	—	xxviii. 127
Owen , Dr. his account of the good effects of musk in a convulsive disease	—	xxxvi. 438
Ox , a profitable beast of labour	—	xvii. 413
Oxen , preferred to horses for the use of the plough	—	xxxvii. 270
— Recommended for the plough	—	xxxviii. 277
— Lord Clive's success in the use of	—	xxxviii. 278
— Further recommended	—	xxxviii. 484
— In what respects preferable to horses for plough and draught	—	xlvi. 23
— Remarks on the feeding of, with oil cakes	—	xlvi. 27
— Bounty on the use of, recommended	—	xlvi. 84
— Comparison of their labour with that of horses	—	lviii. 96
— Used to plough by fixing the harness to their horns	—	lxiii. 100
— Great advantage of that method	—	lxiii. 101
Oxford , its buildings, antiquities, &c.	—	ii. 363
— Letters to the Oxford Tories	—	ii. 236
— Foundation of St. Mary's college, &c.	—	xix. 56
— A capital defect in regard of education there	—	xxi. 218
— The press there, more friendly to liberty than formerly	—	xxviii. 484
— Noble collect. of antique busts, statues and inscrip. at	—	xxx. 35
— University, eulogium on	—	xxxiii. 394
— Printing, how early set up in that city	—	xxxiv. 500
— Contests in that university, in relation to the caps of the students	—	xlvi. 6)
Oxford ,

Oxford , University, burlesque account of the discipline there	lxviii. 306
— Verses on the new painted window in new college	lxviii. 307
Oxford , Earl of, Robert Harley, reflections on his character and behaviour	viii. 445
— His character, drawn by Swift	xviii. 387
— By Bolingbroke	xviii. 387
— His character	xxxiii. 6—liv. 40
— His letter to Baron Wassenauer	liv. 293
Oxymel , caution to be observed in the making of	xi. 413
Oysters , rock, Corallines found on	xii. 183

.P

Pacific Ocean , probability of a north east passage to the	liv. 487
Packington, Lady , supposed to be the author of the whole duty of man	viii. 130
Pagans , mystical interpretation of their mythology	xxiii. 140
— Not addicted to war, on account of religion	xxvii. 502
— Their Dii majorum gentium, dead men	xxx. 419
— Polytheism among them	xxx. 420
— Their idolatrous mysteries	xxx. 421
— Their corruption at the time of Christ's appearing in the world	xxx. 428
Page, Mr. his publication of receipts for Ward's medicines	xxviii. 486
Paget, Lord , his great care of Mr. Hill's education	x. 17
Pagget, Mr. informed against for abusing the votes of the House of Commons	xxviii. 334
— Taken into custody	xxviii. 335
Pain , a greater destroys the sensation of a less	xiv. 127
— In what respects conducive to pleasure	xli. 356
— and pleasure compared, with respect to their different intensities, &c.	xliv. 548
Painters , the young painter's letters, written by Mr. Russel	iii. 341
— The disadvantages which modern painters labour under	xxiii. 313
— Mr. Vertue's collections for an history of English	xxvi. 243
— The merits of the French	xxx. 521
— The necessity of studying in Italy	xxx. 521
— Study of nature and simplicity recommended	xlvi. 633
— Censured for their improper choice of sacred subjects	l. 242
— How far justifiable in their attempts to improve nature	li. 33
— On the disorders of painters in water colours	lv. 257
— Italians commended	lix. 281
— English living artists praised	lix. 283
— Qualifications critically discussed	lxviii. 156
Painting , history of the academy of, in France	i. 162
— The excrement of moths made use of in	ix. 374
	Painting.

Painting , study of, recommended to players	xi. 7
— Character of antient and modern portraiture	xiii. 457
— Advantages which it derives from oratory	xiv. 100
— The origin of	xv. 112
— Requisites necessary for excelling in	xv. 163
— Colouring, one of the most essential branches of	xv. 164
— Causes of its degeneracy, ridiculously assigned	xv. 165
— On the monochromatic mode of	xv. 168
— Whether skill in the art is necessary to judge of the merit of painting	xxii. 307
— The effect and utility of	xxii. 309
— Merits of design and colouring, distinguished	xxii. 312
— Why most excellent in Popish countries	xxvi. 21
— An art the least liable to be perverted to any bad purpose	xxvi. 245
— The improvement, more honourable than the antiquity	xxvi. 247
— In oil, supposed to be invented in England	xxvi. 249
— On glass, not lost, as generally imagined	xxvi. 250
— Observations on encaustic	xxix. 517
— Academies, subject to give false judgments on the works of artists	xxx. 353
— Account of a French academy established in Italy	xxx. 520
— Principles discussed	xxxviii. 162
— Hints on the study of	xlii. 318
— Cautions in regard to copying	xlii. 319
— Models for style recommended	xlii. 320
— Industry enjoined	xlii. 321
— Directions for the imitation of the ancients	xliv. 377
— General laws of	xlv. 120
— What to be understood by invention	xlv. 120
— Colouring defined and explained	xlv. 120
— True principle of	xlvi. 475
— History of, the same as poetical	xlvi. 478
— Observations on colouring	xlvi. 479
— Observations on the language of painters	xlvi. 481
— Remarks on the great style of	xlvi. 482
— Encaustic, discovered by Count Caylus	xlvi. 646
— Properties of encaustic	xlvi. 647
— Observations on the photometrical part of	xlvi. 671
— Observations on the proper gradations of light and colours	xlvi. 671
— Union of, excellencies in	xlvii. 453
— Encaustic, recovered	xlvi. 500
— Encaustic, improved by Wedgwood and Bentley	xlvi. 500
— Verses on a society for the encouragement of	li. 482
— Antiquity of oil colours	lii. 444
— Conduct of the directors of the Royal Academy arraigned	lii. 80
— The excellency of Eledoric wax in painting	lii. 531

Painting , a beautiful red colour discovered	Nil.	532
— Introduction to the knowledge of	lvii.	309
— Origin of portrait	lix.	279
— The Flemish schools characterized	lix.	283
— Sketches of the ancient history of	lx.	365
— Critical observations on, by Sir J. Reynolds	lxi.	17
— Remarks on le Brun's manner	lxi.	19
— Observations on colour and colouring	lxi.	55
— History of, in oil	lxv.	90
— Composition of wax for painting	lxv.	94
— Improvement in colours	lxix.	421
— An English school for landscape painting proposed	lxx.	345
— See Colours .
Paintings , at Windsor castle, described	i.	264
— Found at Herculaneum, described	iv.	113
— Method of cleaning	xix.	280
— Method of transferring, to new cloths or wood	xix.	350
— At Herculaneum, described	xlvi.	630
— An historical picture at Windsor, described	liii.	494
— At Cawdry in Sussex, described	liii.	496
— Of Caracci, at Bologna, described	lix.	449
— At Wooburn Abbey, described	lxviii.	101
Painting of the face , the absurdity of	ix.	247
Pairing , the effects of, in the animal creation	l.	445
Palais, M. de , begins the history of the Troubadours, which M. Millot finishes	li.	558
Palmon and Ann , a love tale, from the shipwreck, a poem	xxx.	397
Palermo , city of, described	xxx.	552
— A dreadful cemetery in it	xxx.	553
— Account of	xlvi.	199
Palestine , country of, its fertility, &c. asserted, in opposition to Voltaire and other infidel writers	lxii.	565
Palliser, Sir Hugh , sentence passed upon him by the court martial	lx.	400
— Remarkable difference in the printed accounts of	lx.	401
Palm tree , the artificial fecundation of the female	xl.	525
Palmer, Mr. his opinion in the House of Commons in the debate about place-men	xxviii.	417
Palmer, Rev. Mr. his notions respecting philosophical necessity, &c.	lxii.	29
Palmyra , ruins of, by whom, and with what advantages the survey of them was made	ix.	439—443
— Magnificent buildings of, by whom erected	ix.	243
— Pathetic reflections on the destruction of	lii.	133
Palmyrene alphabet , discovered	xii.	507
Palmyrene coin , account of a curious one, found in the cabinet of the late Dr. Hunter	lxx.	267
Palfes , the effect of electricity in the cure of	xl.	542
Palfy , uncommon recovery from	xvi.	554
— Occasioned by a fall, cases of	xxxviii.	438

Palsy , case of, occasioned by a fall	—	xxxviii.	441
— Account of, arising from a venereal cause	—	xxxix.	249
— Cured by a seaton	—	xxxix.	531
— The efficacy of a seaton in the cure	—	xxxix.	531
— On a muscular and nervous	—	lv.	495
— Account of a particular kind of, and cure	—	lx.	199
Pamela , an Italian comedy founded upon her story	—	xvii.	49
Pamphlet the politician , humorous scene between him and Quidnunc the upholsterer	—	xviii.	416
Pancratium , an olympic exercise described	—	i.	115
Pan , how represented	—	vii.	88
Pancras , observations on a schirrus of the	—	xxxix.	539
Panegyrics , history of	—	xlix.	541
— Manner in which they were bestowed by the Egyptians	—	xlix.	545
— By the Greeks	—	xlix.	546
— By the Romans	—	xlix.	550
Pantheon , its internal ornaments obliterated by new plaistering	—	xvi.	382
— Description of the ingenious scaffold constructed in it	—	xvi.	382
Pantomime , whence derived	—	xv.	110
— Great expressive power of the ancient	—	xxvi.	353
— Their use in arbitrary governments	—	xxvi.	353
Paoli, Pascal , that patriotic hero described	—	xxxix.	47
— His noble sentiments on various topics	—	xxxix.	47, 142
— His moral character and sentiments opposed to those of Mr. Samuel Johnson	—	xxxix.	210
— His greatness of mind	—	xli.	254
— Basely attacked in the English newspapers	—	xli.	481
— His character, with many curious particulars, drawn by a Frenchman	—	lv.	224
Pap de Fagaras M. his prize dissertation relative to a particular and general Providence	—	lxvii.	536
— His prize dissertation on moral liberty	—	lxx.	508
Papal authority, a view of	—	xxiv.	136
— The true source of	—	xxiv.	200
Paper , when first made in China	—	vii.	92
— Manufactured in China from time immemorial	—	x.	200
— Materials used in making it	—	x.	481
— That of the Chinese made of silk	—	x.	482
— When first made of rags	—	x.	481
— Substitutes proposed instead of rags	—	x.	482
— Hemp used for the making of	—	x.	482
— Attempt to make it of the down of plants	—	x.	482
— Proposal to make it of cotton	—	x.	482
— Experiments to make, with the cods of caterpillars	—	x.	483
— Natural, found near Canton	—	xliv.	205
— Manufactories of, in Holland	—	lii.	624
— Method of unfolding that found in Herculaneum	—	xv.	361
Paper-currency , among the Chinese	—	v.	5
— In America, a remedy for that grievance	—	xvii.	548

Paper-currency in the colonies, observations on	xxx. 443
Papillons , or exotic butterflies	liii. 509
Papists , more consistent than the Hutchinsonians	xv. 474
— Their religious books, of whatever kind, never to be countenanced by protestants	xxxix. 532
— Prefer infidels to heretics	xxxix. 533
— Compared with the pharisees	xxxiv. 444
— Not to be trusted by protestants	xxxv. 404
— Not unreasonably oppressed by the British government	xxxvii. 300
— Schemes to prevent the increase of	xxxvii. 398
— Not proper persons to attempt the conversion of infidels	xlix. 192
— Less criminal with respect to the Irish massacre than is commonly supposed	lv. 447
Papuas , account of that people	lx. 266
Parable , that of the prodigal in the gospel, explained and applied	xiv. 146, 147
— of the piece of silver, verified	xxxviii. 409
— The mode of instructions by, considered	xliv. 440
— Observations on the parable of the builder, &c. on that of Dives and Lazarus	xlvi. 12
— of Christ, their distinguishing excellencies	lvii. 198
— Critical illustration of the barren fig-tree	lxvii. 117
Parabola , not described by projectiles	xi. 491
Paradoxes , a passion for, as bad as a passion for hypotheses	xxviii. 5
— Philosophical, nature and use of	xlvi. 537
— Theory of	lii. 589
Paraguay , an account of the inhabitants	xvi. 560
— Their methods of hunting	xvi. 560
— The success of the missionaries there	xvi. 562
Paralytic complaints , the utility of nightshade in	xvii. 571
— Warm baths recommended	xlvi. 350
Parangue, Jacques , his wonderful faculty of tracing the water under ground	lix. 299
Paraphrenitis , cure of	xxxviii. 356
Paris, Ambrose , his conversation with Charles IX. King of France	xiv. 567
Parents , duty of children to	xxix. 364
— Of parents to children	xxix. 365
— Too apt to punish for small matters, and neglect more important	xxix. 365
— Such as traffic with the honour and virtue of their children, stigmatized	xxxix. 203
— Authority, how to be enforced	xxxiv. 545
— Authority, the foundation of	xxxvi. 521
Paris , much refined in politeness	vii. 175
— Luxury and vain pomp abolished	vii. 176
— Massacre of, described	xiv. 564
— The occasion of putting a stop to the massacre	xiv. 567
— Thanksgiving at Rome for the massacre	xx. 193

Paris, Ladies of, characterised	—	xxv. 203
— Their arts to distinguish themselves from the vulgar	—	xxv. 205
— Their masculine deportment disgusting to foreigners	—	xxv. 206
— Their fondness for the company of men	—	xxv. 207
— The general dissoluteness of manners that this is productive of	—	xxv. 208
— Their failings rather the result of ridiculous affectation than vicious inclination	—	xxv. 210
— Amiable character of a particular lady	—	xxv. 211
— and London, comparison between those two capitals	—	xxvi. 14
— Description of Pont-du-Garde	—	xxxiv. 424
— Considered as the emporium of vice and folly	—	xxxiv. 444
— Character of the citizens and shopkeepers	—	xli. 453
— Number of houses and inhabitants in	—	xlvi. 356
— Description of	—	xlvii. 63
— Account of that city in its primitive state, in the time of Julian	—	lxiv. 358
— Observations relative to	—	lxxv. 554
— Observations on the population of	—	lxxviii. 629
— Described	—	lxxx. 183
Paris, Abbi, droll account of his miracles	—	xxxviii. 555
Parisus, when first formed in England	—	liii. 332
Parish officers, hint of advice to them	—	xxi. 512
Parkins, Mr. continues Blomefield's history of Norfolk	—	lvii. 270
Parliament, English, thoughts on the degeneracy of, by Lord Halifax	—	iii. 41
— The origin of	—	v. 441
— Confirmed by Edward I.	—	v. 443
— Usurpation of, under Edward II.	—	v. 444
— Style of acts, changed under Edward IV.	—	v. 445
— Present state of	—	v. 450
— The word of French or Norman extraction	—	vii. 439
— The first in the reign of Henry III.	—	vii. 433
— First real parliaments in 1272	—	vii. 434
— Its opposition to the papal power	—	viii. 68
— Proceedings relating to trade and manufactures and monopolies	—	viii. 215
— Mistakes in the history of, corrected	—	viii. 221
— Proceedings in the Long Parliament	—	x. 183
— When knights of the shire were first summoned	—	xii. 415
— Ancient method of determining petitions	—	xii. 417
— Eloquent speeches in	—	xiv. 107
— On censuring the acts of particular representatives in the papers	—	xiv. 457
— Annual, long ago contended for	—	xv. 522
— Prostitution of, to James I.	—	xvi. 356
— Preamble to the triennial act	—	xvii. 467
— Prorogation, by whom introduced	—	xvii. 468
— Resolution upon Charles I. raising soldiers	—	xvii. 494
— Petition to Charles I. for peace	—	xvii. 502
Parliament,

Parliament, English, infraction for the choice of members during the civil war	xviii.	139
— The army remembrance to	xviii.	401
— Extension of privileges dangerous	xviii.	404
— How reduced at the trial of Charles I.	xviii.	414
— The Long, illegal and tyrannical	xix.	13
— The Long, passes an act against the liberty of the press	xix.	13
— Proceedings in the Long, with respect to the Dutch	xix.	17
— The Long, violently dissolved by Cromwell	xix.	26
— The liberty of, in the reign of Elizabeth	xx.	405
— Freedom of debate asserted	xx.	408
— Debates on the peace	xxii.	56
— Declaration of the importance of	xxii.	57
— Whether previous promises are consistent with the freedom of members?	xxiv.	200
— Antiquity of, previous to the time of Henry III.	xxv.	66
— Progress of its operation to the time of Charles I.	xxv.	161
— Meanness and profusion of parl. to Charles II.	xxv.	162
— Debate on the excise	xxv.	163
— Speech of the Speaker to Charles II.	xxv.	166
— Rousseau's strictures on	xxvii.	500
— Debate on the non-attendance of the members	xxviii.	125
— Attendance an indispensable duty	xxviii.	126
— Debate on the removal of evil counsellors	xxviii.	129
— On the Duke of Buckingham's justification of himself	xxviii.	131
— Of impressing seamen	xxviii.	132
— On bribery and corruption	xxviii.	134
— Representatives of the people, a balance to the power of the Lords	xxviii.	141
— Who the proper constituents	xxviii.	142
— Debates on a motion for producing certain records	xxviii.	188
— On recalling British subjects from the French service	xxviii.	190
— Disorderly proceedings thereon	xxviii.	191
— On a bill for making polygamy felony	xxviii.	194
— On the growing greatness of France	xxviii.	195
— On abuses in the courts of justice	xxviii.	198
— On the ladies in the gallery	xxviii.	199
— On the royal prerogative	xxviii.	258
— On a breach of privilege	xxviii.	260
— On a supply	xxviii.	261
— On the seizure of Montague's papers	xx.iii.	264
— On Titus Oates's behaviour	xxviii.	331
— On the bill for excluding the Duke of York	xxviii.	334
— On the abdication of James II. and for limiting the power of his successor	xxviii.	411
— On placemen in parliament	xxviii.	416
— On the sovereign's regard to foreigners	xxviii.	418
— On the mal-administration of affairs	xxviii.	420
— On the king's negative voice to bills	xxviii.	422
— Mr. Harley's speech for more frequent parliaments	xxviii.	422

Parliament, English, degeneracy of, in the time of Algernon Sydney

— Observations on the privilege of	—	xxix.	245
— Extent and limits of privilege	—	xxx.	95
— Absurdity of elections being expensive to candidates	—	xxxi.	456
— Observations on the qualification for voting	—	xxxiii.	10
— Observations on decayed boroughs	—	xxxiii.	10
— Law and customs of	—	xxxiv.	388
— Method of proclaiming acts formerly	—	xxxiv.	388
— Inequality of	—	xxxvi.	33
— Proceedings with respect to patents	—	xxxvi.	301
— Proceedings on the freedom of the press	—	xxxvi.	303
— Unequal state of representation	—	xxxvii.	10
— Observations on bribery at elections	—	xxxvii.	11
— Dissolution, not advisable at a particular juncture	—	xli.	466
— Maseres' view of the ancient constitution of	—	xliv.	262
— Inadequate to the designs of representation	—	l.	113
— Irregularity of proceedings in	—	l.	116
— Annual, recommended	—	l.	121
— Present representation vindicated	—	l.	451
— Manner of deciding several cases of privilege	—	lvii.	178
— Supremacy of, discussed	—	lvii.	250
— Antient authority of	—	lix.	21
— Equal representation, and annual parl. recommended	—	lxvii.	53
— Triennial elections preferred	—	lxvii.	63
— Expediency of frequent elections denied	—	lxviii.	303
— In what manner influenced by the crown	—	lxiv.	17
— Reform contended for	—	lxiv.	18
— Mr. Horne's plan for more equal representation	—	lxvii.	137
— Scheme for reform of representation	—	lxix.	511
Parliament of Paris, gives a fatal blow to its own liberty	—	iii.	134
Parnassus, poetically described	—	xxvii.	199
Parnell, Dr. his acquaintance how courted by Lord Oxford	—	xi.	60
Parnel, Mr. a remarkable saying of his in the Irish House of Commons	—	lxii.	247
Paros, Isle of, described, and the antiquities there	—	lxi.	482
Parre, George, burnt for being a deist	—	xxix.	449
Parricide, the Fair, a tragedy	—	vi.	396
Paris, Mr. sent by the society of Dilettanti into Ionia, in search of antiquities	—	xliv.	369
— Accompanies Dr. Chandler in his tour to Asia Minor, and Greece, in search of antient inscriptions, &c.	—	lii.	193
Parry recommended for feeding sheep	—	xxxiii.	251
— Method of culture	—	xxxiii.	251
Parsons, Sir William, his remiss administration in Ireland at the time of the grand rebellion	—	xxxvii.	32
Parsons, Dr. account of a preternatural conjunction of two children	—	iii.	438
— On the analogy between the propagation of animals and vegetables	—	vi.	367

- Parsons, Dr.* his observations on Archimedes burning the fleet of Marcellus ——— xlii. 421
- Account of the pholas-conoides ——— xxxv. 449
- Of a white negroe ——— xxxv. 449
- Letter on the double horned rhinoceros ——— xxxvii. 442
- On amphibious animals ——— xxxvii. 444
- Account of a particular species of cameleon ——— xlii. 193
- Parthenius of Nicæa*, account of his writings ——— xlv. 585
- Parties*, A smart observation of Lord Halifax thereon ——— iii. 42
- Extracts from Lord Bolingbroke's account of them at the accession of George I. ——— i. 154
- A union of, recommended as a panacea for all distempers of the state ——— xv. 293
- Reflections on the distinction of ——— xviii. 619
- Whimsical scheme for the coalition of ——— xlv. 451
- State of, in the British court in 1757 ——— lxii. 118
- Pascal*, sketch of his character as a writer ——— xxxvi. 509
- Injured his brain by too intense application to study. ——— xli. 254
- His great character for wit and learning ——— lxi. 505
- Pasquinade*, a remarkable one, how punished by Pope Sixtus V. ——— xli. 370
- Passerillas*, how prepared ——— xli. 8
- Passion-flower*, poetically described ——— xvii. 459
- Passion*, their nature, objects, and usefulness ——— i. 25
- Rule mankind ——— ii. 438
- Some degree of, warrantable in performing devotion ——— viii. 337
- Passions*, rules for the government of them ——— xlii. 448
- A certain regular mechanism in the production and conduct of ——— xvi. 133
- Their investigation difficult ——— xvi. 473
- Their nature and use ——— xx. 70
- Origin of ——— xxi. 90
- All resolvable into instinct ——— xxiii. 396
- and emotion, distinguished ——— xxvi. 420
- and emotions, voluntary and involuntary, considered ——— xxvii. 18
- The right cultivation of, its high importance in education ——— xl. 522
- Their medical uses pointed out ——— xli. 358
- Excellent sermons on the disorders of ——— lvi. 270
- Pastoral life*, admirable description of, from Tasso ——— xxix. 255
- Pastoral poetry*, that of Virgil made to serve three different purposes ——— xiv. 233
- Characterised ——— xxvii. 241
- Observations on ——— xli. 490, 498
- At what æra in the annals of mankind supposed to have been first written ——— xli. 499
- Pastures*, directions relative to ——— xxxiii. 256
- Patagonians*, humorous account of ——— xxxv. 240
- Fanciful account of ——— xxxvii. 223
- The account of their extraordinary stature confirmed ——— xxxix. 417
- Patagonians*,

Patagonians , Commodore Byron's account questioned	xlvi.	527
— Their great stature exaggerated by voyagers	xlvi.	180
— Collective accounts of our late voyagers relative to them	xlix.	290
— Some account of	li.	410
— Specimens of their language	li.	417
— Remarks on their stature	lix.	407
Patching and painting , act of parliament against	xix.	17
— Ladies use of, detended	xix.	17
Patens , for new inventions, obsf. on the tendency of	lx.	72
Pathetic style , an instance of	iv.	260
Paskul , the Swede, his story related	xiv.	371
Patmos , Isle of , some account of the present state of	lxiv.	453
Patriarchs , their religion	iv.	124
— The age of, erroneous	vii.	3
— On the time of their puberty	vii.	3
— Their laborious way of living	xv.	322
— Christian, their origin and high privileges	xxxiii.	377
— Detrimental to the peace of the church	xxxiii.	338
Patrick , St. his mission to Ireland	xlvi.	471
Patriot king , idea of	i.	147
Patriots , an idea of	x.	212
— Mock, satirically displayed	xxviii.	214
— In parliament, in the reign of Charles II. their virtue and perseverance	xxviii.	266
— Idea of a true one	xxvii.	13
— Character of a true one	li.	299
— False ones distinguished into two classes	li.	299
Patriotism , Lord Bolingbroke's letter on the spirit of	i.	53
— Theory of	xxxviii.	507
— Reality of, investigated	xxxviii.	507
— Rousseau's encomium on	xxxix.	215
— Observations on	xliv.	293
— Modern, inquiry into the true spirit of	xlvi.	441
— Of the ancients	xlvi.	441
— When, and on what occasions of service to this country	lv.	175
— Those who decry this virtue, censured	lv.	175
Patron , however great, not able to preserve books from criticism	xix.	541
— Illiterate, the object of ridicule	xxi.	83
Patronage of church livings in Scotland, account of	xxvii.	69
— Law of, in respect to the church of Scotland, productive of great evils	xlvi.	447
Patton , Dr. his sermon severely censured	xv.	79
— Confuted from his own writings	xv.	470
— His doctrines tend to lead us back to popery	xv.	472
Pau , M. his account of the Chinese, controverted	lxii.	521
Paul , one of the first monks, curious account of	xxxvii.	450
Paul , St. his eminent accomplishments as a preacher	viii.	113
— The excellency of his general character	viii.	114

- Paul, St.* most probably the author of the epistle to the Hebrews
xiii. 226
- Lord Bolingbroke's unjust reflections upon him, censured
xiii. 233
- A particular account of — — — xvi. 536
- A table of his epistles, when and where wrote xvi. 537
- His different manner of reasoning in different places, accounted for — — — xxiii. 273
- Exposition of an obscure text in — — — xxiii. 410
- Account of his difference with Peter — — — xxxiii. 157
- Meaning of his wish to be accursed from Christ xxxv. 26
- His meaning when speaking of the prince of the power of the air — — — xxxviii. 214
- New version of his oration before King Agrippa xxxviii. 219
- His epistle to the Romans and Corinthians, animadverted on
xl. 74
- Old cathedral of, Sir C. Wren's method of demolishing it
— — — iii. 94
- Present cathedral of, in London, its dimensions compared with those of St. Peter's, at Rome — — — iii. 97
- Paul, George*, author of the antichristian opera — — — xii. 233
- Pauli, Simon*, his fabulous story of a Norwegian plant, said to have the noxious property of rendering frangible the bones of cattle feeding on it — — — lxx. 497
- Paulinus*, his testimony in regard to the fertility of Judea lxi. 569
- Pavia*, battle of, described — — — xli. 85
- One of the most fatal that ever happened to France xli. 86
- Paw, Mr.* his treatise on poisoned arrows — — — lxix. 71
- Peace*, of Utrecht, an account of — — — vii. 131
- at Aix-la-Chapelle, censured — — — xv. 298
- with France, satirical motives for — — — xvii. 557
- The proper intentions of making one — — — xxii. 59
- A scheme for — — — — — xxii. 256
- Poetically described — — — — — xxiv. 393
- Rousseau's plan for a perpetual — — — xxiv. 403
- The best too dear if purchased at the expence of liberty
— — — xxviii. 206
- Encomium on the merits of the late — — — xxxii. 390
- Dr. Andrew's speech in the Irish parliament on the xxxviii. 85
- Review of the late — — — — — xliii. 158
- Condemned as inadequate, insecure, and inglorious xliii. 189
- Peak of Derbyshire*, attempt to explore a monstrous cavern lxiii. 26
- Atmosphere of, medically and chemically considered lxx. 452
- Pearce, Zachary, Bishop of Rochester*, account of his life lvi. 123
- His commentary on the Evangelists, &c. lvi. 194
- His controversial writings — — — lvi. 206
- Pearl asbes*, analysis of — — — — — xiv. 430
- Method of preparing a succedaneum for — — — xiv. 430
- Peasant*, happy life of — — — — — xxxv. 323
- The scene reversed — — — — — xxxv. 323
- Peasants,*

- Peasants*, instance of their poverty and misery in Germany xli. 182
 — Wretched condition of, through life, poetically delineated lxix. 418
Peat, method of preparing to make it useful in smelting xv. 388
 — To what other good purposes it may be applied xv. 389
Pebbles, their formation described — iv. 252
Pedantry, censured — — iv. 420
Peasgache, Mad. her wonderful occult perceptions lix. 273
Pearage, whence derived — — xxviii. 141
Pears, on the titles and creation of — — vii. 429
 — House of, their spirited proceedings in defence of their privilege in Lord Arandel's case — — xxix. 416
 — Their privileges — — xxxiii. 17
 — Importance in the constitution of this country xxxiii. 567
 — Manner of impeaching — — xxxvi. 1
 — Spiritual, their legislative rights asserted — — l. 450
Pegge, Mr. his disquisition on the Saxon word aefstel, or stylus xlix. 181
 — Account of the bull running at Tuthury — — xlix. 183
 — Observations on Dr. Percy's account of minstrels among the Saxons — — xlix. 255
 — Account of the crane, as a dish served up at great tables xlix. 256
 — Of the battle of Chesterfield — — xlix. 262
 — On the antiquity of shoeing horses — — liii. 415
 — On wines anciently produced in England — — liii. 415
 — On Belatucader — — liii. 416
 — On cock-fighting — — liii. 417
 — On an inscription, in Homer, of Serapis — — liii. 417
 — On a noble coined by Edward III. — — liii. 498
 — On two jewels dug up in Warwickshire — — liii. 500
 — Enquiry concerning King John's death — — lvii. 261
 — Illustration of an ancient gold ring — — lvii. 261
 — Account of a gold coin of Prince Edmund — — lvii. 450
 — Of the bones of fowls discovered at Christ's church, Twynham lvii. 457
 — His account of St. George, the patron of England lxii. 107
 — Remarks relative to Croyland abbey — — lxii. 110
 — Examination of the question, whether Ireland and Thanet are void of serpents? — — lxii. 113
 — Account of some stone coffins — — lxii. 271
 — Explanation of a passage in Gildas — — lxii. 274
 — Observations on conventual seals — — lxii. 275
 — Observations on the plague in England — — lxx. 264
 — Opinion of the time, or commencement of the day, with the ancient Britons and Saxons — — lxx. 269
Pegging, an operation performed on brutes for the cure of the squinancy — — xii. 69
Pekin, experiments on the degrees of cold there — — li. 552
Pelagianism, how introduced and suppressed in Britain xv. 572
Pelham, Henry, defence of the reduction of interest xxvii. 252
Pelham

Polham, Mr. his character	—	li. 32
Pelicans , how employed by the fishermen on Lake Manslet, in Egypt	—	xlvi. 290
Peltzer, Count de , affecting story of	—	lxiv. 107
Pemberton, Dr. his solution of an abstruse problem in astronomy	—	xlvi. 414
Pemberton, Henry Earl of , his fine taste in architecture, &c.	—	lxiv. 190
Penal laws , their origin traced	—	xxi. 306
— Reflexions on	—	xxi. 310
— Were impetuously carried into execution	—	xxiv. 218
— The nature of	—	xxviii. 500
— Not acts of vengeance	—	xxviii. 500
— Should be adapted to the crime	—	xxviii. 501
— Strictures on the severity of those which affect the lives of criminals	—	xliv. 85
— Principles of, investigated	—	xliv. 444
Pendulums , remarks on their vibrations	—	xxxv. 52
— Obs. relating to, in Capt. Phipps's voyage	—	lii. 130, 132
Penitents, white , the fraternity of, in Languedoc	—	xxx. 525
Penlez Bosavern , Petitions in favour of	—	ii. 62
Pen man-mauw , description of antiquities on the summit of liii.	—	498
Pennant, Mr. his account of the different species of penguins	—	xlvi. 192
— His Indian zoology	—	xlvi. 219
— His account of the turkey	—	lxv. 366
— Of several earthquakes in Wales	—	lxv. 372
Pennington, Mrs. her letters in vindication of her own conduct	—	xxxv. 466
Pennsylvania , the most flourishing of the British colonies	—	xii. 192
— First settled by Quakers	—	xii. 192
— Their excellent plan of government	—	xii. 192
— Their successors a different sort of men from the founders, and the government of, in need of a reformation	—	xii. 193
— Quakers oppose all necessary precautions for the defence of the inhabitants	—	xiv. 210
— Cruelties of the Indians there	—	xiv. 217
— Its constitution explained	—	xxi. 48
— Grounds of the disputes between the governors and the assembly there	—	xxi. 49
— Debates between them	—	xxi. 53
— Her charter less favourable to liberty than those of the other colonies	—	xl. 436
— Observations on the celestial bodies, made in	—	xlvi. 400
— Great populousness of that colony	—	xlv. 389
Penrose, Mr. his character	—	lxvi. 339
— His Field of Battle, a poem	—	lxvi. 336
Pensions , history of, poetically expressed	—	xxv. 396
— The creation of supernumerary pensioners condemned	—	xxviii. 212
— From the government, ought to be taxed	—	xxxiv. 304
— Ratio of such taxation	—	xxxiv. 304
		Pensions,

Peasants , Mr. Flood's speech on	—	xxxvii.	412
People , no reason for deceiving them in a good government		xvii.	350
— Number of, upon the globe computed	—	xxiii.	78
— Number of, in Great Britain and Ireland	—	xxxvi.	429
— In England and Wales, present number of	—	xlvi.	103
— Common, their distresses naturally tend to extinguish their love for their country	—	xlvi.	119
— Their number decreasing in England	—	xlvi.	164
Pepin , King of France, curious anecdote concerning		xxiv.	286
Perception , the power of	—	vii.	468
— What	—	xv.	44
— By the senses, remarkable difference in	—	xxvi.	415
— Superiority of those by the eye and ear	—	xxvi.	415
— Philosophically considered	—	xxxi.	15
Pericival , Dr. his history and cure of a difficulty in deglutition		xlvi.	259
— His experiments relating to fixed air	—	liv.	433
— His observations on population in Manchester	—	lv.	122
— His account of a new method of obtaining a fixed alkali from putrid vegetables, and animal substances	—	lxiv.	272
Pericussion , on the force of	—	xlvi.	395
Perfection , to which man may attain	—	liii.	432
Perfidy , less prevalent in cold than in hot climates	—	lxvi.	24
Pericles , his oration at a public funeral of the Athenians	—	viii.	177
— Several particulars concerning	—	xx.	294
Pericardium , on a fatal effusion of blood into	—	xlvi.	45
Perignamony , case of	—	xxxviii.	543
— Dissertation on the	—	xlvi.	543
Perjury , punishment provided for in the border-laws	—	lviii.	170
Periwinkle , different species of, described	—	xviii.	331
Parkins , Mr. his observations on the benefit of cold air in the small-pox	—	xxxviii.	433
Perlin , Stephen, his strange account of the English	—	lxi.	12
Perplexity , the signs of	—	xxvi.	201
Perron , Cardinal, an everlasting talker	—	xxiii.	198
Perron , Augustin de, his memoir, proving that the ancient books called Zenda, are the works of Zoroaster	—	lviii.	535
Perry , an account of it	—	ii.	381
— Its good qualities	—	ii.	382
Perry , Mr. his debates in the Irish parliament	—	xxxviii.	1, 81
Perry , George, first plans the history of Liverpool, since completed by Mr. Enfield	—	li.	231
Persecution , its bad effects	—	iv.	531
— On account of religion, the greatest folly, and most horrid cruelty	—	xiii.	176
— Religious causes of	—	xix.	214
— Remedy for	—	xix.	214
— Of the primitive Christians, to what owing	—	xix.	418
— For religion, a proof of unbelief in the persecutors	—	xx.	361
Persecution ,

Persecution , defeats its purpose	xx.	362
— Worse than infidelity	xxvi.	22
— Described	xxvi.	462
— Noble declaration of King George II. against	xxvii.	433
— For religion, hurtful to Christianity	xxix.	131
— A recent instance in our country, hinted at	xxix.	132
— Whether authorized by the laws of nature and humanity	xxx.	529
— The danger and ill effects of	xxx.	529
— For freedom of writing, a recent instance of, in Switzerland	xxxiv.	547
— Religious, its horrid nature	xxxv.	173
— Reprehended	xxxvi.	384
— Discussed	xxxviii.	263
— Church of Rome attacked and defended on this head	xxxviii.	263
— Religious, a remarkable instance of, among the Mahomedans of Hindostan	xl.	502
— Never attended with good effects	xlvi.	456
— Instantiated in a remarkable story of Jehan Shaw	xlvi.	456
— Religious, account of a late instance of, in Ireland	lxi.	443
— Excellent parable against	lxii.	192
Persecutors , the short lives, and miserable deaths of most of them	ix.	361
— An inference from the horrible and severe plagues that attended them	ix.	361
— For religion, how considered by M. Rousseau	xxvi.	240
Perseus , explanatory account of that hero	lii.	479
Perseus and Andromeda , interpretation of that fable	xxiii.	141
Persfield , described	xxxviii.	226
— Description of	lviii.	194
Persia , account of the sacred fire there	ii.	136
— Manners and customs of the people	viii.	326
— Account of their temples, priests, and religious worship	x.	417
— Their regard to magic or witchcraft	x.	420
— Superstition concerning the misletoe, &c.	x.	420
— Doctrine of transmigration	x.	421
— The luxury of, in the time of Xerxes	xix.	104
— The manners of the people, by a late traveller	xliv.	159
— Translation of an ode	xliv.	427
— Persian tongue, its general use in India	xlvi.	39
— Structures on that language	xlvi.	41, 82
— Mininski's dictionary recommended	xlvi.	89
— Inquiry into their theological system of ancient Persia	liv.	517
— Concerning the author of their Zenda Vesta	liv.	519
— Niebuhr's observations relative to what he saw in that country	lx.	306
— On the religion of the ancient	lxi.	529
— Ancient history of, its remarkable disagreement with the Grecian	lxiii.	110

Persia , ancient account of the change in religion	lxix.	255
— The changes in the religion of	lxix.	544
Persius , his third satire, imitated by Mr. Nevillè	xlvi.	48
Personification poetic , considered	xxvii.	108
Perspective , some account of that art	xv.	287
— Its importance in painting	xvii.	549
— History of	xvii.	549
— Its importance in painting and architecture	xxv.	455
— Of architecture, method of investigating	xxv.	456
— Importance of the study of	xxx.	474
Perspiration, insensible , account of	xxxviii.	363
Pertb , town of, and trade, described	xlvi.	52
Pern , its inhabitants described	ix.	298
— The centre of luxury and debauchery	ix.	299
Pern and Mexico , accounts of their ancient splendor highly exaggerated	xlvi.	533
Perukes , enormous fashions of, in ancient days	xli.	214
— History of	lix.	380
Pescennius Niger , medals of	v.	322
Pesilence , poetically personified	xxx.	139
Petasus , its medical uses of that herb	xvi.	249
— Its uses in cancerous disorders	liii.	42
Peter, St. explained, and the Bishop of London defended	v.	89
— Some observations on an essay towards ascertaining the sense of a passage in	vi.	313
— Martyred at Rome	xvii.	404
— Strange story of his contest with Simon Magus	xxx.	238
— 1 Peter, chap. iii. ver. 19, explained	xlvi.	182
Peter the Great, Emperor of Russia , some account of his character	viii.	489
— His behaviour to the Swedes after their defeat	viii.	490
— Besieges Asoph, and carries on the attack in an extraordinary manner	xiii.	352
— Visits the courts of Europe; works as a ship carpenter at Amsterdam; his reception in England; models his army after the German manner, and reforms his empire	xiii.	354
— His death and character	xiii.	355
— Passed himself through all stations in the army, and caused his officers to do the like	xiii.	356
— Remarkable anecdote	xiii.	358
— His resentment of an affront received by his ambassador in London	xix.	419
— Panegyric on, by Aaron Hill	xxi.	520
— His success in the reformation of religion	xxiv.	128
— Accused of being Antichrist	xxiv.	130
— His military skill	xxiv.	131
— His travels into Holland and France	xxviii.	551
— His conduct to his son Alexis	xxviii.	551
— Exculpated by Voltaire	xxviii.	555
— His distress during his campaign on the Pruth	xxx.	209

- Peter the Great, Emperor of Russia*, various accounts of his deliverance — — — — — xxx. 210
- Voltaire's examination of ditto — — — — — xxx. 211
- His great improvements of his empire — — — — — L. 514—li. 539
- Marries Eudoxia Federowna — — — — — li. 490
- Falls in love with another lady, and resolves on a divorce — — — — — li. 491
- Marries Catherine — — — — — li. 493
- Disinherits and condemns his son Prince Alexis — — — — — li. 497
- His disputes with the Queen of England — — — — — li. 540
- Styled Emperor by the English — — — — — li. 540
- His campaign on the Pruth — — — — — li. 541
- His advantageous peace with the Turks — — — — — li. 544
- Additions to the history of — — — — — liv. 398
- His conduct with respect to his antagonist Charles XII. — — — — — lxiii. 419
- His speech in a council of war — — — — — lxiii. 419
- Several anecdotes relative to — — — — — lxvii. 412
- Peter II. grandson of Peter the Great*, declared emperor — — — — — li. 502
- His death — — — — — li. 503
- Petersburgh*, court of, its magnificence thirty years ago — — — — — xlvi. 38
- Immenſe route of the traders who travel by land between there and Pekin — — — — — lxiii. 7
- Transactions of the Imperial Academy of Sciences there — — — — — lxix. 583
- A lady President of the Royal Academy there — — — — — lxix. 585
- List of memoirs in their new publication — — — — — lxix. 586
- Petit, M.* observations on the suppuration of the albuginous coat of the testicle — — — — — xxxix. 225
- Observations on an aneurism attended with some very singular circumstances — — — — — xli. 513
- Pet. t. P.* introduction to the knowledge of painting, &c. — — — — — lvii. 309
- Petition* of new born babes — — — — — v. 516
- of right, Mrs. Macaulay's remarks on — — — — — xxxii. 217
- of the clergy, in the matter of subscription to the thirty-nine articles — — — — — xlyi. 63, 157
- Petrarch*, his letter to Charles, King of the Romans, concerning Nicholas Gabrini de Rienzi — — — — — xli. 32
- His high ideas of the magnificence of ancient Rome — — — — — xv. 613
- Particulars of his life — — — — — xxxii. 536
- Anecdotes relating to — — — — — xxxix. 554
- His real character not generally known — — — — — xxxix. 555
- His Laura, an elegy, translated — — — — — xli. 511
- Observations on his character — — — — — liii. 224
- His Laura described — — — — — liii. 226
- His retirement at Vaucluse described — — — — — liii. 227
- Reflections on his life, &c. — — — — — liii. 230
- Petrification* accounted for — — — — — v. 197
- Of sea shells, and other fossils, accounted for — — — — — xii. 269
- Account of some curious ones in the Emperor's cabinet at Vienna — — — — — xxxvi. 357
- P d s
- Petrification,*

Perrissieu , Voltaire's remarks on	—	xli. 555
Petroleum of Parma , memoirs of	—	l. 548
Petronius , his identity ascertained	—	xli. 552
— A fleshy writer	—	xli. 553
Pettingal, Dr. his account of the gale of August	—	xlix. 179
— His observations on an altar with a Greek inscription, found at Corbridge	—	xlix. 183
Petty, Sir William , mistaken with regard to the number of inhabitants within the bills of mortality	—	xiii. 428
Pewter and lead , Rey's essays concerning	—	lvii. 479
Pfaff, Secretary , some account of	—	xiv. 381
Phaeton , historical foundation of the fable of	—	xiv. 186
Phalaris , Mr. Whiston's opinion of the controversy about his epistles	—	i. 341
Pharisees , their true character	—	iv. 88
Pharmacoparias , danger of multiplying	—	xvi. 584
Phaulus , his surprising leap	—	i. 112
Phaenax of Bengal , described	—	iii. 358
Phaenax , account of a hen with the feathers of a cock	—	lxiv. 276
Phenicia , account of some antiquities relative to	—	xiv. 226
— Historical inquiries relative to	—	liii. 569
— Memoirs concerning	—	lviii. 534
— Theophrastus of	—	lviii. 541
Philadelphia , the institution of a prize medal in the college of	—	xxvi. 24
Philip of Macedon , his excellent education	—	xix. 75
— Prudent discipline of his troops	—	xix. 76
— His just sentence of an ungrateful guest	—	xix. 80
— His sarcastic reply to the complaint of two traitors	—	xix. 98
— His care of his son Alexander's education	—	xix. 100
— Compared with the present King of Prussia	—	xix. 105
— Summary of Philip's character	—	xix. 105
— How he was induced to reverse a wrong judgement	—	xix. 181
— His character compared with Henry IV. of France	—	xxxiv. 554
— His policy in acquiring the sovereignty of Greece	—	xxxv. 502
— His successive ruinous to his own family	—	xxxv. 505
— His error in attacking Melite	—	lxiii. 416
— His policy at the siege of Prithalus	—	lxiii. 423
Philip de Valois , sets up a round table in emulation of Edward III.	—	i. 261
Philip I. King of France , his bickerings with England	—	xliv. 567
Philip II. his contests with the King of England	—	xliv. 570
Philip the Prudent, King of Spain , history of	—	xxiv. 116
— His strict regard to justice	—	xxiv. 119
Philip II. of Spain , his character at large	—	xxxiv. 524
Philip the Hardy, and Philip the Handsome , their conduct as rivals to the King of England	—	xlv. 112
Philips's splendid Shilling and Cyder , transl. by the Abbé Yart	—	iii. 183
— Splendid Shilling , translated into Latin verse	—	v. 452
Philips, John , the poet, censured for his Jacobitism	—	xxvii. 227
Philips ,	—

Philips, John , his works elegantly printed	xxvi.	227
— His verses on the birth of the Prince of Wales	xxviii.	27
— His poetical character, poetically described	xlvi.	147
Philips, Mr. author of the life of Pole, his pathetic address to	xxxiii.	475
Philippine Islands , account of	lxv.	455
— Happy climate of	lxv.	455
Philippa, Queen , her oratorical address to King Edward, in favour of the burghers of Calais	lxi.	438
Philosophers , ancient, vindicated	ii.	75. 327
— Infidelity of the modern, censured	ii.	329
— Of France, censured	ii.	365
— Of France, study theory only	ii.	459
— Happiness of a community ruled by	iii.	12
— Apology for those whose sentiments do not coincide with Christianity	xxxi.	29
— Their zeal for truth, considered	xxxi.	506
— Ought not to interfere in theological subjects	xxxi.	523
— Contributed greatly to the destruction of the Jesuits	xxxii.	500
— Excellent preachers, but insufficient for the reformation of manners	xxxiv.	542
— Reproachfully represented	xxxv.	252
— Always promoters of peace	xxxv.	543
— Defined	xxxvi.	522
— Venerable character of, among the ancients	xxxvi.	567
— Dialogue with a Whig philosopher	xliv.	39
— Character of a real	xliv.	584
— Vindicated	xlvi.	532
— Of ancient Greece, their contempt for poetry	lxi.	512
— Modern, their usual pursuits, censured	lxvii.	254
Philosopher's stone , the absurdity of	xiii.	452
Philosophy , the union of natural	iv.	80
— State of, at the coming of the Messiah	iv.	89
— Of Aristotle spoiled	iv.	347
— Three Lemmas	v.	195
— Obstructions to the progress of, in France	vii.	177
— Two schemes compared	viii.	295
— Origin of, according to Lord Bolingbroke	x.	430
— Progress of, in useful arts	x.	432
— Superst. of some ancient philos. and legislat. accounted for	x.	433
— Uncertainty of	x.	441
— Bolingbroke's, erected on a general desolation	xi.	262
— Principles of Bolingbroke's philosophy	xi.	365
— Influence of philos. on the established religion of Greece	xiv.	318
— Use of, to commerce	xiv.	429
— St. Paul's caution against vain, explained	xv.	81
— Speculative, why now in disesteem	xx.	1
— The end of	xx.	285
— Experiments on several fluids in vacuo	xx.	372
— Influence of, on the polite arts	xxii.	107

Philosophy , the destroyer of the glory of heresies	xxii. 538
— No less in need of restriction than poetry	xxiii. 332
— Cause of the present dispute of	xxiii. 393
— Observations on the philosophy of the ancients	xxiv. 379
— The dignity of	xxiv. 381
— In what language only to be learned	xxvi. 268
— Principles and powers assumed by the present system	xxx. 345
— At a low ebb for want of settled principles	xxx. 363
— Utility of, controverted	xxxviii. 42
— State of, in the first ages of Christianity	xxxviii. 95
— Glorious restoration of, in the sixteenth century	xxxviii. 410
— Expostulation on the cruel treatment of animals in experimental	xxxviii. 580
— Notions of the ancients on a first intelligent cause	xxxix. 506
— Owes its origin to man's desire of happiness	xlvi. 20
— Eulogium on	xlvi. 384
— Schools and universities unfavourable to	xlvi. 384
— Visionary theories in	li. 519
— Conferences	lii. 591
— Necessity of its union with philology	lii. 570
— Inquiries into animal nature	liii. 259
— An apparatus for experimental	liii. 505
— Labours in, by a society of friends	liv. 319
— Abbé Sauri's course of natural	lvi. 220
— History of the opinions of all ages	lvii. 481
— The study of among the ancient Chinese	lviii. 535
— The alliance of, with religion	lix. 452
— Of the ancient Greeks	lx. 120
— Experiments in natural	lx. 442
— Investigations, how to be conducted	lxi. 559
— Experiments, by M. Margraaf	lxv. 512
Philaremus, Bishop , his Syriac version of the gospels	lxi. 36
Phipps, Capt. his voyage towards the north pole	lii. 123
Phlegon , his account of the great eclipse of the sun in the fourth year of the 202d olympiad, a proof of the miraculous darkness at Christ's crucifixion	xxxviii. 493
Phlogiston , definition and properties of	xliv. 569
— Nature of	lvii. 541
— Its resemblance to the electrical fluid	lvii. 543
— Affinities of, and source	lvii. 545
— Experiments and remarks on	lxvi. 99
— Account of	lxviii. 599, 579
Phocæus , ode to	xxix. 27
Phocion , discourses on the connection between politics and morals	xxx. 573
Phædra , various opinions relating to her speech in Hippolytus	xxvi. 405
Phœnician , their cosmography	xlivii. 533
— Mignot's memoir relating to the	liii. 560
Phœnicopterus , an uncommon bird, a description of it	xlvi. 20, 21
Phœnix

Phœnix of friendship, who to be accounted such	ii.	437
Phosphorus, method of making it of urine	xi.	305
— Its medical virtues	xxix.	531
— That will imbibe and emit light like the Bolognian stone, method of making	xlii.	422
— Experiments and observations relating to	xlii.	423
— Experiments with	xlvi.	426
— Experiments relating to	liv.	415
— Experiments on Mr. Canton's phosphorus	liv.	428
— New and curious discoveries relating to	lxiii.	508
— Made from bones instead of urine	lxiii.	509
— Experiments relative to	lxiv.	466
Physiology, study of, explained	xxxvii.	514
Physical beings, the criterion of their existence	xxx.	538
— Their essence	xxx.	538
— Palpable and material	xxx.	538
— Their energy or action	xxx.	542
Physical utilities, memoirs concerning	lxv.	517
Physicians, their treatment of Dr. Schomburg	iv.	45
— Ancient, wherein they widely differ from the moderns	ix.	463
— Ancient, advantages accruing from studying them	xiii.	360
— Ancient, remarkable for their integrity	xvii.	92
— Concealed no nostrums	xvii.	92
— A contest between at Bath	xvii.	569
— Necessary qualifications of	xix.	171
— Dialogue between two	xx.	456
— A saying of Rhabdus concerning	xxxi.	551
— Consultation of, humourously exposed	xxxiv.	468
— Curious consultation of four	xxxv.	113
— Compared to blind men	xxxvii.	451
— Moral qualities requisite in their character	xli.	403
— Vindicated from the charge of irreligion	xli.	405
— Chiefly abound in great cities, and why	xliv.	530
— The servants of nature, &c.	liv.	422
Physicians, college of, its ancient and modern constitution, compared	viii.	199, 502
— Disputes subsisting between the fellows and licentiates	viii.	503
— Absurdity of their receiving none into their fellowship but graduates of those universities in which physic is not taught	xxxix.	140
Physico-historical Society, its uses	xvii.	506
Physics, inquiries into the Mundane system	lxv.	485, 496
Physognomy, not a false science	xviii.	584
— Humorous system of	xxx.	482
— Principles of, proposed for investigation	lii.	190
— Literary contest relating to this subject	lii.	573, 584
— Scientifically treated	liv.	317
— Formey's attack on Lavater's system	lviii.	524
— Considered as a science	lxvi.	482, 497
— Curious theory of the art of	lxviii.	615

Physiology , study of, illustrated	—	lxx. 141
— The art recommended to portrait painters	—	lxx. 143
— The subject farther considered, in reference to painting	lxx.	539
Picantes , origin of that people	—	lviii. 482
Pickersgill , Lieut. his account of the tract of the brig Lion , from England to Davies's Streights , &c.	—	lxii. 52
— His accidental death	—	lxii. 52
Piñs , their origin investigated	—	xxxviii. 307
Piñs walk , account of	—	x. 199
— Lamentation on the demolition of it	—	xxiii. 126
Pictures , a means to promote conversation	—	v. 521
— Historical, two fine subjects for, recommended	—	xlvi. 126
— Sketches of the designs	—	xlvi. 126
— Account of ancient	—	lxx. 352
Picture-writing , as practised by the North American Indians, observations on	—	lxx. 350
Pierce , Mr. his typtic medicines, how opposed by the surgeons	—	xxxvii. 396
— Experiment of their efficacy	—	xxxvii. 397
— Cures performed by	—	xxxvii. 397
Piercy , a principal adviser and director of the powder plot	xii.	209
Pierre , Abbé de St. his creed	—	xlvi. 529
Pietists , devout libellers	—	xxix. 74
Pietra San , his history	—	xxxviii. 561
— Kills his wife from principles of false heroism	—	xxxviii. 562
Pigeon , curious manner in which the cock assists the hen in forming her nest	—	xxxiv. 267
— Catalogue of the sorts	—	li. 66
— The plenty of, in North America	—	lxvii. 142
Pigot , Lord , his conduct with regard to the Nabob of Arcot , &c. defended	—	lviii. 12, 22
— His late conduct in the East Indies arraigned	—	lix. 36
Pigs , profits arising from	—	xii. 71
— The sale of them not fairly calculated	—	xii. 71
Pike , Rev. Mr. ejected by his congregation	—	xxx. 427
Pike-men , a re-establishment of them in the army recommended	—	xxi. 328
Pilate , Pontius , his singular attestation to the innocence of Christ	—	xxxvii. 421
Pilchard fishery , account of	—	v. 278
Pile-driver , theory of that machine	—	lxii. 383
Pilgrimage to Rome , what the consequences of	—	xv. 582
Pilkington's letter to Spearman	—	xxii. 555
Pilkington , John Carteret , his hereditary claim to the being a poet	—	xxiv. 12
— A more laudable and sure method of subsistence hinted to him	—	xxiv. 12
Pilkington , Mrs. her last sickness and death	—	xi. 409
— Charitable reflections on her frailties	—	xi. 411
Pillar of Poros , described	—	lxiv. 112
Pilot ,

Pilot , Phœnician, remarkable behaviour of one in a voyage to Britain	xxix.	509
Pindar , iron chair of	i.	38
— Objections to his odes answered	i.	41
— Censured and approved by Longinus	i.	44
— His beauties suffer by a translation	i.	44
— Extracts from his 1st, 2d, and 14th Olympic odes	i.	118
— His odes among the Greeks recited with music and dancing	xvii.	239
— His English imitators, why unsuccessful	xvii.	239
— His animated style	xxvii.	249
— Critical observations on his odes	xxx.	126
— A writer more generally esteemed than known	xxxix.	525
— Remarks on his poems, and on his critics	xxxix.	525
— Advantages derived to the former from the music which accompanied them	xxxix.	526
— Schneider's essay on the life and writings of	lii.	444
— His 8th Olympic ode, translated	lii.	155
Pine-apples , method of raising in water	lviii.	463
Pine-trees , &c. directions for planting	xlvi.	15
Pinguins , Account of the different species	xlii.	192
Pink , Indian, medicinal virtues of	xlvi.	97
Pinna Muricata , her method of defence against the cuttle fish	xxxiv.	269
Pins , case of three swallowed by a girl, and discharged at her shoulder	xlii.	211
Pinto's two letters on the American controversy	liv.	486
Pipa of Surinam , account of	xxxi.	530
Piquet , game of, the subject of a theatrical interlude	xxxvii.	107
— Political, emblems of, explained	xxxvii.	108
Pirates , seem to abdicate all rights and claims founded on the social laws of nature	xlii.	167
Pirronism of history , Voltaire's remarks on	xli.	552
Pisa , submits to the Florentines	xli.	206
— Description of a whimsical diversion at	xv.	462
— Account of the leaning tower	xxviii.	216
— Some account of the city	xxxiv.	426
Pissapahan , of the most perfect quality, found in Dalmatia	lix.	43
Pitch , the manner of making it in New England	xiv.	422
Pitt, Christopher , an harmonious versifier	xiv.	536
— Some poems of his published without his name, commended	xv.	532
Pitt, William , scheme for an union between him and Lord Bute	xxvii.	312
— Account of his resignation	xxviii.	366
— Compared to Scipio Africanus	xxix.	312
— Sharp invectives against him	xxxvi.	129
— His character and political conduct, by Wilkes	xli.	375
— His oratorical abilities contemned	xli.	376

Pitt, William , character of, by the Earl of Chesterfield	lvi. 293
— Algarotti's account of	lxviii. 18
— Bishop Newton's account of	lxviii. 148
— His birth and family	lxviii. 310
— Panegyric on his eloquence	lxviii. 313
— Sacrifices his popular principles to the prejudices of his sovereign	lxix. 475
Pity , the signs of	xxvi. 201
Pizarro , his conquest of Peru investigated	lvii. 138
Places and preforments , all of them necessary for the prosperity of the body politic	xvii. 179
Placemen , motion for a tax on	xxviii. 417
— Ought not to be hirelings	xxxiv. 305
— and pensioners , ill effects of their sitting in parliament	li. 345, 349
Plagiarist , who is not to be accounted one	ii. 434
Plagiarism , its nature truly stated	iv. 100
— An indictment against	xv. 621
— Evidence in support of the indictment	xv. 622
— of a modern poet, detected	xxvii. 429
Plague , smoking tobacco recommended against it	ii. 383
— Observations on the cure of	v. 507
— of Athens, described	viii. 183
— Imprudent to think it not importable	xii. 130
— Strong objections to the inoculation of it	xiii. 77
— The causes of, pointed out by a just inference	xiii. 67
— Ridiculous hypothesis of, and absurd regimen in it	xxi. 292
— Account of the late, at Aleppo	xxxix. 212
— Instances of persons escaping the infection	xxxi. 213, 214
— at Constantinople, Dr. Mackenzie's account of	xxxiii. 448
— at Smyrna, account of	liv. 174
— Memoire sur la	lix. 297
— Observations on, in England	lxx. 264
Planets , their light borrowed from the sun	iii. 221
— Planetary system, not eternal	iv. 382
— A projectile force and gravitation, not alone sufficient to explain the phenomena of their motions	ix. 203
— Jupiter and Saturn have stronger attractive powers than the earth	xv. 237
— Places, how found by Ward's hypothesis of	xvii. 344
— Their various properties dependent on mechanical causes	xxi. 511
— Observations on the irregularity of their motions	xxvii. 422
— New theory of	lii. 614
— Rotation round their axis	lxvi. 374
— Observations on Herschel's new planet	lxviii. 630
— Reasons for naming it the Georgium Sidus	lxx. 258
Planetarium , description of a wonderful one made by an untaught mechanic	lxv. 150
— How fructified	iv. 55, 291—vi. 375

Plants , a new species of, described	iv.	119
— How preserved for a hortus ficus	iv.	282
— Catalogue of	v.	321
— The arrangement of	vii.	438
— Their distinguishing characters	vii.	439
— Their external forms indicate their virtues	xi.	415
— Knowledge of, a useful acquisition	xi.	412
— Method of discovering the virtues of such as have not yet been tried	xi.	414
— Poisonous, characterised even to the eye	xi.	414
— An enquiry into the nocturnal contraction of	xvii.	331
— Their nourishment, what	xviii.	2
— Experiments on the vessels of	xix.	634
— Propagated by sexual generation	xxvi.	147
— Method of obtaining exact drawings of, from dried specimens	xx.	369
— Their vascular parts	xxi.	489
— Presented to the Royal Society from the physic-garden at Chelsea, the number of 2000 completed	xxix.	140
— Food of, how supplied	xxxii.	324
— Their vegetable structure, &c.	xxxvii.	130
— How distinguished from minerals	xxxvii.	130
— Their generation	xxxvii.	132
— Family libenesses	xxxvii.	165
— Of the elements by which they are nourished	xxxvii.	185
— Dr. Hill's divisions and subdivisions of the vegetable kingdom	xxxvii.	188
— The food of, particularly considered	xl.	473
— Sexual system of	xlvi.	308
— Medicinal ones, suited to the diseases of those countries wherein they are naturally produced	xlvi.	246
— Plan of an history of British plants	xlvi.	246
— Experiments on the external motions of plants, and their deviations from a perpendicular direction, as produced by the different temperament of the air	xlvi.	522
— Elementary nourishment of	xlvi.	256
— On the sexual system of	xlvi.	272
— Plant-animals, or animal plants, remarks on	xlvi.	549
— History of, in French Guiana	lii.	256
— In the environs of Paris	lv.	387
— Experiments on, relative to the properties of the air	lxi.	165
— Hot-houses, method of guarding them against insects	lxii.	356
— Account of some rare	lxix.	250, 538
Planting timber trees, remarks on	xxvi.	420
Plasby , battle of, described	lix.	432
Platina , near as ponderous as gold	xlii.	423
— Acted upon only by aqua regia	xlii.	424
— Resists lead, bismuth, and antimony	xlii.	424
— Curious account of	li.	524
— Chemical experiments on	li.	525
		Platine,

Platina , interesting experiment on	lvii.	562
— What	lix.	544
— Chemical experiments relative to	lxviii.	169
— Manner of dissolving by the nitrous acid	lxviii.	628
Platina , some account of his works	lx.	565
Plato , his absurd tenets	iv.	89
— and Aristotle, bad guides in divinity	xv.	80
— Some account of his life	xxiii.	346
— His reflections on the government at Athens	xxiii.	347
— Defence of his Republic	xxiii.	351
— Character of the speakers in the Banquet of	xxvi.	196
— His Republic characterised.	xxx.	337
— The Moses of Attica	xxx.	555
— Qualifies the philosophy of Socrates, and adapts it to his own system	xxxix.	508
— Gives us a finer picture of his master than Xenophon has done, but not so true a resemblance	xxxix.	516
— His poetical and political fables	xxxix.	516
— True design of his Cratylus	xxxix.	517
— His book of laws, a more solid performance than his Republic, &c.	xli.	541
— His fame virulently attacked	xlx.	438
— On the style of his dialogues	liv.	505
— His philosophy	lx.	122
— An excellent French translation of his Io	lxi.	528
Platonists , a sect of christian philosophers so called, account of	xxxiii.	330
Platonism refuted , a poetical tale	xl.	304
Plautus , his comedies characterised	xxxvi.	177
— New scenes added to the Aulularia	xxxvi.	178
— Reflections on a passage in	xliv.	586
— A scene in his comedy of the Apparition, translated	xlvi.	250
— Passages in his comedies criticised	li.	1
— Notes on various passages in his plays	xlvi.	259
Playfair, Rev. Mr. his remarks on the arithmetic of impossible quantities	lx.	448
Plays acted in churches	xvi.	502
— See Stages .
Pleasure , licentious, its destructive tendency	li.	144
— Description of a party of, conducted with spleen and obstinacy	viii.	275
— and infidelity, said to generate each other reciprocally	xii.	385
— and delight, distinguished	xv.	474
— Its various stages regularly fixed	xvii.	337
— Ode to	xxiv.	162
— A display of the general taste for it	xxv.	62
— Reflections concerning	xxv.	344
— Excess in, not determinable from any fixed point	xxv.	345
— and pain, origin of our sense of	xxvi.	505
		Pleasure

Pleasure and vice, the ideas of, mingled only in the heads of fools

- and morality, not inconsistent with each other xxx. 65
- Poetically and allegorically delineated — xxx. 230
- Defended — — — xxxii. 21
- The same, with happiness — — — xxxii. 21
- Amiable picture of — — — xxxii. 23
- Distinguished from vice — — — xxxii. 24
- Spirited declamation against the immoderate love of xxxix. 477
- Compared with pain, in respect of duration and intensity xlv. 547
- The inordinate love of, in what respects inconsistent with religion — — — xlvii. 233
- Cautions against the seductions of — — — l. 263, 265
- A reasonable indulgence of pleasures recommended — — — l. 368
- Philosophically investigated — — — lviii. 406
- Plaiades*, on the position of the sixty-four stars of lxxviii. 630
- Plaisiur, Capt.* his voyages on discovery to the N. E. of Russia lxxiii. 3
- Plenum*, objections against motions in it, answered viii. 301
- Pleasure*, abuse of that figure — — — xv. 130
- Mr. Pope a great enemy to it — — — xv. 130
- Critical definition and remarks on — — — li. 513
- Notable instances of, in various languages — — — li. 513
- Pleurisy*, in Minorca, how treated — — — v. 222
- Pleurisy*, not the sole indication for bleeding viii. 374
- Its cause assigned — — — xxv. 221
- Method of treating — — — xxxv. 308
- Case of, and cure — — — xxxviii. 356, 543
- Dissertation on the — — — xlii. 543
- Pliny*, his character and accomplishments — — — iv. 482
- How his letters ought to be ranged — — — iv. 485
- His villa in Tuscany, described — — — iv. 486
- Mistaken with respect to the entrance of the Nile into the first pyramid — — — xv. 262
- His testimony with regard to the first christians xxxiv. 32
- Account of a people who cover their bodies with their ears xliii. 560
- His great addition to botanical knowledge xlv. 260
- Some account of his writings — — — xlv. 580
- A mistake of his, in judging of the excellencies of a statue xlviii. 454
- Obs. relating to the precise spot where he perished — — — l. 410
- Remarks on his account of the temple of Diana at Ephesus lxx. 263
- Ploughs*, described — — — xviii. 13
- New invented ones — — — xxxii. 42, 45, 404
- The utility of the several kinds of, discussed xvi. 124
- Made use of for exercise to an infant — — — lxvi. 404
- See Husbandry.

Pluralities,

Pluralities. See Clergy.

Plutarch his apothegms praised	—	xliv.	141
— His character as a philosopher	—	xliv.	2
— His amiable benevolence	—	xliv.	4
— Observations on the biography of, by M. Weguelin	—	lxviii.	162
Pluto , described in the character of an undertaker	—	xxxviii.	143
Pneumatology , study of, defined and explained	—	xxxvii.	514
Pockeridge Mrs. her unhappy fate	—	xxxii.	304
Pocket books , useful in case of accidents by fire	—	ii.	80
Pockrich, Mr. history of	—	xxiv.	14
— His extraordinary musical talents	—	xxiv.	14
— Description of his tea equipage	—	xxiv.	16
— His arguments in favour of abstemiousness	—	xxiv.	16
— The projector of transfusing blood for renewing youth	—	xxiv.	17
— His tragical death	—	xxiv.	18
Poet, Dr. his description of the stone of the fountains	—	viii.	416
Pædobaptists , their doctrine, a gross superstition	—	iv.	109
Pozsum , ruins of, how discovered	—	xxxvii.	337
— Curious monuments of antiquity there	—	xxxvii.	338
— Some account of that city	—	xxxix.	132
— Ruins of, by whom first discovered	—	xxxix.	134
— Remains of, now visible	—	xxxix.	134
Pot, made by nature , not by art	—	ii.	14
— English, compared with the ancient	—	iv.	222
— M'fery of a garretier	—	iv.	332
— Most eminent have given very easy indications of their abilities	—	xi.	482
— The political duty of a poet	—	xxii.	126
— His happy exemption from taxes	—	xxv.	453
— Two other employments recommended to quarrelsome poets	—	xxvi.	232
— Effect from the bite of a mad poet	—	xxvi.	316
— One good, the cause of many bad	—	xxiv.	356
— Their elysium poetically described	—	xxxiv.	120
— Considered as preachers	—	xxxiv.	539
— Inutility of their preaching	—	xxxiv.	540
— Their genius unfit for matters of civil policy	—	xl.	354
— Poetical view of English	—	xliv.	47
— Blind veneration of the ancients, censured	—	xliv.	124
— Eastern, not destitute of taste	—	xliv.	420
— An account of metaphysical poets	—	lxi.	2
— Advice to a young poet	—	lxi.	460
Post Laureat , origin and history of that office	—	lix.	212
Pottery , mock heroic, what	—	v.	117
— Poetical impertinence, or advice unasked	—	vi.	238
— Declined after the times of Milton and Pope beginning to re-vive	—	vii.	132
— The first offspring of genius	—	vii.	120
— The effect of, on the mind	—	vii.	374
— The nature of didactic	—	viii.	162

Pottery,

Poetry, The style of didactic should be elevated and enlivened

— The genius and beauties of Hebrew	viii.	163
— Style of the Hebrew, sententious, figurative and sublime	viii.	401
— Defence of Italian, against Voltaire	viii.	462
— The measure to be observed in dramatic	ix.	308
— Blank verse freed from a proper final word	xii.	364
— Blank verse and rhyming, compared	xiii.	96
— Why ill-sounding, may sometimes please	xiii.	98
— Poetical expression, what	xiv.	92
— True taste, destroyed by rhyme	xiv.	95
— Excellency of the English blank verse	xiv.	96
— Heroic-comic unknown to the ancients and by whom introduced into Italy, France and England, with specimens	xv.	64
— Epic, the first in France	xv.	72
— Origin of Alexandrine verse	xv.	72
— Laws of didactic	xvi.	329
— The earliest and most appropriated subjects of	xvi.	402
— A portrait of poetic rage	xvii.	373
— To Lysander and Belinda	xxii.	322
— On youth	xxii.	344
— The uses of	xxiv.	341
— Poetical eulogies on poetical works, censured	xxiv.	409
— Labour in composition disgusting	xxv.	328
— The merits of blank and metrical verse	xxvi.	283
— The beauty of varied pauses in	xxvi.	284
— Extracts from Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden and Pope	xxvi.	286
— Remarks on comparative imagery	xxvi.	291
— Three queries relative to imagery	xxvi.	298
— Versification and rhyme, considered	xxvii.	323
— To be found among the antiquities of all nations	xxviii.	145
— How far more ancient than prose	xxviii.	145
— Barbarous times favourable to poetic spirit	xxviii.	146
— Disadvantages of, on account of modern refinement	xxviii.	147
— Accuracy, inconsistent with sublimity	xxviii.	147
— Imagery and description considered	xxviii.	149
— Ancient, more pleasing than modern	xxviii.	149
— Observations on Spanish poetry	xxviii.	233
— Observations on Turkish poetry	xxviii.	466
— Observations on French poetry	xxviii.	564
— Verse was used before prose, and that opinion controverted	xxix.	10
— Ancient laws, maxims, proverbs, &c. written in	xxix.	11
— Oracles delivered in	xxix.	11
— How improved in process of time	xxix.	84
— Satirical verses on	xxix.	469
— Delights of, enthusiastic	xxx.	31
— Specimen of Welsh	xxxi.	23
— Reflections on	xxxvi.	530
— Observations on lyric, and its analogy with music	xxxix.	525

Poetry, The three great original objects of	xl.	117
— Imitation considered	xl.	119
— To a lady, with a new-year's gift	xl.	309
— Its correspondence with music	xli.	321
— Tends to corrupt and debase the spirits of men	xlii.	35
— Exceptionable in a political view	xlii.	151
— Boileau's art of, the best extant	xliv.	558
— Rise and progress of Provençal	xlv.	567
— Specimens of Miss Aikins	xlviii.	55
— Specimens of ancient English	li.	49
— To a lady, by Mr. Richardson	li.	95
— Connection of, with music	li.	306
— Union of, with music in France	li.	384
— From Shakespeare to his mistress	li.	482
— Critical remarks on English	liii.	204
— Observations on the marvellous in epic	liii.	543
— History of French	lv.	192
— Translation of some Welsh poetry	lv.	452
— Ancient, destitute of all relation to science	lv.	500
— Advantages from an acquaintance with natural history	lvi.	340
— Exhibition of real nature, the great end of	lvii.	34
— Strictures on Maçon's style	lviii.	140
— Fragments of Greek and Roman	lviii.	239
— Of the ancient Greeks characterized	lx.	123
— Of the Hebrews characterized	lx.	132
— Sacred, why generally unsuccessful	lxi.	8
— Influence of science on	lxi.	509
— The repository of wisdom and philosophy among the Greeks	lxi.	509
— The ancient means of recording history	lxi.	523
— Relating to some graces lately passed at Cambridge	lxv.	314
— For the vase at Bath Easton	lxv.	315
— On castles in the air	lxv.	384
— Alluding to lady Augusta Campbell	lxv.	388
— In compliment to the late Lord Chesterfield	lxv.	410
— Descriptive of a library	lxv.	423
— Alluding to the destruction of the world	lxv.	468
— From The Brothers, an eclogue	lxv.	469
— From the Gentle Shepherd	lxv.	470
— The natural propensity of mankind to	lxvi.	32
— State of, in the reign of Elizabeth	lxvi.	162
— Origin of, poetically detailed	lxvii.	350
— Translation of some Welsh	lxviii.	271
— Theory of versification	lxix.	40
— The rise of pastoral	lxx.	178
— Influence of, on the sciences	lxx.	504
Poëmon-water, account of	xlxi.	201
Poëmon, John de, Count de St. Valier, instance of the effects of fear	x.	465
— and other violent passions, upon him	Poëmon,

Poison , of lamas and ticunas its great virulence	ix.	44
— An effectual antidote against it	ix.	45
— The strong effects of its effluvia	ix.	46
— Effects of this poison on various animals	ix.	47
— Of the sturgrass, and its remedy	xii.	458
— Used by the Indians of Guiana for arrows	xl.	280
— Observations on the poison of lead	lii. 163—lxiv.	536
— Account of a poisonous fish	lviii.	3
— Remedies against arsenic and other poisons	lviii.	503
— Treatise on poisoned arrows	lxix.	71
— Account of	lxx.	586
— Of the viper	lxx.	587
— Of the ticunas.	lxx.	592
— Of the lauro-cerasus	lxx.	592
Poisson, M. le , his philosophical travels	xli.	258
Poland , great defects of the constitution both in church and state	iii.	270
— Slavish condition of the common people	iii.	282
— Its connections	xvi.	86
— Origin of the Poles	xxvi.	161
— Frequent odd ways of disposing of the crown of Poland	xxvi.	162
— Origin of the republican power in	xxvi.	163
— Awful appearance of the diet	xxvi.	164
— Instance of the ostentation of the nobles	xxvi.	171
— History of, in the modern universal history	xxvii.	410
— Nature of the government of	xxvii.	411
— Senate and diet	xxvii.	412
— The wretched state of common people in	xxx.	515
— More oppressed than the plebeians of Rome	xxx.	515
— Absurd laws respecting murder	xxx.	516
— Government of, its energy and power weakened by the Romish religion	xxxvii.	312
— Dissidents there, how oppressed	xxxvii.	313
— Voltaire's address to the Popish confederates	xxxix.	574
— Present miserable state of that country	xlvi.	36, 447
— The pretended claims and rights of Austria and Russia to her territories, exploded	xlvi.	234
— Her cause become the cause of all Europe	xlvi.	235
— History of the troubles of	lii.	342
— Remarks on the causes of the various revolutions in the government of that country	lviii.	344
— Advantageous character of the Polonian brethren	lxiii.	177
Pole, cardinal , his good character	xxxi.	131
— His family, birth, &c.	xxxi.	131
— Is elected to the papacy, but is thrown out again	xxxi.	142
— Ambiguity of his character	xxxii.	145
— His character viewed in different lights by the English and by the Italians	xxxiii.	474

Pole, Cardinal , Summary review of his character	xxxiv. 313
Police , a new kind of, established at London	xvi. 443
Policy, civil , original sources of, exploded	li. 382
Polignac, Cardinal , the reason why he first undertook to refute Lucretius	xvii. 44
— Specimens of Mr. Canning's translation of his Anti-Lucretius	xxxvi. 190
— Encomiums on	lvi. 556
Polished planes , curious remarks on the reflection of light from	xxiii. 387
Politics , what	vi. 444
— An imitation of esteem	vi. 445
— The natural result of a good temper	xix. 392
— Why shocking in an ill-natured person	xix. 392
— Different modes of, in different places	xx. 526
Politics reflections on politics	ii. 440
— Fundamentals in their nature	iii. 38
— Writers, who so called	xvii. 289
— Their necessary qualifications	xvii. 292
— Polity, not yet reduced to a system	xxii. 540
— More quacks in politics than in medicine	xxii. 540
— Absurdity of preferring the governments of barbarous nations to those of the more civilized	xxii. 541
— Its connection with morals	xxx. 573
— Free enquiry in political matters asserted	xxxii. 307
— Freedom of speech and writing on public affairs, considered	xxxiv. 392
— General observations on	l. 109
— Free thoughts on political subjects	liv. 397
Political arithmetic , question in	xlvi. 673
Polluxsen, M. his speech on King James's abdication	xxviii. 413
Polly , the second part of the Beggar's opera, disputes occasioned by it	xvii. 595
Polybius , where born	xiv. 335
— Sent ambassador to Egypt	xiv. 335
— General of the Achean horse	xiv. 335
— Sent with others prisoners to Rome	xiv. 336
— His friendship, and instructions in the art of war, courted by Scipio	xiv. 336
— Procures the release of his surviving countrymen	xiv. 337
— Sent by the Romans to make discoveries in the Atlantic ocean, and to regulate affairs there	xiv. 337
— Account of his writings	xiv. 337
— Various translations of his general history	xiv. 338
— Observations on his style	xl. 339
— Some knowledge of military affairs necessary for understanding the writings of	xiv. 341
— Chevalier Folard's commentary on	xiv. 341
— His remarks on the corruption of government	xxx. 269

Polycorp

Polycarp , remark on his martyrdom	—	xxx. 243
— Translates the Greek testament into Syriac	—	lxi. 430
Polygamy , does not contribute to the increase of a people	—	xv. 280
— Debate on	—	xxxviii. 194
— Admissible some times	—	xxviii. 504
— Necessary to population	—	xxxviii. 504
— Advantages and disadvantages of	—	xlvi. 531
— Story relative to	—	lx. 388
— Not only lawful in a religious, but advantageous in a civil light, and highly politic in a domestic view	—	lxiii. 276
— This doctrine controverted	—	lxiii. 279, 287, 321
— Preceding writers in defence of polygamy	—	lxiii. 323
— Madan's hypothesis refused	—	lxiii. 326, 338
— The blessings of, displayed	—	lxv. 293
— Contrary both to civil policy and christian virtue	—	lxix. 489
Polyptych , medical virtues, and time for gathering it	—	xl. 169
Polyptus , dissertation on the fresh water	—	ii. 323
— Thoughts concerning its origin	—	iv. 61
— Explanation of	—	vi. 384
— Analogy between it and a willow	—	vi. 385
— In the nose, how formed	—	xxxi. 546
— Account of the bronchial	—	xxxix. 40
Polytheism , and idolatry, whence	—	x. 431
— The compatibility of polytheism with theism	—	x. 434
— Said to be the first and most ancient religion of mankind	—	xvi. 123
— Pomp and splendor of false religion, its support	—	ii. 163
Pompadour, Mad. her character	—	xxxv. 266
— Her description of Lewis XV.	—	xxxv. 267
Pompeii , antiquities discovered among the ruins of	—	lxvii. 449
Pompey , his magnificent theatre, described	—	xxx. 186
— His pillar at Alexandria, mensuration of	—	xl. 98
— Not so ancient as Pompey's time	—	xl. 99
— Supposed to have been erected by Vespasian	—	xl. 100
— Examination of his character	—	xliv. 7
— Rise and progress of his contest with Cæsar	—	xliv. 171
— His character	—	xliv. 174
— His oratorical talents	—	xliv. 176
Pondicherry , an healthy settlement	—	xxxix. 346
Pontacch , the Indian king, some account of	—	xxxiv. 19
Paul, Michael de la , impeached	—	xxxvi. 5
Paul, Jonas , his voyage to the northward, on discovery, &c.	—	lii. 122
Peer , employment of, recommended	—	iv. 389
— Considerations, on the maintenance of the	—	v. 456
— Bad consequences of the laws	—	vi. 97
— How to be amended	—	vi. 98
— At Naples	—	vii. 148
— At Genoa	—	vii. 149
— At London	—	vii. 149
— Proposals for the improvement of workhouses	—	xviii. 618—xix. 91
— System for employing the poor	—	xix. 500

Poor , observations on the poor laws	—	xix.	599
— Built upon false principles	—	xxi.	574
— Proposal for county work-houses	—	xxii.	434
— Laws, considered	—	xxx.	289
— A superintendant proposed to be added to the overseers	—	xxx.	290
— General causes of their increase	—	xxxii.	387
— Genteel poor	—	xxxii.	388
— Regulations of proposed laws relating to	—	xxxvi.	421
— Plan of a society for the benefit of the industrious	—	xl.	316
— Structures on the poor's rates	—	xl.	474
— Hints for the improvement of work-houses	—	xlvi.	504
— Holy-days, pernicious to the poor	—	xli.	657
— Defects in our laws relating to settlements in work-houses	—	xlvi.	21
— Great defects of the laws	—	lii.	315
Poor man's prayer	—	lx.	461
Poor Knights of Windsor , their history	—	i.	255
Poor in spirit , meaning of, explained	—	lxvii.	451
Pope , Mr. a money-lender; his prosecution of Sir Alexander Leith	—	lx.	393
Bart. and nonsuit	—	lx.	393
Pope , Rev. Mr. his description of the tower of Dornadilla	—	lxii.	271
Pope , Alex. his conduct with regard to a MS. of Lord Bolingbroke's	—	i.	52
— Justified	—	v.	248
— His Messiah, translated into Latin verse	—	v.	452
— The life of, by Dr. Birch	—	vii.	275
— An instance of his esteem for Mr. Thomson	—	ix.	496
— His lame apology to Mr. Hill	—	x.	24
— A passage in his ethic epistles similar to Lord Bolingbroke's notions	—	x.	345
— His table-economy	—	xi.	69
— Connections with Lord Bolingbroke	—	xiii.	124
— Ridiculed by that nobleman	—	xiii.	125
— His essay on man, censured by M. de Croufaz	—	xiii.	125
— Defended by Lord Bolingbroke	—	xiii.	125
— Consults Mr. Warburton concerning Lord Bolingbroke's letters on the study and use of history	—	xiii.	126
— His memory traduced on account of the patriot King	—	xiii.	127
— His pastorals, not destitute of new rural images	—	xiv.	537
— Censured for a mixture of Grecian and British ideas	—	xiv.	537
— Has improved upon Theocritus and Virgil	—	xiv.	541
— His ode to St. Cecilia, inferior to Dryden's Alexander's feast	—	xiv.	547
— Said to have planned an epic poem	—	xv.	71
— Reasons for believing him unequal to the task	—	xv.	71
— Instances of the mutual friendship between him and Gay	—	xvii.	581
— The occasion of his first dissent with Cibber	—	xvii.	586
— His lines on government, controverted	—	xxiv.	206
— Epistle from Eloisa to Abelard, criticized	—	xxvii.	20
— His edition of Shakespeare, characterized	—	xxxiii.	385

P O P

421

Pope, Alex. twice in danger of being drowned	xxxv. 133
— Lady M. W. Montague's satire on	xxxvii. 46
— His life	xl. 289
— His misunderstanding with Addison	xl. 295
— His death	xl. 301
— Observations on his writings	xl. 399. 417
— Voltaire's encomium on	xl. 417
— His intended epic poem on Britain	xl. 418
— Plan of the poem	xl. 418
— Original letters of his, supposed to Mrs. M. Blount	xli. 62
— His trait of Mrs. Howard	xli. 64
— His private character attacked by Churchill	xli. 377
— Said not to have understood his own reasoning, in the essay of man	xli. 379
— Forms the plan of an history of English poetry	l. 290
— Improved and extended by Mr. Gray	l. 291
— Mr. Waron's work on a different plan	l. 291
— Remarkable pleonasm in his writings	li. 514
— His translation of Homer, censured	liii. 372
— Compared with Dryden	lvii. 31
— His quarrel with Mr. Addison, discussed	lix. 261
— His maxim with respect to forms of government, exploded	lxiv. 17
— Historical remarks relative to his translation of Homer	lxv. 354
— His original poems appreciated	lxv. 360
— His poetical qualifications, candidly discriminated	lxvi. 270
— His poetical reputation injured by his moral virtues	lxvii. 438
— His character vindicated	lxvii. 439
— His character as a didactic poet	lxx. 181
Popes of Rome , their downfall foretold	i. 352
— The opposition of parliament to papal power	viii. 68
— Have enacted laws useful to Christendom, where their own interest was not concerned	xii. 446
— Temporal power, revenues, military forces, &c.	xv. 616, 619
— Prerogative over angels	xv. 616
— Animosities among the Cardinals at the election of a pope	xv. 620
— Papal authority long resisted by the Spaniards	xxiv. 100
— When they began to arrogate imperial authority	xxiv. 367
— Declaration of their claims	xxiv. 369
— Why opposition to them was ineffectual	xxiv. 371
— When their authority began to decay	xxiv. 372
— Description of	xxvi. 460
— Absurd veneration formerly paid to	xxxviii. 46
— Remarks on their temporal power	xxxix. 2
— Benedict XIV. proposes the abolition of holy-days in Italy	xxxix. 52
— Possesse , or grand cavalcade of the pope, described	xli. 418
Papery , errors and corruptions in pointed out	viii. 285

- ✓ Popery, its obvious design to enslave the people to the priests viii. 286
- The doctrines of, fraudulent and dangerous xi. 430
- The genius and spirit of that superstition — xii. 214
- An abuse of the understanding of mankind, and a violation of their rights — xxxii. 139
- Exhibited in a striking light — xxxiii. 475
- Vindicated on the principle of church authority xxxv. 303
- A good religion for keeping down the prices of provisions xxxvii. 72
- Schemes to prevent the increase of popery xxxvii. 398
- Its malignant influence on society — xxxix. 226
- Penal laws against, defended — xxxix. 228
- Grand objection to the toleration of — xxxix. 258
- Why not intitled to the same toleration as other dissenters from the established church — xxxix. 261
- Less malignant in Ireland now, than in former times lx. 19
- Tracts relative to toleration of popery in England, &c. lx. 243
- Principles of, appreciated — lxii. 67
- Preferred to methodism — lxiv. 102
- Greatly on the decline in England lxiv. 403, 408
- Bishop Newton's idea of — lxviii. 235
- See Catholics, Roman Catholics.
- Poppy white*, culture of, in the East Indies — lv. 255
- Popularity*, not to be borne by little minds — xviii. 354
- Suddenly acquired by authors, renders the merit of the work justly suspicious — xviii. 355
- Population*, of ancient and modern times, compared vi. 81
- Sir W. Petty, mistaken in the population of London xiii. 428
- Causes conducive thereunto — xix. 180, 294
- Of nations, thoughts on — xxx. 466
- Of Africa, in particular — xxx. 466
- Causes of depopulation — xxxiii. 47
- How far affected by agriculture — xxxvi. 170
- Decrease of, owing to the monopolizing of farms xxxvi. 389
- Thoughts on the decrease of, in England xxxvi. 429
- On the increase and mortality at Madeira xxxix. 426
- Remarks on — xlv. 15
- On the number of inhabitants at Madeira — xlv. 139
- In England, state of, investigated — xlv. 101
- Estimate of the present number of people in this kingdom xlv. 103
- As affected by the division of property, discussed xlvii. 81
- Facts and observations relating to — xlviii. 125
- Better promoted by large farms than by small ones xlviii. 348
- Remarks on the conduct of nature with respect to xlviii. 528
- Low state of, in England, during the Saxon times l. 195
- Remarks on — li. 378, 471
- Of Manchester, observations on — lv. 122
- Just observations on — lviii. 173
- State of, in Gloucestershire, — lxiii. 12
- Population,*

Population , the present state of, in England, not declining	lxiv.	254
— Of Great Britain, not in a decreasing state	lxv.	131
— Remarks on the present state of, in England	lxvi. 142,	383, 423.
— Country poor or rich, according to its population	lxvi.	423
— Of Paris	—	lxviii. 629
— See Mortality .
Porcelain , a manufacture of, in Saxony	viii.	501
Porcupine man , an account of	xv.	273.
Porisms of Euclid , some account of	lviii.	389.
Pork , the Buccaneers method of curing	xxii.	91
Port-Royal, Mess. method observed in their Latin gram.	xviii.	374
Porte, Mons. de la , disgraced for his honesty	xvi.	144.
Porter , process for the brewing of	xxvi.	126
Portland, D. of , deprived of the forest of Inglewood, &c.	xxxviii.	327
— The conduct of administration on that account	xxxviii.	328.
Portland powder , account of	xvi.	550.
Porto Bello , the peculiarity of the weather there	xix.	287.
Portugal , history of	vi. 196,	241
— Cape of Good Hope, first discovered by the Portuguese	vi.	198
— The East Indies, first discovered by the Portuguese	vi.	199.
— Second expedition to India	vi.	200
— Various transactions therein	vi.	201
— Victory gained by the Portuguese fleet	vi.	205
— Cause of the decline of their East India trade	xxiii.	478
— When first erected into a kingdom	xxiv.	118.
— Our connections with, investigated	xxxvi.	68
— Character of the present government	xxxvii.	236
— Character of the minister	xxxvii.	237
— Conduct of, in the late war	xxxix.	391
— Some account of	xlili. 220,	222
— Account of the specie remitted to Britain, from 1766 to 1769.
inclusive	xliv.	495
— Remarkable instance of their narrow-mindedness	liii.	195
— English commerce with, prejudicial to England	lv.	22
— Remarks on	lix.	61
— Its miserable state	lxviii.	589
Porus, King , an imaginary being	xxxvi.	8
Post , remarks on the	xlviii.	528
Pot-ash , Dr. Mitchel's art of making	iii.	440
— The art of making it like the Russians, discov. by Mr. Hill	x.	27
— Specific benefits arising to trade from the best American	xiii.	155
— New and cheapest method of preparing	lxiv.	272
— Hints relative to the making of, in this country	lxv.	47
— Enormous sum paid annually to Russia for	lxv.	47
Potatoes , Mr. Crowe's method of cultivating	xli.	89
— Use in feeding cattle and poultry	xlii.	89
— The conglomerated sort, described	xlv.	17
— The Irish purple	xlv.	284
— Bread made of	xlv.	284
— Their usefulness in feeding cattle	xlv.	379
		Potatoes.

- Pottatus*, curious remark in regard to the natural history of xlv. 397
 — Gerard's account of them at their first introd into Engl. xlvii. 138
 — Methods of cultivating — — — lii. 16
Potdam, its flourishing state — — — lv. 555
Pottery, greatly improved by Wedgwood xlii. 267—xviii. 497
Potteries, ancient, remains of, discov. on the Mosquito coast lxii. 277
Potter, Archbishop, Mr. Whiston's remarks on him i. 347
 — Flattered by Dr. Pierce — — — i. 348
Potts, Mr. his controversy with Dr. Hunter concerning the discovery of the hernia congenita — — — xxxii. 109
 — His cure of the hernia cistica — — — xxxiv. 62
 — Controversy relating to his method of treating fractures, &c. xliii. 141
Potts, John, specimen of his orthodoxy — — — xix. 219
Poussin, his style of painting contrasted with that of Rubens xlviii. 455
 — His style of painting compared with that of Rembrandt lxi. 18
Powder-plot a distinct narrative of that conspiracy xji. 208
 — Chiefly advised and directed by one Piercy — — — xii. 209
Powell, Dr. his pulpit discourses praised — — — lxiii. 544
Power, natural, wherein it consists — — — iv. 524
 — Of the country, what — — — iv. 499
 — Executive, what, and how far it extends xv. 219, 224
 — Its intolerant nature — — — xxxii. 57
 — An eternal enemy to liberty — — — xxxii. 162
Powers of Europe, their leagues not always guided by religion xviii. 362
Powls, Mr. his objections in the House of Commons to the Speaker's being a privy counsellor — — — xxviii. 128
 — His speech on the removal of evil counsellors xxviii. 130
Pownall, Governor, his description of a curious sepulchral monument in Ireland — — — xlix. 261
 — His survey of the remarkable antiquities on the summit of Penmer-mawr — — — liii. 498
 — His account of some Irish antiquities — — — liii. 500
 — His account of the earthen ware discovered in the sea near Whitstable Bay — — — lxii. 275
 — Of curious earthen vases found on the Mosquito shore lxii. 277
 — His conjectures relative to the curious rocking-stone at West Hoadley — — — lxx. 263
Powney, Richard, editor of the letters and diary of Henry Earl of Clarendon — — — xxix. 197
Poyet, Chancellor, history and trial of — — — lv. 312
Practicable-men, their character — — — xlii. 118
Prague, description of the battle of — — — xxxv. 84
Praise, the love of, discussed — — — lxii. 294
Prater, character of — — — lii. 108
Prayer, the nature of, explained — — — i. 138
 — A notable thought on — — — ii. 40
 — Dr. Foster's general — — — vi. 348
 — The excellency does not consist in a multitude of words vii. 239
 — The use of forms of — — — vii. 419
Prayer,

Prayer , the impropriety of extemporary prayers	vii.	419
— The reasonableness and obligations to	ix.	55
— The conditions necessary to render it acceptable	xi.	334
— The importance of family prayer asserted	xi.	336
— For the prosperity of our country, a duty incumbent on all	xviii.	344
— A form of, upon the plan of the Lord's prayer	xix.	228
— Why exercised in the name of Christ	xxiii.	359
— The gift of, what	xxv.	124
— From a book, a hindrance to piety	xxv.	125
— No scriptural authority for prescribed forms	xxv.	125
— The disadvantages of extemporary, and expediency of prescribed forms for	xxv.	286
— For Tuesday morning	xxv.	423
— Observations on	xxix.	151
— Eloquence, not essential to it	xxix.	151
— Some modern forms greatly defective	xxix.	152
— Absurdity of over-abstracting forms of expression	xxix.	151
— Story of a sailor who understood it literally	xxix.	153
— For wisdom	xxx.	215
— For repentance	xxx.	215
— For good dispositions	xxx.	216
— For piety towards God	xxx.	216
— For charity to mankind	xxx.	216
— For self-government	xxx.	216
— For sincerity	xxx.	217
— For submission to providence	xxx.	217
— Free, preferred to forms	xxxiv.	249
— The primitive mode of worship	xxxiv.	250
— Advantages of set forms	xxxv.	250
— Inexpediency and disadvantages	xxxiv.	251
— The pleasures attending a due discharge of	xxxvi.	84
— Written forms of, recommended to the dissenters	xxxvii.	114
— Disadvantages of liturgic forms	xxxvii.	114
— Benefits naturally arising from	xlii.	215
— Observations on extemporaneous	xlvi.	267
— An excellent one of an Indian Brahmin	lxi.	503
— Lady Huntingdon's notion of	lxx.	373
Preachers , modern, their character	vi.	417
— Something farther still wanting	vi.	418
— How to proceed	vi.	420
— Should be a good man	vi.	425
— The strict discipline requisite for	vi.	426
— Should know life and human nature	vi.	426
— Mental disorders, how to cure	vi.	427
— The advantage of action	ix.	59
— Of a deliberate pronouncement	ix.	61
— Requisites necessary to impress the minds of the hearers	ix.	63
— These how to be acquired	ix.	64
— Directions as to gestures	ix.	65

Preachers , importance of being duly impressed with religion themselves	ix.	65
— Not the ambassadors of God	xviii.	200
— Necessary qualifications	xx.	74. 260
— A profitable hint to them	xx.	204
— A very animated popish one, described	xxxix.	445
Preaching , a dialogue concerning the art of	vi.	416
— What	vi.	419
— Strict unity of design in	vi.	421
— Bad effect of methodical divisions in	vi.	422
— Conscience, how to address in	vi.	423
— Imagination how to address	vi.	423
— Great advantage of	vi.	424
— Harmony of sound, and proper action in	vi.	425
— The grand secret to follow nature	vi.	429
— Its use in the Christian world	xxviii.	40
— Christianity nor morality can subsist without it	xxviii.	41
— Its abuse	xxviii.	41
— Ineffectual for the reformation of mankind	xxxiv.	538
— Absurd abuses practised in Spain	xlvi.	231
— New way of, in the time of King John	xliv.	185
— Changes in the modes since the time of Elizabeth	xliv.	425
— Remarks on the progress of	lxi.	105
Precedency, female , contention for, ridiculed by Charles V.	xlviii.	97
Precedents , in law and parliamentary proceedings, their utility canvassed	xli.	468
Precepts from the book of wisdom	xxii.	343
Preceptors , should study first their pupils	xxvii.	214
— Always expect the man in the child	xxvii.	214
— Are fond of teaching the shewy parts of literature	xxvii.	351
Precious stones , process for imitating	lxviii.	632
Precipitates, metallic , chemical observations of	lxviii.	174
Predestination , the doctrine of	vii.	243
— The doctrine of, opposed by John Wesley	xxxvii.	317
— Doctrine of, affords horrid ideas of the Deity	xxxix.	314
— Origin of that doctrine	lxix.	94
Prophecies , when fulfilled, undoubted proofs of a divine foreknowledge	xiii.	13
Pregnancy , account of an extraordinary	lxi.	492
Prejudice , well directed, of benefit to weak minds	xx.	2
Prelatical titles , impiety of, humourously shewn	xxviii.	98
Prenaux water , analysis of	lxx.	523
Premontval, M. de , his hypothesis of the union between soul and body	xl.	571
— His eloge	xlvi.	530
Prentiss, Ensign , his sufferings by shipwreck	lxvii.	153
Prepossession , often mistaken for conviction	xix.	231
Prerogative, Royal , what	xv.	225
		Prerogatives

Prerogative of the Crown, and privileges of the subject, equally sacred

- Best way to maintain xvii. 495
- Sir George Downing's speech in defence of prerogative xvii. 437
- Royal, dialogue on xxviii. 259
- Presbyterians, the most zealous defenders of our liberties, civil and religious lxi. 174
- Testimonies in their favour from Lord Clarendon, and others of the establishment xxvii. 430
- How far their principles are akin to popery xxvii. 430
- Their near approach to the established church xxxiv. 442
- Presentment, enquiry concerning xxxvi. 219
- Presb. liberty of, attacked by each party when uppermost in the civil war xliv. 549
- Observations on the xviii. 406
- Consequences resulting from xxii. 544
- What it is not xxiii. 379
- The Palladium of all the civil, political, and religious rights of Englishmen xxviii. 118
- Reasons why government cannot form any dangerous designs against it l. 185
- Its advantages to the people of England l. 186
- Presb. warrants. See Seamen. liii. 463
- Prester, what kind of whirlwind iv. 153
- Pretender, his bigoted attachment to popery viii. 457
- Anecdote relating to his enterprize in Scotland xxxv. 271
- Of the religious part of his character xxxv. 435
- Present declension of his interest at Rome xxxv. 438
- His letter to Queen Anne liv. 287
- Pretty, satirical use of that word in a work entitled "The Picture of Paris" lxv. 228
- Price, Rev. Dr. his observations on the expectations of lives, &c. xliv. 136
- His observations on calculating reversions xlv. 456
- His remarks relative to the transit of Venus xlv. 460
- His observations on the duration of life in great towns and villages lv. 122
- His political principles controverted lv. 152, 239
- His observations on reversionary payments, defended lvii. 65
- His friendly contest with Dr. Priestley lx. 298
- His strictures on the Bishop of London lx. 247
- His notions with respect to the Necessarian doctrine lxii. 35
- Censured for his foreboding and desponding spirit in political affairs lxii. 447
- Remarks respecting annuities, &c. lxii. 447
- Price, Dr. his experiments on lead, silver, and gold lxvii. 222
- The first transmuted into the second and third lxvii. 224
- Price, a farmer, and his learned wife, their hospitable entertainment of John Bunce xv. 586, 590

Pride,

Pride , vindicated	v. 528
— Deformity of	vi. 339
— Described	xxvi. 203
— Excellent declamation against	xxxiv. 211
— Not peculiar to man	xlv. 485
— The Germans remarkable for	xlv. 488
— The vice of hot climates	lxvi. 23
Prideaux, Dr. Humphry , anecdote concerning him	xxx. 316
Priens , account of, and of the temple of Minerva Polias	xliv. 372
Priests , enjoined to learn some trade	xv. 584
— A lady's opinion of	xix. 393
— The tool of princely tyranny	xxvii. 431
— Their domineering spirit pointed out	xxxi. 408
— Their persecution of a modern sceptic animadverted on	xxx. 409
— Romish, greater friends to fornication than matrimony	xxxii. 57
— Humorous account of their emasculating themselves for righteousness sake	xliv. 14
— Voltaire's defence of the priesthood	xliv. 547
— Their powers and claims of, considered	lv. 101
— See Clergy .
Priestley, Dr. his electrical batteries and experiments	xxxvii. 459
— His remarks on Dr. Blackstone, relating to the dissenters	xli. 298
— His account of rings consisting of all the prismatic colours, made by electrical explosions on the surfaces of pieces of metal	xliv. 420
— His experiments on charcoal	xlvi. 426
— Investigation relating to electricity	xlvi. 427
— His discoveries relating to air	l. 289
— Censured for want of urbanity in his controversies	lii. 292
— His observations on respiration, &c.	lv. 412
— His experiments on the use of the blood	lv. 413
— His epistle dedicatory (of his Harmony) to Dr. Price	lviii. 94
— His notions of philosophy, necessity, and materialism, attacked and defended	lxii. 29
— Ridiculed	lxii. 64
— Controversy between him and his opponents, on matter	lxii. 223
— His controversy with Mr. Bryant concerning philosophical necessity	lxiii. 348
— With Mr. Palmer on the same subject	lxiii. 353
— His paraphrase on the Lord's prayer	lxiv. 165
— His answer to Hammond the atheist	lxviii. 132
— His farther remarks relative to fixed air	lxviii. 380
— His controversy with Dr. Horsley	lxx. 56
— Attacked on the ground of scepticism, by Mrs. Macaulay	lxx. 95
Prime Ministers , tyrants over both prince and people	xviii. 471
— Their bill of mortality	xxviii. 160
Primogeniture , the right of, contrary to the law of nature	xxiv. 216
— Succession in, bad effects of	xxxi. 151

Primogeniture , a badge of Norman slavery	—	xxxvi. 34
Prince , the most essential virtue of	—	ii. 440
— True character of, how to know	—	xiv. 562
— Those of former ages greater adepts in science than those of modern times	—	xxiii. 394
— Pathetic remonstrance to them, on war	—	xxiv. 150
— Spectacles of horror, when they exercise violence in matters of religion	—	xxvii. 433
— Their piety often fatal to their subjects	—	xxxi. 506
— Education proper for	—	lxii. 574
— Ought not to employ their time and attention on arts and sciences not relative to government	—	lxii. 575
Principles and Manners , enquiry into the meaning of those words		xxii. 391.
Principles of action ; what	—	v. 141.
Pringle, Dr. his experiments on putrefaction	—	v. 322
— His experiments on substances resisting putrefaction	—	vi. 43
— His memory defended with respect to religion	—	lxix. 330
Printing , in China, the most ancient	—	x. 200
— Done by engraving on wood, and not by types	—	x. 200
— By whom introduced into Constantinople	—	xv. 281
— Reasons why not permitted among the Turks	—	xv. 282
— When and how first introduced into England	—	xvi. 578
— How first brought into England	—	xxxiv. 499
— The method of decoying the first printer into England	—	xxxiv. 500
— Origin of, in England	—	lii. 51
— Logographical, account of	—	lxx. 221
Prints , incapable of conveying a good idea of painting or edifices		xxx. 523
— The several characteristics of	—	xxxviii. 165
— Remarks on those of several great masters	—	xxxviii. 165, 173
— of Gentlemen and ladies in the last century	—	xli. 214
— from engravings, anecdotes relative to the history and progress of	—	lx. 367
Prior, Matthew , over talkative	—	xi. 71
— The merit of his poetry estimated	—	lxv. 352
Priorist, alien , account of	—	lxiii. 347
Prismatic colours , observations on	—	xl. 569
Prismatic micrometer , account of	—	lviii. 458
Prisons , account of the state of, in England and in other countries		lvii. 8
— at Moscow, anecdote of a gentleman confined in	—	lxiv. 383
Pritchard, Mrs. poetic encomium on	—	xxxv. 389
Private vices, public benefits , that maxim absurd	—	v. 58
Prize-medals , given by the Batavian Society at Rotterdam	—	lxvii. 512
Prize-dissertations , given by Teyler's theological Society at Haarlem	—	lxvii. 527
Prize question proposed by the academy of Berlin	—	lxvii. 543
— M. St. Auban's observations on	—	lxvii. 543
Probabilities , the logic of	—	xxi. 298
		Probabilities,

Probabilities , calculation of	—	lii. 562
Probability , what sort of it necessary for a statesman	—	xvii. 137
— Poetic encomium on	—	l. 213
Problem , of Kepler, solved by Mr. Stewart	—	xv. 387
— Algebraic, extraordinary one	—	xxxii. 263
— Remarks on	—	xxxii. 265
Prodigal son , pathetic discourse on the parable of	—	xxxiv. 208
— Reflections on the parable of	—	xlvi. 234
Prodigies , the relations of them always to be questioned	—	xlvi. 127
— The more witnesses, the more reason to suspect it	—	xlvi. 127
Prætorian Bands , licentiousness of that body of soldiery	—	xxiv. 123
— Particular account of	—	liv. 388
Profanation , persecution for, reprehended	—	xxxvi. 383
Professions , what sort of, most useless to a state	—	xi. 165
Professors and lecturers , their qualifications and office	—	xxix. 14
Progeny-insects , account of	—	iv. 290
Prognostics , a caution to physicians not to be too hasty in making	—	xv. 398
Projectiles do not describe the curve of a parabola	—	xi. 491
— Theory of, depending on the curve of a parabola, false	—	xvi. 22
— Experiments relative to those used in military operations	—	lxvii. 123
Projection , orthographic, its properties	—	xi. 44
— Plane of, what	—	xi. 44
— Applied to delineating ships	—	xi. 45
Projectors , apology for	—	xxiii. 487
— Scheme for a college of	—	xxiii. 490
Prolapsus uteri , account of one attended with peculiar symptoms	—	xxxviii. 431
Proliferous flowers , defined	—	xx. 382
Prologue , specimen of a remarkable foolish one	—	xi. 318
— Pope's to Cato, preferable to any of Dryden's	—	xv. 65
Promises , in what manner affected by civil law	—	xv. 225
— How far to be observed	—	xxviii. 502
Pronunciation , defects in	—	xxiv. 52
— Of the English language, proposal for establishing a standard of	—	lxiii. 246
Propagation , how affected by admixtures of different species literal and typical	—	iv. 127—iv. 183
— Of the human species, reflections on	—	xvi. 370
Property , by what means determined	—	vi. 17
— Private, how acquired	—	xiii. 166
— How it may be extended or transferred	—	xiii. 166
— Its just influence in society	—	xv. 217
— That of an author to his own works, defended	—	xxvii. 117
— That of the invention of a machine, the same as that of an author to his copy	—	xxvii. 187
— The foundation of the liberties of the people	—	xxviii. 142
— The right of electing representatives in parliament derived from independency	—	xxviii. 142
		Property ,

Property , in trade, ought to confer the same right	xxviii.	143
— Great inequality in the constitution in this respect	xxviii.	143
— Non electors, the majority of substantial and independent inhabitants of this kingdom	xxviii.	144
— Nature and origin of	xxxv.	357
Prophane exclaim, in writing and convers. censured	xxxviii.	249
Prophecy , examination of the Bp. of London's discourses on	ii.	229
Prophecies , chain of, in the bible	iv.	128
— Those of the Heathens whether real	iv.	181
— Those relating to Christ, considered	iv.	181
— Concerning the coming of the Messiah, explained	iv.	339
— Their authenticity must be proved by the authenticity of the sacred writings	vii.	59
— Those of scripture to be understood not of single persons, but of whole nations	xii.	34
— Defects in the Bishop of London's reasoning upon secondary ones	xv.	122
— A sufficient proof of a divine commission	xvii.	126
— The famous one in the twentieth chapter of Ezekiel explained and illustrated	xix.	330
— St. Paul's, concerning the man of sin, explained and illustrated	xx.	157
— The intention of	xxvi.	310
— Fulfilled, the most proper arguments to evince the truth of a revelation	xxvii.	1
— Collins's sentiments on	xxvii.	1
— Criticisms relating to	xxxiii.	270
— The gradual and successive fulfilment of, pleadeth in evidence for christianity	xli.	269
— Explication and accomplishment of some remarkable ones, considered	xlili.	231
— Observations on the interpretation and application of	xlvi.	393
— The true way of reasoning on the subject	xlvi.	396
— Relating to the christian church	xlvi.	485, 494
— Double sense of	lv.	34
— That of St. Paul relative to the man of sin, how verified	lv.	36
Prophets , discoverers of lost goods	xxiv.	248
— Jewish, character of	xxvi.	308
— Eminent deists	xxvii.	36
— Hutchinsonian, account of	xxxvi.	358
— Their prophecies said to come from heaven in dreams, &c.	xxxvi.	358
— Their language and style explained and illustrated	xlvi.	486
Propitiation , explained	xiv.	404
Proportion in numbers, rules for ascertaining	xix.	3
— Those self-evident, why demonstrated by Euclid	xiv.	5
Propositions , relative to the peace, and Mr. Pitt's resignation	xxv.	318
Prose , when first admitted as an assistant to poetry	xxix.	88
Prostrata , among the Jews, remarks on the nature and use of	xi.	384
	Prophet ,

Prospect , West Indian, poetically described	xxx. 115
Prostitutes , their unhappy situation poetically represented	xix. 368
— Charity houses for them in France, Italy, and Holland	xix. 471
— Regulations of the police of Rome, concerning their lodgings and prices	xix. 473
Protestion , and allegiance, how connected	v. 250
Protests , or the liberty of protesting, a constitutional privilege of the British peers	xxxvii. 356
— History of	xxxvii. 357
— Of the English Barons, against granting an aid of money to Henry III.	xxxvii. 357
— Of the House of Peers, in regard to the publishing of seditious books	xxxvii. 358
— Against the 9th article of the act of union	xxxvii. 358
— Against the 22d article of the same	xxxvii. 359
— Against prolonging the continuance of parliaments	xxxvii. 359
— Against the mutiny bill	xxxvii. 360
— On a rejected bill for securing the freedom of elections	xxxvii. 361
— On another bill of the like kind	xxxvii. 361
— Against continuing the Hanoverian troops in British pay	xxxvii. 363
Protestants , queries concerning foreign	vi. 266
— Mr. Hume's abusive reflections on	xii. 207
— Of France, treaty with and grants made to	xiv. 563
— Massacre of	xiv. 564, 568
Protestant succession	vi. 83
Province , history of	lvi. 387—lix. 65
Proverbs , Chinese, specimens of	xxv. 433
— Their ancient use and consequence	lii. 307
Providence , the doctrine of a particular providence denied by Lord Bolingbroke	x. 186
— The notion of a particular one	xii. 423
— Divine arguments in proof of	xiii. 447
— Our inability to judge adequately of its operations	xxii. 18
— Its incomprehensibility, an exercise for our faith	xxii. 18
— The justice of	xxii. 27
— Arguments for and against the belief of	xxx. 131
— Poetical illustrations of	xxx. 135
— Imperfect knowledge of, in the heathen world	xxx. 424
— Supposed inequalities of, to particulars, discussed	xxxiii. 139
— divine, argum. for, from the perfection of the deity	xxxvi. 52
— From the general laws and constitution of the world	xxxvi. 53
— Objections to, from evils seen in this world	xxxvi. 81
— Rational theory of	xlii. 11
— On particular and general	lxvii. 536
Provisions , thoughts on the increased price of	xxxii. 171
— By what determined	xxxii. 281
— Farther thoughts on this subject	xxxii. 283
Provisions ,

Provisions , high price of, not injurious to trade	xxxii.	389
— Causes of the dearth assigned	xxxv.	415
— Engrossers	xxxv.	478, 479
— Flour trade, considered	xxxv.	479
— Scarcity of, enquired into	xxxvi.	72
— Hints relating to	xxxvi.	77
— Farther thoughts on	xxxvi.	322
— Various causes of	xxxvi.	389
— Causes of their present high price	xxxvii.	40, 470
— Causes of the present dearth of	xxxviii.	255
— The riots on this account	xxxviii.	280
— The pleas of rioters on this occasion, not to be regarded	xxxviii.	281
— Remarks on the high price of	xxxix.	373
— Observations on the present dearth of	xli.	620
— Causes of the dearth of, assigned	xlviii.	24, 351, 354
— Means to remedy	xlviii.	430
— Causes of the rise of, investigated	xlx.	15
— The price of, in Switzerland	lx.	346
— Nutritive vegetables to supply the place of	lxv.	460
— The prices of, in the 14th century	lxvi.	58
Prude , the behaviour of, described	iv.	539
Prudence , maxims relative to	iv.	67
— Wherein it consists	iv.	535
— The slavish conduct it dictates, displayed	xxv.	452
Prussia , late king of, sketch of his character	iii.	213
— His letter to the king of Great Britain in behalf of the protestants of Thorn	iii.	214
— His quarrel with king George II.	xxviii.	520
— His behaviour to the royal academy of sciences	xxviii.	522
— His singular character	lxx.	576
— His severity to his son, the present monarch	lxx.	577
Prussia , present king of, commended for abridging the law processes	ii.	70
— His character	v.	392—viii. 492
— Military arrangements	xi.	138
— Translation of his ode on death	xiii.	436
— Allegations for invading Saxony, and breaking with the court of Vienna	xv.	629, 635
— His answer to the imperial thunder	xv.	638
— Commended for endeavouring at the establishment of a maritime force	xvi.	107
— An invidious character of him	xviii.	393
— Compared with Philip of Macedon	xix.	105
— His prayer in behalf of the poets	xxiii.	227
— His observation on Machiavel's horrible maxims	xxvii.	170
— Compared to Moses	xxviii.	235
— Censured	xxviii.	255

Prussia, present King of , interferes with Rousseau's persecutors, in his behalf	xxxiii.	508
— Notion of the religion of a sovereign prince ascribed to him	xxxiv.	319
— Anecdotes concerning	xxxviii.	518
— Anecdotes relating to, on his gaining possession of Silesia	xxxix.	227
— His triumphant return to Berlin in 1746	xxxix.	287
— His grateful behaviour to his old preceptor	xxxix.	289
— Proposes to found a veterinarian school	xlvi.	670
— His seizure of the Polish territories exposed	xlvi.	447
— His vaunting exclamation, with respect to the British government	xlvi.	451
— His taste in music	xlvi.	218
— His great improvements of his capital city	lv.	553
— And of Potsdam, &c.	lv.	555
— His letter to Voltaire inviting him to live with him at Berlin	lvi.	105
— His poetic epistle to Voltaire	lvi.	176
— Account of his manners, disposition, customs and peculiarities	lvii.	516, 525
— Celebrates Voltaire	lx.	68, 144
— His Majesty's disinterested and generous conduct in this respect	lx.	144
— Anecdotes relating to	lxi.	462
— His ideas of the relation between a citizen and his country	lxii.	132
— His letter to the late Marshal Keith	lxiv.	112
— His poem on the art of war	lxv.	285
— His letter concerning German literature	lxv.	304
— His military character	lxvii.	98
— Story of his adventure at a pharo table	lxvii.	99
— A smart saying of his relating to air balloons	lxx.	408
— His letter to the council of Neuchâtel, in behalf of Rousseau	lxx.	448
— Character of this prince, by Voltaire	lxx.	577
Prussia , account of the court of	xliv.	217
Prussian army , exercise of the hussars	xvii.	361
— Regulations of the cavalry	xvii.	362
— Regulations of the infantry	xvii.	364
— Character of the soldiery	xxxv.	82
— Story of a major	lxvii.	96
Prynn, Burton, and Bastwick , their cruel punishments in the reign of Charles I.	xxxii.	271
Psalmazur, George , his account of himself	xxxi.	364
— His last will	xxxi.	365
— His birth and education	xxxi.	370
— Begins his impostures abroad	xxxi.	377
— His connection with Innes	xxxi.	444
— Arrives in England	xxxi.	447

Plutarchus, George, publishes his famous history of Formosa

— Studies at Oxford	—	—	xxxi. 449
— Farther adventures	—	—	xxxi. 450
— Turns author by profession	—	—	xxxi. 451
— Engages in the universal history	—	—	xxxi. 452
— His penitence	—	—	xxxi. 453
Psalms of David , ought not to be read promiscuously in our churches	—	—	i. 202
— Prophetic poems	—	—	xxi. 106
— Execratory, not proper to be used in christian worship	—	—	xxv. 289
— Defects of	—	—	xxix. 224
— Scheme for the enlargement and improvement of	—	—	xxix. 229
— Specimens of, translated by Merrick	—	—	xxxiii. 231
— The imprecations in, maintained to be future, and not imperative	—	—	xl. 276, 377
— State of, under the Jewish dispensation	—	—	xliv. 427
— Not enjoined as a part of christian worship	—	—	xliv. 430
— The propriety and utility of, in our churches, nevertheless allowed	—	—	xliv. 430
— Directions for our conduct in the execution of this part of our public devotions	—	—	xliv. 431
— The clergy censured for their disregard of it	—	—	xliv. 433
— Comment on various parts of	—	—	lvi. 4, 11
— M. Marat's version of	—	—	lxvi. 86
— Historical account of French and English translations of	—	—	lxvi. 86
— Vindicated from the charge of inculcating a malevolent spirit	—	—	lxvi. 169
— ii. ver. 7. criticism on	—	—	xxviii. 273
— xv. oddly versified	—	—	xl. 338
— xviii. a new version of some passages in it	—	—	viii. 254
— xix. the completest form of devotion of any of psalmist's writings	—	—	xii. 279
— liv. ver. 10. critical annotation on	—	—	xl. 375
— lxviii. Dr. Chandler's paraphrase of	—	—	xxxv. 208
— civ. ver. 4. criticism on	—	—	xxviii. 339
— cix. critical remarks on	—	—	xl. 377
— cix. and cx. Green's translation of	—	—	xxviii. 269, 272
— cx. application to Christ	—	—	xxvii. 5
— Erroneously applied to Abraham	—	—	xxvii. 5
— To David	—	—	xxvii. 5
— New translation of this psalm, by Dr. Sharpe	—	—	xxvii. 9
— cx. Dr. Sharpe's interpretation of, defended	—	—	xl. 381
— cxxvii. ver. 2. explained	—	—	xliv. 179
Psycbe , original emblematic. Significat. of that name in Egypt	—	—	liii. 336
Ptolemy , his astronomical merit	—	—	lx. 527
Pygalism , account of an extraordinary	—	—	xliv. 256
Paberty , of the Antediluvians, different accounts of	—	—	ii. 500
— Surprising instances of early	—	—	ix. 366
— An instance of early	—	—	xxx. 560

Public , how it may be well served, and how high stations may be well filled	— — — —	iii. 171
Public spirit displayed	— — — —	iv. 473
Public credit , ancient and modern compared	— — — —	vi. 34
Public virtue , not conspicuous till roused by oppression	— — — —	xxi. 47
— In extremes, a private vice	— — — —	xxiii. 133
Publicans , a respectable body among the Romans	— — — —	liv. 509
— Some of the arts of	— — — —	xxvi. 360
Pudding , preferable to novels	— — — —	xvii. 82
— The revenues of a convent, given as a reward for a good one	— — — —	xx. 355
Puffing , remarkable instance of	— — — —	xxvii. 391
Pulpit , the eloquence of	— — — —	vii. 104
— Advantages of action in	— — — —	ix. 58
— Always in the service of the state	— — — —	lxi. 108
— See Clergy, Preaching .	— — — —
Pulsation of the arteries, cause of	— — — —	xli. 518
Pulse , prognostics, different crises of by it, enquired into	— — — —	ix. 286
— how created	— — — —	xvii. 124
— Intermittent, rules of prognostics from	— — — —	xviii. 560
— Indicates the use of purging medicines	— — — —	xviii. 562
— Enquiries concerning	— — — —	xxxiv. 25
— Various species of, and indications of disorders from	— — — —	xxxiv. 26
Pulseny, Mr. his friendship for Dr. Pearce	— — — —	lvi. 126
— Praised by the Doctor for his great charities, and other virtues	— — — —	lvi. 126
— His great abilities and unsteady conduct	— — — —	lix. 129
Pulseny, Dr. his account of a man's heart enlarged to an enormous size	— — — —	xxvii. 425
— His account of a cure of an inveterate scorbutic disorder, by the hemlock dropwort	— — — —	l. 282
Pulstova , the battle at, described	— — — —	xxiv. 133
Pulvis diureticus , receipt for the composition of	— — — —	xxiv. 326
Pumice-stone , account of	— — — —	lxix. 427
Pump-water of London , Dr. Heberden's remarks on	— — — —	xxxix. 30
— Best method of freeing it from heterogeneous substances	— — — —	xxxix. 31
Punch , degrees of strength proper for it	— — — —	ii. 377
— Commended when weak and acid	— — — —	ii. 378
— Its good effects	— — — —	ii. 378
— Weak, or negus, useful to prevent the diseases incident to a West India voyage	— — — —	xiv. 16
— Various prescriptions for making	— — — —	xv. 625
Puneluation in writing, observations on	— — — —	xli. 55
— Of a passage in Shakespeare's Macbeth , corrected	— — — —	xli. 143
— Of a passage in King Lear , corrected	— — — —	xli. 143
Punishments , vicarious, considered	— — — —	iv. 268
— Of the damned, not eternal	— — — —	iv. 346
— Of sinners, why delayed	— — — —	iv. 536
— Temporal, the only sanction of the Mosaic law	— — — —	iv. 406
— Present, more powerful in restraining the wicked than future	— — — —	xx. 222

Punishments,

Penishments , on religious accounts, destructive to christian benevolence	xxix.	132
— Not authorized by God	xxix.	132
— Tend only to irritate the minds of men against their persecutors, and to depopulate the country	xxix.	132
— Inconsistencies, absurdities, and cruelty of	xxxii.	532
— For certain crimes, too severe in most countries	xxxvi.	382
— Observations on the nature of	xl.	34
— Cruelty of, in Russia	xl.	599
— By death, reflections on	xliv.	85
— Useful remarks on	xliv.	445
— Everlasting, considered	ii.	489
— Eternal, results from the fitness of things and the unchangeable nature of the Divine Being	xiii.	368
— Eternity of, a shocking doctrine	xix.	215
— Of the wicked, an utter extinction of Being	xxii.	27
— Future, nature and design of, investigated	xli.	99
Punning , very prevalent in the time of James I.	lvii.	112
— Instance of pulpit punning	lvii.	112
Purgatory , droll account of, by a pretended Chinese	xxxiii.	165
— Observations on the rise and progress of that notion	lxix.	95
Purge , given by electrification	i.	379
— When not to be exhibited	v.	503
— Draffick, condemned	v.	503
Purging , when a necessary or proper evacuation	viii.	382
Puritanism , unfavourable character of	lxiii.	179
Parwer, Anthony , his abilities for a new translation of the bible	xxxii.	195
— Encouraged by the Quakers	xxxii.	195
— Specimen of his criticisms	xxxii.	200
Purveyance , grievous effects of it to the subject	xxxiv.	184
Pus , new disquisition on	lx.	541
— How distinguished from mucus	lxiii.	288
Putrefaction , accounted for	v.	234
— From cold	v.	234
— From tarred cloth the body was wrapped in	v.	236
— Experiments on bodies which resist	v.	323
— Whether putrid bodies be alkaline	v.	323
— Volatile alkali, a corrector of	v.	324
— Spirit and salt of hartshorn hinder	v.	325
— Experiment on	vi.	43
— Defined	xxvii.	294
— Experiments relating to	xxx.	293
— Of animal bodies, experiments for stopping and recovering from	xxxix.	202
— An exposition of	xlvi.	218
— Accidents occasioned by animal	lxii.	514
— Causes of	lxv.	21
— The effect of moonshine on	lxix.	281
— Putrid diseases, success of fixed air in	liv.	434
Pyrsent , satirical elegy to	xxxv.	163

Pyramids in Egypt , where situated	—	xv.	253
— Absurdly accounted for by the inhabitants	—	xv.	253, 254, 256, 259
— Whether erected before the use of pillars was known	—	xv.	261
— Their original mystic use, poetically described	—	lxiii.	30
Pyrenees , curious account of the prodigious contrivances for conveying the timber felled in the mountains of	—	lvii.	537
— Animals, &c. produced there	—	lvii.	538
Pyritæ , alleged to give medicated waters their salutary qualities	—	xv.	108
— The same hypothesis denied	—	xv.	108
Pyrites , martial method of discovering whether it contains gold	—	lvii.	561
Pyrometer , a new one	—	xiii.	420
— New invented one	—	xxxviii.	35
— Essay on	—	lx.	420
— Treatise on	—	lxiii.	140
Pyrophori , experiments on	—	lxi.	171
Pyrrhonism , historical, recommended	—	l.	267
Pyrrhus , king of Epirus, life of	—	v.	369
Pythagoras , imagined to have conversed with the Druids	—	x.	422
— Not unacquainted with the telescope	—	xiv.	178
— His golden verses praised	—	xxxv.	549
— His famous musical proportions, explained	—	xl.	549
— Account of his doctrines	—	lx.	120

Q

Quackade	—	vi.	157
Quackery , various kinds of	—	xxxiv.	15
— Curious observations on	—	xliv.	530
Quadrant , particular applications of Hadley's	—	xxxv.	378
— Hadley's, new improvement in the construction of	—	xlvi.	337
— Hadley's new construction and improvements of	—	lvi.	548
— Hadley's farther improvement of	—	lxiii.	497
Quadrupeds , ranged under their proper classes	—	viii.	20
— Their characteristic properties	—	xxxi.	548
Quail of Palestine , described	—	xxxiv.	267
Quakers , account of one of their weddings which gave great offence to a member of their church	—	x.	425
— Their right to a free toleration	—	xxix.	130
— Their political conduct apologized for	—	xxix.	130
— Story of a dispute between one, and Bishop Bull	—	xxxii.	156
— The only christians who have not persecuted others	—	xxxiii.	200
— Their opposition to the doctrine of tithes, exploded	—	xxxiv.	90
— Their polity commended	—	xxxiv.	159
— Vindicated	—	xxxv.	487
— Abused by one of the Hutchinsonian champions	—	xxxvi.	359

Quakers,

Quakers , controversy relating to	—	xxxviii	151
— Reasons assigned for their silent meetings	—	xliv.	420
— Primitive, account of, by a country vicar	—	lviii.	175
— Remarks on	—	lviii.	326
— Persecuted in New England	—	lxiii.	17
— in Pennsylvania, &c. their humane treatment of their negro slaves	—	lxvii.	276
Quantity , what mathematicians mean by finding the magnitude of	—	xiv.	288
— Natural, what	—	xi.	418
— In grammar, nature and elements of	—	xxviii.	349
Quantz , Mr. master of music at the court of Prussia, account of	—	xlix.	216
Quarles , the poet praised	—	lxviii.	395
Quarrel of Venus and Hymen , a poem	—	iv.	28
Quasbi , a negro slave, affecting story of	—	lxx.	415
Quass-root , good effects of, in fevers	—	xlvi.	193
Quebec , intended expedition against	—	xiv.	293
— The method of living there	—	xxiii.	419
— Manners of the inhabitants, described	—	xv.	218
Quebec act , controversy relative to	—	li.	71, 149, 237
— Vindicated by Dr. Johnson	—	li.	300
— Construed into compliment to the French court	—	li.	480
— Proceedings of the protestant inhabitants in the province of, relative to the	—	liii.	46, 159
— Dangerous tendency of	—	liii.	163
— Obnoxious to the Canadians	—	lvii.	468
— Ought to be repealed	—	lxiii.	356
Queries relating to Great Britain, Ireland, and America	—	xxxiii.	243
Quesnay , M. his doctrine of the suppuration of wounds controverted	—	xxxviii.	594
— Eulogy on	—	liii.	168
Question , the grand, debated	—	v.	405
Quickset hedges , remarks on the raising and management of	—	lvii.	24
Quicksilver method of adulteration, and how to be discovered	—	xvii.	396
— A method of congealing	—	xxv.	18
— Experiments relating to the freezing of	—	lv.	415
— Mercury in the barometer, curious observations on the convexity or concavity of its upper surface in raising or falling	—	lv.	521
— Remarkable cure of an abscess wrought by	—	lxii.	513
Quin , Mr. account of	—	iii.	195
— A character of him as an actor, by Mr. Thomson	—	ix.	494
— His great friendship for Mr. Thomson	—	ix.	498
Quincy , observations on the treatment and cure of	—	xl.	208
Quinquina , two kinds of, newly discovered	—	lxviii.	558
Quintilian , compared with Cicero	—	xiv.	50
— His method, not his only excellence	—	xv.	59
— Answer to a question of his, in oratory	—	xx.	69

Quintilian, criticism on a passage in an oration "de Scribendo"

	li.	332
Quintus Icilius , his education and fortunes	lvii.	522
— A great favourite with the present King of Prussia	lvii.	522
Quintus Mucius , surnamed Scaevola, his great character	lvii.	463
Quirini, Cardinal , memoirs of his life	ii.	477
Quistorpius , his account of the last moments of Hugo Grotius	x.	91
Quixote, Don , badly imitated	ii.	92
— History of, difficult to translate	xiii.	197
— Scarce understood by modern Spaniards	—	197
— Smollet's translation compared with Jarvis's	xiii.	197
Quotations , frequent, in writing, disagreeable	xvii.	418

R

R—, Mr. D— , his life	xix.	194
Rabbits , antiseptic experiments on	xxxix.	202
Rabbit and Hare , the distinguishing qualities of	l.	283
Rabener, M. instance of his philosophy	xxvi.	382
— His comical dream	xxvii.	71
Racan, Marquis de , a pleasant story relating to	xvii.	125
Racine , an account of	vii.	181
— His eulogium	xxxviii.	514
— Translates Milton	xxxviii.	518
— His death	xxxviii.	519
— Anecdotes of his life and writings	xxxix.	565
— Story of his writing his Esther , for Mad. Maintenon	xliv.	62
Radermacher, M. his account of the possessions of the Dutch East India Company	lxv.	541
— Of the different methods of calculating time in different parts of Asia	lxv.	541
Radicofani , palace of, described	lv.	119
Rafts , large ones, made use of as passage-boats down the Iser and Danube	xlvi.	465
Rage , poetical, portrait of	xvii.	378
Rags , when first used in making paper	x.	481
— Substitutes proposed in their place	x.	482
Rag-stone , analysis of	lxix.	390
Railery and abuse , unbecoming the advocates for virtue and religion	x.	193
— Definition of	xxvi.	200
Rain , preternatural, accounted for	iv.	152
— Some thoughts concerning it	iv.	286
— Experiments to ascertain the different quantities of, which fell in the same time at different heights	xlvi.	224
— Account of a new kind of	lxviii.	381
Raks , modern, their conversation	iv.	330
— Ought to meet with no favour from virtuous women	xxxiv.	464

Raks,

Rake , Hogarth's progress of, delineated and criticised	xxxviii.	170
Raleigh, Sir Walter , letter in his favour, written by Anne, Queen to James I.	lxviii.	125
Rama , present state of	xxxiv.	138
Rambler	vi.	145
Rana, Piscatrix , described	iv.	259
Rancour , religious, the causes of	xiii.	106
Randolph, Dr. letter to	vi.	313
Ranelagh , conversations there described	xxii.	142
Rangarao, Polygar of Bobiles , his melancholy catastrophe	lix.	437
Ranger at Bath , a poem	xxiii.	244
Rape , different species of, humorously described	xxxviii.	404
Rape-feed , confounded with kale-feed	xlv.	13
— How distinguished	xlv.	13
Raper, Mr. defends Sir Isaac Newton	xxvii.	426
— His enquiry into the value of the ancient Greek and Roman money	xlvi.	2:7
Raphael , whence he acquired his excellence	xx.	68
— His cartoons, the removal of, from Hampton Court to Buckingham, severely animadverted on	lvii.	340
— His excellencies and defects canvassed	lxv.	146
Rapin , poetical encomiums on his history of England	lxiii.	34
Raspe, Mr. his dissertation on the fossil bones found in Germany	xliv.	203
— His dissertation, "de modo marmoris albi producendi"	xlvi.	182
Rast, Dr. his account of inoculation refuted	xxxii.	112
— His objection to inoculation obviated	li.	43
Ratcliff, Dr. speech at the dedication of his library	ii.	69
Ratbans-place water , experiments on	xxxix.	356
Rationalists , charge against Christians so called	lxvii.	194
— Generally answered	lxvii.	195
Rats , antiseptic experiments on dead	xxxix.	201
— of Norway, mischievous nature of	lxix.	46
Rattlesnake , case of the bite of	xxxv.	448
— Wonderful story of one of those animals	lx.	281
Raven , natural history of	liii.	594
— Unfavourable character of that bird	liii.	594
Ray , his division of marine productions	xii.	183
Readers , the various kinds and characters of	lxi.	111
Reading , no improper amusement for a soldier	xv.	456
— of sermons, when and how introduced into the English church	xv.	584
— or speaking with propriety, little understood by the natives of Britain	xxvii.	207
— Rules for attaining correctness and propriety in	lxix.	21
Reading abbey , an account of	lxx.	263
Reason , the ultimate end of moral agents	iv.	497
— Imperfect without a strong imagination	v.	51
— Yet reason still superior	v.	51
— Neglect of cultivating	vi.	402
Reason ,

Reason , want of cultivating in youth, a disadvantage in old age	vi.	404
— Every man's oracle	vi.	408
— The danger of relinquishing	vii.	49
— The power of	vii.	469
— The noblest faculty of the soul	viii.	486
— Its use and authority in matters of revelation	xi.	49
— The sons of, weighed in the balance of the sanctuary	xi.	258
— The use of, in defending Christianity	xv.	78, 115
— Rejection of, the cause of many absurdities	xv.	247, 475
— Capable of furnishing men with just principles of religion	xvi.	483
— Not able of itself to discover a deity	xvii.	189
— The only faculty that can distinguish between actions morally good and evil	xx.	529
— In religion either too much magnified, or too much depreciated	xxv.	121
— Of small use without the aid of the passions	xxvi.	177
— Left to itself, not a certain guide in matters of religion	xxx.	431
— Poetic encomium on	xxxii.	313
— Analysis of	xxxii.	540
— Remarks on the culture of	xxxiii.	40
— Consequences of the neglect of, exemplified in the Indians	xxxiii.	41
— Different ideas of that term	xxxiii.	546
— Use of, in religious matters, recommended	xxxiv.	348
— and Truth, historic eulogy on	lii.	585
— The progress of, in the search of truth	lii.	430
— Ablé de Pongal's code of	lix.	63
— and Motives, what	iv.	525
Reaumur , his methods of preserving birds	ii.	136
Raccaro , waters of, their virtues	xlili.	481
Recolin, M. his method of treating the inflammatory quincy	xl.	205
Reconcilement , with whom easily to be obtained	ii.	434
Reconciliation of men to God , explained	xiv.	404
Records , public, and state papers, best materials for history	xxvii.	312
Recreations , thoughts on	liii.	561
Reëtitude , a law as well as a rule to us	xviii.	526
Reculver , one of the most ancient Roman stations in Britain	I.	318
— Antiquities found there	I.	319
Red , a beautiful one discovered for painters	liii.	532
Red Sea, E. W. M. tagu's observations on the	xxxvii.	381
— Probable derivation of its name	xlvi.	289
— M. Niebuhr's passage of, on foot	liii.	583
Redemption , the primum mobile of the gospel system	xavii.	409
— Folly of supposing the redemption of mankind a republication of the religion of nature	xxvii.	409
— of mankind, M. Search's scheme of	lx.	432
Reformation of manners, the only way to bring about	xiv.	82
— Only to be effected by government	xxxiv.	544
Reformation ,

Reformation , how, and with what views promoted by Henry VIII, and his subjects	xvi.	581
— of the christian church, account of	xxiii.	431
— The true principles of, defended against Voltaire	xlvi.	650
— of the established church, hardly practicable, and why	xlvi.	23
— Protestant, general history of	lxv.	465
Reformers , from popery, reflections on them	iii.	178
— The first, their character	xiv.	309
— Vindicated from the charge of fanaticism	xiv.	316
— Their zeal on some occasions intemperate	xiv.	317
— Scotch, their indignation against female vanity	xx.	403
— A list of the principal reformers	xxii.	187
— from popery, expostulation with, supposed on the part of the papists	xxx.	409
— From popery, vindicated from the charge of fanaticism, against Hume	xli.	162
— Apology for the warmth of their zeal	xli.	162
— of the church of England, their sentiments not binding on posterity	xlvi.	511
Refractions , a table of	ix.	212
Regal power , Lord Falkland's speech for limiting	xxviii.	413
Regeneration , not an instantaneous change	xix.	126
— Account of	xxviii.	313
Regiam Majestatem , its high antiquity inquired into	xlii.	428
Reggio , in Italy, some account of	xlvi.	281
Regicide , author of, his narrative of the treatment he met with from the playhouse managers	i.	72
Registers of deaths, of early establishment	ii.	359
— of the parish of the Holy Cross, extract from	xxvii.	425
Regulus , some account of	xiv.	481
— Reflections on his defeat	xiv.	482
— Disagreement concerning his death	xiv.	482
— The story of his cruel treatment by the Carthaginians improbable	xxxii.	508
— Story of	l.	243
— Dramatic representations of, by Metastasio	l.	244
— Another, in English	l.	245
Rehearsal , a comedy, recommended	xii.	42
— Some account of	xxxii.	212
Reid , Dr. a material principle in his enquiry controverted	xxxv.	545
— Grossly treated by Dr. Priestley	lii.	293
Reid grass , account of	xli.	670
Reimarus , Dr. his letter to the Reviewers	xxxv.	567
— Observations on thunder and lightning	lxi.	58
Reindeer of Lapland, some account of	x.	486
Reinhard , Mr. his enquiry into the laws of motion	xxx.	522
Reiske , Prof. his emendations of the Hippolytus of Euripides	xiv.	195
Relations of mankind, considered	iv.	535
Religion , a general Head in the history of man	ii.	453
— Instance of a zeal for liberty in, by a French author	iii.	128
Religion ,

Religion , notions of the author of "The Reflector" on	iii.	179
— Maxims on	iv.	68
— State of, at the coming of the Messiah	iv.	88
— New articles proposed	iv.	167
— of the Indians	iv.	318
— Sum of, according to Ramsay	iv.	434
— Not promoted by persecution	iv.	531
— Establishments prejudicial to	iv.	532
— Necessity of impressing early notions of	v.	64
— Advantages of, considering it as an imitation of God	vi.	305
— Derived from benevolence	viii.	4
— Protestant, defended against the papists	viii.	281
— Divine original of the Jewish	viii.	398
— A genuine picture of	xiii.	17
— Cause of rancour in	xiii.	106
— State of, in the American colonies	xiii.	277
— Systems, are temples consecrated to implicit faith	xiii.	404
— Corrupted in the age of Augustus	xiii.	414
— Strong attachment to establishments accounted for	xiv.	357
— Conviction of religionists more affected than real	xvi.	129
— Demonstrations defined	xviii.	495
— Establishments, the only thing that can prevent its degeneracy into fanaticism	xix.	326
— In many, the result of indolence and cowardice	xx.	6
— A review of the effects of	xx.	533
— The characteristics of fundamental doctrines	xxii.	48
— Advantages from religious conversation	xxii.	98
— Prosecutions for non-conformity, impious	xxii.	466
— Natural, the foundation of all heresies	xxiii.	142
— Least known when most professed	xxiv.	282
— Remarks on persecutors for	xxvi.	240
— The intention of	xxvi.	446
— Whether human reason is sufficient in	xxvi.	448
— Confirmed by divine revelation	xxvii.	365
— Defined	xxvii.	432
— Not subject to the civil power	xxvii.	432
— Why not cognizable by prince or priest	xxvii.	432
— Sovereigns have no right to prescribe creeds	xxvii.	504
— Natural, of two kinds	xxviii.	560
— Rites performed by the ancients by song and dance	xxix.	12
— Liberty in, a favourite subject with certain writers	xxix.	71
— Liberty in, not so well understood as it deserves	xxix.	71
— Liberty in, defined	xxix.	71
— The advocates for liberty in, afraid of carrying their principles to the just extent	xxix.	72
— When violations on liberty in, were begun by the Christians, and how continued	xxix.	72
— At what time liberty in, was recovered in England	xxix.	73
— The first, not idolatry, but the knowledge of the true God	xxx.	419

Religion , repeatedly communicated by divine revelation	xxx.	419
— Importance of a good history of the Christian	xxxi.	408
— The interests of, hurt by professors too closely adhering to system	xxxii.	25
— Whig and Tory influenced by	xxxii.	63
— of nature and reason, the most pure and perfect	xxxii.	178
— The standard by which revelation should be tried	xxxii.	182
— The importance of modes, in a political sense	xxxii.	223
— Not independent of the forms of government	xxxii.	400
— All not equally conducive to salvation	xxxiii.	306
— Represented in her native beauty	xxxiv.	84
— of a sovereign prince, political	xxxiv.	310
— Advantages to mankind from	xxxiv.	376
— Establishments in, defended	xxxvii.	201
— Establishments, arraigned	xxxvii.	341
— Establishments, repugnant to primitive Christianity	xxxvii.	341
— Establishments, a cause of infidelity	xxxvii.	343
— Effects of establishments, investigated	xxxviii.	107
— Advantages which it receives from men of exalted genius	xl.	550
— Not within the province of the civil magistrate	xli.	366
— Arguments against establishments	xli.	368
— of the antient northern nations of Europe	xlii.	93
— Of divine authority, cannot be injured by sophistry or wit	xliii.	168
— Inquiry into the foundation of, recommended	xliii.	193
— Importance of, to civil society	xliii.	369
— Foster's sentiments on establishments	xliv.	192
— Establishments productive of bad effects	xliv.	193
— Subscription to articles controverted	xliv.	199
— Injured rather than promoted by human sanction	xliv.	402
— Origin and progress of	xliv.	429
— Advantages of, to society and to individuals	xlvi.	236
— Not to be rationally investigated by the bulk of mankind	xlvi.	438
— Any, better than atheism	xlvi.	439
— Not subject to the absolute cognizance of government	xlvi.	491
— Rational, the glory of our nature	xlvi.	480
— Defence of	liii.	170
— of the antient nations	liii.	176
— Sects and establishments, mutually useful	liii.	422
— Alliance of, with philosophy	lix.	452
— Dialogue concerning	lxi.	96
— Establishments in, defended	lxi.	324
— Philosophical conversation on	lxiv.	303
— Soundness in religious matters defined, and what it is not	lxvi.	79
— Sound doctrine defined	lxviii.	106
Religious houses , their dissolution brought on chiefly by the catholics themselves	xxi.	275
— Reflection on their dissolution	xxi.	277

Rembrandt , the painter, character of his works	xxxviii. 166
— His art. in the composition of his pictures, poetically described	xlii. 30
— Remarks on his style of painting	— xlv. 2
— Compared with Poussin	— lxi. 18
Remitter , in law, explained	— xxxix. 331, the note .
Reminiscence , what	— xv. 45
Remora , fish, description of	— v. 400
Remorse , an evidence of free agency	— xxiii. 439
— The sign of	— xxvi. 203
Renel , Mr. his account of the Ganges and Burrampooter rivers	— lxi. 366
Rent charge , how created	— xx. 211
Renwick, William , abstract of his unfortunate story	— xlv. 331
Repentance , the penitent thief, no proof of the acceptance of a death-bed	— viii. 292
— Of itself, though complete, insufficient to restore us to the divine favour	— xvii. 115
— Unacceptable from a death-bed	— xxvii. 455
— Folly of deferring a life of virtue, in hopes of the efficacy of a death-bed repentance	— xxvii. 455
— for sin, how far a sufficient reparation	— xxx. 280
Report-books , defects in, one of the principal causes of the confusion and intricacy of the law	— xxvii. 140
— Their utility	— xxxiii. 108
Representatives of the people . See Parliament .
Reprobate , who are of that number	— iv. 345
Reproof , the best method of conveying it	— xvi. 445
Re-production of animals, curious account of	— xli. 483
— Voltaire's remarks on	— xli. 554
Republic , advantages of, over monarchies	— iv. 219
— Rise of, in the reign of Charles I.	— xl. 358
— Glory of England, while under that form of government	— xlv. 82
Repulsion , its use in explaining the phenomena of nature	— x. 456
— Proofs of its existence	— x. 457
— Its causes	— x. 457
Resentment for wrongs justified	— xxi. 304
Residual, analysis , what	— xx. 327
— Method of drawing tangents to curves by it	— xx. 328
— The same performed by fluxions	— xx. 331
— No new invention	— xx. 557
— More easy by fluxions	— xx. 559
— Defence of	— xxi. 164
— Its preference to the doctrine of fluxions, &c.	— xxxi. 91
— Not superior to the fluxionary calculus	— xxxi. 93
Resin , used in making salt	— ii. 171
— Experiments on	— vi. 46
Resinous gum , account of a	— lxi. 586
Resistance ,

Resistance , of bodies considered	—	ii.	396
— Of bodies, the effect of their intestine motion	—	xxi.	502
— The general criterion of physical beings	—	xxx.	538
Resistance of subjects , against a tyrannical prince, recommended by a Frenchmen	—	iii.	133
— Justifiable against unlawful power	—	xviii.	461
— To the will of the sovereign enquired into, and defended	—	xxxiv.	192
— Asserted by Bishop Hoadley	—	xxxiv.	194
Resolution , described	—	iv.	134
Resorption , of the excretory fluids, its important advantages	—	lii.	176
Respiration , experiments on	—	v.	5
— Accounted for	—	vi.	450
— New theory of	—	vi.	451
— Caused by the easy transit of the blood through the pulmonary vessels	—	vi.	453
— Begun and continued by an uneasy sensation	—	vi.	455
— The theory of	—	vii.	61
— Reverie concerning	—	xxxiv.	30
— Observations on the commencement of	—	xlii.	544
— On the action of the lungs on the aorta	—	xlviii.	552
— Dr. Priestley's observations on	—	lv.	412
Restitution of stolen goods, how to be obtained in England	—	xv.	15
Resurrection of Christ, the objection against it founded on the different accounts of the women, answered	—	x.	14
— Of the body, not expressed in the New Testament	—	xvii.	535
— When first inserted in the creed	—	xvii.	536
— Our Saviour's, the design of	—	xviii.	444
— Conjectures concerning	—	xix.	356
— Of Christ, arguments for the necessity of it	—	xix.	122
— Poem on	—	xxi.	352
— The New Testament signification of that word	—	xxii.	14
— Of the body, no where used in the New Testament	—	xxii.	15
— Of the body, denied	—	xxiv.	281
— Of the body, scripture doctrine relating to, investigated	—	xxxiv.	444
Retirement , advantages of	—	vi.	403
— A recommendation of	—	xxiii.	69
— Ode to	—	xxiv.	141
— Poetical apostrophe to	—	xlii.	443
Retribution , argument for a future state of	—	xiv.	397
Retz , Cardinal de, his memoirs characterized	—	liii.	267
Revelation , arguments in favour of	—	iv.	81
— Christian, its signal advantages to the world	—	x.	162
— The objection of its not being universal, considered	—	x.	163
— Its preference to natural religion	—	x.	408
— The authority of, not affected by any difficulties that are to be found in it	—	xii.	273
Revelation ,	—

Revelation , a divine one; why needful	xii.	448
— How to judge of	xv.	80
— The necessity of appealing to reason to determine the merits of	xv.	474
— Not to be credited against reason	xix.	550
— Its intention a test of its truth	xx.	5
— Its insufficiency to secure mankind in the truth	xx.	591
— Supernatural, said to be a contradiction	xxxii.	178
— Tokens to prove divine	xxxii.	182
— Intended for the use of all mankind	xxxiv.	202
— Adapted to the capacities of the vulgar	xxxiv.	204
Revelation of St. John , three first chapters explained	ii.	149
— The authority of it not acknowledged by Chrysostom	ix.	306
— First mentioned as included in the canon of scripture, by the third council of Carthage	xiii.	10
— The prophecies in them applied	xviii.	27
— Explication of chapter x and xi. applied to the conversion of the Americans	xxxv.	279
— Prophecies in, applied to recent events	xxxix.	299
— Its language and style illustrated	xlvi.	488
— Its authenticity denied	lix.	145
— New explanation of	lx.	75
— Objections to the authenticity of that book, answered	lx.	561
Revels , kept on the anniversary of the consecration of churches, censured	lxiii.	14
Revenue public , the principal necessary application of, discussed	lv.	81
— Proper sources of	lv.	87
Reversions , Dr. Price's observations on calculating	xlvi.	456
— Dr. Price's observations on	lvii.	65
Revvett , Mr. sent by the Dilettanti society into Ionia, in search of antiquities	xlii.	369
— Associated with other gentlemen in a tour to Asia Minor, &c. in search of antiquities	lii.	193
Reviewers , monthly, deem their obligation to read all the modern novels a vile drudgery	xi.	470
— Dionysius of the Halicarnassus, the first writer of a review	xiv.	253
— Attacked by an old woman not in her senses	xiv.	282
— Styled infidels and scorpions by an angry Hutchinsonian	xv.	516
— Professions of their integrity	xxvi.	31
— Their motives for censuring the author of Tristram Shandy	xxvi.	31
— Humorously rallied	xxx.	67
— Accompany Mr. Shandy in his travels	xxxii.	120
— Reprove him for his obscenity	xxxii.	124
— For his dull description of Paris	xxxii.	125
Reviews ,

Reviewers, monthly , commend his sociability	xxxii. 128
— Praise his adventures with a girl	xxxii. 129
— Strictures on his writings	xxxii. 130
— Botanical review of his viii. vol.	xxxii. 131
— Encomium on his account of uncle Toby and widow Wadman	xxxii. 136
— Advises him to reform his writings	xxxii. 138
— Their critical office and conduct defended	xxxiii. 547
— Their occasional acrimony, excusable	xxxiii. 547
— And requisite	xxxiii. 548
— Apology for their severe treatment of an author	xli. 291
— Defended, against the objections of Dr. Langhorne	xli. 488
— Their office as public censors, discussed	lv. 300
Revolution , an account of the	vii. 128
— Defended, against Dr. Smollet	xviii. 293
— The advantages of it, corrupted	xviii. 470
— And rebellion, distinguished	xix. 246
— In the constitution of the French monarchy	liii. 166
— One of the grand æras of our history	lviii. 114
— Gave a new spirit to the constitution	lviii. 115
— The advantages presented by it, for the extension and security of liberty, neglected by the people	lviii. 116
— Poetical reflections on	lxix. 472
Rewards , whether calculated to promote the interests of, morality	xxvi. 176
Rewards and punishments, future , not revealed in the old Testament	x. 263
— Will be proportionate to our deserts	xviii. 166
— The notion of, how far consistent with the social affections	xxviii. 43
Reynolds, Mr. his remedy for the smut of corn	xlv. 14
— Remarks on	xlv. 15
Reynolds, Sir Joshua , his critical observations on the art of painting	lxi. 17
— Encomiums on his pictures	lxiv. 130
— General imperfection of his pictures	lxiv. 183
— His painted window at Oxford, celebrated	lxvii. 307
— Poetic stricture on his picture of Col. Tarleton	lxvii. 308
Rhazes , saying of his concerning physicians	xxx. 551
Rhisms , amusements there, described	lii. 382
Rhenish wine , method of discovering the adulteration of	lxiv. 537
Rhetoric , philosophically investigated	lv. 288, 380
Rheum Hebridum , a new species of rhubarb	lxvii. 487
Rheumatism , remedy for	xxxv. 309
Rhin river , famous cataract of, poetically described	xxviii. 379
Rhinoceros , observations on the double-horned	xxvii. 442
— Described	lxix. 586
Rhodes , story of a monster there	xxiv. 93
Rhubarb , cultivated in Scotland	xxxv. 450
Vol. II.	G g
	Rhubarb ,

- Rhubarb*, directions for the culture of, in England xlv. 16
 — Account of the Rheum Hebridum — lxvii. 487
Rhyme, English, has no relation to the Greek rhythm xi. 116
 — Why probably added to verse or metre in the living languages xi. 450
 — Condemned and approved — xiii. 96
 — Contributed to destroy all true taste for poetry xiv. 95
 — Poetically disparaged — xlviii. 145
Ribs, luxation of, ascertained and how reduced xl. 217
 — Observations on the motion of, in respiration lxvii. 496
Riccati, his essay on musical composition xxx. 567
Rice, recommended as a prophylactic against the scurvy xiv. 23
Rich, Sir Rob. his disinterested speeches in parliament xxviii. 417
 — His dispute with general Conway lili. 82
Richard, Mr. a pleasant question put by him to a certain playwright xli. 487
Richard the monk, his curious itinerary of Roman Britain xlvii. 30
 — By what means preserved xlvii. 31
Richard I. king of England his undutiful behaviour to his father xlv. 571
 — Superstitious circumstance relating to, at his father's death xlv. 571
 — His combat with the Soldan, how celebrated by Robert de Brunne li. 55
Richard II. characterised — — xxvi. 87
 — Mr. Sacheverel's motion to have a record of his printed xxviii. 189
 — Importance of that record — xxviii. 190
Richard III. probably misrepresented by historians xxxviii. 115
 — The crimes imputed to him, improbable xxxviii. 115
Richardson, Samuel, encomium on his novels xxiv. 250
 — His Clarissa and other writings, commended to the ladies xxxiv. 466
 — Censured — — l. 19
Richardson senior, the painter, his works commended lxiv. 135
 — junior, his performances — lxiv. 136
 — The literary productions of both, characterised lxiv. 136
Richardson, Dr. his essay on the force of percussion xlii. 395
 — His account of the aphides of Linnæus xlviii. 116
Riches, consist more in paper than gold and silver ii. 356
 — Useless to two sorts of people — ii. 439
 — National sources of — — xvii. 111
 — and honours, destructive to genius and learning xxiii. 490
 — One great cause of the high price of provisions xxxvii. 471
Ricblieu, Cardinal, policy of — — vi. 296
 — Advantage made of his schemes by his successor vi. 298
 — His opinion of the conduct of France in dealing with England ix. 389
 — Some account of the administration of xxiv. 291
 — His character and splendid manner of living xxxv. 520
Ricblieu,

Richlieu, Cardinal , famous epigram on	xxxv.	520
— His conduct and character	xxxviii.	563
— His character	lxviii.	413
Richman, Professor , account of his death by electricity	xiii. 425—xv.	277
Richmond, Duke of , his ability in conducting the inquiry into the management of Greenwich Hospital	lxii.	233
— Outlines of his bill for a parliamentary reform	lxix.	429
Richerton, Mr. was of considerable service in Mr. Thomson's improvement in literature	ix.	482
Rickets , various remedies for	xxxvii.	126
— A fatal distemper among sheep	xlvi.	27
— Brief investigation of	xlvi.	28
Riddles , a learned dissertation on	liii.	564
Ridicule , what	v.	52
— Its effects	v.	54
— Can never detect falsehood, or be the test of truth	v.	56
— As used by the Earl of Shaftesbury, vindicated, and what	v.	285
— Whether a test of truth	ix.	225
— The proper subject and use of	x.	169, 171
— An immoderate passion for, one of the predominant qualities of the present age	xxi.	129
— The causes of	xxi.	132
— The bad effects of	xxi.	133
— Proper application of	xxiii.	319
— A stronger weapon in the hands of the vicious than logic	xxv.	340
— Investigated	xxvii.	14, 16
— How far the test of truth	xxxv.	226
Ridiculous , in literary composition, investigated	lvii.	110, 118
Riding , maxims relating to	xxiv.	387
Ridley, Bishop Nicholas , his life	xxix.	439
— Bred a zealous Papist	xxix.	440
— Becomes a protestant	xxix.	445
— Promoted to the see of Rochester	xxix.	446
— His conduct in the persecution of the Anabaptists	xxix.	448
— His generosity to his predecessor's relations, &c.	xxx.	4
— His private life	xxx.	5
— His dispute with Dr. Hooper	xxx.	6
— Persuades the king to grant his house, called Bridewell, for an hospital	xxx.	8
— His interview with the Princess Mary	xxx.	9
— Is confined in the tower, and attainted of high treason	xxx.	10
— Sent to dispute with the Papists at Oxford	xxx.	11
— Burnt for a heretic	xxx.	13
Ridley, Mr. his pathetic address to Mr. Philips, the biographer of Card. Pole	xxxiii.	475
Rienzi, N. Gabrini de , his birth and extraordinary talents	xii.	28
— Disgraced at Avignon	xii.	29
— Preferred, and returns to Rome	xii.	30

Rianzi, N. Gabrini de , declared sovereign of Rome	xii.	31
— And deliverer of his country	xii.	32
— Forced to abandon his usurped authority	xii.	32
— Sent prisoner to Avignon	xii.	33
— Released and restored to power	xii.	33
— His death and character	xii.	33
Rights , of men, the effectually securing them, the foundation of all the rights of civil government	x.	254
— Extraordinary ones, arise from some singular necessity	xiii.	166
Right of defence , how limited	xv.	224
Right and wrong , the origin of our ideas of	xviii.	517
Right ascensions , affected by various causes	xvii.	343
Righteousness , imputed, taught in the book of Job	ii.	350
— Imputed, what	xii.	384
— Imputed, and personal obedience not to be separated	xxi.	470
Rinaldi, Peter , his dissertation to prove the rites of the Romish church not derived from Pagan worship	lix.	451
Rinaldo , (in Tasso) Argillan's speech over the body of	xxix.	256
— His subjection to the charms of Armida	xxix.	328
— Quits her, and resolves to attempt the enchanted forest	xxix.	329
— The attempt beautifully described	xxix.	329
Ring , account of one supposed to have belonged to Alhston, Bishop of Shrewsbury	lvii.	261
Ring , terms in, applicable to peruke-making	xxv.	478
Rio Janiero , some account of	ix.	302
— Advantageous description of	liii.	603
Riots , reflections concerning them	iv.	389
— On account of the dearth of provisions considered	xxxviii.	281
Rivers , method of computing their velocities	xviii.	29
Rivinus , his botanical researches	xlvi.	267
Robbery and theft, scheme for preventing	lxx.	105
— An abdication of the protection of society	xiii.	167
Roberts, Mr. his letter to the reviewers concerning the rot in sheep	lxv.	398
Robertson, Mr. his letter to the bishop of Ferns	xxxvii.	399
— Resigns his living, for conscience sake	xxxvii.	400
Robertson, Dr. his character as an historian	lx.	270
— Censured	lx.	275
Robin and Makyns , an ancient Scots pastoral	xxvi.	189
— The same modernized	xxvi.	193
Robin, Abbt , his inquiries concerning ancient and modern initiations	lxiv.	303
Robins, Mr. his birth	xxv.	332
— Tracts published by him	xxv.	332
— The compiler of Anson's voyage	xxv.	333
— Goes to the East Indies, and dies there	xxv.	335
— Account of the MSS. left by him at his death	l.	32
Rocheſter, Earl of , his name offensive to modest ears	xvi.	48
Rocheſter caſtle , observations on	lxx.	356
	Rocheſſeault ,

Rochefoucault , his maxims gave the French a true relish for propriety and correctness of writing	— — —	vii. 177
— Criticism upon him and Bruyere	— — —	xiv. 495
— Sketch of the character of his maxims	— — —	xxxvi. 507
Rocheau , Baron , his patriotic character	— — —	lv. 556
Rock , burning , account of one in the East Indies	— — —	xxix. 128
Rock-oysters , of corallines found on	— — —	xii. 183
Rockets , observations concerning them	— — —	iv. 251
Rocking-stone , at West Hoadley, account of	— — —	lxx. 263
Rods , pointed, their use in preventing the stroke of lightning	— — —	xv. 380
— Electrical, their efficacy questioned	— — —	lvii. 305
— Asserted, from a new instance	— — —	lvii. 306
Roger , Bishop of Sarum , some account of	— — —	xlx. 257
— His tomb at Salisbury	— — —	xlx. 257
Roger , M. his table of semi-diurnal arches, explained	— — —	lxx. 522
Rogers , Dr. his dispute with Dr. Blair	— — —	i. 312
Raban , Chevalier , story and catastrophe of	— — —	lxiv. 95
Rolling , its uses in tillage	— — —	xviii. 24
Romane , Mr. a gross abuser of the clergy	— — —	xii. 399
— Humorously bantered	— — —	xii. 475
— Proposed for president of a college	— — —	xii. 475
— His nonsense about the self-existence of Christ	— — —	xii. 515
— His abject notion of the holy spirit of God	— — —	xii. 516
— Remarkable advertisement concerning	— — —	xiii. 133
— His definition of gospel	— — —	xxiii. 307
— His description of the godhead	— — —	xxiii. 309
— Effects of his preaching at Shrewsbury	— — —	xliv. 331
— His letter to Dr. Adams	— — —	xliv. 333
Romances , the effects of, on the mind	— — —	vii. 375
— That species of writing, how prostituted	— — —	xxiv. 415
— Remarks on the ancient Greek	— — —	xl. 584
— Their tendency unfavourable to matrimony	— — —	xlvi. 547
— On the origin of the word	— — —	lvii. 265
— Dispute about the derivation of that word	— — —	lxii. 274
— Ancient, poetical encomium on	— — —	lxv. 424
Romantic fiction , its origin in Europe	— — —	i. 292
Roman Father , a new tragedy account of it	— — —	ii. 407
— The public abused with regard to it	— — —	ii. 409
— Only a translation, or bad imitation of Corneille's Horace	— — —	ii. 409
— History of it	— — —	ii. 407, 410
Roman antiquities , an inscription, explained	— — —	v. 1
— Remarks on antiquities	— — —	xxix. 122
— Description of, at Rome	— — —	xxx. 524
— Ruins of the palace of the Cæsars	— — —	xi. 415
— Observations on some altars	— — —	lii. 416
— Account of a Roman station in Derbyshire	— — —	lii. 496
— Monuments of antiquity in Rome	— — —	lvi. 54
— Inscriptions in the Museum Capitolinum	— — —	lvi. 225—lvii. 482
— In Wales	— — —	lxv. 17

Roman, antiquities , two stations in Essex	lxii.	112
— Two camps in Gloucestershire	lxii.	114
— Some remains at York	lxx.	265
— Cubical contents of the Roman Congius and Amphora	lxx.	352
Roman Catholics , of Ireland, a plea for	xxiii.	136
— Defended against the historians of the grand rebellion in 1641	xxvii.	508
— Reasons for abating the laws against them	xxvii.	509
— Not to be tolerated in Protestant countries	xxix.	129
Rome, Ancient , institution of the senate with the manner of choosing the members	iii.	26
— Whence the senators called fathers	iii.	138
— Senators excluded from trade	iii.	139
— Government of, under the kings	v.	329
— Creation of a senate	v.	330
— Establishment of a censor	v.	331
— Warlike genius of the Romans	v.	339
— Whence their ambition for monarchy arose	v.	340
— Their military discipline, the cause of their conquests	v.	341
— Romans, soldiers from their cradles	v.	342
— How their armies were made up	v.	344
— Method of insuring victory	v.	345
— Behaviour of the Romans under the misconduct of their allies	v.	347
— Romans, made an ill use of their power	v.	352
— Ruin of, owing to luxury	vi.	24
— Ceremonies attending the declaration of war	viii.	82
— Manner of levying troops and forming an army	viii.	90
— Institutions for raising the courage of the army	viii.	91
— The manner of their marches	viii.	91
— Political maxims for extending their dominion and influence	viii.	84
— The causes to which their liberties and greatness may be ascribed	viii.	426
— Institution of their youth	viii.	428
— Character of their women	viii.	428
— Military discipline of	viii.	431
— Declension and ruin of the commonwealth	viii.	433
— Probable reason why the Romans hid their money in the earth	x.	232
— Romans, the first who established nobility by law	xi.	422
— Extravagance and slavishness of their attendance on great men	xii.	5
— Degeneracy of the Romans	xii.	410
— History of, little to be trusted to in the early part	xiii.	391
— The government of a military nature	xiii.	397
— Observations on the magnificence of	xv.	615
— Senate as well as generals, instrumental to the loss of the battle of Cannæ	xv.	666

Rome, Antient , fatal remissness and misconduct in opposing the progress of Annibal	xv.	667
— Their wars not expensive, but profitable	xviii.	39
— Conjectures on the creating of senators	xix.	191
— Number of Senators, doubled upon the peace of Romulus and Tatius	xix.	310
— Philosophical estimate of the glory of	xxii.	530
— Bad effects from the conquest of Carthage	xxii.	532
— Fatal change in their motives to valour	xxii.	545
— Total depravity under the Emperors	xxiii.	498
— Reflections on the decline of	xxiv.	123
— Uncertainty of the first four ages of their history	xxiv.	378
— Calamities occasioned by the contemporary competitors for the empire	xxv.	261
— Conduct of the senate on the death of Aurelian	xxv.	265
— Amused out of its liberties	xxix.	519
— Their magnificent edifices ruined by themselves, and not by the Barbarians	xxix.	520
— A common mistake in the story of the Roman charity	xxxiii.	523
— Instance of their generosity in the civil wars	xli.	308
— Civil government of the Romans in Britain	xlvi.	33
— Their military roads in Britain	xlvi.	31
— Their Summer camps in Britain	xlvi.	33
— Oeconomy of their government in Britain	xlvi.	105
— Influence of their manners on the Britons	xlvi.	108
— Buildings delineated by M. Desgodetz	xlvi.	140
— Magnificence of their baths	xlvi.	366
— State of the arts under Augustus	xlvi.	371
— Good effects of the funeral orations	xlvi.	551
— Reflections on the ruin of, by the Barbarians	l.	537
— Observations on the history of	li.	412
— Causes of the destruction of their liberties	li.	442
— Description of a ball at a Roman villa	lii.	387
— Three memoirs on	lii.	567
— Memoir on the Roman legion	liv. 509—lxi. 528—lxiv.	554
— Magnificence of the public spectacles	lv.	42
— The first introduction of christianity at	lv.	45
— Little acquainted with the northern parts of Britain	lv.	51
— Vindication of the Romans from the charge of neglecting their public buildings, &c. when they grew magnificent and luxurious in private life	lv.	305
— The capital described	lvi.	57
— Great care in educating their young men of quality	lvii.	464
— The constitution of the senate	lix.	336
— The administration of the Lords	lxi.	219
— Observations on the Roman publicans	lxiv.	509
— Observations on the edicts of the magistrates	lxiv.	554
— Circumstances at the plunder of, by Alaric, and by Charles V.	lxv.	33
— Its legal polity investigated	lxvi.	198

Rome, Ancient, improvements in the polity under Constantine	lxvi.	202
— The Justinian code	lxvi.	203
— Government of, under the Consuls	lxvi.	204
— Sylla appointed perpetual dictator	lxvi.	246
— Reflections on the fall of	lxvi.	461
— Ensnaring professions to the Greeks after the defeat of Philip	lxvii.	428
— Their taking and burning of Corinth, described	lxvii.	430
— Spirited conduct after the defeat at Cannæ	lxix.	291
Rome, Modern, Ceremonies at the Jubilee	i.	448
— The theatrical diversions at	iii.	348
— The education of the nobility and lower classes	iii.	349
— Present state, number of inhabitants, &c.	xv.	608
— Subtle and bold measures of the court of	xvi. 12.	211
— Not originally an elective kingdom	xix.	189
— Regulations of harlots	xix.	473
— Empire sold by auction	xxix.	123
— The unhealthy air of Campagna	xxviii.	217
— No society for physic or mathematics	xxviii.	219
— The study of antiquities cultivated there	xxviii.	220
— Citizens characterized	xxxiii.	515
— Beggars and pilgrims, the pests of	xxxiii.	515
— Courtezans not tolerated	xxxiii.	516
— Frequency of murders	xxxiii.	517
— Modern account of Rome	xxxiv.	427
— Grand religious ceremonies	xxxv.	437
— English in great esteem at	xxxv.	437
— Whoring at a very low ebb in Rome, and why	xxxv.	438
— Whence originally descended	xxxv.	491
— Religion, the grand engine of their state	xxxv.	491
— Pious regard to oaths	xxxv.	492
— Comparison of their misery under the Popes, with their ancient splendor	xxxix.	575
— Frequency of murders, and little noticed	xl.	575
— Use of Cicisbeos	xl.	576
— In its infant state, a nest of robbers	xli.	186
— Unhealthy situation of	xli.	413
— Monuments of antiquity	xli.	413
— Wonderful common sewers	xli.	416
— Character of the inhabitants	xli.	417
— Magnificent cavalcades of the Popes	xli.	418
— Sketch of things worthy of observation	lv.	297
— Spada palace described	lvi.	62
— St. Peter's church described	lx.	338
— Inhabitants described	lxiii.	47
— Prisons described	lxiii.	531
— The government mild, but feeble	lxvii.	291
— The feeble state of	lxviii.	582
Rome, church of, advice to the clergy of	ii.	356
— Invektive against, by a French author	iii.	132

- Rome, Modern*, governed by harlots — xv. 583
 — Form of excommunication — xxiv. 107
 — Reasons against a protestant marrying a Roman catholic — xxvii. 475
 — Doctrines of, exploded — xxix. 119
 — Argument against her infallibility — xxix. 122
 — Errors detected by one of her own priests — lvii. 473
 — Not derived from pagan worship — lix. 451
Romeo and Juliet, account of that tragedy — xxxii. 213
Rona, Isle of, poetically described — lvi. 100
Rondeau, M. du, his memoir concerning wool — lxiv. 533
Roos, Mr. his account of Druidical remains on Standon and Hartle Moor, in the Peak — lxx. 265
Rose, poetically described — — xvii. 460
Roselle, Marquis de, story of — — xxxi. 515
Rosenmuller, M. his observations on the New Testament — lix. 458
Rosmunda of Rucellai, a tragedy, observations on — li. 281
Rosi, Earl of, his character — xxiv. 19
 — The humorous trick he played the Earl of Kildare and Dean Madden, when on his death-bed — xxiv. 20
Rostgrave, Tom, story of — — xi. 70
Rossi, Abbe, his specimen of the Ambrosian manuscripts of the Syriac version of the scriptures — lix. 452
Rostock, in Mecklenburg, some particulars relating to — xxxviii. 483
Rostoff, Archbishop of, his impostures — — li. 498 — Broke on the wheel — — li. 498
Rot in Sheep. See Sheep.
Rota, at Rome, its functions — — xv. 618
Rotherham, Mr. his defence of the Athanasian creed, exploded — xlviii. 476
Rothsay, town and castle of, described — — li. 453
Roubiliac, his excellence in the execution of monuments, &c. — lxiv. 189
Roundheads, occasion of that name being given to the fanatics — xli. 215
Rousseau, J. J. comedy in ridicule of — — xxiii. 320
 — His plan for a perpetual peace — — xxiv. 403
 — His remark on persecutors for religion — — xxvi. 240
 — His system of education — — xxviii. 1, 14, 81, 96
 — His letter to the Archbishop of Paris on that prelate's mandate issued against him — — xxviii. 224
 — Extracts from his social compact — — xxix. 382
 — His notions of education controverted — — xxx. 301
 — His inconsistency in pretending to be a Christian — xxxi. 489, 491
 — The singularities of his natural disposition — xxxi. 492
 — His notion of miracles — — xxxi. 498
 — His scheme of education attacked — — xxxiii. 38
 — Persecution of, in Switzerland — — xxxiii. 506
 — Pleasant mistake of the town clerk in reading the prohibition of Rousseau's works — — xxxiii. 507
 — His declarations to the pastor of his church — xxxiii. 507, 512
Rousseau,

Rousseau, J. J. remonstrance in his favour	—	xxxiii. 508
— Interrogated as to his creed	—	xxxiii. 509
— Letter to the Attorney-general	—	xxxiii. 510
— To his persecutors	—	xxxiii. 511
— Resolves to quit his native country	—	xxxiii. 513
— His account of the treachery of his pastor	—	xxxiii. 550
— How deceived in his favourable opinion of his protestant brethren	—	xxxiii. 552
— Exhorted to perseverance in the freedom of his enquiries	—	xxxiv. 245
— Quarrel between him and Hume	—	xxxv. 390
— Letters between them	—	xxxv. 394, 400
— His reflections on the culture of the arts and sciences	—	xxxix. 214
— On the love of our country	—	xxxix. 215
— On French music	—	xxxix. 216
— On toleration	—	xxxix. 216
— His persecutors censured	—	xxxix. 218
— One of the most distinguished writers in the Encyclopædia	—	xxxix. 544
— Defence of his character and writings	—	xl. 199
— His literary character	—	xlvi. 515
— Erroneously substituted for Baptist Rousseau	—	lvi. 50
— The mistake rectified	—	lvi. 103
— Remarkable circumstances relative to his last moments	—	lix. 411
— Has left memoirs of himself	—	lix. 412
— Sketch of his character	—	lx. 137
— Specimens of his memoirs of himself	—	lx. 139
— Manner of his dying	—	lx. 140
— His last words	—	lx. 141
— His tomb and monument	—	lx. 142
— A monument erected by the Marq. of Gerardin	—	lx. 143
— Defended against D'Alembert	—	lxi. 302
— His posthumous account of himself	—	lxiii. 492
— His jealousy of mankind in general	—	lxiii. 493
— His "Deposit consigned to Providence"	—	lxiii. 494
— His memory abused by Diderot	—	lxvi. 513
— His confessions of his own faults, &c.	—	lxvi. 532
— Anecdotes of the first thirty years of his life	—	lxvi. 532
— His confessions, or anecdotes of his own life and juvenile adventures	—	lxvii. 228
— His notions of the origin of moral evil controverted	—	lxvii. 448
— His character nicely discriminated	—	lxi. 150
— The scene of his last retreat described	—	lxx. 446
— Several particulars relative to his history	—	lxx. 447
— King of Prussia's letter concerning	—	lxx. 448
— Petitions to end his days in prison	—	lxx. 449
— Letter on his request being refused	—	lxx. 450
Rousseau, of Thoulouse , letter to, from Voltaire, concerning the Monthly Review	—	xxxiv. 312

- Rowe, Nicholas*, observations on his writings — xv. 70
 — His edition of Shakespeare characterised — xxxiii. 385
 — His poetry considered — lxx. 108
Rowley, Dr. his complaint against Dr. Hunter — li. 395
 — Letter to the Reviewers concerning — li. 488
Rowley, the monk, his poems, where said to have been discovered
 lvi. 257
 — The question concerning their authenticity agitated lvi. 258
 — Specimens — lvi. 260
 — Arguments and testimonies in favour of their genuineness lvi. 321
 — Farther specimens of exterior evidence — lvi. 446
 — Controversy relative to lxxvi. 206, 321, 433—lxxvii. 37, 161, 266
 — Ode relative to — lxxvii. 235
 — Evidence relative to the authenticity of the poems ascribed to him lxxviii. 220
Roi, M. le, obtains the prize given by the Royal Society of Paris, for the most accurate time-piece — lxxviii. 559
 — His clocks for the discovery of the longitude, tried in a voyage to Newfoundland — lxx. 71
 — Other trials in various parts of the globe — lxx. 154
 — His endeavours for finding the longitude by means of time-
 keepers — lxxiii. 199
Royal Shepherd, an English opera from Metastasio, founded on a story in Quintus Curtius — xxx. 245
Royal Society, censured — iv. 191
 — A review of their works — iv. 279
 — Advantages derived from it — vii. 177
 — Observations in favour of — xi. 211
 — Censured for their conduct relative to their philosophical transactions — xxxi. 205
 — Accused of pretending to prophecy — xxxi. 207
 — Charged with timidity, and a false veneration for great names xxxi. 207
 — Reprehended — xxxiii. 444
 — Account of some late dissensions in — lxx. 268
Royal touch, no proper evidence in support of it — iv. 5
Rozier, M. P. de, performs an air balloon journey with the Marquis d'Arlandes — lxxix. 556
 — His voyage in the air balloon constructed at Lyons — lxx. 224
Rubens, his character contrasted with Poussin — lxxviii. 455
Rudbeck, his method of ascertaining chronology — xiii. 182
Rudder's new history of Gloucestershire — lxxiii. 10
Rudyard, Sir Benjamin, his speech — xvii. 500 Ruffs, Mrs. Turner contributes to drive them out of fashion by being hanged in one — xli. 212
Rubkenius, his recommendation of Grou's French translation of Plato's book of laws — xli. 541
 — His edition of the hymn to Ceres — lxxiii. 481
 — His opinion relative to Homer's being the author of this hymn lxxiii. 483
Ruins,

Rains , a poetical description of	—	xxv.	329
Rules of right judgment	—	v.	391
Rum , its properties, uses, &c.	—	ii.	375
— Poetical encomiums on	—	xxxi.	115
— Shewn to be more wholesome than brandy	—	xlvi.	477
Rumowski, M. his observations on the transit of Venus	—	xl.	495
Rundle, Dr. vindicated from Dr. Patten's aspersions	—	xv.	249
Runnymede , conjectures respecting the name of that place	—	lxx.	219
Rupert, Prince , communicates the method of engraving in metz- tinto to Mr. Evelyn	—	xii.	390
Ruptures , fallacy of empirical pretences to the cure of	—	xv.	512
— Persons afflicted with, apt to be credulous	—	xv.	512
— Controversy concerning	—	xxvii.	110
— in the bladder of a pregnant woman	—	xlvi.	450
— Opinions relating to the different kinds of	—	liii.	294
Rural life , happiness of, described	—	xli.	75
— Poem on	—	lii.	344
Russetworth , some material omissions in his collections	—	x.	177
Russel, Lord , curious remarks on his indictment	—	xxix.	247
— Poetical epistle from, to Lord Cavendish	—	xxix.	401
— Inscription for his monument	—	xxix.	405
— Accused of intriguing with the agent of France	—	xlix.	1
— His character vindicated	—	xlix.	4
Russel, Lord William , account of	—	lxviii.	102
Russel, Lord , a tragedy, by Hayley, extracts from	—	lxx.	293
Russel, Lady Rachel , her letter to Charles II.	—	xlix.	57
Russel, Admiral , his motion relating to placemen	—	xxviii.	417
Russel, Mr. author of the young painter's letters	—	iii.	341
Russel, Dr. his account of the scammony plant	—	xvi.	545
Russia , first cause of the rise of the Empress Catherine	—	vii.	150
— The common people described	—	xix.	441
— The religion and government	—	xix.	441
— Servility of the nobles to the Czar	—	xix.	443
— Computation of the number of inhabitants	—	xxvii.	401
— The ancient obscurity of	—	xxviii.	519
— Account of reformation in	—	xxiv.	128
— History of, in the Modern Universal History	—	xxvii.	418
— Succession and claims to the empire on the demise of Peter the Great, with the revolution thereon	—	xxxi.	308
— Character of the soldiery	—	xxxv. 82—xli.	434
— New code of laws for	—	xl.	33
— Surprising hot-baths	—	xl.	588
— The arbitrary government of	—	xl.	595
— Account of the religion	—	xl.	596
— Tenets and bigotry of the clergy	—	xl.	596
— The country unfavourable to the sciences and arts	—	xl.	598
— Void of genius, but remarkable for imitation	—	xl.	598
— Cruelty in the punishment of criminals	—	xl.	599
		Russia,

Russia, story of a young lady on whom the knout was inflicted

— State of population	—	—	xi. 599
— Causes of the decrease of inhabitants	—	—	xli. 432
— Estimate of the military force	—	—	xli. 432
— Estimate of the naval trade	—	—	xli. 433
— Caravan trade with China	—	—	xli. 454
— Advantages as a warlike people	—	—	xli. 456
— Natural advantages over the Turks	—	—	xli. 458
— National character of	—	—	xli. 459
— Naval victory over the Turks	—	—	xlvi. 39
— Manners and customs	—	—	xlvi. 138
— Conduct of the Empress with respect to Poland	—	—	xlvi. 35
— State of, at the accession of Peter the Great	—	—	xlvi. 447
— Reformation and improvement under Peter	—	—	l. 514
— Farther attempts of the successors of Peter	—	—	l. 514
— Improvements in the manners	—	—	l. 520
— Plans of education, laws, &c. by the Empress	—	—	li. 539
— Customs respecting the ladies	—	—	lii. 342
— Modes relating to marriages and christenings	—	—	liii. 13
— Manner of celebrating a birth-day	—	—	liii. 211
— Amusements in	—	—	liii. 212
— Memoirs of	—	—	liii. 213
— Account of the cold in	—	—	lvii. 485
— Of the diversion of the flying mountains	—	—	lviii. 378
— Materials for the history, from the death of Peter the Great	—	—	lviii. 379
— The revenue of	—	—	lix. 460
— Gigantic bones of animals found there	—	—	lxi. 59
— Preserved from the scurvy by their antiseptic diet	—	—	lxi. 535, 551
— Observations on	—	—	lxi. 379, 410
— Manner of recovering persons poisoned by the fumes of charcoal	—	—	lxiii. 2
— Conversation with a traveller on	—	—	lxiii. 393
— A complete history of, published at Paris	—	—	lxiv. 108
— Superstition and cruelty of the clergy	—	—	lxvi. 512
— Language and literature of	—	—	lxvii. 413
— State of the arts	—	—	lxx. 562
— Population and slavery of	—	—	lxx. 564
— Different classes or orders of people	—	—	lxx. 565
Russians, Ardeaus, brief account of	—	—	lxx. 565
Ruth, book of, general account of	—	—	xlv. 578
Ruthel, Thomas, Bishop of Durham, curious story of	—	—	li. 266
Rutherford, Dr. his notions of church subscriptions, &c. controverted	—	—	lxiv. 116
Ruby, Dr. his account of the success of the cicuta, in Ireland	—	—	xxxvi. 451
			xxxviii. 440
Rycant, Sir Paul, letter from, concerning Turkey	—	—	xiv. 424
Rye-house plot, Lord Grey's confession of	—	—	ix. 511
			Rythm

Rythm and Numbers , the vehicle of history and instruction in the earliest times	—	xxix.	8
— The same among the Arabs	—	xxix.	8
— and the Americans	—	xxix.	9
Rybrack's monuments, &c. praised	—	lxiv.	188

S.

S—y, Earl of , his character	—	lxiv.	405
Sabeans , on the religion of the	—	lxix.	257, 544
Sabbath , Jewish and Christian, considered	—	xxviii.	287
— Remarks on the change of, from the seventh to the first day of the week	—	xlvi.	141
— On the neglect of	—	xlvi.	142
— People allowed to work on, in ancient times, on necessary occasions	—	lv.	185
— How to be regarded in farming affairs	—	lx.	249
Sacheverell, Dr. his observations on impressing seamen	—	xxviii.	132
— On a motion concerning records	—	xxviii.	189
— On abuses in courts of justice	—	xxviii.	198
— On the abdication of King James	—	xxviii.	413
— Compared to a house	—	lxi.	359
Sackville, Sir Edward , abuses Titus Oates	—	xxviii.	330
Sacraments , observations relative to	—	lxix.	99
Sacrifice , the origin of	—	iii.	124
— Doctrine of, examined	—	iv.	266
— Of Christ, reflections on it	—	iv.	273
— Their nature and origin	—	xlii.	179, 180
— The proper design of them	—	xliii.	237
— In scripture, never designed as vicarious substitutions	—	xiv.	407
— Not instituted for the expiation of every sin	—	xvi.	116
— Under the law; no prefiguration of that of Christ	—	xvi.	116
— Piacular, the popular notion of, exploded	—	xxv.	187
— Dr. Taylor's opinion of, objected to	—	xxv.	188
— Conformity between the Jewish and Pagan notions concerning them	—	xxx.	279
— Appointed by God himself	—	xxx.	279
— How far available for the removal of guilt	—	xxx.	279
— Of the death of Christ, its super-excellency	—	xxxvi.	247
Sacrilege , Voltaire's sentiments relating to	—	lviii.	548
Sadducees , their tenets	—	iv.	88
Sadi , a Persian writer, his poem on the power of the Supreme Being	—	xliii.	86
Sadler's Wells , satirical account of the diversions	—	lii.	141
Sadolet , his great character	—	xli.	532
Saffron , experiments on the doses and effects of	—	xxxix.	204
— Observations on the culture and profit of	—	xlvi.	289
— A despicable drug	—	xlvi.	303

Saffron,

Saffron , the flowers of the bastard fort used in dying cotton	lxix.	250
Sage , M. on the decomposition of fulminating gold	lxv.	484
— His observations on the red mine of copper	lxvii.	501
— His experiments relative to the obtaining gold from vegetable earths and ashes	lxvii.	504
— Account of the yellow solar earth	lxviii.	628
Sail-wheel , for emptying low watery grounds, described	xvii.	224
Sailing , a medicine among the ancient physicians	xv.	204
— Revival of, recommended	xv.	204
— Instances of its utility	xv.	204
— and sailors , observations on	lviii.	428
— against the currents of rivers	lviii.	513
Sailor , a most wonderful story of one	iii.	203
Sailor's happiness	v.	524
Sailors and Soldiers discharged from government service, scheme for settling them	xxvii.	382
Sailors , extraordinary instance of their thoughtlessness and adventurous spirit	xlx.	356
— See Seamen .
Saints , origin of the invocation of	ix.	352
— A Turkish, metamorphosed to a serpent	xv.	487
— Wonderful effects ascribed to	xv.	487
Sainfoin , what its peculiar manure	xviii.	554
— Observations on the culture of	xl.	286
— Average profit of	xl.	380
— Cultivation of, warmly recommended	xlvi.	86
St. Amand , Mr. some account of	xlili.	2
— His valuable collection of books and MSS.	xlili.	3
St. Christopher's , Island of, described	xxxi.	107
Saint Croix , Baron de, his translation of the Ezour Vedam	lxi.	501
St. David's diocese , a greater number of non-academics ordained in, than in the other three Welch dioceses	xix.	531
St. Evremond , remarkable saying of his, on the religion of England	xxxix.	365
St. Helena , observations on the tides at	xxix.	140
St. Januarius , account of the blood of	xxviii.	219
St. John , Henry, his letter to Mr. Carfares	lii.	221
St. Louis , histoire de l'ordre	lxiv.	455
St. Marc's works	lii.	534
St. Michael , in Bosco , description of the cloister of the convent	lix.	449
St. Miguel Island , account of	lxii.	49
St. Paul's Cathedral , a pagan rite continued there	xxiii.	202
St. Vitus's Dance , cured by electricity	lxii.	215
Saladin , Sultan, particulars of his life	xx.	43
Salamanca , city and university of, described	lviii.	33
Salamander aquatic , said to be vomited by a man	lii.	574
— East Indian, described	lxix.	531

- Sal ammoniac*, its efficacy in vernal intermittent disorders xxxvi. 497
- Salp*, how to prepare from orchis, and other vegetable roots xlv. 203
- Saline earth*, account of — lii. 575
- Salivary secretion*, its use in the animal œconomy xxxiv. 30
- Salle, Count de*, his portrait — v. 388
- Sallow, Simon*, his speech at a council in the moon xxxiv. 44
- Sallust*, fragments of — liv. 508
- History of the Roman republic during the 17th century lvi. 554
- His style considered — ix. 79
- Salt*, various ways in making it — ii. 168, seq.
- Alum, four whey, tallow, and wheat flour, used in making — ii. 171
- Mine of, near Cracau, described — iv. 383
- Experiments on — vi. 44
- Power of, to resist putrefaction — vi. 44
- Method of making it in Minorca — vii. 209
- Chrystals and configurations of — viii. 266
- Urinous, destructive to vegetables — xii. 74
- How rendered nitrous by the air — xii. 74
- Nitrous, most congruous to vegetation — xii. 74
- How used to meliorate soils — xiii. 334
- Useful to prevent the depredations of insects on fruit-trees, and the injuries of honey dews — xiii. 344
- Sea, in some degree antiscorbutic — xxi. 409
- Water drinkers particularly fond of it in their diet xxi. 410
- Account of a salt found on the Pic of Teneriffe xxxv. 450
- Springs, found in the mountains of Spain xxxvii. 447
- Natural history of — xxxix. 136
- Account of some neutral salts made with vegetable acids, &c. xxxix. 337
- Of a salt lake — xxxix. 422
- of Solfatara, observations on — xli. 510
- Observations on salt extracted from vegetables xlv. 520
- of sea wreck analysed — xlv. 520
- Account of a mineral one which resists fire — lii. 575
- of canal, memoir concerning — lviii. 514
- Mountain of, in Spain — lx. 554
- Memoir of the native sedative salt of Tuscany lxii. 237
- Account of the works at Droitwich — lxxv. 259
- Its great use in preserving the health of cattle lxxvii. 559
- Salt-box*, musical verses adapted to — xxviii. 480
- Salt pitre*, pretended to be made from earth, curious story of xli. 556
- Observations on the formation and manufacturing of — lv. 514
- Memoirs concerning the production of — lix. 65, 541
- Immense quantities made in Spain — lix. 541
- Remarks on the decomposition of, by means of the sal gemme of Cordova — lx. 555
- Salt-petre*,

- Salt-petre*, hints relative to the establishing works of, in England, and in the East Indies — lrv. 49
- Salt water*, experiments on the evaporation of xxxviii. 581
- Salvation*, final, will extended to all mankind — xix. 115
- Works necessary to — xxii. 171
- Salviati*, form of his initiation to the cardinalship xv. 618
- Samaritans*, a sect of Indian philosophers — lxi. 501
- Samaritan character*, or writing high antiquity and originality of xxxii. 198
- Samos, Island of*, antiquities there — lxiv. 453
- Samson*, his foxes supposed to have been jackalls xl. 375
- Sancbo, Ignatius*, a negro, his letter to Sterne liii. 409
- A man of letters — lxix. 492
- Specimens of his excellence in his epistolary corresp. lxix. 494
- Sanchiniasbo*, the design of his writings — vii. 183
- His account of the creation — vii. 184
- His account of the origin of idolatry — vii. 184
- Sanctification* explained — xiv. 409
- Sand*, on the fluidity of — liii. 547
- Sandarach*, its nature fully explained — iv. 188
- Sandwich, Earl of*, sketch of his character — lxvi. 382
- Sanglin*, description of — xviii. 239
- Sans Souci*, palace of, its magnificence — lv. 554
- Sancta Croce*, palace of, at Rome, described — lvi. 61
- Santena, Count of*, his bravery in defending an old castle against M. Catinat — lxiii. 424
- His witty answer to Catinat's officers, when a prisoner, and insulted by them. — lxiii. 425
- Santorin, Gulph of*, account of the appearance of two new islands therein — xxxvii. 505
- Described — lix. 519
- Effects of volcanic eruptions there, and in the neighbourhood lix. 519
- Sap*, no evidence of its descent from the branches to the root viii. 266
- Rise and fall of, in vegetables, what — xxvii. 446
- Sapbandre*, a machine to prevent drowning — lx. 567
- Sappho*, her hymn to Venus, translated — xli. 429
- Remarks on her writings — xv. 73
- Sarcocole*, description of one of an astonishing size lxx. 102
- Sardanapalus*, construction of his epitaph — xlviii. 535
- Sardinia, King of*, some account of his character viii. 309
- Royal family of, characterised — xlix. 82
- Remarkable economy of the King — xlix. 84
- History of — liii. 438—lvii. 307
- Sarjent, Mr.* account of his institution of a prize medal in the college of Philadelphia — xxxvi. 24
- Saros, or Cycle of Seasons*, new discovery of — lxvi. 548
- Sarjaparilla*, account of — xvi. 551
- Virtues of — xvi. 552

Sarsaparilla , not to be depended on in the cure of venereal complaints, without the use of mercury	xvii.	574
Sarum , Old , some account of	xliv.	52
Sarus , the Chaldean computation, consisted of 10 years of each	360 days vii.	81
Satan , instructions to	xxvi.	154
— Scripture meaning of that word	xlvii.	191
Satellites , gravitate more towards their primary than towards the sun	ii.	406
— Why their motions are irregular	xxi.	126
— of Jupiter, M. de Bailly's theory of	xxxvii.	167
— M. de la Lande's observations on the eclipses of	xxxvii.	171
Satires , the first English	vii.	351
Satirists satirised	l.	317, 318
Saturn , account of a singularity observed in the motion of	xlii.	499
— M. de la Lande's tables relating to the orbit of	xlvii.	494
— On the disparition of the ring of	li.	371
— Much hotter than our earth	lii.	616
— On the periodical disappearing of his ring	liv.	481
— The occultation of, by the moon	lxv.	485
Saul , his delivery of the city of Jabbish, and overthrow of the Ammonites vindicated	ix.	330
Saunders , Sir Charles , poetical eulogy on	lvi.	478
Saundersen , Professor , his life	xxxvi.	37
— His wonderful sense of feeling	xxxvi.	39
— Joke passed on the university of Cambridge, for electing him into the Lucasian chair	xxxvi.	40
Sauri , Abbé , his moral system of a citizen of the world	lvi.	219
— His course of natural philosophy	lvi.	220
— His natural history of the globe	lix.	64
— His modern physiology, &c.	lix.	64
Saurin , M. his style imitated in an English oration	xxx.	318
Sausage-Maker , refuses to be candidate for prime minister	xv.	668
Saussure , M. de , his travels in the Alps	lxv.	378
Savage , Richard , how employed by Mr. Pope	x.	24
— His obligations to Aaron Hill	xxi.	550
— His subjection to the dominion of his passions, poetically lamented	xlv.	2
Savages of America, humorous story of	xxxiii.	173
— Varieties of	xlix.	324
— Account of	xlix.	327
— Account of two discovered in the Forest of the Pyrenees	lvii.	540
Savonarola , his preaching and doctrines	xi.	191
— Supposed a prophet	xi.	191
— His influence in Florence	xi.	191
— Remarkable experiment, whether he was an impostor	xi.	192
— Tried and executed	xi.	193
Saviour , the Chinese doctrine of	iv.	444
Savoy , Duke of , the sole ally favoured by England in the treaty of Utrecht	xvi.	508
— His sentiments of it to Lord Peterborough	xvi.	506

Savoy, House of , character of	—	lxix.	64
Saw-mills described	—	xlvi.	572
Sawyer, Mr. his speech on the impressing of seamen	—	xxviii.	132
— On removing the Duke of Lauderdale	—	xxviii.	192
— About a supply	—	xxviii.	263
Saxe, Marshall , anecdote concerning	—	xiv.	106
— Reciprocal blunders betwixt him and the D— of C—	—	last war	—	xxiii.	151
— His character	—	li.	515
— His death	—	li.	515
— His reveries commended	—	li.	517
— His account of the battle of Belgrade	—	lxiii.	422
Saxius's literary dictionary	—	liii.	260
Saxons , excel in knowledge of minerals	—	viii.	497
— Degraded and forced into the Prussian service	—	xvi.	169
— Abused by Dr. Hill	—	xvii.	483
— Converted to Christianity by the sword	—	xxxv.	173
— Pursue the same method to convert their neighbours	—	xxxv.	173
— Their coins and weights discussed	—	xxxviii.	57, 337
— Their measures	—	xxxviii.	338
— Their coins	—	xxxix.	89
— Had great plenty of cash	—	xxxix.	190
— Account of their regulations with respect to the militia	—	xlvi.	43
— The rank and degrees of	—	lii.	504
— Prone to drunkenness	—	lix.	346
Saxon inscription in Kirkdale church, illustrated	—	lxii.	114
— Inscription in Aldborough church, illustrated	—	lxx.	262
Saxon Shrine , illustrated	—	iv.	53
Saxony , manufacture of porcelain at Meissen in this country	—	viii.	501
Saxony, Elea's Dowager of , her skill in music, painting, and poetry	—	xlvi.	461
Sayer, Mr. his vindication of the marriage-act	—	xii.	438
Scala, Marquis de , story of his porter and a fisherman	—	i.	19
Scalds of Scandinavia , specimen of their poetry	—	lxv.	99
Scammony, Dr. Russel's account of	—	xvi.	545
Scandal , no benefit from works of	—	ii.	450
— Observations on our laws against	—	xxxv.	67
Scandinavian poetry , a specimen of	—	lxv.	99
Scarcity , real and artificial, considered	—	xxxii.	281
Scaricalafino , convent of, specimen of the good living there	—	lv.	107
Scarlatina Anginosa , described	—	lx.	225
— How treated	—	lx.	227
Scarlet colour , its efficacy in the cure of the small-pox	—	xxiii.	471
Scarron, Young , character of	—	v.	519
Scepticism , cured by a nostrum	—	xxxiii.	404
— Rational, commendable; and the good effects of it	—	xxxviii.	114
Schehallien , observation on the mountain	—	liv.	448
Scheaxdam, M. his dissertation on Longipus	—	lv.	469
Schemes for supplying the public with 20 millions without any loan, or new tax	—	xxx.	71
	H h 2	Schemers,

Schemers , apology for	—	—	xxiii. 487
— A college for, projected	—	—	xxiii. 490
Schism , no adequate judge thereof, but God	—	—	xxvii. 468
Schoon. Martin , a celebrated engraver, some account of	—	—	xlj. 367
Schomberg , Duke, killed	—	—	lxx. 41
Schomberg , Dr. denied admit. into the college of physicians	—	—	iv. 46
— Ralph , his remarkable plagiarism	—	—	xli. 230
Schomberg , Dr. Duncan , a clergyman, remark. descript. of	—	—	xlii. 203
Schomberg , Mrs. her history	—	—	xlii. 206
Scholar , modern, characterized	—	—	xxv. 364
Scholarship , its advantages	—	—	xiv. 493
School-boys transgressing their bounds, verses on, in Latin and in English	—	—	xxlii. 246
— His bon mot on Balaam's ass	—	—	xxxii. 544
— Excellent verses by	—	—	xl. 302
School-masters , importance and difficulty of their office	—	—	xxxiv. 306
— Ought to be more liberally paid	—	—	xxxiv. 307
— Described	—	—	l. 376
— Character of a good one	—	—	lxix. 261
School men , their learning censured	—	—	iv. 347
Schools , Papist , none at present of any consequence in England	—	—	lxiv. 407
Schools , public or private, the question which to prefer, discussed	—	—	lxv. 1, 6
Schuyler , the American general, his generosity to Mr. Burgoyne	—	—	lviii. 476
Schwan Pau , or Chinese table of accounts,	—	—	iv. 215
Schwaering , Count, his description of the battle of Prague	—	—	xxxv. 84
Sciatica , Dr. Fothergill on the cure of	—	—	xlv. 450
— Observations on the nature and cure of the nervous	—	—	liv. 435
Science , contrast of true and false	—	—	v. 126
— First divided by Sir F. Bacon	—	—	vii. 67
— Never better employed than in the improv. of commerce	—	—	xiv. 428
— Moral and political, wherein superior to natural	—	—	xv. 565
— And fiction, the difference between them stated	—	—	xviii. 219
— And letters, rivals in France	—	—	xxiv. 373
— Contradistinguished from the polite arts	—	—	xxx. 313
— The advantages derived from them	—	—	liii. 544
— Shewn to have no natural influence on poetry	—	—	lv. 500
— Inquiry into the origin of, in Asia	—	—	lvi. 503
— Their local origin controverted	—	—	lvii. 548
— Their influence on poetry	—	—	lxi. 509
Scipio Africanus , Mr. Pitt compared to him	—	—	xxix. 312
— His quackery	—	—	xliv. 531
— Observations with respect to his character	—	—	lvii. 461
Scipio Publius , indebted to Polybius for all his great and good qualifications	—	—	xiv. 336
Sciras , isles of, some account of	—	—	lxi. 483
Scorpions , natural history and medical account of	—	—	xljii. 349
			Scot

Scot and Lot , defined	—	lix.	108
Scot, Colonel , some account of him	—	viii.	303
Scot, Rev. Mr. his account of his conversion	—	lxiii.	129
Scotland , players excluded from the metropolis	—	iv.	354
— Description of the Highlands	—	v.	517
— The pride of the Highlanders	—	xi.	344
— Misery of servants in	—	xi.	345
— Account of the clergy	—	xi.	350
— Funeral ceremonies in	—	xi.	354
— The nation said to be founded by Gathelus	—	xiii.	159
— Number of inhabitants	—	xv.	378
— Capable of maintaining a fourth more inhabitants	—	xv.	378
— Voltaire's account of the rebellion in	—	xvii.	156
— Origin of the inhabitants	—	xx.	164
— Ill used by Edward I.	—	xx.	165
— The history divided into four periods	—	xx.	165
— Their homage to the English	—	xx.	165
— Derivation of their constitution	—	xx.	167
— Presbyterian government, how established	—	xx.	172
— Colonel Hooke's conference with the Scots nobility	—	xxii.	296
— Law of, recommended to the study of English lawyers	—	xxiii.	178
— The Highlanders objections to the union	—	xxvi.	69
— A production in Scotland similar to the Giant's Causeway	—	xxvii.	330
— Partiality of the Scotch ministers in the reign of Charles II.	—	xxviii.	193
— Allowance to the kings when they came to London	—	xxxi.	217
— Specimen of Scotch poetry	—	xxxiv.	404
— State of patronage of livings in	—	xxxvii.	69
— Accounts of the Hibernian descent, fabulous	—	xxxviii.	303
— Collection of Scotticisms in Boswell's account of Corsica	—	xxxix.	149
— Remarks on the climate and agriculture	—	xli.	346
— National character of the Scotch	—	xli.	179
— Specimens of some ancient Scottish poems	—	xliv.	42
— Portraiture of the Highlanders	—	xliv.	41
— Manner of living, dress, and arms	—	xliv.	42
— Their fitness for war	—	xliv.	46
— Travels in	—	xlvi.	49
— Stone hedges in	—	xlvi.	50
— Spirit of planting in	—	xlvi.	50
— Highlands described	—	xlvi.	145
— Subjection to Henry II. king of England	—	xlvi.	518
— Terms of their submission	—	xlvi.	518
— Change of manners and morals of the Highlanders	—	li.	459
— Prayer of one of the plundering chieftains	—	li.	459
— In what respects sturdy moralists	—	lii.	161
— Cruel inroads of the Scots and Picts into Britain	—	lvii.	100
— Striking prospects in	—	lviii.	194
			Scotland,

Scotland , emigrations from, accounted for	lviii.	254
— Proposal for improving the fisheries	lviii.	369
— Obscurity of the ancient history	lx.	270
— Dr. Stuart's researches commended	lx.	271
— Kings of, not limited in their power	lx.	275
— Account of the officers of state	lx.	278
— Courts of judicatory	lx.	355
— Uniformity of weights and measures proposed	lxi.	21
— Ancient monuments and fortifications	lxii.	273
— Reformation how promoted	lxii.	338
— Project for a standing army	lxii.	339
— Progress of the reformation	lxii.	340
— Preceded England in elegance and the improvements of life	lxiii.	268
— Reflections on the Highland poetry	lxiii.	339
— Specimens of the Highland poetry	lxiii.	341
— Remarkable places in, for the notice of travellers	lxiv.	112
— Peerage degraded since the union	lxiv.	226
— Ancient and modern state of literature and poetry in the Highlands	lxvi.	51
— Ancient fortifications in the North	lxx.	264
Scotland , Chancellor of, his speech concerning the right of the disposal of King Charles's person	xviii.	140
— Answered by Mr. Challoner	xviii.	142
Scott , Mr. his verses in the Cambridge collection on the peace	xxix.	41
Screw , new method of employing it, to astronomical and other purposes	lxvi.	373
Scriblers , character of	v.	121
— Characterized	xv.	417
— Female, animadverted upon	xxvii.	472
Scribleriad , exposes false science	v.	118
— Criticisms on an assertion therein	v.	119
Scriblerus , Martinus , criticises Mr. Mason's elegies	xxvii.	485
— His criticism on the Oxford and Cambridge collections of verses on the Prince of Wales's birth	xxviii.	14
— His droll translation of Mr. Swinton's Palmyrene poem	xxviii.	17
Scripture , certain phrases of, explained	lxix.	298
Scriptures , sacred. See Bible .
Scoop , Mr. his account of lime-burning controverted	xlv.	60
Scurility , owing to a deficiency of good sense	xxix.	393
Scary , scorbutic rottenness at sea, its genuine cause	ix.	197
— The common distinctions and divisions of it rejected, and why	ix.	434
— Its main and predisposing cause, especially at sea	ix.	435
— Remedies proposed	ix.	437
— Oranges and lemons recommended for	ix.	437
— Progress of, in the torrid zone	xiv.	29
— Causes of	xiv.	22

Scurvy , how to prevent	—	xiv.	23
— Cure of, at sea and in desert places	—	xiv.	23
— Rice recommended against	—	xiv.	23
— Molasses recommended against the	—	xiv.	23
— Particular sort of, at Cleaveland	—	xiv.	24
— Sea-salt an anti-scurbutic	—	xxi.	409
— Whence that word is derived	—	xxvi.	271
— Account of a violent case of	—	xxvii.	103
— New medicine for the cure of the sea scurvy	—	xxxi.	297
— Land, pre-disposing causes of	—	xxxvii.	305
— History of	—	xxxvii.	307
— At sea, fresh wort prescribed for	—	xxxviii.	415
— Proposal for preventing, in the navy	—	xxxix.	370
— The use of oranges and lemons for preventing the	—	xxxix.	370
— Dr. Milman's account of	—	xlvi.	265
— Cure of, by hemlock dropwort	—	l.	282
— Oenanthe crocata, a cure for the	—	l.	282
— Efficacy of sweet wort	—	lvii. 1—lxi.	276
— The efficacy of wort in curing	—	lxi.	277
— Prevented by antiseptic diet	—	lxi.	279, 410
— Martano's observations on	—	lx.	412
— Causes and prevention of	—	lxvii.	175
Silly islands , history of	—	ii.	81
— Monuments of Druids in them	—	xi.	244
Sea , the natural element, and defence of Great Britain	—	ix.	244
— Scintillation of, attempted to be accounted for	—	xii.	454
— The luminous appearance of, accounted for	xi. 417—	xliv.	329
— On the figure of the ocean	—	xl.	526
— On the temperature in great depths	—	xlvi.	181
— Method of obtaining fresh water at	—	lii.	130
— On the flux and reflux	—	lv.	557
— Conjectures on the luminous appearance of	—	lviii.	508
— Method of calming the agitation of	—	lxiv.	508
Sea-air , more salutary than that on shore	—	xv.	204
— Most wholesome in hot climates	—	xxxix.	429
— and exercise, medicinal use of	—	xxix.	350
Sea-anemony , essay on	—	li. 228—lv.	117
— Their singular manner of multiplying	—	lviii.	3
Sea-bathing , directions relating to	—	liii.	248
Sea-cats , curious account of their family government and discipline	—	xliv.	331
Sea-coal , its bad qualities how corrected	—	x.	330
Sea-fight , directions to surgeons previous to	—	xlvi.	107
Sea-journals , full of hard words	—	iv.	63
Sea-scurvy , new medicines for the cure of	—	xxxi.	297
Sea-snake , of Norway, account of	—	xiii.	38
— Red, Mr. Montague's account of	—	xxxvii.	381
Sea-water , the nature of	—	ix.	188
— Its distinguishing characteristic	—	ix.	189
— Its use in preventing consumptions	—	ix.	189

Sea water , no bitumen in	xi.	475
— How to make fresh at sea	xiii.	309
— Rendered fresh by chalk	xiv.	446
— Contents of	xv.	205
— Bathing in, in what respects inferior to fresh water for the scurvy, &c.	xliii.	482
— On the luminous appearance of	xl.	514
— Experiments on, in a freezing state	lv.	414
— Account of the luminous appearance of	lv.	550
Seal , of the Fitzwater family, described	lxii.	115
— Of Q. Catherine Parr, described	lxii.	272
— Of Q. Henrietta Maria	lxii.	274
— Observation on conventual seals	lxii.	275
Sealing-wax , composition of	xxxiv.	179
Seamen , a scheme to prevent the impressing of	v.	574
— A scheme for a more ready raising of	xv.	309
— Proper means to secure their health	xvii.	90
— Impressing, contrary to law	xvii.	443
— Why deficiencies in the revenue are suffered to fall upon their wages	xviii.	269
— Proposal for their encouragement	xviii.	617
— A competent number not to be gained at the commencement of a war, under three years	xx.	304
— The evil consequences of impressing	xx.	304
— Impressing for the sea service	xxvii.	142
— Controverted	xxvii.	144
— Attorney General North's opinion on impressing of	xxviii.	132
— Sacheverell's observations on impressing	xxviii.	132
— Mr. Sawyer's speech on impressing	xxviii.	132
— Impressing of, debate on, in the house of Commons	xxviii.	132
— The practice of, slavish and inhuman	xxviii.	133
— Effects of press warrants	xliii.	403
— Pronounced to be illegal, unconstitutional, and impolitic	xliii.	404
— Hint of a better scheme for raising men	xliii.	404
— Inquiry into the legality of pressing	xlvi.	533
— Captain Cook's method of preserving their health	lvii.	1
— The use of sweet wort in preserving their health	lvii.	1—lxi. 276
— Impressing, &c., cruelty of that mode	lvii.	491
— The practice of, defended	lvii.	492
Seaports , noble military spirit of four, who had deserted from the English army	lv.	277
Search , Mr. his fanciful system of our existence in another state	xli.	245
— His scenical representation of another state	xli.	247
— Curious account of the family of the Search's	xli.	248
— His visionary interview with the old philosophers	xlii.	9
— Lectured by Pythagoras	xlii.	9
Search, Edward , who and what	lxx.	53

Seasons , the occasion of their variety	xv.	478
— Apparatus for representing the changes of them	xxii.	486
— Saros, or cycle of	lxvi.	548
Seas , country, rules for the situation of	xxxvii.	17
Secker, Bishop , his character, by Mr. Whiston	i.	346
— Author of the notes on Merrick's psalms	xl.	380
— Attacks Dr. Sharp	xl.	380
— Answered	xl.	381
— His arguments in favour of episcopising the colonies	xli.	220
— His letter to Walpole critically examined	xlii.	37
— His life	xlii.	461
— His exemplary conduct while Bishop of Bristol	xliii.	44
— Succeeds to the see of Oxford	xliii.	46
— In great favour with the late Prince of Wales	xliii.	46
— His activity and zeal for government during the late rebellion	xliii.	47
— Is promoted to Canterbury	xliii.	49
— His zeal for episcopising the Americans	xliii.	51
— Suspected of exciting the civil power against freethinkers	xliii.	52
— His controversy in defence of the memory of Bishop Butler	xliii.	52
— His conduct in regard to public affairs	xliii.	54
— His death	xliii.	55
— His will	xliii.	56
— Reflection on the attacks made on his character	xliii.	56
— Anecdotes of him	xlviii.	485
— Bred a dissenter	xlviii.	485
— Becomes a bigot to the church	xlviii.	486
— His pulpit compositions characterized	lxiii.	544
Secret Service-money , proceedings of the House of Commons relating to	xxviii.	332
Sectarians , the proper behaviour towards them, from those of the established church	xxxvi.	219
Security , of civil governors, wherein placed	xv.	229
Secundus , author of the Basia , some account of him	lii.	387
— His Basium second and sixth, translated	lii.	388
Sedentary life , fatal to health	xli.	250
— How to remedy	xli.	256
Seed of animals , microscopically examined	iv.	60
Seeds of plants , manner of the secretion, of their peculiar juices	vi.	382
— Fertile, producible without the assistance of the dust of the apices	xi.	387
— Method of preserving	xxii.	68
— Method of preserving for growth	xxiii.	99
— Of trees best method of managing for propagation	lviii.	48
Seedling , plants where to be raised	xvii.	408
Seeing , that faculty philosophically considered	xxxi.	8
Seeters in religion, who they are, explained	xxv.	460
		Segar,

Segar, J. S. Michael , his treatise on mildew	lvi. 218
Segar Sir W. extracts from his "Honour, military and civil"	xlvi. 263
Segestus , remains of the temple and theatre there	lxviii. 168
Seiden, Mr. his character	xxi. 28
Self-denial , the nature of that duty explained	xi. 331
Self-esteem , observations on	xx. 524
Self-examination , questions proper for	xi. 83
Self-knowledge , the difficulty and advantages of	xxiii. 429
Self-love , what	vi. 332
— The principle of motion and foundation of morality	ix. 217
— And social, beautiful representation of, from Stobæus	xlvi. 2
— Mr. Pope's fine imitation of Stobæus	xlvi. 2
— Defined and illustrated	l. 218
Self-murder , how considered in common law	xxiii. 444
— In civil law	xxiii. 446
Selim Eutemi , an Arabian prince, murdered by Barbaroussa	iii. 83
Selinus , an old English tragedy, extract from	lxx. 17
Silzer water , experiments on	xliv. 449
Selwyn, John , his extraordinary strength and agility	lx. 258
Seminal vessels , observations on the	v. 6
Samiramis , not a person but a people	lii. 482
Senabier's art of observing nature	lii. 350
Seneca , more inclined to the study of philosophy than eloquence	xxiii. 248
— Practised a Pythagorean abstinence	xxiii. 248
— Some strictures on his style and manner of speaking	xxiii. 249
— His behaviour during his exile	xxiii. 251
— An instance of his servility	xxiii. 252
— Esteemed a christian by the fathers	xviii. 595
— Analysis of his works, and account of his life	liv. 478
— Essay on the life and writings of	lx. 313
Senecio Sarrenicus , the great ingredient of the Swiss arquebuse water	xliv. 415
Senegal , described	xviii. 474
— Manners of the inhabitants there	xx. 365
— Account of the white gum tree and other trees there	lxvii. 499
Sensations , reducible to two different classes	ii. 67
— How performed	ii. 365
— Natural seat of	xvii. 521
— A new hypothesis concerning	xvii. 522
— Distinct, of every kind, caused by motions of equal momenta	xxi. 510
— Philosophically investigated	xxx. 368
— Ab: é Rossignol's view of	lv. 385
Sense, men of , reconciliation with them easily obtained	ii. 434
Sense, moral , the first motive to virtue	viii. 365
— An original determination in our nature	xxiii. 103
— Designed for regulating all our powers	xxiii. 103

Sense , when in full vigour	—	—	xlvi. 4
— How far they do and do not deceive us	—	—	xxv. 71
— Common, fatal neglect of, by philosophers and divines	—	—	xxxvi. 115
— And by all mankind in all ages	—	—	xxxvi. 116
Sensibility , necessary to the forming a good player	—	—	iii. 190
— Definition of	—	—	xiv. 115
— Experiments concerning	—	—	xiv. 119
— Observations on	—	—	xiv. 128, 132
Sensitive plant , its peculiar properties	—	—	xvii. 335
— Poetically described	—	—	xvii. 459
Sentences , a collection of	—	—	xviii. 585
Sentiments , often despised in print, that would be honoured in conversation	—	—	xi. 235
— Their proper or improper expression considered	—	—	xxvii. 19
— Freedom of, asserted in a dialogue between an English Lord and a Portuguese Count	—	—	xxxi. 510
Sentimental , that word pronounced to be a barbarism	—	—	xli. 390
Sentimental connexions , remarks on	—	—	lvii. 202
Sentimental dramas , satirized	—	—	lix. 142
— Defended	—	—	lix. 143
Sceptics , account of	—	—	vi. 103
Septuagint translation of the Bible . See Bible .	—	—	—
Sepulchral caves or grottes in Egypt , some account of	—	—	xv. 256
Sepulchretum , account of	—	—	xlii. 101
Serapis , observations on an inscription in honour of	—	—	liii. 417
Series , easy method of computing the sums of	—	—	xliii. 379
Sermons on the composition of	—	—	vii. 105
— On the delivery of	—	—	vii. 107
— Christian oratory, a duty of preachers	—	—	vii. 109
— When and how introduced into the English church	—	—	xv. 534
— Directions about making them	—	—	xx. 496
— An Irish sermon	—	—	xxv. 109
— Receipt to make one for the 30th of January	—	—	xxvii. 457
— Poetical and anodyne	—	—	xxviii. 96
— No probability of a dearth of them	—	—	xxviii. 39, 40
— Story-telling recommended in	—	—	xxxii. 474
— The old methodical composition of, vindicated	—	—	xxxv. 195
— By Mad Tom	—	—	xlii. 182—lxix. 529
— By Lord Chesterfield	—	—	l. 458
— Observations on the composition of	—	—	lxiii. 541
Serpents , said to have been worshiped by the Persians and Druids	—	—	x. 418
— Their charming of birds	—	—	xii. 499
— Fabulous story of, related by Livy	—	—	xiv. 480
— A Turkish saint metamorphosed into a serpent	—	—	xv. 487
— Manner of fascinating them in Egypt	—	—	xxxiv. 133
— Of dressing them for food	—	—	xxxiv. 134
	—	—	Serpents,

Serpents , examin. whether Ireland and Thanet are void of	lxii.	173
— Their property of charming	—	lxv. 302
— On the bite of	—	lxv. 302
Serpent-stones , account of them	—	iv. 248
Serranus, Joannes , some account of his Greek poems	xlvi.	544
Servants , seldom discharged by the Turks	vii.	149
— Ancient laws for regulating their wages	xxx.	287
— Management of, in the farming business	lx.	180
Servetus , the discover of the circulation of the blood	xvii.	204
— Disputes with Calvin on the Trinity	—	xvii. 204
— Seized by Calvin and burned	—	xvii. 204
— His horrible persecution and martyrdom at Geneva	xxvii.	413
Servia, deserts of	—	xxviii. 392
— Misery of the inhabitants	—	xxviii. 392
Sesoftris , an ideal hero	—	lii. 481
— Curious disquisition concerning his history	—	lii. 481
Sesini, Abbot , his description of the college of antiquities and natural history in the possession of the prince of Biscari	lvi.	383
— His account of the agriculture of Sicily	—	lvii. 484
— His letter from Sicily, &c.	—	lxv. 307
Severn , the river, its fall ascertained	—	xvii. 209
Severus , Emperor of Rome, his character	—	xxiv. 130
Sexdigitism , a new word, meaning of	—	l. 550
Sexes , inclination between, described	—	iv. 358
— The means of rendering them nearly equal to each other in point of number	—	lxi. 459
Sextetter, Prior , his invective against the Moravians, answered	—	lxix. 579
Sexual scheme , attacked by Dr. Alston	—	xi. 387
Seymour, Mr. his speech on the abdication of King James	—	xxviii. 414
Seymour, Sir Edward , his speech on the King's attachment to foreigners	—	xxviii. 419
Shadows , of things floating in water, singular discovery relating to	—	xxxi. 264
— Curious enquiry into the cause of the colours observed in	—	xlv. 527
Shaftsbury, Earl of , account of his characteristics	—	v. 45
— Critique on	—	v. 241
— His notions of God, defended	—	xviii. 99
— His characteristics praised	—	xix. 563
— A happy turn of thought on his being abashed in a speech in the House	—	xix. 563
— His notion of the moral sense	—	xxxi. 545
— His letters from Italy, attacked by M. Falconet	—	lvii. 273
— Character of	—	lxviii. 503
Shakespeare, William , remarks on a late edition of his plays	v.	521
— Voltaire's censure of, censured	—	xiii. 495
— Poetical proposal for a monument for him at Stratford	xix.	273
		Shakespeare,

Shakespeare, W. apology for his neglect of the unities	xxiii.	372
— Absurdities in him, noted	xxiii.	463
— Superior to all other writers in delineating the passions	xxvii.	21
— A passage in Othello , censured and defended	xxvii.	21
— Observations on his soliloquies	xxvii.	21
— His writings characterised	xxxiii.	287
— His tragi-comedy defended	xxxiii.	289
— Defects of his plays	xxxiii.	291
— Apology for his quibbles	xxxiii.	293
— Defended against other charges	xxxiii.	294
— His deviation from dramatic unities	xxxiii.	295, 374
— His learning discussed	xxxiii.	382
— His remarkable modesty	xxxiii.	383
— Account of the various editors of his works	xxxiii.	384
— Account of Theobald's edition	xxxiii.	385
— Warburton's edition attacked by Lowth	xxxiii.	390
— Warburton's edition attacked by Dawson	xxxiii.	418
— Several beautiful passages illustrated	xxxiii.	460
— Described in the Poet's Elysium	xxxiv.	121
— Absurdity of retaining the orthography of the time in the new editions of his works	xxxiv.	237
— His want of learning	xxxvi.	153
— Plan of a glossary	xxxviii.	354
— Apology for the faults in his writing	xli.	131
— His merit, how to be estimated	xli.	132
— Parallel between him and Corneille	xli.	136
— His præternatural beings formed agreeably to the superstitions of his time	xli.	139
— Garrick's ode in honour of	xli.	235
— Stricture on Johnson's edition	xliv.	532
— Poetic encomium on	xlvi.	410
— His indifference to literary fame, and neglect of his own works	xliv.	421
— Hint to painters for a picture of him	xliv.	421
— Principal characters analysed	li.	10
— Verses to his mistress	li.	482
— A comment on "As you like it," by a Lady	lii.	432
— Elogium on the morality of his writings, by a lady	lii.	465
— Comment on "All's well that ends well"	lii.	466
— Annotations on various passages	liii.	396
— Works, translated into German	liv.	399
— Works, translated into French	liv.	575
— Defended against Voltaire	lvii.	192
— List of his plays according to the dates	lxii.	18
— His first acquaintance with the stage	lxii.	19
— Remarks on his excellencies	lxii.	25
— Some passages in his plays explained	lxii.	257, 270
— State of the drama in his time	lxiii.	250
— The original performers in his plays	lxiii.	254
— A beautiful passage in one of his sonnets	lxiii.	257

- Shakespeare, William*, critical remarks on his writings lxx. 15
 — Observations on his principal dramatic characters lxx. 134
 — His general excellence — lxx. 182
 — Remarks critical and illustrative on the text and notes of the last edition of his works — lxx. 334
Shame, early appearance of a sense of — xiii. 105
 — Expressions of — — xxvi. 202
 — The folly and danger of being ashamed of religion and virtue — xxvii. 364
 — The tendency of false shame — xxxii. 268
Shamrock, meaning of, in the Irish — xlvii. 484
Shandy, Trifram, his travels — xxxii. 120
 — His race with death — xxxii. 120
 — His beautiful apostrophe to his own high spirits — xxxii. 121
 — Inn-keeper's daughter at Montreuil — xxxii. 123
 — Cracking entry into Paris — xxxii. 123
 — His journey over the plain of Langue.doc — xxxii. 127
 — Entertaining passages from — xxxvi. 94
Shannon, Lord, introduces the custom of plowing with oxen by the horns — lxiii. 100
Sharp, Archbishop, repents of having represented Swift as no Christian xi. 73
Sharp, Mr. his account of Italy controverted xxxviii. 448
Sharp, Dr. (Archdeacon of Northumberland) grossly abused by an Hutchinsonian — xv. 516
Sharp, Dr. Gregory, his critical investigation of the CX. psalm — xxvii. 5
 — His new version of that psalm — xxvii. 9
 — His criticism on the CX. psalm, defended — xl. 380
 — His great learning — xlvii. 231
 — His posthumous sermons commended — xlvii. 231
Sharp, Mr. W. his account of an instrument for fractured legs xxxix. 355
Shaffer, the Bible of the Gentoos, some account of xxxiii. 266
 — Account of — — xxxvi. 8
 — Farther curious extracts from — xxxix. 381
Shaw, Dr. his description of the stone of the fountains viii. 415
Shaw, Jehân, his fruitless attempt to root out the superstition of the Hindoos — xlvii. 456
 — Story of his unfortunate son, Dara — xlvii. 457
Sheep, a remedy against rottenness in them — x. 328
 — Account of a remarkable one — xv. 373
 — Their kinds — xvii. 415
 — Which the best breeders — xvii. 410
 — Compositions for marking — xxxiv. 175
 — Remarks on the keeping of — xlvii. 23, 24
 — Account of a remarkable distemper among them — xlvii. 27
 — Wrong practice of the French husbandman, in housing them in winter — xlvii. 496
 — Methods to prevent the rot in — lii. 14
Sheep,

- Sheep*, observations on housing them in winter liv. 558
 — Observations concerning the rot in — lix. 355
 — Cause of the rot investigated — lxiv. 422
 — Various theories concerning the rot — lxiv. 423
 — Remedies for the rot — lxiv. 425
 — Inquiries into the cause of the rot lxv. 398—lxvi. 79
 — Method of improving the breed of — lxvi. 502
Sheep's milk, its properties, and for whom good — ii. 308
Sheffield, D. of Bucks, curious circumstance of his self-education lxv. 106
 — His poetry characterised — lxv. 107
Shells, various kinds of, found in stone quarries, where they are not supposed to have been originally deposited by the sea xli. 555
 — of animals, enquiry into the organization of xxiii. 508
Shenstone, William, account of his life and writings xxx. 378
 — His character and personal history — xxx. 378
 — His literary talents — xxx. 380
 — His elegy, complaining that the pleasing novelty of life is over xxx. 383
 — On the conflict between love and pride — xxx. 385
 — On the melancholy event of a licentious amour xxx. 386
 — His culinary eclogue — xxx. 451
 — Account of his retirement — xxx. 453
 — Verses in praise of — l. 406
 — His opinion of parties of pleasure — lviii. 197
 — Commended for the simplicity of his muse — lix. 145
 — Some account of him and his works — lxvi. 119
Shepherds, English, their happy situation compared with those of Arabia, Italy, Greece, and Lapland — xvi. 333
Shepherd, Mr. his tables, &c. relating to the discovery of the longitude — xlviii. 269
Sheridan, Counsellor, combats Sir William Blackstone's doctrine respecting the power of the British parliament with respect to Ireland — lxii. 359
 — Narrative of his ill usage at Dublin — xxv. 48
Sheridan, Thomas, rallied for his extravagant encomium on the art of oratory — xxvii. 69, 203
 — His scheme for a new English dictionary and grammar xxvii. 206
 — Deficient in the application of his own rules on emphasis xxvii. 287
 — Mistaken in his correction of some instances of erroneous declamation — xxvii. 291
 — His directions relating to pauses and stops approved xxvii. 292
 — His dissertations on elocution, and the state of language in other countries commended — xxvii. 292
 — Sharply attacked by J. English — xxvii. 313
Sheridan, Dr. his character — xxxiii. 155
Sheridan, Mrs. her character — xxxiii. 150
 — Elegant compliment to — lix. 145
Sheriff, his power by law — iv. 499
Sherlock,

- Sherlock, Bishop*, harshly used by an anonymous author lii. 11
 — An advocate for political corruption in the state lix. 122
Sherlock, Martin, his counsel to a young poet lxi. 460
 — His letters of a traveller lxi. 462
Shiells, Robert, concerned with Cibber in writing the lives of poets lxi. 409
Shilling, derivation of that word — xxxix. 89
 — History of that coin — xxxix. 89
Shiloh, Gen. xlix. 10. that word a Maforetic invention xxx. 165
Ship's way, machine for measuring of — xiii. 326
Ships, English, why not able to carry goods so cheap as foreigners —
 — General definition of — — xl. 482
 — Different means of moving them with wind xl. 568
 — On moving them without the assistance of the wind xl. 568
 — Method of removing stranded — lxi. 270
 — Of North America, general table of — lxvi. 543
 — On the resistance of a ship in motion — lxvii. 506
Ship-building, too much neglected — xi. 41
 — Duhamel's treatise on — — xi. 46
 — Improvements in — — xxxiii. 210
 — Plan for improvement in, with respect to frigates, &c. lxvi. 445
Shipwreck on the Cornish coast, poetical picture of xxii. 513
 — Pathetically described — xxvii. 200
Shipwrights, wholly guided by experience, and why xi. 46
 — Theory necessary for obtaining their ends — xi. 47
 — Their principal rule what, and why erroneous xi. 47
Shipley, William, his great merit as founder of the Society for the encouragement of arts, &c. — xlix. 108
Shiras, in Persia, observations made there by a modern traveller — lx. 306
Shirley, Governor, his character — xvi. 524
 — His designs said to have been frustrated by the intrigues of Gen. Johnson — — xvi. 525
Shirley, Rev. Mr. his laudable profession of his duty as a Christian minister — — xxvii. 232
Shoes, fashion of, in the reign of Richard II. — xli. 210
 — Law made to limit the enormous length of their peaks — xli. 210
Short, Mr. his account of Mr. Mason's observations on Mr. Ellicott's clock — — xxix. 145
 — His observations on an eclipse of the moon — — xxix. 145
 — On the transit of Venus — — xxix. 140
 — His observations on the cold of 1740 — — xlii. 113
 — His determination of the difference of longitude between the royal observatories of Greenwich and Paris xxxi. 422, 425
Short-hand writing. See Writing.
Shower, poetical description of one in the Carribbee islands xxxi. 110
Sbrow, recipe to cure one — — i. 424

Brewsbury, Duchess of , her criminal amour with Buckingham	xli.	304
— Reflections on	xli.	307
Sbrine , a Saxon one illustrated	iv.	53
Sbrove Tuesday , remonstrance against throwing at cocks	xxiv.	311
Sbrubs , for hedges, a-list of	xvii.	227
— New method of propagating	xx.	568
Shuckburg, Sir George , his examination of De Luc's rules for measuring the heights of mountains by the barometer	lviii.	456
— His rules for measuring heights with the barometer, compared with those of Col. Roy	lxii.	37
— On the variation of the temperature of boiling water	lxiii.	378
Shuter , the player, anecdote concerning his piety	xxviii.	71
Sibbens , a disorder in Scotland, suggestion on the nature of	liii.	41
Siberia , extraordinary quick vegetation there	xxvi.	431
— The inhabitants of that country described	xxxvii.	516
— Some animals of Siberia described	xxxvii.	518
— Siberians, some account of their manners, &c.	xl.	590
— Travels through, by Abbé Chappe d'Auteroche, to observe the transit of Venus	xl.	586
— Vast fatigues of his journey	xl.	587
— Arrives at Tobosc	xl.	588.
— Builds an observatory there, and passes for a magician	xl.	590
— His curious observations on the transit of Venus	xl.	591, 594
— Inquiry into the cause of the extreme cold of Siberia	xl.	591, 594
— The elevation of the soil above the level of the sea, less than hath been supposed	xli.	438
— Observations on the mines of that country	xli.	438
— Strictures on the Abbé Chappe's journey	xlvi.	470
— New and interesting account of, by a French officer	lv.	468
— Curious relics found there, of the bones of elephants, &c.	lxi.	551
Sicily , origin of that kingdom deduced	xxiv.	453
— Revolutions of	xxiv.	453
— Description of a voyage to	xxx.	549
— Travels through	xlvi.	205
— Character of the Sicilians	xlvi.	149
— Account of the agriculture of	lvii.	484
Sickness , an elegy, extracts from	xxii.	519
Sidney, Algernon , his character defended	lxv.	402
Sidney, Sir Philip , his writings censured	xix.	558
Sienna , description of executions at	xv.	459
Sight , an account of it by M. Le Cat	ii.	364, seq.
— Not absolutely necessary in acquiring mathem. learning	xv.	245
— Remedy for dimness	xviii.	630
— Illusions in	liii.	532
— Extraordinary particulars respecting a most remarkable imperfection of that sense	lxii.	50
Sigaud de la Fond, M. his view of electrical phenomena, from the origin of that discovery to the present time	lxv.	381
Sigismund III. King of Poland , his bigotry to the church of Rome	xxxvii.	313

Signs, natural, relative to our sensations, considered	xxxi.	5
Signs of the times, as observed by the Bishop of Carlisle, in his sermon on the 30th of January	—	xliv. 263
Silchester, and its antiquities, described	—	iv. 56
— The Vendomis of the ancients	—	iv. 56
Silennus, and the Sileni, who and what	—	lxix. 546
Silesia, flourishing state of that country	—	xlvi. 37
— Memoir on the mines in that country	—	liii. 536
Silhouette, M. his view of the policy, trade, &c. of Engl.	xxxiv.	291
— His account of a journey thro' Spain, Portugal, and Italy	xlvi.	551
Silicious earths, a dissertation on	—	lxvii. 459
Silvius Italicus, correct edition of	—	lxvi. 467
Silk, originally from China	—	x. 200
— Rise and progress of that manufacture	—	xiv. 383
— The climate of Georgia favourable for the produce of	xviii.	52
— Curious experiment on the art of dying with cochineal	xlvi.	494
— Mulberry trees cultivated in Prussia for the silk manuf.	lv.	553
Silk-worms, originally from China	—	x. 200
— Management of, by the French	—	x. 492
— How they ought to be treated	—	x. 493
— Difficulty of rearing	—	xii. 9
— Observations on the breeding of	—	xviii. 53
— How raised in England	—	xviii. 54
— The British colonies properly situated for them	xviii.	53
— New species of	—	xxiii. 96
— Of America described	—	xlvi. 344
— Lyman's dissertation on	—	lxv. 303
Silurus Charias, that remarkable fish mentioned	xxxiv.	268
Silver, its value per ounce in China	—	x. 199
— In what light to be considered in trade	—	xxiii. 474
— Ore; Lehman's account of	—	xxxiii. 542
— Experiments on the assaying of	—	xxxvii. 161
— Standard of, investigated	—	xlvi. 244
— On the assaying of	—	xlvi. 554
— New method of separating from other metallic bodies	l.	551
— Account of a mine at Chitty, in Nivernois	lxi.	221
Silver coin, causes of the scarcity	—	xlvi. 231
— Remedy proposed	—	xlvi. 407
Similes, poetic reflections on	—	iv. 225
— In poetry, &c. considered	—	xxvii. 107
— Examples of some improperly used	—	xxvii. 107
— In what respect different from metaphors	—	xxvii. 110
Simon Magus, account of him	—	xxxiii. 10
Simplicity, a previous requisite for receiving divine light	xxv.	420
— In the abstract, an incomprehensible term	xxxv.	539
— In poetry, observations on	—	xlvi. 429
Sin, God's pardoning considered	—	iv. 270
— The true sense of atonement for, by Christ's death	vi.	240
— The nature of, under the law of nature, and Moses, and among the Gentiles	—	vii. 242
		Sin,

Sin , not pardoned on account of any relative act of suffering	xxvi.	114
— Sinners preferred to saints	—	xlvi. 230
Sim , original, that doctrine absurd	—	ix. 219
— Explained	—	xxxvi. 18
Sincerity , wherein it properly consists	—	xi. 332
Sinigaglia , description of the fair there	—	xli. 333
Sinking-fund , observations on	—	xliv. 354
— Curious remarks on	—	xlvi. 403
— A different scheme proposed	—	xlvi. 531
Sirmond, M. , a passage in his serm. relating to the Eucharist	xxxvii.	495
Sion-house , how improved by Mr. Adam	—	xliv. 456
Siroc , a remarkable noxious wind in Italy, described	xliv.	24
Sirven, Family of , cruelly treated in Languedoc	xxxii.	319
Sisepand , the Goth, the inventor of oaths of allegiance	xxxiv.	548
— Form of	—	xxxiv. 548
Sixtus V. Pope , where born, and how descended	xi.	265
— His hypocrisy	—	xi. 274
— Treatment of the cardinals who had promoted his exaltation to the papacy	—	xi. 277
— Rigorous administration of justice	—	xi. 278
— Affronts the Kings of France, Spain, and Navarre	xi.	357, 361
— Intrigues with the English court	—	xi. 362, 368
— His private character	—	xi. 369
— His death	—	xi. 371
— His rigorous punish. of criminals, and happy effects of it	xliv.	104
— His wholesome severities vindicated	—	lv. 302
Skibeenrinky , a curious cave in Ireland, described	lxiii.	43
Skin , a remarkable disease of	—	lxiii. 329
— Comparison between that of negroes and whites	—	xx. 372
Sky, isle of , discovery of	—	lxiii. 2
Slaves , the unlawfulness of holding any	—	xxiii. 192
— Too great a number of, mischievous	—	xxiv. 98
— Ridiculous proposal for emancipating all in America	xxiv.	160
— The anc. state of, less barb. than that of mod. labourers	xxviii.	536
— Political consequences of	—	xxx. 517
— Thoughts on	—	xxxvi. 521
— How far tolerated in England	—	xli. 31
— Slave trade, wickedness of	—	xliv. 435
— Vindicated	—	xlvi. 541—lxviii. 43
— Censured	—	xlvi. 543
— Origin of slavery	—	xlvi. 423
— Lawfulness and unlawfulness of, argued	—	xlvi. 424
— Thoughts on the inhumanity of	—	li. 234
— Our colonies vindicated on this subject	—	li. 324
— Farther accused	—	li. 487
— Number of, in the French American colonies	lvi.	553
— Proposal for an improvement in the laws relative to them	lvi.	553
— State of, in South Carolina	—	lxvii. 274
— Life of	—	lxx. 412
— Horrid cruelties exercised on	—	lxx. 413

Slaves , plan for their improvement, &c.	lxx.	416
— Inhumanity and injustice of the slave trade	lxx.	418
— Negroes, less intolerable in the French than in the British colonies	lxx.	411
— Particular accounts of	lxx.	411
— of the Russians	lxx.	566
Sleep , the great advantage of natural and healthy sleep	ix.	129
— The poetical dwelling of, described	xxiv.	401
— Sleeping and eating, remarkable change in the stated times of, within the two last centuries	xxxvii.	495
— House of, translated from Ariosto	xlvi.	341
— Inquiry into the nature of	lxvii.	342
— Of the soul, observations on the doctrine of	lxix.	96
Sleeping disorder , account of a	lv.	489
Sloane, Sir Hans , his method of living in the decline of life	xxiii.	303
— His life	xxviii.	47
— His recipe for sore eyes	xxviii.	54
Slop, Dr. his person described	xxi.	569
— His unfortunate adventure	xxi.	570
Sloth , reflections on	xxv.	34
Sorrowful man , a burden to himself	iv.	66
Slopi's astronomical observations	lii.	443
Slow-worm , the bite of, not mortal	xxix.	140
Snices , memoirs concerning the forms of	lxx.	523
Small-pox , inoculation for, according to the Chinese method	iv.	318
— Various histories of	iv.	384
— In Minorca	v.	523
— Remarks on the cure of	v.	506
— Discourse on the preparation of the body for	vi.	307
— Character, why taken from those in the face	vi.	309
— The primary causes not known	x.	37
— The infection communicated by the smell	x.	37
— and by the sight	x.	37
— Conjectures about the particles of the contagion	x.	38
— Of its quality and residence	x.	39
— Abounds more in some constitutions than in others	x.	40
— The communicating and extinction of, by a special contagion, peculiar to this disease and the measles	x.	40
— The manner of the infectious operation	x.	42
— Whether productive of a lentor or cohesion of the blood	x.	42
— Of the infection by the olfactory nerves	x.	43
— Why the character of the small-pox to be estimated by the quantity and appearance on the face	x.	49
— Of the most favourable temperaments for this disease	x.	119
— The use of opiates in the	x.	125
— The origin of	x.	246
— Emetics, how far proper in	x.	248
— New remark on the event of inoculating it	xiii.	141
— New method of communicating it, with objections	xix.	86
— Supposed to purify the constitution	xx.	607

Small-

Small-pox , instance of its being carried off by an hæmorrhage from the nose	xx.	608
— Not all persons liable to this disease	xx.	608
— The efficacy of the scarlet colour in the cure	xxiii.	471
— An infection receivable but once	xxv.	307
— Causes of reports concerning frequent infections	xxv.	308
— How to preserve the eyes in that disorder	xxv.	309
— A controversy on	xxviii.	53
— Hypothesis for totally eradicating	xxxi.	546
— Remarks on the new method of inoculation	xxxvii.	265
— The benefit of cold air in the	xxxviii.	433, 443
— State of inoculation in France, from 1758 to 1765	xli.	516
— Objections to this practice answered	xli.	517
— Method of inoculating it in Barbary, and at Bengal	xlii.	194
— Practice of inoculation in Arabia	xlii.	194
— Objections to the use of opium	xlii.	541
— Most efficacious preservatives against	xliii.	521
— Method of treating the confluent sort	li.	44
— Account of a fœtus which had received it from its mother	lxiv.	276
— In Batavia, inquiries concerning	lxv.	541
— On the accidents attending the malignant	lxviii.	559
— Great use of milk	lxviii.	559
— See Inoculation .

Smallbridge, Dr. not concerned in publishing Clarendon's history

	xix.	235
Smallbridge, Bishop , character of	lxviii.	142
Smart, Mr. compared to Simon Magus	i.	456
— Ranked with Gray and Mason as a poet	vii.	135
Smeathman, Mr. account of the termites or white ants of Africa, &c.	lxvi.	368
Smeaton, John , his new hydrometer	xiii.	420
— His discourse on the menstrual parallax	xlii.	399
— His method of obs. the heavenly bodies out of the meridian	xlii.	399
— His description of a new hydrometer	xlvi.	225
— His new experiment on the collision of bodies	lxix.	446
Smelting , the splenetic trav. (Dr. Smollet) described	xxxviii.	175
Smelling , considered	i.	32
— Philosophical investigation of	xxx.	365, 377
Smelt, Mr. account of his speech at the York meeting	lxiii.	75
Smith, Dr. J. his dispute with Dr. Kelly	xxxiv.	75
Smith, Dr. W. is oration in the college of Philadelphia	xxxvi.	25
— Extract from his sermon before the Charitable Corporation in America	xlii.	31
Smith, Adam , his doctrine with respect to the value of labour compared with the prices of commodities, contraverted	lvi.	118
Smith, Edmund , his account of the interpolations in Clarendon's history, contested	xix.	234
— His character and credit defended	xix.	235
— Story of his being employed to alter Clarendon's history	lxii.	303
Smith, Rev. James , educated in the church of Rome	lvii.	472

Smith, Rev. James , becomes dissatisfied with its tenets	lvii.	473
— Renounces its errors	lvii.	475
Smith, Dr. William , his absurdities humorously exposed	xlvi.	144
Smoker of tobacco , picture of an habitual one	ii.	385
Smoke , case of a person stupified by	xxix.	146
Smollet, Dr. his hist. of England partial in many instances	xviii.	293
— Omissions in it	xviii.	299
— Inconsistent with itself	xviii.	300
— Misrepresents the conduct of the D. of C. in the late rebellion	xviii.	301
— Asserts facts without producing authorities	xviii.	301
— Calumniates King William and Queen Mary	xviii.	302
— His history criticized	xix.	249
— Bold experiment on himself by sea-bathing	xxxiv.	421
— His history of England censured	xli.	535
Smuggling , reports to the House of Commons on	xxviii.	343
— True means of suppressing	xxxv.	446
Smut , a distemper of corn, how to prevent	xxvii.	410
Smyrna , public entry of a Turkish Pacha into that city, described	xi.	206
— The carnival there, and the country, described	xxxiv.	150
Snake , the black one of North America, described	xlv.	213
— Useful to the inhabitants of Africa	lxix.	47
Snails , instance of the reviviscence of	lii.	327
Snorro Sturleson , a famous bard in Iceland	xxix.	91
Snow , method of ascertaining what quantity of water any fall of snow is equal to	xxxvii.	442
Snowdon , ode to, on the birth of the Prince of Wales	xxviii.	22
— Description of that mountain	lxv.	363
Snuff-taking , good for the tooth-ach	ii.	384
— Its bad effects	ii.	385
— Evils resulting from	xxv.	128
— Cure for, proposed	xxv.	129
— Forbearance from, an evidence of disaffection	xxv.	129
— The noses of snuff-takers tanned	xxv.	130
Soap-rock , in France, experiments on	lxvii.	500
— In Corsica	lxix.	533
Sobieski, John, King of Poland , his birth	xxvi.	165
— His extraordinary military address	xxvi.	166
— Marries	xxvi.	167
— His victory over the Tartars	xxvi.	167
— Extract from his coronation sermon	xxvi.	170
— Destroys a ghost, and frightens his confessor to death	xxvi.	171
— Defeats the Turks, and rescues Vienna	xxvi.	172
— His behaviour to the Emperor	xxvi.	173
— His rash confidence, and death	xxvi.	174
Sobriety , in no esteem among the Persians	xxviii.	533
Society , causes of the inequality of possessions in	xxii.	247
— The origin of it traced	xxvii.	179
— The progress of	xxiii.	184

Society, scheme for uniting all nations	—	xxiii. 340
— Bad consequences from a system of	—	xxiii. 344
— Reflections on	—	xxv. 199
— Progressive stages of, considered	—	xxxv. 223
— General origin of	—	xxxvi. 519
— Necessity of man's uniting in	—	xxxvii. 483
— Part of the universal course of nature	—	xxxvii. 484
— The fundamental laws	—	xxxvii. 485
— Reflections on the nature of	—	xlili. 22
— Rise and progress of the distinctions of ranks in	—	xliv. 190
— That of women in particular considered	—	xliv. 190
— Civil, inquiry into the origin of	—	xliv. 322
— From nature	—	xliv. 330
— Sociability, a natural sentiment in man	—	xliv. 536
— Social virtues depicted	—	xliv. 537
— Social government, its origin	—	xliv. 538
— Remarks on the progress of, to the eleventh century	—	lxi. 181
— Primeval, whence derived	—	lxiii. 444
Societies for granting annuities, &c. curious and important strictures on	—	xliv. 305, 317
— Strictures on	—	xlvi. 103
Society for the encouragement of arts, manufactures, and commerce in London, first institution of	—	xvi. 377
— Foundation of	—	xxiii. 431
— Account of its transactions	—	lxx. 199
Society for propagating the gospel in foreign parts, a pious design	—	lxiii. 277
— Badly executed in British North America	—	lxiii. 277
— Censured	—	xxx. 45
Societies, literary, usefulness of	—	xvi. 372
Societies, medical, first rise of	—	xxxviii. 431
Socialism, first founders of, men of respectable character	—	lxiii. 177
Socius, Faustus, observations on his life and writings	—	lvii. 375
Socrates, vindicated with regard to a famous saying of his, in his last minutes	—	i. 172
— Some account of him and his writings	—	ix. 359
— Manner of instruction, its advantages	—	ix. 401
— Lord Bolingbroke's account of his philosophy	—	x. 442
— His endeavours to improve the taste of his countrymen	—	xxii. 108
— M. Diderot's plan for introducing his death upon the stage	—	xxii. 284
— Extracts from Voltaire's tragedy of Socrates	—	xxii. 286
— Learned to dance when advanced in years	—	xxvi. 316
— His discourse concerning the Deity	—	xxvii. 171
— A falsehood in, detected	—	xxxii. 523
— His philosophy altered by Plato	—	xxxix. 507
— More faithfully delivered by Xenophon	—	xxxix. 509
— His laudable zeal for the reformation of the Athenians	—	xxxix. 513
— His modest deportment to those with whom he conversed	—	xxxix. 514

- Socrates*, his dexterity in his disputes with the sophists xxxix. 514
 — His success in cultivating the passions of young people xxxix. 515
 — His memory abused — — xlix. 439
 — Xenophon's panegyric on — — xlix. 548
 — Brief account of his philosophy — — lx. 122
 — His Dæmon explained — — lxvii. 443
Socratic love, Voltaire's account of, controverted xxxiii. 278
Sodom, lake of, vulgar error relating to, disproved xxi. 264
Soder, derivation of — — lxxv. 98
Sæe-Ormen, or sea-snake, evidence of its existence on the coast of Norway — — xliii. 38
Soils, and their improvement. See Husbandry.
Solander, Dr. his account of the Gardenia Jasminoides xxix. 141
 — His voyage with Capt. Cook, for discoveries in the southern hemisphere — — xlix. 479
 — Is in danger of perishing by the cold at Terra del Fuego xlix. 481
 — Arrives at Otaheite — — xlix. 484
 — His success in his botanical researches at New Zealand xlix. 493
Solanum lethale, Dr. Lambergen tries it on himself xvi. 149
 — Cures a cancer by it, taken internally — — xvi. 151
Solanum Maniacum, account of — — xxix. 485
Solanum Nigrum, experiments on — — lxx. 8
Soldiers, the use which reading might be of to them xv. 406
 — and sailors, discharged from government service, scheme for providing for — — xxvii. 382
 — Ignominiously treated by their officers — — xxxvii. 314
 — Society in Ireland for maintaining their orphan children — — xxxvii. 398
 — Poetical picture of — — lxxix. 435
Solfatara, observations on the salt of, affirmed by the natives to be sal-ammoniac — — xli. 510
Solids, reciprocally affected by the quantity and temperature of the fluids — — v. 499
 — Projection of, on a plain — — xi. 44
Solidity, in bodies, the cause of their resistance — — ii. 396
Soliloquies, in modern tragedy, their superiority in comparison of the ancient chorus — — xxiii. 4
Solima, an oriental eclogue, specimens of — — xlvi. 505
Solitude, a song, by Mr. Buncle — — xv. 507
 — Her cell, poetically described — — xxxiv. 120
Solicitors, proposal for reforming them — — ii. 118
Solomon, dress and ornaments of the Queen of, described xxxviii. 295
Solomon, Isles of, considerations on — — xliii. 520
Solomon, Song of, dissertations on — — v. 492
 — Arguments for its authenticity — — v. 493
 — Objections answered — — v. 494
 — A pastoral upon Solomon's nuptials — — v. 496
 — A pastoral drama, or description of a real marriage, in seven eclogues — — xxxi. 162
 — Objections to this opinion answered — — xxxi. 165
Solomon,

Solomon, Song of , commentary on the third eclogue	xxxi.	167
— New translation of ditto	xxxi.	168
— Annotations	xxxi.	169
— Rational comment on	xxxviii.	294
— Specimen of a new translation of, by a lady	lxvi.	258
Solomon, temple of , a curious model of that magnificent structure	viii.	499
Solon , imperfection of his laws	xxxv.	500
Solyman and Almena , story of	xxvi.	255
— Song from	xxvi.	263
Somers, Lord , his great character	xix.	563
— His impeachment	xxxvi.	7
— His letter to the Elector of Hanover	liv.	290
— His letter to King William	lix.	161
— To Lord Sunderland	lix.	166
Somerſet, Duke of , his resentment on taking up his son-in-law	i.	453
— His high spirit	i.	454
Somerſet, Duchess of , her letter to Lady Luxborough	lviii.	191
Somerſet, L. Herbert , account of his commission in Ireland	xii.	221
Somerſham water , Dr. Layard's account of	xxxvii.	373
Sea , the duties of	vii.	148
Song in praise of matrimony	xi.	456
— A merry drinking one	xx.	455
— Humorously descriptive of London	liii.	442
Sonnet on Isabella Markhame	xlii.	58
Soot , on the spontaneous inflammation, when mixed with different oils	lxix.	585
Sophia, Princess , letter from, to Lord Strafford	liv.	292
Sophia and her five lovers , story of	xxiv.	224
Sophists , character of those philosophers	xxiii.	349
— Socrates, management of them	xxiii.	350
Sophocles , his character as a poet	xxii.	110
— Some account of	xxiii.	8
— The first who bestowed white shoes and stockings upon tragedians	xxiii.	294
— Promoted to the government of a city, for one of his dramatic pieces	xxiv.	376
— His barbarous usage from commentators	xxvi.	401
— His genius	xxix.	83
— His Oedipus criticised and defended	xxix.	516
— His Oedipus Tyrannus, translated	lxii.	394
Sore throat , method of treating it, at Plymouth	xvi.	326
— of America, an account of	xvi.	553
— Dr. Wilche's account of the	xlii.	545
— Method of curing the malignant	l.	42
— Putrid, remedy for	lxi.	30
Soria, J. A. de , his posthumous works	lii.	349
Sortes Virgilianæ , King Charles and Lord Falkland try their fortune by	iii.	54
Sortileges of the ancients , remarks on	xii.	13
Souches ,

Seuchot, Mrs. her remarkable case of delivery in child-birth

lx. 74

Soul, the Indian and Pythagorean system of transmigration explained

iv. 321

— Ingenious description of the springs of action in v. 129

— Arguments against its immortality not conclusive v. 306

— Arguments for its immortality — v. 509

— Soul does not leave the body on the ceasing of circulation vi. 466

— The close union with the body — vi. 472

— The various systems of the nature of the — vii. 384

— Its immortality not taught in the Old Testament x. 263

— Lord Bolingbroke's notion of it — x. 360

— The idea of spirit more obscure than that of body x. 361

— Transmigration held by the Persians and British Druids x. 421

— Immortality not to be proved from its immateriality xii. 427

— Arguments in favour of its immortality — xiii. 450

— An argument to prove its immortality — xiv. 278

— Controversy concerning its nature, residence, and agency xiv. 120

— The doctrine of an intermediate state controverted xvi. 403, 511

— Doctrine of the immortality, not particular to the Jews as the sanction of their ritual — xvi. 519

— A prevailing opinion before the time of Christ xvi. 520

— Immortality of the soul, a doctrine weakly attacked and lamely defended — xx. 14

— No mention in scripture of an intermediate state xxii. 16

— Verses on the seat and properties of the — xxiv. 337

— Conjecture relating to the immortality of — xxvi. 506

— Its seat, and mode of its transmigration conjectured xxvi. 507

— The seat of, conjectured — xxviii. 526

— Recipe to make a — xxix. 357

— Compared to a butterfly by the ancient Greeks xxix. 513

— Immortality of, denied by many of the ancient heathen philosophers — xxx. 429

— The Jews had no idea of it — xxx. 530

— Its spirituality philosophically considered — xxxi. 29

— Its union with organized bodies considered xxxi. 540

— Its intermediate state enquired into — xxxii. 353

— View of the controversy concerning — xxxii. 358

— Remarks on the dispute about the intermediate state of

xxxiii. 141

— Controversy relating to — xxxiii. 417

— Its immateriality whimsically proved — xxxix. 219

— Those of brutes asserted — xxxix. 220

— The medium by which the soul is connected with the body, pointed out — xxxix. 222

— Its intermediate state — xxxix. 297

— and body, on the union between — xl. 530

— Various hypotheses relating to its union with the body xl. 570

— Free enquiry into its existence — xli. 124

Soul,

- Soul*, Fanciful hypothesis relating to its existence in a future state
xli. 245
- Dr. Nicholl's theory of the — xlix. 384
- Sulzer's memoir on the immortality of the — lviii. 521
- Philosophical opinions relative to its immortality — lx. 520—lxiv. 497
- Treatise in proof of the existence and immateriality of — lx. 521
- Theory of, by a French writer — lxi. 224
- Of the soul that animates the brute creation — lxi. 486
- Immortality of, philosophically discussed — lxiv. 487
- Remarks on the transmigration of — lxvii. 497
- Sound*, of the motion of — x. 342
- Propagated through solid bodies with a greater velocity than through the air — xxii. 8
- Echoing to the sense, extraordinary instance of — xxviii. 480
- On the propagation of — xliii. 524
- On the velocity of — xlvi. 670
- Principles of the sound of — lix. 450
- Physico-anatomical dissertations concerning — lix. 451
- Principal affections of, generally investigated — lix. 463
- The philosophy of musical — lxi. 12
- South*, Dr. his sermons censured — lxiii. 544
- South Carolina*, miserable state of the negro slaves there — lxvii. 274
- South Sea*, voyages of the Dolphin to the — xlix. 137, 289
- On the tracks of Asia and America to the north of — lii. 346
- Kerguelen's voyages to — lxviii. 636
- Marion du Fresne's voyage to — lxix. 540
- Southern Continent*, reasons for supposing — lvii. 28
- Sovereignty*, its source — vi. 270
- A power to judge of religion — vi. 274
- To advance the sciences and truth — vi. 275
- Sow's milk*, its properties — ii. 308
- Sonnet*, some account of him and his writings — ix. 360
- Spa*, its mineral springs described — xix. 573
- Spa Amusement de*, who the authors of both the old and new — xxx. 256
- Spa water*, inquiry into — xxxv. 452
- Description of Spa, with the medicinal waters there — xliiii. 200
- Their virtues — xliiii. 205
- Qualities of the medicinal waters — lviii. 467
- Space*, what — vi. 130
- Necessarily constituted by the co-existence of unextended elements — xxx. 544
- Spada palace*, at Rome, described — lvi. 62
- Spain*, the Indians cruelly used by the Spaniards — iv. 323
- Account of the Armada of — v. 107
- Capable of great improvement — ix. 384
- Want of population, and want of agriculture, and proposals for remedying of it — ix. 385
- Suffers greatly by licentiousness and superstition — ix. 385
- Spain*,

Spain, uneasy at the neighbourhood of the French in America

	xii.	88
— Extracts from the natural history of	xvi.	151
— Instances of ridiculous formality	xxiii.	77
— Seized by the Visigoths	xxiv.	96
— Conquered by the Moors	xxiv.	96
— Revival of the Christian power in	xxiv.	99
— The papal authority long resisted by the kings	xxiv.	100
— Account of Ferdinand and Isabella, founders of the Spanish monarchy	xxiv.	109
— Account of Charles I.	xxiv.	115
— Accession of Philip II.	xxiv.	116
— Extract from Spanish papers in defence of Mr. Pitt's conduct	xxvi.	228
— All accounts of, unsatisfactory	xxviii.	287
— Appearance of the country from Córruna to Madrid	xxviii.	289
— The inhabitants of, characterised	xxviii.	289
— State of literature in	xxviii. 292—xliii.	295
— Inquisition, a great enemy to literature	xxviii.	293
— State of poetry, and the theatre	xxviii.	294
— Satirically characterised	xxxi.	203
— Character of the soldiery	xxxv.	82
— Secret articles with, in the reign of Charles I.	xxxviii.	396
— Duplicity of Charles I. with regard to the Spanish match	xxxviii.	398
— Description of	xliii. 222,	294
— Favourable character of	xliii.	228
— Ease and freedom of the better inhabitants	xliii.	229
— Dramatic entertainments in	xliii.	295
— Their cortejos, estrechos, and santos	xliii.	299
— Present king described	xliii.	301
— The carnival described	xliii.	385
— Observations on the language	xliii.	389
— Advantage of the trade with	xliii.	455
— View of the national character	xliii.	551
— Purity of the language of the peasants	xliii.	552
— Pleasant instance of the haughtiness of the inhabitants	xlviii.	572
— Purchases Falkland's Island from France	li.	415
— Cruelty of, to the South Americans	liii.	602
— Various parts described	lviii.	27
— Happy in a numerous and active peasantry	lviii.	180
— Literary history of	lviii.	386
— Abounds in rich materials for natural history	lix.	539
— Produces inexhaustible stores of salt petre	lix.	541
— Wonderful mountains of salt	lx.	554
— Antiquities described	lxi.	139
— Vindicated from the charge of cruelty in their treatment of the Americans	lxv.	309
— Political picture of	lxvii.	54
— National character of	lxix.	65

Spanish

Spanish Armada , history of	xxvi.	279
Spang , Mr. his letter to Principal Baillie, relating to the execution of Charles I.	lviii.	371
Spar , an inquiry into its original state	iv.	385
Spars , and crystals, theory of their formation	xxxix.	427
— Duty arranged and classed	xlvi.	246
Sparrow , natural history of	liii.	596
— Invectives against that bird	liii.	596
Sparta , its opulence considered, in opposition to the common notion of its poverty	lxx.	507
— On the riches of	lxx.	550
Spartans , their prodigious hardness and resolution in painful and dangerous exercises	i.	116
— Observations on their condition under the laws of Lycurgus	xxii.	544
— Ancient enemies of, still subsisting, and where	xxxix.	553
— Of old, their strong attachment to their country	xliv.	507
Spasms , the use of opium in	ix.	132
Speaking by action, what	xv.	108
— Usage the authoritative rule of	lxx.	505
Speciali gratia , what	v.	412
Spelator , language of, in a peculiar expression, censured	xxvii.	22
— Defended	xxvii.	22
— Papers in, critically examined	lxix.	187
Speculation , a poem, by Mr. Anstey, extracts from	lxii.	474
Speculum , Hoffman's experiments relative to	xliv.	327
Speech , our duty and obligation in the use of	xiii.	167
— Origin of, in general	xxxi.	429
— Origin of	li.	508
— Measured melody of, critically investigated	lv.	1
— Organs of, in the Orang Outang	lxii.	221
Speech , grammatic parts, considered	lii.	98
Speeches , published as parliament. generally spurious	xxviii.	123
— Anecdote on that head	xxviii.	124
— Impropriety of putting them into the mouths of supposed speakers in history	xxxvii.	409
Spence , Mr. his criticism on Dryden, criticised	xxxviii.	423
— His criticism on several passages in Virgil	xxxix.	169
Spencer , father to Edward II.'s favourite, anecdotes relating to	xxvi.	85
— Impeached	xxxvi.	6
Spencer , and Janssen , their law suit	xxxiii.	109
Spenser , preferable to Ariosto as an epic poet, and why	xi.	119
— His Fairy Queen, investigated as a Gothic composition	xxvii.	89
— His filthy images and allegories, disapproved	xxx.	33
— Imitated in blank verse	lii.	113
Sphers , Barbaric, what	xix.	517
Sphinx , how expounded	xxiii.	141
	Splendylum ,

- Spondylium vulgare*, its description and uses xi. 216
Spice trade, practices of the French to cheat the Dutch out of it . liv. 562
Spider, a curious one described, with its manner of living xxx. 559
— A remarkable antipathy to — lxviii. 218
Spider mouse, Mr. D'Aubenton's account of that animal xxix. 484
Spire, new method of preventing and curing the crookedness of xl. 217
Spinello, frightened out of his senses by one of his own pictures xli. 253
Spinosa, two extracts from his Tractatus Theologico-politicus, imposed on the public as new pieces xxix. 66, 160
— His creed — xlv. 659
— His sentiments agreeable to those of Fencelon xlv. 659
Spires, best form of, for resisting the wind — xi. 495
Spirit, the various meanings of that word — xx. 237
Spirits, animal, supposed to be the most perfect operation of third digestion — xxi. 413
Spirit, or mind, its properties investigated — xli. 118
— Its individuality and distinct existence maintained xli. 119
Spirit of God, the methodists account of — iv. 33
— Sequel to the essay on — vi. 327
— Christ's knowledge not unlimited — vi. 328
— Creation, in what sense ascribed to the Son vi. 329
— Holy reasons for the adoration of — ix. 444
— The manner of its operation — xx. 33
— A communication of it to men, the only means of holiness xxv. 417
— Mistakes of man, concerning the influence of lv. 173
— and with respect to the power given to the Apostles lv. 265
Spirit of contradiction, scene in — xxii. 334
Spirits of evil, their agency — ij. 392, 424
— The universe replete with them — xviii. 158
— Their degrees — xviii. 159
Spirit igneous, produced from volatile alkaline salts and quicklime, what — xv. 377
Spirit, unity of, how to be restored — xi. 437
Spirit of wine, how to combine with the vitriolic acid xix. 362
— Not to be frozen even by the degree of cold that freezes mercury — xxvii. 332
Spirituous liquors, their best method of use — ii. 374
— Useful premonitions against the use of — xv. 395
— Memoir on their different specific gravities, according to their different degrees of strength, &c. — xlviii. 549
Spiritual courts, execrated — lii. 553
Spitzbergen, described — lii. 123
Spleen, remedy for — xviii. 630
Spints, a new chirurgical invention — xxxvii. 77
Sportsman,

Sportsman , a cruel being	—	lxv.	217
Sprat , Dr. remark on his literary character	—	lxi.	189
Spring , absurdity of a British poet celebrating that season of the year in our cold climate	—	xv.	201
— Poetical personification of	—	xxiv.	394
— The effect produced by a fine morning in, poetically described in French verse	—	xli.	500
— The same, in English	—	xli.	501
— Beautifully celebrated by a Turkish poet	—	xliv.	430
— The same by a reviewer	—	xliv.	437
— Diseases peculiar to, in London	—	xliv.	358, 561
— Proper treatment of, prescribed	—	xliv.	561, 358
— Verses on, by a lady, ?	—	xlvi.	135
— Ode to	—	xlvi.	135
Spring of water , Bleton's faculty of discovering	—	lxvii.	554
Spacy land , what	—	xvii.	226
Sponge , use of, after amputations	—	xxvii.	77
— Many successful applications of it	—	xxvii.	77
— The manner of applying it after suppuration	xxvii.	192, 193
— Indued with animal life	—	xxxv.	450
Spur , a distemper of the corn, cause and bad effects of	—	xxxvii.	411
Spurina , story of his extreme beauty and charity, not true	—	xlvi.	562
Spy , an absurd title for books	—	xxxi.	534
Square , military, ought to be abolished	—	xv.	405
— Insufficiency of, with a proposal for its improvement	—	xxii.	493
Square root , demonstration of the rule for extracting it	—	xix.	5
Squintancy in brutes , what, and how cured	—	xii.	69
Squinting , cause of discussed	—	li.	554
Squire, Bishop , account of his life and writings	—	xxxvi.	252
Stadium , or foot race at the Olympic games, described	—	i.	106
Stadtholder , some account of his revenues	—	xii.	481
— The origin and power of that office	—	xxv.	279
Staffa , stupendous rocky phenomenon in that island	—	li.	454
Stafford, Lord , his conduct in Ireland investigated	—	i.	49
Stag , story of the peculiar attachment of one to a heifer	—	lviii.	75
— Same, a fable translated from Gay into Latin	—	lviii.	110
Stag-hunting near the lake of Killarney, described	—	xlvi.	216
Stage , who are the Town at acting new plays	—	ii.	407
— Sensibility and a good understanding, necessary for forming a good player	—	iii.	190
— How far personal figure is necessary for an actor	—	iii.	191
— To be frequented for amusement	—	iv.	136
— Present state of, in Germany	—	iv.	314
— Whether modern plays improve or debauch the morals	—	iv.	352
— Players excluded from Edinburgh	—	iv.	354
— The effect of dramatic poetry on the mind	—	vii.	376
— Requisites for the forming of an actor	—	ix.	293
— Art of acting not generally understood	—	xiii.	1
— Qualifications necessary for an actor	—	xiii.	4
— Voltaire's notion of the time of action	—	xiii.	494
Stage ,

Stages, inconveniences of unity of place in theatrical exhibitions

— Managers not always in the wrong	xiii.	496
— Plays performed in England near 600 years ago	xiv.	579
— Account of the plays and operas of Italy	xv.	73
— Parliament ordinance against players, in the civil war	xvi.	585
— Condition of players in the time of the civil war and at present, contrasted	xviii.	409
— Speculations concerning dramatic entertainments	xviii.	410
— Mask, sock, and buskin, of the ancients described	xx.	120
— The perfection of tragedy under Euripides	xx.	318
— Criticism on the Dublin actors	xxii.	111
— Absurdity of confining it, to the rules of the ancients	xxii.	157
— The origin of tragedy	xxii.	456
— Superiority of soliloquies to the choros	xxiii.	2
— The constitution of the Greek	xxiii.	4
— Origin of dramatic poetry	xxiii.	6
— Method of decorating the face of ancient actors	xxiii.	290
— Rousseau's ridicule of comedy	xxiii.	291, 296
— Comparison between the ancient and modern	xxiii.	320
— Whether gallantry ought to be excluded	xxiii.	458
— Necessity of disregarding the unities in the drama	xxiii.	460
— Short history of the English	xxiii.	462
— Strolling companies described	xxiii.	464
— Observations on the ancient and modern	xxiv.	340
— The occasion of bringing dramatic performances under licence	xxiv.	376
— Narrative of the theatrical war in Dublin	xxv.	45
— The cause of the restrictions laid on the stage, with reflections thereon	xxv.	48
— Dramatic poetry considered	xxvi.	371
— Wherein tragedy differs from the epic	xxvii.	111
— The modern drama, preferred to the ancient	xxvii.	111
— Criticisms on the Chinese drama	xxviii.	177
— Licensing of plays a fatal stroke on the liberty of the press, with the ill consequences thereof	xxviii.	363
— The first principles of tragedy	xxix.	85
— The school of humanity	xxix.	86
— Theatrical exhibitions on the coast of Coromandel	xxix.	93
— Aristotle's definition of tragedy	xxx.	64
— Difficulty of writing a complete tragedy	xxx.	64
— Licensing of plays, an execrable system	xxxi.	277
— By whom projected	xxxi.	277
— Encouraged by the wisest nations	xxxii.	205
— Objections to, answered	xxxii.	206
— Licensing of plays, a badge of slavery	xxxii.	206
— The secret cause of it	xxxii.	207
— The golden rump, was the occasion of licensing plays	xxxii.	216
— Fondness of the English for plays in former times	xxxii.	245

Stage, great number of play-houses formerly existing in London

— Low prices of admittance	xxxii.	245
— Dramatic unities, controverted	xxxiii.	295
— State of the drama in Italy	xxxv.	338
— Encomium on the profession of acting	xxxviii.	288
— Controversy between the church and stage, at Paris	xxxviii.	288
— Means of forming the morals of	xxxviii.	571
— Critical account of the drama in Italy	xxxix.	56
— Influence on the passions and manners of a people	xl.	524
— Origin of the English, traced	xlvi.	388
— Account of the Gothic	xlvi.	388
— Rude and simple beginnings of, in England	li.	59
— Observations on the merit of tragedy	li.	282
— Satirical remarks on the present state of, in England	lii.	140
— New species of drama in France	lii.	634
— Remarks on the French drama	liii.	607
— Criticisms on the dramatic unities	lvii.	193
— Sentimental dramas satirized and defended	lix.	142
— Æschylus the father of tragedy	lix.	286
— Ancient Greek drama, characterized	lxi.	510
— Greek tragedy philosophically estimated	lxi.	510
— Greek comedy estimated	lxi.	511
— Greek poetry under Alexander and the Ptolemies	lxi.	512, 524
— Critical observations on the drama	lxii.	186
— State of, in the time of Shakespeare	lxiii.	249
— Bookseller's price for the copy of a new play in those days	lxiii.	253
— State of, at Venice	lxiv.	148
— Collier's controversy on the	lxv.	109

Stair, Earl of, his scheme for beating the French at Dettingen xvii. 181

Stamp act. See America.

Stanhope, Mrs. her apology for the freedom in Lord Chesterfield's letters
li. 33

Stanislaus, king of Poland, his opposition to infidelity
xxlii. 389

Stannore, in Westmoreland, its romantic wildness described
xv. 585

Stanzas, of four lines, with ten syllables and alternate rhymes, well adapted to particular subjects
xii. 354

— Poetical uniformity and diversity of, critically discussed
lxv. 14

Stars, all suns, and surrounded with planetary bodies
iii. 218

— Their use and design enquired into
iii. 225

— On the probable parallax and magnitude of the fixed
xl. 109

— Messier's catalogue of the Nebulae
lii. 625

— On the satellites of the fixed
lxiii. 140

— The periodical, in the whale's neck
lxiv. 441

— On the parallax of the fixed
lxix. 211

- Star-chamber*, its origin — — xxxi. 454
 — Evil effects of it, still remaining in the constitution xxxii. 272
 — Its infamous doctrine and servile discipline adopted in the courts of common law — xxxii. 272
 — No precedents ought to be taken from that court in cases of libels — xxxiv. 394
States, how formed — — vi. 269
 — Their decay, and the causes thereof — xiii. 177
 — On the revolution of — — lxx. 502
Statesmen, best entitled to heaven, who best consult the happiness of the people — — xxiii. 23
 — And magistrates, in what respect inferior to tradesmen, &c. — xxxii. 170
 — Ought to serve their country gratis xxxiv. 305, — xxxvii. 12
State prisoners, horrors of, under despotic princes lxxvii. 539
Statius, the poet, critical observations on the merit of his writings — xxxvii. 175
 — Extract of his Thebaid — xxxvii. 177
Statute of mankind, not diminished since the days of the Antediluvians — lxix. 286
Statutes, distinction between prohibitory and compulsory ones — xxii. 275
Steam engine, account of improvements in — lvi. 38
Stedman, Dr. his letter to Dr. Pringle — xxvii. 101
Steel, as full of fire as flint is — — vii. 392
 — Observations on the methods of hardening and tempering — li. 125
 — Procurable directly from iron ore — lii. 614
 — Dissertation on — — lxiv. 305
Steel, Mrs. Anne, her excellent character — lxvi. 337
 — Specimen of her poetry — — lxvi. 338
Steele, Sir Richard, his life, by Dr. Birch — vii. 266
Steel boys of Ireland, their origin — lx. 13
Steeple of St. Mary le Bow, in Cheapside, described — iii. 98
Steeple of St. Bride's, London, remarks on the damage done by lightning, with the means of preventing it in future — iii. 247
Steffe, Mr. his controversy with Dr. Dawson — xxxiii. 417
Stella, wife of Dean Swift, her character — v. 414
 — Encomium on her — — xi. 62
 — Specimens of her poetry — — xi. 63
 — Encomiums on — — xii. 245
 — Her reproof to a dealer in double entendres — xxxiii. 225
Stephen, king of England, his erroneous and unhappy reign — xxxvii. 404, 408
 — His death and character — — xxxvii. 409
Stephen, Mr. the opposer of imprisoning debtors, his account of himself — xliii. 502
Stephens, J. his account of a phenomenon in Dorsetshire xxvii. 331
Stephenson, Mr. his fantastic manner of writing on husbandry xlv. 233
Stepney,

Stepney , his merit as a poet estimated	lxi.	189
Stercorary , for the reception of dung, what	xii.	74
Sterne, Laurence , observations on the judicious publication of his sermons	xxii.	422
— His chief excellence	xxvi.	41
— A literary harlequin	xxxvi.	93
— His writings, censured and commended	xxxvi.	102
— History of a watch-coat, some account of	xli.	486
— Not the author of the posthumous works, published as his	xlii.	361
— His correspondence with Mrs. Draper	lii.	370
— His account of his family	liii.	341
— Of himself	liii.	342, 344
— Garrick's epitaph on	liii.	344
— Poetical eulogium on	liii.	412
Stevenson, Sophia , the memoirs of, ascribed to their true author	lvi.	487
Sternus , on the trepanning of the	xl.	215
Sterry, Peter , some account of	lxiii.	557
— Specimens of his writings	lxiii.	557
Stuart, Mrs. Jean , her character for piety, &c.	xliv.	313
— Her meditations censured for fanaticism	xliv.	314
Stevenson, Dr. his goodness in the education of Mr. Blacklock	xi.	482
Steward , definition of that office	xxiv.	384
Stewart, Sir James , his letter to the reviewers, acknowledged	xxxvii.	319
Stiles, Sir Francis Byles , his account of some new microscopes	xxxv.	452
— His account of an eruption of Mount Vesuvius	xxvii.	329
Still, Dr. Bishop of Bath and Wells, his character	xlii.	52
— His dispute with a fanatic	xlii.	54
Still-born children , apparently so, how sometimes recovered	xlii.	245
Stillingsfleet, Bishop , refuses to recommend Dr. Halley at court	i.	341
— Styled a theological buffoon by the Papists	i.	321
Stillingsfleet, Benjamin , his excellent character	lvii.	276
Stock , rational, computation of	ii.	247
Stockholders , useless subjects	xi.	165
Stock-jobbing , more injurious than highway robbery	xvii.	221
Stockdale, Mr. his free expression in the House concerning the Duke of Lauderdale	xxviii.	150
Stockings , black and white, electrical experiments with	xxiii.	93
Stoic philosophy , mistaken tenets in	v.	61
— Analyzed	xviii.	589
— Preferable to the Epicurean	xviii.	589
— Discouraging to human nature	xviii.	592
— Its insufficiency insinuated by a tale	xx.	431
— Fallacy of its principles	xxiii.	187

Stoics , their elevation of soul	—	—	xxxv. 541
Stoep , M. A citizen of Leyden, leaves a fund for prize dissertations on the subjects of natural religion and moral philosophy
			lxx. 583
Stomach , coats of, turned cartilaginous	—		iv. 118
— The motion of	—		vi. 190
— The conscience of the body	—		xlvii. 68
— Its admonitions and functions, how superseded			xlvii. 68
— Account of its digestive faculty after death			l. 280
Stones , medical, improvement of the lateral operation			iv. 115
— Operation of lithotomy on women	—		iv. 245
— Method of, in the bulb of the urethra	—		iv. 429
— Expofitulation between Dr. Hartley and Dr. Mead on Mrs. Stephen's medicines	—	—	v. 292
— On the use of lime-water	—	—	vii. 402
— Experiments, with other remedies	—		vii. 405
— Not the same in the liver as in the bladder and kidneys			xvii. 425
— Account of one voided through the perineum			xxviii. 423
— Chemical investigation of Chittick's medicine for			xxxiv. 415
— Genuine recipe for	—	xxxiv. 416,	438
— In bodies, on the nature of	—		xl. 489
— The lethontriptic qualities of the ava urfi			xlvi. 546
— Method of applying fixed air for the cure of			lviii. 441
— A dissolvent for the biliary	—		lxx. 522
Stones , natural history, story of the fall of one into the river Agofpatamos, accounted for	—		xxxii. 30
— Pliny's account of	—		xxxii. 30
— Illustration of Herodotus on this subject			xxxii. 33
Stones , precious, chemical analysis of	—		lxx. 572
— Result of experiments	—		lxx. 572
— Generation of precious	—		lxx. 573
Stones , Antiquities, treatise on engraved	—		lxiii. 295
Stonebenge , said to have been an astronomical apparatus, or grand Orrery of the Druids	—		xlvi. 353
Story of the butcher and two cordeliers	—		lviii. 466
— Of a Pagan tyrant and a christian hero			lxv. 391
Story-telling , recommended in sermons	—		xxxii. 474
Stofch , Baron, his fine collection of antique gems			lxiii. 294
Stovers , Russian, for warming rooms, described			xxxvi. 555
— Experiments relative to	—		lxv. 512
Stovus , gardens of, poetically criticised	—		xxxvii. 142
Strabo , his account of the Tamuli Mercuriales controverted			xv. 259
Strafford , Earl of, reflections on his execution and character			xxxii. 274
— The political consequences of his death			xxxvi. 302
— The Parliament restore his honours, &c. to his children			xxxvi. 302
— His conduct and punishment	—		lix. 23

Strangers , inquisitive, taken by the Turks for magicians	xv.	491
Strangerways , Col. speaks in the House against bribery	xxviii.	134
Straßburg , history of the prelatcal princes of	lvii.	239
Strata of the earth, curious account of	lx.	42
— Of the Derbyshire mines	lx.	44
Strawberry , various kinds of, and a new species of, discovered	xxxiv.	565
Strawberry hill , verses on	xiv.	149
— Mr. Walpole's answer to	xlv.	150
Streatham castle , account of	lxi.	283
Streitman , Russian foldiers, terrible sedition among	xxiii.	401
— Towns of, described	xxxviii.	485
— Grandeur of the ducal palace	xxxviii.	487
Strength , internal, of every nation, what	xvi.	436
Strickland , Sir Wm. his remark in the House on the evil administration of public affairs	xxviii.	420
— His case on a breach of parliamentary privilege	lvii.	181
— His curious agreement with a physician	lviii.	174
String , on the vibration of a	xlili.	524
Stroud , W. memoirs of	vi.	145
Strumfles , Count, particulars relating to	liii.	12
— His unhappy story	lviii.	249
Stuarts , their reign in England, poetically characterised	xxx.	294
Stuart , Lord James, a great promoter of the reformation in Scotland his character	lxii.	338
Stubbs , Mr. his curious anatomy of the horse	xxxvi.	160
— Panegyric on his paintings	xxxvi.	407
Students , should be frugal of time	xiii.	189
Stanley gardens , poetic animadversions on	xxxvii.	143
Study , and studious occupations, not unwholesome	xix.	391
— The contrary doctrine maintained	xix.	391
— Ill effects of too much application to	xli.	250
— How to remedy	xli.	256
— General course of	liv.	321
Stuper , an extraordinary case of, cured by inoculation of the itch	xxxix.	526
Sturgrass , gramen effragum , its surprising poison, and strange cure of it	xii.	458
Style , reflections concerning it	iv.	300
— The qualities of, proper for poetry	viii.	163, 401
— What required to form a good one	ix.	69
— Specimens of affected and ridiculous	xii.	119
— Style of the New Testament, very different from that of ancient Greece	xiii.	14
— Some remarks on	xxv.	105
— Great latitudes for diversity in	xxvi.	28
— Figurative, entirely founded in nature	xxxi.	122
— Aristotle's observations on	liii.	202
— Critical observations on conciseness of	lviii.	137

Style , astronomic, reasons for altering the old	v.	41
— Anecdotes relating to the act for the alteration	l.	462
Stylus , or Æstel , disquisition on the Saxon word	xliv.	181
Sublimata corrosiva , virtues of	xvi.	557
Sublimata solutio , several cures performed by	xxvii.	102
— Account of	xxvii.	195
Sublime , spunded in terror	xvi.	475
— and beautiful, our ideas of them frequently confounded	xvi.	473
— Difference between what is so called and sublimity of style	xxv.	104
Subordinations , in human society, wherefore appointed by Providence	xxii.	22
— The obligations to, considered respecting rulers from whom a people have forcibly obtained redress of grievances	xxiii.	24
Subscription , forms of, in the church of England, objected to	i.	206
— To creeds and articles considered	ix.	221
— Design of	xi.	378
— In what sense required in the church of England	xx.	494
— Remarks on	xxiv.	341
— Vindication of the rights of the church to demand	xxxv.	217
— Objections to	xxxv.	298
— Dr. Rutherford's notions of, controverted	xxxvi.	451
— Ill tendency of	xxxviii.	114
— Evil tendency of	xlv.	138, 262
— The church's right of exacting, denied	xlv.	403
— Defence of the application to Parliament for relief	xlv.	405
— Petition of some of the clergy on	xlvi.	63, 157
— Remarks on, with censure of	xlvi.	465, 545, 611
— Reflections on	xlvii.	297, 402, 437, 474
— A fatal scheme	l.	96, 100, 170
— See Articles, Confessional, Disquisition free and candid, Dissenters .
Substance , metaphysical enquiry concerning	xli.	113
— Of compound	xli.	115
Subtangent , how found by common algebra	xv.	603
— By fluxations	xv.	603
Succession , to estates, real or personal, how limited and determined by the law of England	xv.	14
Suckle , description of animals which suckle their young	liii.	436
Suckling , Sir John, his sensible letter to Mr. German	xlvi.	264
Sudamina , a disease in Minorca, account of	v.	226
Sudley, Lord , his motion in the Irish Parliament for addressing the King	xxxviii.	81
Sudorifics , experiments on	xxxix.	206
Suavi , a tribe of the ancient Germans, their manners and superstitions	xliv.	561
Sugar , its nature described	ii.	307
— Essay on	vi.	236
— Hurtful to children	ix.	162
— Cultivation of the cane	xiii.	273
Sugar ,

Sagar , Jamaica capable of supplying all Europe	xxv.	153
— Hybla mount now planted with canes	xxx.	555
— The only substance in nature that produces wine	lix.	517
— Experiments relative to	lix.	517
— New discovery of an acid of	lxii.	76
— New method of cultivating the canes	lxii.	222
— On mills for	lxiv.	441
— Impolicy and injustice of forcing the prize cargoes out of the kingdom	lxvi.	75
Suffolk, Duke of , articles of his impeachment	xxxvi.	4
Suicide , of two different kinds	xi.	260
— Great sinfulness of	xi.	260
— Investigated	l.	151
Suiones , of ancient Germany, their character	xliv.	561
Sullivan, Mr. his perilous adventure in exploring a monstrous cavern in the Peake of Derbyshire	lxiii.	263
Sully, Duke of , his character	xiv.	566
— Manner of his escape at the massacre of Paris	xiv.	565
— The part he bore in the attack of Cohors	xiv.	569
— Too much an egotist in his writings	xiv.	571
— How his memoirs were collected	xv.	97
— Regulates the finances	xv.	104
— His portrait of a good minister of state	xv.	104
— Arrives in England, and how received by Q. Elizabeth	xv.	210
— Sent ambassador to King James I.	xv.	214
Sully, Mr. his time-keeper	l.	557
— His attempts for discovery of the longitude by the means of time-keepers	lxiii.	199
Sulphur , dissolved in spirits of wine	xxx.	560
Sultan , Turkish story of his throwing the handkerchief, refuted	xxix.	61
Sultana, Hasten , story of	xxix.	59, 62
— Account of a visit to her by an English lady	xxix.	60
— Magnificence and ceremonies used thereat	xxix.	60
Sulzer, Mr. his analysis of reason	xxxiii.	546
— His notion of apperception	xl.	573
— His essay on energy in the fine arts	xlili.	528
— His physiological reflections on man	lii.	570
— His explication of the notion of an eternal being	lii.	582
— His memoir on the immortality of the soul	lviii.	521
— His German dictionary of the fine arts	liii.	531
— His memoir on the properties of mind and matter	liii.	540
— His philosophical memoir on the immortality of the soul	lx.	520
— His considerations on the immortality of the soul	lxiv.	497
— Eulogy of	lxv.	510
— His travels	lxv.	544
Sumatra, island, of , account of	lx.	420
— Described	lxix.	123
— Its climate and the earthquake there	lxix.	127
— Inhabitants and their manners	lxix.	130

Sumatra , agriculture	—	—	lxi.	133
— Conjurers	—	—	lxix.	134
— Wild beasts	—	—	lxix.	135
— Art of medicine	—	—	lxix.	136
— Computation of time	—	—	lxix.	137
— Government and laws	—	—	lxix.	193
— Chastity, and manner of treating their children	—	—	lxix.	196
— Two species of people	—	—	lxix.	197
— Use of opium	—	—	lxix.	198
— Religion	—	—	lxix.	199
— Remarks on the languages of	—	—	lxx.	349
Summum bonum of man enquired into	—	—	i.	5
Sun , an eclipse of, observed in Scotland	—	—	iv.	53
— Approach of, to the earth	—	—	iv.	382
— Account of an eclipse	—	—	v.	6
— The cor mundi	—	—	vii.	389
— Method of calculating its place	—	—	ix.	214
— Place of, in 1749, calculated	—	—	ix.	215
— Parallax determined from observations	—	—	xiii.	325
— Motion of, between the tropics, described	—	—	xv.	480
— Method of obtaining the distance from the earth	—	—	xxv.	458
— Solar days all equal	—	—	xxviii.	430
— Solar years equal	—	—	xxviii.	431
— Days and years commensurate to each other	—	—	xxviii.	431
— Several phenomena observed	—	—	xxix.	144
— Account of an eclipse	—	—	xxix.	146
— Observations on three eclipses	—	—	xxix.	146
— Distance of, from the earth determined	xxx.	53	xxx.	417
— Account of an eclipse in April 1764	—	—	xxxi.	422
— Parallax of, determined	—	—	xxxi.	424
— Parallax determined from observations of the late transit of Venus	—	—	xxxi.	425
— Observations on the parallax	—	—	xxxiv.	222
— Account of an eclipse	—	—	xxxvii.	174
— Phlegon's account of an eclipse at Christ's crucifixion	—	—	xxxvii.	433
— The proportion of its light on the planets, respectively greater or less than on the earth, ascertained	—	—	xxxix.	293
— Eclipse, August 5, 1766 observations at Newfoundland	—	—	xl.	101
— Not the sole cause of the difference of heat and cold in winter	—	—	xli.	504
— Connection between parallax of the sun and moon	—	—	xlii.	396
— The parallax determined	—	—	xlii.	397
— Observations on the parallax	—	—	xlii.	502
— Observations on the winters solstice 1766	—	—	xlvi.	675
— Observations on the height on the summer solstice	—	—	xlvi.	675
— Time of passing the meridian line	—	—	xlvi.	341
— Table of the distances of the planets in the solar system	—	—	xlvi.	415

Sun , parallax deduced from the transit of Venus	xlvi.	415
— Eclipse, observations on, at George's island	l.	29
— Observations on its true diameter	l.	552
— Observations on the dark protuberance observed on its disk during the transit of Venus	l.	552
— The diameter of	l.	552
— Observations on the light and heat of	li.	319
— Spots in, supposed to be cavities	li.	369
— Worship of general, in times of the highest antiquity	li.	424
— All the Gods of Greece, originally one, and that the Sun	li.	424
— Observation on the eclipse June 27, 1778	lxii.	213
— Power of its heat through burning glasses	lxiii.	511
— New analytical methods of calculating eclipses	lxv.	486
— Observations on the spots	lxv. 492—lxvii.	505
— See Eclipses .
Sun-dials , remarks on the placing of	xxxvii.	431
Sunderland, Lord , his correspondence with King William	lix.	163
— With Lord Somers	lix.	165
Superiority , the dispute between the sexes for, absurd	xxviii.	83
Superstition , the causes of it	i.	140
— Its evil consequences	i.	141
— Its cure	i.	142
— Incurable, and why	ii.	161
— The nature of	xii.	432
— Wherein it differs from true religion	xii.	433
— Whether, and in what sense, worse than atheism	xiii.	295
— A remarkable instance of	xiv.	449
— Pernicious to arts and sciences	xv.	59
— A definition of	xviii.	459
— Dwelling of, described	xxvi.	459
— Its character	xxvii.	400
— Horrid effects of, in Geneva	xxvii.	413
— Not naturally inherent in man	xxxiii.	310
Supper , ought to be light	iv.	136
Supplies for government , modern way of raising them, pernicious to the kingdom	xvi.	107
— Possibility of raising them within the year	xvi.	108
— Utility of so doing	xvi.	110
— Proposals for	xvi.	111
— Of public money for the year 1768, remarks on	xxxviii.	158
Surat , Toren's voyage to	xliv.	404
— Account of the inhabitants of	lx.	305
Surgeon , his peculiar advantage over the physician	xlii.	358
— Mechanical knowledge useful to	xviii.	317
— Directions to, previous to an engagement at sea	xliii.	107
Surgery remarkable cases in	iii.	294, 296
— The use of opium before any great operation	ix.	132
— Experience necessary to complete a surgeon	xv.	514
— Method of studying in hospitals, censured	xxii.	196
		Surgery,

Surgery, objects and instruments of	—	xxiv.	319
— Caustic applications rejected	—	xxiv.	323
— Account of an amputation without any hæmorrhage	—	xxvii.	100
— Remarkable case in	—	xxvii.	196
— Two remarkable cases	—	xxix.	146
— Amputation of limbs, generally unnecessary	xxx. 569—xxxi.		346
— Remarkable cures without amputation	—	xxxi.	347
— Account of a fractured rib	—	xxxviii.	432
— Curious observations on amputation	—	xxxviii.	592
— Arguments to prove the non-regeneration of flesh in wounds attended with the loss of substance	—	xxxviii.	594
— A new instrument for fractured legs	—	xxxix.	355
— Account of a singular distortion of the limbs	—	xl.	491
— Remarkable case in	—	xliv.	211
— Case of a separation of the scarf-skin	—	xliv.	213
— Method to prevent protrusion of the bone in amputations	—	lv. 119,	256
— New method of performing amputations of the extremities	lxi.		493
— Case of the head of the os humeri sawn off	—	lxii.	216
— Improvement in the amputation of the thigh bone	—	lxiii.	122
— The deplorable state of, in the time of Henry VIII.	—	lxiii.	381
— State of, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth	—	lxiii.	382
— History of	—	lxv.	461
— Improved method of amputation of limbs	—	lxix.	521
Surgery, Royal academy of, at Paris, rise and establishment of	xx.		239
— Utility of	—	xxxviii.	586
Surinam, account of the toad of	—	xxxi.	530
— Description of	—	lix.	455
Surry, Earl of, his good generalship	—	lv.	420
— Gains the battle of Flodden	—	lv.	424
— His poetical character	—	lxvi.	81
— Memoirs of his life and death	—	lxvi.	82
Survville, M. de, his impolitic severity and misconduct in the South Seas	—	lxix.	550
Susanna and Margaret, their dialogue on religion	—	lxi.	97
Sutton, Mr. his practice of inoculation for the small-pox	xxxv.		188
— His trial for preserving the lives of his Majesty's subjects	—	xxxvii.	219
Swaine, Mr. his letter on the separate culture of grass-seeds	—	lxx.	276
Swallows, their annual migration asserted	—	xxv.	2
— Curious disquisition concerning the emigrations of	—	xlvi.	571
— Different species of	—	xlvi.	572
— Account of their periodical emigrations	—	l.	283
— On the winter sleep of	—	lv.	117
— The notion of their torpidity in water, controverted	—	lv.	117
— Observations on the torpidity of	—	lxv.	265
— Pass the winter in water	—	lxv.	302
Swallow Sloop, sent on discoveries to the South Seas, scandalously unprovided for the voyage	—	xliv.	356
Swallows,

Swallows, or openings in the earth, conjecture relating to

	xv.	597,	598
Swearing and cursing, new form of, recommended	xxiv.	107
Sweat, extraordinary method of procuring	xvi.	464
Sweating sickness in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, account of	xxxviii.	365
Sweden, reasons for her encouraging a fishery	x.	331
— Disadvantages of the trade to	xiv.	587
— History of, in the Modern Universal History	xxvii.	359
— Some account of	xlvii.	33
— Manners and character of the people there, commended	xlvii.	34
— Summary of the political state of	xlviii.	7
— Political state of, prior to the sixteenth century	lix.	29
— Progress of despotism in that country since the time of Gustavus Vasa	lix.	29
— Account of the revolution there in 1772	lix.	30
Sweden, memoirs of the royal academy there	lxx.	570
— Contents of their second volume	lxx.	570
Swedenborg, Baron, some account of	xlvi.	446
— His personal conversation with angels, &c.	xlv.	581
— His wonderful notions of another world	lix.	366
Swift, Dr. remarks on his life and writings	v.	407
— His character	v.	408
— Preferments	v.	408
— Instances of his flighty disposition	v.	408
— Fond of politics than religion	v.	410
— Not a son of Sir W. Temple	v.	410
— Not a native of England	v.	410
— His family and education	v.	411
— Pursues his studies at Oxford	v.	411
— Speciali gratia , a term in his testimonial, what	v.	412
— Supported by Sir W. Temple	v.	413
— Takes holy orders	v.	414
— Character of his wife	v.	414
— Takes a doctor's degree	v.	418
— Made Dean of St. Patrick's	v.	418
— Reflections on his prose works	v.	420
— His poetical performances	v.	421
— For his defence of Irish manufactures censured in Ireland	v.	422
— Melancholy situation	v.	482
— Resemblance between some passages in Bergerac and Gulliver	v.	482
— Irreligion	v.	483
— Lagado, what	v.	483
— Peculiarity of his humour	v.	484
— Answer to Steele's Crisis	v.	485
— Deprivation of his senses	v.	486
— Character of	v.	484

Swift,

Swift, Dr. the sum left by him for an hospital of lunatics and idiots	—	v.	187
— Not avaricious till age came on	—	xi.	57
— Hated flattery, but not delicate of praise	—	xi.	59
— More attentive to politics than religion, why	—	xi.	61
— Reason for his abstaining from his wife's bed	—	xi.	62
— His conversation more delicate and chaste than his writings	—	xi.	64
— His seraglio misrepresented by Lord Orrery	—	xi.	66
— Humorous account of that seraglio	—	xi.	67
— In danger of his life at Carbery Rocks	—	xi.	67
— His personal neatness	—	xi.	69
— Exemplary answer when applied to for charity	—	xi.	71
— His rule for conversation	—	xi.	71
— A critical hearer of sermons	—	xi.	72
— His manner of hiring servants	—	xi.	73
— Advice to the D. of Wharton	—	xi.	73
— Summary of his virtues	—	xi.	74
— Two original pieces of his, where to be found	—	xi.	75
— His feast of Saturnalia	—	xi.	402
— His last sensible words	—	xi.	409
— His sketch of his own life and family	—	xii.	242
— The legacy left him by Sir W. T.	—	xii.	244
— Reasons assigned for his never avowing his marriage	—	xii.	245
— His conduct towards Vanessa, apologized for	—	xii.	250
— His cavalier behaviour to Queen Anne's ministers	—	xii.	253
— His character advantageously, but partially drawn	—	xii.	257
— His genteel reproof of Gay's laziness	—	xvii.	588
— His account of the conference at Gertrudenberg compared with that of M. de Torcy	—	xviii.	382
— His polite return to a lady's compliments	—	xviii.	580
— His history of the four last years of Queen Anne, condensed	—	xix.	564
— and Addison, their geniuses distinguished	—	xxii.	414
— Remarkable instance of an impropriety of expression in his writings	—	xxvii.	22
— Sermon on sleeping at church	—	xxvii.	273
— His abusive remark on Tindal	—	xxvii.	274
— His memoirs of Captain Crighton censured	—	xxvii.	274
— His character of Lord Wharton, a partial performance	—	xxvii.	275
— His letter to Archbishop Marsh, shew him to have been daped by the Tory ministry	—	xxvii.	275
— His tract on good manners, praised	—	xxvii.	275
— His delicate compliment to Mrs. Houghton	—	xxvii.	276
— His verses on St. Patrick's Well	—	xxvii.	277
— On Dr. Rundle's promotion	—	xxvii.	279
— Effects of the liberties he took in gentlemen's families where he was intimate	—	xxvii.	280
— His high-party-spirit	—	xxxiii.	2

Swift, Dr. his defence of Queen Anne's ministry	xxxiii.	5
— His character of Ormond	xxxiii.	4
— Of Bolingbroke	xxxiii.	5
— His high-flown sermon on the 30th of January	xxxiii.	9
— His character of Bishop Burnet	xxxiii.	11
— His state of Ireland	xxxiii.	149
— Of the Irish ladies	xxxiii.	150
— His curious resolutions for old age	xxxiii.	153
— His account of Mrs. Johnson	xxxiii.	219
— His directions in the choice of a wife	xxxiii.	226
— His poetical detail of talents fit for conversation	xxxiii.	316
— His character of Daphne	xxxiii.	317
— His importance with Queen Anne's ministry	xxxv.	56
— His letters to Stella	xxxix.	454
— Account of his declining health	xxxix.	458
— Of his deplorable infancy	xxxix.	459
— His Tale of a Tub, borrowed from the fable of the Three Kings, misunderstood by Voltaire	xli.	551
— His humorous verses on the day of judgment	li.	25
— His works, the most comprehensive edition of, particularly ascertained	lv.	162
— Censured for his tale of the Houyhnhnms	lvii.	33
— His genius and character	lxi.	356
— Anecdotes of	lxi.	357
— His abusive character of Lord Wharton and others	lxi.	361
— His unhappy end	lxi.	363
— Character of	lxviii.	501
Swift, Deane, Esquire, a vain and injudicious writer	xii.	241
Swimming match, a description of	xvii.	235
Swine, hurt by feeding on clover	xii.	68
— Diseases of	xii.	68
— Method of rendering their dung useful	xii.	70
Swinton, Mr. droll translation of his Palmyrene poem	xxviii.	17
— Account of an Antheleon	xxvii.	330
— Of a remarkable meteor	xxvii.	330
— Dissertation on a Samnite denarius	xxvii.	332
— His Palmyrene poem on the birth of the Prince of Wales, ridiculed	xxvii.	17
— Remarks on the Palmyrene inscription at Gieve	xxvii.	379
— Description of a meteor seen at Oxford	xxxix.	418
— Swarms of gnats seen there	xxxix.	418
— Account of a Phœnician medal	xl.	98
— Account of Punic and Etruscan coins	xliv.	394
— Elucidation of two Samnite coins	xliv.	317
— Observations on an inedited Greek coin	xlvi.	421
— Account of some Phœnician and Etruscan coins and weights	xlvi.	214
— Account of a subœrated denarius	l.	286, 480
— Account of an ancient quinarius	li.	377
Switzerland, poetical encomiums on their liberty	xxviii.	381
Switzerland,

Switzerland , poetically described	—	xxxii. 52
— Description of	—	xxxii. 523
— Populousness of	—	xxxii. 527
— Sketches of	—	lx. 343
— Prices of provisions in that country	—	lx. 346
— Regulations respecting the prisons in that country	—	lvii. 10
— Particulars relative to the natural history of	—	lxiv. 541
— Topographical views of	—	lxiv. 541
Sybilis , grotto of, its present state	—	lxviii. 169
Sydney, Algernon , his censure of the parliament	—	xxix. 245
— His behaviour in France	—	xxix. 249
— Expressions relating to Charles I.	—	xxix. 251
— Impetuosity of his disposition reprehended by his father	—	xxix. 243
— Accused for holding a corrupt intercourse with the agent of France	—	xlx. 5
— His character vindicated	—	xlx. 9
— Character of, by Mr. Macpherson	—	lii. 413
Sydney, Robert , the real father of the Duke of Monmouth	—	lii. 417
Sykes, Dr. author of two questions previous to Dr. Middleton's irre- enquiry	—	ii. 270
— Mistaken in his interpretation of Psalm CX.	—	xxvii. 7
— His exposition of the imprecations in the CIX. Psalm	—	xxviii. 271
Sylla , his character compared with Marius's	—	v. 334
— Raised to the consulate	—	v. 335
— Seizes Rome, and proscribes Marius, &c.	—	v. 337
— Detestable proscriptions	—	v. 338
— Summary of his actions, and death	—	xxx. 177
— Observations on his character and conduct	—	lxix. 112
Sylley Islands , history of	—	ii. 81
— Their alterations since the time of the ancients	—	xi. 243
— Discovered by the Phœnicians	—	xi. 243
— Monuments of the Druids in the	—	xi. 244
— Traded to by the Greeks and Romans	—	xi. 244
— Incroachments on the sea very visible	—	xi. 244
— No longer fertile in tin, and why	—	xi. 246
Symbols , observations concerning	—	xxv. 190
Sympathetic ink , conjuring tricks performed by	—	lii. 26
Sympathy , an unquestionable principle in human nature	—	xxi. 2
— On what occasions excited	—	xxi. 3
— Rousseau's mistaken notion concerning it	—	xxviii. 3
— Not voluntary	—	xxviii. 4
— Social habit of, recommended	—	liii. 424
— A poem, various extracts from	—	lxv. 221
— Poetic display of	—	lxvii. 34
Symson, Thomas , his account of the advantages resulting from taking the mean in a number of astronomical observations	—	xv. 279
		Synod,

T A L

511

Synod , the first national one of the English church	xv.	579
— Squabbles at one, about the Trinity	—	xlvi. 90
Syntipas , a manuscript of, so entitled in the French King's library	—	lxiv. 557
Syphon , some new remarks on the	—	lxvi. 180
— Experiments relative to	—	lxviii. 96
Syra , or Syros Isle , an account of	—	lx. 510
Syracuse , present remains of that famous city described	—	xlvi. 202
Syria , but one river in	—	xv. 140
— No metals in	—	xv. 142
Syriac dialects , distinguished	—	xxv. 301
Syriac version of Origen's Hexapla , &c. discovered in the Ambrosian library at Milan	—	lix. 452
Syphis , Latin verses alluding to his story	—	xxix. 28
System , fatal consequences of the want of in public affairs	—	xvi. 82

T

Tacitus , observations on	—	—	vi. 441
— Compared with Livy	—	—	vi. 442
— His testimony to the early spreading of Christianity	—	—	viii. 113
— The excellencies and blemishes of his style	—	—	ix. 79
— His principles examined	—	—	ix. 80
— Plan for a new edition of	—	—	xxv. 311
— Too severe in his history	—	—	xxxiv. 513
— Dissertation on his account of the ancient Germans	—	—	xxxvi. 573
— Censured for his want of candour in relating the actions of Tiberius	—	—	xlvi. 128
— Specimen of Brotier's supplement to	—	—	xlvi. 527
— Translation of his life of Agricola	—	—	lii. 153
— Remarks relative to	—	—	lxvi. 41
— Observations on Tacitus, by M. Weguelin	—	—	lxviii. 162
Tania , account of that disease, and its remedy	—	—	lvii. 314
Tagetes , botanical description of that plant	—	—	xxxvii. 188
Talbot's eulogy on Montagne	—	—	liii. 505
Talbot, Miss , specimen of her talent for poetry	—	—	xlvi. 392
— Some account of	—	—	lviii. 191
Talents , mistaken, ill consequences of	—	—	xi. 325
— The folly of dissipating them on various subjects	—	—	xix. 594
— of youth, not easily discoverable	—	—	xxv. 250
— Not for the advantage of society that all talents should be exerted	—	—	xxv. 251
Tales , new Turkish and Arabian	—	—	lxv. 461
Talisin , the Welch bard, account of	—	—	xxxi. 23
— Specimen of his poetry	—	—	xxxi. 24
Talionis, lex , a remarkable instance of	—	—	xxiv. 119
Talkative people , a nuisance to society	—	—	iv. 67
Tallow , used in making salt	—	—	ii. 171
Tamerlane ,

Talman , an architect, some account of	—	xxxix.	181
Talmud , what, and when published	—	xxiii.	19
Tamerlane , Alhacend, said to be the author of an history of	iii.		45
— Charged with cruelty	—	iii.	46
— A most inhuman conqueror	—	xl.	502
— His military institutes	—	lxi.	451
— His great character	—	lxi.	458
— Extracts from his institutes	—	lxx.	251
Tancred , his combat with Clorinda, from Tasso's Jerusalem		xxix.	258
— His despair of discovering her	—	xxix.	259
— His attempt on the enchanted forest	—	xxix.	323
Tandini , Abbot, his Martial in Albion	—	lvii.	482
Tanjore , particulars relating to the late conquest and restoration of		lx.	293
— Conquest of, considered	—	lxii.	124
Tankerd , groans of the	—	xlvi.	57
Tanna , Ile of , observations on	—	lix.	404
Tanning , premium offered for a new material for tanning leather		xiv.	428
— An expedient for supplying the want of bark	—	xxix.	483
— An improved method of	—	lx.	419
Tar , manner of making in New England	—	xiv.	422
Taranto , some account of, and of the muske fishery		lxix.	280
Tarantula , vulgar notions relative to the bite of, refuted		xlvi.	95
— Remarks on the pretended cure of the bite of, by music		xlvi.	284
Taranusis , account of that deity	—	xxxvi.	573
Tarentum , present state of that city	—	xlvi.	283
Tarus , account of the poisonous effects of	—	lxvii.	559
Tarsus , Strabo's account of that place	—	xxxviii.	213
Tartarum Tartarisatum , its efficacy in melancholy and maniacal disorders	—	xiii.	243
Tartar , manner of crystallising the fixed alkali of	—	xxxviii.	584
— A fixed alkaline salt of, extracted by means of acids	—	xl.	555
— The decomposition of, by alum	—	li.	549
— Emetic, method of improving	—	lxii.	516
Tartars boil their tea in milk	—	ii.	306
— Their form of negotiating	—	xxiv.	132
— Chinese, new accounts of	—	lv.	537
— Wonderful emigration of, from Russia	—	lv.	538
— Their simplicity of manners, &c.	—	lxiv.	449
— Their gross ignorance	—	lxiv.	549
— Account of the manners of the Kalmuck	—	lxvii.	486
Tartini , account of	—	xl.	337
— His trattato di musica	—	xl.	369
— Curious passages from	—	xl.	477
Tasso , his character and genius defended	—	viii.	463

Tasse , formed the plan of his poem on a mixture of the Gothic manner with the classic model	xxvii.	94
— His life	xxix.	107
— Fairfax's translation of Jerusalem	xxix.	106
— Hoole's translation	xxix.	106
— His reply to his father's reproaches on account of his attachment to philosophy	xxix.	108
— His connections with the Princess Leonora of Este	xxix.	109
— Alike famous for his bravery and poetry	xxix.	110
— Becomes mad	xxix.	112
— Honours appointed for him at Rome	xxix.	115
— His death	xxix.	116
— His Jerusalem	xxix.	182
— Criticisms on the original	xxix.	182
— Stricture on his Aminta	xxix.	183
— Various observations on	xxix.	185, 251, 321
— A close imitator of Homer	xxix.	192
— Ismeno, the enchanter	xxix.	322
— and Ariosto, their poetical machinery vindicated	xli.	142
— Some account of his Aminta,	xlii.	425
— Specimen of a new translation of	xlii.	426
— Compared with Ariosto	xlvi.	339
— Lord Chesterfield's censure of	li.	27
Tasse , M. his history of Algiers comprehended in that of the piratical states of Barbary, lately published	iii.	61
Tasse , French, prevails in Brandenburg	iv.	344
— Peculiar definition of	xi.	453
— Fundamental article relating to it, in building and planting	xi.	489
— Difference between the objects of, and those of judgment	xii.	238
— Of the present age	xiv.	307
— For curiosities; ridiculous examples of	xvii.	275
— Not a distinct faculty of the mind	xx.	64
— Wherein it consists	xx.	534
— Resolved into its simple principle	xx.	534
— Formed and perfected by the internal senses	xx.	535
— The influence of judgment upon it	xx.	536
— How improveable	xx.	537
— Refinement or elegance of, to what owing	xx.	539
— Correctness of	xx.	540
— The objects of	xx.	543, 544
— An enemy to genius	xxiii.	375
— Deducible from imitation	xxv.	96
— An analyzation of it	xxv.	97
— and Genius, flourish most in freedom	xxvi.	17
— Instanced in the Augustan age	xxvi.	17
— In the age of Louis XIV.	xxvi.	19
— Standard of, disquisition concerning	xxvii.	113
— The production of the Greek climate	xxxii.	457

Taste , its influence on imagination	—	xxxvi.	438
— With regard to drawing and painting, attempt to fix the principles of	—	xxxviii.	161
— Fashionable, remarks on	—	xlii.	44
— Modern, the faults of, poetically displayed	—	xlv.	3
— Nature the best rectifier of	—	xlv.	4
— Remarks on	—	xlvii.	535
— Essay on, in German	—	lv.	309
— Observations on	—	lvii.	204
— On national	—	lviii.	529
Tasting , not confined to the mouth or tongue	—	i.	32
— of frozen liquors, observations on	—	xiii.	325
Tavistock , late Marquis of , his fate compared with that of Abfalom	—	xxxvi.	336
Taxes , British , not all paid out of its lands	—	ii.	145
— Ought rather to be laid on land than commodities	—	ii.	145
— Ludicrous proposal for a	—	v.	88
— First laid by authority of parliament	—	vii.	436
— A calculation of the proportion paid by each class of men	—	xvi.	84
— The philosopher's stone	—	xx.	301
— Computation of those paid for beer brewed from the growth of an acre of land	—	xxiii.	325
— On the perpetuity of them	—	xxv.	473
— Not injurious to trade	—	xxxii.	389
— Arbitrary manner of imposing them under our ancient kings	—	xxxiv.	181
— Politically investigated	—	xxxvii.	119
— Of the French tax upon industry	—	xxxvii.	122
— Of proportional taxes	—	xxxvii.	123
— How connected with the prices of provisions	—	xlix.	17
— Essay on	—	liv.	395
— Whips used in the East Indies to enforce the payment of	—	lxix.	514
Taylor , Chevalier , paper relating to the publication of his adventures	—	xxv.	107
— His accomplishments	—	xxvi.	112
Taylor , Dr. his experiments on the attraction betwixt wood and water	—	xix.	633
— His usual charge to his pupils previous to his lectures	—	xxvii.	255
— His scheme of scripture divinity explained	—	xxvii.	255
— His observations on the Shechinah	—	xxvii.	256
Taylor on original sin, tragi-comical adventure of that book	—	xxvi.	479
Taylor , Bishop , on the liberty of prophesying, commended	—	iii.	243
— His liberty of prophesying, &c. reprinted with a new title	—	xxviii.	484
— His unfavourable judgment of church articles, &c.	—	lix.	383
Taylor , the water poet, his quaint account of Nicholas Wood the great eater	—	lx.	261
Taylor	—

Taylor-bird , curious account of	—	xliv.	219
Tchetsne, Tchetsne , harbour of, described	—	lxii.	518
Tea , commercial history of	—	ii.	304
— How, and by whom to be used	—	ii.	306
— Boiled in milk, in Tartary	—	ii.	306
— The use of it to children disapproved	—	ix.	162
— The cause of low-spirited lassitudes, and nervous disorders	—	xvii.	51
— Drunk by labourers and beggars	—	xvii.	52
— Insisted on by servants	—	xvii.	52
— The decrease of the duty on it, preventive of smuggling	—	xxviii.	344
— In a fair way of being naturalized in Europe	—	xxxvii.	165
— Observations on the natural history of	—	xlvi.	131
— Medicinal effects of	—	xlvi.	132
— Some attempts to cultivate it in Europe	—	lxv.	206
— Its effects on those who are customary drinkers of it	—	lxvi.	31
— The drinking of, medically considered	—	lxviii.	209
Teaching , excellent rules relating to	—	ii.	456
— On the Socratic method of	—	lxv.	521
Teagus , his worthy qualifications	—	xxiii.	134
Tebsbir , account of that substance	—	xxxix.	354
Teeth , a treatise on	—	vi.	321
— How to preserve	—	vi.	323
— Internal and external causes of decay	—	vi.	323
— Diseases of	—	vi.	324
— Methods of cleaning	—	vi.	325
— Account of an extraordinary growth of	—	xxxviii.	438
— Method of preserving	—	xxxix.	98
— Process of the formation of	—	xlvi.	603
— Transplanting of	—	xlvi.	604
— Diseases of, and remedies for	—	lviii.	439
— Experiments on the transplantation of	—	lviii.	440
— Diseased, extraordinary case of	—	lxi.	62
— Anatomical and medical observations on	—	lxiii.	391
Teeth, fossil , some very large ones found in N. America	—	xxxix.	426
Telemachus , compared with Cyrus	—	xliv.	550
Telescopes , equatorial, by Mr. Short	—	iv.	385
— Improvement of refracting	—	xxix.	486
— Dolland's improved	—	xxxv.	375
— On the object glasses of	—	xl.	500
— Which represent objects erect	—	xl.	569
— An improvement of the object glasses of	—	xl.	530
— A famous one of Dolland's	—	xlvi.	679
— Curious inquiries relating to	—	xlvi.	680
— Improvements in the cross views of	—	li.	370
— Achromatic, fanciful scheme for the improvement of	—	li.	530
— Observations on the method of grinding and polishing the object glasses	—	li.	553
— An excellent metal for reflecting	—	lviii.	8

Telescopes , account of Jeurat's Iconantidiptic	—	lxii.	215
— Theory of	—	lxiv.	513
— On the deplantiadian	—	lxviii.	631
Telmiffus , ruins, theatre, and medals of	—	lxiv.	558
Temora , a royal palace of the first Irish kings	—	xxviii.	277
— Ossian's poem so entitled	—	xxviii.	277
Temperance , the luxury of life	—	iv.	136
— The many advantages of it	—	ix.	169
— The love and habit of it necessary to children	—	ix.	169
— Regimen of, for the cure of the goat	—	xl.	128
— Encomiums on	—	li.	46
Tempers , varieties of, among mankind, origin and nature of	—	lxiii.	458
Temple of Fame , a poem, M. Trochereau's opinion of it	—	iii.	429
Temple of Jerusalem , Julian's attempt to rebuild it	—	iii.	74
— Critically enquired into	—	xxxvi.	271, 278
Temples , several ruins of, in Ionia, described	—	xlii.	370
Temples , &c. in gardens, observations on	—	xliv.	353
Temple , Sir Richard, his opinion, on a motion in the House of Commons	—	xxviii.	191
— His speech on a limitation of the royal prerogative	—	xxviii.	411, 416
— On the mal administration of public affairs	—	xxviii.	420
Temple , Sir William, not the father of Dr. Swift	—	v.	411
— Supports Swift in his studies at Oxford	—	v.	411
— Character of his works	—	xvi.	48
Temptation to be avoided	—	iv.	262
Tendons , insensible	—	xiv.	116
— On the insensibility of the	—	xlv.	45
Teneriffe , its famous pic described	—	xxxi.	57
— Most proper place in the world for an observatory	—	xxxi.	62
— Curious experiments on liquors carried to the summit of	—	lx.	154
Tenets proper for a political religion	—	xxvii.	505
— Few and simple	—	xxvii.	505
Tenia , an account of	—	xxxvii.	442
Tenos , Isle, account of	—	lx.	510
Tenses , a new theory of	—	vi.	135
— The number of	—	vi.	136
Tenures , the forms of	—	xvii.	146
— Their origin	—	xx.	210
Tes , in ancient Ionia, some account of	—	xlii.	371
Teraphim , its derivation	—	xv.	516
Terence , critical observations on	—	xxx.	103
— Scepe in the Eunuch, translated into English blank verse	—	xxxii.	366
— Specimen of a new translation of	—	lii.	321
— Colman's translation, compared with a later attempt	—	lii.	322
Termites , or white ants, described by Mr. Smeathman	—	lxix.	368
— A genus of insects	—	lxix.	45
Terms , moral definitions of	—	iv.	524

Terra Japonica , account of the tree that bears it	—	lv. 253
Terror , the source of the sublime	—	xvi. 475
Tertullian , doctrines of, fraught with enthusiasm	—	xv. 81
Testament , Old and New. See Bible .
Testaments . See Wills .
Testicle , observations on the suppurating of the albugineous coat of the	—	xxxix. 225
Testes , differences observed in the situation and number of	—	xlii. 15
Testimony , human, may be so strong, that none but a fool or madman can doubt of it	—	xii. 176
Tests of orthodoxy considered	—	xxxviii. 203
Tetanus , cured by electricity	—	xxxi. 214
— Castor oil used for this disorder	—	xxxix. 356
Tetzels , Luther's opponent, his bad character	—	xxviii. 434
— His miserable end	—	xxxiii. 435
Teucheri , a tribe in ancient Germany, their warlike and ferocious manners, &c.	—	xliv. 562
Teutonic language , essay on	—	lxix. 253
Texel , manner of courtship among the inhabitants there	—	xxi. 256
Teyler's theological society, prize dissertations in vol. iii. of their publication	—	lxx. 508
— See Haslem .
Thacker , Mr. the mathematician, some account of	—	lxvii. 445
Thaddæus , his visit to Abgarus King of Edessa, exploded	—	xxxii. 13
Thales , his birth and family	—	xi. 246
— The first who foretold an eclipse of the sun to the Greeks	—	xii. 246
— Some account of his philosophy	—	lx. 100
Thames River , poetical encomium on	—	xxxi. 118
— Queries relating to the conservation of	—	xlii. 328
— Requisite improvements of	—	xliv. 280
Thane , definition of that Saxon distinction	—	xxv. 404
Tharls , Isle of , observations on the	—	xliv. 550
That , grammatically discussed	—	lix. 117
Thaw , supposed to be caused by warm steams from the earth	—	xliii. 326
Theatre . See Stage .
Theatre of Pompey , account of	—	xxx. 186
Theft , absurdity of our laws relating to	—	xxxv. 250
Theism , its advantages and disadvantages	—	xvi. 126
Thelyphthora , Dr. Kippis's letter on	—	lxiii. 479
— See Madan , Polygamy .
Themistocles , remarkable anecdote concerning	—	xiv. 262
Theobald's Shakespeare applauded and censured	—	xxxiii. 385
— Palace and gardens poetically described	—	xxvii. 140
Theocritus , character of his pastorals	—	xxvii. 128
— Not a romantic writer	—	xxxiii. 464
— Characters and manners described by him, still existing in real life	—	xxviii. 464
— By what means acquainted with the pastoral writings of Solomon	—	xxxii. 295
		Theocritus ,

Theocritus , some idea of	—	—	xxxvii. 206
— Specimens of a translation of	—	—	xxxvii. 207
— Remarks on his pastorals	—	—	xli. 498
— Great attention shewn to a new edition of	—	—	xliii. 2
— History of the best editions of that poet	—	—	xliii. 4
— Account of his works	—	—	xliii. 6
— Beauty and propriety of his pastorals	—	—	xliii. 88
— Compared with Virgil	—	—	xliii. 91
— Mr. Warton's notes on	—	—	xliii. 230
— His poetry characterised	—	—	lxi. 513
Theodora , Empress, her mean origin, and base character	—	—	xliii. 579
— Wickedly procures the death of the Empress Amalasanta	—	—	xliii. 560
Theodoret , a character of him, and of his writings	—	—	ix. 360
Theoderus , King of the Goths, his pusillanimity	—	—	xliii. 580
Theodosius , his letter to Constantia	—	—	xxix. 148
Theology , metaphysical, of little utility	—	—	iii. 177
— Indian, account of it	—	—	iv. 318
— System of the Chevalier Ramsay	—	—	iv. 341
— Theological maxims	—	—	v. 366
— The case the same with it, as with philosophy, with regard to experience	—	—	vi. 359
— Its origin and progress	—	—	x. 438
— The parent of many absurdities	—	—	x. 438
— That of the Egyptians and Chaldeans, the foundation of many corruptions	—	—	x. 439
— Philosophical, among the heathens, of little use for leading into a right knowledge of religion	—	—	xxx. 423
— Disputes in, of advantage to science, &c.	—	—	xxxii. 349
Theophrastus , that father, censured	—	—	iii. 79
Theophrastus , account of, and of his history of plants	—	—	xlv. 259
— Some account of him	—	—	liii. 105
— His characters imitated by French and English writers	—	—	lii. 105
Theorems , mathematical, may be reduced to a few primitive truths	—	—	xiv. 7
— A fondness for, has sometimes a bad effect in practice	—	—	xi. 155
— In medicine, described	—	—	xlix. 125
Thermometers , improvement of, recommended	—	—	iv. 112
— One so adjusted, as to determine pretty precisely, how much one climate differs from another in heat	—	—	xv. 478
— Description of a new	—	—	xxvii. 425
— Curious experiments relating to	—	—	xlix. 580, 595
— Experiments on, by Dr. Watson	—	—	l. 481
— Comparative account of different	—	—	lviii. 225
— A new invented, by M. Achard	—	—	lxiii. 501
— Experiments and observations relative to	—	—	lxiv. 277
— Experiments, by Cavallo	—	—	lxiv. 279—lxvii. 128
— Experiments	—	—	lxvi. 499
— Six's improved	—	—	lxviii. 385
— For measuring the higher degrees of heat	—	—	lxix. 386

Thiſpis , his method of decorating the faces of the ancient actor	xxiii. 291, 296
Thatcher , or Vitcher , the management of	— xviii. 435
Thetford , history of	— lxii. 300
— Curious bill of expences for equipping two horsemen there, to serve in the wars in the reign of Edward III.	— lxii. 301
Thibes , new account of the kingdom of	— lviii. 460
Thickneſſe , Lieutenant-Governor of Languard Fort , his unfavourable treatment at a court martial	— xxvii. 510
— His whimsical equipage in travelling through France	— lvii. 208
— His curious description of Montserrat	— lvii. 209
— Letter to, from one of the uponks of Montserrat	— lx. 70
— His story of his importation of seeds and roots from Montserrat, for Lord C.	— lxix. 168
Thiebaud , M. his determination of the question, whether the first authors of any nation have written in verse or in prose	— xlv. 557
— His memoir on universal grammar	— liii. 564
— His observations on grammar and languages	— lv. 566
— His memoir concerning usage , considered as the authoritative rule of speaking or writing	— lxx. 505
Thief , the penitent, on the cross, no proof that repentance in the last moments will be accepted	— viii. 292
— Curious method of detecting a thief	— xlv. 530
— Voltaire's censure of the laws against thieves	— lviii. 546
Thigh , method of reducing a complete luxation of	— xv. 393
Thigh-bone , case of a dislocated	— xxvii. 99
Thinking , not the essential property of simple unextended Being sui generis	— xxx. 546
Third , the kings of that number, of whatever name, always propitious to England	— xxiii. 494
Thistlebwayte , Mr. his letter concerning Chatterton	— lxvi. 328
Theodic , a branch of the metaphysics, explained	— xxxvii. 514
Thomas , St. his opinion of Moses's writings	— iv. 73
Thomas , Mr. his verses in the Cambridge collection on the peace	— xxix. 40
— His eulogy on M. A. Antonius	— lji. 438
Thompson , Sir John , his speech against placemen in the House of Commons	— xxviii. 416
— On the King's negative voice to bills	— xxviii. 423
Thomson , Mr. James , his promising appearance at the university	— ix. 483
— Publishes his Winter	— ix. 487
— His Autumn	— ix. 488
— His Spring	— ix. 489
— An account of his Summer, &c.	— ix. 490
— Travels with Lord Chancellor Talbot's son	— ix. 491
— His poem on Sir Isaac Newton	— ix. 491
— His Britannia, and poem on Lord Talbot's death	— ix. 492
— The great merit of his Castle of Indolence	— ix. 492
— His dramatic performances considered	— ix. 495

Thomson, James , his Sophonisba, how received	ix.	495
— Agamemnon, performed with applause	ix.	496
— His Edward and Eleanor, prohibited	ix.	497
— Tancred and Sigismunda, the most successful	ix.	497
— Writes Alfred in conjunction with Mr. Mallet	ix.	497
— Coriolanus, acted after his death	ix.	498
— His defects as a dramatist	ix.	499
— His death and character	ix.	499
— His genius for descriptive poetry	xiv.	547
— Short abstract of his life	xxvi.	299
— His person and character	xxvi.	304
— Eulogium on his seasons, by an English bard	xxviii.	328
— Curstory remarks on his seasons	xli.	497
— Poetical encomiums on	xlvi.	147
— Verses referring to his poetical character	li.	342
— His Edward and Eleonora altered	lii.	356
— His story of the intrigues of a Nabob	lxiii.	124
— Strictures on his character as a man	lxv.	409
Thorax , the non-existence of air in the	xv.	392
— The nerves of the	lxvii.	546
Thorn, Robert , his early suggestions of a north-east passage to the spice islands, &c.	lii.	12
Thorn-apple , its medicinal use	xxviii.	449
Thornhill, Sir James , some account of him and his works	x.	453
Thornion, Bonnel , his sup. to the Aulularia of Plautus	xxxvi.	178
Thornon, John , Hayley's verses on his death	lxii.	462
Thought , freedom of, possible to be restrained	xviii.	137
— How governed	xxvi.	418
— Difference between habit of thought, and habit of thinking	xxxii.	173
Thoulouse , new royal academy of sciences, inscriptions, and belles lettres there	lxvii.	551
Thouret , on the conformation of the bones of the skull of new- born infants	lxviii.	562
— On the magnet	lxviii.	563
Thouvenel, M. his testimony to prove the reality of Bleton's use of the Virgula Divina	lxv.	500
Thrace , geographical dissertation concerning	lxix.	545
Thread , made of nettles	x.	329
Throat, sore , method of curing it, at Plymouth	xvi.	326
— of America, account of	xvi.	553
— Different kinds of, symptoms and cure	xxxiv.	417
— Dr. Wilche's account of	xlii.	545
— Method of curing the malignant	l.	42
— Remedy for the putrid	lxi.	30
Thucydides , his style compared with that of Herodotus	ix.	27
Thunder , storm of, described	ii.	466
— A poetical receipt to make	xiii.	297
— Compared with electricity	xxxviii.	576
— Method of preserving men and buildings from	xxxviii.	576
Thunder,

Thunder , remarkable effects of, on the tower of a church in Devonshire	xliv.	320
— Method of preventing the like	xliv.	320
— The effects of	xlv.	516
— Account of a remarkable storm in Cornwall	xlvi.	219
— Mr. Heatley killed in his bed by	l.	479
— Account of a storm at Naples	li.	224
— and lightning, Reimar's remarks on	lxi.	58
— On the ringing of bells in	lxx.	257
Thunder-bouse , an electrical machine, invented by Dr. Lind	xlvi.	216
— St Brude's steeple pleasantly considered as one	xlvi.	216
Thundering legion , miraculous story of, exploded	xxxiv.	37
— An account of	lii.	570
Thurlow, Mr. Attorney , his arguments against literary property before the Lords	li.	204
Tbury, M. de , his defence of his father's tables and elements of the theory of the sun, against M. de la Caille	xl.	494
Tbury, M. de , observations on the height of the sun in the winter solstice 1766	xlvi.	675
— Observations on the comet of 1759	xlvi.	676
Tiberius , his character	xii.	410
Tibia , case of a diseased	xxvii.	194
— Case of a fracture of, in a pregnant woman	xlvi.	48
Tibullus , some particulars of his life	xx.	60
Ticunas and Lamas , the virulence of the poison of	ix.	44
— Antidote against it	ix.	45
— Effects on various animals	ix.	47
— Fontana's observations on the	lxiv.	267
— On the poison of	lxx.	592
Tides of the Orkneys , account of	iv.	253
— In the straits of a Gibraltar, observations on	xxix.	139
— Observations on, at St. Helena	xxix.	140
— A remarkable tide at Bristol	xxxiii.	453
— Equinoxial, observations on	liv.	557
— Of the South Seas	lvii.	4
— In the Adriatic, observations on, tending to confirm the Newtonian theory of that subject	lviii.	6
— On the cause of	lxv.	533
— Opinions of the ancients relative to the nature of	lxv.	534
— Opinion of the moderns	lxv.	533
Tiger , and the sheep, fable of	xli.	571
Tillotson, Archbishop , sends his Nephew to study under Mr. Whiston	i.	339
— Extract from the life of	vii.	322
— Character of	lxviii.	502
Tilson, Mr. his verse on the birth of the prince of Wales	xxviii.	26
Timander , a pattern of good-breeding	iv.	417
Timber , plenty of, in Scotland fit for ship-building	x.	22
— Method of measuring	xh.	42
— Strength of, according to Muller	xii.	122
Timber ,

- Timber*, strength of, according to Emerson — xii. 123
 — Great difficulty of making such experiments — xii. 124
 — Remarks on the planting of — xxxvi. 1420
 — Natural composition and construction of — xliii. 211
 — Microscopes for viewing, by whom made — xliii. 211
 — Experiments on the strength of — xli. 687
 — Remarks on the preparation and preservation of, for building — lviii. 433
Timberlake, Lieut. his hard fate — xxxiv. 8
Time, sufficient for all the ends of our creation — vi. 105
 — Idea of, how acquired — — — — — vi. 132
 — Expostulation with a philosopher about — — — — — vi. 406
 — The division of it after our manner very ancient among the Chinese — — — — — x. 201
 — Students should be as frugal of it as a miser is of his money — — — — — xiii. 189
 — Hints of the œconomy of it — — — — — xvii. 419
 — A picturesque description of — — — — — xxi. 468
 — Reflections on the œconomy of — — — — — xxi. 572
 — Regular divisions of the day, not used in primitive ages — — — — — xxv. 183
 — Not even in the reign of Darius — — — — — xxv. 184
 — Necessarily constituted by the succession of moving bodies of our ideas — — — — — xxx. 547
 — Remarks on the equation of — — — — — xxxiv. 226, 230
 — How spent by a woman of the world — — — — — liii. 242
 — Method of calculating in different parts of Asia — — — — — lxxv. 541
Time-keepers, by clock-work, observations on — — — — — xxxv. 50
 — M. le Roi's gains the prize for his — — — — — xlviii. 559
 — Berthould's, tried at sea — — — — — lx. 154
 — Accuracy and utility of — — — — — lx. 154
 — Farther account of — — — — — lxiii. 199, 201
 — Made by Mudge, account of the going of — — — — — lxxv. 346
Time-killing, a serious business — — — — — lxi. 114
Times, the present, satirically characterized — — — — — xxxi. 202
Timor, island of, description of — — — — — lxxv. 543
Timothy-grass, its uses, &c. — — — — — xlv. 17
Tin, the capital article in the commerce of the ancient Britons — — — — — xxix. 509
 — Prodigious quantity of, coined in Cornwall within the last twenty years — — — — — lix. 269
 — Experiments concerning the calcination of, &c. — — — — — lxxv. 140
 — Experiment to ascertain whether this metal is hurtful in culinary or other family uses — — — — — lxxv. 458
Tindal, remarkable story concerning his translation of the New Testament — — — — — xix. 393
Tine or Tenos, pleasing description of the women of that island — — — — — lx. 511
Tinian, description of the island of — — — — — xlix. 143
Tintinn,

Tintern Abbey , some account of	—	lx.	263
— Described	—	lxix.	363
Tippling , an apology for	—	xx.	128
Tisdal , Mr. his debates in the Irish Parliament	—	xxxviii.	5, 15
Titans , or gods, temporal soveraigns	—	xix.	515
— Language, the vehicle of the first knowledge which dawned in Europe	—	xix.	516
Tithes , the lawfulness of paying them	—	x.	424
Titian , remark on his picture of Bacchus and Ariadne	—	lxi.	20
— Anecdotes of his works	—	lxvii.	51
Titus Antonius , his character drawn by Marcus Aurelius	—	xxiii.	504
— Amphitheatre of, described	—	lv.	43
— An opera by Metastasio, account of	—	xxxvii.	88
Titus, Cæsar , his speech concerning the state of the nation	—	xxviii.	189
— On the King's negative voice to bills	—	xxviii.	422
Toads , some particulars in the natural history	—	xxxi.	530
— Of Surinam, account of	—	xxxi.	530
— Observation on the faculty of the male toads who perform the office of midwives to their females	—	lxvii.	469
Toad-eater , wonderful stories of one	—	xxi.	339
Toad-stone , analysis of	—	lxix.	390
Toast , a prophane and obscene poem of that title, said to be the work of Dr. King of Oxford	—	xii.	395
Tobacco , smoaking of, its good and bad effects	—	ii.	382
— Smoaking of, prevents contagion	—	ii.	383
— Ruinous condition of that trade	—	v.	525
— An appeal to the public in relation to	—	v.	526
— Smoke, a remedy to destroy moths	—	ix.	373
— Advice to the Virginians with regard to the culture of	—	xlvi.	253
— Trade of, how cultivated in Russia	—	lv.	553
— The culture of, in Guyenne, recommended for the benefit of France	—	lxix.	534
Tobacco pipes , account of the substance of which they are made in the East	—	lxix.	538
Toledo , council of, their horrid form of an oath of allegiance	—	xxxiv.	548
Toledo, Archbishop of , his cruel treatment by the inquisition	—	lvi.	243
Toleration , its religious reasonableness	—	iv.	22
— Its advantages to society	—	iv.	533
— The cause of the flourishing state of Holland	—	vii.	114
— Bishop Warburton's sentiments concerning it	—	xxvii.	407
— Whether it hath been lately infringed in this country	—	xxvii.	430
— Recommended	—	xxviii.	92
— Political advantages of	—	xxviii.	403
— Universal, recommended	—	xxviii.	507
— Arguments for and against it, stated	—	xxix.	125

Toleration,

Toleration , religious, whether admissible in a state	—	xxx.	527
— General, in many European countries	—	xxx.	528
— The means of introducing it into states	—	xxx.	528
— Extreme among the Jews	—	xxx.	529
— Reflections on	—	xxxi.	488
— Dr. Brown's sentiments of, controverted	—	xxxii.	164
— Rousseau's reflections on	—	xxxix.	216
— Sentiments of a Roman Catholic on that subject	—	xli.	524
— Principles of, asserted	—	xlvi.	347
— Farther insisted on in favour of the dissenters	—	xlvi.	402
— Fowne's inquiry into the principles of	—	xlvi.	180
— Arguments in defence of, in its fullest extent	—	xlvi.	276
— Considered and asserted	—	lv.	103
— Of Roman Catholics in England, defended	—	lxii.	116
— And in Scotland	—	lxii.	149
— Defined and defended	—	lxvii.	14
Tollet, Mrs. Elizabeth , account of her life	—	xvi.	273
Tons in speaking and singing, what	—	xxxii.	447
Torgress , the ancient Atuatuca, some account of	—	lxvii.	95
Tongue , St. James's invective against that member, expl.	—	xlv.	253
Tongues , gift of, explained	—	vi.	360
— Owing to the influence of the Holy Spirit	—	viii.	16
Tonquin , history of	—	lxi.	54
— Resemblance of the people to the Chinese	—	lxi.	54
Tonstal, Bishop , story of	—	xix.	393
Tooth-ach , two cures for it	—	ii.	388
— Its various causes,	—	xxxix.	95
— Of the aguish tooth-ach	—	xxxix.	96
Topaz , on the Saxon	—	lx.	513, 517
Topham, Mr. his examination of a curious old charter, witnessed by Thomas a Becket	—	lxx.	266
— His account of an ancient picture	—	lxx.	352
— Of the navy of England in remote times	—	lxx.	352
Toplady, Rev. Mr. his peculiar character	—	lxx.	371
Torcy, Marquis of , his mistake with regard to the Whigs	—	xvi.	496
— And to the English laws	—	xvi.	510
Torren , his voyage to Surat	—	xliv.	404
Torseus , the Icelandic writer, some account of	—	lxiv.	115
Torgbatten , mountain in Norway, a long natural perforation through it	—	xli.	452
Tories , their views in the administration of government	—	viii.	445
— Their motives to embrace Jacobitism	—	viii.	450
— Their attempt in favour of the Pretender	—	viii.	454
— Not in the interests of the Stuart family	—	ix.	369
— The use France makes of them and the Jacobites in her politics	—	ix.	369
— Of king William's reign, their character and conduct	—	lviii.	117
Torpedo , experiments on the electric property of that fish	—	li.	219
— Found on the coast of England	—	lii.	332
Torpedo ,	—

Torpedo eels , have the same electrical property	—	lii.	577
— Experiments on	—	liv.	22
— Artificial, account of experiments made with	—	lv.	410
Torrubia , a Franciscan, writes the natural history of Spain	—	xvi.	151
Torture , inflicted on a young lady at Rome, to extort confession	—	iii.	344
— Absurdity and cruelty of the laws for examining criminals by that method	—	xxxiv.	394
Toscanelli's meridian of Florence	—	xxviii.	216
Touch , that sensation philosophically investigated	—	xxxi.	1
Touch, royal , considered	—	iv.	5
Tourmaline , account of the	—	lxiv.	495
— On the	—	lxvii.	474
— Artificial, how made	—	lxviii.	632
Tournaments, &c. account of the royal ordinances relative to	—	lx.	257
Tourney , the English ministry give it up to France	—	xvi.	597
Tournefort , his botanical system	—	xlvi.	267
Tourney, Rev. Mr. acquitted of the charge of having illiberally abused the Monthly Reviewers	—	xlvi.	328
Tournier and Malherbe , their translation of Shakespeare into French	—	liv.	575
Tournefort, M. his travels into Egypt, published under the name of Granger	—	xlvi.	286
Tower of Babel , why built	—	vii.	82
— As a land mark or signal	—	vii.	83
— Cause of the confusion of languages at	—	vii.	84
Town , at acting new plays, who constitute it	—	ii.	407
Toxicodendron, juices of , impart an excellent black dye	—	xv.	368
— Not a new discovery	—	xv.	368
Trade , considerations on foreign	—	iv.	388
— Promoted by premiums	—	iv.	390
— Freighting a considerable branch in Holland	—	v.	175
— Small duties beneficial to	—	v.	177
— Balance of, impossible to be lost	—	vi.	27
— Proceedings in Parliament relative to	—	viii.	215
— Great benefit of liberty in	—	x.	333
— Memorial concerning that of Genoa	—	x.	334
— Societies in Ireland for the advancement of	—	xi.	149
— The effect of corporations on	—	xi.	161
— Proposals for the improvement of	—	xi.	167
— Its importance to a nation	—	xii.	85
— The study of it necessary	—	xii.	85
— East India trade	—	xii.	150
— Reasons why the French are more successful in it than the English	—	xii.	153
— Better understood in England than other nations	—	xiv.	510
— Books of, numerous	—	xiv.	510
— Best method of advancing our trade	—	xiv.	510

Trade , has its fundamental axioms and principles	xiv.	511
— Its use to the country gentleman	xiv.	511
— Disadvantages of the Swedish, to the interest of G. Brit.	xiv.	587
— The first principles of, examined	xxii.	282
— and wealth, dangerous to virtue and freedom	xxii.	169
— This doctrine controverted	xxii.	170
— and industry, reciprocal connexion between	xxxvi.	466
— Modes of	xxxvi.	467, 475
— State of, between France and England, in the 8th and 9th centuries	xlii.	436
— Importance of our trade to Africa	xliii.	43
— State of the general balance of, with other countries	xliii.	453
— The advantage of the trade to Spain	xliii.	454
— Concise history of the, in England	lv.	334
Tragedy , arrived at its perfection under Euripides	xxii.	111
— The origin of	xxiii.	2
— Anciently a continued representation	xxiii.	3
— An idea of	xxiii.	226
— Why feigned subjects are not tolerated in it	xxiii.	456
— Wherein it differs from the epic	xxvii.	111
— Ought not to admit of murder	xxvii.	112
— First principles of	xxix.	85
— Aristotle's definition of	xxx.	64
— The difficulty of writing a complete one	xxx.	536
— General observations on the different merits of, with respect to the different countries in which they are produced	li.	282
— Memoir on	lxi.	525
— Controversy on the ancient Greek	lxi.	525
— See Stage .
Trajan , some account of	xxiii.	500
— His rescript concerning the primitive christians, a proof of their innocence	xxxiv.	36
Tranquebar , an healthy settlement of the Danes, in East India	xxxix.	346
Translation , of the classics, its difficulty	iv.	481
— The difficulties that attend it	v.	387
— Censured	xii.	378, 411
— What liberty allowable in	xiv.	45
— Literal, why often faulty	xiv.	46
— Literal, their advantages	xvi.	33
— Two opposite errors pointed out	xxiii.	289
— Why condemned indiscriminately	xxiv.	227
— How far allowable in the ode	xxvii.	253
— Literal, how far useful	xxx.	480
— Remarks on	xxxi.	26
— Critical strictures on English	lvi.	88
Translator , his principal qualifications and duty	lxii.	282
Transmigration of Souls , the Indian and Pythagorean doctrine of, explained	iv.	321
— That doctrine held by the Persians and British Druids	x.	421
— Singular remarks on	lxvii.	342

- Transmutation*, of metals, experiments relating to xxxvii. 162
 — Of earth into saltpetre, curious story of xli. 556
 — Of lead into silver and gold. See Price.
Transubstantiation, tacitly admitted in the liturgy of the church of England — xiii. 361
 — Arguments against, properly deducible from reason xv. 78
Trapani, account of — lxviii. 168
Trapist, what, ridiculed — v. 395
Trappe, la Abbey, sketch of — lii. 340
Traquair, Earl of, his letters to the Marquis of Hamilton relative to King James's attempt to force episcopacy on the Scotch — lix. 97
Travellers, their method of conversation — iv. 421
 — Through Egypt necessary caution to — xv. 353
 — Young, proper qualifications of — xv. 452
 — Directions for a tour through France — xv. 455
 — The different kinds of — xvii. 301
 — Account of a philosophical traveller — xxviii. 215
 — Various species of — xxxviii. 174
 — The edifying traveller, described — xxxviii. 174
 — The splenetic, the sentimental, and the proud — xxxviii. 175
Travelling, the use and abuse of — vii. 152
 — In classical countries, the great pleasure of — ix. 440
 — The use and abuse of, considered xv. 451, 453
 — Journals and narratives of, in general, of little importance — xxviii. 215
 — Philosophers' travels, most advantageous to the reader — xxviii. 215
 — Considered as a part of education — xxx. 142
 — In a stage-coach, humourously described — xxxvi. 408
 — Husbandman — liii. 435
Travels, their use described — xiv. 369
 — Through various parts of Europe — lvii. 401
 — Through Greece, represented in a set of engravings, by a young nobleman — lviii. 490
Travis, Mr. his verses in the Cambridge collection in pacem — xxix. 40
Treason, a clause in the statute of, dangerous to a free constitution — xxxii. 273
Treasure-trove, what, and the laws respecting it in several countries — xv. 12
Treaties, a free people ought to be parties in — xiii. 115
 — Of Westphalia, Munster, and Osnaburg, the basis of German politics, anathematized by the Pope — xvii. 130
Treaty of April 1662, between France and Holland, how seemingly favourable and partial to the latter, but how insidious on the part of France — xvii. 135
Trudensham, Sir Joseph, his speech in the House of Commons on the Speaker's being a privy counsellor — xxviii. 127
 — On an address for removing the Duke of Lauderdale — xxviii. 192
Tree,

Tress. the cause of the blighting of	—	vii.	63
— Weakly trees not subject to it	—	vii.	63
— How affected by the frost	—	vii.	64
— Their freezing, and means of preventing it	—	x.	325
— Difficult to find the exact content of	—	xi.	42
— The common method of measuring erroneous	—	xi.	42
— How measured by the King's meters	—	xi.	43
— Impossible to exceed a limited magnitude	—	xi.	494
— Forest ones, great public benefit of increasing them	—	xii.	472
— Injurious to the hedges and soil where they grow	—	xvii.	406
— A remarkable nursery in Leicestershire	—	xix.	535
— and plants, a table of the times of their leafing	—	xx.	324
— Mr. Stillingfleet's apology for his critical examination into the precise time of their leafing and flowering	—	xxiv.	257
— Method of checking the too luxuriant growth of	—	xxvii.	329
— For timber, account of some valuable species of in South America	—	li.	413, 416
— Ought not to be raised in poor land	—	liv.	15
— Method of promoting their annual increase, by washing, rubbing, &c.	—	lviii.	48
— Methods of propagating by seeds	—	lviii.	48
— In St. James's Park, observations on the sudden decay of several	—	lxv.	265
— of Senegal, described	—	lxvii.	499
Tree of Life , translated "Trees"	—	xxix.	298
Trees of paradise , the virtues of, mistaken	—	xxv.	418
Tree-frog , in America, description of	—	lxvi.	254
Trelawney , Governor, his good character	—	li.	131
Trelawney , Rev. Sir Harry, his change of religious sentiments	—	lx.	79
— Witticisms on	—	lx.	79
— His versatility	—	lxii.	326
Tremella , account of that plant.	—	xliv.	523
— The same with the hair-like insect	—	xlvi.	675
Trench-plowing	—	lii.	13
Trenmor , invocation of	—	xxviii.	279
Trepan of the sternum , curious account of the operation of	—	xl.	215
Trepanning , recommended in the epilepsy	—	xliv.	134
Treſſan , Count de, a writer in the Encyclopædie	—	xl.	29
— His excellent character	—	lv.	388
Trevor , Sir John, his opinion concerning an address for removing evil countellers	—	xxviii.	130
Triangles , M. de le Lande's observations on	—	xxvii.	172
Tribunals , sovereign, of China	—	iv.	327
— Historical account of the tribunals of ancient nations	—	lxi.	222
Trifles imported, a loss to the nation	—	iv.	388
Trigonometry , method of solving cases in, by arithmetic only	—	xxxiii.	261
— Rectilinear, by the Abbé Roſignol	—	lvi.	277
Trinity , doctrine of, vindicated	—	ii.	129, 133
— Why chiefly objected to	—	ii.	330
			Trinity ,

Trinity , involves no contradiction	—	ii. 493
— Chev. Ramsay's notions of	—	iv. 341, 441
— Christian doctrine of, explained	—	iv. 466
— Essay on the	—	v. 488
— In what sense worshipped	—	ix. 446
— The doctrine of, not well defended	—	ix. 450
— Said to be a doctrine of Moses	—	x. 68
— The doctrine of the Trinity not revealed in the Old Testament	—	xi. 125
— The Athanasian scheme of, injurious to the Christ. revel.	—	xi. 125
— Objections to Dr. Stebbing's scheme	—	xi. 128
— Its connection with popery pointed out	—	xi. 129
— Alexander Campbell's absurd arguments concerning it	—	xi. 324
— The Pythagorean and Platonic systems	—	xi. 376
— Endeavour to vindicate it	—	xii. 19
— Athanasian, generally embraced as a mystery supposed to be found in scripture	—	xii. 22
— The doctrine of, briefly represented	—	xii. 474, 475
— The Athanasian doctrine of, the scarlet coloured beast, mentioned in the Revelations	—	xiv. 205
— Athanasian doctrine of, the primary fundamental article of Christianity	—	xv. 430
— Debates concerning	—	xvi. 195
— Disputes between Calvin and Servetus on the	—	xvii. 204
— Defended	—	xviii. 633—xix. 117
— Answers to objections against it	—	xx. 592
— Test of	—	xxii. 468
— Erasmus's remark on a text respecting the	—	xxiii. 200
— Athanasian, not a Catholic doctrine	—	xxix. 436
— Queries concerning, by George Williams	—	xxxi. 150
— New explanation of	—	xxxiii. 410
— A Siberian medal, in explanation of the	—	xxxix. 27
— Squabbles at a synod on the	—	xlvi. 90
— Mr. Search's explanation of	—	lx. 431
— Dr. Scott's notion of	—	lx. 486
— Doctrine of, contrasted with the the Unitarian principles, inculcated in the New Testament	—	lxvi. 103
Tristram Shandy , remonstrance to	—	xxiv. 103
— How he acquired his name	—	xxiv. 111
— Why deserving a bishopric	—	xxvi. 453
— See Shandy .
Triton , fable of, explained	—	lv. 7
Tritheism , orthodox doctrine of, stated and exploded	—	xlvi. 295
Trenchin , Dr. his contest with Rousseau	—	lxx. 448
Troolies , a most curious American vegetable, described	—	xl. 204
Troops , new regulations proposed for	—	xvi. 367
— Embarked, medical oeconomy of	—	xxix. 547
Troubadours , their history begun by M. Palaie, and finished by M. Millot	—	li. 558
— Summary view of their writings, &c.	—	lii. 602

Troubadours , their extinction	—	lii. 609
Trout , a particular species of, in Ireland	—	li. 376
True Blues , who the original True Blues	—	xi. 471
Trulliber, Parson , in Joseph Andrews, whence that character taken	—	xxvi. 366
Truth , a fundamental of education	—	ii. 449
— A general definition of	—	x. 2
— Divine truths, by what rules to be tried	—	x. 8
— Truth and honesty, not the subject of ridicule	—	x. 169
— How liable to be perverted	—	xxiii. 30
— Where our enquiries after it ought to stop	—	xxiii. 364
— The happiness of mankind how far dependent on the propagation of	—	xxxiii. 305
— The question “whether all depend on experience?” discussed	—	xxxiii. 501
— Ingenious investigation of	—	xlvi. 268
— The free discussion of, discussed	—	lxiv. 499
— Whether all truths are fit to be told?	—	lxiv. 499
Tub , new tale of	—	v. 524
Tucker, Rev. Mr. his reflections on the naturalization of foreign protestants	—	v. 523
Tucker, Rev. Dr. his proposals for the improvement of commerce	—	xi. 167
— Vindicated as a commercial writer	—	l. 127
— His scheme for a separation between Great Britain and her colonies	—	l. 135
— His scheme opposed	—	l. 413
— His scheme for a coalition with the colonies	—	liv. 2
— Charged with disingenuous treatment of Dr. Franklin	—	liv. 5
— His charge against Dr. Franklin, refuted	—	lvi. 145
— His attack on the Lockian principles of government, repelled	—	lxvii. 131
Tumuli , observations on some, discovered in Tartary	—	xliv. 258
Tumor in the bladder	—	v. 321
— Cases of	—	xxxviii. 438
— Case of an uncommon one	—	xli. 399
— Incised, in the orbit of the eye, how cured	—	xlvi. 47
Tunbridge water , account of the contents of	—	xv. 206
— Historical account of	—	lix. 414
— Qualities of the water	—	lix. 416
Tune , critically discussed	—	lxv. 437
Tungusian romance	—	lviii. 529
Tunis , the coast of, inhabited by barbarians	—	xvi. 678
Tunstall, Dr. his vindication of the marriage act	—	5. 438
Turenne, Marshall , pleasant anecdote concerning	—	xxv. 13
Turgessius , a Danish king, his tyranny in Ireland	—	xlvi. 472
— In what manner trampled, and put to death	—	xlvi. 472
Turin , peculiar neatness in that capital	—	xli. 82
Turks , their oppressive government of the Moors and Arabs at Algiers	—	5. 414

Turks, contempt of the Algerines and other piratical states of Barbary — — — — — iii. 415

— Sir P. Rycaut's letter concerning — — — — — xiv. 424

— The honourable conduct of Turks — — — — — xvii. 140

— In what their learning consists — — — — — xv. 281

— Some account of the manners of the women — — — — — xxi. 259

— Convenient method of procuring temporary wives there — — — — — xxiv. 5

— Desperate sea engagement between them and the Venetians at Lepanto — — — — — xxiv. 448

— Domestic employments of their ladies — — — — — xxviii. 465

— Account of their poetry, with specimens — — — — — xxviii. 466

— Religious principles and customs — — — — — xxix. 57

— Do not suppose their women have no soul — — — — — xxix. 57

— Magnificence and luxury of their grandees — — — — — xxix. 64

— Probable consequence, if they should ever encourage literature — — — — — xxxiv. 263

— Character of their troops — — — — — xxxv. 83

— Lady M. W. Montague's account of their women — — — — — xxxvii. 45

— The government less arbitrary than is generally supposed — — — — — xxxix. 111

— The subordinate parts thereof praised — — — — — xxxix. 113

— Interior policy of — — — — — xxxix. 115

— Their exemplary modesty with respect to the fair sex — — — — — xxxix. 118

— Remarkable instance of the freedom of their women, in their behaviour to men — — — — — xxxix. 119

— State of matrimony in — — — — — xxxix. 122

— Several of their poets commended — — — — — xlv. 429

— Fleet destroyed by the Russians — — — — — xlv. 138

— Affecting story of a Captain — — — — — xlv. 139

— Dispute between a Turk and a German about polygamy — — — — — xlvii. 531

Turkey fowl, Mr. Pennant's account of — — — — — lxx. 366

— Originally brought from America — — — — — lxxi. 366

Tuilleries, at Paris, account of — — — — — xxxvii. 109

Turner, Robert, his means for decoying the first printer into England — — — — — xxxiv. 500

Turner, Mr. his admirable improvements in rural œconomy — — — — — xliii. 380

Turner, Mrs. contributes to drive the ladies ruffs out of fashion, by being hanged in one — — — — — xli. 212

Turnips, how best secured from flies — — — — — xviii. 427

— Charlock not easily distinguished from — — — — — viii. 557

— Method of preserving them from the fly — — — — — xl. 159

— Hoeing them recommended — — — — — xlii. 87

— How to preserve them from the fly — — — — — xlv. 284—xlv. 119

— Drill culture of, recommended — — — — — xlv. 397

— Different kinds of, recommended — — — — — xlv. 119

— Culture of, for feeding cattle — — — — — xlv. 120

— Best seasons for sowing — — — — — lviii. 98

Turnips , directions relative to the consumption of, on the field in winter	—	—	lviii. 100
Turnip-rooted cabbage , recommended	xl. 152—	xlvi. 120
Turnus , intended by Virgil to represent M. Antony	—	ii. 442
Turpentine oil , its efficacy in destroying moths	—	ix. 372
Turtle , remarkable instinct of that animal	—	li. 434
Tuscan , modern, their superstition	—	xliv. 85
— Insanced in their remarkable lottery	—	xliv. 86
Tutbury bull-running , account of	—	xliv. 183
Tutor , revenge of a pupil upon one	—	iv. 358
— The qualifications required in one	—	xvii. 107
— Humorous list of candidates for the post of	—	xvii. 109
Tutty , what	—	xxv. 492
Twiss , Mr. how rendered obnoxious to the Irish	—	ix. 191
Tycho Brabe , some anecdotes concerning	—	xvi. 587
— His astronomical discoveries	—	lx. 529
Tydeus , noble description of	—	xxvi. 327
Tyger , the most formidable of the African wild beasts	—	lv. 525
— Destructive to the sheep, &c. at the Cape	—	lv. 546
Tyger-cat , of the Cape of Good Hope, described	—	lxvi. 365
Tyne water , analysis of	—	xliv. 221
Types , the Christian doctrine of	—	iv. 125
— The true nature and design of them shewn	—	xiii. 231
Typhon , a whirlwind, what kind of	—	iv. 153
— How represented	—	vii. 89
Tyranny , how odious	—	vi. 178
— Christianity repugnant to	—	vi. 179
— Destructive of arts and sciences	—	xv. 59
Tyrants , the rights of subjects to take arms against them, boldly asserted by a Frenchman	—	iii. 133
Tyrtæus , his story	—	xxvi. 57
Tyrwhitt , Mr. his observations on some ancient inscriptions	—	liii. 495
Tythes , the sacred institution of, become a subject of banter	—	xxi. 130
— List of things tythable	—	xxxiii. 401
— Tythe in kind, arguments against	—	xxxvi. 250
— Scheme for abolishing them	—	xxxvii. 43
— Tythe on madder, remarks on	—	xliv. 291
— Iniquity of	—	xliviii. 163
— Arguments pro and con relating to	—	xliv. 236, 415
— Tythe agistment, what	—	lvi. 185
Tythings , on the division of	—	—	lii. 502

U

Ulcers of the intestines, oleum asphalti, use of	—	xli. 228
— Usefulness of wort in the cure of	—	xlvi. 47
— Method of curing, by the burning glass	—	lxii. 514
Unbousell'd , &c. that passage in Shakespeare explained	—	lxx. 19
Understanding ,

Understanding , reflections concerning it	—	ii. 433, 434
— A good one necessary to a player	—	iii. 190
— The most fruitful and important source of our ideas	xviii.	516
— Method of philosophical investigation of	—	xxx. 365
— How far capable of cultivation	—	lii. 563
Under-wood , its worth per acre computed	—	xvii. 406
Ungrateful guest , story of	—	xix. 79
Unhappiness , not to be inferred from a desire of change	xxiii.	437
Union , the close one betwixt soul and body	—	vi. 472
— A panegyric on it, insinuated	—	xvi. 429
— of philosophy with religion	—	lv. 472
Union, all of , objections drawn from it against a revival of our liturgy obviated	—	xlvi. 125
Union of England with Scotland , remarks on that measure		lviii. 294
Union-feast , annual, at Genoa	—	x. 335
Unitarians, societies of , how to be promoted	—	lxx. 117
— Forms of divine worship for	—	lxx. 119
Unity , what	—	vi. 334
— How unattainable	—	vi. 335
Unities of nature , physically discussed	—	lxv. 518
Universe , visible and intelligible, how distinguishable	—	xxv. 71
Universities , observations on them	—	iii. 177
— Mr. Toll's small regard for	—	iv. 2
— Want to be reformed	—	iv. 37
— of Germany, an account of them	—	iv. 213
— University education, in what manner to be conducted	v.	317
— Defects in the English, and amendments proposed	xxi.	182
— Their poetical exercises on public occasions, why not always excellent	—	xxviii. 29
— English, afford no medical education	—	xxxix. 140
— University mode of education satirized	—	liii. 6
— English, why in less repute than formerly	—	lxv. 9
— Established solely for the study of political oeconomy	lxv.	466
— A similar institution recommended for Great Britain	lxv.	467
— of Great Britain, anecdotes relative to the state of, in the 13th and 14th centuries	—	lxvi. 56
— English, essay on the discipline of	—	lxviii. 305
Urachus , in anatomy, the structure and uses of the	xlvi.	552
Uranometer , description of	—	lxiv. 505
Uretbra , chirurgical observations on the disorders of	ii.	241
— The use of bougies	—	ii. 318
— Stones in its bulb	—	iv. 429
Urim and Thummim , conjectures concerning	—	xxvi. 308
Urine , two cases of incontinency of	—	xxxviii. 437
— Case of a chalky	—	xxxix. 535
— Cure of a suppression of	—	lvii. 2
— Remarkable medical observations and cases respecting disorders relative to	—	lxiii. 291
— Observations on the phenomena and variations of	lxviii.	503

Urtica Marina , account of	—	xxvii. 329
Usage , the authoritative rule of speaking and writing	—	lxx. 505
Usages and Customs , how they affect, and even change the constitution of states	—	xv. 233
Uscques, Pirates , a brief account of them	—	xvii. 129
Ujong , censured	—	xlvi. 161
Usury , injurious to trade and commerce	—	viii. 219
Uterus , in women, structure of	—	xxxvii. 330
— Illustrated by experiments	—	xxxvii. 330
— Peculiar symptoms of a prolapsus uteri	—	xxxviii. 431
— Observations on a retroverted	—	xlvi. 46
— Description of a double	—	lii. 333
— A retroverted, successfully treated by a reposition	—	lv. 251
Utility , not the principal source of approbation	—	xxi. 12
Utrecht , treaty of, serious reflections on it, and its probable consequences	—	xvi. 599
— Treaty of, condemned	—	xviii. 297
— Peace of, how far similar to the peace of 1762	—	xxviii. 204
Uva Ursi , its lithontriptic powers compared with those of lime-water	—	xlvi. 546
Uvula , instrument for extirpating	—	xlvi. 22

V

Vacuum , what it properly implies	—	viii. 298
— Sir Isaac Newton's proof of it from the direction of the tails of comets, invalidated	—	xxvii. 126
Vagrants , laws relating to	—	xxx. 286
— The reproach of a country	—	xxxv. 251
Vails , or Vales , from visitants, exclaimed against	—	ii. 177
— Remark on giving	—	xxiii. 405
Valais , account of a journey into that romantic country	—	xxiv. 228
— Description of the inhabitants	—	xxiv. 231
Vale of Hoangati , a Chinese tale	—	xl. 372
Valckenaer's recommendation of Gron's translation of Plato's book of laws	—	xli. 541
Valentinian, Emperor , falsehood related of him	—	xxxii. 523
Valerian, Emperor of Rome , disgracefully treated by the Persians	—	xxv. 261
Valet , the adventures of a	—	vi. 110
— His reception in an alderman's family	—	vi. 113
— Proposal for his master to marry his daughter	—	vi. 117
— Behaviour in a fray	—	vi. 118
— Consequences thereof	—	vi. 119
— Incidents to a lady in a chair	—	vi. 120
— And the issue	—	vi. 122
Valiere, Duchesse de la , her devotions discriminated	—	li. 485
Valiere, Mad. de , a character of	—	vii. 168
Valsalva , his anatomical writings revised	—	xlii. 101
Vamp , a bookfeller, dialogue between him and his patron	—	xxxv. 154
Vandals , origin of	—	xxxv. 170
		Vandali ,

Vandals , &c. effect one of the greatest revolutions that ever happened, by the ruin of the Roman empire	—	l. 537
— Reflections on	—	l. 537
Vanderdussen , Deputy of Tergow, character of him	—	xvi. 491
Vandiwash , battle of, described	—	lx. 47
Vane , Sir Harry, his character injuriously represented	—	xxix. 245
Vanessa , account of, and who	—	v. 477
— Remarks on her connection with Dean Swift	—	xi. 64
— Apology for a certain weakness of her's	—	xi. 65
Van Goens , his extraordinary learning at 14 years of age	—	xxxix. 552
Vanhomrigh , Miss, her unhappy passion for Swift	—	xxxv. 143
Vanini , the heretic, curious account of	—	xl. 26
Vanity , one good effect of it	—	ii. 438
— Often the ground of contempt of religion	—	xxxvi. 218
— Thoughts on	—	xlvi. 53
— Admirable picture of	—	lxii. 105
Van Swieten , Baron, on the efficacy of sublimate solution in curing an opacity of the eyes	—	xxvii. 102
— Extracts from his commentaries, on Boerhaave	—	xxxiv. 102
— His commentary on Boerhaave completed	—	xlvi. 552
Van Swinden 's plan for a treatise on the aurora borealis	—	lxii. 310
— Account of a wonderful production of unassisted genius	—	lxv. 150
Vapours , cause of their ascent, according to Des Cartes	—	xv. 363
— According to Desaguliers	—	xv. 363
— According to Mr. Beles	—	xv. 364
— How electrified	—	xv. 365
— How proved to be electrified	—	xv. 367
— Observations and experiments relating to the ascent of	—	xl. 393
— On the rise and ascent of	—	xl. 394
Vapour-bathing , method of performing	—	xli. 227
Vapours in coal mines , account of	—	xxxvi. 553
Vapours, metallic , do not destroy vegetation	—	xxxvii. 447
Variation-chart , method of describing	—	xxi. 169
Varro , the Roman general, observations on his conduct at the battle of Cannæ	—	xv. 666
Vases, Etruscan , &c. curious collection of designs from	—	xli. 566
— Antient, discovered on the Mosquito shore	—	lxii. 277
Vatinius , Cicero's defence of him	—	viii. 350
Vaughan , Mr. his speech on absentees	—	xxviii. 126
Vangondy , Mr. R. de, his account of those tracks of Asia and America that are situated to the north of the South Sea	—	lii. 346
Vaux , Sir Theodore, his old-wivery	—	lxiii. 383
Vedam , the bible of the Gentoos, commentaries on the	—	xxix. 488
— Some account of	—	xxxiii. 269—xxxvi. 8
— A name erroneously given to the Shaster of the Hindoes	—	xxxix. 381
— Four distinct sorts	—	lxi. 502
Vegetables , division of	—	v. 374
— The primary parts of	—	xxiii. 212
— The fructification of	—	xxiii. 213

Vegetables , proper test of their virtues	—	xxxv. 323
— Vegetable medicaments, cautions relating to	—	xxxv. 326
— Vegetable kingdom, its division in families	—	xxxvii. 133
— Their characteristic distinctions	—	xxxvii. 133
— Adanson of family likenesses in	—	xxxvii. 165
— Dr. Hill's division and subdivision into classes	—	xxxvii. 168
— The species of, not liable to be changed with an intermixture with each other	—	xlvi. 555
— Their power of correcting bad air	—	lxii. 346
— Yet they themselves emit a noxious air in the night	—	lxii. 346
— Experiments relative to	—	lxii. 347, 504
— Disquisition concerning the true cause of the colours of	—	lxiv. 511
— Poisonous observations on	—	lxv. 157
— Influence of, on the animal creation	—	lxix. 391
— Experiments on	—	lxix. 391
— Electricity of	—	lxx. 533
Vegetation , curious remarks on	—	xix. 632
— The use and effect of air in	—	xxvii. 444
— Hints relating to	—	xxviii. 120
— Not destroyed by metallic vapours, as commonly supposed	—	xxxvii. 447
— The use of air in promoting	—	xlili. 429
— New observations on	—	l. 475
— Exposition of the principles of	—	lxx. 270
Veil , or partition between the Holy of Holies and the temple, mystical account of	—	xxxvi. 359
Veins , the motion of	—	vi. 192
— Extraordinary appearance instead of the azygos vein	—	xii. 373
— Structure of	—	xvii. 123
— Effects of venesection	—	xvii. 126
— Injection of	—	xlili. 544
— Experiments relating to	—	xlvi. 692
Vendôme , Duke de, his military character	—	iii. 238
Vendomis of the ancients , the same with the town of Silchester	—	iv. 56
Venedi , account of that people	—	xxxv. 171
— Their peculiar aversion to Christianity	—	xxxv. 172
Ventral disease , gleets of both sexes, Bristol water good for	—	ii. 462
— Essay on gleets	—	iv. 372
— A principal resource of authorism	—	xiv. 460
— Not certainly cured by sarsaparilla	—	xvii. 574
— Testimonies in favour of Keyser's remedies	—	xxiii. 169
— Birth day of	—	xxix. 420
— Boerhaave's account of	—	xxix. 421
— Observations on	—	xxxiii. 371
— Various methods of treating	—	xxxiii. 373
— Remarkable case of	—	xxxv. 327
— Method of cure	—	xxxviii. 251
— The mischiefs of suddenly stopping salivation	—	xxxviii. 440
— Account of a palsy from the	—	xxxix. 249

Veneral

Venereal disease given to Europe by America, in return for the small-pox	—	—	xlvi. 519
— Its progress on its importation to Barcelona	—	—	xlvi. 520
— Dr. Gardiner's method of giving the solution of mercury	—	—	xlvi. 184
— On the abuse of caustics	—	—	xlvi. 184
— Effects of the Lisbon diet drink	—	—	xlvi. 185
— Operation of the Lisbon diet drink, in the	—	—	xlvi. 467
— Conjecture on the process of Keyser's pills	—	—	li. 548
— Le Fouette's method of curing	—	—	liv. 483
— Secret of Daran's bougies	—	—	lxiii. 138
— Advice relative to the symptoms	—	—	lxiv. 457
— Observations on	—	—	lxviii. 556
Venery , what diet a provocative to	—	—	li. 340
Venice , a description of	—	—	iii. 239
— When founded	—	—	ix. 93
— Its great strength, and other advantages	—	—	ix. 93
— Marriage ceremonies there	—	—	xi. 200
— Account of the grand rowing matches there	—	—	xi. 204
— League against the Venetians	—	—	xii. 205
— Stripped of all their dominions on Terra Firma	—	—	xii. 208
— Reconciled to the pope	—	—	xii. 208
— Venetian neutrality of 1701, compared with that of Hiero	—	—	xiv. 347
— Why its government has been more durable than that of the other Italian states	—	—	xxiv. 445
— When first founded	—	—	xxiv. 447
— Genoa its most formidable rival	—	—	xxiv. 447
— Venetians, early a respectable people	—	—	xxiv. 447
— Frequent wars between them and the Turks	—	—	xxiv. 447
— Narrative of the celebrated sea-engagement between them and the Turks at Lepanto	—	—	xxiv. 448
— Their character	—	—	xxxiii. 520
— Courtezans protected by the government there	—	—	xxxiii. 521
— Great perfection of the Venetian music	—	—	xxxiii. 522
— Gallantry of the ladies there	—	—	xxxv. 332
— Apology for them	—	—	xxxv. 333
— Warmth of the pleading of the lawyers	—	—	xxxv. 333
— State of religion there	—	—	xli. 334
— Manner of worship observed by the Greeks	—	—	xli. 335
— Bad preservation of the paintings of great masters in the public buildings at Venice	—	—	xli. 336
— Its freedom	—	—	xlvi. 530
— Eminent artists of that city	—	—	lx. 564
— State of the drama there	—	—	lxiv. 141
— Greek manuscripts in St. Mark's library, at Venice	—	—	lxv. 531
Ventriloquist , curious account of one in France	—	—	xlvi. 513
— Of another in Germany	—	—	xlvi. 519
— Principles of ventriloquism investigated	—	—	xlvi. 519
Venus , her poetical address to Paris	—	—	xxxiii. 23

Venus , her encomiums on pleasure	—	xxxiii.	25
Venus de Medicis , Lady M. W. Montague's sentiments on		xxxvi.	478
Venus and Hymen , the quarrel of, a poem	—	iv.	28
Venus's man's-trap , described	—	xliii.	209
— Termed fly-trap, and a carnivorous vegetable		xliii.	217
Venus (Planet) when the phases of that planet were first remarked		xxiv.	170
— The motion of her nodes	—	xxiv.	177
— Her transit over the sun	—	xxiv.	177
— Hints for observing the transit of	—	xxiv.	172
— Another transit predicted	—	xxiv.	180
— Short's observations on the transit	—	xxix.	146
— Account of the transit expected in 1769	—	xxxi.	418
— Mayer's account of the transit of	—	xxxiv.	222
— Observations on the transit of, by M. Winthrop		xxxiv.	226
— Hornsby's observations on the transit that will be in 1769		xxxv.	386
— M. Pingré's observations on the transit of		xxvii.	171
— Ruzmowski's observations on the transit of Venus		xl.	495
— Transit, affecting description of	—	xl.	591
— Abbé Chappe's observations on the transit	—	xl.	591, 594
— Maskelyne's observations on the transit of	—	xlii.	397
— Dr. Price's remarks relative to the transit	—	xl.	460
— Dunn's observations on the transit	—	xl.	459
— Observations on the transit of, by M. Winthrop		xl.	460
— Mallet's observations on the transit of	—	xl.	462
— Transit of, observations on, in various parts of the earth		xlvi.	557
— M. Pingré's examination of the observations of the transit of		l.	553
— On a satellite of	—	liii.	560
— On the theory of	—	lxviii.	630
Veracity , the common rule of, may be superseded by a singular necessity	—	xlii.	171
Verborum copia , how attained, and its great use in education		ix.	459
Verdigrease proceeding from foul copper vessels at sea, ill effect of		xxvii.	100
— Analysis of the crystals of	—	lxi.	495
Verdier , M. his course of education	—	lix.	298
— On the perfection which men may receive from natural and moral agents	—	liii.	432
Verdus , his account of the power of imagination on ourselves		x.	466
Vergy , M. de, his quarrel with M. D'Eon	—	xxx.	79
Verres , in what his gallery consisted	—	xxiv.	378
Verrina's speech	—	v.	309
Vernal disorders , the efficacy of sal ammoniac in		xxvi.	497
Verjailles , the feast of, in 1664	—	vii.	163
		Verjailles ,

Versailles , its situation absurd	ix.	88
— Gray's description of	lii.	382
Versé . See Postry .
Vertus , Mr. his industry and care in collecting materials for an history of English painters	xxvi.	243
Verus , Countess of, her amour with the King of Sardinia	xiv.	377
— Her death and legacies	xiv.	381
Versorand , character of	v.	43
Verulam , account of an old wall at	xliv.	256
Vervain , head-ach cured by	xxix.	172
— Botanical account of, and medicinal uses	lxx.	4
Vespasian , amphitheatre of, described	lvi.	54
Vessels for preserving anatomical preparations	iv.	112
— Small, in animals, possessed of a vibratory motion	xiv.	331
Vestals , curious disquisition on	xl.	533
Vesuvius , eruptions of, in 1754, described	xv.	274
— Described	xix.	196
— The causes of its eruptions	xix.	197
— Sir F. Stile's account of an eruption	xxvii.	325
— Mackinlay's letter on an eruption	xxvii.	333
— Sir W. Hamilton's account of the last eruption of	xxxix.	418
— Sir W. Hamilton's account of the eruption in 1767	xliv.	105
— Madame du Bocage's journey to, and description of	xliv.	263
— Account of the different substances thrown out of	xliv.	506
— Sir W. Hamilton's remarks and delineations of	lvi.	380
— Sir W. Hamilton's account of a late eruption	lxiv.	201, 268
Vetches , the management of	lviii.	435
Veterinarian Academy , account of	xxxv.	334
— Scheme for the establishment of	lxiv.	427
Veterinarian School at Maisenville , account of	lxix.	583
Vexation , how manifested	xxvi.	201
— One of the main sources of the gout	xl.	124
— Its effects described	xl.	126
Via Lactea , phenomena of	iii.	227
— Solution of them attempted	iii.	230
Vibration of strings , two memoirs on, presented to the Berlin academy	xliv.	524
Vice , how represented in plays	iv.	352
— Its connection with misery, urged in proof of the goodness of God	xxvii.	363
— Philosophically considered	lxvi.	94
Vices of the great , why thought agreeable by the ignorant	xxi.	15
Vicissitudes , pernicious to a state	xxxvi.	565
Victor, Amadeus , circumstances relating to his abdication	xliv.	183
Vienna , sketch of manners and customs there	lvii.	527
— Public sights and amusements there	lxiii.	46
Villa Albani , in Italy, described	lvi.	63
— of Pliny, in Tuscany, described	iv.	486
Village , poetically described	xliv.	441
— The parish priest, characterized	xliv.	443
— Poetically described as the seat of penury and distress	lxix.	418
Villainage ,

Villainage , how far and in what manner it formerly was or is now countenanced by the law of Englund	—	xv.	8
Villars, Marshall , his character as a general		iii.	237
Villars, the quack , curious anecdote of	—	xliv.	530
Villoison, M. de , his intended new edition and translation of Cornutus on the nature of the Gods	—	lviii.	512
— Also of Longinus	—	lviii.	513
— His inquiries concerning the Nemean games		lviii.	533
— Concerning the modern Greek	—	lviii.	533
— Success of his researches in St. Mark's library at Venice		lxv.	509
— His account of a curious MS. of the Iliad		lxv.	509
— Also of a Greek version of several parts of the Bible		lxv.	510
Vine , culture of, and manufacture of wine, in America, recommended	—	xlvi.	343
Vinefretter , its singular production	—	ix.	375
Vinagar , its efficacy in the cure of canine madness		lxvii.	560
Viner, Mr. his institution for the study of law		xix.	486
Vinland , originally a part of North America		xliv.	181
Violet , poetically described	—	xxxiv.	352
— Botanical account of its medicinal and other uses		lxx.	10
Vipers , description of their teeth, poison, &c.		lxx.	587
— Cause of the death of animals-bitten by them		lxx.	590
— Remedies for the bite of	—	lxx.	591
Virgil , comparison between him and Homer		ii.	441
— His address in writing the Æneid	—	ii.	442
— Turnus, intended by him to represent Mark Antony		ii.	442
— Passages in his Georgics defective in poetry		xiv.	531
— Spence's criticism on several passages	—	xxxix.	169
— His rural poetry, criticised	—	xxx.	104
— Strong superstitious notions concerning him, held by the vulgar Italians	—	xxxiii.	523
— A preacher	—	xxxiv.	540
— Remarks on, and on his English translators		xxxvi.	337
— Description of an harvest storm	—	xxxvi.	338
— Of rural happiness	—	xxxvi.	338
— His beautiful episode of Nisus and Euryalus, extract from, in English blank verse	—	xxxvii.	321
— Notes on sundry passages in	—	xxxviii.	417
— Criticised	—	xxxix.	169
— Several passages in his Æneid , criticised		xxxix.	170
— His tomb, dissertation on	—	xxxix.	171
— Georgic , lib. iv.	—	xxxix.	287
— His tomb, described	—	xli.	423
— Compared with Theocritus, as a pastoral poet		xliii.	90
— Farther comparison	—	xlii.	232
— Defended, with respect to the character of Æneas		xliv.	220
— In what respects preferable to Homer	—	li.	26
— French translation of	—	liii.	254

Virgil , poetical encomium on	lxvii.	352
Virgin , her choice of an husband	lix.	245
Virgin islands , number and situation of, &c.	lxiii.	69
— Government of, in what manner neglected by the British government	lxiii.	69
Virginia , Collinson's advice to the inhabitants of	xlili.	253
— Political state of, 100 years ago	lxiii.	21
Virginity , observations on that professed among the earlier christians	viii.	506
Virgula divinatoria , account of	lix.	270
— Bleton's use of	lxv.	500
Virtue and vice , reflections on them	ii.	438
Virtus , how extensive in women	ii.	449
— Reflections concerning it	iv.	264
— Private, wherein it consists	iv.	534
— Lively sense of the Deity, in rewards and punishments hereafter, the strongest arguments to virtue	v.	64
— On what founded	v.	244
— What	vi.	472
— Consists in following good propensities	vi.	474
— A definition of	vii.	42
— Derived from the moral sense	viii.	366
— Enforced by conscience	viii.	366
— Motives to it derived from the nature and constitution of things	viii.	367
— Strengthened by a sense of divine authority	viii.	368
— The life of it, preferable to that of pleasure	viii.	360
— The only source of true nobility	xi.	421
— Pleases more as nature, than as virtue	xiv.	493
— The few virtues remaining in Britain	xvi.	430
— and vice, a poetical contrast of their situation in this world	xvii.	398
— The present received definitions of it insufficient	xviii.	103
— A new one attempted	xviii.	107
— Not its own reward	xviii.	590
— A signal instance of, at Genoa	xviii.	641
— Private, productive of political vices	xviii.	614
— Its different branches	xx.	287
— and vice, their own reward and punishment	xx.	221
— Whence our approbation of it derived	xxi.	12
— Defined	xxii.	28
— Its connection with happiness, a strong argument in proof of the divine Goodness	xxvii.	363
— Defined, negatively and positively	xxxi.	514
— Social, delineated	xliv.	537
— Analysis of	lii.	570
— Poetic encomium on	lx.	475
Virtuose , that term, whence derived	i.	82
— Their thefts	x.	496

Vis inertia of matter, considered	—	ii. 394
— The property of, not inherent to the primary elements of bodies		xxi. 443
— An unlucky expression of its accepted meaning		xxiii. 382
Visigoths , in Spain, rigid Arians	—	xxiv. 97
— Their mode of government	—	xxiv. 97
— How they became a prey to the Saracens		xxiv. 98
Vision , an account of that sense, by M. Le Cat		ii. 364
— Wakeful, what	—	vi. 207
— Questions answered	—	vi. 209
— Curious experiments relative to	—	lxii. 53
— Poetical	—	lxix. 410
— See Optics .
Vision of St. John, explained	—	ii. 149
Visions of the Prophets, reflections concerning them		iv. 403
Vitet's dispensatory, of Lyons	—	lx. 313
Vitriolic æther , method of composing	—	lxv. 140
Vitus , St. Vitus's dance, cured by electricity	—	lxii. 215
Vive la Bagatelle , a detestable maxim	—	xi. 68
Voices , extraordinary deceptions of the	—	xlvi. 514
— Of man and other animals, anatomically considered		lxviii. 626
Volcanoes , system of	—	xxviii. 219
— Account of a burning rock in the East Indies		xxix. 128
— In the Lipari islands	—	xxx. 551
— Observations relating to	—	xlvi. 113
— Electric matter contained in	—	xlvi. 113
— Conjectures of the age of the world, from the Lavas of mount Ætna	—	xlvi. 28
— Prodigious eruption of one in South America	—	li. 414
— A remarkable one in the Isle of Bourbon	—	liii. 606
— Account of some in Germany, and their productions	—	liv. 475
— Various opinions relative to	—	lvi. 33, 36
— Sir William Hamilton's curious account and drawings of		lvi. 380
— Account of a volcanic hill near Inverness	—	lviii. 463
— Extinct, some account of	—	lviii. 510
— Effect of, in the neighbourhood of Santorino	—	lix. 519
— Evident vestiges of, throughout Greece	—	lxi. 483
— One in Lemnos, supposed to have given rise to the fable of Vulcan's forge there	—	lxi. 483
— Whimsical theory of the ancient Grecians of	—	lxi. 483
— Account of their operation in the formation of Mountains, &c.		lxi. 483, 551
— In Iceland	—	lxiii. 190
— Account of extinguished, in the South of France	—	lxvi. 467
— In the Lipari islands	—	lxix. 426
Volcanoes , African , account of this singular phenomenon		lxix. 427
— See Ætna , Vesuvius .
Volga , Specimen of Forster's history of the country bordering on the		xxxix. 422
		Voltaire ,

Voltaire , his panegyric of the Louisian age	i.	87
— His censure of the Italian poets, refuted	viii.	462
— Ariosto, defended against him	viii.	463
— Owns that Hill improved what plays of his he translated	x.	27
— Censured	xi.	424
— His letter concerning his intended universal history	xiii.	85
— To the Duchess of Saxe Gotha on the same subject	xiii.	90
— His verses in praise of liberty	xiii.	285, 287
— His notion of the time of action in dramatic performances	xiii.	494
— His censure of Shakespeare, censured	xiii.	495
— History of the late war, not always authentic	xiv.	292, 372
— His fame and property, how injured	xvii.	154
— His imagination too fertile for historical composition	xvii.	318
— His treatment of Dante, unjust	xviii.	339
— Translation of two French poems addressed to him by king of Prussia	xxiii.	323
— Criticism on his tragedy of Semiramis	xxiii.	225
— Ridiculous tale concerning him	xxiii.	516
— Malevolent sketch of his person and character	xxiii.	517
— His dissingenuous treatment of Shakespeare	xxiv.	138
— His notion of French poetry	xxiv.	139
— His vindication of his own character	xxiv.	140
— Censure of, by Dr. Young	xxvi.	465
— His view in writing his essay on universal history	xxix.	497
— Eulogium on	xxx.	207
— His character best judged of from his private letters	xxxi.	526
— His suspicious manner of denying imputed authorship	xxxi.	529
— His private letter to the Monthly Reviewers	xxxii.	240
— Discovery of the cruel treatment of Mr. Calas	xxxii.	318
— His narrative of the like cruelty to the family of Sirven	xxxii.	318
— His quarrel with the Jesuits	xxxii.	499
— His art in varying his publications	xxxii.	505
— His notion of the Jews, controverted	xxxiii.	131
— An enemy to Rousseau	xxxiii.	509
— Remarks on some peculiarities in the English language	xxxiv.	310
— Vindication of himself against Lord Lyttelton	xxxiv.	311
— His letter in the name of Gouju the Jesuit	xxxiv.	311
— Offers a reward for discovering the author of a letter said to have been printed in the Monthly Review	xxxiv.	312
— His Henriad , styled a sermon	xxxiv.	541
— His unfair manner of ridiculing the scriptures	xxxv.	168
— Some account of his splendid manner of living	xxxv.	330
— His fondness for Madame Clairon	xxxv.	330
— Severe character of him and his writings	xxxvi.	566
— Said to be illiterate	xxxvi.	568
— Critical examen of his irreligious publications	xxxvi.	569

Voltaire , defence of himself under the title of "L'Apologie de mon oncle"	xxxvii.	498
— Inquiry into the ages of Abraham and Sarah	xxxvii.	499
— His remark on the comparison of Sarah with Ninon de l'Enclos	xxxvii.	500
— Story of Ninon, and the Abbé Chateaufort	xxxvii.	500
— Severe invective against the Bishop of Gloucester	xxxvii.	500
— His fine seat at Ferney, described	xxxviii.	138
— His genius celebrated	xxxviii.	139
— On his tragedies	xxxviii.	139
— On his harsh treatment of Shakespeare	xxxviii.	140
— On history	xxxviii.	523
— Requisites in those who undertake to refute his writings against christianity	xxxviii.	598
— Abused by Baretta	xxxix.	55
— His reflections on monks	xxxix.	127
— Defended against Baretta	xxxix.	325
— A writer in the Encyclopedie	xxxix.	544
— His ridicule of experimental philosophers, for their cruelty to animals	xxxix.	573
— His advice to Bergier	xxxix.	574
— To the Polish confederates	xxxix.	574
— His epistle to the Romans	xxxix.	575
— Ironically recommended	xl.	24
— Account of Vanini	xl.	26
— Of the Encyclopedie	xl.	29
— Testimony to the merit of Mr. Pope as a poet	xl.	417
— His enquiry into the existence of the soul	xli.	124
— Denies the reality of laws of war	xli.	127
— His criticism on Shakespeare refuted	xli.	130, 141
— His character of Montesquieu's Esprit de loix	xli.	213
— Enumerates the errors of that work	xli.	213
— His remark on the different poetical merits of Dryden and Pope	xli.	378
— His abuse of Warburton	xli.	549
— His sarcasms on the Jews	xli.	550
— His mistake about Swift's Tale of a tub	xli.	551
— His Pyrrhonism of history	xli.	552
— His account of Petronius	xli.	552
— Of the singularities of nature	xli.	554
— His story of a German chemist	xli.	556
— His controversy with the Jews	xli.	562
— His humorous letter to a bookseller	xlii.	458
— To Lord Lyttelton	xlii.	459
— Letter to, from Mr. Haller	xlii.	460
— His story of Amabel and father Fatutti	xlii.	556
— His remarks on Mirabaud's system of nature	xliii.	545
— His defence of the priesthood	xliii.	547
— His discoveries in natural history ridiculed	xliv.	25
— His dialogues in the shades with Socrates, Julian, &c.	xliv.	28

Voltaire , his dispute with the Bishop of Anneci,	xliv.	34
— His misrepresentations of the scriptures detected	xliv.	460
— His strictures on Johnson's edition of Shakespeare	xliv.	532
— His conversation with Dr. Burney	xliv.	168
— His account of Camoens, the Portuguese poet	xliv.	183
— His curious dream	xlvi.	661
— Account of his literary quarrels, with a list of his antagonists	xlvi.	507
— His sentiments on a variety of subjects	xlvi.	529
— His idea on a point of taste, in poetry, controverted	xlvi.	535
— His literary character	xlvi.	518
— His dramatic writings praised	xlvi.	519
— His agreeable manner of philosophising	xlvi.	520
— His literary character and conduct, severely animadverted on	xliv.	529
— His policy	xliv.	531
— His account of the Gentoos	l.	522
— Of the Bramins	l.	523
— Of ancient heathen superstitions	l.	525
— Of an August assembly of Popish princes, &c. at the burning of two heretics	l.	528
— Of the origin of the Crusades	l.	530
— His letter to the king of Prussia	l.	533
— His age ascertained	l.	533
— Letter to, from the present Czarina	l.	533
— Clement's letter to	l.	575
— Lord Chesterfield's letter to	li.	24
— His attack on the reputation of Corneille	li.	556
— His allegorical romance in praise of reason and truth	lii.	585
— His remarks on the story of blood miraculously seen by Henry IV.	lii.	533
— His letter to the French academy	lv.	474
— Objections to the old Testament, answered	lv.	507
— Abbé Guennée, author of the letters of certain Jews	lv.	510
— His education and his earliest writings	lvi.	47
— Acquires riches and enemies	lvi.	49
— And the friendship of the king of Prussia	lvi.	50
— His residence at the court of king Stanislaus	lvi.	104
— Is invited to live at Berlin	lvi.	105
— Happy manner of passing his time there	lvi.	106
— His quarrel with Maupertuis	lvi.	107
— Quits Berlin in disgrace	lvi.	108
— Purchases estates in Switzerland	lvi.	109
— His benevolence to the country people	lvi.	110
— His hatred of persecution	lvi.	110
— Various instances of his philanthropy	lvi.	173
— His temple Deo traxit	lvi.	174
— His correspondence with the princess of Bareith	lvi.	174
— His account of sending for a priest in his sickness	lvi.	178

Voltaire , his answer to the six Jews	—	—	lvi. 510
— Defended against the religious casuists	—	—	lvii. 192
— His opinion concerning the local origin of the sciences, &c. controverted	—	—	lvii. 548
— His death, lamented as an irreparable loss to the literary journals	—	—	lviii. 545
— Account of his last book	—	—	lviii. 545
— Sketch of his character	—	—	lviii. 551
— His letters	—	—	lix. 301
— Academical eulogium on	—	—	lix. 548
— Celebrated by the king of Prussia	—	—	lx. 67
— His life and conduct generally amiable	—	—	lx. 68
— Vast diversity of his talents	—	—	lx. 69, 144
— His merit as an historian	—	—	lx. 269
— Academical discourse in honour of	—	—	lxi. 220
— Anecdotes of his life	—	—	lxi. 514
— Of his death	—	—	lxi. 520
— His argument against the authority of the scriptures drawn from the sterility of Judea, &c. obviated	—	—	lxii. 566
— Poetical portrait of	—	—	lxiii. 32
— His merit as a genius, appreciated	—	—	lxvi. 4
— His birth	—	—	lxx. 575
— Connects himself with the Marquis de Chatelet	—	—	lxx. 575
— Retires to an old castle on the borders of Champagne and Lorraine	—	—	lxx. 576
— The studies he pursued there	—	—	lxx. 576
— Leaves his fair patroness, and attaches himself to the king of Prussia	—	—	lxx. 580
— Describes the manners and oeconomy of the court of Berlin	—	—	lxx. 580
— His manner of living with the King	—	—	lxx. 581
— His quarrel with that monarch, and retreat to Ferney	—	—	lxx. 582
— Settles at Ferney	—	—	lxx. 582
— His extraordinary influence	—	—	lxx. 582
— Voluntary motion , accounted for	—	—	vi. 55
Velux , curious account of the propagation of that animalcule	—	—	lii. 169
Velux Confessor , singular history of	—	—	lii. 172
Volvulus , or Intus-fusception of the intestine, bold operation for the cure of	—	—	xxxix. 252
Vomit , account of the black	—	—	iv. 252
— Cautions against	—	—	v. 502
— When useful	—	—	v. 502
— The use of, for lengthening life	—	—	vii. 314
— In what cases this evacuation may be prescribed	—	—	viii. 381
— Use of, in the small-pox	—	—	x. 125
— On an extraordinary case of, on tapping	—	—	xxvii. 99
— Medical consultation on a case of	—	—	xlx. 412
Vertigern and Rowena , account of a print of	—	—	vii. 280
			Vertigern ,

W A L

547

Vortigern, king of Great Britain, his meeting with the princess Rowena, poetically described	—	li. 53
Vosmaer, M. letter to the Reviewers	—	lix. 559
Vossius, his opinion that verse was not used before prose, controverted	—	xxix. 10
Voyages, sea journals too full of hard words	—	iv. 63
— and travels, the effect of, on the mind	—	vii. 374
— Hirst's from Madeira to Madagascar	—	xlvi. 36
— Diseases peculiar to long ones	—	xlix. 173
— Of the Endeavour round the world	xlix.	472, 498
— Of Russian navigators on discovery, N. E. in the Russian seas	—	lxiii. 1
— Abridgment of the general history of	—	lxiv. 298
Vulcan, described as a blacksmith	—	xxxviii. 143
Vulgar, not competent judges of eloquence nor of the fine arts	—	xlvi. 674
Vultures, of a prodigious size, where found	—	lix. 45

W

Wade, Dr. his account of a preternatural fatness	—	xxxviii. 434
Wadman, Mrs. courted by Uncle Toby	—	xxxvi. 96
Wag, a vulgar character	—	lii. 109
Wager, store ship, account of the loss of, and the diseases of the crew	—	xxxix. 319
Wagers, the impropriety of deciding them in a court of justice	—	xxii. 272
Waggon, account of a new invented	—	xxx. 491
Wagner, M. undertakes the delineation of the Alps and icy mountains of Switzerland	—	lxx. 598
Wake, Archbishop, vindication of his correspondence with the doctors of the Sorbonne	—	xli. 163
Wakefield Mr. his verses on the birth of the prince of Wales	—	xxviii. 27
Wakes and fairs, origin of	—	liii. 238
Walachia, memoirs of	—	lxi. 304
Waldemar, III. king of Denmark, his extraordinary qualities	—	l. 427
Wales, the Britons obliged to retire thither, whence it became the seat of learning	—	xv. 572
— Specimen of the poetry of	—	xxxi. 23
— Illegality of presenting to livings those who are ignorant of the language	—	xxxviii. 67
— Situation and circumstances described	—	xxxviii. 67
— Account of the edition of the Bible, in the Welsh language	—	xxxviii. 326
— Language of, its affinity with the Greek	—	xli. 191
— Its connection with other languages, considered	—	xli. 191
— Study of, recommended	—	xli. 193

Wales , account of the castles erected in	—	xlili. 358
— Animosity of the Welsh to the Anglo-Saxons	—	l. 198
— Their ancient connections with Armorica	—	l. 296
— With Cornwall	—	l. 296
— Account of a new sect of methodists there	—	lv. 165
— Specimen of their poetry, translated	—	lv. 432
— Antiquities found in	—	lx. 33
— Ancient musical establishments in	—	lx. 35
— Roman antiquities in	—	lxii. 107
— Fine specimen of the poetry of, translated	—	lxvii. 271
Wales , New South , discoveries at	—	xliv. 494
Wales , Frederick prince of , his character	—	xxix. 210
Wales , George Prince of , Louch's poem on his birth	—	xxviii. 27
Wales , Mr. his observations made in a voyage to Hudson's Bay	—	xlvi. 184
— His observations on Hadley's Sextants, in a voyage to the South Pole	—	lviii. 9
— On the azimuth compasses for observing the variation	—	lviii. 10
— His refutation of several particulars, asserted in Forster's account of Cook's voyage	—	lviii. 127
— His hints relative to the use of logarithmic sines, tangents, &c. in the numerical resolution of affected equations	—	lxvii. 445
Walker , Dr. case of his removal from, and restoration to, his fellowship of Magdalen college	—	xliv. 491
Walker , Mr. his assassination at Montreal	—	xxxix. 484
Wall , best position of, for resisting any force	—	xi. 495
— Not friendly to peas and beans sown under them	—	xxxiii. 344
— Espaliers preferred to them for fruit-trees	—	xxxiii. 345
— An excellent covering for, recommended	—	xliv. 479
Wallace , Mr. his sentiments on population	—	xlvi. 82
Waller , a gold and silver wire drawer, his appeal to the nobility and gentry	—	xii. 392
Waller , Edmund , his character	—	xxi. 31
— His speech concerning polygamy	—	xxviii. 194
— On the mal-administration of public affairs	—	xxviii. 420
— His conduct censured	—	xl. 354
— His failure in sacred poetry, accounted for	—	lxi. 8
— General character of his poetry	—	lxi. 9
Wallis , Dr. his censure of the Athanasian creed	—	xi. 257
Wallis , Capt. his voyage to the southern hemisphere	—	xliv. 289
— His account of the Patagonians	—	xliv. 290
— Arrives at Otaheite	—	xliv. 294
— His account of the inhabitants of that island	—	xliv. 296
— Particular attention paid to him by Obeera	—	xliv. 298
— Proceeds to Batavia	—	xliv. 302
— Returns to England	—	xliv. 304
Walmsley , Mr. his letters to Mr. Colson in favour of Garrick	—	lxiii. 208
Walpole , Lord , writes to Bishop Secker, against the scheme of sending bishops to America	—	xli. 220
		Walpole ,

Walpole, Mr. author of the pretended letter from the king of Prussia to M. Rousseau	—	—	xxxv. 401
— His treatment of M. Rousseau, censured	—	—	xxxv. 469
— Author of the castle of Otranto	—	—	xxxii. 394
— His writings commended	—	—	xix. 569
Walpole, Sir Robert , character of	—	—	xiv. 106
— Opposition to him, a sort of conspiracy	—	—	xiv. 168
— Justification of	—	—	xiv. 169
— Whether opposition against all his measures was justifiable or not	—	—	xviii. 297
— Praised	—	—	xix. 566
— Censured as an enemy to his country	—	—	xix. 566
— His just idea with regard to the trade of Ireland	—	—	xxxvii. 278
— His expulsion from the House of Commons, canvassed	—	—	xli. 461
— The grand corrupter of the British state	—	—	lix. 128
— His supposed dialogue with Mr. Pelham on his system of parliamentary corruption	—	—	lxii. 454
Walsh, Mr. character of, as a writer	—	—	xv. 61
— Pope's obligations and gratitude to	—	—	xv. 61
Walstein, General , particulars of his assassination	—	—	xx. 514
Waltherus , the first astronomer who used clocks for the measuring of time	—	—	lx. 529
Walton , a poet in the reign of Henry IV. some account of	—	—	lix. 135
Wampum belts , described	—	—	xxxiv. 17
Wans in timber, what	—	—	xi. 43
Wanton, Henry , his adventures, an imitation of Swift's Gulliver	—	—	xlvii. 503
Wapping Schoolmaster , characterized	—	—	iii. 20
Wars , forty in Europe since 1600	—	—	xiv. 104
— Only one in Great Tartary, China, and the Indies during the same space	—	—	xiv. 104
— Events of, not so much beyond the reach of human foresight as is imagined	—	—	xv. 658
— With France, hints for the proper carrying on	—	—	xvi. 349
— Defined	—	—	xx. 387
— Its laws debated	—	—	xx. 388
— Between two nations, how to be regarded by a third to whom they may both be allies	—	—	xx. 393
— Whether things dedicated to religion ought to be exempt from plunder	—	—	xx. 393
— Captures at sea taken by a private ship having no commission, to whom the booty belongs	—	—	xx. 396
— Critical questions in	—	—	xx. 397
— An ode to war, from the French	—	—	xxii. 502
— Whether insidious and treacherous actions are justifiable in it	—	—	xxiii. 109
— Generosity in warfare enforced by example	—	—	xxiii. 113
— A detail of its miseries	—	—	xxiv. 149

- War*, more calamitous in modern than in ancient times xxiv. 151
- Reflections on — — — xxv. 281
- The art of, claims the first place among the sciences xxv. 281
- With France, the causes of commencing it stated xxv. 369
- In its own nature no less absurd than cruel xxviii. 213
- Its horrors ought to be mitigated by generosity and compassion xxviii. 253
- In what manner useful to mankind xxviii. 530
- Laws of, their existence denied — — xli. 127
- Art of, remarks on — — — xliv. 355
- Want of a school for, lamented — — — xliv. 356
- Duty of a partizan — — — xliv. 357
- Warm and laudable invective against — — liii. 574
- Considered as a science — — — lxiv. 553
- Every kind of, productive of misery to mankind, and even to the victorious — — — lxvii. 286
- War, god of*, poetically described — — — xxxi. 299
- His attendants — — — xxxi. 299
- Warbeck, Perkin*, the true Duke of York xxxviii. 124
- Warburton, Mr.* his supposed harsh treatment by Mr. Mallet i. 238
- Grossly attacked by an anonymous author — — — iii. 12
- Argument of the divine legation defended v. 93, 151
- His censure of Cooper — — — v. 468
- Cooper's answer — — — v. 469
- Remark on a passage in Aristotle — — — v. 470
- Perversion of Pope's character of Foster v. 473
- Remarks on his edition of Pope's works v. 466
- Verses on his edition of Pope's works v. 522
- His argument for the introduction of christianity inconsistent with the truth of the scriptures — — — vi. 57
- Anecdote concerning him and Lord Bolingbroke xiii. 124
- Divine legation praised — — — xv. 112
- A very severe character of him — — — xx. 495
- His sentiments on the dispersion of the Jews, controverted — — — xxi. 222
- His attack on the Bishop of Winchester, censured xxiv. 357
- Noble sentiments of his, in regard to religious persecution — — — xxix. 132
- Story of the misunderstanding between him and Sir Thomas Hanmer — — — xxx. 252
- Churchill's satirical character of him — — — xxxii. 101
- His notion of the first literary hieroglyphic writing xxxii. 129
- Controverses Voltaire's account of the Jews xxxiii. 131
- Defends Josephus — — — xxxiii. 135
- His remarks on the sleep of the soul — — — xxxiii. 141
- On Dr. Lowth — — — xxxiii. 176
- In what sense a persecutor — — — xxxiii. 179
- His edition of Shakespeare — — — xxxiii. 368
- Attacked by Dr. Lowth — — — xxxiii. 390
- Warburton,*

W A R

551

- Warburton, Bp. of Gloucester*, attacked by Dr. B. Dawson xxxii. 412
- His contradictory reference to Judge Hales xxxiv. 93
 - Arguments for the parliamentary peerage of bishops xxxiv. 94
 - Reflection on Dr. Kennicott's design of collating the Hebrew MSS. answered — — xxxiv. 301
 - Repentment of his being compared with Father Hardouin, ridiculed — — xxxiv. 369
 - Droll construction of a passage in his sermon relating to the colonies — — xxxv. 408
 - Humorous explication of his secret intentions in writing the Divine Legation — — xxxv. 424
 - Severely reflected upon, by Voltaire — xxxvii. 500
 - His notes on Pope's Essay on Man, invalidated xlii. 412
 - His institution of an annual lecture on the completion of scripture prophecies — — xlv. 393
 - Account of an original letter of his, to Concanen lxiii. 255
 - Ashamed of his connections with Mr. Pope's enemies lxiii. 266
 - Sketch of his literary character — lxv. 358
 - Biographical anecdotes of — — lxvii. 323
 - His first publication — — lxvii. 328
 - His second, and all his subsequent works lxvii. 329, 335
 - His epitaph — — lxvii. 336
 - His conduct as dictator in literature, severely arraigned lxvii. 433
 - Deficiencies as a critic, pointed out — lxvii. 434
 - Account of — — lxviii. 149
- Warburton, Miss*, verses to — — lxii. 130
- Ward, Dr.* the recipes of his medicines published by Mr. Page xxviii. 488
- Made use of æther in the cure of the head-ach xxvii. 101
- Ward's hypothesis* to find the places of the planets by xvii. 344
- Warkworth hermitage*, described — — lii. 234
- Warner, Mr.* a plan of his glossary to Shakespeare xxxviii. 354
- Warner, Dr.* his account of the glandulæ ciliares, and their diseases l. 47
- Warrants, general*, from a secretary of state for seizing persons and papers, arguments relating to — — xxxi. 143
- Illegality or — — xxxi. 458
- Warrior*, in his domestic enjoyments, poetically depicted by the King of Prussia — — lxv. 286
- Warsaw*, magnificence of the royal palace there xlvii. 37
- University of, invites the learned by premiums to compile elementary books on the several branches of science lv. 392
- Warts on trees*, supposed to be insects — — vii. 62
- Watson, Thomas*, his alleged instances of Milton's plagiarism and imitation, considered — — xi. 114, 122
- His intimate acquaintance with our ancient poets xi. 120
 - His qualifications for criticisms on Spencer — xi. 122
 - His poem on the birth of the Prince of Wales xxviii. 23
 - His plan of a new edition of Theocritus — xliii. 2
 - His dissertation on the bucolic poetry of the ancients, xliii. 81

Warton, Thomas , his valuable notes on Theocritus	xlifi.	230
— His excellent verses on Sir Joshua Reynolds's painted window in New Col. Oxon.	—	—
Warwick, Sir Philip , the design of his memoirs	—	lxvii. 307
Washington, General , complimentary verses to	—	x. 178
— Memoirs of, where to be found	—	lxii. 389
Wasps , observations on the American wasps nests	—	lxii. 390
— Curious account of	—	xv. 373
Watches for the pocket , that go continually without the necessity of winding up	—	xxxix. 208
Watch-making , M. Le Roy's new-invented fuzee	—	—
— Le Cerf's improvements in	—	lxiii. 499
— On the invention of the pendulum spring	—	xxxviii. 154
Water , the first principle of all things	—	lxii. 44, 176
— Full of sparry matter	—	lxiii. 198
— Account of	—	ii. 50
— Essay on the external use of	—	ii. 473
— Fresh, how to preserve it sweet	—	v. 229
— Methods of distinguishing between hard and soft	—	vi. 400
— Hard, how to make soft	—	xiii. 310
— Soft, how to make hard	—	xiv. 431
— Hardness, cause of	—	xiv. 431
— Hard, remarkably antiseptic	—	xiv. 432
— An improvement in distilling sea water	—	xiv. 432
— Easy method of making fresh and good	—	xiv. 433
— Considerations necessary to the conveyance of	—	xiv. 446
— Method of freshening sea water	—	xxi. 109
— Its use and effect in vegetation	—	xxi. 116
— Franklin's experiments on the properties of	—	xxvii. 445
— Experiments on pump water	—	xxxv. 385
— How to sweeten by ventilation	—	xl. 60
— Analysis of Tyne-water	—	xi. 229
— Curious hydrostatical phenomena of water	—	xli. 221
— Nature and elementary principles of	—	xliv. 518
— Transmutation of, into earth	—	xlv. 515
— Method of obtaining it fresh at sea	—	l. 544
— Whitehurst's machine for raising it by its momentum	—	li. 130
— In Italy, of a very extraordinary petrifying quality	—	lv. 123
— Produces a valuable factitious alabaster	—	lv. 391
— Casts of figures in basso relievo made of it	—	lv. 391
— Water not an element, but melted ice	—	lv. 391
— Observations on the evaporation of	—	lv. 523
— Wonderful sagacity of discovering it under ground	—	lviii. 5
— Method of preserving it, at sea	—	lix. 273
— The customary drinking of, favourable to morality	—	lxv. 368
— In what respects conducive to health	—	lxvi. 28
— Bleton's faculty of discovering springs	—	lxvi. 28
Water, medicinal , humorous account of those called l'acqua acetosa, near Rome, and of the company there	—	lxvii. 554
	—	iii. 348

Water, medicinal , for sprinkling trees and plants, and steeping their roots, the preparation of	x.	325
— Method of making an artificial chalybeate	xiv.	460
— Epsom and Cheltenham, what difference between	xv.	206
— Tunbridge, contents of	xv.	206
— Aix la Chapelle, and Bath, the contents of, not alike	xv.	207
— Bristol, in what dissimilar from Bath	xv.	207
— Queries for the examination of mineral	xvii.	99
— General contents of	xvii.	101
— Bath, contents of	xvii.	164
— Cold, ill effects of drinking when people are over-heated	xxxiii.	49
— Mineral, their impregnations	xlili.	431
— Bath waters, contents of, chemically ascertained	xlili.	432
— Preparation of an artificial sort	xlili.	434
— Waters, chalybeate, &c. discoveries tending to the production of excellent artificial ones	xliv.	323, 326
— Discoveries relating to its impregnation with fixed air	xlvi.	227
— Mineral, of France, inquiries into the disorders cured by	liii.	432
— Method of impregnating it, with fixed air	liv.	24
— Rules, &c. for the analysis of	lxiii.	73
Water philosophy , whence once boiling, its degree of heat not to be increased	ix.	366
— Experiments relating to its compressibility	xxix.	142—lxviii.
— Freezes the sooner after boiling	liv.	31
— Account of airs extracted from different kinds of	lxiii.	375
— Experiments to ascertain the quantity of, evaporated from the earth in hot weather	lxviii.	345
— Essays on the degrees of heat in which water begins to part with its air, and in which it boils	lxviii.	347
— Account of a singular kind of water which fell in a shower	lxviii.	381
Water-glasses , the indelicate use of, after dinner, exposed	xxxiv.	422
Watery ordeal , remarks on	liv.	516
Waterford , history of the county of	v.	257
Watkinson's letter to the Reviewers	xxii.	556
Watson, Mr. his account of a Roman station in Derbyshire	liii.	496
— His account of some antiquities in Cheshire, &c.	lxii.	109
Watson, Rev. Mr. his remarks on the effects of cold	xlvi.	221
— His reasoning controverted	xlvi.	222
Watson, William , his account of the Flora Sibirica	xi.	215
— Of the Abbé Nollet's book on electricity	xi.	220
— His account of a cicuta	xxvii.	329
— Of a foreign treatise on the congelation of mercury	xxvii.	331
— Of Abbé Nollet's electricity	xxvii.	425
— His suggestions towards preventing the mischief which happens to ships by lightning	xxix.	142
— His account of the catarrhal disorder in London in 1762, and of a subsequent dysentery	xxix.	147

Watson,

- Watson, William*, his account of a curious vegetable fly xxxi. 210
 — His observations on a remarkable cure by electricity xxxi. 214
 — His account of certain preternatural appearances on opening the body of an asthmatic person — xxxiv. 63
 — On the effects of magnesia in vomiting — xxxviii. 444
 — His description of the lymphatics of the urethra and neck of the bladder — xlii. 213
 — His observations on the hydrocephalus internus xlv. 450
 — His account of the putrid measles — xlv. 453
 — His account of a supposed hydrocephalus internus xlvi. 45
 — Thermometrical experiments by — l. 481
 — His experiments on lead ore — lxii. 48
Watson, Bishop, controversy with, relative to his political sentiments lxiii. 146
 — Recommends from the pulpit the culture of oriental literature lxiii. 371
 — His proposal for an institution at Cambridge for translating oriental MSS. ridiculed — lxiii. 393
Watts, Dr. Isaac, his aversion to publishing his epistolary correspondence — x. 94
 — His great character and talents — x. 95, 96
 — The dates and subjects of his writings — x. 96, 100
 — Memoirs of — lxi. 426
 — His posthumous poetry, and controversial writing, censured lxi. 429
 — Anecdotes relative to — lxiii. 267, 273
 — Less orthodox in his latter than in his earlier years lxvi. 170
Wax, the Chinese method of procuring it — xx. 42
 — A new invention of, for painters — liii. 531
 — How used in painting — lxv. 94
 — Composition for, how prepared — lxv. 94
Way to keep him, story of that comedy — xxii. 141
 — Song out of — xxii. 144
Weaknesses, feminal and uterine, Bristol water good for ii. 462
Wealth, exorbitant, its effects on manners and principles xvi. 440
 — National, sources of, investigated — liv. 300, 455
 — Different progress of, in different nations — liv. 461
 — National, nature and causes of, discussed — lv. 16, 81
Weaning, precepts relating to, poetically inculcated liii. 198
Weather, religious reflections on the changes of — xxiii. 70
 — Account of, in Cornwall — xxx. 211
 — Remarkably mild in the west of England, when the rest of the island underwent a severe frost in 1762 — xxxi. 211
 — In Ireland, chronological history of — xlii. 346
Weavers and Clothiers in Gloucestershire, a detail of the contentions among them — xvi. 349
Webb, John his zeal against the title of bishops — x. 424
 — Proposal and letters to the quakers — x. 424
Weaderturn, Mr. his pleadings before the Lords on copy right of authors — h. 205
Wedgwood,

- Widgwood, Mr.* the great improver of the English pottery
xlii. 267—xlvi. 497
- His ingenious invention of a thermometer for measuring the higher degrees of heat — — — lxix. 386
- Wieds*, their prodigious plenty in some fresh grounds accounted for xviii. 422
- Most effectual method of destroying them in farmers grounds
xxx. 97
- Remarks on — — — xxxi. 99
- Best method of cleaning ground from — — — lviii. 47
- Weguelin, M.* his memoir concerning the philosophy of history lxi. 514
- His remarks on Tacitus — — — lxviii. 162
- On the biography of Plutarch — — — lxviii. 163
- Weights*, English, an account of — — — iv. 119
- and measures, memoirs on — — — xxxii. 519
- Proportion of, in different countries — — — xlv. 612
- Wells*, extraordinary ruins of, found in the Highlands of Scotland
lix. 462
- Wells, Mr.* his certificate in favour of Mr. Thomson's proposed frigate — — — lxvi. 456
- Weni*, treatise on — — — liii. 505
- Wensley Dale*, described — — — xlvii. 115
- Wentworth, Lord*, his letter on the enormous increase of office fees
xxxviii. 394
- Wentworth, Peter*, his free assertions of parliamentary liberty in Queen Elizabeth's reign — — — xx. 405
- Wentworth Castle*, described — — — xlii. 258
- Wentworth House* — — — xlii. 259
- Wesley, John*, accused of uncharitably dispensing God's judgments
i. 335
- Quarrels with Mr. Whitfield — — — i. 336
- His opinion of the Moravians — — — i. 336
- Called by them a child of the devil — — — i. 337
- His latitudinarian principles — — — iv. 33
- Heads of the dispute between him and Thomson on the doctrine of assurance — — — xxiii. 172
- Attacked by the Bishop of Gloucester — — — xxvii. 370
- Charged with having laid claim to almost every apostolic gift
— — — xxvii. 404
- His extravagant pretensions — — — xxvii. 405
- Much used to conflicts with the Evil one — — — xxvii. 405
- The Devil at length tired out — — — xxvii. 406
- Inconsistency in his notions of impoted righteousness xxxv. 166
- Opposes the doctrine of predestination — — — xxxvii. 317
- His religious zeal discussed — — — xlv. 73
- His letter to the Reviewers on the negro trade — — — li. 488
- Sharply assailed by an Irish Roman Catholic — — — lxiv. 237
- West, Mr.* mistaken in his censure of Mercator's chart — — — xxxi. 420
- West, Mr.* the friend of Mr. Gray, account of — — — lii. 378
- Letter to him from the same — — — lii. 378, 385
- West,*

- West, Mr.* the friend of Mr. Gray, sonnet on his death liii. 103
West, Mr. the painter, praised — lix. 284
West, Gilbert, some account of — lxvi. 121
West, Miss Juliet, account of her religious principles, and extraordinary qualifications — xiii. 210
Westminster Abbey, monuments there, defaced — i. 83
Westphalen, a Danish ambassador, some account of him viii. 491
Westphalia, treaty of, including those of Munster and Osnaburg, the basis of the German politics, anathematized by the pope xvii. 130
 — Memoirs relative to the jurisprudence and history of Westphalia lxiii. 141
Whale, poetical description of, imitated from the Psalmist xi. 485
Whale Fishery, encouragement given to it — xii. 94
 — Always a losing trade — xii. 95
 — Proposals for improving it — xii. 96
Wharton, Duke of, Swift's advice to — xi. 73
 — Anecdotes concerning — lviii. 170
Wharton, Marquis of, his life by Dr. Birch — vii. 258
Wharton, Lord, his wager concerning the number of inhabitants in London — xv. 613
Wharton, Sir Thomas, his extraordinary victory over the Scots lviii. 170
Wharton, Mr. his speech on the sovereign's partiality to foreigners xxviii. 419
 — On the mal-administration of public affairs xxviii. 421
What-d'ye-call-it, a farce, by Gay, how received xvii. 585
 — Censured and defended — xvii. 585
Whately, Miss, her ode to May xxx. 446
 — Elegy — xxx. 447
 — Rural happiness — xxx. 448
 — Pleasure of contemplation — xxx. 449
 — On the vanity of external accomplishments — xxx. 449
 — To Mrs. Langhorne — xxx. 450
Wheat, flour of, used in making salt — ii. 171
 — of Smyrna, curious observations on — xxxviii. 586
Wheat, culture of. See Husbandry.
Wheels, new invention of, for spinning cotton xlvii. 197
 — On the teeth of — lxix. 542
Wheel-carriages, illustration of the advantages and disadvantages attending different constructions of them — xxii. 488
 — Observations on the nature and œconomy of — xlviii. 3
 — On the various schemes for improving — xlviii. 5
Whetbamsted, a learned Abbot of St. Albans, some account of lix. 136
Whey, four, a secret in making salt — ii. 171
Whitchcote, Dr. Benjamin, his life — xxviii. 37
 — Bishop Burnet's character of him — xxviii. 39
 — Account of his works — xxviii. 39
 — Lord Shaftsbury's preface to them at large xxviii. 40
Whiz,

Whig , several pretenders do not deserve that character	x.	296
— Definition of a moderate	xii.	393
— and Tory, such denominations despicable	xxvii.	18
— Zealous, a slave to liberty	xxvii.	429
— Factions revived	xxvii.	469
— Noble declaration of a Whig in favour of freedom	xxvii.	470
Whigs of King William's time , their character and conduct	lviii.	117
— Their principles totally corrupted	lviii.	119
Whip used in the East Indies to enforce the payment of taxes	lxix.	514
Whirlwind , a remarkable one described	iv.	148
— Account of various species of, in ancient times	iv.	152
Whirlpools , the mouths of caverns through which the sea circulates	xvii.	142
Whiston, Mr. William , his bold integrity commended	i.	293
— His account of his brother Daniel	i.	294
— His motive for writing memoirs of himself	i.	294
— How he remedied the weakness of his eyes when young	i.	338
— Becomes chaplain to Bishop Moore	i.	339
— Instance of his resolution with regard to the Eusebian doctrine	i.	343
— His letter to Archbishop Herring	i.	349
— Turned out of his professorship for heresy, and an infidel appointed to succeed him	xxxi.	489
— The first mover of the act of parliament for the discovery of the longitude	liii.	321
— Projects the discovery himself, by means of bombs	liii.	321
— Anecdotes relative	lxviii.	147
Whitaker, Rev. Mr. some account of his death	xliv.	82
Whitaker, Mr. his inquiries into the ancient history of the Britons	xlvi.	416
— His hypothesis concerning the first peopling of Ireland, controverted	xlvi.	470
White Boys of Ireland , their origin	lx.	11
— Pleasant story of	lx.	11
Whitefield, George , answers the Bishop of Exeter	i.	281
— Specimen of what he would have future historians say of himself	i.	284
— Condemns himself for reflecting on Tillotson	i.	285
— And for other errors	i.	286
— Followed by the multitude with hosannas	i.	288
— His recantation	i.	323
— His account of God's dealings with him, severely censured	i.	328
— Suspected to be mad	i.	332
— Quarrels with Wesley	i.	336
— Satirically characterised	xxxv.	320
— His religious zeal animadverted on	xliv.	73
— Specimens of his oratorical flourishes	xlvi.	226
		Whitefield,

Whitefield, George , his retractions of his errors	xlvi.	249
Whitelocke, Lord Commissioner , his respectable character	xlvi.	591
— Sent ambassador to Sweden	xlvi.	593
— Arrives at the court of Queen Christina	xlvi.	593
— Ceremonies of his audience	xlvi.	595
— His conversation with Christina, relating to Cromwell	xlvi.	597
— She reveals to him her design of abdicating the crown	xlvi.	598
— His advice to her on that occasion, and pertinent story of an old gentleman	xlvi.	600
— His conversation with the Archbishop of Upsal	xlvi.	14
— His conversation with Queen Christina	xlvi.	16
— Another conversation with her majesty	xlvi.	18
— Account of his return to England, and dangerous voyage	xlvi.	20
White-swallings , account of that disease	xxxv.	457
— Dr. Akenfide's method of treating	xxxix.	34
Whiteway, Mrs. her letter to Mr. Pope, relative to the case of Dean Swift's declining health and understanding	xxxix.	458
Whitworth, Lord , his several embassies	xix.	440
— Accommodates a difference between England and Russia	li.	540
Wizzards , why not admissible on the stage	xxx.	535
Whole duty of man , supposed to have been written by Lady Packington	viii.	130
Wickers, Henry-Lewis , his examination of Grotius	lviii.	488
Wickliffe, John , the reformer, his life and character	xvii.	188
— His life	xxxii.	370
— Attacks the clergy	xxxii.	374
— Supported by John D. of Lancaster	xxxii.	375
— Translates the Bible	xxxii.	381
— Abandoned by the D. of Lancaster	xxxii.	382
— His death	xxxii.	383
Wife , new married, advice to	ii.	358
Wife and no Wife	v.	520
Wife , directions for the choice of a	vii.	144
— The duties of a	vii.	147
— Should be of the religion of her husband	xxviii.	89
— Witty one, a scourge to her husband	xxviii.	94
— Swift's advice in the choice of	xxxiii.	226
— Subjection to the husband necessary	xxxiv.	546
— Folly of grieving for a dead one	xxxv.	101
— Advantages and disadvantages of a plurality of wives	xlvi.	531
Wife of Bath , a comedy, anecdote concerning it	xvii.	580
Wig , histoire des peruques	lix.	319
Wight, Isle of , poetically described	xxiv.	349
Wightman , anecdote relative to the family of	lxix.	370
Wild, Jonathan , Fielding's own account of the plan of that novel	xxvi.	489
Wild-cabbage tree , the anthelmintic virtues of	xv.	392
Wild girl , found in the forest of the Pyrenees	lvii.	540
Wild man , discovered in ditto	lvii.	540
Wilding, Jack , story of	xxxv.	347

- Wilfrid, Bishop of York*, his grandeur — xv. 579
 — His character — xv. 582
Wilfulness in children, what owing to — ii. 378
Wilkes, John, his power of action not impaired by age xiii. 8
 — Satirically represented — xxxiv. 323
 — His account of his application to the D. of Grafton xxxvi. 405
 — His apology — xxxvi. 406
 — Deficient in the requisites of an historian xxxviii. 469
 — Animadversions on his conduct as a patriot xxxviii. 509
 — A member of the Eleusinian Society at Mendham Abbey xli. 374
 — His character of Mr. Pitt — xli. 375
 — His defence of Churchill's attack on Mr. Pope xli. 378
 — Account of his quarrel with Hogarth — xli. 380
 — His apology for his person — xli. 381
 — Foretold in the Revelations — l. 346
 — His excellent speech for a reformation of the British Museum lvii. 338
 — Description of the silver cup presented to him by the city of London — lvii. 342
 — His character of the Earl of Abington — lvii. 345
 — His character satirically sketched — lxvi. 132
Wilkins, Mr. his skill and industry in furnishing types for printing (at Calcutta) books in the Bengal language lxx. 369
Will, whether the testimony of a legatee can be admitted xv. 12
 — and administrations, proposal for a general repository for xxx. 440
 — Mahometan law relating to legacies — xxxiv. 261
Willes, Judge, his opinion relative to literary property li. 83, 206
William the Conqueror, his character — xvi. 6
 — His treatment of the English — xix. 458
 — Falsely so called, and the derivation of that surname xxii. 37
 — His conquest, an epocha in the English history xxii. 37
 — Careless of the papal authority — xxiv. 370
 — His character by Mr. Hume — xxv. 406
 — His title to the epithet, Conqueror, debated xxv. 457
 — His claim to the crown of England, and competition with Harold, stated — xxxvii. 136
 — Curious piece of needle-work relating to xxxvii. 195
 — His policy and manner of government xxxvii. 282, 285
 — Inhuman severity of his forest laws xxxvii. 282, 285
 — Horrid effects of the waste and devastation made by him in the northern counties — xxxvii. 283
 — Unites the Norman customs with the Saxon laws xxxvii. 284
 — Exalts the ecclesiastical power — xxxvii. 285
William, Rufus, his mixed and ambiguous character xxxvii. 286, 288
William III. Alberoni's notion of him and his administration ix. 388
 — The opposition against him, highly advantageous to this country xxxii. 64
William

- William III.* his character — xxxvi. 548—liv. 39
 — Remarks on his character — xlv. 40
 — Said to have privately agreed to leave his crown to the Pretender — liii. 121
 — Remarks on that supposed negotiation — liii. 124
 — His character and policy scrutinized — lviii. 120
 — His letter to Lord Sunderland — lix. 163
William, the silent Prince of Orange, characterized xvii. 323
 — Assassinated — xvii. 327
William, Count of Holland, and King of the Romans, account of lxix. 548
William and Margaret, a passage in that ballad, criticized xl. 307
Williams, Bishop, his opinion of the true intent of subscription xi. 379
Williams, Dr. some account of his writings — lviii. 250
Williams, Mr. his speech on the royal prerogative xxviii. 258
 — On a breach of parliamentary privilege — xxviii. 260
Williams, George, a livery servant, some account of xxxi. 149
 — His notable queries concerning the Trinity xxxi. 150
 — Some account of — xxxiv. 86
Williams, Sir William, his speech on King James's abdication xxxviii. 411
Willoughby, Sir Hugh, his voyage on discovery to the N. E. lii. 121
Willow, great profit of planting the sound-growing Norfolk willow xxii. 525
 — Bark of, cures the ague — xxxi. 215
Wilmer, Mr. on dividing the aponeurosis of the biceps muscle in a painful lacerated wound — xlvi. 45
Wilson, Bishop, memoirs of his life — lxiv. 13
 — Remarkable epocha in his history — lxiv. 15
 — Character of his writings — lxiv. 16
Wilson, the painter, his peculiar merit — lix. 285
Wilton, critical observations on some of the statutes and busts there li. 34
Winander-mere, described — xlii. 266
Winchester College, its foundation, &c. — xix. 58
Winds, method for measuring the velocity of xxxvii. 442
 — Their insalutary effect on the air — xli. 352
 — In what respect said to be instrumental in spreading pestilential disorders — xli. 354
 — Account of a singular African wind — lxvi. 365
Wind-bells, a curious invention to prevent drowning xxx. 402
Wind-gage, a portable one described — liv. 452
Windbank, Secretary, letters from, to Charles L. — l. 2
 — Specimens of his correspondence — l. 23
Window at New Col. Oxon. painted by Reynolds, excellent verses on — lxvii. 307
Window-tax, a feeling argument against it — xviii. 485
Windsor, its castle, built by William the Conqueror i. 252
Windsor,

- Windsor*, town of, described — i. 252
 — History of the Poor Knights of — i. 255
Wine, how much produced in Minorca — vii. 209
 — None made in China — x. 200
 — Sold by apothecaries as a cordial, about the fourteenth century
 xii. 463
 — An account of the principal wines drank in Europe xxi. 477
 — Chemical analysis of — xxi. 480
 — Observations on the making of — xxxiii. 351
 — Productive of the gout — xlv. 128
 — Its effects on digestion, considered — xlvii. 68
 — Hurtful in the dining-room — xlvii. 69
 — Salutary after supper — xlvii. 69
 — Whether anciently produced in England — liii. 415
 — of the ancients, observations on — lv. 148
 — Experiments on the nature of — lix. 517
 — Sugar, the only substance in nature which produces wine
 lix. 517
Wine-cooper, qualifications for — xxiv. 71
 — Honest and dishonest part of the business — xxiv. 71
 — Apprentices fee, and journeymen's wages — xxiv. 71
Winefrade's Well, description of — lx. 98
 — Qualities of the water — lx. 195
Winklemann, Abbé, his opinion of a supposed antique bust at Turin
 xxix. 35
 — His history of the fine arts, with his last improvements lv. 470
 — His letters to his friends — lvii. 307
 — Heine's eulogy on — lxi. 223
 — Anecdotes relative to his life and character — lxvi. 377
 — Account of his unfortunate death by assassination lxvi. 381
 — Farther account of — lxvi. 518
 — His familiar letters — lxvi. 518
Winter Evening's Companion — v. 518
Winter, poetically described — xlv. 235
Wintrop, Mr. his letter to Mr. Short — xxxiv. 225
Wintringham, Dr. his recommendation of camphor in maniacal cases — xlviii. 496
Wire-drawing a thought, the French writers great offenders in that way — xv. 131, note.
Wirsing, M. his intended series of prints of every species of marble, with the proper colours, &c. — lv. 309
Wisdom, human, depreciatory declamation on — xxv. 420
 — Poetically personified — xxx. 235
 — Behaviour of, in the House of Commons — xlii. 137
Witches, courts of justice established for the discovery and punishment of, in France — vii. 119
 — Burnt in that country — vii. 120
 — Why unnatural and absurd on the stage — xxx. 535
 — Burnt at Wurtzburg, and at Geneva xxxvi. 299
 — Account of the watery ordeal for the trial of liv. 516
 Vol. II. O o Wit,

Wit, Insel and Sterling	—	—	iii. 108
— An essay on the affectation of it	—	—	xviii. 581
— Adventures of, in a journey from Cornwall to Derbyshire	—	—	xlii. 138
— Sketch of that kind of wit which was current in the thirteenth century	—	—	xlii. 438
Witkind, the Great , some account of	—	—	xviii. 397
Witnesses , remarks on the credibility of	—	—	xliv. 340
Wittenagemot, the Saxon , reflections on	—	—	xxv. 403
Wood , curious observations on an insect found on the leaves of, after they have been bruised, and become putrid	—	—	xi. 557
Woffington, Mrs. her humanity commemorated	—	—	xxii. 514
Woids, Mr. his account of a curious Palmyrene coin	—	—	lxx. 267
Wolf's-bane , its medicinal use	—	—	xxviii. 457
Wolf in sheep's clothing	—	—	liv. 440
Wolfe, General , eulogium on	—	—	xiv. 434
Wolfsbuttle, Princess of , her extraordinary story	—	—	lviii. 382
Wolf, Baron , wonderfully voluminous in his writings	—	—	xlvi. 588
Woblgemuth, Mich. supposed to have invented the art of etching	—	—	xlii. 367
Wolsey, Cardinal , some account of	—	—	xvi. 579
— Mr. Grove's zeal for his memory	—	—	xix. 204
— Articles of his impeachment	—	—	xxxvi. 4
— His extraordinary character, and vast ambition	—	—	xli. 10
Woman's milk , its properties	—	—	ii. 308
Women , peccadilloes of, the life of their conversation	—	—	ii. 435
— Strongest passions, what	—	—	ii. 435
— Their modesty highly praised	—	—	ii. 436
— Have no infancy	—	—	ii. 436
— Virtuous, the best company for a man of gallantry	—	—	ii. 436
— Virtue of, how extensive	—	—	ii. 449
— Their wit to be restrained	—	—	ii. 436, 550
— Whole duty of, an introduction to it	—	—	ii. 488
— Their wit commended	—	—	iv. 307
— Write their mind in the postscript	—	—	iv. 54
— In Peru, their rich dress	—	—	ix. 298
— Their custom of chewing tobacco	—	—	ix. 298
— Music, dancing, &c.	—	—	ix. 298
— Any offence offered to their modesty, severely punished by Pope Sixtus V.	—	—	xi. 285
— Advantages arising from conversing with them	—	—	xiii. 51
— Their influence in matters of state	—	—	xiv. 305
— Whether more women than men born in the East?	—	—	xv. 280
— Tyrannically used	—	—	xvi. 371
— Should be allowed to chuse their own husbands, and for a limited time	—	—	xvi. 371
— Rise, during the civil war, in the reign of Charles I. and petition parliament for peace	—	—	xvii. 504
— Why not in general equal to philosophical studies	—	—	xviii. 588
— Caracalla, Emp. assumes the female character	—	—	xxiv. 137

Women, their education should be different from that of the men

- Too tenderly treated in youth — xxviii. 85
- Dependence, their natural state — xxviii. 86
- Should be always employed — xxviii. 87
- Incapable of forming systematic notions of religion xxviii. 89
- The promiscuous use of, condemned — xxviii. 504
- In Turkey, particulars concerning their marriages, &c. xxix. 57
- Their zeal for child-bearing, and remarkable fertility xxix. 58
- Young, advised to learn geography, rather than study romances xxxii. 396
- Pregnant, supposed force of imagination in, denied xxxiii. 34
- Their due subjection to their husbands, maintained xxxiii. 491
- Exception to this doctrine in particular cases xxxiii. 491
- At what age permitted to breed in Formosa xxxiii. 510
- Defects in their education — xxxiv. 455
- In their dress — xxxiv. 458, 462
- Scrupulosity in the choice of their companions recommended xxxiv. 464
- Advice to, relating to their connection with their own sex xxxv. 10
- Directed in the choice of conversation — xxxv. 12
- Cautioned against being too witty — xxxv. 14
- and against gaming — xxxv. 18
- Their longing, when pregnant, and its supposed effects, exploded — xxxviii. 94
- Means to prevent their miscarriages — xxxviii. 95
- Nursing their own children, recommended xxxviii. 95
- Their pretensions to literature attacked and defended xli. 305
- In Persia, their remarkable modesty — xli. 160
- Their equality with the men, in the ancient northern nations of Europe — xli. 184
- Roman, panegyric on — xlvii. 523
- Their extraordinary attainments in science, &c. about the time of the Croisades — xlvii. 523
- Question of their equality of genius with the men, discussed xlvii. 524
- The women of ancient Greece, defended against Montesquieu xlvii. 530
- Remarkable fidelity of a Roman lady; with her heroic answer to Vespasian — xli. 530
- Their preference of coxcombs — xlix. 532
- Depreciating character of — l. 361
- Their great influence under the Gothic constitutions l. 417
- Their natural right to a learned education asserted li. 388
- A woman accidentally burnt to death, supposed to have been rendered inflammable by her excessive use of spirituous liquors lii. 334
- Physically and morally considered — liv. 394

Women, whether more fruitful in ancient than in modern times

	lv. 491
— Peculiarly favoured by the laws of England	lvii. 351
— Case of one who lived several years without food	lviii. 7
— The condition of, among the ancient Greeks	lviii. 278
— Of one who had swallowed a wooden peg	lviii. 459
— Of another, from whom were extracted a great number of needles	lviii. 517
— History of one who bore a child in the abdomen during twenty years	lviii. 519
— Those of Otaheite, described	lix. 405
— Dress of the women of Nio	lix. 519
— Highly revered by the ancient Germans	lx. 16
— Their cruel vassalage in ancient Greece	lx. 454
— Their rights of inheritance among the Greeks, Arabs, and Romans	lx. 455
— Women of Naxos described	lx. 510
— Of Tenos	lx. 511
— Sketches relating to, in various ages and nations	lxi. 415
— Young, salutary effects of their breath upon old men	lxii. 353
Woburn Abbey , account of the paintings there	xviii. 102
— Gardens of , encomium on	xxxvii. 143
— Sands, described	lxviii. 101
Wood , a preparation for rendering it less combustible	x. 326
— Its structure	xii. 124
— Its strength difficult to be computed; and why	xii. 124
— Young, less strong than old	xii. 125
— Composition for preserving	xxxiv. 177
— Groves, &c. in the grand style of gardening, how to design	xliv. 348
Wood, Anthony , mistakes of his, in his degrading account of the Oxford scholars, and of Sir Thomas More	xliv. 186
Wood-lark , a poem	xvii. 602
Wood, Nicholas , the great eater	lx. 261
Wood, Thomas , account of his astonishing abstemious regimen	xlvi. 262
Wooden crutches , sometimes more durable than poetical compositions	xiv. 577
— Shoes , apology for.	xxxix. 446
Woodward, Catherine , her dangerous case, by taking Gentian that had a poisonous root mixed with it	i. 374
Wool , partiality of the laws of England, in respect to the Irish wool-trade	v. 456
— Complaints of the tar mark	vii. 224
— The fraudulent winding of fleeces	vii. 227
— Quantity of, annually smuggled to Boulogne	xiii. 464
— How managed in Iceland	xviii. 200
— Curious account of the respective value and fineness of that of different countries, and the probable causes of the difference	lviii. 256
	Wool ,

Wool , On the growth and culture of, in different countries	lxiv. 533
— Curious method of judging of its fineness	lxviii. 625
Woolen Manufactory , State of, in Ireland	v. 260
— Manufacture, first advanced by Edward III.	xxiii. 154
Woolaston , a painter, some account of —	xxxvii. 391
Worcester, Marquis of , anecdotes of his life	xix. 559
— His book of scandalings censured —	xix. 559
— Curious letter to Lord Clarendon —	l. 26
— His retirement in Wensley Dale —	lx. 258
Words , obsolete, the use of, censured	iv. 520
— Frequent and remote transposition of them contrary to their grammatical order, inconsistent with the genius of the English language even in verse —	xi. 386
— Rules for arranging of, in regard to sound	xx. 72
— A curious definition of —	xxi. 178
Work-houses , proposals for a new regulation of	xviii. 618
— Proposal for their improvement —	xix. 91
— Proposal for a county —	xxii. 434
— Hints for their improvement —	xlvi. 504
Works , necessary to our salvation —	xxii. 171
— St. Paul's arguments to invalidate them, accounted for	xxiii. 273
— The absurdity of considering them separately from faith	xxiii. 355
— Mr. Rely's notions of	xxiv. 87
World , the account of its beginning, as delivered by Moses, objected to — — —	x. 253, 269
— Political, moral, religious and domestic state of, about the time of our Saviour's appearance —	xii. 313
— Strong philosophical argument against the eternity of the xv.	240
— Conjectures on the age of, formed from the lavas of Mount Etna	xliv. 28
— On the constitution of the natural —	liii. 252
— Physico-chymical meditations on the origin of	lxii. 153
Worldly compliances, treatise against —	vi. 146
Worms , observations on, in the bodies of animals	xxxix. 532
— Three kinds, pernicious to corn, and how to destroy	xlvi. 125
Worsley, Mr. specimens of his translation of the New Testament	xlvi. 13
Worship, false , why superstitiously adhered to	ii. 162
— What due to God —	iv. 343
— Superstitious and antichristian —	viii. 482
— Observations on external forms of —	xiii. 176
— The neglect of public, indecent —	xxv. 346
— To what cause owing — —	xxv. 348
— Enquiry into the worship of human spirits	lxix. 178
Wort , sweet, benefit in preserving the health of seamen	lvii. 1

- Worthy, Sir Charles*, character of, and of his lady iii. 244
Waiakas, a short people of Siberia, described xli. 435
Wotton, Sir Henry, account of him as an architect xxx. 180
Watson, William, his great proficiency in his education at six years of age ix. 456
Wounds, treatment of, attended with the loss of substance
 — By gun-shot, manner of treating xxxviii. 593
 — Solution of some phenomena attending xxxviii. 588
 — Quetsnay's doctrine of the suppuration, controverted xxxviii. 594
Wreck-eaters, on the English coast, poetical expostulation with them xxii. 513
Wren, Sir Christopher, memoirs of his life iii. 55
 — His taste for mathematics and poetry iii. 55
 — His plan for rebuilding London iii. 93
 — His epitaph iii. 101
 — Account of xxxix. 182
Wren, Matthew Bishop of Ely, a violent churchman iii. 53
 — His impeachment by the Commons in 1641, and confinement in the Tower iii. 54
Wrestling, in the Olympic games, described i. 109
Wright's chart, defended against the late Mr. West of Exeter xxxi. 419
Wright, the painter, encomium on his works lix. 284
Writer, his duty as such ii. 455
Writers, some of the first rank, not having a happy turn for conversation, accounted for iii. 106
 — Of Brandenburg, account of iv. 395
 — Observations on the writers of the present age vi. 395
 — Many of them useless subjects xi. 145
 — Ancient, negligent of chronology xiii. 183
 — Who the greatest admirer of a writer xxiii. 231
 — Political, ought to avow their publications by affixing their names to them lxvii. 347
Writings, what kinds most proper to improve morality ii. 455
 — The effects of various kinds of vii. 373
 — Origin of, conjectured xix. 517
 — Beauties in, sometimes owing to want of propriety xxiii. 238
 — Bishop Warburton's notion of the first hieroglyphic xxxiii. 129
 — The origin and progress of alphabet xlvi. 494
 — Invention in literary composition, considered liii. 552
 — Alphabetic, remarks on the origin of lv. 363
 — Usage considered as the authoritative rule of writing lxx. 505
Wyat, Sir Thomas, some account of xlviii. 265
 — A moral poet of considerable merit lxvi. 85
Wycherly's connections with Pope considered xv. 57
Wyck, Thomas, his fine picture of old London lxi. 13
Wykeham, William, his birth and education xix. 44
Wykeham,

X I M

367

Wykeham, Wm. Made clerk of all the king's works	xix. 45
— Takes holy orders	xix. 46
— Elected Bishop of Winchester	xix. 46
— Chancellor of England	xix. 49
— Visits the hospital of St. Cross	xix. 50, 53
— Assisted at Richard II.'s coronation	xix. 55
— Executes his design for his two colleges	xix. 56
— His death and character	xix. 60
Wyndham, Sir William , story of his being arrested by the government in 1715	i. 453
— Mr. his conjecture relative to an ancient building at Warnford	lxii. 280
— His remark on Pliny's account of the temple of Diana at Ephesus	lxx. 263
Wynne, Sir Watkin Williams , his patriot spirit	i. 461
— His benevolence	i. 461
— His works for the public benefit	i. 462

X

Xavier, St. Francis , abridgment of his life	xxxii. 386
— Some account of	xxxvii. 555
— Ridiculous legends concerning	xlvi. 553
Xenophon , his style considered	ix. 79
— His Cyropædia , a philosophical romance	xxiv. 380
— His æconomical discourse on husbandry, an old English translation of	xxxvii. 269
— More faithful to the original, in his portrait of Socrates, than Plato	xxxix. 508, 516
— M. Bejot's remarks on	xlv. 583
— His fine panegyric on Socrates	xliv. 548
— Upon Agesilaus	xliv. 549
— Compared with Fenelon	xliv. 550
— His Cyropædia translated into French	lvii. 308
— The historical credit of that celebrated work, defended	lvii. 309
Xerxes , the weakness of his attempt to conquer Greece	xix. 104
— Date of his grand expedition into Europe settled by an investigation of eclipses	xxxii. 34
— Great consequences of that expedition	xxxii. 34
— The stories of his beating the sea, writing a letter to Mount Athos, and the accounts of his armies drinking rivers dry, not true	xliii. 561
Ximenes, Cardinal , history of	xxiv. 112
— His humility	xxiv. 113
— His public donations	xxiv. 114
— Not a flatterer of prelates	xxiv. 115
— His singular character	xli. 5
	Ximenes ,

Ximenes, Cardinal , his great abilities as a statesman	xli.	6
— His disgrace and death	xli.	7
Ximenes, Abbé , His experiments on canals and rivers	lxv.	310
Xolo, king of , his excellent character	liv.	548
— His cruel treatment by the Spaniards	liv.	550

Y

Yacos, or Yaws , a cure for, proposed	ix.	196
Yaquaru , an amphibious animal in South America, some account of	li.	414
Yarixa , an Indian, her letter to the ladies of New York	x.	291
Yarrow , its medicinal uses	xliv.	415
Yart, Abbé , translates and criticises Philip's Cyder and splendid shilling	iii.	183
Yates, Judge , his opinion against the common law right of authors to the copies of their own works	li.	85
— On the question of perpetuity	li.	89
Yates, Mrs. the actress, panegyric on	xxxv.	389
Year , the antediluvian, the same as the present	ii.	497
— Lord Macclesfield's remarks on the solar and lunar	v.	40
— The various computations of	vii.	85
— A new scheme of, proposed	ix.	337
— Form of the scriptural	xxviii.	440
— Of Christ's crucifixion, ascertained, and the darkness which happened at that time, proved to be supernatural	xxxvii.	431
— Enquiry concerning the diminution of the length of	lxi.	497
Yellow-colour , on what occasion worn for mourning, and by whom	xli.	210
— Of Naples, discovery of the nature of, and how prepared	xliii.	517
Yellow Fever , method of cure	xxi.	373
Yetser , a dominican friar, strange story of	xxxi.	220
Yorick, alias Sterne , remarks on the singular publication of his sermons	xxii.	422
— His sermon on the prodigal son, extract from	xxxiv.	208
— On pride	xxxiv.	211
— On the Levite and his concubine	xxxiv.	215
— Adventure with a Monk at Calais	xxxviii.	177
— Account of his servant Le Fleur	xxxviii.	181
— His benevolence to the beggars	xxxviii.	183
— His adventure with the Fille de Chambre	xxxviii.	309
— His conversation with people of distinction at Paris	xxxviii.	314
— His adventure with the peasant on the mountain	xxxviii.	317

Z A R

569

York , cathedral of, compared with that of Lincoln	lvii.	266
— Observations on the bills of mortality at	lxviii.	387
— Scheme for compiling a natural history of that county	xxi.	278
York, Edward , late Duke of, his character	xlii.	286
York, James Duke of , bill for excluding him from the succession	xxviii.	334
York, Cardinal , his bigotry	xxxv.	436
— His sanguinary disposition, prejudicial to his brother's interest at Rome	xxxv.	439
York buildings Company , their steam-engine, described	lvi.	39
Young, Dr. his probity and candour in his treatise of opium, commended	ix.	136
Young, Arthur , his absurd attack on the Monthly Review, exposed	xlvi.	169
Young, Rev. Dr. his Night-thoughts criticised	v.	250
— Night-thoughts, compared with Mason's elegies	xxvii.	489
— His life	xxxvi.	41
— Extracts from his Night-thoughts	xxxvi.	42
— His sarcasm on Voltaire	xxxvi.	45
— Unfortunate in his idea of the sublime in lyric poetry	xliv.	490
— His life	lxvi.	113
— His poetical character	lxvi.	116
— His character as a moral and didactic poet	lxx.	181
Young, Rev. Mr. said to have been the original from whom Fielding's Parson Adams was drawn	xxvi.	490
— Anecdote of	xxvi.	490
Young, Sir William , his character	li.	31
Young Scarron , character of	v.	519
Youth , their danger from frequenting stage-plays	iv.	353
— Instances of its extraordinary prolongation	ix.	367
— The season of friendship	xxxii.	28
— Not to be too rigidly checked in education	xl.	527
— Poetically described	xli.	426
— Its continual proneness to mischief	xli.	426
— Of the present age, their ignorance of religion	xlvi.	499
— Plan for their better instruction	xlvi.	501

Z

Zaccbirolì, Abbé , his correspondence with the Marquis Capacelli	lxv.	465
Zaleucus , encomium on	xxxv.	541
— The famous eye story of, not true	xlili.	559
Zante, island of , its grapes	lv.	208
— Its tar springs	lv.	208
Zaphira , an Arabian princess, her history	iii.	83
Zara , in Dalmatia some account of	lix.	39
Zial ,

Zeal , bigoted, the source of envy, malice, &c.	ii.	6
— Of the first reformers strongly enthusiastic	xvi.	37
— In the clergy, how diverted under a moderate government
	xix.	537
— Generally honest	xxviii.	116
— Its exuberance nevertheless injurious to truth, &c.	xxviii.	134
Zealand, New , discoveries made at	xliv.	491
— An account of	lvii.	23
Zeller's method of discovering the adulteration of Rhenish wine	lxiv.	537
Zenda Vesta , inquiry concerning the author of that book	liv.	519
Zends , learned or sacred books of the ancient Persians	lxi.	529
Zeno , an Italian, reforms the drama of that country	xxxix.	57
— The philosopher, improves the principles of the Cynics, and founds the sect of the Stoics	xxxix.	511
— His great contempt for poetry	lxi.	512
Zenobia , some account of her	xviii.	638
Zenophanes , the philosopher, remark on	xxxiii.	539
Zevallos , his false philosophy	liv.	401
Zimmerman, M. his narrative of the bad effects of an over-exercise of the brain	xli.	254
— His construction of an aerostatic machine, and experiment made with	lxx.	408
Zimri , specimens of that oratorio	xxii.	260
Zinc , successfully employed in the production of æther	li.	545
— M. Laffone's observations on	liv. 559—lxv.	483
— Chemical account of the Ores of	lxviii.	173
Zingis , the Mogul Tartar, his history	xl.	51
— Tragedy of	xl.	54
Zinzendorf, Count , some account of	viii.	482
— The modern heresiarch, his dubious conduct	xliv.	526
— Forms, at ten years of age, the resolution of becoming a preacher	lxiv.	213
— His candid acknowledgment of the errors in his own writings	lxix.	582
Zion, mount , in Crispin street, Spital-fields	xix.	217
Zoffanii , his comic paintings commended	lxiv.	131
Zohman, M. a great collector of books relating to Russia	xix.	440
— His library purchased by Mr. Cambridge	xix.	440
Zons, torrid , the air not so hot there as farther distant from the line	xx.	367
Zoology , the noblest part of natural history	xxix.	339
— Indian	xliv.	219
Zoophytes , an experiment to discover their production	iv.	62
Zoroaster , the first who introduced covered temples	x.	417
— Lived and taught in a cave	x.	418
— The Chaldean, arguments to prove that he was no other than Moses	xii.	162
Zoroaster ,

Z O R

571

Zoroaster , the Zenda vefte , a fupposed remain of his works	xliv.	562
— His perfon and character generally mifunderftood	lii.	482
— Inquiry into the time of	liv.	519
— That the Zends are the works of that philofopher	lviii.	535
— Tenets of his religion	lxi.	529
— His writings totally loft	lxiii.	109
— Enquiry concerning his life, doctrines, &c.	lxvii.	486
Zouch , Mr. his poem on the birth of the prince of Wales	xxviii.	27
— His poem on the peace, in the Cambridge collection	xxix.	43
Zviros , Ferdinand de , his defcription of the fouthern continent	xlili.	520

THE END.

ERRATA.

Page.	Line.
144.	—41.	for liii. 111. read xliii. 111.
	43.	for lvi. 121. read lvi. 218.
368.	—36.	for xxi. 335. read xxxi. 335.

dm

MAY 8 1936

